Begin New Push on Stalingrad

Bolster New Guinea Offensive But Lose Ground in Solomons

Nazis Hurl Masses of Troops, Tanks at City's Outer Defenses

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Sunday (AP)—Apparently launching a full offensive against Stalingrad after securing strongholds in the north Caucasus, the Germans hurled masses of infantrymen, tanks and planes today against Russian positions on the Kletskaya and Kotelnikovski fronts before the important Volga city.

Russian reports early today said the Germans had opened up a series of attacks with no regard for losses, with German bodies littering the ground along a railroad east of Kotelnikovski, where the Germans struck after regrouping their forces.

The Germans have been stalled on the Kletskaya and Kotelnikovski fronts for two weeks while they won positions in the Don and beat their way deep into the Caucasus. Now they appear to be putting on the pressure again, with most of the north Caucasus in their hands.

Coincident with the threat to Stalingrad was a drive aimed at Astrakhan from the Kotelnikovski area.

The Russian midnight communique said that the Germans lost heavily in attempts to recapture lost positions northeast of Kotelnikovski, while the Moscow radio broadcast that the regrouped nazis fighting east of the city were trying to drive to the north-east toward Stalingrad.

Kotelnikovski is 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

On the northern arm of this huge pincer movement against the city named for Joseph Stalin, the Germans apparently were trying to develop and enlarge their break through to the Don river southeast of Kletskaya, which is 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

Heavy Losses

"Southeast of Kletskaya the Germans launched several fierce attacks and sustained heavy losses," the midnight communique reported.

(The Russian accounts did not make clear how the battles in the two critical areas facing Stalingrad were going.)

The Germans also attacked in the Voronezh area at the top of the long southern front and slightly pressed back the Soviets, the communique declared.

However, the Russians beat the axis forces back and killed 400 Germans.

Apparently in this area also, on the western bank of the Don, 600 Hungarians were killed and a group of Hungarian troops went over to the red army, the Russians said.

The communique told of no major change in the Caucasus, with stubborn fighting continuing in the areas of Cherkessk, Mineralnye Vody, Krasnodar and Malkop.

Fierce Fighting

The fight was particularly fierce in the Krasnodar area, the communique indicated. It reported several German attacks were repulsed and 400 Germans were killed.

German attempts to cross a river (presumably the Kuban) were repulsed and three pontoon bridges were destroyed, with the enemy losing 500 killed.

Battles against tanks and mechanized infantry of the Germans were continuing in the Mineralnye Vody area, the communique added.

The midnight communique did not mention the fronts above Voronezh. (The Germans have reported considerable fighting on the northwestern areas between Moscow and Leningrad but the Russians have had little to say about those in recent communique.)

A break in the Russian lines south of Kotelnikovski posed the new threat to Astrakhan.

The sheer weight of nazi reserves forced the Russians to "withdraw slightly" south of Kotelnikovski. Between the nazi vanguards and Astrakhan at the mouth of the Volga on the Caspian sea lie 240 miles of bare wastelands which have poor roads.

Astrakhan and Stalingrad both are athwart the vital allied supply line from the Persian gulf and the oil route from Baku to interior Russia. The loss of either would imperil gravely Russia's war potential.

Red Star reported the speed of the German assault in the direction of Malkop, Cherkessk and Mineralnye Vody was slowed somewhat.

The battle in the Caucasus was so mobile that the military press declared there was no such thing as a front in the present fighting.

Red army units in the Caucasus were reported hard pressed by the German assaults, and were having to exercise extreme care to prevent encirclement.

NAZIS HUNT GUERRILLAS IN SEVASTOPOL RUINS

Russian guerrillas harassing German forces in Sevastopol, the Russian seaport city captured after months of savage fighting, are the prey sought by these German officers in a suspected hideout. Below, a group of guerrillas is pictured immediately after capture.

Larry Allen Views Rhodes Attack--

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Larry Allen, 33-year-old Associated Press correspondent whose eye-witness accounts of action with the British Mediterranean fleet won him the Pulitzer prize this year, tells in the following dispatch of a heavy British naval bombardment of the Italian eastern Mediterranean island of Rhodes. Allen was on board the aircraft carrier Illustrious when it was hit and damaged by nazi Stukas, and he was with the British fleet when it bombarded Tripoli in April, 1941. The following dispatch, although written at the time of the action he describes, was held up by the British censor until yesterday.)

By LARRY ALLEN
ABOARD A CRUISER WITH THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, BOMBARDING RHODES (Delayed) (AP)—The long sleek guns of Britain's Mediterranean warships, spouting sheets of white flame, poured ton after ton of high explosive shells into Mussolini's Dodecanese stronghold of Rhodes early today.

They left behind on this eastern Mediterranean island huge fires, battered seaplane bases and broken barracks and harbor installations.

The squadron of warships, commanded by Rear Admiral Philip L. Vian, swept into the mine-laden waters off Rhodes just before 1 a. m. Thursday and blasted the harbor for 12 minutes in one of the most thrilling surprise bombardments I have ever witnessed.

Huge Geysers

The Rhodes heavy shore batteries and anti-aircraft guns and Italian torpedo boats flung everything at the fleet they could muster. My heart crashed against my ribs as big enemy shells sprayed over this cruiser and near misses made huge geysers while fire gushed from the mouths of the ships guns and projectiles scorched through the air under the starlit skies and exploded with shattering force ashore.

Perfect Training

The emphasis on perfect training and perfect equipment is regarded as an obvious obedience to a lesson the British have learned; that the Germans are a tough foe and an invasion of the continent will not be a Sunday school picnic romp to victory.

General Eisenhower Declares 'Time Is Short' In Training American Soldiers for 2nd Front

LONDON (AP)—Significantly speaking at a time when United States, Russian and British military leaders are continuously discussing diversionary actions on a new European front, U. S. Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared yesterday that "the time is short" and United States soldiers must be trained to stand the most rigorous operations.

The general's words were taken as a reflection of the views of both the British and American governments that a second front in Europe is needed at the earliest possible moment; and that such a front can be created and successfully advanced only at the cost of great preparation and great casualties.

British and American experts, while realizing that a full scale second front is impossible without adequate preparations, feel that more positive action to aid Russia and hit the axis will not be long delayed.

Many believe that at the present stage the main brunt still will have to be borne by British and Canadian troops with Americans playing a minor role until they reach a training and organization peak—but at the rate things are moving they think that won't be long.

The air ministry disclosed yesterday the appointment of Sir William Welsh, commander-in-chief of the flying training command and one of the prominent figures of the RAF, for "special duties."

Sen. Byrd Demands Nationwide Rationing Of Rubber, Gasoline

Says Present System Is 'Grossly Unfair' To American Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.), demanding nationwide rationing of gasoline, asserted yesterday that it was "grossly unfair and destructive of public morale" to permit citizens in 31 states to obtain all the gasoline and fuel oil they needed and to ration those in 17 states.

"Each day it becomes more evident that we must have nationwide rationing of gasoline," Byrd declared in a statement. "We are short of rubber and short of transportation for oil and gasoline. The only obvious and just thing to do is to ration these necessities on a nationwide basis."

National Rationing

Byrd said he knew that high officials of the government had recommended to President Roosevelt that gasoline and fuel oil be rationed on a nation-wide basis, adding:

"Why the administration delays, I do not know."

Meanwhile, the office of price administration went ahead with preparations for fuel oil rationing in the east, but OPA Administrator Leon Henderson joined with Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes in expressing the hope that such a step might be avoided.

Coal Slump

In a separate statement, Ickes said that notwithstanding repeating government warnings that householders buy and store coal in the summer months, a "lack of purchasers" has caused a slump in bituminous coal production.

Soft coal output dropped to 10,925,000 tons in the week ended August 8, this being the first seven-day period this summer below 11,000,000 tons, except for the week of the July 4 holiday. Production in the week ended August 1 amounted to 11,200,000 tons.

Private Law Ayers Praised by General As 'Excellent Soldier'

ABILENE, Tex., (AP)—Private Law Ayres has completed his basic army training at Camp Barkeley's medical replacement training center with the praise "excellent soldier" bestowed by his commanding general.

Interpreting The War News

Three-Year-Old War 'To Approach Crisis By 1st of November'

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

The second World War, more terrible and far-reaching than its 1914-1918 prototype, will be three years old in another two weeks. Yet there is good warrant for the assertion of high placed British spokesmen that it is only now verging toward its crisis.

From two British sources a prediction has come within the week that by Nov. 1 of this year the flood crest of axis attacking power will have been reached. Speaking in London, Oliver Lytton, British minister of production, admitted a "somber" outlook, and said England would face the gravest hours of her history within the "next 80 days."

November 1

Captain Bernard Newman of the British ministry of information was even more specific. Speaking in Canada he said: "If by November 1 we are still fighting hard, if by November we still hold Egypt, I think we will have won the war."

Here is the same thought, the same critical date setting, but differently expressed. What can be traced in both statements is the belief that Hitler and his axis accomplices must reach a decisive victory before winter sets in again in Russia, or not at all. And grave as are the war reports from the Caucasus, these seem yet no possibility that Russia can be crushed or forced to her knees in that time.

On Defensive

On the contrary, even by German victory claims, Hitler's armies are now on the defensive from Leningrad to southwest of Moscow, from the Baltic to the upper reaches of the Don. Russian armies are being battered in the central Caucasus, but the ramparts of the towering Caucasus range to the south still guard the Baku oil fields. That difficult terrain, well suited to defense against nazi blitzkrieg methods, is offered by Berlin as an advance explanation for an expected slowing down of the victory march in the south.

By contrast, Russian offensives at crucial points from Voronezh on the upper Don, to north of the Valdai plateau are reported by the Germans. Moscow gives them only passing mention, yet they may (See INTERPRETING, page 5)

U.S. War Declaration Nazis' Greatest Blow

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—Alvin J. Steinkopf, veteran Associated Press foreign correspondent, said in a radio talk yesterday that the declaration of war by the United States was the greatest single blow to the German morale in the present war.

"But until the German leadership is replaced," he said in a broadcast by WRNL, "they will battle us to the death."

The flight by Rudolf Hess, nazi number 2, to England was described as probably the second worst blow to German morale.

Sugar Stamp No. 8 Allows Five Pounds For 10-Week Period

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sugar ration stamp No. 8 will be good for five pounds of sugar in the ten-week period beginning August 23 and ending October 31, the office of price administration announced yesterday.

While not changing the basic ration of one-half pound per person per week, it will enable consumers to make purchases in larger units and facilitate the disposal of five, ten and 25-pound packages.

Packages of these sizes were put up before the start of rationing and processors have had difficulty marketing any substantial part of them because ration stamps to date have been good for one or two-pound purchases. Unless this sugar is sold, the OPA said, it would have to be repacked, causing an "undesirable waste of labor and materials."

Stamps Nos. 6 and 7, each good for two pounds of sugar, may be used until midnight, August 22.

Senate Unit Studies Deadline on Benefits

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A member of the senate military affairs committee suggested yesterday that a compromise might be arranged under which accumulated benefits could be paid the dependents of service men any time after Oct. 1.

The senator, who requested that his name not be used, stressed that such legislation, if passed, would not guarantee that the allowances and allotments would be paid exactly on Oct. 1. It merely would replace a section of the law which prohibits such payments before Nov. 1.

Big War Show Opens Four-Day Iowa Run In Des Moines Today

DES MOINES (AP)—With all the flesh and steel of a battling motorized cavalry unit, the cast of the army war show will open its four-day Iowa stand at Drake stadium tonight—and don't be surprised if some attendance records are shattered.

Since the middle of the week, nearly 2,000 bronzed, husky fighters of the nation's new army have been in Des Moines making preparations for the spectacle, and residents here gazed in wonderment at the rugged youths and their-painted machines.

A dress rehearsal Friday night climaxed preparations for the show, but only a few were able to witness the brilliant display of precision of movement and lightning maneuvers.

Infantry, artillery, anti-aircraft and machine guns, mortars, armored cars, tanks and planes will all be in action in the climax of the stimulated battle on the Drake university football gridiron.

Dies Exposes Plans For Saboteurs' Ring

Recommends Check On 17,000 Members Of Nazi Organizations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the special house committee on un-American activities sent to President Roosevelt yesterday a document which he said disclosed efforts of the German high command to establish a "huge sabotage ring" with headquarters at Chicago.

Simultaneously, he submitted a list of approximately 17,000 names of persons who, he said, "have been members of or otherwise sympathetically affiliated with German organizations which have supported the nazi cause in the United States."

Dies said the document, written in Germany in January, 1941, "emanates from none other than Walter Kappe, who is now being sought as Hitler's master spy in the United States."

The Texan said, "despite the published reports of our committee, our enemies, who have from the beginning included many scoffers who hold high positions in your administration, have done their utmost to spread the falsehood that we have failed to investigate the band."

He said that "falsehood" had been disproved by the document, in which, he said, Kappe acknowledged that the "cause of nazi infiltration into the United States has received serious setbacks as a result of the investigations and denunciations of our committee."

Political Agitation Prevents Unity

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Some Folks Still Try to Make War an Exclusive Social Affair

WASHINGTON—The primaries Tuesday, and developments since, show how some few folks in the magazines, the government and newspapers are still trying noisily to make this war an exclusive social affair—for their political friends only.

They don't want anyone in it, fighting or working for our side, except those whose political views they approve. They don't want Lindbergh. They would ban certain congressmen who did not vote before the war for their social views.

They constantly rail and agitate against congressmen, public figures, and against a few newspapers which held similar non-interventionist or isolationist (whichever you will) views before the conflict.

All this and more of the same they have continued twenty-four hours a day for some months now in the name of unity.

This agitation is preventing unity. It is further preventing the generation of a fighting spirit in the people which is necessary to win the war.

War is a fight to the death, individually and nationally. The first instinct for conflict requires that you use every weapon, every energy and every person at your command, or anyone you can get on your side, to help you win.

In a fight against odds, you do not turn around to see if everyone fighting with you is socially or politically desirable to you—not if you want to win. On that common sense principle, we swallowed the communists as allies without gulping.

Why should some of us be straining so hard at a few of our own isolationists? The facts suggest the left wing political groups of the United States want to win the war, but they also want to eliminate the right wing and all opposition in the process.

Anyone who wants to fight or work or rail on our side should be allowed to do so if he satisfies the only important requirement—loyalty. I do not raise any question regarding the loyalty of the leftists or rightists, but I do question the wisdom of trying to win a war this way.

Our only political test now should be one of loyalty applied fairly and honestly to conservatives, liberals or political hotentots.

If this playing of politics, this crying of "fascist," this dealing with social oppositions under the guise of patriotism, does not cease, we shall lose this war. In the face of this internal dissention we shall never be able to muster the popular unified fighting spirit required for victory.

To scourge social or political opponents in wartime with a reign of publicity terrorism, or by bitter election campaigns, is purely negative.

If the Johnny-come-lately patriots, who are trying it, would devote the same amount of thought and energy to some affirmative action to help win the war, to sell bonds, or to create a hearty friendly fighting spirit among our people, then they might contribute something constructive to the war effort.

As it is, they are only widening and deepening the gulf that lay between our peoples, which was the greatest defect and weakness of this country before the war.

Still Not Ready for 2nd Front—

Mrs. Roosevelt's impatience with lady criers for a second front at the Hunter college forum, accurately expressed the Washington viewpoint toward that pressure which is rising up higher on all sides.

It was not intended, but it may be considered a response indirectly to a high Soviet official who presented a lugubrious view of the red military predicament at a private luncheon here.

The Soviet official pointed out it would be much better for the British and Americans to face the 20 to 30 Nazi divisions now in occupied territories than to meet the 300 divisions which will be ready to meet us if Russia falls.

This red authority said invasion by Norway and Italy would not suffice. If we struck at either of those strategically desirable points, we would not relieve the pressure on the Russian front. Only a bold thrust into France would do.

His points are all more or less true, but do not go deep enough into the facts.

Just keep in mind during all this second front argument that it requires 15 gross tons of shipping to send a single soldier to the second front, and two tons of shipping to the British war zone can now generally be completed in a month, although it requires about three months per ship for a round trip to Australia.

While an initial striking venture could be instituted by say 300,000 troops, constant heavy replacements of both men and material would be necessary. The force to be made ready must be several times that large. We have only been in this war eight months.

Need for Armed Coordination--

Magnuson's Expose of Jap Raid On Alaska Should Bring Results

Rep. Warren Magnuson's statement that "failure of the army and navy to cooperate" during the raid on Dutch Harbor permitted Japanese surface forces to escape, brings to light a long-aggrieved sore spot in this country's military setup.

We hope this expose will at last put an end to the petty jealousy and school-boy attitudes harbored by different branches of the service in their relation with other American armed forces. If the fault isn't corrected, completely remedied, we can expect future "Pearl Harbor's" which will make the original look like a side-show.

The crux of the problem is more psychological than anything else, and correction of it must be sought in that idiom.

Radio programs, news stories and recruiting propaganda which eulogizes the marines, while giving only brief mention to the exploits of naval and army forces, can have but one effect: a breach in cooperative feeling toward each other.

The only way to correct this breach is to change the idea behind publicity releases from "We are America's finest fighting force," to "We have the finest fighting forces in the world."

Simply inducting men in the various branches to shake hands with one another isn't going to change feelings of inferiority or superiority. They must be told, not singly, but collectively that they are the world's toughest fighting forces; each must believe he is but one cog in the machine, not the machine itself.

Such a change in recruiting propaganda would have the invaluable effect of equalizing the status of men in various phases of the services, besides crystallizing the attitude of those who were about to enter the armed forces. An army draftee, then, wouldn't think he was being cheated simply because his physical condition wasn't up to air corps or marine standards.

A change in military publicity should also induce higher and more "mature" officers, upon whose shoulders all blame for future "Pearl Harbor" incidents will rest, to feel more cooperative. If it does not do this, they must either be forced to cooperate or face removal from office.

Hitler, when he ascended to power, faced much the same problem as we now do. The elite Prussian generals of the last war were given grounds for a superior attitude which the Fuehrer realized had no place in a type of warfare where everything depends on coordination between air, land and naval forces, as well as mutual respect between officers and their underlings.

Hitler removed all non-cooperative spirit in the Nazi war machine by promoting younger men to the top officer ranks and, most important, by instilling in all of German youth a feeling that they must unite or die. The result of this training is visible on any war map of Europe.

From a military standpoint the Nazi army is without peer in history. This is not the result of superior men and machines, but is due almost entirely to the fact that the Germans have been trained to coordinate; to do a specific job and do it well. Hitler did not single out one fighting unit and say it was better than all others; he said all his forces were superior to any in the world.

This is the only basis upon which any nation's forces can function efficiently. This is the way in which our armed forces must work and think. Our soldiers, naval officers and air corps pilots must feel they are all part of one machine intended to accomplish one thing; the crushing of our enemies. They can do this only through coordination of the most extreme degree.

The Real Story Of Judy Canova

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This is the real story of Judy Canova, a poor little hillbilly girl who doesn't know her way around Hollywood and New York at all—and crows have wings!

The Lynn Fontaine of the Evergreens had just completed a two-weeks' engagement at the Strand on Broadway and was preparing to depart on a tour of the army posts when I found her at the Warwick.

So I said to this Jenny Lind of the Ozarks, I said, "Miss Canova, how did you first become identified with corn?"

Miss Canova replied: "When I was a little girl in Jacksonville, Florida, my sister and I used to pick names out of the telephone book, and we'd call them up and talk to them in a hayseed voice, passing ourselves off as nieces or relatives come for a visit and why hadn't we been met at the depot? We had them crazy. We did this so much that our mother got after us for it, but from those kid pastimes came an idea to groom the corn in a big way, and we did. We did skits on Florida radio stations, always crooning the corn songs, pining for the Ozarks, which I have never seen, and singing the old hillbilly songs until, eventually, I became known as the Sarah Bernhardt of the Canebrakes, and went on from there to the stage and pictures . . .

Our Job Is to Save Dollars Buy War Bonds Every Pay Day

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—As a result of the President's order that all members of Congress on duty with the armed forces return to their posts in the legislative branch of government, three Congressmen have announced that they will throw over their $10,000-a-year jobs to write their names in blood, sweat and tears on the battlefronts.

Three others, still with the armed forces in parts unknown to Washington, have made no public declaration of intention despite the nearness of elections.

Five others have bowed to the President's judgment that they will be more valuable to the war effort in their legislative positions and have returned to run for reelection. Since there has only been eight months of war for the U. S. and so far the supply of military manpower has far exceeded the demand, the 77th Congress has hung up a service record of which it may well be proud.

First of the congressmen to bolt the Presidential order was Lieut.-Com. Robert T. Secret, the 38-year-old Caldwell, Ohio, ex-coal miner, and father of three children who announced recently that he wouldn't wait for the end of his term but would resign to continue his post with the navy.

The two who have announced they will not be candidates for reelection in order to stay with the armed forces are Infantry Maj. Albert L. Vreeland, East Orange, N. J., and Lieut. Frank C. Osmer, Jr., Haworth, N. J. Vreeland has been a reserve officer for more than 10 years in military intelligence, went into service on Dec. 9 as a captain and already has won a promotion. Osmer's record is even more unusual. Fulfilling a pledge he made in a speech on the floor of the House to enlist the minute the United States got into war, he went in as a private—the only member of congress to start out as a buck private in this war, probably a record that holds for World War I, too.

Of the three who have not been heard from, it is considered positive here that Col. Melvin J. Mans, St. Paul, Minn., now on duty as a U. S. Marine Corps flying officer somewhere in the Pacific, will be a candidate for reelection. But no word has been received from Capt. Vincent F. Harrington, the 39-year-old Sioux City Iowan, who was last heard of in the Army air corps at Stout Field, Indianapolis; or from Lieut.-Com. Eugene Worley, of Shamrock, Tex., who is with the Pacific fleet.

The constituents of Lieut.-Com. Lyndon Johnson, from Johnson City, Texas, didn't wait for him to decide to run again. While he was with the Pacific fleet, a petition of 20,000 voters placed him on the ballot and he was nominated without opposition which, in Texas, assures him of reelection.

Three other congressmen who are back from the war fronts and up for reelection are Lieut.-Com. Francis Walter, of Pennsylvania, a naval aviator in World War I; Lieut.-Com. Warren G. Magnuson, of Seattle, Wash.; and Naval Lieut. James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, Pa., who also is a World War I veteran.

The Devil Grass Is Out Again

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's tough for tourists to get inside a movie lot these days. Tougher than devil grass, the curse of the victory gardeners.

I mention devil grass—in polite eastern circles it's called Bermuda—because there's a tenuous connection between this pest and the fact that Dick Broughton, 14, got a look-in.

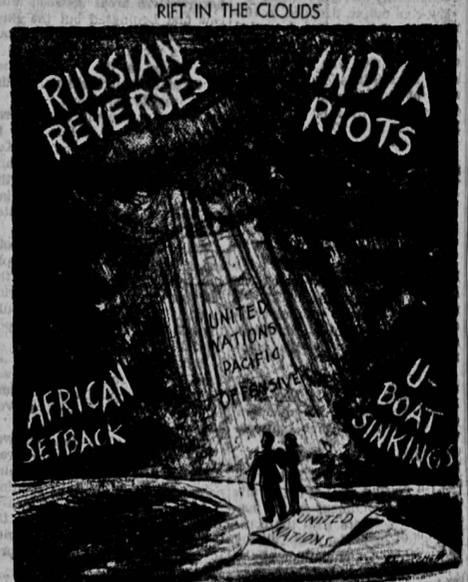

You know devil grass. It invades the petunia, the mum, the carrot and the lone, lawn melon vine as cussedly as it avoids the bare spot on the lawn where it might do some good. It's the devil—especially on a hot August weekend. That was where Dick came in.

Dick's in our neighborhood, visiting from Columbus, O.

Dick's a bright-faced youngster, full of ingratiating grins. He's a he-boy. Played center and half-back on his junior high football team. Crazy over movies, too.

I learned this last about the same time he made it clear that he wasn't afraid of devil grass or hot weather. Besides offering certain monetary inducements, I shamelessly dropped hints that I was acquainted with Shirley Temple, Gene Autry, Jane Withers and sundry other juvenile favorites. "Gee!" grinned Dick, awed. And because it is tough to get inside, I thought maybe you'd like to go along with Dick. He had a wonderful time, I think. We'd no more than hit the lot before we spotted Olivia DeHavilland.

"Oh, boy!" said Dick, wowed. "Wait'll the fellows back home hear about this!"

Among Iowa City People

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred L. Cole and daughter, Dorothy, 750 N. Johnson, will return this evening from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jaeger of Decorah.

Mrs. G. H. Rigler of Kenilworth, Ill., has returned to her home after a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Cox, 104 E. Market. She was accompanied by her sister, Catherine Cox, who will be her guest for a week.

Mrs. Francis Dawson, 723 Bayard, will return Monday from Houghton, Mich., where she has been visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Vego Christenson of West Branch are the parents of an eight-pound, four-ounce girl born yesterday at Mercy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Randall of Cedar Rapids are week-end guests in the home of Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Blessing, 511 S. Lucas.

Visiting Mrs. E. E. Blythe, 121 N. Dubuque, this week end will be George Brown and Clifford Heaton of Boone.

Prof. John D. Bridgman of Grinnell is a guest of Prof. and Mrs. Dorrance White, 1152 E. Court, this week end.

Inez Manion, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Blythe, 121 N. Dubuque, left Friday for Denver, Col. She was accompanied by her uncle, Floyd Duke of Caspar, Wyo., who has been a guest in the Blythe house.

Mrs. W. E. Reid and children, Martha and William Bryan, of Anamosa, are guests in the home of Mrs. Reid's parents, Dean and Mrs. A. W. Bryan, 365 Ellis.

Lack of sound management talent and inadequate capital for growth purposes are the two major handicaps of small business, according to the department of commerce.

GO PARTYING IN VELVETEEN

Parties and teas—the lighter side of college life—mean a dress that is tailored and smart but is still "something special." This two piece suit of priorities-free velveteen is ideal for both functions. Dressy enough to be at home at any party, yet demure enough for a faculty tea, it retains the practicality of other hardy campus clothes. Made to fit government regulations the suit features a new version of the peg-top drape and has the popular bracelet length sleeves.

60 Foreign Students Attend SUI Yearly Return to Their Own Countries to Hold Prominent Positions

Over sixty foreign students attended the University of Iowa last year, according to Mrs. Carl E. Seashore of the international committee.

The largest section of students came from China, with 14 representatives on the campus, and the second largest group came from South America, with 12. Other figures included nine refugees from Germany, Austria-Hungary and Czechoslovakia, six from Hawaii, four from Mexico, four from England and Canada, three from India and one each from Iceland, Korea and the Philippine Islands.

Many of this group will go back to positions of influence in their own countries, Mrs. Seashore said. Some of the foreign students on the campus today may later hold important and respected places in government, education and the professions in their native lands.

Important Foreign Alumni
One of the four Samonte brothers, former students at the University of Iowa, became governor of his province in the Philippines. Others have become deans and professors in foreign universities. One Chinese graduate is chief engineer in a large province located in a vital war area of his own country, and two others are engineers on the Burma road.

During the war and after, these students are our friends and allies returning to their own nations, Mrs. Seashore emphasized. It is our duty to give a favorable impression of America to these unofficial ambassadors when we have an opportunity to do so, she said.

It is particularly important that no dark-skinned American, South American or Oriental, over 70 per cent of whom have mixed Indian and Negro blood, should meet with prejudice.

The international committee, advocating helpfulness and courtesy toward all foreign students in the university is composed of Mrs. Seashore, Mrs. B. J. Lambert, Mrs. Andrew Woods, Mrs. Emil Witschi, Mrs. Claude Lapp, Mrs. Frank Whinery, Mrs. L. B. Higley, Mrs. LeRoy Mercer, Mrs. Sushindra Bose, Mrs. L. G. Laywer.

Mrs. George Hall, Panama student representative, Mrs. C. S. McCloy, Dr. Zella White Stewart, Prof. Estella Boot, Mrs. Imelda Murphy, manager of the student housing service, and Naomi Braverman, Mortar Board representative.

WSUI to Begin New Student Activity Shows This Tuesday Evening

A new program about the university, Student Activities, will be aired at 8 p.m. Tuesday, and will continue throughout the month.

On Tuesday's broadcast, members of the council of the office of student affairs will hold an informal round-table discussion.

Council members are Dean Robert E. Rienow, Dean Adelaide Burge, Donald Mallett, Helen Focht, Helen Reich, R. K. Tindall, Leo Sweeney and Mrs. Imelda Murphy.

Union Church Service Will Be Held Today

A union church service, including Methodist, Congregational, Christian, Presbyterian and Baptist groups, will be held at 10:45 this morning at the Baptist church.

The Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, pastor of the Baptist church, will address the combined congregations on "When Silence is Sin."

Thomas Muir of the music department of the University of Iowa will sing a recitative solo, "O How Familiar to Mine Ear Are These Deep Sounds of Sorrow," and an aria, "Remember, Lord," from "The Fall of Babylon" by Spohr.

Mrs. Muir will play two organ selections, "Lento" by Jenkins and "Postlude in F" by Guilmant.

Iowa City Elks Lodge Buys Champion Baby Beef at $26 Top Price

The Iowa City Elks lodge paid $26 per hundred weight yesterday afternoon for Austin Colony's grand champion, a 935 pound shorthorn. It was the top bid of the afternoon at the annual auction of 4-H club baby beef, which was held at the Iowa City Sales company pavilion.

High bidding featured the sale, which was managed from the ring by Dan J. Gatens, with many Iowa City men taking part. Fred Albin of West Branch was auctioneer.

The Elks club followed up their purchase of the grand champion baby beef steer by buying Imelda Miltner's reserve champion at $18.75.

Health Officials Warn Iowa Parents Against Communicable Germs

War imposes additional responsibilities upon parents to keep disease under control in the schools this year, the state health authorities have said in warning against the danger of an increase in communicable disease when school starts.

The state health department reminded parents that fewer physicians will be available to take care of outbreaks and urged parents to prevent spread of sickness.

The health department made the following suggestions:

"Keep your child home at the first sign of illness, especially if he seems to be catching cold or complains of respiratory disturbances.

"Remember, communicable infection often starts from symptoms which resemble the common cold, so signs which look like "only a cold" should not be neglected.

"Remember that communicable diseases are most infectious when they first break out, so be careful even before you know what the disease may be."

Whooping cough, measles, mumps and scarlet fever may develop, the department added, and parents are asked not to allow their children to go school when the warning signs of "not feeling well" appear.

TO WED ROY MUSHRUSH

Dorothy Anne Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Mack of Storm Lake, will today become the bride of Roy S. Mushrush Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Mushrush, 910 S. Summit, in a double ring ceremony at Storm Lake. The couple will make their home in Schenectady, N.Y., where Mr. Mushrush is employed as an engineer for General Electric.

Prof. Stephen Bush Will Speak Tuesday Over Station WSUI

Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the romance languages department, who has spent many years in France, will speak on France in the present world situation over station WSUI at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Speaking for Victory, the program series on which Professor Bush will be heard, is a weekly program presented by the university as a part of its function as a key center of civilian information.

Dorothy Anne Mack, Roy S. Mushrush Jr. Will Be Married Tonight in Storm Lake

Dorothy Anne Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Mack of Storm Lake, and Roy S. Mushrush Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Mushrush, 910 S. Summit, will exchange nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock this evening. The wedding service will be read in Storm Lake by the Rev. Dr. E. L. Gibson.

The bride has chosen a floor-length gown of white satin with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline embroidered with seed pearls. The fitted sleeves are pointed at the wrist. A veil of net and lace will fall from a pearl tiara and extend the full length of the train. The bride will be given in marriage by her father.

Attended by Sister
Patricia Mack will attend her sister as maid of honor. She will wear a dress of blue satin with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her head dress will be of flowers and she will carry a colonial bouquet.

Cadet Worth $10,000
It has been announced that the cadets stationed here at the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school are worth about $12,850,000 on the hoof. That is the amount of free government insurance that they are receiving—$10,000 apiece.

The premiums are now paid by the government but as soon as they receive their commissions the payments will have to be made by them.

Junella Trukken and Lorraine Miller will be brides maids. They will be dressed in blue taffeta gowns, floral head dresses, and carry colonial bouquets.

Allen Sentinella, 614 N. Gilbert, will serve Mr. Mushrush as best man. Ushering will be the bride's brothers, Edgar and Newton Mack.

Mothers to Wear Rose
Mrs. Mack will attend her daughter's wedding wearing a floor-length gown of dusty rose sheer. Mrs. Mushrush will also be dressed in a long rose gown. Both will wear corsages.

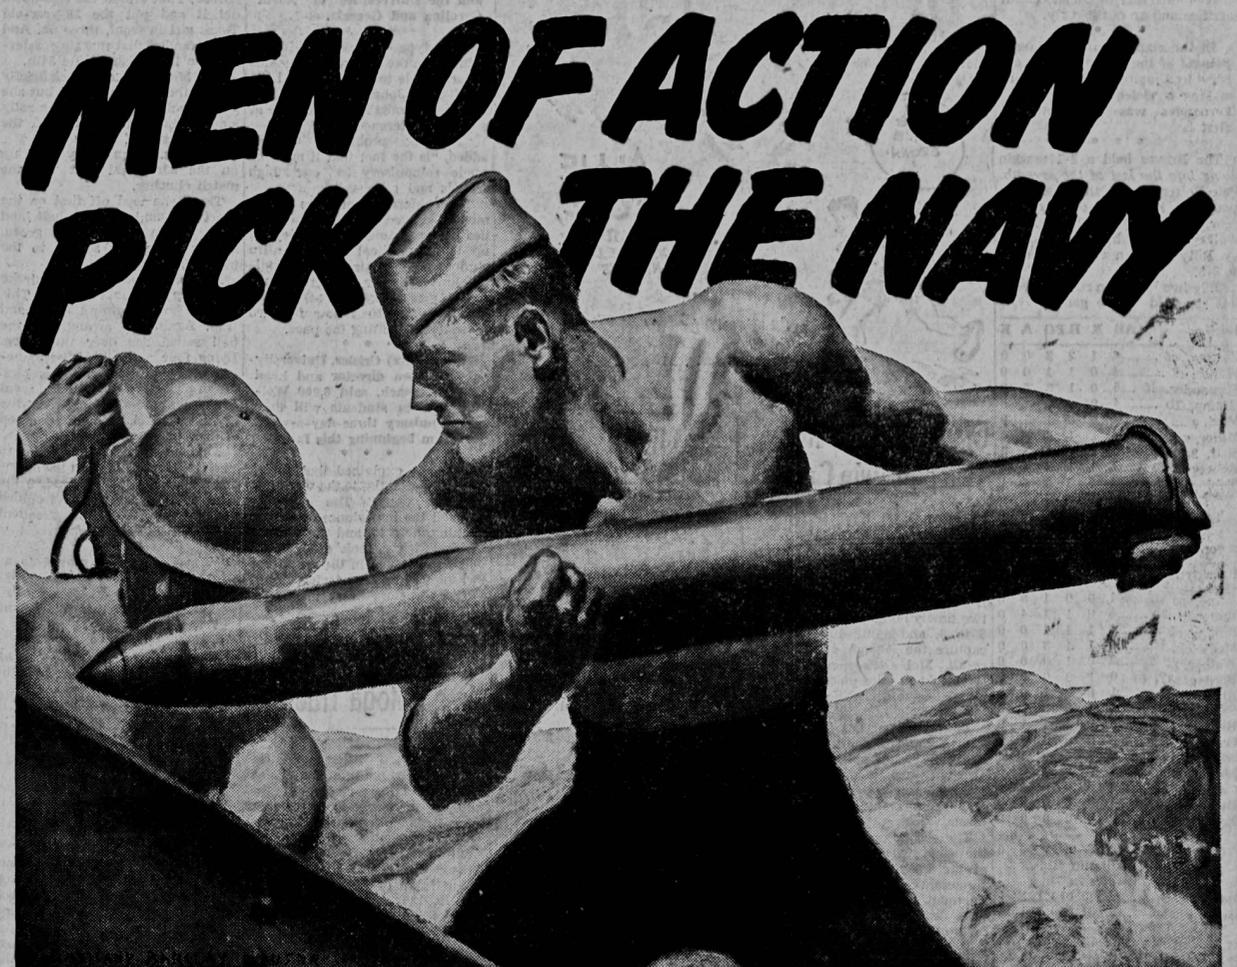

The couple will leave this evening for Schenectady, N. Y., where they will make their home. For traveling the bride will wear an aqua linen and silk suit with black accessories.

Mr. Mushrush is employed as an engineer with General Electric in Schenectady.

Rev. L. C. Wuerffel To Talk at Ladies Aid

A report of the convention of the Iowa East District of the Missouri Lutheran Synod will be given by the Rev. L. C. Wuerffel at the Thursday meeting of St. Paul's Ladies aid. The group will meet at 2 p.m. in the church parlors.

Mrs. John Bertram and Mrs. Lewis Bradley will serve as hostesses.

Fight for your country's freedom! Get action, training, advancement. If you're 17 to 50, choose the Navy now

Men of courage and patriotism! Are you itching to get into this scrap? You bet you are! So why not get in now? Why not get in where America needs you most, where you can do a real fighting man's job, where you can build your own future success—the United States Navy?

You are a red-blooded American. If you are from 17 to 50 and in normal health, the Navy has a job for you right now. It's a man-size job. And it offers a man's reward.

The Navy gives you the stuff that a man of action needs. It puts and keeps you in top physical shape. You get good food, and plenty of it. Your life is clean, healthy, invigorating.

Your shipmates are the finest. The Navy trains you to think straight and to think fast. You're taught how to take responsibility. And you're given responsibility. You play an important part on a mighty important team.

You have a chance to become an expert in your chosen trade. And that means you have a choice of radio, aviation, electricity, engineering—dozens of top trades that will win for you big pay later in civilian life.

In the Navy you get ahead fast. Your first promotion comes in approximately two months upon completion of recruit training, and it carries an increase in pay. Some Navy men earn as much as $138 a month by the end of their first enlistment. And your pay is all yours. Your food, clothing, shelter, medical and dental care are free.

Read at the right what other men say about their life in the Navy. Then go to the nearest Recruiting Station. Have a friendly talk with the officer in charge. And ask him for a copy of the exciting new book, "MEN MAKE THE NAVY." It will give you all the facts why men of action pick the Navy. Don't delay. Act now.

LOOK WHAT THE NAVY OFFERS YOU

1. A chance to serve your country.
2. Clean, healthy life.
3. Good food—and plenty of it.
4. Good pay—up to $138 a month.
5. Free clothing—$133 worth.
6. Free medical and dental care.
7. Travel...adventure...thrills.
8. Opportunity to be an Officer.
9. Training in nearly 50 trades.
10. Future success in civil life.

Camilli Homers in Ninth to Win for Dodgers, 5 to 4

French Gets Game Credit

Medwick Scores Ahead Of Brooks' Captain As Boston Braves Bow

BROOKLYN (AP)—With two out in the ninth inning and his team trailing by a run, Capt. Dolf Camilli of the Dodgers blasted his 20th home run of the campaign over the fight field wall to score Joe Medwick ahead of him and snatch a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves yesterday.

Jim Tobin, who went the route for the visitors, had two strikes on Camilli and the fans were starting for the exits when the Dodger star caught one he liked.

The Dodgers used four pitchers in the see-saw struggle, with Larry French going in the ninth to get decision, his 13th of the year. The Braves had scored what looked like the winning run in their half of the ninth without making a hit, the result of a walk, an attempted sacrifice, a successful sacrifice and an outfield fly.

In the eighth Manager Casey Stengel of the Braves was banished by Umpire Larry Goetz for making a violent protest when Fernandez was called out at first.

The Braves held a 3-1 margin going into the last of the seventh. Pete Reiser opened that frame by pounding his 10th homer of the year, after which a single by Dixie Walker, a stolen base and a single by Billy Herman tied the count at 3-3.

Only two Brooklyn runners were left stranded in the game.

Chisox Nick Henshaw To Defeat Detroit, 4-2

DETROIT (AP)—The Chicago White Sox nipped little Roy Henshaw for three safeties and two runs in the tenth inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers yesterday, 4 to 2, and even the series at one game apiece.

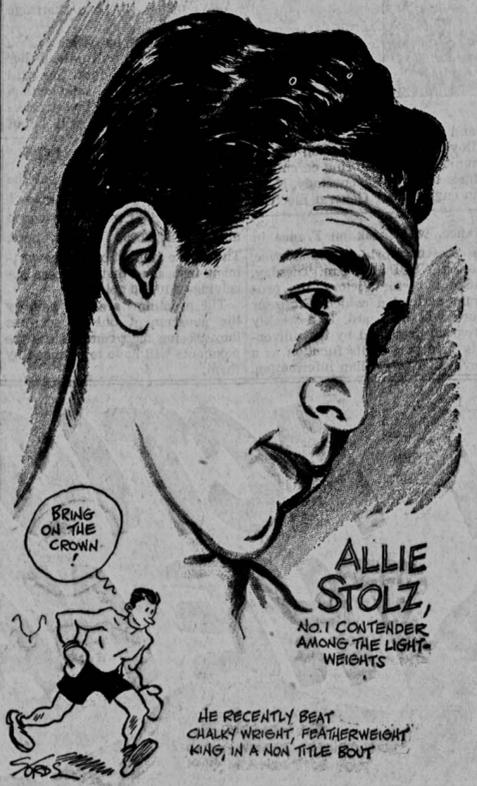

The game-winning outburst came with one out. Wally Moses began it with a double and after Myril Hoag had popped out, Luke Appling was intentionally passed. Singles by Taft Wright and Joe Kuhel then brought in the runs.

Joe Haynes, who took over the Chicago pitching after Johnny Humphries was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, was credited with the victory.

The Tigers counted a run in the fourth on Barney McCosky's triple and an infield out and added another in the sixth on Wright's error, Roger Cramer's double and Pinky Higgins' scratch single, but Chicago knotted the score in the eighth on George Dickey's single. A double by pinchhitter Leo Wells and another single by Moses,

Big Ten Heads Like Pre-Flight Sport Training

The Big Ten's athletic directors put their voice of approval behind the navy's pre-flight program here yesterday at the final session of the conference's regular summer meeting.

No formal business was discussed during the three-day convocation, but the directors got a full appreciation of the navy physical fitness program which is in operation at the University of Iowa and bases at St. Mary's college and the Universities of North Carolina and Georgia.

"This type of training will revolutionize the attitude of the American people towards physical fitness," Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, declared at a press conference.

"The big problem," Griffith added, "is the fact that it must be made compulsory in our high schools and colleges."

The conference directors unanimously agreed that physical education programs must be stepped up in each school for the entire student body. A program at Indiana university for all men students covering five days a week, which has been in effect now for two semesters, is setting the pace.

H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, University of Michigan director and head football coach, said 6,000 Wolverine men students will take a compulsory three-day-a-week program beginning this fall.

Griffith explained that contribution of athletics to the war effort is "tremendous." The navy has realized the importance of athletic training, he said, and the proof of the pre-flight schools' effectiveness will be observed in the number of "washouts" in later training.

Shut Out Triumphs On Saratoga Track

SARATOGA, N. Y. (AP)—There was so little competition in the 73rd running of the ancient Travers stakes yesterday that Shut Out probably could have run backwards and still won.

As it was, the winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and Arlington classic—chief claimant to the throne of the three-year olds—trotted 130 pounds, the heaviest load of his career, ran the conventional way, and waltzed in for four lengths before a crowd of 14,998, biggest of the Saratoga meeting to date.

William Woodward's Triarcher was second, six lengths in front of William DuPont's Star Beacon, kick from Mrs. Payne Whitney's white Buckskin. Shut Out's sideburn, wound up a dead last in the field of four—ten lengths behind the DuPont standard bearer and 21 lengths away from his entrymate.

As a horse-race, there was nothing to it once the son of Equipoise got the word from Eddie Arcaro. For the work involved, he was considerably overpaid for the 2 minutes, 4 2/5 seconds of effort.

Backed by virtually every one on the race track, the chocolate son of the great Chocolate Daddy paid off at the absolute minimum of $2.10 to $2. There was no place and show betting.

Betty Jameson Wins Western Golf Crown

Winner of Open Title Now Takes Amateur Woman Championship

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO (AP)—Texas' Betty Jameson became 1942's undisputed champion woman golfer yesterday, winning the women's Western Golf association's amateur championship to go with the western open title she earned in June.

These were the only major women's meets held this year, the U.S.G.A. national having been cancelled because of the war.

The San Antonio girl defeated the defending champion, Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., 4 and 2, over the 36 hole route of the Sunset Ridge country club, but she had to wage a thrilling comeback after being down at the luncheon intermission.

Her greatest nine hole round of the four she traversed yesterday was the outgoing layout in the afternoon, when she won six holes to Mrs. Mann's one, two being halved. That erased the two-down deficit and put the 23-year-old Texas girl in front, three up, 19.

She defended that margin masterfully to the finish on the 34th.

Mrs. Mann did come back briefly to win the 30th and 32nd, but she gained only one hole by the rally since Miss Jameson annexed the 31st in between.

But Mrs. Mann really blew up on the 33rd, and that was the match clincher.

There she teed off first on the short hole and saw her ball land in a lagoon beside the green. Betty's drive was square to the putting surface.

Mrs. Mann took a penalty stroke and dropped another ball. This one she booted into a nearby sand trap. Again she swung and the ball sailed far over the green.

Lying four and with Miss Jameson easily due for a three, Mrs. Mann picked up the ball and went to the next tee, dormie three. Miss Jameson officially was credited with a two.

Mrs. Mann won three holes to one for Miss Jameson on the morning's outgoing nine to lead, 2 up, at the turn. Betty was troubled by shaky putting and frequent visits into sand traps.

Occupation Outpaces Count Fleet to Win $58,475 First Place

CHICAGO (AP)—Occupation, fastest working two-year-old on the American turf, raced to a neck victory in the $69,875 Washington Park Futurity yesterday.

The little brown son of Bulldog-Miss Bunting, owned by John March, Chicago contractor, collected the winners share of $58,475 to stretch his earnings to $117,575. This advanced him far ahead of all other juveniles.

Count Fleet, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz of New York, was second with the 20 to 1 shot, Blue Swords, owned by A. T. Simmons, Akron, O., third, six lengths back. Another long shot, Ringmenow, at odds of 99 to 1, finished so close to Blue Swords that a photograph was necessary to separate them.

Occupation, ridden by Jockey Lester Balaski, was caught flat-footed at the start and failed to break with his usual speed.

Littleton and Glanceabout immediately shot into the lead, but after running a sixteenth of a mile, Occupation passed them and settled into his stride.

Chicago Loses Two to Pirates

Bill Nicholson Pounds 3 Homers as Cubs Take Dual Drubbing

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates battled for almost six hours yesterday and so far as the Cubs were concerned the struggle was in vain. They dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Bucs, who emerged 8 to 5 victors in the first game and took the twilight contest 8 to 7 in 11 innings.

In the first game the Pirates made 13 hits off Hiram Bithorn, Dick Erickson and Tot Pressnell while the Cubs managed only nine off Lloyd Dietz, Bob Klinger and Johnny Lanning.

During the long strife Bill Nicholson hit three homers, one in the first game and two more in the second contest. This gave him a total of four more home runs in two days and brought his season's collection to 15.

The Pirates punished Cub pitchers for a total of 32 hits during the day. Their second game total was 19.

The Bucs settled the twilight issue in the 11th when, with one out, Jimmy Waddell singled to right, took third when Elliott singled past Bobby Sturgeon and scored on a single by Vince DiMaggio.

Ernie Bonham Gets Fifth Straight Victory And 14th of Season

Yanks Whip Athletics In Nightcap, 5 to 3; Lose Opener, 3 to 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Big Ernie Bonham pitched his fifth straight victory and his 14th of the season against only four losses as the Yankees came back to defeat the Athletics 5 to 3 in the second half of yesterday's doubleheader after being licked in the first game, 3 to 1.

Although he gave up 11 hits, the Yankees' forkballer held the A's with a single that started a two-run rally in the eighth. Phil Rizzuto provided two Yankee runs with a home run in the fifth off Roger Wolff.

Tall Dick Fowler from Canada pitched the A's to victory in the opener and was deprived of a shutout only by Charley Keller's 19th home run of the year in the eighth inning.

Joe DiMaggio's latest hitting streak was snapped abruptly when he failed to hit safely in either game, but Buddy Hassett, Yank first baseman, stretched his string through 11 straight contests.

Bosox Smash Nats In Double Bill, 2-1; 7-6

Ted Williams' Hitting, Tex Hughson's Hurling Wins Opening Contest

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox hung two one-run defeats on Washington yesterday, spoiling an upward surge by the Senators that had included 12 victories in their last 16 starts.

Ted Williams' 25th home run and Tex Hughson's pitching in the pinches gave the Red Sox a 2-0 victory in the opener, and Boston came from behind in the ninth inning of the nightcap to win, 7 to 6, on Lou Finney's two run triple.

Williams' third-inning homer with one man on was just enough runs for Hughson to hang up his ninth consecutive victory and the 15th of the season.

Hughson, although yielding 14 hits, was tough with runners on base as his Boston mates handed Sid Hudson his first defeat in five starts.

George Case's steal of home—his 28th stolen base of the season—gave the Senators a one-run lead in the nightcap, but Bobby Doerr's 13th homer, coming with Williams on base, put the Red Sox back in front in their half of the same inning.

The Red Sox won with one out in the last of the final frame as Williams and Tony Lupien scored on Finney's triple over Bruce Campbell's head.

Tremendous new German advances to take Leningrad, Moscow and the Volga front below Stalingrad must be made before November if Hitler is to stand on a shortened winter line and be prepared to face westward anglo-american power gathering across the English channel. Failing that or a Russian collapse—of which there is no faint suggestion even in German propaganda—he will be more greatly extended in Russia next winter than he was last, when he fell back.

INTERNATIONAL—

(Continued from page 1) There has been continuous expectation in London and in China that Japan would step into the European war theater by attacking Russia from the rear at an opportune moment. With American sea and air forces at last on the offensive in the southwest Pacific, however, a revision of the Japanese plan for axis cooperation well may be in the making. That the stroke in the Solomons was in part timed by Washington to that end is virtually certain.

man boot heels. Five prominent Dutchmen were shot dead in reprisal for the wrecking of a German troop train a week ago. The Germans also were reported deporting 100,000 Jews from Warsaw's melancholy ghetto, the mayor of which committed suicide. Pierre Laval allowed the deportation of 4,000 Jews from "unoccupied" France to eastern Europe.

India Evidence was developing last night that the deadlock between the British government and Indian nationalists might soon be broken through the intervention of at least one and possibly another prominent Indian.

As reports circulated that the British might apply severe penalties, including death and collective fines, to halt rioting and destruction by followers of Mohandas K. Gandhi, word came from the city of Trichinopoly that Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, one time prominent all-India congress figure, was going to New Delhi this week probably on political business.

At the same time it was reported from Allahbad that Sir Tej Bahadar Sapru, India's most prominent lawyer and sometime negotiator between the government and Gandhi, also was heading for New Delhi and would visit Lord Linlithgow, the viceroy.

Panama Canal Labor Needed Immediately

Workers are needed immediately for projects at the Panama canal, Jack Patton, supervisor of the United States employment office here, announced yesterday.

Permanent employment and $1.40 an hour for skilled labor are being offered to carpenters, electricians, tractor mechanics helpers, lubrication foremen, truck drivers, truck mechanics and utility superintendents, Patton said.

No age limit is set for applicants, but workers classified as 1-A or 4-F will not be accepted. Men interested may see Patton at the employment office in the community building this morning or early Monday morning. A project representative from Washington, D. C., will be in Cedar Rapids today, tomorrow and Monday, Patton said. Qualified persons will be guaranteed an interview with him.

Expanding U. S. Aerial Power Will Shorten Period of War—Lee

SOMEWHERE IN OKLAHOMA (AP)—Senator Lee (D-Okla) said yesterday America's expanding air power offers her only hope of escape from a war between the hemispheres "that would have possibilities of lasting for generations." Speaking at the formal dedication of a new mass production bomber plant, one of the biggest and best equipped in the nation, Lee declared that United States offensive strategy should be built entirely on the basis of air power. "When we speak of attacking our enemies with land forces," he said, "we are taking the hardest and bloodiest road. You wouldn't try to kill an octopus by cutting off its tentacles. You would strike at its vital spot—between the eyes. "With air power, we can hit the enemy between the eyes—in Berlin and Tokyo." President Donald W. Douglas of the Douglas Aircraft company, who supervises the new plant in assembling B-24 bombers, said he was not at liberty to disclose the type, size or number of planes the company is building. "But I can tell you that large cargo planes and giant transports are under way," he said.

Determined People A Blitz Just Bucks Up The British

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—Two former London policemen who served as British "bobbies" during the first stages of the battle of Britain will be ready soon to join the fight again as members of the RAF...

The ex-bobbies declared that the blitz had just "bucked the people up" and made them more determined to carry on.

He and Pearson were surprised at all the unrationed food available here. In England people frequently have to line up for hours and then "take what they can get," they said.

Warlike restrictions have been accepted cheerfully, however, because the authorities have appealed to the British sense of fair play by treating everybody alike.

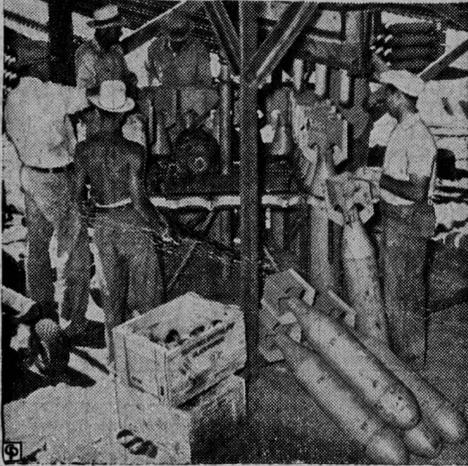

Then too, a bombing is a good cure for hoarding, they pointed out, since there is no use storing up supplies which may be destroyed at any time.

Pearson had served 10 years on the metropolitan police force, 18 months of that time being with the famed Scotland Yard. Shaw was on the force 5 1/2 years before joining the RAF.

Second Front Threat Keeps—

3,000,000 Germans on Patrol

—To 'Welcome' Allied Invasion

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Back in America after eight years as a correspondent in Austria, Hungary and Germany, Alvin J. Steinkopf shows how the allies' threats and preparations for a second front against Hitler are affecting the Germans.)

NEW YORK, (Wide World)—The mere talk of a second front in Europe is tying up the war efforts of not less than 3,000,000 of Germany's most efficient men—soldiers and skilled workers in industries.

If a second front actually opens up on a large scale other millions will have to be thrown into an enterprise Hitler is hoping he might avoid.

The extravagant boasting of German propagandists, including Goebbels himself, that a second front "would be welcomed," and that the German army is eager to "come to grips with the young MacArthur from America" may be regarded as just so much vapor.

Substantial Estimate The 3,000,000 estimate is substantiated readily enough by observations made in Germany, and by reports from trustworthy sources in Europe.

Dispatches from Switzerland and from Germany itself have told repeatedly of troop movement westward, into France and Netherlands. Goebbels placed so much importance on having the world know, that he wrote himself that it should not be imagined that vicious fighting on the eastern front would have the effect of "weakening our forces in the west."

And such strengthening is largely in the department of specialized troops, parachute and mechanized forces, which are costly to equip and requiring long training, and at the moment urgently needed for that last ounce of effort which many Germans believe is necessary to turn the tide in the east.

Estimates have placed the German military strength in the west, fighters idling in garrisons on the chance that there may be a second front, at from 50 to 120 divisions, between 750,000 and 1,800,000 men.

A spokesman of the high command, which has made a fine art of co-relating the economic effort of the nation to the effort of the men at the field, has said that it takes two men in non-military occupations directly concerned with the war to maintain one man at the front.

Little Tangible Results These unseen Germans, mostly the most skillful of the technicians, run and build the railways, operate the war industries, make and pour materials into the service of supply, and make and transport those millions of cubic yards of concrete which, again according to German sources, have been used to strengthen the defenses in the west.

German parachute troops were given the most credit for having taken Holland once. Now German ground troops are taking precautions to see parachutists from another direction don't turn the trick again.

Maneuvers working out problems of meeting a parachute attack have just been completed in Holland. Some of the troops, said the German announcements significantly, had been drawn from the east front.

Then, reflecting again the high command's attention to little things, the slaughter of all carrier pigeons in Holland was ordered, and Dutchmen received instructions as to how to act in the event of an invasion. By and large the proper conduct, it seems, is to get in the house and stay there. Giving the slightest aid to the enemy is punishable by death.

The defense of the west, in the German view, presents three major aspects which the high command—or that part of it which can be spared from the east—has threshed out in the minutest detail.

First is military problem—how many divisions to have there, and the disposition of air, naval and specialized forces.

Second is the unpredictable behavior of the population of the occupied countries. General Christiansen told the Dutch to stay in the house. The British have told them to get away from the coast and industrial centers. The Dutch and French have made no secret of their hostility toward the occupying forces.

But how much damage unarmed civilians can or would be willing to do remains a question to which the Germans have no complete answer.

The are disturbed by memories of St. Nazaire, where a mere British commando raid stirred up a troublesome amount of civilian cooperation.

The third major German problem is transportation. Three divisions at Brest are of little immediate use if the hot spot of an invasion is Ostend. So the Germans, despite urgent tasks elsewhere, have had to devote a great deal of attention and, worse still, labor and materials to the improvement of French and Netherlands railways and highways.

more flaming onions. The fleet fired a few parting shots while the heavy British and American bombers took over the job of beating up the airdrome and harbor works—at least what was left of them.

Ashore in Rhodes the Italians and Germans were getting hotter every minute as the pathway of flame streaked along the waterfront. In Rhodes they know now that a Rome broadcast stating that the British fleet had been chased out of the eastern Mediterranean is a little bit off color.

4th Bombardment This was the fourth bombardment of Rhodes since Italy entered the war. The captain of this warship in typically conservative British fashion commented: "We threw a scare into them and did what we set out to do."

On shore the enemy was raising a big smoke screen over the harbor. A shelling to me has always been the most chilling of naval experiences, but tonight the nazis and fascists added an extra attraction—the torpedo boats.

Two enemy E-boats off starboard aft," a sailor reported to the commander. The four-inch batteries roared. Shell after shell poured into the blackened waters where the torpedo boats were racing toward our warships.

There were great splashes of water but it could not be seen whether any of the torpedo boats had been hit. But neither were we.

More anti-aircraft fire and aircraft illuminating the targets. The Italians had started firing hundreds of anti-aircraft shells.

Searchlight beams descended seaward. My heart pounded madly as the light swept the sea and I saw the flagship of the squadron caught in the ray. I thought now we had been discovered. The searchlight suddenly switched off. Nothing happened.

Five minutes to one. "We are due to fire now," the commander said. At that moment the first salvo of heavy high explosive shells leaped from the muzzles of this warship's guns.

Deafening, blinding salvos hurled the big shells seaward. More anti-aircraft fire from the enemy on shore broke out, then their heavy batteries swung into action. Projectile after projectile swished overhead and splashed into the sea on the portside of our ship. Three big shells smacked into the sea a few feet from our starboard.

RHODES—

bardment of the war since the fleet pumped thousands of armor-piercing shells into Tripoli on April 24, 1941, the nazi and fascists in Rhodes sent up thousands of multicolored "flaming onions" in an effort to trace the attacking force while British and American bombers pounded the airdromes and other targets ashore both before and after the sea shelling.

Rhodes looked like a maze of Christmas tree lights when the fleet sailed up to a broadside position. It looked like a flash from hell when the warship moved safely away.

The aggressive and daring Vian, who tried to whip Italian battleships with 5.25 guns in a Malta convoy operation last March, pushed his squadron through a wide sweep in the eastern Mediterranean.

Where Vian goes action follows. He showed the muzzles of his big naval guns close to Rhodes and gave the axis one of the biggest scares of this war.

I paced the quarter deck with the ship's officers and talked with the gun crew in one of the 6-inch turrets and found them eager to start the rain of hot steel on Rhodes.

As midnight approached the leaden cloud banks seemed to merge into grotesque humps on the horizon. A marine bugler sounded "all hands to action stations."

Guns Tested The guns were tested for readiness. Officers jammed cotton wool in their ears to deaden the concussion when the firing started.

I climbed the ten-foot steel ladder with the commander to the after steering tower and searchlight deck.

Ammunition hoists were rushing big shells up to the gun turrets from lockers deep in the warship.

Seven minutes to one. The big show in Rhodes had already started. Flares fell from British

CPT Opens Doors To Naval Reserve

28 Cadets to Finish Work of Eight-Week Courses September 5

Twenty naval reserve cadets will complete an elementary civilian pilot training course Sept. 5, and eight secondary students will finish their work Sept. 19, Elmer C. Lundquist, instructor in aeronautics, has announced.

During the summer the university-sponsored CPT course, running on a full-time basis, offered flight training only to men enlisted in naval reserves, sent here by navy selection boards.

Requirements for graduation from the elementary course are 240 hours of ground school work and a minimum of 35 hours of flying. Secondary students, including men who had completed elementary training or held a private pilot certificate, did 240 hours of ground school work and 40 hours of flying time.

Although definite plans for the fall CPT program are not yet set up, it is probable, Lundquist said, that it will provide for the training of a certain number of naval reserves.

The past summer marked the first time that CPT training had been closed to regular university students, and limited to cadets. The new courses this summer were taught in eight-week periods, instead of the former 16-week semester.

CPT trainees were housed in Eastlaw during the summer. The academic portion of the elementary course consists of the following subjects: mathematics, physics, civil air regulations, navigation, general servicing and operation of aircraft, radio code, military and physical training, aircraft identification, military science and discipline and meteorology.

Flight training for the courses is conducted by the Shaw Aircraft company at the Iowa City Municipal airport.

The administrative staff and faculty in connection with the ground school consists of Prof. H. O. Croft, coordinator; Elmer C. Lundquist, instructor in aeronautics; Prof. L. E. Ward, mathematics; Stanley Brunten, physics; Harold Briceland, instructor in physical education; Major Arnel Dyer, military, and John Ebert, chief engineer of station WSUI.
