Nazis Halted at Voronezh

U.S., British Fliers Pound Axis Bases Enemy Retreats in Upper Don Area, Drives Ahead in South

Nile Defenders Score Advance At El Alamein

Land Forces Take 6,000 Axis Prisoners In Recent Attacks

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO (AP)—Heavy U. S. bombers teamed up with the RAF and British fleet to batter axis supply bases over the week end while the revitalized army of the Nile staunchly repulsed every German attack upon its new gains on the El Alamein front, the British announced yesterday.

Since July 14, the British have captured 4,000 more prisoners, making their total bag 6,000 since they ended their retreat and struck back, they asserted.

The big four-motored bombers of the U. S. army air force, now under Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, raided Tobruk in daylight Sunday, setting three fires in the dock area. Other heavy and light bombers had struck there the night before, damaging the port and setting a supply ship ablaze.

Light warships of the Mediterranean fleet bombarded the most advanced axis base, Matruh, Friday and Saturday nights, the second and third sea attacks on that Egyptian port. The results of the attack were not announced but the British warships—probably destroyers—sailed away unscathed. South African warships sank an enemy submarine in the eastern Mediterranean, it was also announced.

The preoccupation of the allies with Marshal Erwin Rommel's extended and tenuous supply lines showed the determination of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck to give the Germans and Italians no chance to reinforce, regroup and rest for another heavy thrust on Alexandria, 75 miles east of the desert fighting zone.

"Our troops maintained their positions on all sectors," British headquarters said of the land fighting.

While sharp infantry and armored engagements ebbed and flowed on the torrid brown sands, the RAF made a grand scale attack on Rommel's main forward airfield in the El Daba area 25 miles behind the German lines. The British said it was the largest operation of its kind yet undertaken.

A third of the aircraft standing on the crowded landing field was damaged or destroyed, dispatches said. Four huge Junkers-52 transport planes and a dive bomber were shot down as they tried to land.

The British said the desert floor was littered with derelict German machines and sappers were busy blowing up the wrecks to prevent the efficient axis repair forces from putting them back into the fight. In one such operation, the engineers discovered seven good German tanks in ambush among the wrecks. Anti-tank guns were called up and several of the sleepers were smashed and the others clanked away swiftly.

77 Reported Killed, Missing in 5 Torpedo Sinkings in Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventy-seven seamen were reported killed or missing yesterday in announcements of five more torpedo sinkings in the western Atlantic. A total of 130 crewmen were rescued from the five ships, three of which were American.

The sinkings boosted to 380 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of united nation and neutral merchant vessel losses in the zone since Pearl Harbor.

United States losses included a medium-sized merchantman off the northern coast of South America June 29, a small cargo vessel several hundred miles off the east coast and another small cargo craft approximately 450 miles off the coast July 13.

The battle between Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's allied armies and the forces of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is raging in the North African desert with undiminished fury as the British strive to roll back the axis drive that has threatened Alexandria, the Suez canal and the entire middle east. Shown above are pictures from opposite sides of the battle lines. Blindfolded, German airmen are pictured, left, as they were led to a prison camp by their British captors after they were found drifting on the Mediterranean in a rubber dinghy. Their Heinkel was shot down over the sea. Field Marshal Rommel is shown, center in photo at right, as he studied maps to plan new moves to meet British counter-attacks.

SCENES FROM BOTH SIDES OF EGYPTIAN FRONT

More Than 700 Germans Killed in Single Action In Fiercely Disputed Voronezh Sector; Soviet Airmen Active

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Tuesday (AP)—The Russians have seized the initiative in the battle of the upper Don near Voronezh and are forcing the nazis back step by step to the west, they declared early today.

In the south, though, the Soviet midnight communique acknowledged that the Germans pointing at Rostov had smashed their way southeast of Voroshilovgrad in a continued advance toward the Caucasus defenses.

The Russians said the whole complexion of the fighting in the Voronezh area had changed, and that they had not only beaten off German attacks on Sunday and Monday but had made advances themselves, tanks and planes dealing the nazis a heavy flank blow northwest of the city and cutting their lines of communication.

Commercial Airlines To Transport Troops And Army Supplies

More than 700 Germans were killed in a single action in the fiercely disputed Voronezh sector, and 13 tanks and a quantity of German guns were either destroyed or captured, the communique said.

New Ferry Service Will Be in Operation Throughout the World

Soviet airmen were pounding the Germans in low-level attacks both in that area and southeast of Voroshilovgrad where the Russians destroyed 39 additional nazis tanks, 95 trucks with supplies and troops and a vast quantity of other equipment which the Germans need sorely to continue their rapid drive on Rostov.

Between the Don and the Voronezh rivers a terrific battle is being fought, late dispatches said. During the night, it was added, one Russian unit had crossed the Don south of Voronezh forcing the Germans of the east bank to retire to the other side.

The Russians who had recaptured some positions on the western side of the river before Voronezh were reported to have systematically destroyed German bridgeheads, cutting off the invaders from their comrades.

Although heavily attacked, nazis entrenched in the outskirts of the city were still throwing up fortifications.

"Southeast of Voroshilovgrad," the Russian communique said, "our troops fought stubborn defensive engagements." Voroshilovgrad is 100 miles above Rostov, and the Germans are heading without pause toward that key to the Caucasus.

Abandon Voroshilovgrad The Russians announced the abandonment of Voroshilovgrad yesterday as Marshal Timoshenko's southern army began concentrating its reserves and equipment below for a supreme effort to hold Rostov.

But there was no Russian retreat in the Voronezh area which still may develop into an acute threat to the nazis. The communique gave this view of the situation there:

"In the area of Voronezh our troops continue to deal blows against the German fascist troops.

"Our troops have occupied several Don crossings.

"The red air force actively is supporting our land troops and bombing enemy positions.

"The enemy is stubbornly defending himself and is hastily building fortifications."

Despite constant battering from enemy tanks, dive-bombings and even parachute landings in the general southeastward withdrawal across the rich coal fields, iron beds and wheat lands of the donbas an steppes, the main Russian forces were reported able to unite in orderly fashion with the columns which retreated from the Voroshilovgrad sector after giving up that important industrial city.

Get Reinforced Aid They also had time to bring up reinforcements from the strongly-garrisoned north Caucasus to join the main fight from Rostov eastward along the lower course of the Don.

Before Voronezh, 200 miles above Millerovo, the red army force which had swept across the Don to recapture positions on the western bank was hitting out at the nazi bridgeheads, trying to destroy them and trap the invaders between the eastern bank and the city itself.

The Russian re-crossing of the upper Don, now being defended against tank and infantry charges, sometimes in hand-to-hand fighting, was the shortest route across the river. Its possession by the Russians was endangering the invader forces clinging to every building and ravine on the approaches to Voronezh.

1,000 Bombers Each Month for Britain!

U. S. Plans to Build Huge Planes for RAF

New Allied Fighters Have 'Higher Speed, Greater Firepower'

LONDON (AP)—The United States is planning to build 1,000 four-motored bombers each month for the RAF, said Sir Charles Bruce-Gardner in the 1942 edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft," authoritative year book on fighting and civilian planes, published yesterday.

Many of the big bombers will be Liberators (Consolidated B-24's) and Flying Fortresses (Boeing B-17's), said Sir Charles, who is chairman of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors.

Allied Superiority He added that the ideal of "standardized Anglo-American military airplanes embodying the best thought of the two nations" was in sight and that the battle between the allies and the axis for superior combat ceiling for their warplanes was progressing favorably.

New allied fighters have "greater firepower, better armor, higher speed and higher service ceiling," the expert asserted.

Military secrecy kept details of many of the newest allied fighters and bombers out of the year book, which is completely edited for the first time by Leonard Bridgeman, former co-editor.

8,574 Planes Downed Reviewing the war in the air, the new volume reveals that until Jan. 1, 1942, the RAF had shot down 8,574 axis planes with a loss of 3,692 of its own, and that the British fighter command, auxiliary anti-aircraft and balloon defenses had accounted for 1,394 axis aircraft over Britain in 1941. British planes lost over Britain in 1941 numbered 559.

Details of New American aircraft, as well as descriptions of the red air force of Soviet Russia, were extremely skimpy. Altitude records, however, were attributed to the U. S.'s Curtiss P-40F, said to have "increased speed and climb" and an "increase in firepower of over 450 per cent over the original P-40."

M. Annenberg Dies at Mayo's

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—M. L. Annenberg, 65, who rose from immigrant peddler's son to ruler of a multi-million dollar racing publications dynasty and the Philadelphia Inquirer, died last night at Mayo clinic.

He died at 9:45 p. m. (ewt) Once ranked among America's wealthiest men, Annenberg was paroled only seven weeks ago (June 3) from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., after serving 23 months of a three-year sentence in the largest individual income tax evasion case on record.

He had been in poor health for months and entered the clinic soon after his release. Pneumonia developed.

The title paragraph of the new ruling follows:

Gillette Censures Lag In Synthetic Rubber

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Ia.) asserted last night that the government agencies charged with getting synthetic rubber into early and large-scale production "have fumbled and, to a large extent, failed."

"The record of the last few months is not one to which anyone can point with pride," Gillette said. "Whether the failure is the result of wrong advice or whether it is properly charged to any one man or group of men which might have influenced their decisions, the fact remains that after long months of indecision and uncertainty, we are yet long months away from the production goal."

House Approves OPA Bill for $120,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house yesterday voted $120,000,000 for the office of price administration after hearing Leon Henderson described both as a valiant fighter against inflation and an "incompetent."

The sum approved was part of a $1,858,939,000 deficiency appropriation bill as worked out by a senate-house conference committee.

The measure now goes to the senate for final action. The OPA appropriation was $45,000,000 more than the house previously voted, but $5,000,000 less than the senate figure and $75,000,000 less than the amount asked by Henderson.

City Council Passes New Milk Ordinance

Law to Be Effective After Publication, Willenbrock Declares

A new milk and cream production and distribution ordinance for Iowa City was passed by the city council at its meeting in the city hall last night.

The old ordinance, which was placed in statute form in 1936, was unanimously repealed at last night's meeting. The new ordinance will go into effect immediately upon publication.

Mayor Henry P. Willenbrock stated that the law would be published completely in booklet form as soon as possible.

U. S. Fliers Hit Japs in China

CHUNGKING (AP)—The United States air force in China announced yesterday two more attacks on Japanese-used airfields and in vision bases, and a Chinese spokesman said the Americans' operations already had lessened considerably the threat of raids on Chungking.

A communique from the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell said large fires were started in an attack upon a Japanese airfield at Canton where 50 to 60 planes were caught aground.

A central news dispatch from the Chekiang-Kiangsi front said wide-spread guerrilla campaigns were under way to disrupt Japanese communications and break the invaders' grip on the rail line.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Overriding its tax committee's recommendations, the house made a last-minute boost in rates to add millions of dollars to the tax load of corporations yesterday and then passed with only two dissenting votes a revenue bill designed to raise more than $6,271,200,000.

One of the most unruly meetings in many months, with dozens of members clamoring simultaneously for recognition, preceded the financial rollcall of 392 to 2 for the bill.

The legislation, would increase individual income taxes by about $2,872,300,000 and corporation levies by more than $2,670,700,000.

WOMEN OF IOWA CITY--

One of the most desperate needs in this community, right now, is for nurses aides, trained for service in the Volunteer Nurses' Aide Corps of the American Red Cross.

Nurses' aides are trained here, and serve here—at University and Mercy hospitals. Their services are of inestimable value in meeting a great wartime need—a need felt as keenly in Iowa City as in any spot where life and death depend upon quick and expert care.

The nazis push on in Russia and Africa, the Japanese advance in China and secure their footholds in our own Aleutians, and millions of Americans urgently ask themselves, "What can we do about this grave situation?"

The local need for nurses aides' is a part of that same grave situation. Local shortages are caused by the movement of trained personnel away from communities like ours, into centers of greater urgency outside the country.

Local women can fill that widening gap in this vital area of war. Officials need 40 local women, as soon as possible, to begin training as nurses' aides.

That's your answer to the question, "What can I do?"

The Red Cross urges you to grant the use of your time and service to meet this critical need, just as the nation urges you to grant the use of your money in war bonds.

The one plea is a part of the other. To those who want to do a great humanitarian job—right here at home—in this total war, we urge you to call Mrs. N. G. Alcock, Telephone 6721, at once, to volunteer your services in this new class of Red Cross nurses' aides.

There Are Still Some Secrets---

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

There Hasn't Been Much Shouting, But It's Coming Out—the Hard Way

WASHINGTON—Mr. Roosevelt has not been emulating Hitler and bragging about any new secret weapons but, the nazis will see some which will knock their eyes out when the second front is opened. The Japs have seen a few already.

When the details of the befogged battle of the Aleutian islands are let out, for instance, you will learn how the fighting army air corps sprang a new land based torpedo plane on the Nipponese (the first such ship in history), and accomplished much more damage than has yet been officially claimed. The Japs already know of this new weapon. They found out the hard way.

The Jap invasion fleet in the Aleutians figured that all they would have to contend with were naval planes which naturally have to be much lighter to operate from carrier decks. These land based torpedo craft carry an unprecedented projectile which leaves no doubts as to sinkings when it hits. Where they came from the Japs do not yet know.

This is only an inadequate example of what is coming on land, sea and in the air. An official of the inventors council testified to a congressional committee the other day that the army, navy and marine corps had let $640,000,000 of contracts on their recommendation. The inventors council is a committee set up by Mr. Roosevelt to consider all the sensational innovations of warfare concocted by mechanically minded Americans. His testimony therefore, means nearly two-thirds of a billion dollars of new secret weapons will shortly appear on our side in this war.

These include extravagantly imaginative missiles and weapons that have never been seen before outside of Sunday newspaper supplements—and some not seen there.

Not only are new and old weapons coming along better than satisfactorily, but everyone around here has begun to realize that our boys have fighting zeal greater than any one else has shown in this war. The nazis have it, too, unfortunately, especially when they are winning. The Russians have it when they are losing. Our troopers have it, winning or losing.

No more significant news was ever passed down the line than that contained in spots of the Midway battle communique, which gave final proof that our men will go anywhere. Look at that communique again, and you will find that, first, four army torpedo bombers went in against the Jap armada; two came out. Six marine torpedo planes went in next, only one returned.

In the face of this terrifying experience, sixteen marine dive bombers, nevertheless, dared that devastating fire; only eight returned. The first experience would have been enough for the Italians. The second and third might have finished even the nazis. But then, fifteen naval torpedo planes took off to dare it again and not a single one returned.

After this, carrier based torpedo planes braved another attack, and wrecked much that was left of the Jap fleet. And in a final attack, we lost two out of four flying fortress, and again a single flying fortress carrying brave Army Air Force General Tinker.

That is the way we got the Jap fleet. No better evidence can be drawn from all American history that Americans have superior fighting spirit still.

More evidence can be plucked from any incident of the skirmishes so far, as additional indications of what is to come when the second front is opened.

time. The Japs had become accustomed to fortresses carried a tail gun for the first going after the tails of our big ships since they found at the outset of the war, this part was least well protected. The pilot of one of the fortresses became perturbed during the battle, when he heard the Jap zeros zooming in upon the tail of his ship and the rattle of their machine gun fire against it. That happened three or four times, before he called back to his rear gunner and asked, in an exasperated voice, why did the gunner not knock off those zeroes before they could unleash their machine gun fire. The gunner's classic reply was:

"Hell, captain, they look so pretty when they explode."

Like his forefathers at Bunker Hill, he had been taking their fire until they got close enough for him to split their gas tanks open with his counter-fire. He had shot down three this way when the captain spoke, and got six in all.

Detailed accounts of the Doolittle bombing of Japan show his boys flew under telegraph wires and under the branches of trees, sometimes only ten feet off the ground.

Indeed, yes. Our boys will go anywhere.

They're Giving Up Their Faces To Aid America's War Effort—

If at first you don't recognize her, try and try again. Before long this may be the mystery which will confront many of the boy-friends who notice a somewhat changed appearance of the girls they have been dating. The explanation is that last week the war production board established manufacturing limits on such feminine beauty preparations as lipsticks, nail polish, face powder, rouge, bubble-bath and cleansing lotion.

The reason for this action is that the materials used by the cosmetic manufacturers are needed for war production. It is estimated that a saving of 17 per cent of the metal used in rouge and lipstick containers will be made while about 17,400,000 pounds of chemicals will be turned over to the war effort.

So far this is the second major sacrifice the women have been called upon to make. The first was the shortage of silk and nylon hosiery but now the inventive female minds have solved that problem by either giving their legs a good coat of tan or painting them. Indirectly, however, it is the men who will receive the biggest jolt from the curtailment of cosmetics for many of them have never seen the girl-friend "without her face."

Musical Genius Continues to Shine Through All of Peace and War

The powers of music are funny, sometimes strange. Music can influence man's conduct, prompt him to do strange things. Music can record history, can reach the depths of a person's soul, can express the determination of a nation. George M. Cohan caught the spirit of the American soldier in World War I with his "Yankee Doodle Boy"; "Give My Regards to Broadway" and others. A stirring Sousa march has caused many a man to join the "Yanks". A song entitled "Gloomy Sunday" prompted mass suicides in Hungary. Jan Sibelius' "Finlandia" aroused intense nationalist feeling in Finland.

For the first time in American musical circles Sunday a new symphony was unveiled—Dmitri Shostakovich's seventh symphony. Noted composers fought for the right to premier it—Arturo Toscanini won out. Again a work of music has caught the spirit of a fighting nation—Russia. Eighty minutes of music from the heart of a nation fighting for its existence. The seventh symphony portrays deep emotions of the composer; death, agony and destruction of a war-wracked country. Through it all Dmitri Shostakovich foresaw a victorious end—the final movement of the symphony portrays the "victory of light over darkness, of humanity over barbarism."

Perhaps a man great enough to produce a symphony out of a nation torn by war, and to catch the spirit of the people while doing so, it great enough to predict the outcome.

Army Behind the Army, Conceived For 'The People', Deserves Our Aid

One of the strong features of the office of civilian defense has been that from the beginning, it has proposed to do two things: first, to be prepared for whatever might come in the way of military attack; and, second, "to better the health, economic security and well-being of our people, to make our country strong." (official statement of purposes of OCD).

Another thing to keep in mind is that the OCD activities present the means of uniting every organization of the American people, mobilizing and activating the complete memberships of these organizations in defense of America. This unity alone can guarantee the defeat of the axis forces, and their agents in this country.

The United States needs Civilian Defense—needs every ounce of it, fire wardens, air corps, nurses aides—every possible aspect of protective services. It would be stupid to think otherwise when submarines, with their saboteurs, haunt our coasts, and while we still have Pearl Harbor to remind us to "Be on the Watch."

Civilian Defense must be expanded and strengthened, in every respect. It is entirely up to us.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

Scratch Sheet Lane In Downtown New York

NEW YORK—This town's habit of identifying a street with the character of its inhabitants explains why a short block has won the nickname of "Scratch Sheet Lane." This block, in the Forties between Sixth and Seventh avenue, is lined from noon on with a variety of men of all ages, who lean against buildings studying those pamphlets of horse racing information called scratch sheets.

This devotion to the sheets is not an idle preoccupation; it is pursued in furtherance of a livelihood. These are the people who support the illegal handbooks of the Times Square area. They live on the fringe of starvation, their hopes sustained by the prospect of a long shot winner. Hope rises higher in this short block, perhaps, than anywhere else in the world. Certainly there is scant evidence to support such enduring dreams.

The inhabitants of this lane have no desire to be known as sportsmen. They are bettors, simply that and nothing more. Problems of breeding and blood lines in a horse hold no interest for them. Their concern is strictly the pay-off odds. The bigger they are the higher their respect for the horse—if it wins. A horse that nets a backer thirty t one (the handbook's limit) may be born a cull, but—for that one afternoon at least—it is superior to Whirlaway.

HOLLYWOOD NIGHTS

Hollywood in Need Of Men With Beards

HOLLYWOOD—It's strange how many parts there are in Hollywood today for a man with a beard.

Strange when a few years ago they said it couldn't be done—not with a beard. Of course, even now the man with the beard has to be Monty Woolley. For after "The Pied Piper" (a movie as full of heart as "Mrs. Miniver" and with more suspense) Monty is going to be welcome, complete with beard, in any studio. He draws Ida Lupino for co-star in "Light of Heart" and after that, well, they'll be writing beards into their pictures instead of asking Monty to shave.

There's one set at the "U" you could spot as harboring an "escape" picture even if you didn't know the title was "Arabian Nights." There's nothing quite so escapist (that's a new word for it) as six beautiful maids in gauzy veils, sheer pantaloons, and glittering jewels, all passed by the Hays office. The maids are billed as the "six virgins" in publicity though not in the script. They appear in the film's prologue and epilogue, taking their reading lesson from beturbaned, over-stuffed Robert Greig. The books they are reading are "Arabian Nights," but what they read will be a rip-roaring action meller for Sabu, John Hall, Maria Cortez—without a mention of current troubles.

Pained query after seeing the not-so—"Magnificent Ambersons": Did Orson Wells make this—and "Citizen Kane"? Sol Wurtzel called for new titles for "Manila Calling." Among these suggestions: "Calling Manila."

Director Michael Curtiz, celebrating with "Casablanca" his 15th year in Hollywood, made his first movie here after a jail term—self imposed. Coming from Europe, speaking even less English than his present picturesque language, he was assigned to direct a typically American gang film, "The Third Degree." Mike took his troubles to the sheriff who obligingly let him spend a while in a cell near the real jailbirds, absorbing their lingo. After which Mike went on the set and taught the dialogue-writers a few new words.

"Casablanca" has the most accented set in town. There's imitable Mike's—Hungarian. There's Ingrid Bergman's—Swedish. There's Paul Henreid's—Austrian. S. Z. Sakall's—German. Madeleine LeBeau's—French. And Albert Ainsler—very French.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"

Is a Wage Ceiling Needed To Check Inflation?

As debated by Stanley High, Dr. Alfred P. Haake
Writer, Journalist, Contributing Nationally Known Economist and Lay-Precacher

MR. HIGH OPENS: King Ahab called Elijah a "troubler" of Israel. Christians call him a prophet Ahab wanted the Ahab status-quo; Elijah wanted righteousness. Prophets are neither economists nor business men. They don't need to be. What they need to be is sensitive and courageous enough to see and preach the iniquity of enforced inequality; the evil of great wealth in the midst of great poverty; the greed of those who possess when confronted with the wretchedness and aspirations of those who are dispossessed.

When, thus, a preacher identifies himself with life on the other side of the tracks he attains, by Christian standards, some prophetic stature. And the Ahab, forthwith, set upon him.

Jesus declared that "the Kingdom of God is within you." But He wasn't crucified for that. He was crucified because, having rested His Kingdom on man's conscience He then went on to lay upon that conscience such specific, down-to-earth responsibilities that the Ahab set-up was endangered and the Ahab violently alarmed.

Christianity has been vital—and is today—whenever its message has been centered, not on the bolstering of things-as-they-are, but on an activity producing vision of thing-as-they-ought-to-be.

DR. HAAKE CHALLENGES: I agree that church leaders need not pose as industrial experts. Nor do they qualify. That is why I wish they would all stick to their real jobs, as most of them do.

Our "inequalities" are not "forced" on us; but would Mr High "force" equality regardless of capacities? Too great wealth may be evil, but poverty is not necessarily holy. Greed is a common human trait. I would attack greed wherever it is, not encourage it among the unsuccessful by denouncing success. The modern Ahab has been supplanted by the political witch of Endor.

MR. HIGH REPLIES: Dr. Haake, at this late date, evidently clings to the belief that "inequality" is chiefly due to incapacity and only rarely a result of injustice. That has been the factually unsubstantiated argument of the defenders of the status-quo ever since the Pharaohs.

It is not the denouncing of success that is at issue, but its definition. Happily, we are removing the success-idea from its monetary wrapper. Happily, also, we have begun to demand from the "successful," not only a personal but a social accounting.

So long as the Church is an earthly agency for good it will have a responsibility for furthering both of those promising developments.

DR. HAAKE OPENS: In a world of economic and political disruptions and disorders, many Church leaders have felt it their responsibility to sponsor actual and specific political economic reforms. These leaders, perhaps unwittingly, have added to the confusion and misunderstanding of what is really wrong and what is to be done about it. They condemn justly the manifestations of error, but fail in tracing the true cause or in offering a fit remedy.

Changes in political and economic structure are not the remedy for our ills. What we need is not more laws but better and abler people. We do not help the poor by destroying the rich. We do not provide economic improvement and progress for the unfit by penalizing the fit.

As history demonstrates, the remedy lies in raising the intelligence, fitness and moral responsibility of mankind. The Church can best serve society by encouraging and aiding men to understand, accept and apply high standards of personal conduct and responsibility to their fellowmen.

It is significant that Jesus advocated no economic or political reforms,—did not deal with the modern problems into which modern preachers hurl themselves. Instead He taught men "the Kingdom of Heaven is within you" and encouraged the betterment of individual men through their own efforts.

MR. HIGH CHALLENGES: That it is the business of the Church to make good people is obvious. Dr. Haake would measure their goodness by their confessions of faith. The Church, at its prophetic best, measures it by the external manifestations of a good conscience, i.e. one that has been jolted into society-improving activity.

Dr. Haake wants an economic order made in the image of the past—the not-too-recent past. He is not likely to get it. If the Church had adequately done its proper work on his conscience I don't believe he would want it.

DR. HAAKE REPLIES: Laws cannot make men love one another but religious training can. This training is the Church's job—a responsibility that cannot be evaded by attributing human suffering to our economic machinery. It is men, not the machine, that need improvement.

The answer lies in every man throughout the week, applying the Christian principles he should be taught on Sunday.

I want an economic order built in the image of the Golden Rule—based on men and women who discern profit and happiness in the quest of the greatest good for the greatest number. Build character first. A healthy state follows.

Defense Opens Case for Nazis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prosecution rested its case against the eight alleged German saboteurs yesterday and the military commission trying them for their lives reported that the accused would open their defense this afternoon.

Commission communicators said yesterday's session was primarily devoted to "arguments on various motions."

The fact that the defense will open today indicated that if counsel for the eight men had entered motions for dismissal of the charges they had been denied.

The men are charged with entering this country from German submarines for the purpose of committing sabotage and espionage.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Gerda Melind, 24, attractive Chicago widow, and former fiancée of Herbert Haupt, 22, youngest of the defendants, returned to confer with a member of the defense legal staff.

The conference was held in a room of the department of justice building near the trial chamber.

The publisher's career reads like a fairy tale. It began with him hawking papers on Chicago streets, and eventually carried him to the head of a vast financial empire embracing dozens of corporations and employing thousands of persons.

Annenberg was at the peak of his career when he acquired the Philadelphia Inquirer in 1936 for approximately $15,000,000. Three years later came the investigation of his financial transactions and his subsequent indictment on charges of evading $5,548,384 in taxes, penalties and interest on his 1932-1936 income.

Myldred Sexton Married to Robert Cowell At First Methodist Church Last Sunday

In a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon Myldred Sexton, daughter of Mrs. Anna Sexton, 832 S. Dodge, was married to Robert Cowell, son of Mrs. Alice Cowell of Eldora.

The Rev. Louis L. Dunnington performed the service at 4:30 in the First Methodist church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald Sexton, the bride was dressed in a floor length white gown. The dress was fashioned with a sheer lace fitted bodice, full skirt of chiffon, a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her pale blue fingertip veil fell from a small cap of veiling and she carried a Rainbow bible and bouquet.

Bridesmaid
Katherine Reeds of Iowa City attended the bride. She wore a long dress of blue marquisette made with a fitted bodice and short sleeves. Her small veil was of matching material and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Best man was Paul Schae of Eldora. Dale Burr and Lelan Stocks, both of Lone Tree, and Joe Harding and Howard Fountain of Iowa City ushered.

Mrs. Sexton was dressed in a navy sheer with blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of black and white with black accessories. Both mothers had corsages of gardenias.

Reception at Iowa Union
Following the wedding 50 guests attended the reception in Iowa Union.

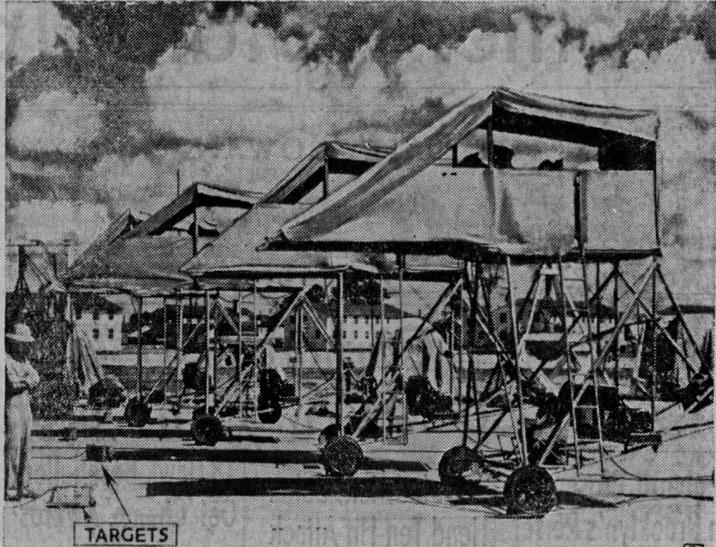

For traveling the bride chose a two-piece dress of sunset blue with navy and white accessories.

Mrs. Cowell was graduated from Iowa City high school and Brown's Commerce college. She is employed by the Iowa City Poultry and Egg company.

The bridegroom was graduated from Eldora high school. He is employed as a federal egg inspector and is stationed at Anita.

After Aug 1 the couple will be at home in Atlantic.

Aiming to Promote Social Unity— Iowa City's Recreation Center —Aids in Community Advancement

By CHARLOTTE G. NELSON

Iowa Citizens should be brimming over with social unity and physical fitness if a city's recreation program is indicative of its morale and strength.

From grapefruit juice on the playground to the "Hale America" physical fitness tests in the gymnasium, an all out effort has been made here to build one of the finest community recreation programs in the state.

Center of activities is the community building at 204 S. Gilbert. The program, under city administration, is supported by the Community Chest with J. Edgar Frame as supervisor.

Facilities of the center include a gymnasium, where social dances are held three evenings a week. A dance for enlisted men from 9 to 12 each Thursday evening and one for naval cadets from 6 to 9 on Saturday evenings are sponsored by the Scribblers' Service club. From 7 to 10 p. m. on Fridays dances are conducted for junior high, senior high and recent high school graduate groups.

Gymnasium activities provide basketball, volleyball, tether ball, badminton and paddle tennis. Shower facilities for both men and women are available.

The game room offers four ping pong tables quiet games such as checkers, cards, monopoly, gusher, big business and pick up sticks.

The crafts room is equipped with saw and drill—all electric motor driven equipment—and hand tools. Some of the crafts offered are loid and wood crafts of all kinds, puppetry, plaster molding, cellulose.

The room has a crafts library also.

An airplane club meets at the center every Tuesday evening from 7 to 9. Membership includes all age groups interested in building model airplanes. A large number of planes have been completed for the war program.

Democracy at work is illustrated in the junior council meetings held at the recreation center from 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays. Members of the junior council, youngsters of junior and senior high age, plan and execute activities for Friday evening dancing parties.

Two playgrounds are supervised by the program during the summer. Virginia Curl and Jack Whitelmer are leaders at the Horace Mann school, and Mary Jane Huber and Lawrence Calkins are in charge at the Henry Sabin

Esther LeRoy Weds Sergt. S. Dahleiden At St. Mary's Church

Before an altar banked with gladiola, Esther E. LeRoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard LeRoy of Baltimore, Md., became the bride of Sergt. S. J. Dahleiden in a 7 o'clock ceremony last night. The Rev. Monseigneur Carl H. Meinberg performed the wedding in St. Mary's church.

The bride chose a white floor-length organdy gown with a fitted bodice, square neckline, and short sleeves. Her shoulder veil fell from a white satin cap and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Mary Kadlec of Iowa City attended the bride wearing a peach taffeta gown and matching satin cap with a short veil. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Attending the bridegroom was Sergt. Paul P. Long.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding in the El Paso club. Non-resident guests included Sergt. and Mrs. J. Getchell of Washington, D. C., and Sergt. and Mrs. J. Ward of Quantico, Va.

The couple will be at home in Iowa City where Sergeant Dahleiden is stationed at the naval pre-flight training school.

17 I. C. Boy Scouts Given Merit Awards At Camp Minneyata

Seventeen Iowa City boys scouts returned Sunday from the final session of Camp Minneyata, the Buffalo Bill area council camp near Dixon.

Phyllis Otto Medalist in Women's State Tourney

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Leads Defending Champion 2 Strokes

Two Cedar Rapids Golfers Take Third, Fourth in Qualifying

DES MOINES (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, a finalist in the recent western open tournament, fired a sub-par 77 to win medalist honors at the state women's golf meet at the country club here yesterday.

The 1940 Iowa champion toured the rolling country club layout in 40-37, two strokes under perfect figures, to lead Ann Casey of Mason City, the defending champion, by two strokes. After posting a one-over par six on the third hole, Phyllis bagged three birdies and an eagle the remainder of the route.

2 Birdies—2 Eagles

Miss Casey, who won the title at Davenport a year ago, had two birdies and two eagles on her card.

Kathleen Carey of Cedar Rapids, another tournament favorite, took the third spot in the 18-hole qualifying round with a one-over par, 80. Kathleen was three strokes ahead of Shirley Ramsdell, the young Cedar Falls player who stopped Miss Otto in the semifinal round of the 1941 tournament.

Shoot 87's

Bracketed with 85's were Mrs. H. R. Staats of Davenport; Jean French, Des Moines city champion, and Lois Penn, another Des Moines entry.

The Wakanda club of Des Moines won the team championship on Miss Penn's 85 and Suzanne Hill's 92 for a 177 total.

First round match play will start today.

Rosar, Proud Father, Fined $250 Yankee Catcher to Report Tonight, Says McCarthy Knew of Plans to Leave

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Buddy Rosar, father of a new 8½-pound baby boy, said last night he would report to the New York Yankees tonight at Cleveland after Joe McCarthy, manager of the world's champions, announced he had fined the Yankee catcher $250 for leaving the club without permission.

McCarthy, who was at his home in Buffalo on a day off for a "good rest," said he had fined Rosar and decided "he will be indefinitely suspended" if he fails to report for tonight's game with the Cleveland Indians. The Yankees' manager said Rosar had not mentioned the expected birth of a second child before leaving.

Rosar, insistent in denying that he had "quit the team and left the boys flat," said he had talked with McCarthy yesterday and declared he had given the manager advance notice of his intention to come to Buffalo to take a civil service examination for appointment to the police force.

"He had plenty of time to get a catcher," Rosar asserted, conceding, however, that McCarthy had refused him permission to leave New York and had threatened him with suspension.

Rosar explained he was determined to come home at this time because he wasn't sure when he could take the examination if he missed Sunday's and because he was anxious about his wife's condition.

Confused by the flood of publicity attached to his departure from New York, Rosar said he didn't know "where I stand with the club. I'm willing to play ball, but I haven't heard anything from them."

In refusing permission to Rosar, McCarthy said he told him, "absolutely not, not even if you were my brother."

The Yankees snapped up Rollie Hemsley, Cincinnati Reds catcher, who was unconditionally released last Friday, to fill the gap.

Rosar said he would continue to play ball for the present if the Yankee management was agreeable, but said the patrolman job was "insurance."

He pointed out "No one can say when I'll go out there and meet with an accident that might end my baseball days."

Mrs. Rosar and the eight and a half pound boy, were reported "doing well" in a Buffalo hospital. The couple has another child, Mary Ann, 15-months old.

McNAIR TO A'S

Refused to Report To Senators

DETROIT (AP)—Eric McNair, Detroit Tiger shortstop whose contract was taken up last Friday by the Washington Senators and who then refused to join the club, was sold yesterday to the Philadelphia Athletics.

General Manager Jack Zeller said the deal with the Senators, which brought Pitcher Jack Wilson to the Tigers, has been cancelled but Wilson was with the team when it arrived yesterday from a disastrous eastern trip.

McNair said he had not been informed of his sale to the Athletics, but added he would not hesitate to join Connie Mack under whom he broke into major league baseball in 1929.

Ready to Play

"I'm ready to play with any club in the league except Washington," said McNair.

The veteran infielder said he told Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators that he was having a poor season and that he would be "doing him a favor by not putting on a Washington uniform since it would save the money he was supposed to pay me."

Not Washed Up

McNair denied reports he had quit baseball because he was "washed up," declaring, "I may be having a poor season, but I still am not washed up."

Zeller also disclosed that Outfielder Bob Patrick, who suffered a broken knee cap early in the season, had informed him that he did not plan to rejoin the club this year. He said Patrick told him he wanted to remain at hi Ft. Smith, Ark., home.

Larry French Captures No. 11 As Dodgers Down Pittsburgh

Lombardi Closes In On Brooklyn's Reiser

Big Boston Backstop Trails Batting Leader By Only Five Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Pounding the ball at a clip that recalled his fence busting days with the Cincinnati Reds, Ernie Lombardi of the Boston Braves closed in on Brooklyn's Pete Reiser during the past week in the battle for the National League batting crown.

While Reiser was losing ground for the second straight week, the big Boston catcher continued his advance until at the end of Sunday's play he trailed Pistol Pete by only five points. The Brooklyn outfielder, dropping six percentage points, ended the week with a .350 percentage. Lombardi, adding 12 points to his gain of 18 the week before, boosted his average to .345.

Lombardi's drive displaced Joe Medwick of the Dodgers as the runner-up. In fact, Medwick lost 12 points and saw his average drop to .331 and threatened by the rise of Stan Musial of St. Louis, who tacked on 17 points to send his average soaring to .325.

Behind the four leaders trailed: Elbie Fletcher, Pittsburgh, .312; Walker Cooper, St. Louis, .307; Lou Novikoff, Chicago, .301; Nicholson, 300; Johnny Mize, New York, .298, and Elliott, 296.

Several Red Sox Seek Gordon's Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees held the top spot among American league batters yesterday, but the Boston Red Sox had several competitors in a position to challenge him if and when they enjoy a slugging spree.

Gordon, lone Yank on the list of the ten foremost swatters, picked up six points in the standings through Sunday's games to push his average to .344. Ted Williams of Boston slumped seven points to .337, and his teammate, Bobby Doerr, dropped five to .331. However, another Bostonian, John Pesky, moved up two points to .328.

The others, in order, were: Les Fleming, Cleveland Indians, .327; Stan Spence, Washington Senators, .320; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, and Ned Harris, Detroit, .302 apiece; George Case, Washington, .298; Vern Stephens, St. Louis Browns, .293.

Cancel Seahawk Grid Game With Georgia

The Iowa Seahawks' football game with the Georgia cadets, scheduled here for November 14, has been cancelled, it was announced yesterday.

A game with the Fort Knox eleven has been substituted, but will be played November 7 at Louisville, Ky. The pre-flight team coached by Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman, will play a 12 game card, five with Big Ten schools.

Joe Medwick, Galan Head Ten-Hit Attack In 5 to 0 Triumph

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Southpaw Larry French won his 11th game of the season last night, allowing but five hits as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 0.

French, beaten for the first time last Saturday in St. Louis, was never in serious trouble as he snapped back into the win column. It was his second shut-out of the year.

The Dodgers picked up a run in the fifth inning on Augie Galan's single and an infield error by Hugh Geary, new Pirate shortstop, and then banged across two runs in each the 7th and 8th frames. Dolf Camilli clouted a homer to open the eighth, his 14th of the season.

Pirate Manager Frankie Frisch was banished from the Pirate dug-out in the seventh, after vigorously protesting a decision at second base. Mickey Owen walked to open the inning and Pee Wee Reese flew to Al Lopez. French laid down a bunt to Elbie Fletcher, who threw to second in an effort to get Owen but the Dodger catcher was ruled safe.

Galan came through with another single, driving in Owen with French taking second. Arky Vaughan rapped out a single to fill the bases, with French scoring a moment later on Dixie Walker's fly to center.

18 Hawk Baseballers Get 'Champ' Awards

Given Chain Charms For Sharing Big Ten Title With Michigan

Insignia symbolic of the 1942 Big Ten co-championship have been awarded to 18 University of Iowa baseball players and two coaches by the Hawkeye athletic board.

Director E. G. Schroeder said that the insignia is in the form of a block "I" key chain charm in black enamel, with the figure of a baseball player superimposed on the shank.

Iowa shared the title with Michigan winning 10 of 12 games. It was the best won and lost record ever made by an Iowa baseball team in the conference.

Players to whom the insignia was awarded are Capt. Bill Welp, Wendell Hill, Bob Faber, Dick Hein, Roy Stille, Rudy Radics, Tom Farmer, Clarence Dunagan, Ben Trickey, George Knight, Ray Koehn, Capt.-Elect Harold Lind, Harry Rinkema, Marston Flanders, Jack Kenney, Donald Thompson, Max Landes and Bob Collins.

Coach Otto Vogel, whose team led the Big Ten in composite record over the past seven seasons, and Lavronne (Pops) Harrison, assistant coach, also were given the awards. Coach Vogel now has joined the Iowa naval pre-flight staff as a lieutenant after 18 years as Hawkeye coach.

Selkirk, Gordon Win It.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Joe Gordon's eighth inning homer tied it and George Selkirk's 10th inning triple won a 9-5 decision yesterday for the world champion New York Yankees from their Amsterdam farm club of the Canadian-American league.

by WHITNEY MARTIN

* Iowa Pre-Flight * Grid Card Lik * Dream of Fan

NEW YORK—Taking the short cut:

The navy pre-flight school at Iowa City is getting a start on its football publicity. It has sent out a folder with the pertinent words on the cover: "If you're looking for a tough football schedule . . . And they aren't fooling. Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's team has a 12-game program that is a fan's dream and a coach's nightmare. Eight or nine of the games will be played on the road, and we've been wondering how the squad will travel. For the Seahawks to journey by rail wouldn't seem just right."

The St. Louis Browns have just completed the refinancing of the club. If they had waited a while Chet Laabs would have done it for them. If he keeps on at his recent pace Don Barnes could sell him for enough to stock a small mint. It's a pretty smart idea, at that, to sell $2 shares in the club. When your bleacher fan has a $2 investment, it becomes his club. When Laabs hits a home run, the fan is convinced that it is his money talking. When a guy strikes out, that's the other fellow's share. There's nothing like a financial interest to create a personal interest, even if the financial interest doesn't pay and interest. Or maybe you've lost interest already. Anyway, our St. Louis colleague, Oscar Kahane, got to go on the ground floor. He plunged on an earlier issue of Brownie stock. Has a $3 share.

We wonder sometimes just what a fighter has to do to be rated a leading contender for the heavyweight title. Melio Bettina hasn't lost a fight since he was a baby, and has licked some pretty tough gents. Yet the N.B.A. rating puts him below Billy Conn and Lee Savold. Don't raise your boy to be a southpaw fighter. Or better yet, don't raise him to be a fighter, except in the kind of a fight where he's all in now. At least Melio thinks right handed. We're not so sure about the N.B.A.

Clark Griffith has silenced reports that he will sell Bo-Bo Newsum to the Dodgers. Which is a lot easier than silencing Bo-Bo Newsum, at that. Right now it appears the Brooklyn club needs Newsum about as bad as it needs another Leo Durocher. It nearly needed another Leo Durocher, at that. If Hiram Bithorn's aim had been a little better when he heaved the ball at the Dodger pilot the other day Leo might not be around and about. It cost Bithorn $25—and he missed. Bithorn probably is wondering if that's the reason he was fined.

Speaking of fines, Will Harridge must feel red-faced over that $250 assessment he tacked on Jimmy Dykes not long ago for stalling in a game at Boston. Harridge's reprimand accompanying the fine pointed out that Dykes' actions were unfair to the Boston fans. The same fans have given a $250 watch just to show how peeved they were. We can look for an epidemic of stalling any day now. The only trouble is that all the managers aren't Jimmy Dykes, whose misadventures with the umpires are funny to everybody but the umpires. Jimmy really doesn't need a watch. He knew what time it was that day, all right, all right.

Zionists to Raise Fund For Site in Palestine

To Gather $25,000 For Refugee Camp To Be Titled 'Iowa'

The executive body of the Zionist organization of Iowa decided to raise a fund totaling $25,000 for the establishment of a refugee camp in Palestine to be called "Iowa" at a meeting of the council in Iowa Union Sunday.

Working in cooperation with the program of the Jewish national fund, the Zionist executive council passed a resolution calling for the strengthening of land holdings in Palestine to supply food for the allied forces in the Middle East. The task of raising $25,000 for the reclamation of the tract on which the Iowa colony will be built is also part of the program.

Recommending that a Jewish army, including German refugees, be formed to fight with the united nations in the Middle East, Rabbi David Shapiro, chief speaker at the meeting, declared, "In keeping with all ideals that binds the united nations, we should likewise grant the urgent pleas of the Jews of Palestine who come forward as one man, asking to be fully mobilized in a Jewish military force under British command, and to face the enemy under their own flag."

The president of the Iowa Zionist organization, Rabbi Albert S. Goldstein of Sioux City, was selected to that office. Dr. A. G. Fleishman of Des Moines, Sam Cohn of Cedar Rapids and Max Spilka of Ft. Dodge were elected vice presidents. Marvin J. Klass of Sioux City is the new secretary.

Lieut. Otto Vogel Returns to Assume Job With Seahawks

Lieut. Otto Vogel has completed his indoctrination course at Annapolis and is back in Iowa City on a six-day leave before taking over his position as head coach of the Seahawk baseball team.

Lieutenant Vogel has a full schedule ahead of him. The naval pre-flight team has been victorious in its first five encounters, but now comes the tough part of the summer schedule.

The Cedar Rapids Raiders, now in second place in the Three-Eye league, are scheduled to arrive in Iowa City Thursday afternoon to meet the Seahawks.

Next on the list is an out-of-town game with the Maroons at Davenport Sunday. Monday Lieutenant Vogel's team will play a return game with the Raiders at Cedar Rapids.

Highlight of the season will be the two games with Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes naval training station team in August.

mittee which the mayor appointed to secure the refund for local gas consumers. The committee reported that the refund checks will be distributed as soon as machinery for the return of the money has been established.

The council voted to forward a request to the state controller to levy a $12,000 emergency tax in Iowa City for the fiscal year 1943. The tax is to apply to the airport and sanitary distribution funds.

Another permit for the conduct of a carnival in the city was refused. Mayor Willenbrock said that they are causing the city a great deal of trouble and that, therefore, the council has decided to refuse future carnival permits.

However, a petition was granted to hold the J. Doug Morgan shows in Iowa City during the week of Aug. 9. This project is under the sponsorship of the local policeman's association and was conducted here last year.

A resolution to pay the Modern paint store $784.10 for painting the city hall was passed subject to the city engineer's approval. City Engineer W. J. Buechele was given permission to purchase 3,000 pounds of brick for the municipal airport project.

The city budget was filed for hearing at the next council meeting.

Eric C. Wilson of the university news service, and Ted M. Rehder, manager of university dining service.

Also working with the faculty group will be members of A. P. L. senior men's honorary society. Heading the program of 10 major events will be the Illinois-Iowa football game.

SUI String Orchestra Repeats Shostakovich's Quintet Number

Program to Be Given Tomorrow Evening Over Station WSUI

By popular request the broadcast of Shostakovich's "Quintet for Two Violins, Viola, Cello, and Piano Opus 57" will be repeated by the university string quartet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock over station WSUI.

First performance of the work, which is one of the most successful pieces of the composer's chamber music, was given on the broadcast of the string quartet, July 1, which marked the opening of the university fine arts festival. The last broadcast of the quartet, which will end the program of the fine arts festival, will be given next Wednesday night, July 29, at 8 p. m.

The five movements of the quintet's broadcast tomorrow will be prelude, lento fugue, adagio scherzo, and allegretto. Members of the quartet are Prof. Arnold Small, violin; Gibson Walters, violin; Otto Jelinek, viola; Prof. Hans Koebel, cello, and Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, piano.

Last of the series of national broadcasts, also part of the fine arts festival, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the university chorus and orchestra will perform over the Mutual broadcasting system. Featured on the program will be excerpts from "Requiem" by Brahms with Thompson Stone, visiting conductor from Boston, in charge. Last Saturday night's broadcast of the University Symphony orchestra over NBC, red network, when Professor Clapp, head of the music department was awarded the Mahler medal, met with nationwide approval. This fact was evidenced by the large number of congratulatory telegrams received from all parts of the country, it was reported by Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, who made the Mahler presentation.

1st Lieut. T. Peshak Receives Promotion

Second Lieut. Theodore Peshak, SUI graduate, who is in charge of all army photography in Puerto Rico and adjacent islands in the Caribbean area, was recently promoted to first lieutenant.

Taught his first lessons in photography by Prof. Edward F. Mason of the school of journalism, Lieutenant Peshak graduated from the university in January, 1940, with a B. A. degree and certificate in journalism. After graduation he was employed as advertising manager of the West Union Argo-Gazette, as editor of the Odebolt Chronicle, and correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

Commissioned second lieutenant June 5, 1939, he was called to active duty in Des Moines in June, 1941 and stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark. He covered, as photographer, the general headquarters maneuvers there last summer.

De Molay will have a play night tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Masonic temple.

All-State Speech Students Open Two-Night Performance of Sierra's 'Cradle Song'

G. Martinez-Sierra's two-act play, "The Cradle Song," opened at the University theater last night in a production by the all-state high school speech students. Directed by Prof. Vance M. Morton of the dramatic art department, the play will go on the stage again tonight, with some cast revisions.

Billed as a "comedy of convent life," "Cradle Song" failed to be amusing either to the audience or the performers, but became instead a serene and placid interpretation of convent life. As such, it succeeded in part.

Although it seemed at times that the scope of the drama was out of the range of high school actors, in some respects it was well adapted for such production. The garb of the nuns gave the characters a timeless quality, removing much of the age limitation, and simplifying gestures.

The plot of the play concerns nuns in an enclosed dominican convent near Madrid, Spain, who "adopt" and rear a baby girl left at the cloister. In the second act, 18 years later, the girl leaves her "mothers" and the convent life to be married.

One of the best scenes in the production was the sewing scene at the beginning of act 2, when the nuns sit sewing on their protegee's trousseau, and the convent is struck by an epidemic of sighs at her leaving. Breaking in on this tranquility, comes the Vicar, played with the proper belligerence by Dolores Korphage, who denounces one of her sisters for possession of a small piece looking-glass, a sign of vanity.

800 Members Attend Session of Defense Corps Training Unit

Instruction Program For Basic Courses Announced by Jones

Approximately 800 members of the Iowa City citizen's defense corps attended the first session of the basic training school last night at 7:30 in the public junior high school.

Fred L. Jones, director of the training school, set up the instructional schedule for the basic courses in fire defense, gas defense and general course. Classes will meet every Monday and Friday evenings until completion of the work on August 14.

Gilbert Capps, Edwin Knoedel, Adrian F. Rittenmeyer and Vernal J. Shimon instructed groups of air raid wardens in fire defense A, part I. They explained the kinds and purposes of incendiary bombs, types in current use, enemy methods of distribution, methods of control and the sand method of fighting magnesium-thermit incendiaries.

Part I of the general course was taught last night by Vernon Price, Ellis Crawford, Harry W. Austin, Irving Weber, James Jones and Prof. Charles L. Sanders.

The general course gives information to all volunteer civilian protection workers regarding essential features of the program. Part I included explanation of the local organization and its relationship to various groups and larger defense units. Charts showing the Iowa City plan of organization and the position of council leaders were displayed.

Professors H. Clay Harshbarger, Franklin H. Knower, Paul L. Riskey, Dewey Stuit and William D. Coder instructed air raid wardens and auxiliary police and firemen in part A of gas defense.

The nature and functioning of the gas mask was explained and lessons were given on its use. Care and storage of the mask was demonstrated. Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, commander of the Iowa City defense corps, emphasized the necessity of regarding the civilian defense organization as an essential and vital work. He feels that the citizen's defense corps will have a standing in the community comparable to that of the American Legion itself.

Schedule of rooms, courses and instructors for Friday's session will be announced later.

Alpha Xi Delta Alumnae Will Entertain at Picnic

Alpha Xi Delta sorority alumnae will entertain at a picnic tomorrow evening at 5:30 at the chapter house, 114 E. Fairchild.

Mrs. Grant Fairbanks, 5939, asks that members who have not been notified call her.

Sister Joanna

Patricia Weir, as Sister Joanna of the Cross, made full use of her expressive face and lovely voice in playing a sweet character part. Teresa, the founding, played by Mary Wareham, provided a spirited contrast to the quiet life of the cloister. Dick Steckel in the role of the doctor, broke the feminine atmosphere of the convent with his vigorous appearances.

As usual, the sets and costumes of the production deserves high praise. Working with browns and greens, Lloyd Roberts and Prof. Arnold S. Gillette created some very good effects. Simple benches and chairs, crosses, and pictures of saints completed the stage.

All women in the play, with the exception of Teresa, wore the nun's habit of black and white. Dwight Hook costumed the performance.

In other roles in "Cradle Song's" opening were Isabel Sarvis, Marian Rice, Jean Donohue, Jean Stocking and Allan McCoid.

Traffic Toll Drops During First of '42

Decrease in Death Rate Due to New 40-Mile Speed Limit

A decrease of 50 per cent in traffic deaths for the first six months of 1942 as compared to the same period in 1941 in state district nine—Johnson, Cedar, Clinton, Jackson, Louisa, Muscatine and Scott counties—was reported yesterday by G. M. Strand, state patrolman for this county.

According to Strand, the decrease in the death rate is due to the 40-mile speed limit which motorists began observing in an effort to conserve tires after Governor Wilson issued a proclamation to that effect early last spring. Traffic itself has not shown an appreciable decrease, Strand said.

From Jan. 1 to July 1, 1941 there were 30 traffic deaths in district nine as compared to 15 for the 1942 period. Two traffic deaths in Johnson county were reported for the 1941 period and one in the first six months of this year. Only 12.

An Emergency Statement to the People of the United States

How can you help? The answer is on this page. I hope every American citizen will read it and act on it.

D. H. Nelson, Chairman, War Production Board

A crisis exists in our war production program which can be solved only by the patriotic cooperation of the American people.

We are faced with a serious shortage of steel scrap, rubber and other vital materials.

This shortage must be filled.

By "scrap" we mean the ordinary Junk which today is lying in the barnyards and in the gullies of farms; in the basements, attics and garages of homes and stores throughout the country.

The steel industry operates on the basis of half-and-half—about 50 per cent metal from pig iron and 50 per cent remelted scrap metal.

Therefore, about 50 per cent of every tank, every ship, every submarine and every gun is made of scrap iron and steel.

The steel industry has been rapidly stepping up its production—from 67,000,000 tons in 1940 to a record-breaking 83,000,000 tons in 1941. Production in 1942 is already ahead of 1941, but we need to get production up to the industry's full capacity of 90,000,000 tons—a total equal to the output of the rest of the world combined.

This volume of production cannot be attained or increased unless an additional 6,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel is obtained promptly.

We are faced with the fact that some steel furnaces have been allowed to cool down and that many of them are operating from day to day and hand to mouth, due only to the lack of scrap.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber.

We are collecting every possible pound of scrap from the factories, arsenals and shipyards; we are speeding up the flow of material from automobile graveyards; we are tearing up abandoned railroad tracks and bridges, but unless we dig out an additional 6,000,000 tons of steel and great quantities of rubber, copper, brass, zinc and tin, our boys may not get all the fighting weapons they need in time.

Fortunately, the material exists in America's great "mine above the ground."

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD

This advertisement paid for by the American Industries Salvage Committee (representing and with funds provided by groups of leading industrial concerns).

There is enough iron and steel on farms alone, if used with other materials, to make:

Twice as many battleships as there are in the whole world today, or Enough 2000-pound bombs to drop three per minute from big bombers incessantly for more than three years.

Locating and collecting this scrap is going to require a canvass of every house and every farm. Even one old shoe will help make 4 hand grenades.

We have set up the machinery for this, but it is not perfect. It is a problem that can be licked only by American resourcefulness; American organization ability, American muscle and American will to win.

We now have in every state a State Salvage Committee of volunteers working directly under the governor.

Under these state committees we have county committees and local committees. We have special industrial committees working with executives of plants in 421 industrial centers.

In rural communities we have the County War Boards. These committees can tell you the quickest way to get your Junk into action:

In behalf of the governor and the state committee we urge every committee to organize itself into a band of "Salvage Commandos."

You can either sell your scrap to a Junk dealer or you can give it to a charity, which in turn will sell it to a Junk dealer who performs an important function by sorting it, grading it, packing it and shipping it to the right place.

We urge local charities and civic organizations to cooperate with the Local Salvage Committee and devise a plan of action and collection.

We urge the scrap dealer to cooperate as fast as he can in the collection and shipment of materials.

We urge industrial executives to appoint Salvage Managers who have both the responsibility and authority to salvage obsolete machinery, tools and dies.

We urge every farmer and every householder in America to act at once.

Go over your premises with a fine tooth comb. If you have already turned in your scrap, look again—you'll probably find more.

If you do not have enough of your own to warrant someone coming after it, form a neighborhood pool, or take it yourself to the nearest collection point.

If there is an old heater or boiler in your basement too heavy for you to move, get your neighbors to help you.

This is a People's job. It is something you can do without interfering with other war work or personal duties.

It is not enough to pile up a little stuff and expect somebody to come and get it. Most of the work is being done by patriotic volunteers with inadequate facilities. They need your help in collecting scrap material in the largest possible amounts and in getting it to the right place.

It is a direct and personal obligation to all of our boys on all fronts.

You may think, "My little bit" won't help, but your "little bit" multiplied thousands and millions of times can create a mountain of raw material which can actually turn the tide.

The situation is serious. Your help is needed now.

Final Debate This Morning At 10 O'clock

Final debate of the summer session all-state speech course will be held in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, at 10 o'clock this morning. All students and the general public are invited. The all-staters have presented four combination discussion and dramatic programs over station WSUI dealing with post war problems and solutions.

The question, "Resolved. That the Several Nations should Establish a Federal World Government," 1785. The play continued to be very popular in this country, and became the favorite of George Washington.

Tickets may be reserved at the University theater office, room 8-A, Schaeffer hall. Students registered in the university will be admitted without additional charge by presenting identification cards at the box office or at the theater.

will be handled by members of the group. Betty Mae Endlich of Mayville, Wis., will preside. Robert Buzzard of Charleston, Ill., and Don Lay of Princeton, Ill., will compose the affirmative team. Representing the negative will be Dorothy Sheridan of Waukon, and Helen Marlas of Iowa City.

Verona Luettke, Hartford, Wis., and Joe Gotsch, Shenandoah, will serve as timekeepers. A vote of the audience will be taken to decide the best debating team. A forum will follow for those who are able to remain.

Prof. Karl F. Robinson of the speech department has been in general charge of the all-state speech course. Professor Robinson said yesterday, "To anyone working with these people, the most revealing thing is that they have a very serious interest in the problems of our country and of the world at large today."

"They are critical and are thoughtful; they are not satisfied with superficialities and glossed-over information. They want to get the facts; they want to know things as they are."

Mrs. Nevole Dies
Mrs. Frank Fryauf Jr. and Mrs. William L. Kanak, both of Iowa City, have been called to Chicago by the death of their mother, Mrs. Mary Nevole.

HOW SCRAP IRON AND STEEL GO TO WAR

The steel used in our war machines is made by melting together

1. Pig iron (about 50%)
2. Scrap generated in the steel plant in the process of steelmaking (about 25%)
3. Scrap purchased from outside Junk sources (about 25%)

We have plenty of iron ore to make the pig iron needed. But our furnaces operate faster when there is plenty of scrap to mix with the pig iron.

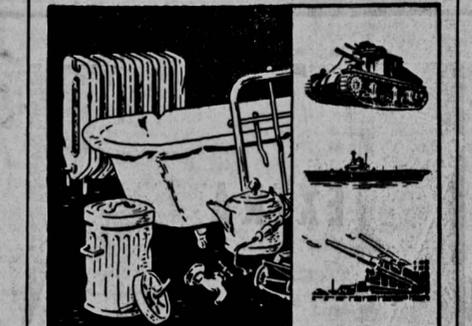

This so-called "scrap" which goes into the furnaces to make the steel for tanks, ships and guns is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed. Some of the finest quality steels are made 100% from scrap.

The iron and steel scrap which you collect is bought by the steel mills from scrap dealers at established government-controlled prices.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK needed for War

Scrap Iron and Steel

Needed for tanks, ships, guns—all machines and arms of war.

Other Metals—Rubber—Rags—Manila Rope—Burlap Bags

Needed to make bombs, fuses, binoculars, planes, tires for jeeps, gas masks, barrage balloons, parachute flares, sandbags.

HOW TO TURN IT IN

Sell to a Junk dealer . . . Give to a charity . . . Take it yourself to nearest collection point . . . or consult your Local Salvage Committee—

If you live on a farm, phone or write your County War Board or consult your farm implement dealer.

WASTE FATS—After they have served maximum cooking use. Strain into a large tin can and sell to your meat dealer after you have collected a pound or more.

TIN CANS—Wanted only in areas close to detinning plants, as announced locally.

WASTE PAPER—Needed only as announced by local committees.
