Reds Smash 109 German Tanks

4,000 Nazi Shock Troops Slain As Stalingrad Defenders Hold

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Thursday, (AP)—The Russians announced officially early today that Stalingrad's valiant garrison had wiped out 4,000 more German shock troops and knocked out 109 Nazi tanks in fierce street fighting into which the Volga river naval flotilla was pouring shellfire on the invaders.

The midnight communique said the red army had gained slightly northwest of the city, and nowhere did it acknowledge any retreat inside the battered city itself.

Front dispatches said the nazis were hurling 1,000 dive-bombers a day against the city where the red army has converted every ruined building into a bristling fortress of anti-tank and machine-gun nests.

The Germans also were sending hundreds of massed tanks into Stalingrad's streets in an effort to achieve a September victory on the Volga, and the latest Russian communique claimed its most impressive score yet against these steel hulks.

Forty-four Nazi tanks were destroyed or crippled in one sector, 42 in another, and 23 in two other areas.

Two thousand Germans were killed in one unidentified sector, the same number in another, and the Volga river flotilla's guns were credited with annihilating at least two battalions of Germans and Rumanians in the last few days.

Red guardsmen fighting inside the city were said to have beaten off steady attacks by huge German infantry, tank and air forces. In the Mozdok area of the Mid-Caucasus the Russians said they killed 200 attacking Germans and destroyed five tanks and 24 trucks. More than 1,500 Germans were said to have fallen in the Voronezh area of the upper Don where the Russians had beaten off repeated Nazi attacks on that left flank of the advance on Stalingrad.

The Germans were believed to have lost more than 10,000 men in the past four days in the Stalingrad sector without making any vital gains in their month-old siege.

Reports late yesterday had told of the red army's loss of a few more shell-pocked streets, but said these were balanced by newly won Russian gains northwest and southwest of the city.

Take Several Streets
The Russian loss was reported in a communique which said "in one sector enemy infantry, operating with the support of over 100 tanks, succeeded in pressing back our troops somewhat and captured several streets." This apparently was a record for the use of tanks in a street battle.

The gains were announced by the army newspaper, Red Star, which said Russian forces lashing out southwest of the siege city recaptured a village, while to the northwest other forces crossed the Volga by night, struck at the German flank upriver from the city, and drove the Germans back.

Pravda, which reported the Nazi air assault intensified to more than 1,000 bombing flights a day, said reinforced Russian fighter planes had proved equal to the new challenge.

Tass dispatches gave vivid accounts of the devastation and the slaughter in the fight which the Russians said had cost the Germans almost 6,000 men in the past three days.

The news agency said Rumanian and Italian divisions had been hurled into the battle to support the Germans, but were halted after paying heavily at the outskirts of the city.

The approaches to the city and its outskirts are littered with thousands of enemy bodies, and hundreds of disabled German tanks, planes, guns and other equipment," Tass reported.

Truck Minus Tires Equals Scrap Metal

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—A man called headquarters of the newspapers' united metal scrap drive to donate use of his truck for Saturday's collection. "You'll only have to provide two things," he said, "a driver and four new tires."

The clerk suggested that he turn the truck in for scrap.

French Urged To Evacuate Coastal Area

LONDON (AP)—The British radio urged Frenchmen again last night to evacuate French coastal areas because a united nations' offensive aimed at the "annihilation of Hitlerite Germany" is being prepared and will be launched without warning, the announcer said. "But when the moment comes to call for the cooperation of the French people as a whole we will promise to let you know in time."

The BBC announcer emphasized that a series of such warnings had been given the French in the last six months in order "to prevent as far as humanly possible the useless shedding of French blood." "An offensive of the united nations is being prepared. On the day when we can be assured of attaining our goal, which is nothing less than total annihilation of Hitlerite Germany, this offensive will be launched."

The message concluded by telling the French: "By following our advice you will contribute to the success of present and future operations that form the prelude of full-scale action which has been so long awaited."

Allied Convoy Arrives Successfully Despite Heavy Nazi Pounding

LONDON, (AP)—The Admiralty announced yesterday that the great majority of a convoy of United States, Russian and British merchantmen carrying large quantities of war materials had arrived in north Russian ports despite German bombs and torpedoes unleashed in a running battle of many days along the northern convoy route.

The Admiralty acknowledged that some ships were lost, but it said the claim of the German high command that 38 vessels were sunk and three others damaged out of a 45-ship convoy was "more exaggerated than usual."

The Germans further announced with great fanfare last Sunday that six warships escorting the convoy were damaged or sunk. To this the Admiralty replied that not a single convoying vessel was lost.

It was the second time in three months that the Germans had claimed a triumph over a convoy heavily laden with aid for Russia.

OPA Control Strikes Big-Time Publishers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of price administration last night imposed specific price control over about one-fourth of the entire two and one-half billion dollar printing and publishing industry, but exempted the neighborhood printshop and the publishers of books, newspapers, and periodicals.

The action was necessary, OPA explained, to provide the industry with a single clear-cut price order specifying which services were under the ceiling and which were exempt because their value depends on editorial, idea or information content.

Interpreting The War News

Stalingrad Battle Symbol of Hitler's Personal Prestige

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

There is enough rumor smoke from the Stalingrad siege to warrant the conclusion that Hitler is building fires under his generals even if one accepts with caution the Swedish reports that Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, German commander, has been purged.

Stalingrad, left-wing citadel of the Russian defense line extending from the Baltic to the Caspian, has come to have more than strategic significance for Hitler. It has become a symbol of his personal prestige. If he ordered its capture against the counsel of his highest ranking professional soldiers, as the Stockholm version runs, he dare not sanction a halt on the bloody frontal attack.

Huge Casualty Lists
Only its fall into Nazi arms, what ever the cost of that victory, could gloss over the ever-mounting casualties in the eyes of the German public.

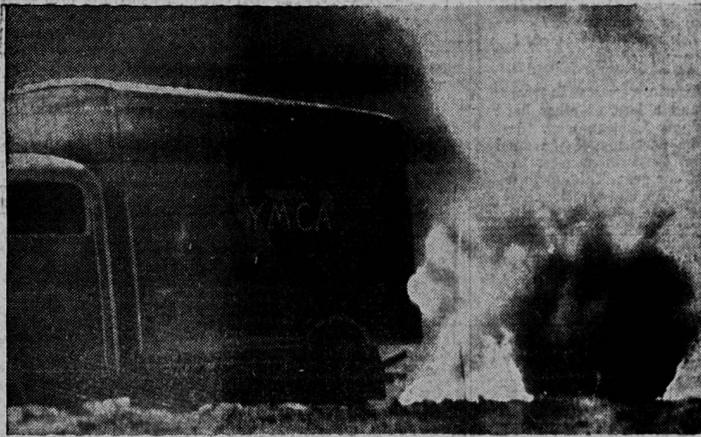

Even that could not satisfy the somber judgment of German military professionals that Nazi political-military amateurs are risking utter disaster, guided only by Hitler's "intuition" instead of sound military conceptions. There has been friction before between the professional and political elements of the Nazi army. Almost a year ago Hitler swept aside the advice of his most seasoned generals, took over supreme command in Russia himself, and blatantly announced that his personal "intuition" would thereafter provide the guiding genius for Nazi armies.

Recall von Bock
Evans compelled the recall of the ousted von Bock.

If von Bock foresaw the grim price that must be paid to take Stalingrad, as reported, and warned against any assault there in favor of a concentrated campaign in the Caucasus, unquestionably not only von Brauchitsch but all other high ranking German professionals shared his view. That Hitler is seething with resentment for the delay involved, as well as over the blood cost, goes without saying. That he is seeking a scapegoat among his non-political generals to avert public blame from himself is quite likely.

U.S., British Raiders Hammer Bengasi, Axis African Bases

Willkie, Stalin Hold Two-Hour Conference

Meeting Climaxes American Emissary's Trip to Red Capital

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Joseph Stalin conferred with Wendell L. Willkie, President Roosevelt's personal emissary, for two hours at the Kremlin last night.

Present at the meeting of the Soviet war leader and the special envoy was Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar, who himself visited London and Washington last spring.

Climaxes Trip
The meeting climaxed Willkie's trip to the Russian capital. He arrived here Sunday from Kuibyshev and expressed the hope that he would see Stalin for a long, straightforward talk.

"I understand he is a man who likes frankness and I like frankness, too," Willkie said then.

He has spent his time in Moscow mainly talking to workers and seeing points of interest in the city.

Second Front?
On all sides during his trip about Moscow he has been asked virtually the same question—"What about a second front?"

Once before, when was asked that question, Willkie said "I want to check a lot of things here."

Allied Chulists, Ships Harass Libyan Coast

CAIRO, (AP)—British armored raiders sped undetected across trackless desert 10 days ago and struck telling blows at axis bases and communications all the way to Bengasi, 500 miles west of the Egyptian front, the middle east commander announced last night. On the same night that a sea-borne Commando expedition and parachutists landed at Tobruk and British warships bombarded the axis Libyan coast farther east, the British and American commands shot down several German aircraft which tried to attack the raiders.

That was the night of Sept. 13 to 14. Two nights later the highly mobile raiders descended on Gialo oasis, deep in the desert 235 miles south of Bengasi, occupied it and fought a battle of several days duration during which "considerable casualties were caused to the enemy garrison."

Ammunition dumps at Gialo were destroyed by British cannon which, amazingly, the raiders dragged across the hundreds of miles of desert.

Italian accounts said the British withdrew from Gialo after six days of fighting, and then only when an axis motorized column came up.

It was the most spectacular combined assault yet undertaken in three years of rapidly changing fortunes on north African battlefields.

The British said the raiders now had returned to their bases, but they did not mention the starting point or the routes taken.

The radio at Lyon, in unoccupied France, suggested that the raiders operated from Kufra oasis, 250 miles south of Gialo, which the fighting French occupied in 1941.

Even from Kufra, however, the raiding patrols would have to have traveled some 500 miles to reach all their objectives.

Allied heavy, medium and light bombers took up the work of destruction where the desert raiders left off. Today's communique listed a successful attack Tuesday on Bengasi, in which two vessels were set afire in the port, and Monday night raids on enemy landing grounds in the El Daba area which caused a large fire and explosion.

Farm Labor Action Needed Immediately

Acute Food Shortage Will Threaten Nation If Problem Unsolved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A warning that the United States will face a food shortage unless it acts quickly to solve the critical farm labor problem was laid before the house agriculture committee yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

He suggested that consideration be given to national labor service legislation as a means of keeping the farms manned with enough workers to produce the crops so vitally needed at home and abroad.

"There must be a recognition on the part of all responsible agencies in government that unless we find some way to deal with the farm labor problem and other problems of farm production satisfactorily, we must find some, in the not too distant future, to deal with a shortage of food," he said.

Testifying in the presence of Maj Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, whom the committee will question Friday, Wickard estimated that the armed services and industry may drain approximately 2,000,000 farm workers by the end of 1942 in addition to those already taken.

"The only hope for agriculture is to try to replace the experienced workers with women, older people, children and other inexperienced and less competent workers," Wickard told the committee. "And even then, agriculture must expect to come in second best in many cases because industry will compete for this type of labor."

The secretary contended the farm labor problem could not be met "by paying higher wages."

"We must recognize," he said, "that farmers simply cannot pay wages to compete with war industry. . . farmers should pay fair wages, and farm income is now at a level which will allow farmers to pay reasonably good wages."

Two Atlantic Sinkings Bring Allied Losses To New Total of 473

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sea warfare in the western Atlantic has claimed two more allied merchantmen, the navy revealed yesterday, boosting to 473 The Associated Press score of announced ship losses in that area since Pearl Harbor.

Submarine-sinkings of the two vessels were the first announcements of western Atlantic ship losses in six days.

Farm Bloc Pushes Parity Prices For Products to Higher Level

Forces in Upper House Seek Compromise Formula To Prevent Similar Parity Amendment In Senate's Version

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The house passed the anti-inflation bill last night, 284 to 96, after a victorious farm bloc had forced the adoption of an amendment providing higher parity prices for farm products—and so made the measure utterly unacceptable to President Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, administration forces in the senate, apparently outnumbered by the farm bloc there, were none too hopefully seeking a compromise formula which would prevent the inclusion of a similar amendment in the senate's version of the bill.

The amendment, adopted by the house and proposed in the senate, would require that the cost of farm labor be added to the other factors which have previously been considered in computing the parity price level—a level calculated to give farm products a purchasing power equal to that which they had in selected past periods of farm belt prosperity.

Throughout the debate, spokesmen for the farm bloc repeatedly argued that the high wages paid in the war industries was making it impossible for the farmers to retain their labor without paying increased wages. One generally predicted result was that under present conditions and lesser prices than those offered by the revised parity level, farmers would be unable to hire enough labor to harvest their crops. Thus, it was argued, the productivity of the farms would suffer at a time of war, when greater production than ever was vital to the nation.

Administration spokesmen replied that approval of the farm bloc amendment would do nothing to supply labor for the farmers. They contended it would make it impossible to stabilize prices at less than a disastrously high level.

In the senate the farm bloc received powerful support from Senator McNary of Oregon, the minority leader, who announced he would support the bloc's amendment.

The house, meanwhile, heard Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) of the agriculture committee back the amendment with an assertion that the farmers, comprising 25 per cent of the population, received less than 10 per cent of the nation's income. He asked whether "that small minority and that small amount of income" could be responsible for inflation.

He described as "ridiculous" an agriculture department suggestion that city dwellers be sent to the farms and trained in farm work. Workers cannot be kept on the farms, he said, "on a starvation basis" when industry is paying "handsome wages" and calling for more employees.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) said the farm bloc amendment would "literally scrap the price control program." Nevertheless, he added, he stood virtually alone among members of the senate agriculture committee in opposing it.

The Illinois senator challenged members of the farm bloc to show how the adoption of the new parity amendment would "bring any increase in manpower to the farms."

There was no indication as to how Annet hoped to make good his escape from the British.

Allies Continue Heavy Assaults on Jap Base

Units Bombard Buna For Tenth Day With But One Plane Lost

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Thursday, (AP)—Buna, Japanese shore base in northern New Guinea has been subjected to its tenth consecutive daily attack by allied warplanes, General MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

The raid was made by bombers and fighters, which both bombed and strafed the enemy position. Hits were scored on seven barges, supply dumps and anti-aircraft installations, the communique said.

A single Japanese plane appeared at sunset over Port Moresby, the allied center on the southern side of the island, but its few bombs dropped harmlessly in scrub.

The communique said: Northwestern sector—Activity limited to reconnaissance.

Moresby: A single enemy plane dropped a few bombs harmlessly in scrub shortly after sunset.

Owen Stanley area: No change in the general situation.

Buna: Allied fighters executed three strafing attacks on enemy installations in the area. In the first sweep, seven barges, supply dumps and an enemy camp were raked with machinegun and cannon fire. Six zero fighters attempted interception without success. The second and third attacks were directed against anti-aircraft positions, supply huts and tents near the airdrome. One of our planes is missing. In a night attack, a heavy bomber unit dropped 2000-pound bombs on airdrome installations, causing large fires.

Kokoda: Allied fighters strafed a bridge and an enemy pack train in a sweep along the enemy's supply route. Results were not observed. There was no interception. All our planes returned.

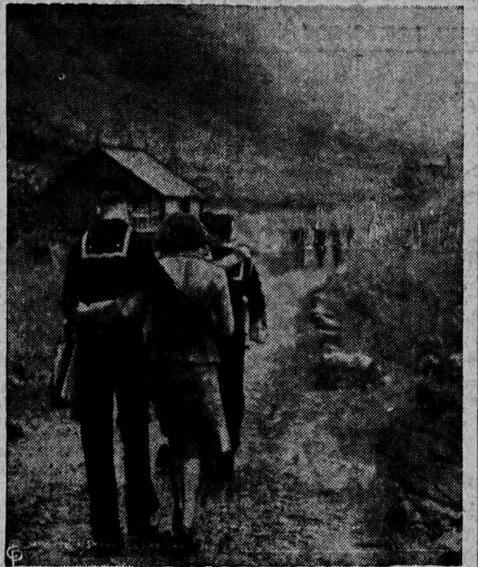

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Acting Chief of Police Andrew Aylward said last night he had ordered Robert Nash, 27-year-old electrician, held for the hatchet murder of his parents and he would seek a warrant today.

The mutilated bodies of Charles A. Nash, an internal revenue agent, and his wife were found Tuesday night in their car, parked along a highway eight miles north of Springfield, Ill.

The younger Nash earlier admitted after hours of questioning that he drove his parents' bodies from their St. Louis home to the spot where they were found but he denied killing them.

"We are satisfied he knows more than he is telling," Aylward told reporters. "We have learned that several days ago he addressed an envelope for his father to the Prudential Insurance company. "In that envelope," continued Aylward, "was a premium, payment on a $2000 policy on the life of the elder Nash. We also know that young Nash owed more than $900."

Taking the Spotlight—

New American Army Division of Super-Guerillas Uncover Their Techniques for Public

The little known army Tank-Destroyer battalion, a band of super-guerillas who often go to battle against giant tanks with no more equipment than a sub-machine gun, a few hand grenades and a little grease is at last being given a taste of the public spotlight.

The Tank-Destroyer command, organized at Camp Hood, Tex., last spring has offered a new solution hitherto undreamed of in American fighting circles.

These highly mobile combat teams, which will replace static and little effective anti-tank companies, have shown initiative seldom seen outside the ranks of the most, highly trained guerilla fighters. They stalk the biggest of modern warfare's game and with little more than a gob of grease and a canister of TNT can cripple the heaviest tank and dash to cover before the enemy quite realizes their predicament.

After they have finished their job, artillery, rifle and machine gun fire or fire bombs can easily complete the destruction of the stationary monster whose greatest protection was its mobility.

In action these units hide in the cover of wooded sections or in slit trenches and wait for an enemy tank to approach. Then they dash out, blow the treads from the tank and pour machine gun bullets into the openings. Sometimes a Molotov cocktail or an improvised incendiary is thrown onto the tank and the occupants killed or captured when the heat drives them into the open.

These men are taught to construct unique tank traps, to fight in the midst of land mines and heavy artillery and rifle fire. Above all they learn to keep themselves alive and to wreak terrible damage under the worst possible conditions.

The organization and training of these men, each as physically tough as any fighting man in the world, is one more indication that America is throwing aside all the old principles of warfare and going out to win this war in the quickest and most effective manner possible.

Along with the American commando troops, the paratroopers and a host of other hard hitting, death dodging fighting men, these units will form the backbone of the final assault to crush out the twin menaces to a peace that we want our grandchildren to enjoy as well as our children and ourselves.

Defeating Their Purpose—

The newly-elected central student party committee has announced its intention of establishing a system of priorities on tickets for name-band dances, giving first chance on tickets to the students who have attended the most campus-band dances. If this plan is carried out, there are going to be numerous headaches among the fellows who are unable to get off work to trot down to the Union every two weeks.

The committee's main worry apparently is that students will not turn out for the regular dances given every two weeks. As an added incentive in promoting their program, they issue warning that if you expect to dance to nationally known bands, you'll have to be on hand for the bi-monthly affairs. The committee enjoys a monopoly on university dances so their decision will stand. The sad point is that the Joe Colleges, those educational parasites who are on the campus solely for a good time, are going to be given all of the breaks, while the hard working students who are truly the more deserving are given the short end of the deal.

Our dispute is not with the advisability of having a central committee, nor is it with the authority which has been vested in them, but rather with their decision, which we feel is contrary to the very purpose for which a wartime social program is carried on.

the job in the same way we are. Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler is in charge of the German drive for iron, steel, copper, rubber, brass, lead, and other scrap, which indicates that the nazis are resorting to their usual forceful methods of accomplishing things.

In America, things aren't done that way. According to the War Production Board plan, good full-time citizens will take care of the job with no compulsion attached. If there are 130,000,000 good citizens in the United States the metal situation will be adequately taken care of.

Double-Talk Enters New Wage and Price Legislation

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

Recipe for Getting Results You Want—

WASHINGTON—It was Mr. Roosevelt who once condemned insurance policies which make awards at the top and then take them away in fine print at the bottom. Yet this formula is noticeable in the new price-wage resolution. It happened this way: Mr. Roosevelt wanted the farm price ceiling set at any recent date or parity—which would raise existing farm prices a little. Congressmen, in writing the legislation, notched the ceiling higher by placing it at parity or the highest price since January 1.

Some criticism arose about this, so the congressional pen-men turned around and said all right, we write it Mr. Roosevelt's way and fix September 15 as the ceiling date.

This was announced, displayed in the press, and everyone concluded the ceiling had been slipped back—unless he read the resolution.

True, in the first sentence, the resolution directed Mr. Roosevelt to take the level of September 15, "except as otherwise provided in this joint resolution." But, down in the body of the resolution, it "otherwise provides," just what the congressmen wanted in the first place, fixing the ceiling at the highest price since January 1 or parity prices.

The highest available price ceiling is thus to be taken for each product, and, if you will apply the legislation to each, you will find it allows increases of 9 per cent to 25 per cent above existing levels.

TRICK APPLIES ALSO TO WAGES—

So also with wages. The legislation approves the war labor board yardstick, allowing wage increases to the union to whatever extent the cost of living has been increased since January, 1941.

As farm prices are bound to increase under the farm section, the cost of living is certain to continue to go up. Thus, wage increases are to be granted hereafter, by whatever degree farm prices are allowed to increase.

What we have here then, is not a price or wage freezing policy, but a formula to hold them loosely in hand—Mr. Roosevelt's hand. That they both will continue to increase is obvious.

PREMIER FORGOTTEN REVENUE MEASURE—

This resolution coupled with the tax bill—now appearing simultaneously from the senate finance committee—afford the broad skeleton outline of economic war policy) a skeleton which seems to have been lost from public sight in the confusing arguments over details of the legislation in both cases).

The tax bill represents the ultimate extent to which corporations' taxes can go (the congressmen believe), without destroying the private initiative necessary to maintain production. This is the same key to the wage-price policy, which the administration also just-ities as necessary to maintain farm and labor incentive for war production.

The individual rates of the tax bill are unprecedentedly terrific, but all agree—treasury and congress—that they will not prevent inflation. The fact is the enlargement of war incomes is restricted to the low income group, which has not been paying income taxes.

Practically all the increases in wages are restricted to this group, but congress has found it difficult or impossible to reach them with taxes.

It could be done, to some extent, with a sales tax, because this low income group is the only one spending more money as a result of war inflation, but a sales tax would hit them all. Another way would be forced savings, but both methods are politically unpopular. Congress dropped them for a 5 per cent gross income tax which likewise hits all.

It is not considered wise politically to go after the low wage groups separately, in any way, so what we have as a tax bill really is mainly a further tremendous increase on all mostly one successful people, the best laborers, farmers, the non-unionized middle classes, the white collar workers who have had no increase in wages, but will have to pay higher prices and tremendous taxes. The bulk of additional revenue will come from them and from corporations.

The tax bill is, therefore, no restraint on inflation. It will leave possibly $35,000,000,000 of war revenue to be raised annually from treasury borrowing (bonds) from banks and insurance companies, which hold the savings of the people.

No one likes it very much, because it does not do any job efficiently—raise enough money, prevent inflation or provide a fair and equitable tax distribution, but as in the case of the wage-price bill, it seems to be about all that is politically feasible.

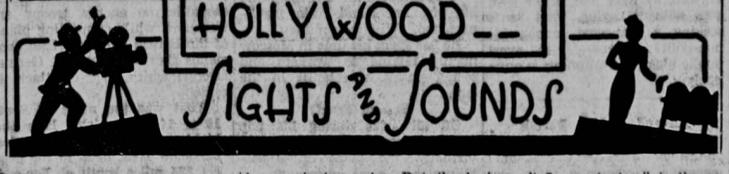

It is enough for the present that both measures be appreciated by the public for what they are, which is difficult enough in view of the confusing political arguments which have engulfed them.

Film Queens Seem To Be 'Queers'—
By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—This is Hollywood. Somebody at the studio has discovered that Lynn Bari has a singing voice. But they're afraid to use Lynn Bari's voice when she sings in musicals because in the past they have had another girl double for Lynn Bari's singing. "It wouldn't be the same and people would think it wasn't Lynn singing," is the explanation. . . .

But so is this: Betty Grable, kept from making army camp tours before by tonsils, wisdom teeth and an operation on different occasions, finally made one—by turning down four weeks of stage appearances, in Chicago which would have netted her $30,000. . . .

When actors look hot, tired and exhausted on the screen it often happens that they are hot, tired and exhausted. Bette Davis, Paul Lukas, and their movie children—Janis Wilson, Eric Roberts and Donald Buka—were approaching a U. S. immigration bureau station on the Mexican border. In "Watch on the Rhine" they're refugees from Europe, and they're coming home, poverty-stricken, heart-sick, hungry for a little security and a kind word. . . .

All five looked the parts—practically without acting. Anybody would look the part under the blanketing heat of a California sun in a low, arid valley. It's no military secret now, but the temperature topped 90 that afternoon—and Bette Davis, to look the matronly mother of three, wore cotton padding. . . .

The players were soon grimy. Carrying heavy luggage and heavy coats under arm, they were soon tired. When the long shots, medium shots and close-ups were finished, late in the day, they all looked even more like refugees—hot, exhausted, and discouraged. They were. . . .

Best the American Way—

A good citizen must figure on a full-time job, and part of that job is to fight for your democratic rights, either directly or indirectly. Right now the American steel industry is facing a shortage of raw materials with which to build implements of war, and the only way this serious problem can be met is by all-out cooperation on the part of citizens who will clean out their garages and sheds in search of scrap to turn in to their local scrap collectors.

The nazis, too, are badly in need of scrap metals, but Hitler isn't going about

From Our Nation's Capitol--

THE DURATION—HOW LONG?

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—That gloomy report of the Office of War Information about our being only ankle-deep in this war so far wasn't eye-wash.

At least, a good many government officials in the highest places—armed with all of the information available on this war—think just that. Recently I sat through an off-the-record session with such an official. He has been twice to England and in many conferences with Churchill. He has been presented at the war cabinet meetings here. He is constantly in touch with the British and Russians. He was not talking for publication so his name can't be used.

"On my calendar," he told me, "this war couldn't possibly be over before 1946 and probably not before 1948. After we defeat Hitler, it will take two years at the minimum to knock out the Japs and I doubt very much if we can begin to push Hitler around in Europe before 1945."

He said that those persons who anticipate a collapse of Germany (or Japan either) because of shortages of materials or manpower are just wishful thinkers. And that the facts are that German production and manpower are at their highest peak and growing daily.

In spite of his prediction about the length of the duration, he expressed the opinion that casualties wouldn't nearly approach those of the World War.

"There will, of course, be casualties. In some cases they will be shocking. But this is a war of materials and machines and shipping such as the world has never seen."

In this war, he explained, it will be the men who get their fustest with the mostest of those things who will win it. To knock out 1,000 medium tanks might wreck a huge offensive, but in those tanks would only be 3,000 men.

As for the second front, this official refused to join in the clamor of other armchair generals. Disclaiming any knowledge of military strategy, he expressed grave doubt that a second front would have the desired effect of diverting the Germans from their Russian offensive.

If it did, even if it cost a half million men and all their equipment, he thought it might be worth it; but for the very reason that the nazis have the manpower and possibly the machine power, they might be able to combat a second front to a stalemate without being diverted.

As for the thousand-plane raids on German cities, this observer said very emphatically and from first-hand knowledge that they were far more spectacular than effectual. To raze a city is one thing; to raze enough camouflaged and well-hidden war factories to wreck the war effort or even halt it for any length of time is another.

These are just some of the personal opinions expressed by one man—but that man is in a position to be in the know. He may be wrong, but so may be others.

J. Van der Zee Blames Inertia For League of Nations Failure

"Democracy cannot be entirely acquitted for the failure of the League of Nations," Prof. J. Van der Zee of the political science department stated last night in a lecture on "The Political Setting of the Present World Disorder," the third in "The World Today" series.

"The democracies' fatigue and inertia encouraged them to regard the league as a growing plant when they should have thought of it as a fortress," the speaker said. "Had an ounce of prevention been forthcoming when it was needed, the world would not be looking for a pound of cure today."

Past Experience

Surveying the most important political factors since the first World war which have contributed to the present situation, Professor Van der Zee warned that if the united nations have not learned from past experience, they cannot expect a durable peace after this war. He named the treaty of Versailles and the failure of the League of Nations as principle contributing factors.

"The peace treaty was a tragic compromise which nobody liked as a whole, but not an immoral or vindictive document," he said. He blamed both the victor nations and Germany rather than the treaty itself—the Allies because they were too interested in vengeance and Germany because she forgot that her situation might have been worse, had it not been for Woodrow Wilson.

United States Errored

The United States, according to Professor Van der Zee, was wrong because it withdrew from Europe and made the situation even more precarious.

Action along three lines might have saved the League of Nations, he said. Efforts should have been made to modify the treaty by revision or peaceful change in the interests of all members; the specific obligations imposed on the defeated nations should have been imposed on all, and each member should have been insured inviolable by the League.

SUI Students Wanted For Odd Cash Jobs

Men and women who want odd cash jobs are urged to turn in class schedules at the university employment office in Old Capitol immediately.

Jobs paying 35 and 40 cents an hour are available for men, and odd jobs doing general housework are open for women.

'Y' Interviews

Interviews for students interested in Y.W.C.A. or Y.M.C.A. will begin today. Anyone who could not attend the all "Y" meeting yesterday and who wishes to make an appointment for an interview may make arrangements in the "Y" offices in Iowa Union.

Scouts Will Collect Phonograph Records

Boy scouts and cubs will make their final record collection through the residential districts this afternoon between 4 and 6. Old records, regardless of their age or condition, should be left on front porches where the scouts can find them, record drive officials state.

This canvass ends the scouts' two day record campaign, which Lawton Petrick, chairman of the drive, hopes will fill the 10,900 quota set for Johnson county. Anyone who is missed in this drive, is asked to call 3550, and special arrangements will be made to collect the records.

The proceeds from the sale of the old records will purchase new records and electrical phonograph equipment for army and navy camps at home and overseas.

Currier Women Hold Get-Acquainted Party

Another in a series of Currier hall get-acquainted parties was held Tuesday night by the East wing residents of third floor.

In charge of arrangements were Jean Bohner, A4 of Chillicothe, Mo.; Ruth Giblin, A1 of Williamsburg; Sarah Messenger, A3 of Cedar Rapids, and Jeanne McCoy, A2 of Carroll.

To Speak to Medics

Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, will speak to junior and senior medical students on the chemistry of war gases at 11 a. m. Saturday and at the same time on the two following Saturdays.

Alaskan seaskin is a perennial favorite for both daytime and evening wear. This coolie coat of tumbled seal with the smartly turned cuffs and the close fitting high neckline is roomy enough to wear over a suit and yet important enough to grace a dinner gown.

Former Dean Given Degree

Prof. George D. Stoddard, former dean of the graduate college and director of the child welfare research station, was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of letters this morning by Colgate university at the inauguration of Everett Case as Colgate president at Hamilton, N. Y.

The former SUI dean left the University of Iowa to become commissioner of education of New York state. Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States Supreme court and Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, were also given awards at the ceremony.

Professor Stoddard's citation reads, "A noted scholar, and author of authoritative scientific studies and popular articles, a skilled teacher and administrator, a pioneer in the development and application of educational techniques, and an influential member and officer of learned societies, he is admirably prepared for educational statesmanship."

Dad's Day Invitations Will Be Mailed Soon To Students' Parents

Parents of more than 5,000 students will soon receive invitations from President Virgil M. Hancher and William J. Brown Jr., president of A. F. I., to attend the Dad's day events of Oct. 16-18, featuring the football game between Iowa and Illinois.

"This year more than ever we want the fathers and mothers of our students to visit them as often as possible. There will be a warm welcome for you here," President Hancher's letter reads.

Sustaining Wings Club Sponsors Collection Of Wool for Quilts

In cooperation with the United Service Women of Iowa and the Red Cross, the Sustaining Wings club is sponsoring work on air-raid shelter quilts under the direction of Mrs. Louis Pelzer, president, and Mrs. Harry Jenkinson, vice-president.

Local organizations are aiding in this endeavor, some contributing as many as 15 and 20 quilts to date.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. J. Himman a drive is in process for wool materials to be used in making quilt tops. Donations of cast-off wool dresses, coats, blankets and similar items are requested, as well as contributions of outing flannel or money for quilt backs.

The first shipment of quilts is destined for a marine base on the California coast.

The club has also established boxes for collecting scraps of fur to be used in the linings of marine and navy coats. The fur is shipped to Des Moines and distributed there.

All donations may be left at the headquarters of the wool drive at 230 College.

New Monthly Bulletin To Be Published Soon By School of Religion

Hawks Look at Husker Plays After Lengthy Signal Practice

Henry Blum Remains At Center Position; Masterson Works Out

Coach Eddie Anderson gave his Iowa gridders a look at some freshman-run Nebraska plays after an extended signal drill in yesterday's practice session. No contact work was on the menu for the Hawks, the freshmen team merely shifting into the formations to acquaint the varsity with the Husker type of play.

Henry Blum, converted tackle, continued at the pivot post in place of Bob Lauterbach and Forrest Masterson, both of whom were injured in last Saturday's opener with Washington university. Masterson reported for drill yesterday, and probably will be in shape by Saturday.

Dr. Anderson again juggled his backfield, this time giving Tom Farmer, Sam Vacanti, Dick Hoerner and Bill Stauss a chance to work together. Hoerner yesterday replaced blond Chuck Uknes, husky sophomore fullback, who has been playing this week in the Dubuque boys' place after his good showing against the Bears last Saturday.

Keymen in the Nebraska offense this Saturday will be Dale Bradley, all-conference half; Allen Zikmund, star in the 1941 Rose Bowl game, and Kirwin Eisenhart, husky sophomore plunger. Bradley, 174 pounds of shifty runner, is feared by opponents for his accurate passing as well as for his ground work.

The Husker passing attack, incidentally, may cause the Hawks some trouble since Iowa didn't look too alert on its aerial defense against Washington, the latter completing five of 15 passes, one a beautiful 38-yarder.

During today's and tomorrow's workouts the Hawkeyes, at a disadvantage since Nebraska has played no games for Iowa to scout, will continue drilling defensively against the expected Husker type of play.

Ted Duke Curran, sophomore right half, showed up to good advantage with his ball carrying in Iowa's opening victory, and is counted on to sweep many a Cornhusker end this Saturday.

Larry S. MacPhail Resigns Presidency

BROOKLYN (AP)—Leland Stanford (Larry) MacPhail announced last night that he had resigned as president of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League and would enter the army at the close of the major league season Sunday.

The fiery, red-haired executive made the disclosure to newspapermen while the board of directors of the ball club was in session and said that no decision had yet been made as to his successor.

However, when asked if he would sever all connections with the Dodgers after Sunday he replied, "No, but I can't say more until the directors have finished conferring."

MacPhail came to the Dodgers in January 1938 as general manager and a couple of years later was elevated to the presidency of the club.

Big Ten Doings

AT CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—The University of Illinois varsity got another long session of defensive work yesterday against the "T" formation, which the Illini will encounter in their football opener Saturday against South Dakota. Two freshmen eleven alternated as the opposition in the 45 minute skirmish.

AT ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP)—After two weeks of intense practice, the Michigan Wolverines began tapering off yesterday for their game Saturday with the Bluejackets of the Great Lakes naval training station. Tackle Al Wistert sprained his back Monday and took it easy yesterday, but doctors said he would be ready for Saturday's opener.

Lowly Phils Get Only 1 Hit Off Lefthander As Dodgers Win, 6-0

BROOKLYN (AP)—A hard infield single that Shortstop Pee Wee Reese couldn't quite handle deprived Larry French of a hunk of baseball immortality yesterday as the veteran southpaw pitched the struggling Dodgers to a 6-0 shut-out over the Phillies.

Nick Etten, Philly first-baseman, spoiled a perfect game for French when, with one down in the second frame, he slashed a ball just to the left of second base that Reese knocked down but couldn't throw. There was never any argument about it having been a hit.

Etten was wiped out by a fast double play a moment after he hit, and only 27 batters—the absolute minimum—faced French.

The further he went the better French became. Four of his six strikeouts were registered in the last three innings, when his knuckle ball was dipping and swerving across the plate like a hula-dancer. None of the Dodger fielders even made a particularly good play in helping French mow down the Phils.

A crowd of 13,346, including 8,647 scrap metal donors who got in free, cheered the chunky left hander vociferously as Phil after Phil went down in order in the late innings. In the ninth they burst into the outfield and the game was delayed for several minutes while the tykes were shoed back into their cages.

For a few precious hours, at least, the victory pulled the Dodgers within two games of the St. Louis Cardinals, who were playing a night game with Cincinnati.

The way the Dodgers were leaning against the ball yesterday, French scarcely needed to work on the unhappy Phils to such a brutal extent. For the second straight day the erstwhile league leaders poured base hits into the outer reaches, piling up 13 safeties at the expense of three opposing pitchers.

They slammed Rube Melton from the premises with six hits and four runs in the first five innings, and found Ike Pearson and Walter Beck almost equally entertaining.

Pete Reiser and Dolph Camilli supplied the big blows off Melton, Pete driving two runs over with a double in the third inning and Camilli slapping a towering triple into the far right-center field corner in the fifth for a couple more. Reiser also contributed a pair of singles.

The fifth Brooklyn run came in the sixth, when Reese opened with a double and trotted in on French's line single. A single by Billy Herman, a sacrifice by French and Dixie Walker's single to right completed the rout in the eighth. Every man in the Brooklyn line-up except Arky Vaughan got at least one safety.

President Larry MacPhail of the Dodgers and Umpire-in-Chief Bill Klem of the National League, who roared at each other like a brace of sea lions for a half-hour after Tuesday's game, got together yesterday and agreed to be pals again—at least for the time being.

Johnny Beazley Hurls Cardinals to 4-2 Win Over Cincinnati Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The pennant-bound Cardinals regained their 2½ game lead and moved closer to the National league championship last night by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 2, before 26,514 top-coated spectators in flood-lighted Sportsman's park.

The Cards triumphed behind the magnificent pitching of the sensational 23-year-old rookie right-hander, Johnny Beazley, who allowed only two hits—a single by Frank McCormick and a double by Bert Haas. Cincinnati had only one man on base after the first inning, in which the Reds got off to a two-run lead.

It was Beazley's 20th victory of the year. Only 29 batters faced him, six of those in the first inning.

The Cards led over Brooklyn was reduced to two full games yesterday afternoon as the beautiful Bums trimmed Philadelphia, 6 to 0, but the Redbirds bounced quickly back last night to make it two and a half.

After Cincinnati scored two in the opening frame, the Cardinals rebounded with three quick runs on three hits in the third to take the lead and added their fourth on three straight hits in the seventh.

City High Prepares For Clinton Gridders

Coach Herb Cormack ran his Little Hawks through a hard signal drill yesterday to prepare them for their first Mississippi valley conference game against Clinton tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on Shrader field.

Slight injuries have kept several Red and White first stringers out of action this week. Probably the most seriously injured is Joe Casey who is still nursing an injured wrist which he sprained in last week's encounter with Downing. Dave Danner and Wayne Hopp are bothered with colds.

None of these boys, however, has a serious ailment, and each will be able to fill his regular position by tomorrow.

Browns Win, 6-0

Dennis Galehouse and Fritz Ostermueller held the Pittsburgh Pirates to six hits as the St. Louis Browns cracked out a 6 to 0 victory yesterday in the first clash of major league teams here. An estimated 8,000 attended the exhibition game.

The Browns wasted no time in asserting their power over Frankie Frisch's Bucs, blasting out a pair of runs in the initial frame through a double and three singles.

Seahawks Cancel Football Tilt With St. Mary's Cadets, Oct. 24

Cancellation Leaves Only One Home Tilt, Against Cornhuskers

Difficulties of transportation, which has greatly curtailed many wartime sports, hit Iowa City yesterday when officials of the Pre-Flight school announced that the grid contest carded here with the St. Mary's Cadets, Oct. 24, has been cancelled.

The cancellation of the game with Lieut. Comdr. G. A. Oliver's eleven from the Maraga hills leaves only one tilt that the Seahawks will play at Iowa City, Nebraska's Cornhuskers, this Saturday's opponents of Iowa, will return Nov. 21 to go up against Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's juggernaut.

A previously scheduled game with the Georgia Cadets, originally booked to be played on the Seahawks' home territory Nov. 7, also was cancelled. Bierman will take his team to Louisville, Ky., instead on that date to play Fort Knox.

No announcement was made concerning the possibility of another game being scheduled to take

Bud Halverson, Helm Drill With Bluehawks

Both offense and defense were stressed in University high's scrimmage last night as Asst. Coach Westwick interchanged his first two teams to give the reserves a chance to work with the varsity.

Capt. Bud Halverson and Bill Helm were back in uniform, showing no signs of their injuries received in the Kalona game. Gene Rummels, however, was still out with a badly cut lip, and Max Seaton rested a bruised knee which he suffered in Tuesday night's practice. Both will be ready for the Cedar Falls game Friday.

Chuck Kent took over Seaton's place at right half, while Mark Meier held down Rummel's guard post.

The Bluehawks are determined to make amends for the 20-6 beating they took last year at the hands of the Little Tutors, and are working hard. Cedar Falls has only four veterans in their starting lineup: Jim Reeve and Don Denny, halfbacks; Dan Brown, end, and Vern Sires tackle.

Johnson County District Court Jury Cases Will Begin Monday

Mrs. P. LeDean Wins Uncontested Divorce; Foreclose Corporation

A divorce was granted yesterday in Johnson county district court to Mrs. Pearl LeDean by Judge James P. Gaffney. The decree rendered by Judge Gaffney stated that the defendant, Delos LeDean, was guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mrs. LeDean was granted permanent custody of her son, Jeffrey, and will receive $25 a month alimony. Mr. LeDean failed to appear in court.

A decree of foreclosure, filed by the First Trust and Savings bank, trustee, against the One Hundred and Nine River street corporation, was also signed by Judge Gaffney.

The One Hundred and Nine River street corporation is an organization formed by the Alpha Beta chapter of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

The first non-jury case of the September term of Johnson county district court will begin at 10 a. m. Monday, with five more cases scheduled during the day, according to Judge Gaffney.

Six non-jury cases will be tried Wednesday, Sept. 30, beginning at 9 a. m. and seven cases Oct. 7 and 9.

Difficulty in obtaining petit jurors because of the war has forced attorneys, representing litigants in 12 jury actions, to waive jury trials. Each of the 12 cases involve cases of $500 or less.

Forty-five of the 75 petit jurors selected for the September term have been excused because of the influence, direct or indirect, of the war, Judge Gaffney stated.

Trial of the following non-jury cases will begin next Monday: Allen vs. Noel; Curtis, Owen, Fuller corporation vs. Racine; Garner company vs. Clemence; Joliet Heating corporation vs. Mareh; Drake Hardware company vs. Mareh, and the Melley company vs. Stevens.

Wednesday the following non-jury cases will be heard: Bittner vs. Reinberg; Mortemoth company vs. Kelley company; Bury Biscuit corporation vs. Choquette; Iowa City Realty company vs. Livesey; the claim of Emma Prybil against the Tom Connell estate, and the Dubuque Show Case company vs. Oliva.

Monday, Oct. 5, the following cases will be tried: Pudil vs. Chadima; Estate of Mary Shebetka—objection to probate of will; Gutmann vs. Iseli, and Filbrandt vs. Toenniges.

The following cases will be heard Wednesday, Oct. 7: Iowa Land company vs. Neuhart; Elmquist vs. D. H. Maher of the Maher Transfer company, and Gannon vs. Barron.

Rev. R. E. McEvoy To Address Conference

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church, will speak on religious education at a conference in Des Moines tomorrow.

The conference, headed by the Rt. Rev. Harry S. Longley, bishop of Iowa, is being held to discuss plans for the policy of the diocese for the coming year.

Iowa City Red Cross Sewers Meet Today

The Red Cross sewing group will hold its regular weekly meeting today from 8 to 4 in the sewing rooms of the Community building.

Cutting and sewing on operating gowns is the work for today, Mrs. L. E. Clark, chairman of the group, announces. Women's blouses and war materials are being made ready for shipment the end of the week by the packing committee. At a request order from the army, the group is also knitting gloves and crocheting mittens.

More sewing groups are to be formed this fall, Mrs. Clark announced yesterday. In addition to the group which meets on Thursday, six other groups which have worked throughout the summer are now active. They are under the direction of Mrs. E. M. MacEwen, Mrs. W. T. Hageboeck, Mrs. Wilbur Cannon, Mrs. Arthur O'Brien and Mrs. Alden McGrew. Mrs. Clay Johnson heads another group at Oxford.

Theta Rho to Meet

Old Gold Theta Rho girls will hold their meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Odd Fellows' hall.

Alta Robinson Rites Will Be Held Today

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Beckman's funeral home for Alta Aileen Robinson, 60, who died Monday night following a protracted illness which has kept her in University hospital since July.

The Rev. W. Z. Allen will officiate. She was the daughter of the late Hiram A. and Elizabeth Martyn Robinson, who lived for many years on E. College.

Miss Robinson was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1900 and later took an advanced degree. Since that time she has taught English in high schools and colleges all over the country. Her last position was as an instructor at the Pennsylvania College for Women in Pittsburgh, Pa., where she specialized in creative writing. There are no survivors.

Burial will be in the family plot in Oakdale cemetery.

Will Speak Here

William A. Doppler (shown above), director of the industrial relations service of the national tuberculosis association, will be principal speaker at the district meeting of local tuberculosis drive chairman to be held today in Iowa Union.

Eight counties will be represented at the all day meeting. Doppler comes to Iowa City from Ottumwa, where he spoke yesterday on the control of tuberculosis through wage earners. He will also discuss this subject today.

Several pamphlets, which have had a distribution of over 25 million, have been written by Doppler on this subject.

Dr. George C. Albright, chairman of the Iowa City group will preside at today's session, and Harold Schuppert, 1222 E. College, is in charge of luncheon reservations and arrangements.

United States army parachutists preparing for the day they'll attack the enemy go into action, above, at Fort Bragg, N. C., after landing from their planes. Amid "bursting shells" they bayonet dummies representing enemy troops. The 'chutists are attached to the ground forces' air-borne command.

46 Trainees Finish Air Pilot Course

Army Reserve, Navy Men Make Up Group; New Contingent Due

A group of 20 naval V-5 cadets and 26 CPT pilots have graduated from the civilian pilot training flight school at the Iowa City municipal airport, Paul B. Shaw, manager of the field, announced yesterday.

A new contingent of navy and civilian pilots will begin training this week, Shaw said. The majority of the navy fliers have already arrived in Iowa City and have taken up quarters in the Burkley hotel until the completion of their training.

The navy V-5 pilots have completed 240 hours of ground school work at the university along with a minimum of 50 hours of flight instruction and are now being transferred to one of the navy's pre-flight bases.

The CPT fliers who have completed their instruction here and who have also been inducted into the army air reserve, will proceed to Kelly field, Tex., or to one of the air transport commission fields where they will receive additional training.

Navy graduates are James Red of Iowa City; Leonard Walker of Salisbury, Mo.; Robert Owen of Cedar Rapids; William Anderson of Colfax; Ernest Rouse of Ellington, Mo.; Paul Johnson of Clinton; Leonard Kammengsizer of Clayton, Mo.; Richard Schneider of St. Louis.

Joe Harris of Keokuk; Cyril Komonecky of Livingston, Ill.; Francis Whisher of Iowa City; Charles Bartels of Wood River, Ill.; George Gibson of Iowa City; Harold Jenkins of Kirkwood, Mo.; Horace Cook of Williamsburg; Calvin McEnderree of Benton, Ill.; George Gustin of St. Louis; Thomas Evans of Hannibal, Mo.; Bruce Alderman of Iowa City and Donald Ruyle of Wood River, Ill.

CPT graduates include Lloyd Lawson of Seneca, Ill.; John Flock of Sterling, Ill.; Arthur VanSickle of Sioux Falls, S. D.; John Gibney of Davenport; Gilbert Wilson of Hawarden; Hollis Ambrose of Gosville, N.H.; Willard Goshen of Sterling, Ill.

John Carlin of Davenport; John Stevens of Sterling, Ill.; Reginald Talbot of Fairfield; Everett Christianson of Grand Mound; Melvin Graf of Dubuque; Tom Nolar of Sigourney; James Rigby of Ft. Dodge.

Harold Stillwell of Malcom; Darhal Wolf of Rock Falls, Ill.; Wilber Robinson of East Moline, Ill.; Joe Stolze of Burlington; Beryle Roundy of Columbus Junction; and William Hodge of Clinton.

Other CPT fliers who have completed the advanced course in cross-country include Gordon Montgomery of Iowa City; Morris Maloney of Ackley; Victor Plath of Davenport; Tom Pomeroy of Atwood, Col.; Gene Phillips of Denver, Col., and Robert Clow of Fairfield.

Craft Guild Urges Donation of Candles

Anyone in Iowa City who has unnecessary or partially used candles is asked to donate them to Iowa City craft guild members, Mrs. George Glockler, candle-making chairman, announced yesterday.

These old candles will be remelted and cast into tapers of various sizes and shades which will be sold Nov. 6 and 7, Homecoming week end, at Sidwells, 111 Iowa. Proceeds of the sale will be donated to the Red Cross.

Every pound of wax which is donated will make six long tapers, according to Mrs. Glockler. These tapers will sell at a price of three pairs for $1. Any fragments of candle-wax, no matter how small, can be used.

Christmas candles, decorated with pine, cedar and bitter sweet and sheped into trees and bells, will be featured at the sale.

Other distinctive types will be red, white and blue blackout candles, 80 hour mantle tapers and floating candles for luncheons and teas. Some of the tapers will be scented.

Wax may be turned in to Mrs. Glockler, Mrs. Kirk Porter or Mrs. Arthur Trowbridge.

Tau Gamma Sorority Plans Hayride Monday

Tau Gamma sorority for town girls held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night in the river room of Iowa Union.

Plans were made for a hayride to be held Monday. Helen Reich of the office of student affairs gave a short talk, and Pat McVicker, A4 of Iowa City, president, explained the purposes of Tau Gamma.

Alice Kanak, A2 of Iowa City, was in charge of the entertainment.

Mrs. C. Dutcher Rites To Be Held Tomorrow At Methodist Church

Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the Methodist church, for Mrs. Charles M. Dutcher, who died at her home, 620 S. Summit, Tuesday evening.

She was a long time resident of Iowa City, having lived here since 1907, when she was married to Charles M. Dutcher.

She attended the University of Iowa and was active in the alumnae work of the Delta Gamma sorority.

She is preceded in death by her husband, former state senator and prominent lawyer, who died in 1936.

Surviving are two sons, Atty. Dan C. of Iowa City; and Charles M., a student at Princeton university; one daughter, Mrs. Jane Leonard of Iowa City; and four grandchildren.

Officiating at the service will be the Rev. Edwin E. Voigt, president of Simpson college, assisted by the Rev. L. L. Dunnington of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Monthly County Bond Sales Near $190,000

The sale of $143,450 worth of war bonds for the "Buy a Bond" dance and the "Victory Premiere" increased the Johnson county aggregate total to $189,150.75 for the month of September, it was reported yesterday.

A total of $123,300 was sold for the "Victory Premiere" showing of "Wake Island" and $20,150 in war bonds was purchased for the "Buy a Bond" dance.

It is the local war bond committee's hope that the residents of Johnson county will continue to purchase war bonds so that the county's total for September will go over the $200,000 mark, Frank D. Williams, county war bond chairman, said yesterday.

E. Grabow to Address Public Health Class

Elvira Grabow of the bureau of dental hygiene will speak at the meeting of the public health class this evening at 7:30 in Mercy hospital.

Members of the Red Cross nursing class are invited to attend, Mrs. Gladys B. Clappison, instructor of the group, announces.

At the regular Tuesday evening meeting of the home nursing class next week, Afton Smith, associate in parent education and child welfare, will address the group on "Mental Health of the Child."

State Teacher's Exam To Be Given Saturday

An examination in the principles of American government will be given Saturday morning in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

The examination is being held for persons wishing to apply for a state teacher's certificate. Under the Iowa law, all teachers must take a course in American government or pass the written examination.

Chest Leader Picks 5 Aides

Mrs. E. F. Rate, head of the residential division of the 1942 community chest drive, yesterday announced that appointment of the five district heads who will work under her in the coming residential campaign.

They are Mrs. Henry Fick, Mrs. Irving Weber, Mrs. Clyde Hart and Mrs. Leslie Yetter as well as Mrs. Harry Wade, who will handle the solicitation of a group of organizations.

The five new district heads will next appoint zone leaders. The zone leaders will select sector heads who will in turn name block workers.

When this organization has been completed, Mrs. Rate expects to have from 500 to 600 voluntary solicitors working in this single division of the drive.

Army Sergeant, Navy Storekeeper, Speak To Lion's Club of Experiences in Service

Two members of the armed forces spoke on their experiences at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions club in Reich's pine room yesterday.

First Sergt. Roy Calta, who returned recently from northern Ireland where he served with the 109th medical battalion, told the Lions that American boys in Ireland are in fine shape and are ready to do their job.

"It is hard to realize that this country is at war," Sergeant Calta said. "In England and Ireland, everything the people do is in direct relation to the war."

Sergeant Calta left this country in February. "We lost neither men nor ships on the voyage over," he stated. He returned to the United States to go to Camp Barkley, Tex., as an officers' training candidate. Cliff Ward, storekeeper first class in the United States navy, described his experiences at Pearl Harbor during the first Japanese bombing Dec. 7. "I was on a hospital ship—part of the 'sissy navy,'" he said. "But we lost that name after the work the boys did that day."

He praised the courage and tenacity of the navy nurses and of the men they treated. "Many men were badly hurt, but there wasn't a peep out of any of them." Instead, they were the angriest lot he has ever seen, Ward said.

Ward was also on a hospital ship in the south seas during the Coral sea battle. He described that fight as a sea-air battle. All contact between the Japanese and the Americans was ship vs. plane or plane vs. plane. Navy air corps pilots did a wonderful job, he said.
