47 Seized as FBI Breaks Up Million Dollar 'Series' Lottery

Agents in 32 Cities Move on Members of Ring Planning to Distribute Thousands of World Series Tickets

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The justice department announced last night that 47 members of a million dollar lottery ring planning to distribute hundreds of thousands of world series baseball tickets had been seized by FBI agents operating in 32 cities.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, said the ring leaders were Christ and Ernest Bauer, Arthur Jaun and William J. Santa, all of Chicago.

They were enjoying "one of the most successful years" in the distribution of "square deal" baseball lottery tickets through a net work of more than 300 distributors in 37 states, Hoover said.

The tickets were printed, the FBI chief added, at the South Suburban Press Inc., Blue Island, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

Hoover said that large quantities of baseball and treasury balance lottery sheets were found at the South Suburban Press plant and that press forms were prepared for the printing of world series lottery tickets. He estimated the plant value at more than $70,000.

At Chicago, U. S. Attorney J. Albert Woll authorized complaints against those arrested and announced their cases would be presented to a federal grand jury in a week or two. Specifically they were charged with conspiring "to cause to be deposited with an express agency certain papers purporting to be chances dependent upon the event of a lottery for transportation from one state to another."

Maximum penalty upon conviction is two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

5 Iowans Charged In Lottery Case

DES MOINES, (AP)—J. L. Dalton, special agent in charge of the Iowa Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Des Moines, said last night charges involving violation of the national lottery law have been filed against five Iowans.

He identified them as follows: Harry Richard Crumley, Des Moines barber shop operator; Henry Charles Cahill, Hampton railroad telegraph operator; Milver M. Simitz, Cedar Rapids bowling alley proprietor; George A. LaHue, Waterloo orchestra drummer, and Earl R. Gibson, Montrose Tavern operator.

Dalton announced that FBI agents had conducted investigations in 22 Iowa cities in connection with the lottery round-up. Information was received by numerous persons who have been receiving the lottery tickets regularly, Dalton said.

The investigations in Iowa have been under way since Tuesday, when the first arrests were made. La Hue yesterday waived preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Arthur W. Hyke on charges of causing lottery tickets to be sent through the mails and was bound over to the federal grand jury meeting in Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 1. He provided $1,000 bond.

Dalton reported that many thousands of lottery tickets have been seized in Iowa.

Mercy hospital officials reported later that he was "resting comfortably."

British Admit Sinking of Destroyer, Minesweeper—Nazis Lose 40 Planes in Arctic Convoy Battle

LONDON (AP)—The loss of the destroyer Somali and the minesweeper Leda both enroute home, was acknowledged by the admiralty yesterday in an accounting of the big running battle between an arctic convoy and German planes and submarines during which at least 40 Nazi planes and two U-boats were destroyed.

"Losses were suffered among ships in the convoy," a communique said, "but despite the large number of very heavy attacks made by the enemy a great majority of the ships arrived at their destination (Russia)."

On the homeward trip the torpedoed Somali, 1,870 tons, was taken in tow by another destroyer but after three days of bad weather she broke in two and sank.

Four British planes were lost, but the pilots of three were saved. A dispatch from Moscow said United States officers and men manned guns on Soviet ships which rescued them after their ship was sunk by a U-boat and shot down four enemy aircraft in beating off a dive-bomber attack.

The action apparently occurred in the recent convoy battle in arctic waters, although it was not stated in the dispatch.

"They kept their heads and fired accurately as the Germans dropped their bombs and machine gunned the ships," the Russian skipper said. "Lieut. Wilson particularly distinguished himself, all

Paris Radio Reports Allies Block Dakar

French Official Says Aggressive Intentions Come as 'News to Us'

LONDON (AP)—The Paris radio said last night "the allies are blockading Dakar" on the French west African coast, "and they will attack it soon."

A political commentator identifying himself as Jean Azema made the statement on the German-controlled Paris station.

The nazis have carried on an intensive propaganda recently regarding alleged allied aggressive intentions on Dakar, but this was the first claim of any allied overt action against the strategic port which is 1,600 miles east of Brazil.

A fighting French official here said "that's news to us," when asked about the Paris radio statement, and added that he could not comment further on it.

The British instituted a blockade down the west African coast in July, 1940, and with the free French attacked Dakar unsuccessfully in September.

Japanese Sub Joins U-Boats

Axis Reports Craft With German Vessels Raiding in Atlantic

LONDON (AP)—Axis propaganda outlets around the earth chorused the Tokyo announcement yesterday that a Japanese submarine had cruised half-way around the world and now is "in close cooperation" with German U-boats in the north Atlantic.

British naval observers didn't believe it amounted to much—even if true.

The announcement coincided with the first axis trumpeting to herald the second anniversary, on Sunday, of the signing of the three-power pact, the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo military agreement which provides the basis for present axis collaboration.

The naval observers, whose identities could not be disclosed, said that if, indeed, there was any truth in the reported token union of the widely separated axis partners, it could be regarded as:

1—A purely propaganda stunt designed to cheer the populations of Japan and Germany and conversely annoy the united nations;

2—A face-saving effort to counter the complete failure of the Japanese to prevent British operations on Madagascar, a way point and potential supply base for far ranging Japanese vessels;

Senate Heads Reject Farm Bloc Proposal

Suggest Compromise Allowing President To Stabilize Wages

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a day of energetic campaigning, senate administration leaders openly claimed enough senate votes last night to reject the farm bloc's proposal for new and higher farm parity prices in favor of a compromise formula.

That done, they foresaw the speedy passage of a bill empowering the President to stabilize wages, and prices. But whether the house, which has already approved the farm bloc plan, would accept the compromise, and whether the finished legislation could be delivered to President Roosevelt by October 1—the deadline he set in asking for it—remained in doubt.

While a series of senate speeches kept the surface debate going, the administration leaders conferred busily with wavering senators. One at a time, they reported, votes were chipped away from the farm bloc. At the end of the day the senate adjourned until Monday, and Senator Barkley, the democratic floor leader, thought the vote might be taken then, or on Tuesday at the latest.

Points attacked in addition to the centers of Japanese resistance on Guadalcanal were Gizo island, 215 miles to the northwest, and Rekata bay at Santa Isabel island, 185 miles away. Docks and buildings were damaged at Rekata and one small float plane was shot down. These actions were carried out by army "Flying Fortresses."

The three hits on an unreported number of transports were also made by army Flying Fortresses when on Thursday they discovered the enemy transport force near Shortland island, in the western Solomons about 250 miles from the northwestern shore of Guadalcanal.

Disclosure that the enemy was in possession of some villages on Guadalcanal came in a paragraph of the communique reporting that they had been attacked by navy and marine corps Douglas "Dauntless" dive bombers.

The withdrawal came concurrently with the start of heavy rains, the headquarters communique said.

Japanese Still Hold Villages In Guadalcanal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Japanese are still holding several villages on Guadalcanal island, principal American base in the southeastern Solomons, the navy disclosed yesterday in a communique reporting that new bombing and strafing attacks on those and other enemy strong points and ships had damaged docks and buildings and scored three hits on transport vessels.

Points attacked in addition to the centers of Japanese resistance on Guadalcanal were Gizo island, 215 miles to the northwest, and Rekata bay at Santa Isabel island, 185 miles away. Docks and buildings were damaged at Rekata and one small float plane was shot down. These actions were carried out by army "Flying Fortresses."

To Operate Ration On Basis of Coupons

First Reduction Of Home Fuel Not Sufficient

WASHINGTON (AP)—Home fuel oil rationing in 30 eastern and middle western states will be geared to an estimated over-all average reduction of 33 1-3 per cent of normal consumption, instead of the 25 per cent reduction previously indicated, the office of price administration announced yesterday.

Paul M. O'Leary, OPA deputy administrator, said it had been found that a 25 per cent reduction would not be sufficient in view of the fuel shortage.

Improve Burners
If furnaces can not be converted from oil to other fuels, O'Leary said, "then everything that is possible must be done to improve the burner efficiency and to insulate the home properly."

O'Leary said the householder who improved the thermal efficiency of his house by insulating weather stripping, storm doors and windows, and overhauling his oil burner would be rewarded in added comfort, because the exact percentage of reduction for an individual house will depend upon the efficiency with which it uses oil.

Reduce Consumption
"If the thermal efficiency of the house is normal as defined by the OPA heat loss formula range, the heat cut will be one third of consumption in a normal winter," he explained.

May Lower Cut
"If the house is more efficient than standard the cut will be as low as 15 per cent from normal consumption. If the house is wasteful and an inefficient user of oil, the cut will be greater than 33 1-3 per cent from normal, the exact amount depending upon the thermal efficiency of the house."

On the basis of last year's consumption, O'Leary said, the overall reduction will be somewhat smaller than one third since last winter was unusually warm—about 10 per cent warmer than normal.

Oslo Bombed During Quisling Party Rally
1st Raid on Nazi-Held Capital Costs RAF But Single Bomber

LONDON (AP)—RAF bombers attacked the German-held Norwegian capital of Oslo yesterday afternoon while the axis-puppet leader Vidkun Quisling was addressing a party rally on "The new order in Norway."

Authoritative quarters here said the daylight raid cost the RAF one plane.

4 Killed
Stockholm dispatches to Reuters said four British planes flew low over Oslo at 5 p. m. (9 a. m. CWT) and that four persons were killed and eight injured, and a number of houses damaged.

The Germans in Oslo claimed the destruction of three of the raiders, but Berlin broadcasts last night made no mention of the raid. Instead the German radio merely reported on Quisling's latest effort to knit recalcitrant Norwegians into a semblance of parliamentary government directed by his Norwegian nazis.

Abrupt Ending
The Quisling meeting was ended abruptly with the crash of British bombs shortly after the war air raid alarm was sounded, Stockholm dispatches said.

This was the first raid on the German-occupied Norwegian capital since British planes attacked shipping in Oslo harbor on Sept. 6, 1941.

The targets and the number of planes in yesterday's attack were not specified.

Mrs. Ruth Madsen Charged With Murder
TIPTON (AP)—Justice of the Peace E. C. Gillam yesterday charged Mrs. Ruth Madsen, 26-year-old farm woman, with first degree murder in connection with the death of her husband near West Branch, Sept. 14, Cedar county Attorney Reid Hunt said last night.

Mrs. Madsen, a former mental patient, was captured late Thursday evening at the home of her mother in West Liberty, after posses had combed the state for ten days after her husband, Henry Madsen, 34, was found dead of shotgun wounds at the couple's farm home.

State agent Max Studer, who directed the search, said yesterday the woman signed a statement admitting she shot and killed her husband as he slept.

McNutt Drums Up Sentiment--

Manpower Mobilizer Feeling Out Public Opinion for New Program—
 WASHINGTON.—Manpower mobilizer Paul McNutt is starting to drum up sentiment in congress for legislation empowering him to start a labor draft.

The way he is doing it indicates his drumbeating is designed primarily to sound out public sentiment. The rest of the administration, including the White House, is keeping quiet to see how he comes out.

His initial ventures suggest congress is not ready yet to take such a revolutionary way of solving the labor problem.

A daring bill has been proposed by Senator Lister Hill, but Mr. Hill concedes his bill would just about go the rest of the way toward establishing a totalitarian state.

That is just what makes the idea abhorrent to most congressmen. They cannot see the sense of embracing what we so ardently warring against.

The notion is beginning to break upon them that this nation has been too much influenced by Hitler's methods. Subconsciously in the past, our statesmen have grasped the totalitarian way of cracking down on all problems with arbitrary federal power, as if that was the only efficient way of doing things.

It is beginning to dawn on them that perhaps they can get better efficiency, more hearty cooperation and glad sacrifices from the people, if they try to meet our problems in as much of a democratic way as possible.

Therefore it looks like Mr. McNutt is running into a stone wall on his labor draft, and that another way will be found.

Mist of Confusion Demands Action—
 Congress is certainly ripe to act on the problem, which is not being over-estimated by McNutt. Stories fill the cloakrooms of both houses. Twenty different boards are dealing now with manpower, and without the slightest evidence of success.

Senator Thomas cannot get help to run his Idaho irrigated farm, and his manager is threatening to quit.

Senator Bankhead has heard from Anderson and Clayton, biggest cotton brokers, that the southern labor problem will bring a crop of poor quality this year, although wages are four and five times normal.

One hundred farms in a single county in Ohio are reported by congressmen of that state to be idle, because of labor shortage.

The army and navy have discovered such labor pirating in industry as to bestir them to demand action.

One western manufacturer requested 80 steamfitters to help him fulfill his army contract, claiming he had no one. The army got some steamfitters for him, transported them to the plant, and there found the manufacturer had 40 steamfitters hidden away in the basement playing cards each day for pay. He could not work them because he had no materials.

So the problem is pressing, but the only question is whether the McNutt totalitarian method, uprooting men wholesale from jobs they can do and transplanting them into jobs they cannot do, is the way to meet it.

Only Quick Legislation Can Solve Problem—
 Characteristics of the problem are easily distinguished if you will stand back and look at them. Our objectives are two: first, to raise an efficient army of sufficient strength to win (the military must decide that), and, secondly, to maintain production and civilian life just as efficiently and fully as possible.

Wholesale, haphazard drafting of men will not accomplish either objective. Extreme steps, such as McNutt and General Hershey have been talking about are more apt to stir internal resentment, promote civilian chaos.

Best solution I have heard comes from an authority in the government.

As this is an industrial, labor and farm problem why not have it handled by industry, labor and farm men who have had some experience with it. Why not create a board of the best available industrialists, labor leaders and farmers and let them try democratic management.

McNutt's bureau is not a logical one to handle this problem anyway.

For administration he has social security directors in the various areas, most of whom were drawn from social welfare groups, many of whom are women without experience in industrial labor or farm labor problems. His bureau deals with social security and health, neither of which is even remotely related to the pressing matter at hand.

If a common-sense business-like management of the problem is proposed, congress will readily agree. If pressure continues for the Hitler solution, there will be dangerous delay.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

'The Morning Star', 'The Bat' and Me—
 By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—That Broadway stage hit of yesterday, "The Bat," always will be memorable to me because a friend of mine—the show's press agent—fainted during the opening night's show. I am reminded of it because the other night, at the new Emlyn Williams play, "The Morning Star," another friend of mine—a case-hardened newspaper reporter, one of the best in town—also fainted. It's a funny thing. He has worked on scores of murder cases, the Hauptmann for one, and has run across all sorts of bloody and disagreeable sights. All through the new play, which is about a British family living amid a shower of bombs, he felt himself slipping. What finally knocked him over was the sight of a hero with his stained bandaged hands—stained with nothing more grisly than red

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Dressing Room Study of Starlets Reveals—
 By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—You don't need to study box-office records to learn how the starlets are progressing. All you need do is study their dressing rooms on the sets.

There may be democratic equality, in the studio lunch rooms, but on the sets the various dressing rooms outline a rigid caste system, marking the favored sheep from the hopeful lambs.

You'll find the newcomers in canvas boxes. You can find Marian Hall, who is pert, pretty and promising, sitting in hers and dreaming, no doubt, of the day when she'll have a "compo board" house like Alexis Smith, herself a graduate from canvas.

Recommended for women: a brand new book, "So Your Husband's Gone to War," by Ethel Gorham. Ethel's husband is Charles Gorham, now a navigator with the Royal Canadian Air Force, and before he went to Canada to enlist he asked me to write a letter for him, testifying to his good habits, which I was glad to do. Mrs. Gorham herself is head of the advertising department of one of New York's biggest stores, and the book is a most practical, yet witty and wise, appraisal of the problems that a woman faces when her husband is whisked off to war. All questions are answered neatly, from how to tend the furnace to rebuffing wolves in friends' clothes.

Dudley Leslie, a former drama critic in London and well known to Broadway has gone to war, and in a spare moment he pens this little note from an unnamed point far, far on the other side of the world:

"Of course New York to us here is something between Nirvana and Brighton on a holiday. It was always a fascinating city, but oh, the things you take for granted in peacetime. Now, just to walk down Broadway, without speaking a word, would be such a thrill that we probably would be arrested for vagrancy. . . . I've been six months in this damned dump and I can't find anything good to say about it. My best wishes go out to you, you dweller in a sparkling, bugless, witty, intelligent city."

What's in the canvas square? A lighted dressing table and bench, a small couch, and one or two semi-comfortable chairs. The upholstery is usually shabby, and the lay-out purely utilitarian.

The "compo board" house generally has the same arrangement—but the furniture is better, more comfortable, and it's likely to have a heater for winter and a fan or two for summer, plus a rug on the floor and a door that fits snugly.

The apex of stellar glory—dressing room division—is the house" or trailer. Tyrone Power's trailer-type, is a small home, with lounges, a desk, and all the comforts. The full-fledged stars—from Garbo to Shirley Temple—need no other accolade of distinction than such a studio "home on wheels." It means that a player has "arrived." He need have no doubt of that from the day the elegant white box with his name on the door, and perhaps a brass knocker to boot, is hauled on his sound stage. Such a dwelling is provided almost automatically to the "arrived," whether the player asks for it or not. It's not odd, of course, that most of them do ask, having as keen an eye to their own success as their bosses.

The old studio custom of erecting lavish bungalows to flatter their star's ego, for those off-stage hours, has been streamlined out of existence. The separate, elegantly designed and furnished homes at 20th Century-Fox once reserved for Shirley Temple, Lilian Harvey, Jane Withers, Will Rogers and other favorites are now just so much office space, and the stars have suites in a special building. This is true at Metro, Warner's Universal and most of the other lots. Paramount still has its Dressing Room Row in one building with many types of architecture—for use as movie exteriors.

But there's never been, and probably never will be again, a studio home to match that of Marion Davies. Two-story, tiled roof stucco, it was built at Metro, moved intact across the valley to Warner's finally moved to a private piece of Davies real estate.

Do You Care?

Has the government clamped a priorities on that "Old School Spirit", or restricted the amount of cheering we can do for the football team? If not, why the lack of pep sessions preceding football games?

The Nebraska corn huskers have been hanging one point victories on their chests at our expense for time 'eternal' and apparently we're willing to sit back and see them do it again, at least we've made no effort to show our support for the boys who'll face the farmer foe on the field of battle this afternoon.

It's too late now to hold a pep session, but it's not too late to show the spirit—by our throaty support of the Hawkeyes in the stadium this afternoon we may aid them in their drive for a victory.

Ruml Is Right, Though--

Beardsley H. Ruml's plan for bringing federal income taxes to a pay-as-you-go basis was voted down when it first came before the Senate Finance Committee. Committee members alibied that adoption of the Ruml plan would mean windfalls for taxpayers who had big incomes in 1941 and small incomes in 1942.

Just the same, the Ruml plan looks 100% sound to us, and we are glad to see its backers keep up the fight.

Mr. Ruml, as you probably know, is chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and treasurer of the well-known R. H. Macy department store—a concern which has had vast and profitable experience at serving customers on a cash basis.

The Ruml suggestion is that we turn the clock ahead one year, so to speak, on income-tax payments. All of us who pay income taxes are now paying them on last year's income. That has been the ease since the present income-tax laws began, before we got into the other war. Ruml says we should all finish paying our income taxes in 1942, as scheduled; but that then we should call them taxes on our 1942 incomes, instead of on our 1941 incomes. Beginning Jan. 1, 1943, we should start paying taxes on our 1943 incomes as we go along through 1943; and so on down the years. Adjustments for or against the taxpayer would be made next March 15th.

Ruml's idea is to rescue all income-tax payers from their present condition of being everlastingly in debt to the federal government, because they are forever paying taxes this year on the money they made last year. It is a completely unscientific and unbusinesslike arrangement, and will work more and more hardships and injustices as there come to be more and more federal income-tax payers.

By the Ruml plan, the treasury theoretically will lose one year's taxes per taxpayer—the year he or she dies. Actually, there are always estate and inheritance taxes available to make up most or all of that loss. The objection that the Ruml plan would mean windfalls for a few lucky taxpayers is wildly demagogic; and it could be removed by simply providing that the income-tax payments made in 1942 should be considered payments on the 1941 or 1942 income, whichever was the larger.

The benefits to millions of income-tax payers would be enormous. Our federal income-tax collection system would be yanked onto a businesslike pay-as-you-go basis in one operation, instead of having to wait for some complex withholding-tax scheme to work itself out in five or six years. States now levying income taxes might be moved to follow suit.

Let's just have the Ruml plan worked into the new tax law, and have done with the stalling and delay.

(In reprinting the above editorial from the current issue of Collier's magazine, we express full agreement with their views on this subject.—The Editor)

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—With the back-to-school movement in full swing, U. S. Office of Education officials are up to their pedagogic elbows in a teacher shortage situation that threatens to outstrip the crisis of 1917-18.

In those years, 125,000 inexperienced teachers were rushed into the breach, but the ranks still were 50,000 short of requirements. Dr. Benjamin W. Frazier, USOE specialist in teacher training, says that the educational crisis ahead is even worse than that.

In May, 1941, the shortage of vocational agriculture teachers was already developing. Now all 48 states are reporting serious shortages in that branch of instruction. Even before faculties checked in for the present fall term 28 states had reported shortages in teachers of industrial arts and trades. The most serious situation apparently exists in high school special and vocational subjects and in rural elementary schools.

Florida reports that elementary schools in 13 counties, high schools in 19, will be short of teachers before January. Kentucky says approximately 4,000 teachers, or 20 per cent, will not return this fall. South Carolina has lost more than 50 per cent of its vocational agriculture teachers.

Those are just samples of what is going on. They do not, however, indicate the dilemma faced by many war industry communities that have mushroomed without even adequate school building facilities, much less a teacher reserve.

The causes, of course, are the heavy demands of the armed forces and the heavy drawing power of bigger salaries in war industries.

The Office of Education wasn't caught napping when the states began to scream for help. The Office's wartime commission committee on teacher supply and demand had been studying the situation for a long time. They can't pull qualified teachers out of thin air, but they are making a lot of suggestions that help.

In the first place, they say, get salaries up to where they compete with those in the war industries.

In the second place, give those teachers retired because of marriage a break.

Other suggestions already put into practice in many forward-looking states are: recall retired instructors still mentally and physically competent; drop the bars against "out-of-state" teachers; issue emergency certificates "good for the duration" (29 states already have done this); and offer refresher courses for former teachers who are willing to help the war effort by returning to their desks.

Youth's Contribution—
 Since the outbreak of the war, the schools of the nation have done a magnificent job of channeling the youthful energies of American children. In the school sale of war stamps and bonds, the campaigns have been carefully handled so that the child who could afford only a few stamps has been made to understand that according to his means he is contributing as much to his country as those who could—and have—bought more. The school has also been the center for wartime activities such as rationing programs, salvage collections, and health and morale programs.

Now the war savings staff of the United States treasury department and the office of education are uniting to sponsor a "Schools at War" program. A series of local, regional and state exhibitions of school activities will be staged throughout the nation this fall and early winter. Each child will be given an opportunity to serve and to learn of the responsibilities of his country, which he must eventually assume in full measure. It is the duty of every parent to aid his child in this program.

Broadcasts—WHO, Des Moines; WMT, Cedar Rapids, Waterloo and KRNT, Des Moines; WSUI, Iowa City; WHBF, Rock Island, Ill.; WOV, Omaha, Neb., and KFAB, Lincoln, Neb.

With the weatherman promising snow and colder, the same kind of weather that prevailed when Iowa met Nebraska at Lincoln last year, Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawkeyes will take on the Cornhuskers here this afternoon in an effort to break a string of eight straight Husker triumphs.

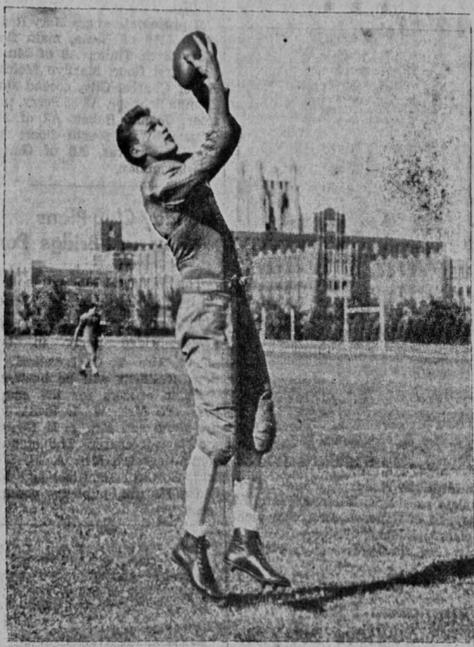

Part of the job of halting the Husker jinx will fall to four sophomores whom Anderson named in his probable starting lineup as the Hawks ran through their final practice yesterday. Biggest surprise in the lineup was Forrest Masterson, 220-pound sophomore pivot man who has been favoring an injured side all week. Henry Blum has been manning the center post during the week's drills in place of Bob Lauterbach, regular center, who was injured in Iowa's opener last week.

Other sophomores named with the starters are Sam Vacanti, passer deluxe, quarterback; Dick Hoerner, rugged fullback, and Bruno Niedziela, 230-pound tackle. Hoerner and Niedziela are in their second starting roles, both having opened against Washington university last week.

Iowa's offense, which may be hindered by the elements today, was expected to include a good deal of aerial work on the part of Tom Farmer, listed as a probable starter at left half.

Iowa, meanwhile, has prepared its defense for the forays of Dale Bradley, all-conference half; Kirwin Eisenhart, sophomore fullback find, and Allen Zikmund, 185 pounds of agile sprinter.

GAME CAPTAIN—Bill Burkett, senior right end from Independence, will lead the Hawkeyes against the Nebraska Cornhuskers this afternoon in the Hawks' first major test of the young 1942 football season. Tall (6-foot 3-inch), speedy Burkett has been Iowa's regular right end for the past two seasons, and has played two losing games against the Cornhuskers. He scored the only touchdown in the 1940 game with a 77-yard run.

AT MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The 1942 edition of the Minnesota Golden Gophers under a new coaching regime and with only three of last year's first string in their starting lineup will meet the Pittsburgh Panthers today in the opening football game of the season for both clubs.

It will be a non-conference clash for the Gophers, last year's Big Ten and mythical national champions, and Dr. George Hauser, new head coach, hoped to run Minnesota's consecutive string of victories to 18.

AT LAFAYETTE, Ind (AP)—Fordham's Sugar Bowl champions, already tabbed as one of the east's strongest gridiron teams, will make one of its rare visits to the middle west today to help Purdue's Boilermakers open the 1942 football season.

A crowd of 20,000 fans is expected to pile into the Ross-Ade stadium for the season lid-lifter.

AT MADISON, Wis (AP)—The Notre Dame's Irish, sporting the T-formation instead of their own famed shift, and Wisconsin, hopeful again of fulfilling glowing pre-season promise, will clash today in one of the top games of the new football season.

Without having played a game, the Irish were favored, largely because of a veteran setup headed by accurate Angelo Bertelli, their sensational passer. Wisconsin, 7 to 0 winner over Camp Grant last week, will be led by Pat Harder, one of the nation's finest fullbacks last year.

A near-capacity crowd of 40,000 was expected at Camp Randall.

By JOHN GRAHAM

Although a number of breaks were thrown their way here last night, City high's Little Hawk gridders outplayed and outclassed a game Clinton eleven to rack up a 28 to 0 Red and White victory. The River Kings had a light team which couldn't hold back the terrific pounding of the Cormackmen, and didn't once penetrate Iowa City's scoring territory on offensive play.

Joe Casey started the scoring for the Hawkllets with two long runs. Iowa City kicked off to Clinton, but on the first play, the Red and Blacks fumbled and Ruben Snider recovered for the Little Hawks. Casey then crashed through his own right tackle, cut back and raced 26 yards to cross the double stripe for six points. Sangster's try for the extra point failed.

Smart Clinton Play

Clinton pulled a smart play after the kickoff by quick kicking to the Iowa City 24-yard line where the Cormackmen drove the ball to the 43 and then Sangster punted out on the River Kings 12-yard line. The Rivermen kicked back to the Iowa City 45 and Casey and Wayne Hopp made it to their own 27 on five tries.

It was Casey through the center behind the excellent blocking of Dave Danner for the Red and Whites second tally. Sangster's kick was wide, and the score stood 12 to 0.

Hopp took a 40-yard touchdown jaunt in the third quarter after Art Cornwall recovered a Clinton fumble, and Sangster split the uprights to give the Little Hawks a 19 point lead at the half. Another break was handed City late in the third quarter when after three consecutive fumbles, Chuck Duebner, versatile Clinton back, was caught behind his own goal line for a safety to set the score at 21 to 0.

Kickoff, 2 p. m. (CWT).

CHICAGO (AP)—Bernie Bierman brought his power-laden Iowa naval pre-flight school football team to town last night and indicated that nine former Big Ten players would be in the Seahawks' starting lineup against Northwestern today in Dyche stadium.

A crowd of 30,000 is expected to see Coach Lynn Waldorf's Wildcats meet their toughest opening day opponent in history. The Seahawks romped to a 61-0 victory in their debut last Saturday against Kansas.

Of these eleven, Ringer, Kolens, Bolger, Schatzer and Benson are cadets and Mertes an enlisted man; the others are officers.

Playing in rain and snow, University high's Bluehawks opened their home season by decisively defeating Teachers High of Cedar Falls, 19 to 6. Chuck Kent, substitute right half, led the Blues' offense as they scored in the second and fourth quarters.

In the first quarter neither team threatened. Teachers high kicked off and U-high made two straight first downs, but a 15 yard penalty stopped the advance. The remainder of the quarter was played in the middle of the field. As the second quarter started, Jack Shay passed to Bill Helm, who reentered his back in the play. Cal Stimmel replaced Helm at quarterback.

After losing the ball to the Little Tutors, the Blues held and Teachers high kicked to U-high's 45-yard line. Then Kent replaced Max Seaton at right half. On the first play the speedy halfback ran to the 12-yard line, and the following play Don Wagner went around right end for the touchdown. Wagner drove through tackle for the extra point to make the score, 7-0.

In the last minute of the first half the Little Tutors scored. R. Brown passed to Dan Brown who ran to the one yard line. After being stopped once by the Bluehawk line, R. Brown went over on the second down. Dan Brown's place kick was wide, and the half ended with U-high leading, 7-6.

The Tutors fumbled on the opening kickoff starting the second half. Reed slid on the ball on the 25-yard line. Kent bolted to the three, and scored through tackle on the following play. The try for the extra point failed, leaving the score, 13-6.

Early in the fourth quarter Capt. Bud Halverson blocked a Tutor punt on the 10-yard line. Max Seaton ran to the five, and Wagner took it to the one foot line, from where Seaton scored.

Dodgers Win In 11th Inning

By Winning Last Two While Cards Lose 2 Brooklyn Could Tie

BROOKLYN (AP)—Those unpredictable Dodgers came clawing up out of the valley of the shadow again yesterday to win another extra-inning victory and carry the National league flag race right down to the wire.

Pushing over a run in the 11th inning on a glaring overthrow of home plate by Sibi Sisti—the second fatal error by the Boston Braves' second baseman in as many days—the still fighting Flock scored its sixth straight triumph, 6 to 5, and retained its chance of tying the St. Louis Cardinals, who were idle.

Sisti erred.

Three Dodgers were on base and one was out when Billy Herman slapped a grounder at Sisti that should have been converted into an easy killing at the plate. Sisti, however, cut loose a throw that was so high catcher Ernie Lombardi didn't even bother jumping for it, and the game was over as Dolf Camilli raced over the plate.

Sisti also let in what proved the winning Brooklyn run yesterday by unloosing a peg over Lombardi's head on which Camilli scored. It was becoming a habit.

As a result of two towering home runs by Boston's Max West, the first of which drove in two mates ahead of him, the Dodgers went into the last of the eighth inning yesterday trailing by a run. A pinch single by Lew Riggs, who must be about the best in the business at this specialty, and a ringing triple high against the right barrier by Arky Vaughan enabled fortune's children to tie the score and struggle through to eventual victory.

Phillies Today

Trailing the Cards by only two games last night, they prepared to open their final two-game series at Philadelphia today, while St. Louis opposed the Chicago Cubs in their closing pair out west. Two Dodger victories and two Cardinal defeats would tie it up tighter than a drum and force a playoff next week.

Before the game the Brooklyn players called their retiring president, Larry MacPhail, into the clubhouse and presented him a handsome $500 watch to carry into the army this week end.

Joe Louis-Billy Conn Championship Scrap Cancelled by Secretary of War Stimson

Conflict of Title Fight With Army 'Interests' Causes Cancellation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Billy Conn, scheduled for Oct. 12, was cancelled by Secretary of War Stimson yesterday on the grounds that it conflicts with "the standards and interests of the army."

Ending the 24-hour investigation he began Thursday after announcing he was "shocked" over some "details" of the bout which was to be held in New York's Yankee stadium, the war secretary ordered Sergeant Louis and Corporal Conn "returned at once to their military duties."

The proposed return match of one of the most spectacular heavyweight title tussles of the calendar with $300,000 worth of tickets already sold or ordered and with a million dollar gate in prospect.

Stimson issued his order after a series of conferences with war department men and officials of War Boxing, Inc., the organization set up to run the bout. He had conferred for several hours over various aspects of the arrangements, among them the plan to deduct $135,451.53 from the gate to pay debts listed against Louis and Conn.

Of this sum, $59,805.50 was a debt Louis owed Mike Jacobs, who was promoting the fight at the request of the war department and War Boxing, Inc.; $34,500 was owed to Jacobs by Conn, and $41,146.03 was owed by Louis to John Roxborough, one of his co-managers.

Attending the conferences with Stimson were Major General A. D. Surles, head of the war department public relations; John Kieran, head of the sports writers committee of War Boxing, Inc.; Ray McCarthy, war department coordinator of sports, and John Reddy, attorney for War Boxing, Inc.

At the conclusion of the meetings, the war secretary announced flatly that "the standards and interests of the army do not permit the proposed contest to be carried out."

Chisox Sweep Series
CLEVELAND (AP)—Wally Moses' two-run homer in the first inning started Chicago to an 8 to 1 triumph over the punchless Cleveland Indians yesterday for a sweep of the three-game series. Thornton (Lefty) Lee hurled steady seven-hit ball for the White Sox.

Remodeled Recreation Center Plans Fall Opening October 5

The Iowa City recreation center in the Community building, redecorated and remodeled during the summer months, will open Monday, Oct. 5, Edgar Frame, director of the center, declared yesterday.

Although the official opening is little more than a week away, Frame has issued an invitation to Iowa City fathers and mothers to visit the center.

The newly-decorated recreation center features a painted gymnasium and a re-sanded basketball floor. All of the fixtures in the game and handicraft rooms have been cleaned and painted, and new equipment has been added including a snooker table donated by Fred Racine, local businessman.

According to present plans, navy enlisted men's dances will be staged at the center. These dances will be sponsored by the Scribblers' club.

Tentative arrangements also call for several Navy Pre-Flight school dances to be given at the center.

An extensive basketball schedule has been planned for both the junior and senior leagues. Boys under 17 years of age who do not play for any coached team may enter the junior league and boys above 17 will be placed in the senior league.

Plans for the organization and practice arrangements for junior teams will be made at a meeting for team managers in the Community building Wednesday evening at 7:30. Managers of prospective senior league teams will convene at the center Monday evening at 7:30.

Any basketball team in the city is eligible to play in the senior league. The players must not be playing under an officially-coached team, however.

Girls basketball teams will also be organized and another league will be composed of fifth and sixth grade boys.

Interpreting The War News

German Propaganda Goes Into Reverse As Stalingrad Holds

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

There apparently is growing hope in allied capitals that Stalingrad can be held by the Russians until winter freezes the east front and snarls Nazi communication lines.

Moreover, this hope is supported by the outgivings of axis spokesmen. They are obviously trying either to explain away the delay or to distract German attention from the Stalingrad siege and its enormous blood cost.

Nazi patentees of the war-of-nerves technique as a psychological complement to the blitzkrieg are getting a taste of their own medicine. Their spokesmen are busy on the nerve front; but not with tonic doses for war-frayed German nerves, allied with verbal attacks on allied nerves. Their propaganda machinery is working overtime; but in reverse.

Examples are numerous. The most recent and most curious, perhaps, is a Japanese announcement that Japanese naval forces have arrived to cooperate with German and Italian allies in Atlantic waters. In confirmation, Tokyo reported that a Japanese submarine had touched at a German base. Berlin amended that by adding that it was a base "in Europe."

It may be true. Little as Japan could spare even one submarine from her own vast sphere of sea action, she may have sent one or more into the Atlantic. It could be done; but the only reason for doing it is sufficiently clear.

It gave Hitler a chance to underscore to his own people the strangest remark he has ever made to them to assure them, not that victory was certain, but that defeat was impossible. In his war anniversary broadcast from Russia September 1st, he said the axis pact with the "majority of the peoples of the far east insured Germany against Russia and the Anglo-American fellowship."

Less than a month later he had urgent need, due to the Stalingrad stumbling block, to enlarge on that. The Tokyo report of Japanese naval cooperation in the Atlantic served that need, even if only one submarine was specifically mentioned. That explains Berlin's quick rebroadcast of the news for German ears.

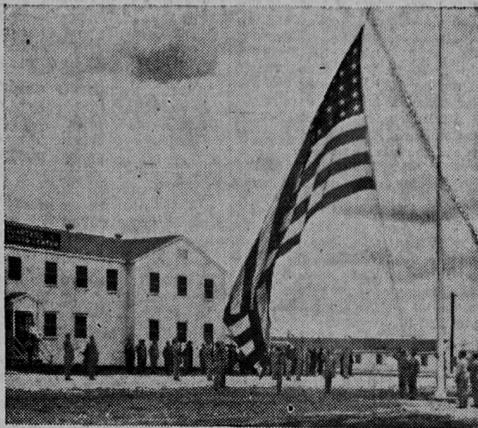

That is only one evidence of a back-fire in Nazi war-of-nerves technique, however. Even more impressive is the utter exaggeration Berlin has employed recently in claiming smashing successes against allied convoys in the Atlantic and the Arctic.

On the word of the British admiral who commanded that big Arctic convoy, now in Moscow, not only did a majority of its cargo craft win through a week-long attack by Nazi planes and submarines; but nearly three-score enemy planes were shot down. (A more conservative admiralty report said 40 planes were destroyed.)

No escorting allied surface war-craft was lost or seriously injured on the trip to Russia, the admiral said, although on the return journey a destroyer and minesweeper were lost.

A German wildcat radio voice, which Hitler's hard-fisted police have never been able to silence did more than confirm the Nazi plane loss. It alleged that as a result of it and other command failures in Norway a Nazi command for attacking Murmansk to choke off the Arctic supply route had collapsed.

Farm Canvass In Metal Drive Starts Tuesday

Local Jaycees to Aid County Scrap Group In Rural Campaign

Members of the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce, in cooperation with the Johnson county scrap metal committee headed by Jack White and Dale Welt, will meet at 8 a. m. Tuesday at the city scales to begin an intensive canvass of every farm in Johnson county in the search for scrap metal.

Coverage will be made on a mail-route basis, using as an index the reply cards sent in to the AAA office last week by county farmers. The cards were sent out by the scrap committee to all county farmers on the AAA mailing list in an effort to determine how much scrap is obtainable, where it is located and how it might be collected.

More than 600 farmers cooperated with the committee by immediately returning cards completely filled out with the desired information.

Trucks, used in the collections will be donated by Thompson Transfer, Nagle Lumber co., Iowa Water service, Randall Implement co., Capitol Implement co., Horabin Contracting Co., Maher Bros. transfer, the Iowa-Illinois gas and electric co., Hawkeye Lumber co., the Iowa highway commission and the city and county.

Farmers will be paid $8 a ton at the time of collection if the amount of scrap can be weighed at that time. Large amounts will be collected, weighed later, and a check will be sent out.

Collections will be made each succeeding Tuesday until the canvass is completed, Howard Jacobs, president of the junior chamber of commerce, said yesterday.

Walt announced yesterday that he has written to the Paper and Twine co., Grand Rapids, Mich., for paper containers which will be placed in Iowa City stores for the collection of old keys.

More than 48,000 pounds of scrap were sold this week to junk dealers by the university after a clean-up of the old Iowa field stadium, White disclosed yesterday. The steel has been stored since the stadium was torn down many years ago.

October 15 Deadline For Canning Sugar

A reminder that Oct. 15 will be the deadline for rationing of home canning sugar as well as for the filing of the dealers' quarterly inventory reports on stocks came yesterday from R. J. Phelps, chairman of the Johnson county rationing board.

The reports will cover stocks of tires and tubes and movements of stocks for the period ending Sept. 30.

Forms will be distributed directly from the OPA inventory unit in New York by mail to tire dealers, automobile dealers and finance corporations. Any dealer who fails to receive such a form may obtain it at the local rationing board office.

Closed Shop, Wage Increases Demanded For More Than 900,000 Railroad Workers

Ask for Wage Boosts Of 20 Cents an Hour With 70-Cent Minimum

CHICAGO (AP)—A closed shop and wage increases for more than 900,000 railroad workers were demanded of class 1 carriers yesterday by 15 brothers of non-operating personnel.

Notices of the demand, sent to railroad managements employing members of the brotherhoods, asked wage boosts of 20 cents an hour, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour.

Officials of the unions made no announcement of the demands but the movement was confirmed through representatives of management and labor who declined to be quoted. Leaders of the 15 unions and some 1,700 general chairmen conferred here last week and recessed without publicly discussing the meeting. The demands apparently were drafted at that time.

In past negotiations, including those of 1941 when wage increases were granted, 14 non-operating brotherhoods acted in concert. This group was augmented in the present by a 15th union, the hotel and restaurant employes international alliance and bartenders' international league of America, which represents dining car employees on some lines.

In the settlement of a threatened railroad strike a year ago non-operating employees were reported to have received increases of 9 cents an hour for the period from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1, 1941, and an additional cent an hour thereafter. They had been earning from 35 to 85 cents an hour and had asked raises ranging from 30 to 34 cents.

The present wage and working agreements can be changed only on 30 days notice. If conferences between management and labor fail to dispose of the issue, the proposals will be laid before the elaborate arbitration and mediation process set up under the national railway labor act.

Awards of WLB
The brotherhoods, it was reported, were encouraged to advance the closed shop proposal by recent awards of the war labor board directing certain individual corporations in other industries to place "union security" clauses into effect.

It was the first time in the history of the 14 non-operating groups that the put forth a closed shop damaged. Later in the day nine torpedo-bombers approached, but were driven off while still far from the convoy. Two of them fell into the sea. At dusk twelve more torpedo planes tried to attack, but again the naval fighters intercepted them and shot down six.

At dawn on Sept. 14 the U-boats went into action. Depth charges were dropped and in at least one case "air bubbles, oil and the wreckage of wooden gratings and some green vegetables came to the surface."

Early in the afternoon 22 torpedo bombers attacked. Next came a high level attack by 12 planes which lasted for about 75 minutes. Then 25 torpedo planes appeared. Five were shot down, 14 damaged and three others probably destroyed.

The next attack came on Sept. 15 when between 50 and 70 planes made high level and low level bombing attacks for three hours. Visibility was poor and only one of these planes was seen to crash. Just before the ships reached the Russian port 24 dive-bombers attacked from the air, on its homeward trip; but U-boats were active and got the Somali and the Leda.

There was no indication that the Nazi battleship Tirpitz or any other heavy surface craft joined the attack. Informed circles said the enemy losses claimed by the admiralty were probably conservative because of the difficulty of keeping count under varying weather conditions.
