'Fighting Started Over Dakar,' French Claim as Flier Is Killed

Vichy Radio Implies Member of United Nations Shot Down Air Officer in Battle; British Refuse to Comment

LONDON, Saturday (AP)—The Vichy radio announced last night that a French naval air officer was killed in combat over west Africa last Sunday, and the Germans prefaced their broadcast of this news with a statement saying "fighting activities have started over Dakar."

Captain Dailliere, described as a flight officer stationed at the strategic base of Dakar, died in an aerial engagement, and while neither Vichy nor Berlin identified his opponent, their meaning was clear—that a member of the united nations had shot down the Vichy airman.

Fighting French and British military sources here said "no comment" on the report.

For weeks now the Germans have been warning of an impending allied attack on Dakar, possibly with the hope of gaining concessions for themselves in Africa, and also no doubt through genuine fear of a possible allied second front in that area.

Captain Dailliere "fell in African skies in defense of the French empire and of French unity," the Vichy radio said in quoting Vice-Admiral G. A. J. P. Auphand, secretary of state for the navy in the Laval cabinet.

The captain commanded the submarine depot ship Jules Verne before transferring to the air force.

Axis broadcasts in the past few weeks have reported the landing of United States troops on the African coast below French West Africa as well as the area below it.

One of these German-inspired reports said that both American and British troops were concentrated on the frontier of British Gambia, which is barely a 100 miles south of Dakar.

American troops also were said by the nazis to be disembarking in the Belgian Congo and British Nigeria.

Antonio Tovar, a Spanish falangist leader, took up this theme several days ago by saying that U. S. troops were in equatorial Africa, and warning Vichy that it must be ready to protect northwest Africa from "a new and tremendous imperialism."

John P. Flynn of the Des Moines bureau of the FBI addressed the men on "The FBI in National Defense." He described the background, organization and activities of the FBI and labeled as their duty in this national emergency "the preservation of the internal security of the country."

Blast Jap Base

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Saturday (AP)—Allied air forces in New Guinea again supported the hard fighting U.S. marines and troops on Guadalcanal by a bombing expedition to Buin where the Washington navy department announced a new Japanese naval concentration had been sighted, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today.

Nazis Gain at Stalingrad

Enemy Takes North Suburb

Hundreds of German Tanks, Planes Hurled Against Red Forces

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Saturday (AP)—The Stalingrad garrison "withdrew from one of the city's settlements" yesterday under the pressure of thousands of "numerically superior" German shock troops who were supported by hundreds of tanks and planes in their furious new effort to split the red army defenders.

A midnight communique announcing the third Russian withdrawal in two days emphasized the peril to the Volga river city now in its 54th day of siege, and the retreat apparently meant the Russians had abandoned the factory district of northern Stalingrad.

Repulse Attacks
"In the Stalingrad area," the bulletin said, "our troops are repulsing furious attacks by numerically superior enemy forces. According to preliminary data during the day we destroyed 43 German tanks and annihilated about a regiment of enemy infantry."

"After stubborn fighting our units withdrew from one of the city's settlements."
The Russians said there was only "fighting of local significance" northwest of the city where a red army offensive against the nazi flank has been under way for weeks in an effort to ease the pressure on Stalingrad.

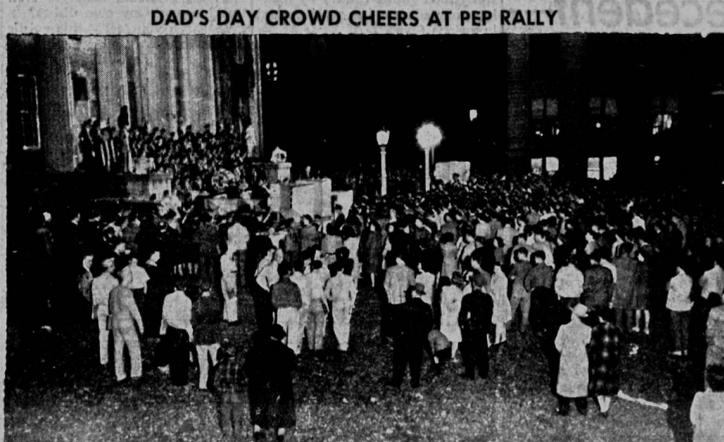

Two companies of nazi infantry and 200 Rumanians were killed in that sector.
Indecisive but heavy fighting continued also in the Mozdok sector of the mid-Caucasus where the Russians said they killed approximately 400 nazis.

600 Nazis Slain
On the only other fronts mentioned the communique said 600 enemy troops were slain on the front west of Moscow "by our artillery reconnaissance units and snipers," and the Germans also suffered "many dead" in an unsuccessful attack on the northwestern, or Leningrad front.

The critical situation at Stalingrad was stressed in dispatches which said the Germans were driving close to the Volga river on the eastern side of the ruined city.

With their backs to the river, the Russians fought resolutely to check the nazi spearheads after an early morning red retreat through several streets of a workers' settlement.

Explosion Rocks Plant
PITTSBURGH (Saturday) (AP)—A terrific explosion at the Duquesne works of the Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company shook the Ohio river communities of Sewickley and Coraopolis late last night. Residents more than a mile from the scene said their houses were shaken.

DAD'S DAY CROWD CHEERS AT PEP RALLY

Parents, faculty and students gathered at the east approach to Old Capitol last night for a pre-game mass meeting celebrating Dad's day week end and boosting enthusiasm for the Iowa-Illinois football game this afternoon. With the university band seated on the Capitol steps, white lights illuminating the scene, the crowd heard speeches and music and took part in cheers for the teams and for the dads. Sam Lane, C4 of Davenport, acted as master of ceremonies. Speakers included Ben F. Swisher of Waterloo, representing Iowa dads; Frank Carideo, representing the football coaching staff; Jim Youel, E4 of Ft. Madison, representing A.F.I. and the team, and Gene Curran, A4 of Chicago, game captain tomorrow. E. G. (Dad) Schroeder introduced Douglas Mills, director of athletics of the University of Illinois.

Dashing Errol Flynn Accused Of Attacking Teen-Age Girl

'I Can't Understand It, I Hardly Touched Her,' Star Declares

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Errol Flynn, swashbuckling film star, surrendered yesterday on a charge of raping a 17-year-old girl at a party and was released under $1,000 bail.

"I'm bewildered," he told reporters. "I can't understand it. I hardly touched the girl."
Sept. 27

The complaint, issued by District Attorney John F. Dockweiler, after the county grand jury had failed to indict Flynn Thursday, charged him with raping Betty Hansen, 17, at the Bel Air mansion of Fred McEvoy, wealthy British sportsman and former olympic bobsled champion, the night of Sept. 27.

She had come here recently from Lincoln, Neb., to live with a sister, Mrs. Jack Marsden. "It is obvious," said Dockweiler, "that the grand jurors have not considered the evidence, for, from a study of it, I am convinced that this is as airtight a case of its kind as ever has been presented to my office."

Similarly charged and also released on bail were three employees of the studio where Flynn is under contract, Armand Knapp, 18; Morris Black, 22, and Joseph Gerardi, 20.

Dockweiler said they had confessed attacking the Hansen girl after the night of the party.

Girl's Story
Juvenile Officer Dorothy Pulas and Police Sgts. Edward Walker

and R. W. Bowling said Miss Hansen, who disappeared from her sister's home a month ago and was found by police, told the following story.

"When I left my sister's home, I got a job in a drug store. I met Knapp there. He offered to introduce me to Errol Flynn, whom I had always admired on the screen. I asked my boss for time off. He refused to let me go. Knapp told me to quit and come anyway, that Flynn could get me a job.

With 'Chichi,' Knapp and I went to the McEvoy estate. We were not invited, but they seemed glad to see us. 'Bus' Wiles, Flynn's friend and stunt man, asked us to stay for dinner.

"Knapp went away and came back with a Miss Boyer. We had dinner. Knapp had told me to take a drink, and I did. After dinner, we went into the living room. Flynn began showing me attention. He told me he was very fond of me and would get me a job.

"He asked me to go upstairs with him.
"Flynn disrobed and then assisted me in taking off my clothes. "I Protested"

"I protested against what he did to me then, but I did not struggle very hard. Later we went back downstairs and he told me he would call me the next night. I waited for three nights, but he never called."

Witnesses before the grand jury included Lynne Boyer, blonde singer, and Agnes "Chichi" Troupes, dark haired dancer.

Flynn had been a witness in July before the grand jury investigating a fight between his stand-in, James Fleming, and Barbara Hutton's butler, Ric Gosta, at a

Joint Conference Unit Approves Victory Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest tax increases ever voted on individuals—the 5 per cent victory levy on all income above $624 yearly—won approval yesterday of a joint conference committee rapidly adjusting senate and house differences over the new revenue bill.

With only minor changes, the committee agreed to accept the new tax written into the bill by the senate in place of house-approved provisions for a 5 per cent withholding levy on wages, interest and dividends. The latter would have served merely to advance the collection of the regular income tax.

U.S. Lethargy Killing Our Soldiers—Anderson

AMES (AP)—"American soldiers are being killed today because of the lethargy of our people," Dr. Troyer Anderson of the state University of Iowa declared yesterday, speaking before Iowa extension service workers at their thirteenth annual conference at Iowa State college.

"We will win this war, but it will be at a greater cost because of our lethargy," he said.

party the actor gave to celebrate his 32nd birthday anniversary.

No indictment was returned in the case. Flynn told reporters at the time, "no more big parties for me!"
He and actress Lili Damita were divorced a year ago.

Enemy Landing Forces Throw Artillery Into Solomons Fight

Course of Great Pacific Battle Remains Uncertain; U.S. Extends Occupation of Adreanofs, Bombers Hammer Kiska

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press War Editor

U.S. marines and troops were under shellfire on Guadalcanal island from artillery hauled ashore by large enemy forces last night and the first great battle between the Japanese and American armies since Bataan was raging without quarter.

At sea and in the air climactic engagements were being fought, although very little was known about their course. But it was evident that America's hold on the south Pacific war crucible of the Solomon islands was truly in the balance.

"There's a real fight on out there; it's a stiff fight," Secretary of Navy Knox told newspapermen. Asked if he thought our forces would hold, he replied: "I certainly hope so. I expect so."

Until yesterday, there had been no indication that the Japanese possessed any artillery to turn against the American forces since the marines, with navy support, launched their surprise attack and wrested the important Guadalcanal-Tulagi area from the enemy early in August.

6th Critical Day
For obvious reasons, the navy gave no hint of any counter measures planned to nullify the renewed Nipponese offensive now in its sixth critical day. However, it was recalled here that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, had said only yesterday at Pearl Harbor that the marines on Guadalcanal were effectively meeting every force that the enemy has hurled at them.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate military committee unanimously voted a bill to draft youths of 18 and 19 yesterday while the house arranged to consider and pass a similar measure today.

The legislation was requested by President Roosevelt in his speech last Monday. Foreseeing little or no opposition, congressional leaders set about placing the bill in Mr. Roosevelt's hands at the earliest possible moment.

New Obstacle
While the house stood ready to act at once, an obstacle to immediate passage arose yesterday in the senate. Senator McNary (R-Ore), the republican floor leader, pointed out that many members of the senate returned to their states a week ago upon the assurance of the administration leadership that no major legislation would be taken up for several weeks.

Under the circumstances, although heartily in favor of the bill, McNary said he would feel obliged to oppose any motion to take the bill up until the absentees have been notified and given an opportunity to return.

Not Before Thursday
Thus, while senate leaders had planned to bring the bill before the senate on Tuesday, it appeared that it probably would not come up before Thursday or Friday, or possibly not until the following week.

The measure approved by the senate committee yesterday was drafted by Senator Gurney (R-SD). It would amend the selective service act to make the draft apply to men between 18 and 45 years old—instead of 20 to 24, as at present.

It includes a provision that students at a high school or similar educational institution, if ordered to report for induction during the second half of their school year, shall upon request receive deferment until the academic year is ended.

In the North Pacific, the U.S. forces in the Aleutians extended their occupation of the Andreanof group, main base for fighter-bomber attack on Japanese-occupied Kiska, and the heavy bombers of the army air forces made more devastating attacks on the Japanese island camps and on seaplanes in the harbor.

On the Asiatic mainland general Sir Archibald Wavell returned to Eastern India from a tour of inspection which took him into Burma.

Inevitably this aroused speculation that the campaign of reconquest in Burma, urgently desired by the blockaded Chinese, is not too far distant.

In western Europe a story of high significance was breaking—the first outbreak of widespread disorder and bloodshed in dismal unoccupied France.

The cause, as Pierre Laval himself is reported to have feared, was the Hitlerian puppet's own pressure to recruit Frenchmen into German labor bondage.

Center of the trouble was the third city of France, Lyon, with its heavy mill worker population.

While the enemy was expending more than 100 planes since Sunday in a futile effort to knock out the Sentinel island of Malta in the Mediterranean, British submarines were credited with sinking or damaging four axis ships laden with supplies for the coming show-down in the Egyptian desert.

Graduates From Naval School

Ensign Loren L. Hickerson of Iowa City was one of 291 naval officers graduated yesterday from the United States Naval training school at Ft. Schuyler, the Bronx, New York, after completing an indoctrination course.

Ensign Hickerson, son of Mrs. Carl Jackson of Mount Ayr, a 1940 graduate of the University of Iowa, was editor of The Daily Iowan prior to his commissioning in July.

beer-bust you've been putting off so long!)
"Service is suave and thoughtful with no hint of commercialism in the regime..."

Mr. Jeffers Sets a Precedent--

WASHINGTON—Whose bread I eat, his song I sing...

He cited it last at Rubber Controller William Jeffers for sticking to recommendations that rayon be used in tires instead of cotton.

Mr. Jeffers flamingly rejected the barb and defied the cotton bloc in a straightforward manner which shook the wisdom teeth of Washington.

No official has ever talked to congress that way and gotten away with it—but I think Mr. Jeffers will.

His defiance of this most formidable political pressure was apparently no bravado for publicity effect, but a working formula, which he is putting into operation.

Representatives of the bus and truck men of the nation came in to see him shortly after his set-to with the cotton senators.

It would require them to use many more busses, they said, to handle the traffic, and they wanted to be allowed a special dispensation of 40 miles (they usually go 60 around this part of the country anyway.)

Now Mr. Jeffers is an old bus man himself, in a way. As head of the Union Pacific, he operated fleets of busses as well as trains.

The operators' visit to him had been preceded by a long distance telephone call from the head of the Union Pacific bus line, a friend and associate in his old business.

months of concentrated organization, but it seems to me, as a student of war tactics, to offer a better chance of success than a costly frontal assault upon the German defenses on the continent.

And Then He Detoured—

Wendell Willkie has been traveling around the world as President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the United Nations and as minority party leader from the United States.

But, quite conspicuously, he does not visit India. When you come right down to it, what could he say to the Indians? Gandhi or Nehru would find it rather difficult to conduct him through India's great Tata steel works to show him what the Indians are doing for defense.

As Willkie is the present minority opposition leader of the United States and Gandhi and Nehru are majority leaders in India, their conversation would probably prove very interesting if not too cheery.

This poses a question which arises out of Sir Stafford Cripps' statement on May 3, 1942, on the failure of his mission to India. His words were, "No agreement was reached because some of the important elements in India wanted the British government to go further in handing over complete power to India's majority community than we considered possible, consistent with our obligations to defend India and our promises to the great communal minorities."

If we examine this statement we find several significant elements. First, it would seem that the democracies had abandoned the principle of majority rule. This would be a very startling development if true. Second, we appear to have adopted the practice of protecting minorities in other nations. That is strangely reminiscent of the Hitlerian tactic which reached its climax when Czechoslovakia was annexed by Germany in order to protect the Sudetenland minority.

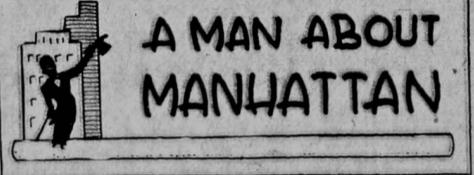

In 1938 we Americans recognized this maneuver as a grave threat against continued democracy in the world and we have not changed our viewpoint since then. We did not intervene in Europe in 1938. We did nothing to thwart the menace at that time. It remains to be seen whether we are alert and ready to enforce the appropriate measures in 1942, when the situation is many times more serious and fraught with danger to our successful prosecution of a total war.

More to the point, perhaps, than a discussion of principle, are the facts as set forth by S. M. Ahmed, a Moslem, in a recent (Sept. 5, 1942) issue of Great Britain and the east that, "The United States is assuming a greater and greater responsibility for the defense of India. Thousands of American soldiers, hundreds of planes, and one billion dollars of war materials under lease-lend have reached India."

Is it wise, under these circumstances, for us to ignore so completely or condone the state of affairs now existing in such a vital outpost in our defense against the Japanese? This same Ahmed concludes, quite remarkably in view of the pronounced conservative tenor of the magazine in which he writes, that, "The differences between India and Britain cease to be a private feud when they intrude upon the successful prosecution of this war by the United Nations, upon which the security of hundreds of millions of free people in this world depends."

This is precisely the message which must come home to the American people. An all-important strategic sector in this global war is now in danger of imminent attack. It has become increasingly apparent that the Japanese are now withdrawing from certain areas which earlier in the war they occupied. The Japanese are tightening their lines all over, probably in order to make some new thrust. It is very likely that their thrust will be aimed at India.

This completes the argument for United States intervention in the Indian crisis. Tolerance has always been a cardinal tenet in our philosophy. But tolerance of mismanagement and obvious bureaucratic bungling has not been and never will be a part of our policy. It is to be wondered at that our great Indiana republican has detoured around India and seems to prefer kissing Chinese babies!

Those Jumblers Are Just Actors

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—This town seems to contain an unusually large number of persons who go around talking to themselves—until you realize that a good many of them are actors rehearsing their lines.

Your chances of seeing a famous actor or actress on the street, however, are not great unless you deliberately go looking for them. I saw Claude Rains coming out of the RKO building the other day, nearly collided with Bert Wheeler on Broadway, and one night while sitting on the office steps was somewhat startled to see Boris Karloff go stalking past, but that's about the limit for such encounters over a period of a couple of months.

If you come to New York and want to stalk stage celebrities, stay close to the Forties west of Broadway, particularly around 1:45 p.m. on matinee afternoons.

Of course, a celebrity is liable to turn up anywhere. Bearded Vincent Price, homicidal husband of the stage hit, "Angel Street," nearing his 375 performance, rides the subways frequently. His appearance startles people into some strange reactions which the mild-mannered Price has the good sense to enjoy.

Despite his fiendish look, he is a pleasant, democratic guy who likes the society of working men, eats in their restaurants where the steaks come thick, and is bored by the stage's glamour boys who are given to gathering in the famous spots and talking shop in loud voices. Very often he buys drinks, without flourish or show-off, for the huskies who haul the garbage from 45th St. He's a middlewesterner who came to Broadway from St. Louis, but most of his many successes have been in plays dealing with another era, notably "Victoria Regina."

Walk-ons: Broadway soon will have both stage and screen versions of "My Sister Eileen," first time that's happened since "You Can't Take It With You." Word from Baltimore, where a road company met up with the screen "Eileen" (before the latter's bow on Broadway), was that there was room for both. Gordon Jones, in both stage and screen versions, now is in the army, taking the cue from his distinguished brother, Capt. Paul Jones. Casting has begun for "Old Soldiers Never Die," from the recently discussed book by James Ronald. Stage Producer Max Siegel and Author Ronald both want C. Aubrey Smith to be the old general. Natalie Shaffer, who played the fashion editor in the Broadway musical play, "Lady In The Dark," probably will have the same role in Paramount's screen adaptation. A full-length film musical, "Follies Girl," will be produced in New York, with local talent, scenery and effects, in response to frequent pleas by Hizzoner, the Mayor, Butch.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—In the War Department, in the Department of Labor and in the offices of the War Production Board these days, they are mapping plans for a nationwide battle against industrial accidents.

The rise in accidents in the war plants of the nation since we got into the world fracas has some of our production chiefs groggy.

The War Department recently issued a statement that if the first half of 1942 rate is maintained on industrial accidents, the year will go off the calendar with more than 20,000 war workers killed, 90,000 more permanently disabled and 2,000,000 others injured. The man hours lost probably will run close to half a billion. Is it any wonder that production chiefs are perturbed?

In an Illinois factory, a wrench carelessly knocked from a scaffold fell into the cogs of a powerful machine. One operator was killed, his assistant badly injured and about $8,000 damage done to the machine, which was idle 110 hours while repairs were being made.

Military Advisers to Visit SUI, Present Enlisted Reserve Plan

Board of 5 to Hold Two Mass Meetings For University Men

A board of five commissioned officers will visit the university Monday through Thursday to present detailed information concerning participation of the college in the pre-induction plan for enlistment of college men in the enlisted reserve corps of the army, navy, marines and coast guard.

The board comprises one representative each of the army, the army air corps, the navy, the naval aviation service and the marine corps. One of the naval officers will also represent the coast guard.

Monday at 8 a. m. a mass meeting will be held for junior and senior men in Macbride auditorium. Freshmen and sophomores will attend a meeting at 7:30 the same day.

After the adjournment of these meetings each of the five officers will meet for the rest of the week in separate classrooms with interested students for consultation and questions about the particular service which he represents. No actual recruiting will be done by the board, as it is solely advisory.

Although each military service has its own distinctive qualifications for enlistment, all candidates must be American citizens, regularly enrolled as resident students in the university. They may be either married or single. Eighteen years is the minimum age in most of the service branches but some exceptions are made. Maximum age limits range from 26 to 44 years.

Applications will not be accepted from any student who has received notice of his pending induction. Every candidate for appointment to an officer candidate school must be qualified educationally, physically, morally and psychologically. Every enlistment must be for the duration plus six months.

Enlistment in the ERC will not alter any ROTC regulations, unless to intensify training. When an enlisted reservist is called to active duty, his major in college and his personal qualifications and inclinations will determine his assignment to further training, which will be highly specialized and concentrated into a minimum time period. Military authorities will make earnest effort to interrupt as little as possible the educational activities and programs of the school.

Half-Time Program To Feature Marches, Formations at Game

Included in the elaborate half-time entertainment scheduled for the game are an impressive array of formations, maneuvers and marches of the same type that have won Professor Righter fame among Big Ten bands.

An official welcome to all present at the game will be the "Hello" formation, as the band enters the stadium preceding the game. Iowa Dads will recognize the salute given them as the band plays "What's the Matter with Father," and breaks into a "DAD" formation with the tune "Jolly Good Fellow."

Combining bands of the university and of the Naval Pre-Flight school, Professor Righter will conduct the "Star Spangled Banner" for the flag-raising ceremony.

Beginning a sparkling array of letter and figure formations, the bandmen will initiate their half-time routine with a salute to the Illinois team and its fans. To the strains of "Illinois Loyalty" the Iowa bandmen will form a huge "ILLINI," pausing to sing "Hail to the Orange," the Illinois school song, and to give a cap salute to those in the east stands.

Iowa's three top-notch twirlers will next be featured as the band forms a large circle, which later changes into a red cross formation at the bandmen play the "American Exultant" march.

To the precision beat of the drums, the entire band will next form the words "BUY A" on the first chorus of "Marching Along Together," and will move to positions for "BOND" on the repeat strains of the number.

As a climax to the half-time program, the Iowa band will form a large heart extending nearly across the stadium while playing "I Want a Girl." Changing to the tune "Sweetheart," the band will then execute a semicircular exit to leave the field.

The University of Iowa will get its first taste of Conference competition this afternoon when unbeaten Illinois comes to Iowa City to play before an estimated crowd of 25,000 Dad's day fans.

The appearance of the Illini in Iowa stadium today marks the 23rd time since 1899 that a Champion eleven has faced the Gold and Black here.

In Illinois, Iowa will be a facing a team with plenty of confidence, an expert line and a backfield that boasts of an expert runner and a competent passer.

Big gun in the Orange and Blue attack will be Don Griffin, fourth ground-gainer in the Big Ten and a man to be watched. Dick Good, while not the runner that Griffin is, gives Illinois added strength in the air. Against Minnesota last week Good completed seven passes in 12 attempts.

Other backfield stars that Coach Ray Eliot's men will throw against the Hawks will be Capt. Jimmy Smith and Ray Florek, better than average football players.

Cornell's Pierce Sees Wrong Stadium

Travels to Philadelphia for Penn-Yale Game When It's Carded for New Haven

By WHITNEY MARTIN, Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK—We had an idea that football scouting would shrink somewhat this fall, but we had no idea the colleges would operate in this shrinkage to the extent of sending out gents equipped with spy glasses, graphs and fever charts to get the inside dope on empty stadiums.

Cornell provides exhibit "A" of the new practice of scouting the little game that wasn't there, and after pondering the details of the particular incident we think we've found what's wrong with the Big Red this year. It just doesn't know where it's going.

Coach Carl Snively called upon Eddie Pierce to look over the Penn-Yale game a week ago to see if that Big Stiff and Bob Odell were as good as they are cracked up to be, and Mr. Pierce came back with a fine report on the statue of William Penn and how Franklin field looks in repose.

Rapid Odell Mr. Pierce went to Philadelphia for the game instead of New Haven, but we'll be glad to help him out of his difficulties. We can tell him, for instance, that Bob Odell moves rapidly forward, one foot at a time, but that he needs handles on the ball, and that Bert Stiff not only runs his own interference, but is so full of that old zip that he has a hard time keeping from slipping through his interference and tackling himself. He's a rarin', tearin' cowboy.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—Bernie Bierman, unable to beat Notre Dame in two tries as coach of the Minnesota Gophers, may have better luck today with his great array of former collegians and professionals who wear the uniforms of the Iowa Pre-Flight naval school.

Before 35,000 spectators Bierman will direct his Seahawks against a once-tied, once-beaten Notre Dame team whose coach, Frank Leahy, lies ill in a Rochester, Minn., clinic.

The keys to Notre Dame's return to form last Saturday when it swamped weakened Stanford, 27 to 0, were the inspiration of the enforced absence of Leahy, plus the freeing of Angelo Bertelli from the signal calling duties.

Other than that triumph, Notre Dame's men haven't shown any real reason why they should expect to beat the battering Seahawks—but on pure hunch guessing they've been listed in many circles for an upset victory.

Fred (Dippy) Evans, their leading scorer last year and the kind of player who could spell the difference between defeat and victory in a close match, has been disabled most of the time and at best will see action tomorrow only in a relief capacity. The burden thus rests again on the passing arm of the Italian wizard, Bertelli.

On the other hand Bierman has fullback took it over on the third down, Rasley made the kick, and the scoring ended that way, 14-0.

During the fourth quarter the reserves played a great deal, and once snaked down to the nine yard line, but an incomplete pass on fourth down stopped them. Jim Williams, sub for Wagner, made several nice runs this quarter. At the close of the game, Mt. Vernon was trying to score with passes, but Jim Spear intercepted one on the Maroon 15 as the gun sounded.

Shay's running was up to par, but the much hoped for passing attack was not. Both Shay and his receivers were not consistent. Wagner made some good end runs, and Halvorsen's play in the line on defense was outstanding. Mt. Vernon's best bet was Herring, a hard driving fullback.

every conceivable kind of power ready. His Seahawks are perhaps the greatest collection of players ever assembled outside of the pure professional ranks.

There's Dick Fisher, the Ohio State boy who has been the main reason for the Seahawks' last two wins—over Minnesota and Michigan. Forest Evashevski of Michigan and George Benson of Northwestern lend additional backfield strength and the Iowans have flowing power in a battery of ends—including Mal Kutner of Texas, Matt Bolger of Notre Dame, Jud Ringer of Minnesota and Harlin Fraumann of Michigan.

reeled off by Shay when he made a 30 yard run through right tackle to Mt. Vernon's nine yard stripe. Max Seaton was stopped for no gain, then Shay bulled his way to the six, and Don Wagner went over right tackle to score. Jim Rasley came in to kick the first of his two extra points, making the score 7-0.

In the second quarter U-high was hindered by its backfield penalties, once drawing the penalty three times in a row. Near the end of the half they started a passing attack, but an interception stopped them on Mt. Vernon's 26 yard line. The Maroons, led by Herring, made some good gains this quarter, but could not penetrate deep into Bluehawk territory.

Casey Makes Good For 2 Touchdowns During 3rd Quarter

Bill Sangster Turns In Fine Kicking Job; Williams Also Stars

By JOHN GRAHAM, Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Iowa City's Little Hawks rolled over Dubuque high last night 20-0 to remain unbeaten and unscored upon thus far this season.

The Little Hawks exploded their might in the face of the Rams at the very outset of the third quarter when they pushed over all three touchdowns in seven minutes. Coach Herb Cormack's men were outplayed in the first quarter but once they got rolling they could never be headed.

The first touchdown was set up by a double pass from Bill Sangster to Dave Danner to Williams. After successive plunges by Wayne Hopp and Sangster, with a pass from Sangster to Williams sandwiched between, Joe Casey, plunging fullback, took the ball over right tackle from the 12 for the first City High touchdown.

Sangster's conversion was no good. After the kickoff Dubuque failed in three successive trials and kicked to the 43. Here the Hawklet power began to become noticeable. Sangster and Casey carried the ball to the 23 on two successive plunges. After a three-yard gain by Curly Brack, Casey went over standing up from the 20. Sangster's dropkick split the uprights.

The last Little Hawk touchdown was set up by Bill Sangster after running back an intercepted pass to Iowa City's 49-yard line. After successive gains by Sangster and Casey, Sangster heaved a long one down the field where Dave Danner and the Dubuque secondary batting the ball in midair until Danner finally grabbed the ball on the 5 and raced over for the final touchdown. Sangster's kick again was good.

Alabama Rated Over Tennessee Volunteers; Wolves Picked to Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN, NEW YORK (AP)

Giving the x-ray eye our not-infallible football selector, a last chance to avoid being included in the office scrap contribution.

Iowa Pre-Flight over Notre Dame—Notre Dame has Angelo Bertelli, but Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman has Al Coupee, George Benson, Bill Schartzler and Dick Fisher. It will be Bierman's first coaching victory over Notre Dame.

Boston College over North Carolina Pre-Flight—After a game-like scrimmage with the Eagles, members of Col. Robert Neyland's Eastern Army All-Stars rated the Boston College line on a par with any of the pro forwards they met except the Chicago Bears.

Alabama over Tennessee—Those Crimson Tide backs to be the difference after a rugged struggle.

Texas over Arkansas—Jackie Fields to help the Longhorns to a Southwest conference victory, but it won't be as easy as the 48 to 14 walk-away of last season.

California over UCLA—Certainly the pre-season hubbub about California's prospects couldn't have been all wrong. The Golden Bears to get going despite the strong UCLA line.

Georgia over Tulane—This is the week for Tulane's up-and-down team to be down—and that's fatal when Frankie Sinkwich is Rams managed to reach the Hawklet's three-yard line but lost the ball on downs. As the game ended the ball was on midfield in possession of the Little Hawks.

Bill Sangster did a good job of kicking for the Cormack men with one of his punts going out on the 1/2 yard line.

part of the opposition. Army over Columbia—Two heads are better than one, so it's Mazur and Hill of the Cadets over Governor of the Lions.

Penn over Princeton—The Tigers surprised by whipping navy last week but the casualty was heavy. Penn is the peer of the Ivy loop.

Washington State over Southern California—The Trojans still too travel weary and bruised from their excursions into Ohio State's lair.

Texas Christian over Texas A & M—The unbeaten TCU eleven to remain that way for at least another week.

Missouri over Kansas State—Kansas State has scored only one touchdown in three games.

Michigan over Northwestern—Tom Kumza to make his 1942 debut for the Wolverines.

Ohio State over Purdue—The Buckeyes to keep storming along even if Gene Fekete isn't in top shape.

Indiana over Pittsburgh—Big Ten teams seem to have the Panthers' number.

Wisconsin over the Great Lakes—Harder, Hirsch and Hoskins too hot for the Sailors.

Bluehawks Take Fifth Straight Triumph, 14-0, as Jack Shay Leads U-High Attack

Paul Brechler's Men Tally in 1, 3 Periods; Passing Attack Fails

By DON SLYE, University high's Bluehawks scored in the first and third quarters to defeat Mt. Vernon 14-0 yesterday afternoon on the University of Iowa practice field. It was the Blue's fifth consecutive victory of the season and the third conference win.

Jack Shay, hard working fullback, was the driving force of U-high's attack, breaking loose several times for long gains. Several Bluehawk touchdown marches were halted by penalties of backfield in motion. In fact the Blues were guilty of committing that violation eight times during the game.

Mt. Vernon received the opening kick off and immediately made a first down, but then were forced to kick. U-high started to march but a fumble recovered by the Maroons stopped them on their 38. Two plays later, however, Capt. Bud Halvorsen recovered a Maroon fumble and this time the Blues did not stop until six points had been scored.

The main gain in this drive was Masterson getting the nod at the center slot.

The backfield will probably consist of Tommy Farmer at quarter, Bill Stauss and Ted (Duke) Curran at the halves and either Dick Hoerner or Chuck Dickert at fullback.

Dickert, dropped from the squad Wednesday, reported back to duty Thursday after apologizing to Anderson and the team. He will not get the starting call at the guard, however. Penaluna, senior from Waterloo, will fill in at his spot.

Max Seaton was stopped for no gain, then Shay bulled his way to the six, and Don Wagner went over right tackle to score. Jim Rasley came in to kick the first of his two extra points, making the score 7-0.

In the second quarter U-high was hindered by its backfield penalties, once drawing the penalty three times in a row. Near the end of the half they started a passing attack, but an interception stopped them on Mt. Vernon's 26 yard line. The Maroons, led by Herring, made some good gains this quarter, but could not penetrate deep into Bluehawk territory.

Spotlight on Sports

BY MAXIE ROSENBLUM

Dad's day week end has always been one of the big events of the school year at Iowa, this year perhaps more so than ever before. Many Dads won't have the opportunity to visit their sons at school today—some of those sons are now with various branches of the armed forces. Transportation difficulties may keep many another Dad listening to the Iowa-Illinois clash over the air. To those Dads who were able to get away and spend a week end at Iowa City with their sons and daughters the campus will offer many a memory. The site of the stadium may have changed since HIS days, some face-liftings may have taken place, but Iowa is still Iowa with its traditions, beautiful campus, especially now in Indian summer, memories of Old Capitol's steps and classroom traditions. It always will hold a peculiar enchantment for us all.

Our nomination for the greatest all-time athlete goes to Joe Louis, not only for his athletic prowess, which in our opinion has eclipsed that of any you can name, including the Manassa Mauler and gentleman Gene Tunney, but also for his personal characteristics. Louis is probably one of the most confused men in the country today. Orders, offers, proposals and questions have been flying at him thick and fast to where they made the champ come out with his statement earlier in the week that he was through with the fight game.

This brought a flood of comment and second guessers and started the wires burning to Mike Jacobs in New York. Jacobs said he thought Louis would be back in there throwing punches again when the war was over. Louis himself finally admitted he thought so too, but for the duration he would confine his fighting to the army, unless ordered to do otherwise.

The Brown Bomber has contributed two big purses to the war relief societies, keeping not a cent for his own personal gain. A group of sports writers recently got together and arranged a bout with Billy Conn, under the go-ahead signal of the war department. This bout was calculated to help Louis alleviate some of his debts, but Secretary of War Stimson decided he didn't like the idea, and the battle was called off.

Louis didn't kick at the decision. He was too much of a man to do so. Louis has never offered a word of protest when asked to sacrifice to help someone out. He has defended his title more than any other boxer in history, and has come through with an unmarred record.

His military record is one to be proud of. Not stepping into any job that would keep him out of actual combat, Louis enlisted as a private in the cavalry, and has now come up through the ranks to earn his sergeant's stripes.

Louis has gone through life the hard way, a life made all the harder by some strange quirk of the American mind that seems to place many obstacles in the way of a negro, who is just as much an American by birthright as any of us. These are some of the reasons why Joe Louis gets our nod.

It's better than even money that this year's Army-Navy classic will be shifted from its traditional site of Philadelphia's Franklin field to New York's Yankee stadium. Fordham is carded with North Carolina's pre-flight eleven on that same Saturday, Nov. 28, at the Stadium, but official reports indicate that the Rams would step aside and shift their game to another location if army or navy big wigs request it. Franklin field is located in the suburbs of the city of brotherly love, whereas the Yankee stadium can be easily reached from any part of town. Navy probably would be happier to keep the crowd to a minimum, though. It looks like Army's year, with big Hank Mazur leading the way.

The showing of the four pre-flight elevens is making many reels off by Shay when he made a 30 yard run through right tackle to Mt. Vernon's nine yard stripe. Max Seaton was stopped for no gain, then Shay bulled his way to the six, and Don Wagner went over right tackle to score. ## Democracy's heavy artillery... firing harder than ever

IN every newspaper plant in the country, the presses are rolling at top speed... firing projectiles as vital to our victory as bullets or bombs.

We have always been a news-hungry people, but crisis whets our appetite. In this greatest crisis of all, we are hungrier than ever, not only for the news itself, but also for guidance and instruction on the countless vital problems that face a free people at war.

It's a hunger that only newspapers can satisfy.

Years before World War II, the nation's newspapers were already retooling to meet this greater demand. Foreign services were strengthened... overseas communications reinforced... picture services refined and expanded. Increasingly, as war came closer and finally struck, newspapers were giving us not only the news but also... through words and maps and pictures... a better understanding of each day's events.

This clearer understanding of what the war means, and why we must win it, is the foundation of a democracy's strength in battle. Through it we are learning how to sacrifice, how to conserve, how each of us in our own way can contribute to victory. Being thus well-informed, we are much farther along the road.

Other ways of learning things we have in profusion. But nearly all of us turn to newspapers every day as our basic source of information. Through them... through the ads as well as the news columns... we are adding every day to the knowledge we must have to do our part in the war.
