HERE'S PART OF PRICE NAZIS PAY FOR 'VICTORIES'

The Germans have succeeded in making long gains in their campaign in southern Russia, but only at the cost of a tremendous sacrifice of men and materials. Part of the price they have paid is pictured above, a long line of disheveled German soldiers marching along a road in the Volga river area under guard of Soviet soldiers. Even though Hitler is pounding Stalingrad with everything he has, his heavy losses will do much to offset his gains if the city falls.

Reds Crush Shock Troop Assault as Fury Mounts

Victory Program Bond Sales Total $143,450 As I.C. Excels Quota

Four-Hundred Couples Attend Dance in Union After 'Wake Island'

Iowa Citizens paid a total of $143,450 in war bonds for admission to the "Victory Premiere" and the "Buy a Bond" dance, both of which were presented last night in a grand climax to the community's September bond drive.

Bond purchases for the premiere, which was held at the Englert theater and featured a preview showing of "Wake Island" with Gray Gordon and his orchestra on the stage, totaled $123,300.

This amount was $5,300 over the assigned quota of $118,000, Gordon announced from the Englert stage last night.

$20,150 Sold

A total of $20,150 in bonds was sold for the "Buy a Bond" dance. The facilities of Iowa Union were donated for this affair and Gray Gordon's orchestra furnished the music.

More than 400 couples danced to the "tic-toc" rhythm of Gordon's band in the main lounge of the Union.

Gordon, his 16-piece ensemble and two vocalists contributed their services last night without charge. They arrived in Iowa City late yesterday afternoon and their transportation during their stay here was supplied by vehicles of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school.

Highlights of Gordon's show were the vocalizing of Kirk Whitney and Barbara Moffett, a special selection written by the tenor sax man entitled "Defense Plant No. 59" and the introduction of six United States marines stationed at the pre-flight base here.

Bob Pfeiffer of the WSUI staff served as master of ceremonies for the premiere.

As an added feature, "Jazz" Chase of radio, screen and stage fame presented a short skit. The performance of the comedian was not originally scheduled on the program.

Started Sept. 10

Sale of bonds of the premiere and dance was inaugurated Sept. 10 under the supervision of the September war bond committee, of which E. F. Lenthe, president of the chamber of commerce, is chairman.

Tickets for the premiere were obtained by purchasing bonds with values of from $25 to $1,000. Dance tickets were first issued for the purchase of $100 bond, but this was later lowered to $25.

Iowa City banks, theaters, retailers and the post office cooperated in the sale of the bonds.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars sold more than $3,000 in bonds after the dedication of the Johnson county honor roll Sunday afternoon, it was announced yesterday.

Executions in Europe Near 250,000

The Nazi Hangman Is Busy

LONDON, (AP)—The known number of executions carried out by the Germans in conquered Europe is nearing the quarter million mark, the Inter-Allied Information committee reported yesterday.

Included in the growing list was the shooting of 116 Frenchmen last week.

The latest French victims, put to death on orders of General Otto von Stuepnagel, German commander in France, brought the total to 207,373, the committee said.

The committee, set up by the exiled united nations governments in London, said this figure was based on information obtained by these governments. It covers formal executions which have followed trials or court martial and shooting of hostages and other persons announced by the Germans.

The Polish government in exile said 200,000 persons had been executed in Poland since the Germans invaded the country three years ago, 100,000 of them shot after a German trial, 70,000 shot as hostages and 30,000 killed in concentration camps.

Since Reinhard Heydrich, the "protector" of old Czechoslovakia, was assassinated last May, 1,765 Czechs have been executed, the committee said, and of this number 525 were accused of being in some way responsible for his death. In addition, thousands of Czechs have died in concentration camps or as a result of Gestapo third degree methods, it was stated.

The committee declared that 3,000 have been killed in Crete alone since May, 1941.

Fifteen hundred fell before German firing squads or were sentenced to death in France and North Africa in the first six months of this year. In addition, the Germans have shot 250 hostages since they overran France, the committee reported.

Reports from other occupied countries were:

Belgium: One hundred thirty known to have been executed for sabotage or as hostages.

Greece: In addition to the 3,000 in Crete, 40 persons were shot in Athens this summer and 40 more on the island of Mytilene. The Bulgarians executed several thousands in Macedonia after a revolt against the Bulgarian army of occupation.

Netherlands: The Dutch government in London has the names of 200 persons shot for publishing secret newspapers, signalling to the RAF, stealing rations or trying to escape to England.

Norway: "Thousands have died in concentration camps as the result of ill treatment," the committee said, adding that since the German occupation 106 have been shot.

Russians Gain In One Sector Of Steel City

Hard-Pressed Enemy Unable to Bury Dead Or Rescue Wounded

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Tuesday (AP)—The Russian high command announced today on the 29th day of Stalingrad's gallant stand that hundreds of additional German shock troops had fallen in violent street fighting, which has found the nazis too hard pressed to bury their dead or rescue their badly wounded.

A midnight communique said that the red army had even improved its position in one sector of the battered city where "our forces pressed back the enemy and destroyed 12 tanks and about two German companies."

Frenzied Attempt

Front dispatches said the Germans were hurling men and tanks across the crumpled bodies of their own dead in an increasingly frenzied attempt to reduce the badly wounded Volga river city named for Stalin—"man of steel."

German heavy guns were pumping shells incessantly into the squares and thoroughfares of Stalingrad, but the latest official bulletin said of the fight:

"Several attacks were launched in one sector by a regiment of German infantry supported by tanks, but they were all repulsed with severe losses for the enemy."

One red unit wiped out 230 German and destroyed 24 motor vehicles and three mortar batteries in the house-to-house fighting, the communique added.

In the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus the Russians said their outnumbered troops had inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in continued successful defensive fighting.

On the Black sea coast southeast of Novorossisk the red army likewise was holding the Germans in check, the communique said.

'Nothing New'

(Broadcast German news reports bore out the Moscow version of grim Russian resistance. The Transoceanic agency said "There's nothing new on the Stalingrad front," and then proceeded to explain the German army's difficulties. It took Nazi engineers, the agency said, 96 hours to clear a 600-foot Russian mine field where 15,000 explosive charges had been sown.

In a terse paragraph the German high command said: "In some districts of Stalingrad which the enemy is desperately trying to hold with the help of fresh reinforcements, violent street fighting is going on. Renewed relief attacks against a position to the north of the town collapsed with losses for the enemy."

(From the deep Caucasus the Germans reported the capture of the towns of Terek and Vladimirovka. Terek is 55 miles from the Grozny oil fields; Vladimirovka is 90 miles from Grozny and about the same distance from the Caspian sea.)

On this 29th day of the German attack on Stalingrad itself, the circle of nazi artillery had dug craters in the outskirts and left their marks deep in the city.

Physicianless Cities Promised Quick Aid

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Plans for emergency action to provide medical care in communities where a shortage of physicians exists now are being prepared by the War Manpower Commission and U. S. Public Health Service, WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt announced last night.

More than 300 communities now are short of medical service by reason of war-swollen populations or the entry of doctors into armed services, McNutt said.

WMC's procurement and assignment service has accepted responsibility for ascertaining the needs of the civilian population for medical care and for cooperating in finding medical personnel, McNutt said.

Inflation Bill Amended

Tentative Approval by Senate Sets Nov. 1 Stabilization Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate yesterday tentatively approved an amendment to the anti-inflation bill under which the president would be directed to issue by Nov. 1 his order stabilizing prices and wages.

The amendment setting the definite date had been attached by the banking committee to the bill offered by Senators Brown (D-Mich) and Wagner (D-NY) and was approved by the senate on a voice vote.

Action on other amendments was put over until today, and a vote on the bill as a whole is not expected until later in the week.

Several critics of the measure complained on the senate floor yesterday that it would delegate too much authority to the president.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) demanded that congress fix the ceilings itself rather than delegate the task by a "loosely worded piece of general legislation." Senator Smith (D-SC) said it was the duty of congress "to fix definite limitations on executive authority." Senator Johnson (R-Cal) objected to giving President Roosevelt "uncurbed discretion to do as he sees fit."

Senator Brown (D-Mich), sponsor of the bill, replied that it could not give the president uncurbed discretion; that he could not impose ceilings below certain levels except to remedy "gross inequities." Johnson said it seemed to him the legislation left the definition of "gross inequities" to the president.

Despite the opposition, leaders hoped for final congressional action on the bill before Oct. 1, deadline laid down by the president. The measure, generally speaking, calls for stabilization of pay and prices around the Sept. 15 level. Farm price ceilings however, could not be established below parity levels or below recent market prices, whichever were higher.

Could Reduce Salaries

At the suggestion of Senator Overton (D-La) the senate amended the measure to provide specifically that, despite stabilization of wages and salaries, private employers could reduce salaries of $5,000 or more without the consent of the president.

Overton said the bill, without the amendment, might freeze "stupendous" salaries "running into hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Senators Thomas (D-Okla) and Hatch (D-N Mex) introduced amendments providing for inclusion of increased farm labor costs in the computation of parity prices. The Thomas amendment was proposed by the American Farm Bureau federation, the National Grange, the National Council of Farm Cooperatives and the Federal Milk Producers' association.

President Roosevelt has expressed "unalterable opposition" to any move to recompute the basis of parity, and Senator Brown said administration forces would vigorously oppose the amendment.

5 Killed, 5 Injured As Bomber Crashes

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A flaming army bomber glided to a crash landing at Gowen air base Sunday night, killing five airmen and injuring five others, one critically.

Capt. E. L. Davis, public relations officer, said the ship burst into flames while approaching the field at an altitude of 800 feet.

Legionnaires Demand Lower Draft Limit, Expanded War Effort

Roane Waring Chosen National Commander As Convention Closes

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Drafting of both labor and capital for war production and the lowering of the military conscription age to 18 was demanded yesterday by the American Legion in the closing session of its three-day streamlined national convention.

Almost as one voice the 1,500 delegates passed resolution after resolution demanding a more vigorous war effort. Not a floor fight developed throughout the convention and Roane Waring, Memphis utility executive was chosen national commander by acclamation.

Blistering Speech

In a blistering acceptance speech he assailed those hampering the war effort as saboteurs and traitors and said the time to deal realistically with them had come.

Pledging the Legion's fullest support to the president in the war effort, Waring at the same time called for the protection of personal liberties and "to the end that the government continue to function along constitutional lines."

The legion urged immediate legislation to conscript capital, labor, industry and agriculture as well as the fighting manpower. It earlier had declared itself for a national service act to utilize manpower in war production.

Job Security

In shaping its major legislative program, the Legion asked congress to provide security for those returning from the armed forces and also for a year's compulsory military training for youth after the war.

The action calling for manpower and industrial conscription came as a sequel to speeches on the opening day of the convention in which both Paul McNutt, war manpower commissioner, and Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson hinted broadly that conscription of manpower might be necessary to prosecute the war to its fullest extent.

Yesterday the Legionnaires heard Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, declare that the fat of easy years upon which Americans have been living will be worn away within a year.

Taylor Gives F.D.R.'s Definitions of War Objectives to Pope

BERN, SWITZERLAND, (AP)—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal representative to the Vatican, has presented the president's personal definitions of the war objectives to Pope Pius XII, Vatican circles disclosed last night.

It was taken for granted also that this included an outline of his objectives of the peace.

Taylor saw the Pope last Saturday. He is to see him in a second audience before leaving for Spain, it was said.

Declare War Disease Ravaging All Europe

Fighting Less an Evil Than Illness to Nazi Machine, Reports Say

NEW YORK, (AP)—War conditions in Europe have created a health situation which is threatening a calamity worse than fighting, trustworthy dispatches reaching the United States said yesterday.

A shortage of doctors, equipment and medicines, the strain of war, deficiencies in diet, an influx of foreign workers of uncertain health, and return of soldiers from the battlefields where they have come into contact with disease and vermin, were said to be creating a serious problem for Germany, concerned with keeping up the efficiency of her industrial and home front.

Medical Circles Alarmed

Reports from Germany through neutral channels said nazi medical circles were alarmed by the number of cases of dysentery, tuberculosis, physical exhaustion, and spotted typhus, which produced havoc in the last war and which appeared in Germany from the occupied east last winter. Dysentery was said to have approached epidemic proportions, while typhus was conceded to be the greatest health danger this winter.

Scarlet fever, diphtheria and spinal paralysis caused by a lack of vitamins were reported to be current among young people.

Hospitals Crowded

The hospitals were said to be crowded with war wounded, and doctors too busy to give adequate attention to civilians.

German dentists were said to have adopted a "blitz treatment," one recent Berlin resident reporting that a well-known dentist had filled six teeth in 20 minutes.

Surgeons were said now to prefer amputation of seriously injured legs and arms rather than risk infection from poor-quality bandages and limited disinfectants during a long treatment.

Stomach Wounds Fatal

Qualified medical authorities were said to have reported that stomach wounds at the front are nearly all fatal, kidney wounds 87 per cent so, and leg and thigh wounds exceedingly dangerous.

Infection from lousy clothing, shock and delayed treatment contribute to the death rate from wounds, it was said.

Because ammunition trains take precedence, it is sometimes weeks before a wounded man can be transported on a hospital train from the front, it was explained.

Swedish Nazis Lose As Communists Gain In Election Returns

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Swedish nazis lost their only five seats and communists won 39, a gain of 17, in nationwide town and country council elections Sunday, a tabulation of returns showed last night.

The dominant social democratic party lost 34 seats but still maintained its overwhelming majority with a total of 829. Conservatives were next with 266, losing 15; the farmers party 212; a gain of 36, and the liberals 170, an increase of seven.

The Germans pounced upon the Swedish elections as a cue for the most violent outburst yet in their current propaganda campaign against Sweden, the neutral country across the Baltic which the nazi foreign office has called "The Communist Center of Europe."

"The increase in the number of communist mandates deserves in the opinion of local political circles to be looked upon from the European point of view," the Berlin radio asserted. "This development will have to be carefully watched by European powers fighting against the common Bolshevik enemy."

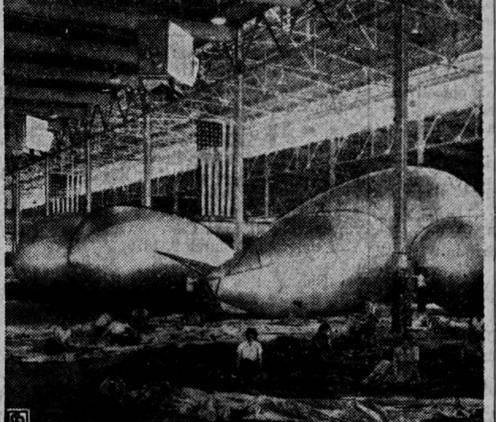

CITIZENS' DEFENSE CORPS

NEW PROTECTION FOR U. S. CONVOYS

New shipdeck barrage balloons among the first of their type to be made in the United States, are inflated for tests, above, in a plant of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company. The balloons are towed by freighters in convoys to protect the ships against attacks by dive bombers.

Mirroring His Military Strength--

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Nazis' Warlord Threw Everything Into Struggle for Stalingrad

WASHINGTON—Hitler skimmed the last of the cream of his military strength for the conquest of Stalingrad. What he produced there, therefore, offers a worthwhile estimate of what power he has left.

He used about 500,000 men in the drive. The Russian press sometimes thought the Germans were facing a million, but their latest count would be around half that sum.

These were not used all at the same time. Flying wedges of about 75,000 troops manned the front attacking lines. They were withdrawn every few days for a rest and another 75,000 replaced them.

Not more than a million nazis troops are strung along the vast expanses of the rest of the front line, from the arctic to the Caucasus. The best troops were, of course, called into the Stalingrad front and the million holding

KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.
The other sections of the line represent what was left, some being newly trained, some Italians, Rumanians, and Finns, who have been practicing for months under German supervision.

Behind this front are about a million men in what might be called the third class troops, the reserves to relieve the front lines.

On the only other Nazi fighting line, in Libya, Rommel has never had more than 100,000, including Italians, although published reports of his strength sometimes exaggerated this figure by 50 per cent or more.

So you see the total German military machine now in this third year of the war, is not the same vast efficient striking force which went spinning through Poland, Belgium, Holland and France.

In actual fighting power, it seems to number only a little over 2,500,000, of which the 500,000 facing Stalingrad can still be classified as the crack troops (and these have been rapidly used up).

At Stalingrad, Hitler also produced about 1,500 planes, representing practically all his remaining air striking power. It is still a good air force, but far from the 5,000 planes Goering used to brag about.

Shortage of pilots, as well as materials, British bombings, and sabotage, probably has cut Hitler's air-arm to this extent. Pilots cannot be made in a day, or a year, and the training which gave the original air force a superior efficiency will never be possible again during this war.

We have been fooled too often by reports and expectations of German disintegration to relax our efforts even in the face of these encouraging trustworthy figures. But they show that the war is not necessarily being lost by us on that front. They remove cause for discouragement.

Germans Blindly Punching at British Coastline
The British have been putting out a sentence or two every night about German bombing raids on Britain, finally announcing a few days back that 400 civilians had been killed in the last month during these raids.

These nightly Nazi forays seem to have no military objective. They are not aimed at industrial centers or munitions works and, apparently, have no continuing plan.

About 15 or 20 German bombers come over and hit a town, generally a point near the coast. For a while they concentrated on cathedral cities and those of purely historical value. Most of the British 400 casualties were suffered in one town one night.

The Germans are merely feebly and blindly punching at non-military British objectives to keep as many British planes as possible at home at night, and away from continental raids.

The weakness of the effort is a further evidence that German striking power is not what it was.

It may be different this winter when Hitler can use what is left of those 1,500 planes from Stalingrad for night attacks on Britain.

MEMO TO THE COUNTY SCRAP COLLECTION HEADQUARTERS:
Along the Crandic Tracks a short distance north of North Liberty, within the area of your jurisdiction, lay several potential army tanks, or perhaps it's a big gun or the chassis for a number of jeeps.

Right now these weapons are in the form of bridge steel. They may be the beginning of a long planned road improvement which has not yet matured or of a construction plan to be carried out in the near future though to all appearances no such plan is in the offing.

This pile of steel has been in the same spot, between the highway and the Crandic rails, for at least eight years—probably longer, and though it has been painted several times and kept in good shape, none of it has been used. If the Crandic company doesn't have immediate plans for the use of the steel they will surely be willing to sell it to one of our war production factories to be turned into fighting equipment.

An investigation would quickly determine whether or not they're contemplating a construction job and whether or not they'd turn their steel over to the government.

Bringing Up a New Front

Mr. Roosevelt's statement in a recent speech concerning the conduct of the war seems to have clarified to a great extent allied grand strategy. He said—and he must have disrupted the war plans of many armchair hopefuls—that the war will be won "on the battlefields of Europe."

This declaration is certainly not radical in any sense, but it does throw into the ash can the idea that we can win the battle of Europe through air strength alone. And this belief, during the past summer, had gained such importance that many Americans, military experts included, minimized the necessity of opening a land offensive against the continent until Germany had been pulverized into submission through 1000-bomber air attacks.

The president, then, seems to have definitely decided on one of the two alternatives open to the allied powers. Rather than concentrate all our power at one spot—"Britain", he has apparently chosen to disperse it to numerous fronts and in that way enable the united nations to hold all positions until our power increases to the extent that we can operate offensively on all fronts.

In other words, instead of sending 500 bombers each month, we would divide them equally between eight or ten fronts. True, this type of strategy may not give us all-out offensive strength in any one area, but it will enable us to hold what we already have.

If this is to be our policy, then, what about all those blatant promises to Russia that "a second front will be opened in 1942!" Actually, what will we be able to do to aid Russia's plight? The answer, the only answer one could give under such circumstances is "probably nothing," at least in Europe. However, a sustained allied drive to smash Rommel in Egypt might have some effect in diverting Hitler's forces, although obviously not on the scale an invasion of the continent itself would bring about. We would merely be amputating one of Germany's arms instead of stabbing her in the heart. But it is better, perhaps, that she should lose an arm than nothing at all.

The other side of the picture, the plan advanced by many military strategists especially in Britain, looks much more enticing to the American eye than Mr. Roosevelt's plan.

British air Marshall Harris has declared, "Send 20,000 bombers over Germany tonight and tomorrow she will not be in the war. Send 1,000 bombers a night and she would be crushed in three months."

Time magazine recently backed up this assertion with cold facts. The editors devoted an entire section to proving that Germany could be brought to her knees if we could provide the necessary bombing concentration (1,000 bombers or over) at a given spot and if we could supply the reserves to carry out such raids night after night.

From the outsider's point of view, from the position of knowing only a few vague statistical facts about production, conscription, training and fighting, our president's plan appears to be another step toward a long war. However, from his position—knowing all of the factual information desirable in making such a decision, we can only conclude that somewhere along the line the general public has been misled; perhaps, just very illy informed.

Golden Boy' Hits Hollywood Lights

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—He is boyishly handsome, clean-cut, going on 26. He's clear-eyed, with a strong chin and a sort of I-like-the-world grin. Crazy about sports, all kinds. Popular with the girls. One named Ann Sothern likes him very much. Popular with movie fans, too. They've doubled and quadrupled his fan mail.

You ask him why he did what he did last May 16 and he'll tell you, straight off. No heroics, no aren't-I-wonderful stuff. Just straight and serious:
"I figured there was a job to do and there wouldn't be anything left in the world for anybody unless it was done. Nobody wants to go. I don't want to leave this, but who does? So I figured the quicker the better, and I went down . . ."

His name is Robert Sterling. All his life—at least subconsciously, he says—he's wanted to be an actor. "Never mentioned it back home (New Castle, Pa.) because you know how it is. You say you want to act and they throw tomatoes at you."

He went to high school in the hometown and spent a year at Pittsburgh in college. He'd done some amateur acting, and he decided to hit for Hollywood via the traveling salesman route. He didn't make it, not that time. He went back to Pittsburgh to work for a tire company. He spent his vacation getting to Hollywood—and he stayed.

He heard Hollywood was looking for a "Golden Boy." "The man said no," says Bob Sterling, "so I went back with a different suit and he still said no. I decided I needed an agent."

He picked up one. He told the agent he'd played at the Royal Palm in 1935 and the agent turned out to be the guy who booked talent for the Royal Palm in 1935. He signed Bob anyway.

Bob had a year in bits at Columbia, decided a New York place was the thing. He got one—it closed before opening. Back here he signed with 20th, made several "B" pictures and didn't like it, went to Metro and made nine pictures in 12 months. He's worked with Ann Sothern, Bob Taylor, Garbo, Gable and Lana Turner. He's with those last two in "Somewhere I'll Find You," his best role to date—third billing.

WAKE UP, AMERICA!

Would the Crisis in India Benefit From U. S. Diplomatic Intervention?

As Debated By
Mr. Louis Fischer
Celebrated Author on World Affairs
Sir Norman Angell
Internationally Famous Political Economist

MR. FISCHER ASSERTS: Chiang Kai-shek, friend of Indian independence, knows that Gandhi, Nehru and the other Indian Congress party leaders are very pro-Chinese and very anti-Japanese. The generalissimo, therefore, wants the United States government to mediate between England and India. For China is worried about British policy in India. We who have been pro-war and anti-fascist for many years—before Pearl Harbor—are afraid that India may go the way of Burma and Malaya. There was no Gandhi in Burma. But Burma was disloyal to Britain. That is why the Japs have Burma today. The Indian masses are now indifferent to the war and might remain indifferent even if attacked. They need to be aroused. They need to be made pro-war. The British cannot make the Indians pro-war because so many of the Indians are anti-British. Only their own leaders can make Indians pro-war. The Indian leaders would want to enlist the Indian millions in the war. But, as Jawaharlal Nehru, the great Indian nationalist says: "I will fight Japanese sword in hand—as a free man."

"How can we fight for democracy in Germany and Japan," Indians said to me during my recent stay in India, "when we have no democracy ourselves?"

That is the key to the Indian problem. Indian leaders do not expect complete independence now. That is impossible in wartime. But they want the beginning of freedom today; then they will believe that they will receive more freedom after the war.

The British do not see it that way. Cripps did not offer enough. Every party in India rejected Cripps' offer. There must be new negotiations. Gandhi, Nehru and the others say they are ready to negotiate. The British are not ready. Somebody ought to bring them together. The American government should try. That is all an outsider is entitled to ask: that the two sides, England and India start speaking to one another again. Maybe this time they can agree.

SIR NORMAN COMMENTS: The first job of intervention or conciliation is not as between Britain and India which is not a unit, but as between the different Indian parties and communities. Britain has said repeatedly that it will accept any form of government upon which India as a whole can agree. Critics commonly declare that the disagreements are deliberately fostered by Britain. If that is true then it should be a relatively easy task for a non-British conciliator—American or Chinese—to secure agreement.

Mr. Fischer says the Indians want the "beginnings of freedom." There are eleven Indian parliaments, with Indian Cabinets responsible to Indian legislatures. Edgar Snow—no reactionary—wrote recently: "Indians enjoy freedom of organization, of the press, of assembly . . . infinitely more of all of them under the British government than the Chinese possess in Free China."

SIR NORMAN ASSERTS: The answer depends on what America would do if intervention failed to improve things; if further concessions to the demands of one Indian party—Congress-Hindu, Moslem, Mahasabha, Untouchables, Native States—were resisted by other Indian parties.

The basis of Britain's objection to throwing into the turmoil of Indian politics the final decision of the country's policy, must be taken into account. That objection is based on experience. Twenty years ago, Britain, not influenced by American pressure, entered into the Anglo-Irish treaty, accepted by the majority in a freely assembled Irish parliament. Whereupon, another Irish party rebelled against those Irish who made the treaty, refused to abide by it, presented further claims, culminating finally in the demand that Britain evacuate the naval and air bases that the treaty had guaranteed her. To this, too, "as a gesture of good-will" Britain (against the protests of Mr. Churchill at the time) agreed, and by so doing made immeasurably more perilous, more costly in American lives and ships, that battle of the Atlantic upon which victory may depend. Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—As we all know, the war isn't fought alone by men with guns. It's fought as well by the men and women at home. But that isn't all either. It's being fought by the nation's youth.

This is the story of what one large segment of our youth—240,000 members of the Future Farmers of America—is doing in the ways open to it, some of them small ways, some of them not inconsiderable importance.

F.F.A. war activity takes four main lines: (1) Buying war bonds and stamps, (2) raising food, (3) salvaging war materials, (4) repairing and reconditioning farm machinery.

Here are extracts from a few of the thousands of reports coming in from F.F.A.'s 7,500 local chapters to national headquarters:

1. Buying war bonds and stamps—
Rison, Ark.: "A total of ten $25 bonds has been purchased by four of the boys. Three other members have purchased defense stamps."
Sargent, Col.: "Due to the shortage of rubber, the chapter voted not to visit the National western stock show this year, and to turn the money into war savings bonds."

2. Raising food—
Hoopa, Cal.: "Hoopa Future Farmers are practicing a 'live at home' program. Stock carrots and beets have been planted in the chapter orchard for pig feed. Boys have transplanted strawberries, planted a defense garden, worked the vineyard and a three-acre field of corn plot planted for hog and chicken feed. The chapter has given away hundreds of tomato and cabbage plants for victory garden plantings and hundreds of grape cuttings to Indian farmers."

Jefferson, Ia.: "F.F.A. members are raising 'Victory Pigs.' All boys with sow and litter projects have designated one pig as a 'Victory Pig.' The proceeds from the sale of these 'Victory Pigs' are to be used to purchase U. S. war bonds and stamps."

Iota, La.: "The Iota F.F.A. chapter, 140 strong, has launched a 'Food for Freedom Contest.' The member who does the most toward increasing and improving poultry, garden, dairy cattle, meat, animals and fruits on his home farm will receive a $25 U. S. defense bond."

3. Salvaging war materials—
Kismet, Kan.: "We plan to salvage old machinery that is not usable any more."
Shorthorn, Va.: "The chapter elected two captains and these sides. The main object was to see which team could get the most scrap iron. The teams have sold 5,200 pounds of scrap iron."

4. Repairing and reconditioning farm machinery—
Hernando, Fla.: "During the shop program 185 tools were re-handled and put back into use, 18 plows were repaired, 18 wheelbarrows, five screen doors, 32 lawn chairs, five bee gums and a trailer for collecting tools were made."

Canton, S. D.: "We have made a survey of the machinery repair needs on the farms and are beginning a repair program in the farm shop."

Psychology Record By Graduate Dean Published Recently

The record of the development of psychology study and research at the University of Iowa over a forty-year period is contained in a book, "Pioneering in Psychology," an autobiographical sketch by Dean Carl E. Seashore, the 76 year old scientist who has served as head of the psychology department here for 31 years, as dean of the graduate college for 28 years, and who last summer was "drafted" back as interim dean of the college.

The 232-page book, published by the University press, contains a preface by Prof. George D. Stoddard, former dean of the graduate college, who is now commissioner of education in New York state. The preface declares in part: "The volume is at once a personal history and the biography of a large sector of a modern university in the making."

The psychological laboratory, the building of instruments, the acoustical laboratory, the psychology of music and speech, clinical psychology and psychiatry, genetic psychology, and psychology in education, are seven of the 12 chapters included in the book.

Not only an indispensable social asset, dancing is also one way to provide three things for the price of one—exercise, relaxation and fun.

SUGGESTION FOR FALL BRIDES

Be a traditional bride in a rich slipper satin wedding gown of old ivory cut princess style with a regal train flaring out in back. Smart and unique are the rhinestones, crystal beads and pearls which embroider the front in an eye-arresting spray and leaf design. Note the leaf shaped decolletage outlined in the same embroidery. This motif also details the wrists of the long fitted sleeves. The very young bride wears her veil of old lace mantilla style. Single strand pearls complete the striking ensemble.

'Y' Organizations Plan Extensive Work This Year

"Y" organizations on the campus are planning extensive work with children in university hospitals this year by conducting Sunday school classes, giving weekly entertainments and reading stories to the children.
A Boy Scout troop was organized at the convalescent home this summer, and work will continue throughout the year. Several "Y" members also work with the Sunday school classes conducted each week for 35 children in the convalescent home. The "Y" contributes money for materials and is interested in obtaining old children's books and magazines. The Y. W. C. A. office in Iowa Union will accept any old books brought in.
Special activities at the university children's hospital will be weekly entertainments given by college talent. The "Y" also plans a colorful Christmas party for the young people.
Work with children in hospitals has been progressing for the past several years and gives the "Y" organizations a chance to be of greater service to the community.

BROOKLYN, ST. LOUIS BOTH VICTORIOUS

Dodgers Win Behind Higbe

Brooks Tally Three In First to Triumph Over Philadelphia, 3-1

By WHITNEY MARTIN
 BROOKLYN (AP)—Kirby Higbe gave 15,361 Brooklyn fans continued pennant hope yesterday, as well as a fine case of the jitters, as he pitched the Dodgers to a 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Phils.

The die-hard fans, who for a brief spell Sunday thought hanging was too good for their Bums, came back in force yesterday to root their team in, and on occasion it appeared all their cowbells and whistles wouldn't be enough to do it.

Spotted to a two-run lead in the first inning, Higbe was in hot water off and on all afternoon, despite the fact he allowed only four hits. His own wildness, along with a little spotty fielding behind him, kept him stewing.

As far as what really happened was concerned, everything counted in the first inning, when all four runs of the game were scored. Thereafter it was a question of how long Higbe could walk the tight rope.

He was opposed by the veteran St. Johnson, who deserved a better fate. Johnson allowed seven hits, but outside the first inning, when three unearned runs were chalked up against him, he had everything under control.

Higbe had the bases full in the first inning before he got a man out, but even at that he would have escaped unscathed except for a wild pitch, which enabled Merrill May to score.

The Dodgers got that one back, plus two more, in their half of the inning. Arky Vaughan was safe on an error, and was forced at second by Pete Reiser. Camilli then singled and Reiser came all the way home from first when Lloyd Waner's throw-in was wide and went into the stands. Augie Galan doubled to score Camilli and Mickey Owen singled to score Galan, and the Dodgers had spoken their piece for the day.

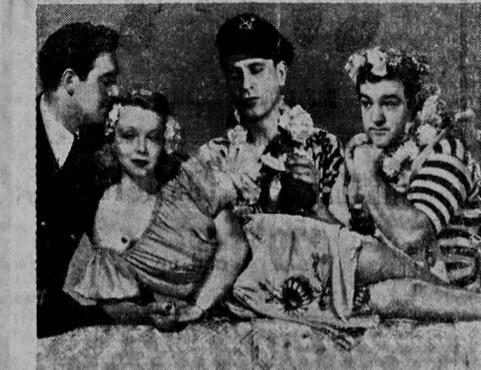

Higbe put men on base in seven of the nine innings. He walked Nick Etten to start the ninth inning, and after getting two men out, walked Bennie Warren. Creaky old Chuck Klein, who had been at bat only nine times this year was called out to hit for Johnson and he promptly fanned for Higbe's 11th strikeout to end the ball game.

The game contributed approximately 62 tons to the scrap metal campaign. More than 4,600 of the fans gained admittance by toting to the park 10 or more pounds each, the contributions including everything but the cowbells.

Bierman Impressed With 'Raw Power' Of Seahawk Eleven

Unveiling of one of the greatest "raw power" aggregations in recent gridiron history took place Saturday afternoon at Lawrence, Kan., when Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman turned his charges loose on an overpowered Jayhawk eleven.

Biggest surprise of the afternoon came in 187-pound Bill Schatzer from North Central college at Naperville, Ill. He accounted for two touchdowns and was instrumental in setting up several others by accurate passing and long gallops.

Yesterday Bierman announced that he was "very pleased with the progress the Seahawks have been showing," and that they "displayed more organization than I originally expected."

Perhaps the biggest asset of the team is its power, which makes up for its "lack of finesse," in Bierman's words. The Seahawks capitalized on every break that came their way, and it's no secret that the team made many of the breaks it took advantage of.

Bierman feels that the squad still needs plenty of hard work before it's ready to face the Wildcats at Evanston this Saturday.

Hawklets Minus Joe Casey in Grid Drill

City high gridlers went through their paces yesterday afternoon without the services of Joe Casey, high scorer for the Hawklets in the game with Dowling of Des Moines last Friday night. Although one couldn't tell from his exhibition last Friday, Casey played the whole game with an injured arm received in the opening minutes of the game.

With the big fullback on the sidelines yesterday, Coach Herb Cormack ironed out a few rough spots in the Red and White offense and defense. George Ware was tried at Casey's post most of the evening, and Art Cornwall did a lot of work at a halfback post. Both boys looked good in the workout and may talk themselves into considerable action in this week's contest with Clinton.

Iowa Minus Services Of 2 Varsity Centers

and won't be ready when the Hawks get their first major test against Nebraska. Dr. Eddie Anderson said that although the Sac City senior might be ready to play, he didn't want to chance further injury. Sophomore Forrest Masterson, 220-pound Ohioan, injured his side during the Hawks' opener, and didn't suit up, but he should be ready for heavy work by Wednesday.

Seven Teams Win In First Intramural Touch Grid Games

Seven teams swept to victory yesterday on the west bank of the Iowa river in the first day of the 1942 university intramural touch football schedule. The Phi Chi's took the offensive in their game with the six representing Phi Alpha Delta, rolling up a score of 44-6. Van Zyl was the leading scorer, intercepting three passes and carrying them across the goal for a total of 18 points. Gutekaupt and Stanfer booted the only two points after touchdown registered in the game.

The only team to score a shut-out was Folsom, blanking Dean 12-0. Teale and Lord carried the oval for the winning markers. Jefferson house had no individual star as it outplayed Mansie, 31-19.

The following seven games are scheduled for today's intramural touch football play:
 Field 1—Alpha Tau Omega vs. Delta Chi.
 Field 2—Delta Tau Delta vs. Phi Delta Theta.
 Field 3—Phi Kappa Sigma vs. Theta Xi.
 Field 4—Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Epsilon Pi.
 Field 5—Phi Kappa Psi vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
 Field 6—Delta Upsilon vs. Sigma Chi.

Curran and the passing of Farmer were noteworthy highlights. Commendable also was the play of Bill Burkett, Ben Trickey and Orv Davidsmeyer.

Burkett, who has played outstanding defensive ball as Iowa's regular right end for three years, became offensive-minded and scored on a 45-yard jaunt. Trickey was one of the best blocking Hawks, and looked good as a pass receiver.

Davidsmeyer, 165 pounds of scrapping guard, turned in a cheering game. Farmer, who at times looked good with his runs, completed six out of eleven tosses for 157 yards and two touchdowns.

75 Frosh Work Out

Iowa freshman football interest is high if the 75-man turnout for freshman drills can be taken as an indication. Coach Bill Hofer has a lot of good material to work with this year, and has wasted no time in getting the ball rolling to pick out potential varsity material.

Signal and passing drills have received the most concentration so far, but scrimmages have already started. A number of Iowa and midwest high school stars are now playing frosh ball for Iowa, and may see Big Ten action next fall.

The squad: Neil Adamson, Des Moines (Roosevelt); Wayne Anderson and Clair Book, both of Sterling, Ill.; Bill Bergmann, Ft. Madison; Bob Bruce, Alton, Ill.; Bill Burger, Cedar Rapids (Franklin); Bothell, Iowa City (City high); Vic Christensen, Albert City; Bill Cahill, West Branch; Rodney Courtney, Dows; Tom Chamales, Wilmette, Ill., and Sterling Deltzell, Cedar Rapids.

Dick Darby, Des Moines (Roosevelt); Herb Davis, Iowa City (City high); Charles Eicher, Wayland; Lyle Ebner, Davenport; Bob Evans, Chicago (De Paul academy); Lee Fisher, Montpelier (Muscatine high); Harold Fiala, Waterloo (West high); Bob Geigel, Algona; Bob Gustafson, Rockford, Ill.; John Gillis, Gibbing, Minn.; Bill Garrett, Davenport; Jim Harding, Clinton, and Loren Hardinger, Albia.

Melvin Heckt, Grundy Center; Ed Hensley, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Joe Howard, Des Moines (North high); John Hunter, Wapello; Tom Hill, Newton; Lewis Hurst, Leon; Leroy Jones, Muscatine; Vic Kelly, Bloomfield, N. J.; Arnold Kucharski, Chicago (DePaul academy); Bob Lenox, Spirit Lake; Howard Lenz, Schleswig; Alfred Lord, Grinnell; Bill London, Chicago (Hyde Park); John McDonnell, Ma Chi.

Field 7—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.
 Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha drew byes.

U-high went through a light practice last night, working out kinks and bruises. Indications are that attack this week again will be built around Jack Shay.

Cardinals Win In 9th Frame

White Holds Pirates To Six Safe Blows In 2-1 Card Triumph

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—The pennant pursuing St. Louis Cardinals broke a 1 to 1 deadlock in the ninth inning yesterday to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 to 1, and maintain their 2½ game grip on the National league lead as they moved into their final five games.

It was the Cardinals' 101st victory of the season and tied the record of the Cardinal team of 1931, which breezed into the championship that year. It also was their thirteenth one-run victory since they launched their amazing pennant drive to overhaul the Brooklyn Dodgers, in winning 36 out of their last 43 games.

A slim crowd of 4,894 spectators sat patiently through two hours and 18 minutes of play before they got an opportunity to cheer their heroes in the dramatic ninth.

With one out Mary Marion was passed and promptly stole second. Ernie White, the Redbirds' triumphant pitcher, grounded to Frankie Gustine, Pirate second baseman, with Marion tearing for third, then Jimmy Brown hit deep into right field and Marion raced across with the winning run.

The 26-year-old White, displaying the same pitching brilliance that elevated him to the ranks of stars a year ago, held the Pirates to six hits, two of which were made in the seventh when Pittsburgh tied the score. He struck out seven and bore down superbly in the pinches.

The Cardinals, tightened up with apparent nervous tension, had difficulty in solving pitcher Henry Gornicki's offering until Henry Gornicki's offerings until the fifth when they first scored. Marion beat out a hit and was sacrificed by White. Brown drove a hit to the left of Gustine and the fleet-footed Marion crossed the plate, sliding in a cloud of dust. Brown attempted to score from first on Walker's double to right, but was caught at the plate on a quick relay.

coach, is still in charge of the squad, since Coach Paul Brechler is on a physical education speaking tour.

4 Injured Bluehawks Take Light Workout

Intent on winning their second straight game, University high's Bluehawks are preparing this week for Cedar Falls high's Little Tutors. The contest is scheduled for Friday afternoon on the University of Iowa's practice field.

Four Bluehawks received minor injuries in the Kalona game, but will be ready by Friday. Capt. Bud Halverson, Gene Rummels and Bill Helm worked out in sweat clothes, while Clark Louis was in football togs. Halverson had a bruised leg, Rummels received a badly cut lip, Helm suffered a lame back, and Louis had a torn cartilage in his thumb.

U-high went through a light practice last night, working out kinks and bruises. Indications are that attack this week again will be built around Jack Shay.

Indian-controlled policy would be even more disastrous. And there are many Irish in India. It is merely fatuous to assume that India is inherently less isolationist than Ireland; that no Indian leader would or could imitate Mr. de Valera, who believes it an entirely honorable bargain to buy peace for Ireland in return for a neutrality which places not only Britain, but the United States—whence Mr. de Valera comes—and others in grave peril.

This is the nationalist scale of values. By reason of it statesmen highly venerated by the French people have felt justified in making a separate bargain with the enemy we fight. If we are not tough enough to forestall the repetition of such bargains we shall lose the war.

MR. FISCHER COMMENTS: We went to war on December 7, 1941. But had there been no Revolutionary war, and were we still part of the Empire, England would have taken us into the war in September, 1939. Therefore, England should never have freed the Thirteen Colonies. This is Sir Norman's logic. Ireland's present neutrality is no reason why Ireland should forever have remained subject to England. Ireland was freed, simply because England couldn't avoid it. India is in the same position. By repression, England can drive India into the arms of our enemies. By wise and timely action, with foreign mediation if necessary, it may still be possible to enlist India on our side. If the British relinquished political power now there would be less chance than ever of disturbance because their armies are still in India. The opportunity is greater now than ever—so is the peril. This is the time to act. Britain acted in Ireland too late. That should teach them a lesson: they must not be too late in India.

Campus Band Slated to Play

Student Committee Plans All-Semester Schedule of Parties

"The Kick-Off," second informal university party, will be held in Iowa Union Oct. 3, the newly elected central student party committee has announced in releasing plans for the full schedule of 7 first-semester parties.

The only change made in university parties for this year is the omission of big name bands, committee members report. Traditional dances, both formal and informal, will be continued as usual, complete with customary themes, decorations and programs. Campus bands will provide music on the new dollar-a-couple scheme.

In a meeting yesterday, the 16 party committee members decided on a schedule of dances to be held every other week end, with the exception of the consecutive week ends of Oct. 31 and Nov. 6. If attendance at these dances is large enough, a big name band will be added to the party series, with the admission price remaining at $1.

A new system of priorities in purchasing tickets for name band dances planned later was also decided upon in an effort to give students patronizing local band dances first chance at tickets for the bigger parties. Thus, students attending the greatest number of dollar-a-couple dances with local bands, will be given first chance at the dollar-a-couple tickets for name band dances, with other students given preference in proportion to the number of dances they attended.

Two nights allowing 1:30 a. m. hours for students attending university dances are now being planned, and as usual, a girl-take-boy dance will be a feature of the series. Three sub-committees selected from the party planning committee will be in charge of the dances, with each group preparing a party in rotation with the other two.

The Kick-Off, first dance planned by the committee, will be presented by the entire group as the initial event under the new streamlined plan.

Officers of the group are: Jack Talbot, A4 of Cedar Rapids, president; John Whinery, D2 of Iowa City, vice-president; Peggy Jenks, A3 of Wellesley, Mass. secretary; William Brown, A3 of Washington, treasurer.

Members of the publicity committee for the first dance are Patricia Flynn, A4 of Des Moines, chairman; Terry Anne Tester, A2 of Iowa City; Florence Walker, A3 of Sidney; and James Burnside, J3 of Shenandoah.

Members of the committee on decorations and programs are Helen Hackett, A2 of Bound Brook, N. J., chairman; Francis Braley, P2 of Shenandoah; Bruce Meier, E4 of Kansas City, Mo.; Genevieve Stimmoms, A3 of Iowa City.

Chaperons and tea committee members include: Charles Morrow, A4 of Audubon, chairman; Virginia Jackson, A2 of Marion; Clifford Sanborn, C4 of Merville, and Travis Westley, M4 of Manly.

'Martial Memory,' an Outstanding Painting By Philip Guston Will Be Shown at Union

Prof. Philip Guston's painting, "Martial Memory," named as an outstanding work in this year's annual Carnegie exhibition, has been loaned by the St. Louis Art Museum for showing here. The painting, purchased recently by the St. Louis museum, will be shown, together with several other Guston originals, for two or three ensuing weeks in the east foyer of the university art building.

The painting represents the artist's childhood memories of playing "soldiers." From Difficult Classics to Modern Swing—

Leo Cortimiglia Makes His Own Arrangements

By CHUCK JENSEN

"There'll be some changes made" in the music styles of the piano if Leo Cortimiglia, 209 E. Bloomington, youthful freshman student in the university, has anything to say about it.

From the most difficult of classics to the modern boogie woogie and solid swing, young Cortimiglia has approached a near perfection that would make the composers ask an addition of their enthusiasts were they in Iowa City.

Not always content to "beat out" the favorites as they were written, Leo has set to arranging the numbers to suit his own taste, and only 17, he has arranged and composed many popular numbers, all of which he can play from memory.

Perhaps the first suggestion of a career in music for Cortimiglia came at the time he was born when one of the Sisters in the ward of the hospital looked at the tiny child and remarked at his long fingers. "He will be a great musician," she prophesied.

From the time he was able to sit at a piano, his mother began him at a regular daily practice sessions which he has maintained up to this time.

For seven years young Cortimiglia practiced the piano under the watchful eyes of an instructor and his mother. The instructor was to teach him, his mother was to keep him practicing—practicing—because in those days the lad did not want to play the piano.

Today Leo is no longer taking lessons and needs no more prompting from his mother or his piano instructor. From the music building of the university, the studios of WSUI, the Iowa Union and almost any other place on the campus where a piano is handy, one might see Cortimiglia at the keyboard surrounded by admirers of his piano interpretations.

Cortimiglia claims that the real reason for his quitting music lessons was because he was tired of studying the classics. "I like the classics when a great symphony plays them," the collegiate confided, "but after I had studied them for so long they seemed to drive me nuts."

Because of his dislike for the classics, Leo was always getting into trouble with his high school music instructors because he continually added more notes where there were none written. Although it always harmonized, his instructors warned him that the composer would probably

Soldiers From North Ireland Give Low-Down on Conditions

Let the boys in Ireland know you're think of them by writing as often as you can.

That's the advice which five Iowa City army men who have just returned from northern Ireland are anxious to relay to friends and relatives of men now stationed in that country. The five Iowa Citizens, who have been transferred back to the United States for advanced training are Corp. P. N. Gilchrist, 1 Kirkwood circle; Staff Sgt. Walter A. Brown, 531 1/2 S. Dubuque; First Sgt. Roy D. Calta, 15 W. Harrison; Sgt. William Schlenk, 624 N. Johnson, and Sgt. Al Bothell, route 6.

Brown, Gilchrist, Calta and Bothell will enter the officer candidate training school of the medical administration corps at Camp Barkley, Tex., Oct. 4, and Schlenk will receive advanced training at the army engineer's school at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The importance of getting mail from home cannot be stressed enough, according to the men. From four to six weeks is necessary for mail to reach Ireland through ordinary channels and air mail spends about eight days in transit.

Although they declare that Irish food is not as tasty as the American dishes, it is agreed that rations are substantial and satisfying.

Irish ice cream, which resembles our sherbert, was a big disappointment to the men and, they avoided Irish cabbage because "it tasted like rhubarb leaves." Corporal Gilchrist praises the size rather than the quality of the beans which he describes as being "four times the size of ours and four times as tasteless." Irish lettuce has the flavor of American grass, the men affirmed.

The men were united in their praise of the jobs which the USO and the American Red Cross are doing in Ireland. Libraries have been established with books collected during the USO "Victory Book" campaign and recreational centers have been provided as well as lodging for men on leave.

Newspapers in Ireland are limited to four pages daily and eight pages on Sunday because of the paper shortages. The men explained that the papers carry a daily announcement of the time at which the nightly blackout will go into effect.

Production of all linen and lace, for which the country is famous, has been stopped for the duration and the factories converted to the manufacture of cloth for the army. According to the five Iowa City soldiers, Irish prices are higher than American prices in most instances because of the heavy tax placed luxuries.

Although it is impossible to obtain cigars, the men explain that both Irish and American cigarettes are available in most places in rationed quantities of 10 per purchase.

Letters aren't the only items that the Americans in Ireland are glad to receive from home, however. The five Iowa Citizens made it quite clear that American razor blades, much superior to the Irish make are readily accepted.
