Marines Hold Ground On Guadalcanal; Japs Land Reinforcements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle for the Solomons continues with savage ground clashes and mounting destruction of enemy planes, the navy reported yesterday, while army bombers, operating from new bases in the Aleutians and favored by weather, have stepped up their hammering attacks on the Japs at Kiska.

The marines are maintaining their positions on Guadalcanal in the Solomons, said a communique, and frequent short engagements between the opposing ground forces have made no important changes in the lines. However, despite hard-hitting American air attacks, the Japanese have succeeded in landing small reinforcements for their troops on the island.

Navy communique reported yesterday that:

(1) American fliers in the Solomons during four days of widespread action last week damaged an enemy destroyer, shot down 10 enemy aircraft and damaged two others, with no American losses reported. This brought the total of Japanese planes destroyed in the Solomons to date to 229, and the enemy also has suffered 29 ships sunk or damaged there.

(2) The drive aimed at dislodging the Japanese from their western Aleutian footholds, marked last Saturday by announcement that American forces had occupied the Andreanof group between Kiska and Dutch Harbor, has had the rare luck of good weather.

Raids against the enemy have occurred almost daily, with five enemy seaplanes shot down last Friday and direct explosive and incendiary hits scored Thursday and Friday on the Kiska camp and seaplane hangar.

The stepped-up operations in the Aleutians appeared to be a major thrust to the Japanese at Kiska, where no adequate airfield exists for the operation of land-based planes. The Japanese may have developed flight strips or other limited facilities for a small number of fighter planes, but for the most part their aerial defense has been conducted by limited numbers of comparatively slow flying boats and fighter planes equipped with machine guns.

Establishment of advanced bases by the army in the Andreanof group marked the first large-scale move toward eventual elimination of the Japanese positions in the Aleutians since the enemy first occupied Kiska, Adak and Agattu islands in June. So far, the officially reported toll of Japanese ships in the Aleutians is 38 sunk or damaged by air attack and submarine.

In the Solomons, the navy reported, a small force of enemy bombers attempted a raid last Tuesday on the American positions on Guadalcanal, but interceptors shot down four of the large escort of Japanese fighter planes, and forced the bombers to jettison their explosives before they reached their target.

Production Battle Won, Green Informs AFL Convention at Toronto

TORONTO (AP)—President William Green told a cheering American Federation of Labor convention at its opening session yesterday that America's workers have won the battle of production and its armies soon would be ready to strike and win.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a call for unity in the fight against inflation, James F. Byrnes took over the post of economic stabilization director yesterday amid pledges of support from leaders of labor, industry and agriculture generally.

At the same time the office of price administration moved swiftly to stabilize rents at March 1 levels in areas where they were not already controlled and to freeze retail food prices pending the imposition of permanent ceilings.

Action Pending

Still awaited was its action to control the price of livestock, grains and other farm commodities and Byrnes' directives, presumably through the war labor board, for enforcement of the wage and salary stabilization which the act and President Roosevelt's order directed.

Byrnes, who had resigned from the supreme court Saturday, moved out of his office there during the forenoon and took over his new desk in the "left wing" as he called it, of the White House. His activities there for the rest of the day were not made public.

Newsreel Chat

In moving from the court Byrnes spoke briefly for the newsreels, saying:

"In time of peace I would not resign from the supreme court of the United States to accept any office. In the situation now confronting the nation I would not decline to serve wherever the commander-in-chief requests."

F.R. Urges Donations For Community Chest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urging his fellow Americans to transform some of their "new buying power into giving power," President Roosevelt declared last night that donations to community and war chests would "affirm before the world our nation's faith in the inalienable right of every man to a life of freedom, justice and decent security."

He spoke in a radio program launching the 1942 community mobilization for human needs.

'IOWAN' COLLECTS 43,960 POUNDS OF SCRAP FOR VICTORY

A section of the scrap yards, located between Iowa City and Coralville on highway 6, where Daily Iowan collectors disposed of the metal and rubber gathered in Sunday's drive, is pictured above. Canvassing the entire community with four trucks, 21 members of The Iowan staff accumulated 43,960 pounds of scrap. The drive, which according to original calculations was to be terminated by noon, started at 8:30 a.m. and the last load was dumped at the scrap yards at approximately 9 p.m. Credit for the success of the drive should be given to the hundreds of patriotic and cooperative Iowa Citizens who gave more than freely of their time and energy in order to make their contributions available to Daily Iowan collectors. This campaign was part of a nationwide effort on the part of newspapers to accumulate "scrap for victory." The Daily Iowan will donate the money which was netted from the sale of the scrap to the Johnson county united service organization and the University of Iowa's Phoenix fund. See page 6.

Six Billion Additional in Taxes Will Be Asked For by Treasury

Morgenthau Declares 30 Billion Minimum Needed During War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced yesterday that the treasury will ask congress for another tax bill "of at least $6,000,000,000 and possibly much more" as soon as congress passes the pending tax measure.

Morgenthau said that the treasury believed it must have a "minimum of $30,000,000,000 a year revenue to operate during the war and the pending measure, added to existing taxes, will give us only about $24,000,000,000 a year.

under present business conditions while the potential return from the pending tax bill—reported to the senate today by its finance committee—is a matter of dispute. Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee has predicted the measure reported to the senate would add $9,672,000,000 to the treasury's annual collections with $1,772,000,000 of this to be returned to taxpayers in rebates. However, the treasury's estimates of the yield have been lower.

He made the statement at a press conference, but declined to forecast what kind of additional taxes the treasury has in mind. Current taxes are estimated to

Fifth U.S. Sub Lost In Pacific, 2 More Overdue, Navy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The loss of the fifth American submarine since the start of the war was reported today by the navy in an announcement that the 1,526-ton Grunion was so long overdue that it must be presumed lost in the Pacific.

The Grunion was launched at Groton, Conn., two weeks after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. She was commanded by Lieut. Commr. Mannert L. Abele of Quincy, Mass.

Aussies Push Ahead 3 Miles in New Guinea

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Tuesday (AP)—Australian jungle troops, still without opposition, have cleaned up the area around Kagi, last village south of the mile-high gap in the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea, and are continuing to ward the gap, a communique said today.

The occupation of Kagi, which is about four miles from the pass, represents a gain of about three miles from the village of Efofi which fell Saturday.

U. S. 'Fortress' Outfights 40 of Goering's Best

By WES GALLAGHER
WITH THE UNITED STATES FLYING FORTRESS COMMAND, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (AP)—Picture yourself in a Flying Fortress more than five miles above France in this predicament: Forty of Goering's best fighters—Focke Wulf-190's—are attacking; two of your motors are out of commission, three shell holes are in the rudder and three more in the stabilizer, half the controls are shot away, a big anti aircraft shell hole in a wing, landing gear is smashed and more than 200 holes are in the fuselage.

What would you do? The courageous crew of a Flying Fortress named "Phyllis" faced this predicament and, depending upon American airplane building genius and their own skill, they fluttered home battered but intact to tell the story of one of the war's epic flights.

27. of Muskegon, Mich. Sergeants: waist gunner, Herbert M. Peterson, 21, of Des Moines; upper turret gunner, Thomas J. Coburn, Jr., 22, of Forty Fort, Pa.; ball turret, Ralph L. Sheeder, 23, of Six Mile Run, Pa.; tail gunner, Bent Taucher, 20, of Rock Springs, Wyo.; radio gunners, Arthur N. Bouthillier, 22, of Westcott, R. I., Walter Purcell, 20, Kingston, Wash.

New Recruits All of the crewmen are fresh from civilian life. By coincidence both pilot and co-pilot were attorneys and the bombardier a law student. The navigator was a questioner for an American polling organization before joining the air corps while the gunners included a coal miner, an artist and a printer.

Here is the story in the crew's own words as they ate a midnight supper at their home airfield after returning from a remote airdrome where they made a crash landing: "We had just crossed the target when the trouble started," Paine, a lean and angular Georgian, said. "I suddenly heard shouts from every quarter of the plane 'Here they come!' and then about 40 FW-190's, including some from Goering's yellow nose squadron, jumped us."

Swarmed In The Germans swarmed to the attack from all sides. Bouthillier lost his oxygen mask and a 20 millimeter cannon shell cut Purcell's oxygen tube. Both fell unconscious. "At the same time two cannon shells knocked one motor out of commission" and Phyllis started losing her place in the formation. The Germans then swept in for what they thought would be the kill.

wing, three cannon shells tore a big chunk out of the rudder over Taucher's head and three more shells smashed into the right stabilizer. Taucher said he was too busy shooting at the Germans to notice that anything had happened but when he landed he found bullet holes were only three inches from the place where his head had been.

A burst of cannon fire inside the plane severed some of the controls and Paine and Long began a frantic fight to keep the ship under control. "The ship's nose wouldn't go down," Paine said. "We had to stand up in our seat and push forward with all our might. Slowly the ship nosed down. Wall of Flak "We were near the coast by now and I could see a solid wall of flak. We could do nothing but sail into it and through it over the channel." Meanwhile a German fighter got a direct hit on the upper turret with a cannon shell.

"I saw the coast of England ahead and started down into a long dive. We finally lost the fighters in mid-channel," Long, a slight, 140-pounder, said. "It must have driven those Germans crazy to see how they poured fire into us and still we stayed in the air," Long said.

Thomson plotted the nearest airfield and Paine headed for it. An alert British civilian observer spotted the condition of the Fortress and had all fields in the area cleared. The nearest airdrome was a small one used by Mustang fighters in the RAF and was much too small for a Fortress to land. Able only to turn to the right, and but kept firing until he collapsed unconscious between the two pilots. Upon reaching the channel another of the Fortress' motors gave out and once the plane got out of the anti-aircraft fire the German fighters jumped to the attack again. In the ball turret Sheeder was injured slightly as was waist gunner Peterson but both stuck to their guns.

Reds Better Positions In One Area, Report No New Enemy Gains

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Tuesday (AP)—The Germans have begun another huge drive in the northwestern suburbs of Stalingrad, hurling three infantry divisions, 100 tanks, and many dive-bombers against Soviet troops who "repulsed numerous enemy attacks," the red high command reported today at the beginning of the seventh week of siege.

The Germans were acknowledged in yesterday's mid-day communique to have advanced slightly in this heavy fight raging in a workers' settlement, but the midnight bulletin did not concede any fresh German gains.

Improve Positions

Above Stalingrad the red army was reported officially to have improved its positions in a relief offensive against the extended Nazi flank.

The swaying battle in the northwestern suburbs of the Volga river city was said to have cost the Germans another 1,500 men and 14 tanks, but the Russians continued to emphasize Nazi strength in the penetrated area.

The Nazi siege army, estimated at 400,000 men, had turned much of its thwarted fury toward the northwestern section, apparently. There were no fresh reports of heavy action elsewhere in the city's streets.

Red defenses in the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus were reported holding generally. One Soviet unit there was credited in the midnight communique with killing 600 Nazis and destroying 12 tanks in one day's fight at an unnamed inhabited locality.

The Moscow radio reported last night that Russian troops had made a seven-mile gain on one sector of the western front, presumably the Rzhev area, and had captured an important height.

Sink Transport

In the Baltic Soviet warships were declared to have sunk a 10,000-ton enemy transport.

The Germans still were employing hundreds of airplanes in an effort to crush red troops fighting amid the ruins of Stalingrad.

More and more German reserves, in excess of the 35 divisions now reported fighting on the Stalingrad front, were swarming along what the Russians call "the road of the dead" to the city. Two infantry divisions and one tank division have been newly reported in action. U.S. military officials here estimate these German divisions at anywhere from 9,000 to 15,000 men each.

(Monday's German high command communique said German infantry and tank formations "took further parts of the northern district" of Stalingrad in hard street fighting.)

Reinforce Caucasus Push

Coincident with their new massing of reserves at Stalingrad, the Germans were moving fresh troops over their extended communications in the deep Caucasus for still another attempt to envelop the area south of the river Terek or east of Mozdok and thus reach the Grozny oil fields.

The same preparations may be in progress southeast of Novorossisk on the Black sea coast, where the Germans are also stopped.

Use Council Chambers For Room to Make Surgical Dressings

The Red Cross surgical dressing room, which has been converted from the south half of the council chambers in the city hall, opened yesterday with about 17 women reporting for work.

St. Louis Takes

Kurowski's Homer Wins for Cardinals

By JUDSON BAILEY

YANKEE STADIUM, New York (AP)—The unconquerable St. Louis Cardinals swept over the New York Yankees, 4 to 2, yesterday and into the world's championship of baseball as George (Whitey) Kurowski capitalized their indomitable spirit with a two-run ninth inning homer for their fourth straight victory in the five-game 1942 world series.

It took a mighty battle to make the renowned Yankees drop their first world series since another Cardinal club turned the trick in 1926, but the ripping, roaring Redbirds convinced a great crowd of 69,052 fans that they were made of the stuff of champions.

After winning three consecutive games with a show of dazzling speed, the Cardinals crushed the Bronx Bombers yesterday at their own game—homer hitting—although they also continued their reckless running and received a wonderfully pitched seventh-inning game from lean and confident Johnny Beazley, the 23-year-old rookie who also won the second game of the series at St. Louis.

The climax came in the low hung dusk with visibility so poor that many of the fans in the huge concrete arena were unable to see where Kurowski's tremendous fly landed, but they could see Left-fielder Charley Keller of the Yankees go tumbling head first over the low wall and into the front seats in an unavailing effort to reach the ball. They also could see Walker Cooper and Kurowski trotting around the bases with the runs that ended New York's long domination of the world series play.

Cooper, whose hitting and catching throughout the series had been nothing less than superb, opened the ninth with a sharp single to right-center and was sacrificed to second.

Charley (Red) Ruffing, the old Yankee wheelhorse who pitched hitless ball for 7 2/3 innings in the opener at St. Louis, striking out Kurowski three times and getting credit for New York's only triumph of the series, then went to work carefully on the tow-headed rookie third baseman from Reading, Pa.

Kurowski Pastes One

He got the count to one and one and served up a half-speed pitch that must have hung exactly where Kurowski wanted it, because he took a lusty swing and the ball made one big arc into the lower stands.

It was a knock-out and everyone knew it, although the Yankees got two men on base with none out in their final chance. The Cardinals responded to this threat with typical stamina. Joe Gordon opened with a single and Second Baseman Jimmy Brown fumbled an easy roller by Bill Dickey. However, Gordon was picked off second on a beautiful throw by Cooper. Brown redeemed himself by running onto the grass to scoop up a blooper by Gerry Priddy and then Brown threw out pinch-hitter George Selkirk for the final out as the crowd rose into demonstration that hardly could have been louder or more appreciative if it had been at Sportsman's park in St. Louis.

The defeat was the Yankees' first in nine world series since 1926 and also the first time that any one pitcher had beaten them twice in a series since Jess Haines and old Grover Cleveland Alexander each accomplished that assignment in '26.

Beazley, cool and calm as an iceberg, was tagged for a home run by little Phil Rizzuto the first time he took his bat off his shoulder in leading off for New York in the first inning. But it didn't faze the sensational young right-hander, who won 21 games in the National league this season, and he didn't get rattled either when the Yanks made explosive gestures in the fourth and fifth frames.

Now They'll Give You A Laugh for $10,000—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The Case of the 13 Walking Corpses—now there's a title for a mystery chiller! It's not a gruesome story. It's the story of the most expensive single laugh on the Broadway stage, one that has cost the producers of "Arsenic and Old Lace" more than $10,000 since the Broadway production and road companies opened in January of 1941.

The mystery comedy, you know, deals with 13 elderly gentlemen put out of their misery with poisoned elderberry wine by two warm-hearted spinsters. Just for a last laugh at the final curtain calls, the 13 dead men referred to throughout the action prance out spryly and take a bow.

To a Britisher, just off the boat, dimly lit New York is a bright and wonderful place—not because of neglected lights which shine casually from hotel windows, but for something we take for granted—food.

The other night I sat across a checkered table cloth from two young British officers. One had been in New York for a fortnight (they still say that), the other was only three hours off his ship. We were exchanging observations on the way the English laugh in contrast to Americans, when the new arrival suddenly sat upright. He actually seemed surprised. He was pointing to

Bierman, Fritz Crisler Renew Rivalry in Ann Arbor Saturday

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Like the indestructible fire-fir of fable, Bernie Bierman returns to the University of Michigan football stadium this week to plague Coach Fritz Crisler.

For the last eight seasons, while iron-haired Bernie was a dealer in gridiron magic at the University of Minnesota, Bierman eleven years humiliated Michigan. Crisler came to Michigan in 1938 and since then has lost only five games in four seasons. Four of these defeats, one per season, were administered by Minnesota.

Bierman's hex alone poisoned Crisler's almost-perfect record in Ann Arbor. It has cost the Wolverines three Big Ten championships.

It was not strange, then, that the Wolverine coaching staff greeted this season with anticipation when the Gopher mentor returned to the marines and became Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman.

But that was before Michigan scheduled the Iowa pre-flight training cadets and before Bierman had been assigned to manage the Seahawks gridiron affairs.

Now it has to be done all over again. Bierman's undefeated Cadets clash with unbeaten Michigan this Saturday. Again it's Bernie versus Fritz: the Wolverines against their old nemesis.

The contest is almost certain to have a bearing on the mythical national championship, held in 1941 by Bierman's undefeated Minnesota eleven. The Seahawks have crushed Kansas, 61-0, and turned back powerful Northwestern and Minnesota by scores of 20-12 and 7-6.

Michigan has played but twice, defeating Great Lakes naval training station, 9-0, and walloping Michigan State, 20-0. Bierman has a heavy line, deep with reserve strength and plenty of backs.

The Wolverines are lighter, weak in substitutes but probably faster.

Masterson injured

The Hawkeye center situation, which has been hindered by injuries since Iowa's opener, is again hit with Forrest Masterson, sophomore pivot man, out of action with a severe knee injury. Tom Hand named game captain for Saturday's game with Camp Grant, yesterday took over Masterson's centering duties. Center Bob Lauterbach, hurt in the Hawks' first game, is still on the sidelines working out in sweat clothes.

Meanwhile the Hawkeyes are preparing for another invasion of big and experienced football players when they meet the rugged soldiers from Camp Grant here Saturday. Saturday's game will be the last non-conference contest for the Hawks, the league opener being a Oct's day tilt with Illinois here Dad. 17.

Camp Grant has won two of four games since it opened the season Aug. 22. The Chicago Bears took the opener, 32-6, but the Warriors conquered the semi-pro Milwaukee Falks, 22-0.

The soldiers bowed to Wisconsin, 7-0, Sept. 19 after the Badgers recovered a fumble deep in Camp Grant territory, and last Saturday Grant took Northern Illinois State Teachers of DeKalb, 43-0.

Official Statistics

Official statistics for the first three Iowa games give the Hawks an edge in several departments. In passing it is 398 yards to 135, and in return of kicks, 225 to 189. Iowa has 53 points to its foes' 32, but trails in first downs, 30 to 31, and in net yards by rushing, 353 to 415.

Bluehawks to Meet Monticello Gridders

Prepare for Second Loop Victory, Entire Team in Good Shape

Off to a good start in the conference race, University high's Bluehawks yesterday looked toward their second loops foe as they prepare to meet the Monticello Panthers on Monticello's field Friday.

There were no Bluehawk injuries in the West Liberty game, so Coach Paul Brechler has a full squad with which to work. The boys are working with a team spirit because last year they played the Panthers to a disappointing scoreless tie. However, the year before the Bluehawks were trampled, 33-0, so this season they're out for revenge.

Yesterday afternoon Coach Brechler had Jack Shay and Bill Helm kicking to three speedy Blue halfbacks—Max Seaton, Don Wagner and Chuck Kent—to give them practice in returning punts. Later Shay and Seaton limbered up their passing arms.

The Blues were given some new plays to add to their tricky offense, and old plays were run through to check the timing. DeWayne Ailey and Bill Cobb manned the nets; Capt. Bud Halvorsen and Clark Louis were the tackles; Gene Rummels and Earl Carson, guards; and Jack Reed, center. In the backfield were Helm at quarter, Wagner at left half, Seaton and Kent at right half, and Shay at full.

The victory over West Liberty was a team victory. There were no outstanding stars, but Wagner, Seaton and Kent continued their sweeping end runs, and Shay plunged and punted in fine style. In the line, Ailey showed that he can carry the ball on end-arounds, and Reed and Halvorsen played their usual fine defensive game.
