

Roosevelt to Clamp Down Nazis Push On in Russia; Rommel Reverses

Germans Put Entire Weight Into 3 Drives

Claim Kerch Crossing; Allied Desert Fliers Blast Enemy Legions

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press War Editor

The Germans were throwing all their offensive weight last night into three drives to successively isolate, by-pass and cross the Caucasus and thus make good Adolf Hitler's master plan of taking the middle east via the historic land bridge.

This became increasingly evident with German announcement of the long-awaited assault from the Crimea, across Kerch strait to the western shores of the Black sea and with a strong new Nazi push into the mid-Caucasus at the height of the battle of Stalingrad.

The midnight Moscow communique indicated the Soviet armies were stiffening somewhat at Stalingrad, halting the Nazi advance from the southwest and fighting furiously elsewhere, but there was nothing to really relieve the general military crisis.

In this situation the curious Rommel offensive in Egypt took on the appearance of a diversionary action intended in the main, to immobilize allied land, air and sea forces west of Suez. Rommel's tanks, which started last Monday morning through the British minefields north of the Qattara depression, already had gone into reverse.

Moreover, the German desert marshal's strange shortage of air support coincided significantly with the German high command's disclosure that a major air operation was involved in the leaping of Kerch strait, and with the Russian reports of the arrival on the Stalingrad front of aircraft from Rommel's Egyptian command.

In addition to the superb work done all week by U.S. bombers and fighters flying with the allied Egyptian squadrons, it was disclosed last night that American tank crews had destroyed a number of German panzers in their first desert action. One U.S. tank crew alone wrecked six Nazi tanks for sure and possibly two more.

In the tense western Mediterranean area the Spanish government's purge of Ramon Serrano Suner, the super-fascist, was followed quickly by a hint that Spain is keeping her shipping at home. Havana heard a report that one Spanish steamer bound for Cuba and New York was recalled to Vigo although loose mines around the Spanish coast may have caused

Interpreting The War News Intimate Stalingrad Defense Successful Delaying Operation

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

The steel-shod Nazi vise is closing on Stalingrad so relentlessly that there is little to gain say German predictions of its early fall but there is some intimation that Russian strategy has already written off the battle of Stalingrad as a successful holding and delaying operation rather than a defeat.

Moscow reports that the city's defenders are greatly outnumbered by their axis foes. That would imply that Russian reserves are being husbanded for use elsewhere.

Strategic
The great industrial city, sprawling for a score or more miles along the west bluffs of the Volga, is important to the Russians for its strategic position commanding the Volga transportation route from the Caspian. But the preservation of the red army as a fighting entity is vastly more important than the retention of Stalingrad or any other city or river line.

It is possible that ultimately the heavy price being exacted of Hitler in blood, in destroyed or worn out machines, in air strength, in oil reserves and, most of all, in lost time will more than offset Stalingrad's indicated fall. This is a war of attrition in every sense. Lost time for Hitler could be a more deadly menace than lost men or war gear.

Vital Time
That conception has marked Russian strategy from the moment of Hitler's attacks. It was indicated even before that. The Russian-Finnish war grew out of it. Russian expansion into buffer territory westward before Hitler tore up his non-aggression pact with Moscow had the same meaning. All were efforts to forestall an expected Nazi attack, to gain time.

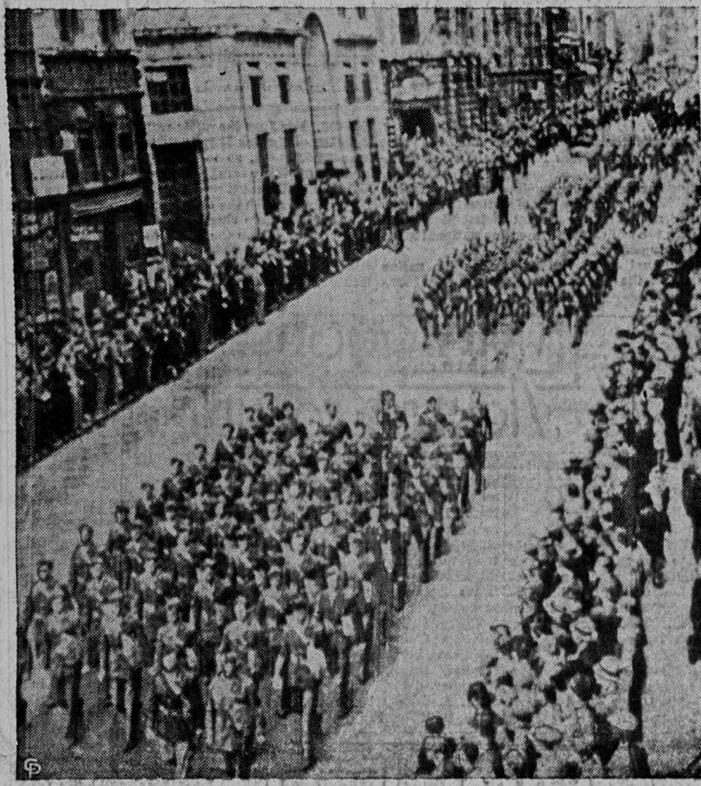

Russian leaders have never failed to yield ground rather than risk loss of field armies. No Russian cities except Moscow and Leningrad have yet witnessed an utter defense, savage as was the fighting for Odessa, and Sevastopol and now is the defense of Stalingrad.

The red high command was obviously prepared last winter to lose Moscow and Stalingrad and still fight eastward of them, behind the Volga or even behind the Urals. A bitter Russian winter saved them. Another such winter is all (See INTERPRETING, page 5)

FIRST YANK PARADE IN LONDON

American troops parade through the streets of London for the first time since their arrival in the British Isles. Following the parade, the doughboys were feted at a luncheon during which Maj. Gen. J. C. Lee, U.S. supply chief in Europe, told them that "they were not here just to defend this beautiful kingdom but to join his majesty's forces in all-out offensive operations." (Cablephoto)

200 Publishers to Lead Steel Salvage as Plants Slow Down

2 U.S. Planes Prove Superior to Germans' P-38 Lockheed, P-47 Thunderbolt Outclass Nazis—Rickenbacker

CHICAGO (AP)—Capt. E. V. (Eddie) Rickenbacker, World war flying ace, said last night that two American fighter planes—the liquid cooled twin engine P-38 Lockheed and the air cooled P-47 Thunderbolt—had proved superior "in action tests" to Germany's new Focke-Wulf 190 fighter.

Asserting that America was "on the road to air superiority, the first road to victory," Rickenbacker told an audience of army radio technicians that to date, American air force planes have destroyed twice as many of the enemy planes as they have lost.

"Our P-38 or Lockheed Lightning will climb as high as the Spitfire (British) and fly faster. Our P-47, or Thunderbolt, will go to 40,000 feet or higher. This plane is now being produced in quantities and is going to the war fronts."

He called the Spitfire a "fine ship" and said American aviators in Great Britain were piloting these planes instead of American makes because the British had "a surplus" and because of the problem of shipping space. He said the Spitfire has "small gas capacity and its short range limits its support to our bombers."

He said the American bombers had "made good" and described the American P-40 fighter as "a tough and rugged fighter designed to deliver knockout blows."

Rickenbacker, president of eastern air lines, spoke over NBC from the old Stevens hotel where the army is conducting a radio school.

Blast Furnaces Across Nation Ready to Close

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warned that the steel mills have only a fortnight's supply of scrap, 200 newspaper publishers and editors agreed yesterday to undertake a concerted salvage collection campaign throughout the country.

Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board addressed to the executives at a meeting here the government's first direct wartime appeal to newspapers for emergency action. Nelson's report on the gravity of the steel situation was supported by Lieut. Gen. Bretherton Somervell.

Long War
"We haven't won this war yet and we'll be a long time winning it," said the chief of the army's services of supply. "This time it's not a question of how long, but if."

R. W. Wolcott, president of the Lukens Steel company and chairman of the industry's salvage committee, reported that the country this year would produce 5,000,000 tons less steel than capacity, primarily because of "the inadequacy of the supply of scrap in the hands of steel mills." He estimated a two-week supply of scrap, essential steel ingredient, on hand.

"Horrible Shape"
"Unless a miracle happens, two furnaces are going down over the week-end in Chicago," he reported. "San Francisco is in bad shape and Pittsburgh and Youngstown are in horrible shape."

When steel capacity drops 1 per cent in a year, he warned, the country is losing the equivalent of 140 cargo ships of 10,000 tons each. "You are invited to undertake the biggest selling job this country has ever seen," he told the publishers. "It is a job of going into every home, farm, shop and building and pulling out the scrap." By a unanimous show of hands (See SALVAGE, page 5)

McNutt Issues Appeal To Put More Women Into War Industries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt called yesterday for a big increase in the number of women at work in the war industries and named a committee to consider policy problems involved in training and recruiting women workers.

"Increased participation of women in our all-out war production effort is essential to its success," McNutt said. "War production alone employed about 1,400,000 women last December. This figure will jump to 4,500,000 by December 1942, and will represent at least 30 per cent of the labor force employed in war production."

Nazis Announce Execution of 4 Churchmen, One a Bishop, for Aiding Heydrich Slayers

LONDON (AP)—Three months to the day after Reinhard (the hangman) Heydrich died of wounds inflicted by Czech patriots, the Germans announced last night the execution of four churchmen, one a bishop, on charges that they had concealed and aided "parachute agents" accused of the assassination.

Already the Gestapo's revenge for the killing of this ruthless German ruler of Bohemia-Moravia has claimed hundreds, perhaps thousands of Czech lives and has resulted in the destruction of two entire villages and the death, arrest or transportation of their inhabitants.

The churchmen executed yesterday, according to the German radio, were the Orthodox Bishop, Gorazd Elder Jan Sonneveld, Dr. Vladimir Petrek, a chaplain, and Vaclav Ciki, a minister. Their property was confiscated.

Earlier in the day Czech government circles in London heard that 19 persons had been shot yesterday in Prague. Eight of them were, allegedly, leaders in a secret anti-German organization. Three were reported accused of espionage and the other eight of burglary during the blackout.

In connection with the execution of the churchmen, the Prague radio reiterated German charges that the actual slayers were dropped by parachute from an RAP plane. Two of the alleged killers were shot on June 18 after they had been found in a church.

Three Chicago Pairs Charged With Treason

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal grand jury accused three Chicago couples of treason yesterday for the part they allegedly played in the abortive Nazi plot to sabotage American industry.

An indictment returned before Judge John P. Barnes charged in 41 counts that the defendants, all naturalized American citizens, gave aid and comfort to Herbert Hans Haupt, one of the six saboteurs executed in Washington Aug. 8.

Possible Deaths
On recommendation of the grand jurors, Judge Barnes ordered the defendants held without bail. They face possible death sentences upon conviction, and the lightest penalty provided by law is a $10,000 fine with five years imprisonment.

Those indicted were Haupt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Max Haupt; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Otto Froehling, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Richard Wergin, friends of the family.

Haupt
They were variously accused of receiving young Haupt after he landed from a German submarine on the Florida coast last June, of sheltering him, safeguarding a large sum of money he brought with him, and attempting to conceal his mission of destruction from American authorities.

Guffey Presents New 'Double' Tax Proposal

Would Couple Retail Levy With 5 Per Cent Payroll Assessment

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal to couple a 5 per cent retail sales tax with a 5 per cent payroll levy to raise $5,260,000,000 annually was advanced last night by Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) as the senate finance committee delayed action until next week on tax schedules for individuals in the new revenue bill.

Guffey told reporters he planned to force a showdown at the next meeting of the committee Tuesday on adopting a sales tax in lieu of a treasury proposal for stiff levies on individual expenditures. Guffey said he was sponsoring a proposal to place a flat 5 per cent tax on payrolls, calculated to yield $3,060,000,000 annually. He figured that a 5 per cent sales tax on "everything except rent" would bring in an additional $2,300,000,000.

The spending tax proposal found little sympathy with finance committee members. They discussed at length during the day a program by Senator Danaher (R-Conn) to collect about $4,000,000,000 annually by a 10 per cent stamp levy on retail sales.

Under this plan, the individual taxpayer would be given certain specified exemptions. For every dollar purchase over that amount, he would have to buy a 10-cent stamp. When $25 worth of these stamps had been collected, he could exchange them for a government bond which he could use in paying his income tax.

Huge Fascist Losses After 26 Months of War With Britain—

Half Italy's Naval Power Sunk

By LARRY ALLEN
WITH THE BRITISH FLEET IN THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN. (Wide World)—More than two-thirds of Italy's merchant fleet has been sunk or damaged and about 50 per cent of Italy's naval striking power lies at the bottom of the Mediterranean after 26 months of war with Britain.

That claim is based on figures obtained after a check of confirmed sinkings and damage inflicted upon axis supply ships and warcraft by British forces over, on and under the sea.

Navy sources stress that it is doubtful whether Italy has been able to do much about replacing her losses because of a shortage of steel armor and other materials. It is known that Italy had to hold up work on two new battleships for some time because of a lack of armor plate.

(A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, pointed out the evident strain on Italy's navy in London when he said last Thursday: "Never once has the Italian battlefleet dared to proceed west of Sardinia, or since the battle of Matapan in March, 1941, to the east of that cape in Greece.")

1,478,000 Tons
The British assert that Italy definitely has lost 1,478,000 tons of merchant ships since her entry into the war in June, 1940. This figure includes 548,000 tons sunk since the first of this year. The total tonnage listed as sunk or damaged is given as 2,366,000—and Italy's merchant marine at the start of the war was a little more than 3,000,000 tons.

Of Italy's fighting ships, four 8-inch gun cruisers of an original seven, and five 6-inch gun cruisers of a possible dozen are listed as sunk by the British.

Heaviest Losses
Italy was tagged for its heaviest losses in the destroyer category. Britain lists 50 ships definitely sunk, although this number includes some torpedo boats and other small warcraft. Italy had about 80 destroyers in 1940.

The number of axis submarines destroyed cannot be disclosed but the London admiralty has estimated that Italy now has in service little more than half of the 104 submarines she boasted when she went to war.

One of Il Duce's original six battleships was destroyed in the Taranto attack in November, 1940, but two new vessels, the Roma and the Impero, give Italy a possibly seven. Several of these may be laid up for repairs, however, as a result of air attacks during the Malta convoy operations.

The royal navy did not estimate its own losses, which include the aircraft carriers, Illustrious and Formidable. Some battleships have been damaged but most of them are back in service. The heaviest losses came during the Crete evacuation when four cruisers and eight destroyers went down under a hail of bombs.

The Malta convoy operations have proved one of the fleet's most costly tasks, since it has had to brave a constant air attack to get supplies through to that bastion of empire.

NAZIS AT STALINGRAD'S GATES

The pincers attack used by Field Marshal von Bock as he closed in on Stalingrad is illustrated on this map. A vast "citizens army" was reported hitting the Nazi tank spearheads as they approached the suburbs of the "City of Stalin."

Military Meeting for Freshmen Slated to Begin at 1:30 Today

Special Open House Will Follow Tonight in Memorial Union

A military assembly for all freshman men students at 1:30 this afternoon and open house at Iowa Union tonight will be the lead attractions of freshman week activities today, with registration for liberal arts freshmen continuing in Schaeffer hall.

Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of student affairs, and R. K. Tindall, assistant director, will act as military advisers at the assembly for freshmen men this afternoon to inform them of reserve plans and military opportunities.

The open house at Iowa Union from 8 to 12 o'clock tonight will feature a varied program.

Dancing to the music of Len Carroll's orchestra will begin in the Silver Shadow at the Union at 8:30 tonight. Floor shows will be given at 8:30, 9:30 and 10:40. Avalon orchestra will play for a couples-only dance in the river room at 9 o'clock tonight.

Games at the open house will include bridge, chess and checkers in the women's lounge, and ping pong in the game room. There will be group singing in the main lounge.

Facilities of the Union are open to students attending the open house, with reading in the browsing room, records provided in the music room, and an exhibition of reproductions shown in the main lounge, the library, the women's lounge and the lobby.

About 1,000 freshmen heard President Virgil M. Hancher's address at the assembly yesterday morning, as he welcomed them to the university and challenged them to dedicate their full powers to the service of right.

Freshman registration began yesterday with faculty advisers aiding the new students in planning schedules. Liberal arts freshmen will continue the registration process in Schaeffer hall at 8 o'clock this morning and 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Tomorrow has been set aside as church day in the freshman week activities.

Students of 5 SUI Colleges Applying For Loan Fund Aid

Students of four university professional colleges and two departments of the college of liberal arts are now filing applications for assistance from the federal student loan fund.

Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of student affairs, said that any student in the colleges of medicine, dentistry, pharmacy or engineering, or specializing in chemistry, pharmacy or physics in the college of liberal arts, with 24 months or less to complete certain studies could apply for government funds.

Federal regulations make it possible for a student to borrow up to $500 from the fund which is administered through the United States office of education.

Although university officials will handle both the granting and the collection of loans, the actual obligation will be to the treasury department at an interest rate of two per cent.

Loans will be payable in four equal annual installments to begin at the end of the first year following graduation, except for certain provisions relating to students called into the armed forces.

Bertha Heetland, SUI Graduate, Appointed Camp McCoy Hostess

Bertha Heetland, SUI graduate, has been appointed junior hostess at Camp McCoy, Wis., which opened last week. The new army camp is the largest army camp in the north central states.

Miss Heetland, whose home is in Sibley, has been prominent in productions of the university theater in recent summers. While attending the university here, she served as president of Delta Delta Delta sorority and on the board of governors of the university players.

Westminster Fellowship To Hold Complimentary Supper Tomorrow Night

Westminster Fellowship will hold a complimentary supper in the parlors of the Presbyterian church at 5:30 tomorrow night in connection with the religious orientation program for freshmen.

A get-acquainted meeting and informal program will follow the supper. All Presbyterian students are invited to attend.

IT LOOKS SO MUCH LIKE HOME

School days—these days are filled with a flurry of curtains and clever ideas to furnish the rooms of dormitories and sororities all over the Iowa campus. Wherever the room is, make it bright with gayly colored curtains and bedspreads to match. Try a small bulletin board on the wall to pin dance programs and other souvenirs on. A few ingenious ideas and the barren room with the two trunks can be converted into a comfortable place—the next best thing to home.

Changes Made in Hawk Squad

Chapman, T. Curran Leave Squad, While Two Others Report

Linemen Are Given Offensive Scrimmage In Afternoon Workout

There was a change in personnel on the University of Iowa football squad yesterday and also a step-up in the general tenor of the morning-afternoon drills.

Two players—Ted (Duke) Curran of Quincy, Ill., and Tom Chapman of Storm Lake—left the squad and another pair—Orville Davidsmeyer of Downers Grove, Ill., and Forrest Masterson of Bellaire, Ohio, reported for their first workout.

Chapman, basketball co-captain, was out this fall "just to give it a try" and dropped out after three days of practice. Curran, however, was dropped by Anderson because "he didn't have the proper attitude on the practice field."

Curran, fast and slippery sophomore who looked good last spring and in practices this week was expected to boost the Hawkeye backfield situation which is lacking in speed.

Davidsmeyer, a 170-pounder, was credited last spring with accidentally breaking a goal post when he rammed it with his shoulder. Anderson gave his linemen a heavy dose of offensive blocking scrimmage during the afternoon workout.

Ted Schroeder Nips Argentine Net Star's Bid in National Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a spot of spectacular tennis in the Forest Hills stadium yesterday as Ted Schroeder Jr. turned back a spirited bid by Alejandro Russell of the Argentine and the national championships rolled into the semifinal round.

Schroeder, top-seeded of the domestic stars, had to play some of the best tennis of his life before he finally convinced Russell, a smiling caballero with a sinister black mustache, by scores of 6-3, 6-8, 6-3, 7-5.

In the other men's quarterfinal Lieut. Gardnar Mulloy of Jacksonville eliminated George Richards, a youthful southpaw from Montebello, Cal., 6-2, 8-6, 7-5. Mulloy and Schroeder will clash in one semifinal today while Frankie Parker and Pancho Segura fight it out in the opposite bracket.

Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, a lightly regarded contestant, captured the first set of her match from Louise Brough of Beverly Hills as Miss Brough made more errors than a Philly shortstop but she pulled herself together after the initial shock to win, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

In a tussle between two New York City hopefuls, Helen Bernhardt eliminated Mrs. Helen Pederson Ribhany, 6-0, 6-4, and will run into Miss Brough today.

Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and Margaret Osborne of San Francisco met in the other semifinal.

A crowd of about 3,000 in the stadium remained in nearly constant uproar through the Schroeder-Russell duel. Many times after a particularly thrilling rally the players had to wait for the cheering to subside before they could continue. The two players went at it like fighting cocks from the first point to the last. The 27-year-old Argentine made a great hit in defeat.

Bruce Smith Leads Great Lakes' Passers

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—A 155-pound southpaw and a former halfback from the Pacific coast dueled with passes yesterday for consideration as the No. 2 ball thrower behind Minnesota's Bruce Smith on the Great Lakes naval training station team.

The pair—Glen (Rusty) Cowart of Texas Christian and Ed Hefferman of St. Mary's—staged an excellent aerial exhibition which featured light workouts. Their passes found their marks continuously in the arms of ends Joe Boyle of Creighton, Carl Mullenbaux, Utah State and the Green Bay Packers, and Larry Lance, University of Oregon. Pete Kneovic, Sanford halfback, also accepted the shots.

Passing Game Looks Good—

In Early Hawkeye Practices

—As Parker, Burkett Snag 'Em

From the right arm of Tom Farmer, Jim Youel or Sam Vacanti overhead to the receptive arms of Bill Parker or Bill Burkett appears to be one of the modes of movement for the University of Iowa's 1942 football team.

Judging from some of the opening drills, the Hawkeyes have the personnel for a neat passing game which might burst out as the best since the '39 days of Nile Kinnick, Erwin Prasse, Dick Evans and Bill Green.

Tom Farmer and Jim Youel, who threw the passes which scored four of Iowa's total of 14 touchdowns in 1941, are hurling again—and more accurately than last fall. The left end, Bill Parker, who caught two of Farmer's shots for touchdowns, now looks better as a senior.

All sorts of passer-receiver combinations are possible, and even Tom Farmer and Jim Youel, normally passers, have been worked in as receivers.

Sam Vacanti, Omaha, Neb., sophomore, is accurate as a passer and probably will fire them when Farmer and Youel are not in the game.

In 1941, Iowa completed 32 of 95 passes for 431 yards, with 12 intercepted; in 1940, 19 of 95 for 317 yards, with 13 intercepted; and in 1939, 36 of 100 for 749 yards, with 12 intercepted. The three-year total shows the Hawkeyes have completed exactly 30% of their passes.

Gunder Haegg Breaks Record

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Gunder Haegg, the Swedish runner, ran the fastest mile in history last night, 4 minutes, 4.6 seconds, in setting his seventh world record in the last two months.

The time was 2.6 seconds faster than his 4:06.2 record run on July 2, and only two-tenths of a second away from the 4:04.4 mile run by Glenn Cunningham at Dartmouth, over a special track and not recognized by athletic authorities. The listed record for the mile is 4:06.4 set by Sydney Wooderson of Great Britain in 1937.

Haegg's mark for the mile, as well as his records for two miles, 1,500 meters, 2,000 meters and 3,000 meters will not be put up for official recognition as world marks until a meeting of the international amateur athletic federation, probably after the war.

Haegg and his fellow-countryman, Arne Andersson, who also is credited with a 4:06.2 mile in their double assault on world distance records in the last two months, have accepted an invitation of the American Amateur Athletic union to compete in the United States this winter if they can be brought here.

In two months, the latest Scandinavian sensation not only twice has shattered the coveted mile mark which had stood for half a decade, but has rounded out a run of seven world record performances. For, in addition to the two blistering miles he has galloped since he was reinstated to amateur ranks after a nine-month suspension, Haegg also has wiped out the standards for 1,500, 2,000 and 3,000 meters. And, like the mile, he turned the trick twice at 2,000 meters.

It was the closest any performer ever has come, in competition, to the long-dreamed-of four-minute-mile, and climaxed a one-man job of record-smashing that probably never has been seen before in track and field history.

Pitching Pastor Helps Eastern Team Win

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A pitching pastor from an upstate village has leaped from manse to mound to help the Albany Senators try to clinch the class A Eastern league pennant.

On the last week of his vacation, the Rev. Bertram Humphries, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Baldwinsville, heeded the call of the Senators, who desperately needed a good hurler for the stretch drive.

Vacation ends today, and the Rev. Mr. Humphries goes back to his pulpit Sunday. But Thomas McCaffery, owner of the Senators is optimistic—he hopes the trustees of the minister's church will permit their pastor to hold two jobs for the remainder of the season—and win ball games for Albany.

Manager John (Rip) Collins sent the minister against Springfield, Mass., Wednesday night. Mr. Humphries showed he had a fast ball and a curve, too. In fact he had "the greatest assortment of stuff I've ever seen in the Eastern league," according to Owner McCaffery.

The pastor held Springfield to three hits in blanking them, 8 to 0, clinching a playoff berth for the Senators. The regular season ends Labor day, and the championship playoffs follow.

Western Conference Set for 64th Season; Three New Coaches

Western conference football sets up for its 64th season of intercollegiate competition with three member universities engaging in opening practice sessions this week.

Losses of eligible players and coaching personnel to the various military services reflect the conditions of war. Three new head coaches—Elmer Burnham, Purdue; Ray Eliot, Illinois, and Dr. George Hauser, Minnesota—lend much to the usual speculative interest of the Big Ten schedules.

Wisconsin, under Harry Stuhldreher, Iowa, under Dr. Anderson, and Purdue began practice Sept. 1, and A. N. Bo McMillin issued a call for his Indiana gridirers to report September 3.

The remaining five football-playing conference members will open practice September 7.

Two traditional aspects of Western conference football have been altered to meet the changing conditions of the moment. Normally, the opening day of football practice is the 10th day of September. The change in the practice schedule has been necessitated by the fact that many of the schools have had to revise the calendar of their academic year to meet wartime demands and are opening earlier this fall.

Another factor affecting practice schedules are the added games to be played this season. Every Big Ten football team will play one or more service outfits.

Following are the military eleven which appear on the schedules of Western conference teams: Iowa City's Navy Pre-Flight school, Camp Grant, Great Lakes naval training station, Fort Knox and Camp Shelby.

A quirk of schedule-making will see the four leading Big Ten teams of the 1941 season meeting one another this year with the exception of Ohio State and Minnesota who will not meet in a game.

Early ticket sale reports indicate that attendance at conference games will probably be about the same as in 1941.

Taft Wright Reports For Army Induction

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Taft Wright, 29, Chicago White Sox outfielder and second ranking batter in the American league, reported here yesterday for examination and induction into the army.

Wright began his professional baseball career in 1937 when he signed with the Charlotte Hornets of the Piedmont league. Later he moved up to an outfield post with the Washington Senators. In 1939 he was traded to the Chicago.

Newsom Big Aid Panick Stricken Team Is Rejuvenated

NEW YORK (AP)—When the Brooklyn Dodgers left town two weeks Sunday night for their last western trip of the season they had just swept four games from the New York Giants, had a 7½ game lead in the National league, and had a tub of beer on the train.

Their jubilation was loud and their cocksureness apparent as they headed for St. Louis to snuff out the Cardinals.

Yesterday they returned in grim silence.

They brought home a 4½ game lead over the Cards, and a new four-game winning streak, but perhaps most important of all they brought back an obvious determination to attend strictly to business until the pennant is clinched.

The homecoming might have been different if Louis (Bobo) Newsom, the irrepresible pitching veteran, had been in the party, but he went from Cincinnati to Washington to pick up some personal belongings and perhaps to carry his own version of Thursday's victory to any friends in the capital who might not have read the sports page.

NEW YORK (AP)—When the Brooklyn Dodgers left town two weeks Sunday night for their last western trip of the season they had just swept four games from the New York Giants, had a 7½ game lead in the National league, and had a tub of beer on the train.

Their jubilation was loud and their cocksureness apparent as they headed for St. Louis to snuff out the Cardinals.

Yesterday they returned in grim silence.

They brought home a 4½ game lead over the Cards, and a new four-game winning streak, but perhaps most important of all they brought back an obvious determination to attend strictly to business until the pennant is clinched.

The homecoming might have been different if Louis (Bobo) Newsom, the irrepresible pitching veteran, had been in the party, but he went from Cincinnati to Washington to pick up some personal belongings and perhaps to carry his own version of Thursday's victory to any friends in the capital who might not have read the sports page.

It was Newsom, everybody admitted, who badgered the Dodgers out of the panic which resulted from Brooklyn losing the first three of its four games in St. Louis.

The players were nearly numb after dividing a doubleheader at Pittsburgh last Sunday while the Redbirds won twice to slice Brooklyn's first place margin to three games.

Then Monday President Larry MacPhail telephoned from Washington that he had bought Newsom and the club showed its relief. When the big fellow arrived it was the same as adding a brass band to the Dodgers' entourage. He had enough confidence for everybody and when he teamed up with Manager Leo Durocher no words were needed from anyone else.

The showboat not only pitched four-hit ball to shutout the Reds Thursday, but he gave his whole vaudeville act, which was new and refreshing for his tired teammates. He took great, showy windups. He glowered and perspired and after the final out in an inning he would beam and sometimes wave his hands in a gesture meaning "there's nothing to it." A time or two he tossed his big glove over his shoulders and caught it behind his back.

So the silence was deafening when the Dodgers arrived without him, but the strain on the other players was lightened and it was evident that the club is in no danger now of cracking.

Durocher, in discussing the situation with newsmen, named five pitchers who should shoulder the main load from here out—Davis, Wyatt, Newsom, Kirby Higbe and Max Macon.

Corp. Bill Diehl Gets Promotion to Eastern All-Army 1st Team

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Col. Bob Neyland shook up his eastern all-army football squad yesterday on the basis of what he saw in Thursday's scrimmage promoting five players from the blues to the whites, or varsity.

The quintet was Lieut. Tom Greenfield, former Green Bay Packer and Corporal Bill Diehl, Iowa, centers; Pvt. Roman Piskor, Niagara, tackle, and Lieut. Harry Stanton, Arizona, and Lieut. George Carter, Mississippi State, ends.

Inspecting the squad of 60 last night on the eve of the final practice game between the varsity and scrubs, Trainer Mickey O'Brien and team physician, Capt. Bob Brasher, revealed that Lieut. Jim Sterling, star end from Texas A. & M., had a severe ankle and foot sprain and probably was lost for the opening game Sept. 12 against the New York Giants at the Polo grounds.

Navy Football Squad Due for Scrimmage

Will be First Definite Test for Seahawks After Week of Drills

After a week of formal drill, Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman will send his Navy Pre-Flight school Seahawk football team through a full scrimmage here today.

The scrimmage, with the opening game against Kansas just two weeks away, will give Bierman his first definite line on personal possibilities of the Seahawks.

Greenest Team Yet

"This is the greenest team I have ever had," Bierman has said, referring to the absence of spring drills and other opportunities to acquaint himself with his material and for his personnel to acquaint itself with his system.

In his first week of practices Bierman has concentrated heavily on offense. The full-length scrimmage climaxing the first week reflects the top condition of both officers and cadets on the squad, due to their first attention to duties in the rigorous pre-flight activities.

Two Lineups

Bierman has given particular attention to two lineups, mixing cadet and officer material in each. Outstanding among the cadets have been Matt Bolger, varsity end at Notre Dame last year, and George Benson, three-sport star and football fullback at Northwestern last year. Other top cadets have included John Biola, Lake Forest, and Julius Kern of Kansas, guards, and Bill Kolens, Illinois tackle.

The Seahawk mentor has alternated a backfield of Cadets Benson, Fred Polino, Heidelberg, Bill Schatzer, Detroit, and Petty Officer Bus Mertes, Iowa, with an officer combination of Al Couppee, Dick Fisher, Jim Langhurst and Ed Jankowski.

Hiram Bithorn Hurls Chicago to 5-3 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 5 to 3, last night as Hiram Bithorn held the Pirates helpless until the ninth when a single, walk and doubles by Vince DiMaggio and Maurice Van Robays were bunched for all of their runs.

Rip Sewell lasted less than four innings. Dominic Dallessandro drove home the first two Cubs runs in the first with a ringing triple, after Phil Cavaretta had doubled and Bill Nicholson had walked.

When Clyde McCullough and Len Merullo both doubled to start the fourth, big Max Butcher, who had been out for several weeks because of an arm injury was sent to Sewell's relief.

After retiring two batters, Butcher yielded three consecutive singles to Stan Hack, Cavaretta and Lou Novikoff, and Merullo stole home, giving the Cubs three runs for the frame. Thereafter Chicago failed to get a man to first base.

Madison Wins, 6-4: Springfield 000 002 110—4 12 1; Madison 030 001 20x—6 9 5; Yelkin, Stuart (8) and Richards; Chumley and Millies.

Rookie John Beazley Takes Decision, But Krist Halts Red Rally

Kurovski's 4-Bagger Leads Cards to 20th Victory in 23 Games

CINCINNATI (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took a third-inning lead over Cincinnati last night and stayed in front to win, 5 to 3, and gain a half-game on the idle Brooklyn Dodgers who now lead the Cards by four games.

Rookie Johnny Beazley got credit for his 16th victory and his third over the Reds, although he was removed for Howard Krist in the seventh inning after walking Cincinnati's final run.

Krist took over with the bases filled and one out, fanned Eric Tipton and got Frank Kelleher to fly out.

The Redbirds, in winning the 20th of their last 23 games made three errors, one of them a bad throw by Terry Moore after a walk and Ray Lamanno's single in the second frame to allow the first Red run. Lamanno scored on Paul Derringer's fly to tie the count at 2-2.

George Kurovski homered in the second for the Cardinals, bouncing the ball off the top of the left field wall with one out.

St. Louis regained the lead in the third inning.

This successful campaign, conceived by the Omaha World-Herald and supported by the rest of the state's newspapers, produced in three weeks more than 68,000 tons of steel—about 104 pounds for every adult and child in the state.

Henry Dooley, president of the World-Herald, outlining the plan to the meeting, estimated his state had another 100 pounds of scrap per capita still undiscovered "and we're going to get it before the year is over."

The order is not expected to take any direct action on other cost-of-living angles, but the president is expected in his message to congress and radio address to the public, to emphasize the supplemental need of more taxes, more war bond purchases, payment of debts, avoidance of hoarding, more rationing and similar measures. Any setting aside by executive fiat of the legislative proposals for farm prices might be expected to result in protests from the congressional farm bloc and from additional members of congress concerned with the prerogatives of the three branches of government.

the recall, such orders usually come when a neutral nation fears the imminence of attack.

Just what kind of attack Spain might expect was, perhaps, not even clear to Generalissimo Franco himself. The axis has been shouting about allied designs on Spain's Canary islands, on the south Atlantic ship lanes west of Africa. Yet if Germany intends to take possession of Gibraltar and Northwest Africa, she must march through Spain on her own.

On the Pacific front the United States air forces of General Stilwell went into explosive action from Nanchang to Hankow in an effort to make the consolidation of the Japanese armies in east China as costly as possible. One of the results of these devastating bomber-fighter sweeps was destruction of a Jap military headquarters. At the same time Japanese recapture of one town in Chekiang province indicated the enemy may have ended his strategic withdrawal in the Chinese eastern provinces.

Even if it fell today, only weeks would remain for the nazi regrouping northward to renew the threat to Moscow and Leningrad before

Now Is Time to Plan Victory 'Structure' For World-Rutledge

"Now while the war is going on we should put together a structure of world organization to conduct the war and maintain the peace that will follow," Associate Justice Wiley B. Rutledge of the United States court of appeals, Washington, D. C., told members of the Masonic service club at their regular noon luncheon yesterday.

He asserted that isolationism is gone as a scientific and political fact, and said, "We have learned that when the world is on fire we cannot expect to escape the flames."

Rutledge, a former dean of the university college of law, in discussing the uncertainties of informed circles in the nation's capital before the entrance of the United States into the war, said that England held out only because she felt that we would enter the war soon.

"Despite small currents of confusion," he said, "we have gotten underway and when our fighters get into action things are going to happen. We have not reached our peak but we are over the trough."

To the women! We especially invite the women to the No. 1 store across from the Jefferson Hotel. This modern store is one of the finest of its kind in the middlewest and offers a fine luncheonette service.

... with the rest of the gang---

We welcome you to Iowa City's newest Racine's Store. You will find a complete line of smokers requisites. As has been the custom for the past 25 years the store will feature that extra special Racine food. With new equipment throughout (as far as we could go under the war restrictions) you will find the conveniences for eating in a pleasant atmosphere with the finest fellows on earth. . . . our customers.

If you are looking for a good game of billiards the No. 3 store is the place. We have repainted the entire room and have made several improvements. It will be our policy to supply the magazine section with every publication that is of interest. Drop in between classes or at any time for good relaxation in a friendly spirit.
