F. D. R. Signs Inflation Bill

Reds Slaughter 1,600 Germans

Congress Rushes Revised Parity Measure Through Final Steps

Southern Setback Offset by New Advances North of Stalingrad

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, Saturday, (AP)—The red army punched more holes in the nazi flank northwest of Stalingrad yesterday, and bettered its positions in a building-to-building fight inside the ruined city which today entered its 40th day of historic siege.

A high command communique at midnight said the stoic Stalingrad garrison had killed 1,600 more Germans and destroyed or captured 153 nazi tanks in yesterday's operations which found the Russians suffering only a slight reverse south of the city.

There the Russians were said to have given up a wedge driven into the enemy's positions after 16 of the 50 tanks hurled against them had been destroyed.

In two sectors of the front northwest of Stalingrad the communique said the Russians did this:

Dislodged the Germans from a number of fortified points, including a hilltop; smashed seven enemy tanks, five guns, 14 machineguns, and wiped out about two companies (400 men) of enemy infantry; and captured 130 crippled German tanks which had been buried as stationary firing points.

In the city area itself the communique said the Russians beat off one heavy German assault in which 700 nazis and several tanks were destroyed in one sector. In another "our troops forged through, clearing individual buildings of the enemy."

"About one battalion (500 men) of German infantry was wiped out in street fighting," it added. These two actions apparently formed part of the red army's stiffened stand in the northwestern outskirts of Stalingrad where the Russians yesterday acknowledged a 200-yard German penetration.

In the Caucasus the Russians said their troops withdrew to new positions in a defensive fight east of Mzokok on the road to Grozny's oil fields, 50 miles away. The communique said more than two enemy infantry companies were wiped out and 19 tanks crippled or burned before the withdrawal.

Sink Enemy Submarine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy announced yesterday that a medium sized united nations merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine during the latter part of August in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America.

Wendell Willkie Now In Capital of China, Gets Royal Welcome

Plane Changes Course To Avoid Encounter With Enemy Aircraft

CHUNGKING (AP)—Wendell Willkie arrived in the capital of free China yesterday with a jovial quip for the danger of Japanese aerial attack so real at one time that his 4,000-mile flight across Asia from Russia was delayed by a roving enemy scout plane.

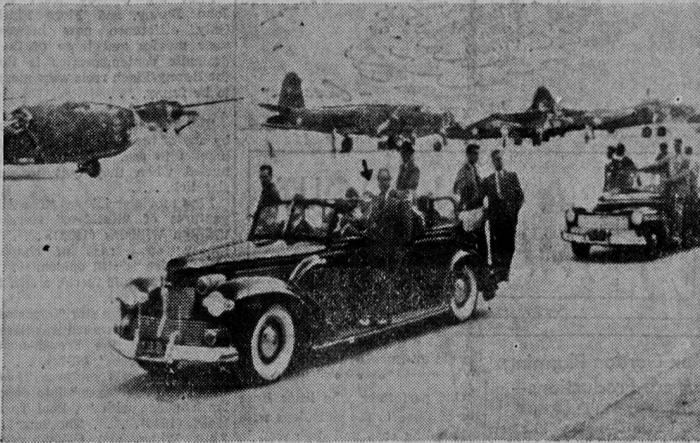

"There is more danger of my being killed by the kindness of the Chinese than by enemy bullets," he said. Avoid Enemy Plane Somewhere along the way from Kuibyshev, over wild and desolate country, his plane cut from its schedule to avoid the menace of an enemy plane. The plane's presence was not elaborated upon except for Willkie's statement that it was not encountered yesterday, and hence was not in the immediate vicinity of Chungking.

When Willkie stepped from his army transport plane named "Heavenly Mountain" there was not a Japanese plane in sight, although enemy aerial scouts had nosed curiously about Chungking for three days before his arrival. The Japanese completely missed the main show.

Great Welcome Willkie received the greatest welcome ever given a visitor to free China as he began his fact-finding mission for President Roosevelt on this nation's great sustained war effort now in its sixth year. Thousands of firecrackers gave a traditional Chinese greeting swelled by the voices of 10,000 persons at the airport.

Today, Willkie will see Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek whom he described as "one of the truly great men of the age."

F. D. R. INSPECTS BOMBERS AT WILLOW RUN PLANT

Americans Knock Out 18 Nazi Fighters in Mighty Aerial Punch

Shower Explosives On Nazi-Held Bases In Northern France

LONDON, Saturday, (AP)—U. S. bombers escorted by American and allied fighter planes delivered their mightiest punch of the war yesterday by shooting down 18 prize nazi fighters, 13 of them by flying fortress crews, and spraying explosives on three German held targets in northern France.

No Fortresses Lost Not a single flying fortress or Boston bomber was lost although six fighter planes were. One of the allied fighter pilots was reported safe in the joint communique issued by the U. S. army headquarters for the European theatre of operations and the British air ministry.

The "strong formations of U. S. army air forces" were escorted by "many squadrons" of the U. S. A. F., R.A.F., Canadian and allied fighters. Some reports said as many as 400 fighter planes accompanied the big American raiders.

Blast Meaulte Factory The Boeing Flying Fortresses unloaded their explosives on an air frame factory at Meaulte, and the airfield at St. Omer which is a strategic point on the Calais-Brussels railroad, while the Douglas Bostons showered explosives on the long docks at LeHavre to the south. "None of the bombers is missing," the communique said. "Eighteen enemy aircraft were destroyed, 13 of them by fortress crews. Six escorting fighters are missing, but the pilot of one is safe."

CITIZENS' DEFENSE CORPS

Citizens' defense corps members who have not had their fingerprints recorded at the Iowa City police station are urged to do so as soon as possible. To date, only 500 of the registered 1300 corps workers have done this.

Corps members are asked to fill out enrollment cards which can be obtained at any of the meetings.

Recent Pacific Raids Cost Japs Five Ships

U.S. Subs, Bombers Attack Supply Lines, Bases Near Aleutians

WASHINGTON (AP)—A toll of five Japanese ships sunk, four probably sunk and three damaged by submarines and army bombers in a recent series of highly successful raids on enemy bases and supply lines in the far Pacific was announced yesterday by the navy.

The bombers and their fighter escorts were credited also with shooting down six Japanese "zero" planes during the raids on enemy-held territories in America's western Aleutian islands.

The submarines made their kill in the western Pacific. A communique, which told nothing of the actions except the results, said the undersea raiders had sunk a large seaplane tender, a large passenger cargo ship, a large freighter and two medium-sized cargo ships; probably sunk two other medium-sized cargo ships, and damaged one large tanker.

The bag of American submarines in the Pacific mounted to 74 ships sunk, 19 probably sunk and 22 damaged.

Allied Desert Army Makes Preparations To Start 'Next Round'

Observers Forecast More Fierce Fighting As Winter Approaches

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery announced yesterday that his eighth army is preparing for the "next round" as the end of summer brought conviction among observers that coming autumn and winter will see a renewal of fierce, full-scale fighting over the brown, rocky ridges of North Africa.

Gen. Montgomery made his announcement after his troops, in a localized engagement, had pinched a German salient in the El Alamein line 80 miles west of Alexandria and after American four-motored bombers, striking deep into the axis supply system, raided shipping in the harbor of Ploos on the southeast coast of Greece.

The mammoth raiders—more than 200 of which, the Vichy radio said, recently have flown toward Mediterranean battlegrounds by way of Gibraltar—were said in a communique to have scored two direct hits on one supply merchantman yesterday and a large number of near misses on others.

One German Messerschmitt fighting plane which rose to beat off the attack was sent off smoking while "Italian fighters, trailing into the aerial attack, took a look at the Messerschmitt, made a feeble pass at the formation and disappeared," the communique added.

The dawn thrust Wednesday by British forces erased a wedge around the Bir el Munassib depression near the center of the El Alamein line which had existed since German Marshal Erwin Rommel made his abortive thrust the first week of September.

The British thus gained fairly high ground around the lip of the depression, but British sources emphasized that its value should not be overestimated.

Ward Roland Injured By Passing Automobile

Ward Roland of West Lucas received slight lacerations and probable fractures when he fell off his horse into the path of an oncoming automobile last night on route 1 southwest of Iowa City.

It is believed that Roland, who is about 60 years of age, lost control of the horse near the Mort Davis farm. He was taken to University hospital.

Swift Action Answers Presidential Request to Hold Current Inflationary Trend in Check; Finale One Day Late

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Surrounded by congressional leaders and intimate advisers, President Roosevelt last night signed the anti-inflation bill giving him broad authority to stabilize prices, wages and salaries.

The White House announced shortly afterward that an executive order in connection with the measure would be signed and issued today.

The bill, which had been rushed through the last stages of congressional consideration during the day, was delivered at the White House about 8:30 p. m. The president immediately began a discussion of the measure with a group of congressional leaders and other officials who assembled to see it signed into law. The chief executive affixed his signature at 10:15.

Moulded into its final form during the day by a senate-house conference committee, the measure passed the house on a vote 257 to 22. It was rushed at once to the senate and after a brief debate that chamber, by a voice vote, added its approval.

On motion of democratic leader Barkley (Ky), the senate authorized Vice-president Wallace to sign a copy of the bill so that it went to the White House last night for Mr. Roosevelt's signature.

Swift moves by the president were believed in prospect in view of the fact that in asking for the bill, he said that unless new controls were exercised, he could not hold the inflationary trend in check longer than October 1.

Congress' final action came one day later than that deadline, and was reached only after a vehement controversy over standards governing the establishment of prices on farm commodities. This ended in a compromise, however, and yesterday's mild discussion of the bill was in marked contrast with the ruffled tempers and frayed nerves that accompanied the earlier stages of its consideration.

In general the bill directs the president to issue an order stabilizing wages, prices and salaries by Nov. 1.

If the farm prices thus established fail to reflect the increase in the cost of farm labor and other agricultural expenses since January 1, 1941, they must be adjusted accordingly.

To provide a floor below which farm prices may not drop, the bill calls for government crop loans and purchases at 90 percent of parity, instead of the present 85 percent.

NOTICE TO IOWA CITY SUBSCRIBERS Iowa City subscribers who fail to receive their copies of The Daily Iowan at the regular delivery time should call 4191 before 8:30 a. m.

When calls are received by that hour or earlier the paper will be delivered that same morning. War time restrictions on delivery service make it necessary to limit this special delivery to this one trip at this one time.

President Roosevelt Takes Secret Swing Around Nation's Booming War Factories

At Chrysler's Detroit tank arsenal the president views production in the company of Donald Nelson, left, chief of the War Production Board; K. T. Keller (head turned), head of the Chrysler corporation, and Mrs. Roosevelt.

At Allis-Chalmers in Milwaukee the president watches women working on giant armatures. Seated next to him is Wisconsin's governor, Julius Heil. Walter Geist, president of Allis-Chalmers, sits in front of F. D. R.

At Ford's mammoth Willow Run bomber plant near Detroit, President Roosevelt watches planes being built on moving assembly lines. Seated next to the president is Henry Ford, chief engineer of the plant. Charles Sorenson, accompanies them.

Essay on House Cleaning

The government and the people of the United States at the present time seem to be completely cowed under a welter of catchwords and significant slogans.

Supporting the British people should not imply that we are also pledged to the unequivocal confirmation of everything their government does.

We simply ask ourselves, "Are the aims and policies of our ally's cabinet calculated to win the war and earn the peace?"

When we ask these questions, are we "splitting the Allied war effort?" On the contrary, we Americans believe that every day that goes by in which we countenance the inefficiency and muddling of our leaders, is another day given over to "aid to the enemy."

And while we are examining our own pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists and new order collaborators, we might also cast a glass stare or two at the British roster.

Sir Samuel Hoare, now ambassador to Portugal, is the gentleman who, in cooperation with Pierre Laval of Vichy fame, negotiated the notoriously unpopular treaty giving Italy Abyssinia without a fight.

And when we get around to India, we are reminded that a former subaltern in Indian cavalry, Winston Churchill (Life of a Bengal Lancer) in 1937 felt that independence for India was an impossibility in any period that he could foresee.

Because so much of the war depends in part upon the actions of these men, we are forced to consider THEIR records as carefully as our own congressmen who shortly come up for reelection.

If we are dissatisfied because Indian leaders are in prison and India remains a liability instead of an asset to the united nations; if we feel that the war has taken some disastrous turns and that the United States has not been granted political control over certain areas in which she is vitally concerned in a military way, we must take comfort from the hope that, ultimately, the English and American peoples will scrutinize their leaders, both in and out of office, and eliminate the undesirables in all camps.

Further, we can depend on it that the time will come when our great democracy will begin to exert political pressure on the British cabinet commensurate to our tremendous military and industrial might.

A Botanist's Paradise

Samoa and Tahiti suggest to the weary traveler soft voices, luscious fruits, flowers of indescribable hues, roaring surf, and whispering palms.

Without any publicity, the Japs recently have edged their way further south in the Gilbert islands.

Their attacks on our positions in the Solomons are continuing actions and cannot be assumed to have ceased, even though you may not hear of them.

There is no reason why MacArthur's new campaign to roll them back through the Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea should not be successful.

But these three points of Japanese activity (the Gilberts, Solomons, and New Guinea) are not large enough to account for the withdrawals made in China in preparation for some promised major offensive. That is still coming.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Hitler Pays an Extravagant Price For the Nazis Bubble of Prestige

WASHINGTON — At Stalingrad Hitler committed himself to pay an extravagant price for a bauble of prestige.

The city was ruined by his dive bombers at the outset. Early he reached and cut the Volga river artery of red commerce on both sides of the city, thereby attaining the main military objective in this sector.

But the Russians have used the crumbled city ruins as barricades, strong Las Lany ifort. His planes became useless for such close in-fighting. His tanks could only be used in twos and threes to chase snipers along devastated streets.

Thus he has had to sacrifice ground troops heavily to win street by street, day after day.

If the Russians could muster any kind of an offensive along the east-west line between the Volga and Don, north of the city, they could even yet break the back of the Stalingrad attack.

They called in some reserves from western Siberia, and threw them into this flank attack, but they were not able to break through. The truth seems to be the Russians are better equipped materially and psychologically for the kind of last ditch hand-to-hand defensive grappling of Stalingrad than they are for offensive operations.

But Hitler's losses in Stalingrad must be measured far beyond the casualties which the Russians are daily claiming.

All his bragging cannot conceal the fact that he has not yet obtained his oil. His commitment at Stalingrad prevented him from shifting enough troops down south to grab the prize Baku.

It also kept Rommel from getting the planes to develop his recent unexpected advantage on the Alamein line in Egypt.

Furthermore, he has forced himself to keep his Russian drives fully manned, with winter coming on, and cannot send badly needed reinforcements (particularly planes) to the western front or to Rommel.

Mister Hitler can certainly pin no nazi medals on his breast for what he got himself into at Stalingrad.

Therefore, while the news from that front has been repetitious, canned, and, consequently, somewhat dull, the broader facts of the situation are not wholly unfavorable.

German Moves on Laval, Seeking Ships Again

Hitler is pinching Laval again, and it looks like 30 or 40 French cargo ships in the Mediterranean will one of these days fall suddenly into German hands.

This sounds like Berlin is planning to reinforce Rommel for another major Egyptian drive during the winter.

The British think they have positive proof that German production has fallen off recently, despite what Goebbels said in the sports palace. Retooling operations and the shortage of labor are responsible.

The retooling is probably a forecast that we can expect some innovations in planes, tanks and big guns. A couple of new German plane types already have appeared.

Hitler expects to have 3,000,000 workers from occupied countries in the factories of Germany by the end of this year.

Japanese Are Still Crowding Siberian Border

The Japs are still perched in full force on the Siberian border. While the ideal season for a sudden Jap declaration of war on Russia is nearing an end, a fall campaign there is still a very live prospect.

Recently, Tokyo has been spreading rumors, indirectly, that she has been trying to effect peace between Russia and Germany, thereby implying she does not intend to attack Vladivostok. No one believes such diplomatic feinting these days.

Without any publicity, the Japs recently have edged their way further south in the Gilbert islands.

Their attacks on our positions in the Solomons are continuing actions and cannot be assumed to have ceased, even though you may not hear of them.

There is no reason why MacArthur's new campaign to roll them back through the Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea should not be successful.

Reforming for Coming Events

Thus on all the world fighting fronts, the battle lines are reforming for coming events. The news from them has been stereotyped in recent weeks. Especially from Moscow and Berlin where news is regarded as a diplomatic weapon.

Max Gordon Planning 4 More Productions

NEW YORK—Looks like an even busier season than supposed for Max Gordon, who already has "My Sister Eileen" and "Junior Miss" humming along. He will bring four other productions to Broadway.

Our nature item of the week concerns Lucy, a 2-year old Australian terrier who is very used to going up and coming down (safely) in planes piloted by members of the late Flying Tigers.

During a press conference Lucy escaped to the corridors and spent a busy twenty minutes going up and down in the elevators, to the considerable alarm of a couple of housemaids, who were after her.

HOLLYWOOD NIGHTS SOUNDS

Cooperative Enterprise Holds With Favorites—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Famous movie firsts

The first screen kiss was a cooperative enterprise between Broadway favorites May Irwin and John C. Rice. It made a sensational feature, running 50 feet, entirely devoted to that historic smack. The year, 1896

This Rice-Irwin kiss was probably also the first close-up, though D. W. Griffith later became the daddy of this innovation by using it dramatically

First big comedy team was John Bunny and Flora Finch. Only difference now between their movies and those of their dramatic contemporaries is that the Bunny-Finch reels were meant to be funny

The first custard pie was thrown by any of the old-time comics you happen to ask. The last will be hurled when they quit making slapstick

First movie serial was "The Adventures of "Kathlyn," starring Kathryn Williams (1913)

First big foreign star "imported" to the American screen was Sarah Bernhardt—in the French-made "Queen Elizabeth" (1912)

First famous vamp was Theda Bara, who put "vamp" into popular language with "A Fool There Was" (1915)

The first movie to be sent out with a complete musical score (for orchestra) was "The Birth of a Nation" (1914)

First grapefruit ever pushed in a lady's face on the screen was in James Cagney's hands in "The Public Enemy" (1931)

The first "foreigners" to achieve lasting flicker fame were Canada's Mary Pickford, England's Charlie Chaplin

The first movie with a story was "The Great Train Robbery" (1903) and it also had the first movie "chase," progenitor of thousands since

Plan Fraternity Pledge Council

Inter-Fraternity Unit To Coordinate Spirit Between Greek Groups

The strengthening of the fraternity system in the university will be the foremost aim of the new inter-fraternity pledge council, pledge presidents and representatives decided at their first meeting of the new academic year.

Although the pledge council functioned in an informal, off-the-record manner last year, this is the first year it has been a formal, official organization. Dick Chadima and Bob Lundquist served as temporary chairman and secretary at this first meeting this week.

Secondary Aims

Four selected secondary points under the prime aim are: to do away with inter-fraternity friction, to help new fraternity men make valuable contacts, to promote good scholarships, and to provide understandable information to new pledges about what a fraternity is and what it stands for.

Fundamental steps have been taken to formulate the council's by-laws, which will closely parallel those used by the inter-fraternity council. Present planning will make the brother organizations closely coordinated in thought and spirit, but independent in action.

Exchange Dinners

Exchange dinners between different fraternity pledge groups will be given once every two weeks. One all-pledge function is going to be planned for later in the year and a scholarship trophy will be presented to the pledge group making the most significant academic achievements for the year.

The exchange dinner committee is composed of Merle Smith, Bill Walsh and Harold Kridler. Dick Chadima, Art Daley, Lige Hollingshead and Martin Drolner make up the by-law committee.

Among Iowa City People

Mr. and Mrs. Cash Croff of Toppenish, Wash., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. W. Clearman, 1029 E. Bowers, for the past week. They will return next week after spending a few days in Davenport.

Scrap Front 50-Year Old Fence To Be Donated

William J. Holub, proprietor of the Holub apartments, 312 N. Linn, is tearing down the antiquated iron fence which has stood by that building for more than 50 years. He will donate it to the scrap metal campaign.

The fence, which Holub estimates will weigh more than a ton, has been standing almost as long as the apartment building, a south section of which was built on the corner of Linn and Blooming by Holub's grandfather in 1875. The three-story north section was constructed seven years later in 1882 and at that time was called the National hotel. The building has always been used for living quarters.

Holub, with sledge and chisel, spent a full afternoon dismantling the fence because, as he pointed out, "It has stood so long I didn't want anyone else to take it down."

Members of The Daily Iowan staff will collect scrap tomorrow morning, starting at 8 o'clock. Iowa Citizens are urged to place whatever scrap they have to contribute on their front parkings and Daily Iowan trucks crews will pick it up. THIS IS ONE MAN'S CONTRIBUTION. WHAT'S YOURS?

British War Slogan—It's Waste to Waste Waste

—Takes on U.S. Meaning

Metal salvage, waste paper campaigns, saving food scraps—none of these terms are new to the British. Saving every letter, post card and cigarette packet has become second nature to them. For three years they have lived by the slogan, "It's waste to waste waste." They consider it their duty as citizens to waste nothing, and they are amazed by the high pressure salvage campaign necessary in the United States to interest the people in the value of salvage.

Rex Whitworth, M3, left his home in Manchester, England, 11 weeks ago. He and 27 other young men had received Rockefeller scholarships to study medicine in American universities. In an interview for The Daily Iowan he told of the scrap collection in his country.

"Even so much as throwing away a tram ticket is considered a public offense punishable by a fine of 100 pounds," he said. As he spoke he gazed out the window at a grove of trees near the Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity house. It was littered with papers, tin cans and other scraps, typical of vacant lots all over the American countryside.

In Great Britain parks and streets are free from the most minute scrap of paper. Throughout the island can be found special receptacles for paper, and boy scouts and girl guides comb the countryside for tin scraps.

Offices are compelled to turn over their old files, ledgers and record books to be used by the British to make shells and cartridge cases.

Fences, Statues Sacrificed

When in England, Whitworth was a student at Cambridge university. There the biggest drive was the removal of iron railings around the gardens and parks, but the wrought iron gates were left standing. He told of the war relics which have been taken from the parks and historic statues which have been torn down. Lamp post casings have literally stripped of metal accessories.

All the bombed areas are cleaned to salvage every bit of usable material. In the salvage campaign last year enough metal was salvaged in Great Britain to build 10 destroyers, 10,000 tanks and 10,000 guns.

To conserve metal, toothpaste tubes are now made of compressed paper, and bobby pins (or "Kirby grips" as he called them) are

Rev. L. L. Dunnington Believes Russia to Be Christendom's Savior

"It is paradoxical that atheistic Russia is the savior of all Christendom today," declared the Rev. L. L. Dunnington, pastor of the First Methodist church, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Masonic Service club yesterday.

When the war is over, things will not be all sweetness and light," he warned. Russia is as totalitarian as Germany, and we must not forget that fact, even though Russia is our best friend in the world today.

There will be eventual conflict between Russia and the democracies, he feels, because the two ways of life are diametrically opposed.

University Scottish Lassies to Turn Nautical, To Don Sailor Togs for Game Performance

It will be a true sailors' holiday in Iowa stadium Saturday afternoon when Iowa's football team meets the navy, but the Scottish Highlanders of the university will be out to see to it that the men in Uncle Sam's forces aren't the only ones in uniform at the game.

Featured in a sailor's hornpipe will be the three feminine "gobs" shown above: Laura Dempster, A4 of Iowa City; Ruth J. Anthony, A3 of Waterbury, Conn., and Dorothy Rankin, A3 of Iowa City.

Selected by Pipe Major William L. Adamson, the sailorettes are members of the 15 dancing lassies of the Scottish Highlanders. The dancers will appear with the Highlanders at this afternoon's game for the first time this season.

Entering from the south end of the stadium the Highlanders will swing down the field playing the "Marine Hymn" at the half-time intermission. With the Highlander unit forming a square "stage," the three dancers will perform the hornpipe with accompaniment by the university marching band.

Presented for the first time during last year's football season, the dance routine proved so popular that it is being repeated again with the same performers.
