'Fortresses' in Longest Attack

Yanks Repay Loss in Solomons With 2 Hits on Japanese Ships

American Airmen Rain Bombs On Lorient, Nazi U-Boat Base

LONDON (AP)—Flying Fortresses on their longest foray of the war in Europe cascaded bombs yesterday upon Lorient, Nazi submarine base on the Breton coast of France from which U-boats prey on Atlantic shipping. It was their first attack on occupied France since the mass raid on Lille Oct. 9.

Three bombers were officially reported lost.

The Fortresses roared at least 300 miles across the English channel and Brittany to reach their target at Lorient. Further, they bombed a German airfield at Maupertus, near Cherbourg, which is at the northern tip of the Cotentin peninsula jutting out from Normandy and just across the channel from Southampton.

At the same time, British Mustangs and Mosquitoes attacked targets in western Germany and Holland in daylight raids. It was the second successive day the RAF was over Germany.

The Nazis use Maupertus airfield as the base for their long-range bombers and scouting planes which cooperate with submarines in attacks on Atlantic shipping lanes.

Thus the Fortresses turned from paralyzing raids in the Nazi communications system and aircraft reconditioning plants to deal a double blow in the battle of the Atlantic.

Even before the Fortress raid was officially announced here, the Vichy radio broadcast that port installations at Lorient had been bombed; that 100 persons were killed and 350 injured. The Vichy radio, however, attributed the attack to RAF bombers.

Heavy Raid

This French report indicated that the raid was a heavy one and that it apparently caught the German defenses flatfooted.

No details of the attack were made public beyond the brief official communiqué, which said: "United States air force Fortresses (B-17s) bombed an enemy submarine base at Lorient and an airfield at Maupertus, near Cherbourg, this afternoon.

"Bombs were seen to burst on both targets.

"These operations were supported by squadrons of Allied fighters. Some enemy opposition was encountered by the bombers, three of which were missing."

Three Royal Canadian air force fighter squadrons engaged in supporting operations and came back without a loss.

Like the Fortresses, the American-built Mustangs traveled the greatest distance yet reported since they went into action last July. In penetrating western Germany some of them flew a round trip of approximately 600 miles.

Legislation such as McNutt outlined was termed undesirable at the present time in a report made to the house yesterday by its special committee on defense migration.

As McNutt testified, Undersecretary of War Patterson announced 4,000 miners would be released from military service in an attempt to relieve a shortage of copper, lead, zinc, tungsten and other critical materials holding back war production.

Patterson said he saw no need for the present of furloughing other troops.

Legislation such as McNutt outlined was termed undesirable at the present time in a report made to the house yesterday by its special committee on defense migration.

As McNutt emphasized the growing acuteness of the labor shortage problem, the congress for industrial organization cautioned against the exercise of compulsory manpower controls until voluntary processes first had been utilized to the limit to get maximum results in war production.

The economic outlook, a CIO monthly publication, accused the manpower commission of having failed to utilize "all its authority, its prestige, or its power."

McNutt defended the power of compulsion as necessary to protect "the great majority who act voluntarily."

He emphasized that the power to compel men to stay on their jobs "should not be permitted to be the instrument for undercutting established wage standards."

NAZI BOMBERS TRY TO HALT ALLIED AID TO SOVIET

A huge geyser of water shoots up into the air, above, as a German bomb drops near an Allied aircraft carrier, hidden by the spray, as the Nazis made an all-out effort to halt a huge convoy carrying supplies to a Russian Arctic port. For four days, German planes and submarines hammered at the Allied ships off northern Scandinavia, but failed to turn back the vital convoy.

15-Year-Old Girl Files Second Assault Charge Against Flynn

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A second charge of rape involving a 15-year-old girl was filed yesterday against actor Errol Flynn.

Juvenile Officer Lt. R. W. Bowling signed a complaint charging that the swashbuckling film idol raped Peggy Larue Saterle, 15, Aug. 3, 1941, during a weekend trip to Catalina Island on the actor's yacht.

Flynn is scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing tomorrow on a charge of raping Betty Hansen, 17, movie struck Lincoln, Neb., girl at a party in Bell Air the night of last Sept. 27.

Deputy District Attorney Thomas W. Cochran said the actor's lawyers plan to surrender him today on the new charge.

Girl Describes Catalina Cruise On Idol's Yacht

Yacht Outing

Dowling said that Miss Saterle told him she and her sister, Mickey June, previously had been on a motor trip with Flynn and nothing improper occurred. Then the actor telephoned inviting her on the yacht outing.

The district attorney's office said the girl's mother, Mrs. William C. Saterle, had asked an investigation in August, 1941, but the girl could not be found. Later, the parents wrote from Santa Barbara saying they had decided not to press the charges because of the publicity to which Peggy would be subjected.

Miss Saterle was working in a Hollywood nightclub when she was taken in protective custody by juvenile officers Tuesday.

Judge Oda Faulconer, issued the new complaint against Flynn, based on Miss Saterle's assertion that the actor raped her twice during the Catalina island yacht trip.

Attorney Jerry Giesler, chairman of the California state racing and boxing commissions and who also has been retained as counsel for Flynn, released this statement as coming from the actor:

Chile Axis-Advocate Ousted by President

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile took a step in the direction of a break with the axis last night when President Juan Antonio Rios swore in a new cabinet, eliminating Foreign Minister Ernesto Barros Jarpa, chief advocate of maintaining relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

Although there was no definite indication that the government would change its policy immediately, it was regarded as significant that radical Paul Morales, who initiated police measures against German espionage, was re-appointed minister of interior.

Barros Jarpa, whose ouster was demanded by pro-democratic groups throughout the country, was replaced by German Riesco, member of the liberal party.

The newspaper El Siglo, anticipating that the cabinet changes would lead to a break with the axis, warned that a fifth column might prepare "a Fascist coup d'etat, intrigues, and provocations in a vain attempt to prolong its existence and create an atmosphere of hostility in our land against the entire continent."

President Rios issued a statement after he had sworn in 11 of the 12 new ministers, saying "my purpose in the international field is to maintain the country on the side of all nations on the continent" and to defend "the great principles of territorial integrity and American solidarity."

CITIZENS' DEFENSE CORPS

7:30 p. m. — The auxiliary firemen will meet in front of the fire station.

All members of the corps who have not had their fingerprints recorded at the Iowa City police station are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Police Sergeant Bowling said Miss Saterle told him that after the moonlight ocean trip got underway aboard Flynn's yacht, Sorocco, the actor entered her cabin where she was in bed and, while making love to her, forced her to submit to his advances.

Red Offensive Repels Germans in Industrial Sector of Stalingrad

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—The Russian army took the initiative in the blackened, rain-soaked wreckage of Stalingrad's northern industrial district yesterday and drove the Germans from a number of buildings, the midnight Soviet communiqué said today.

In other parts of the city the Germans were said to have "constantly attacked" Russian positions throughout the day without dislodging the Red army from the positions which it has defended successfully since Sunday.

"Attacks Repulsed"

"All attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy," the communiqué said.

In one sector of the city 11 German tanks were destroyed and about two companies of infantry wiped out.

The Russians also took the initiative at several points northwest of Stalingrad, but results of the operations were not disclosed. The communiqué merely said Soviet units "conducted active operations on some sectors."

Local Engagements

On other sectors of this front there were engagements of local importance and exchanges of artillery and mortar fire.

One Russian unit was said to have repelled a number of attacks, killing about a company of German infantrymen.

In the Mozdok area in the Caucasus, the communist said, Soviet troops held their previous positions despite enemy attacks and conducted several reconnaissance raids.

200 Nazis Slain

"One guard unit," it said, "repelled attacks of three battalions of German infantry supported by 25 tanks. Five German tanks were damaged or burned and 200 officers and men wiped out."

The Red army also held its lines in the Black sea area, southeast of Novorossisk. The main engagement took place around an important height which the Germans attacked unsuccessfully, losing about two companies of men.

Roosevelt Praises Russian Resistance

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast today a message of greeting which President Roosevelt addressed to the Russian people through the Russian war relief organization in the United States last week.

The Moscow radio quoted the president's message as follows:

"Your courageous resistance has given us time to produce our arms so that at the appointed time we may join in your triumph. We American people are proud to be your allies."

Inside Information

Drawing upon his long experience and "the best inside information," he painted the situation in the dramatic sentences:

"The final alignments, both of allies and our enemies, have been made. Resources have been developed and mobilized on a very large scale, ours still on the increase, those of the enemy on the decline.

"Our manpower is still growing, that of the enemy getting depleted, while he makes heavier drafts on his vassal peoples."

Enemy Cruiser 'Stopped' by U. S. Bombing Attack; Air Action Dominates Battle as Twelve Jap Planes Are Downed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy last night announced the loss of two destroyers—the O'Brien and the Meredith—in the still-developing battle for Guadalcanal, but American airmen damaged a Japanese destroyer and "stopped" a cruiser with a bomb hit.

Aerial activity Tuesday and the day before resulted in the destruction of two enemy bombing planes, nine Zero fighters and a seaplane. Three American fighter planes were lost.

These developments were made public in a navy communiqué which said many enemy ships had been sighted in the northern Solomons, and reported "little recent troop activity" on the island of Guadalcanal itself.

American airmen are meanwhile seeking out and attacking in the southern Solomons, and continuing to bomb enemy supply dumps and positions on Guadalcanal.

Immediate Offensive Imperative for Allies, Jan Smuts Declares

Thus, in its present phase, the battle for the Solomons appears to be:

For the enemy, an effort to gather his strength for an assault, while attempting to weaken the American defenses by bombing the air base on Guadalcanal.

For the American forces, an effort to soften the blow when it comes by attacking the enemy's sea forces, seeking to cut him off from supplies and discourage his land forces with aerial attacks.

On the island, what troop activity there was was taken to be skirmishing for position. Since two destroyers were lost it was taken for granted that larger American naval units were in the area awaiting a favorable opportunity to strike.

On Monday, the communiqué said, enemy aircraft attacked American positions on Guadalcanal. American Grumman "Wildcat" fighter planes shot down two "Zeros." One "Wildcat" was lost.

Later that afternoon "our Douglas 'Dauntless' dive bombers attacked three enemy destroyers to the westward of Guadalcanal. One destroyer was damaged and an escorting seaplane was destroyed."

During Monday night, the communiqué continued, naval aircraft attacked an enemy cruiser to the westward of Guadalcanal. "The cruiser was damaged and stopped by at least one bomb hit."

Early yesterday morning American naval aircraft bombed enemy supply dumps and positions on Northwest Guadalcanal.

Later in the morning 30 "Zero" fighter planes flew over the Guadalcanal airfield and were followed an hour later by 16 enemy bombers escorted by fighting planes. In these two attacks, two enemy bombers and seven Zeros were shot down, and two United States fighters were lost.

Persons familiar with Japanese tactics speculated that the two raids were a typical bit of Japanese strategy which they made familiar during the early fighting in the Philippines.

First the 30 fighting planes came over. The object was to draw American fighters into the air, skirmish with them until they were forced back to the field for refueling, with the bombers appearing at that point and finding the American fighters earth-bound.

Strike Plea to World: 'Bleed' in Russia

LONDON (AP)—The impressive counsel of Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, veteran statesman and strategist of South Africa, was given the United Nations yesterday amid semi-secret and historic circumstances.

In carefully weighed words he said, "the German army is bleeding to death in Russia" and that this is the time for a new and final phase, the Allied offensive.

Huge Audience

Against the sounding board of a closed assemblage of Britain's 1,300 members of Britain's houses of parliament, the 72-year-old prime minister of the Union of South Africa delivered himself of this opinion in an unprecedented international broadcast for the ears of Russia, America, Britain and all their allies.

Declaring that he wished to emphasize that "the defense phase has now ended," and "another must now begin," the veteran marshal summed up the urgency for action in these words:

"Once the time has come to take the offensive and to strike while the iron is hot it would be folly to delay, to over prepare and perhaps miss our opportunity. Nor are we likely to do so."

Residents Evacuated As California Fire Sweeps Into Canyon

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Residents of Topanga canyon, in the Santa Monica mountains north of here, were ordered to evacuate their homes last night as a brush fire swept into the canyon after destroying a score of residences during the day on a three-mile front.

The fire, which broke out early Tuesday morning, hurdled the ridge from Las Flores into Las Tunas canyon late yesterday, and sweeping quickly through the latter, reached Topanga canyon, with a population of 3,300, including the hamlet of Fernwood.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, who ordered the residents to leave, said his office and federal authorities were investigating possibilities that the fire was of incendiary origin.

GERMANS STALK STALINGRAD IN SEARCH OF SNIPERS

This photo, obtained from an enemy source, purports to show two German soldiers prowling around a Stalingrad street in search of Russian snipers who have done so much to halt the German war machine which has been unable to completely conquer the wrecked Russian city.

Answer With Inaction—

Russian demands that Rudolf Hess, British-held former Nazi leader, either be tried immediately or be considered an "ambassador of Hitler." Hess came to offer peace between Germany and England and to propose an alliance in the vast struggle against the Soviet Union, then he certainly neglected to state his proposal.

English statesmen refuse to comment. The purpose of his visit remains cloaked in mystery and strategists may merely "guess" at his intentions. But if, as some suggest, Hess came to offer peace between Germany and England and to propose an alliance in the vast struggle against the Soviet Union, then he certainly neglected to state his proposal.

However, Hess reportedly came to Britain without the knowledge or the permission of Hitler. From all outward indications, he bore no official message, came for no official purpose. Could he then be classed as a Nazi agent?

If Rudolf Hess be brought to trial as a prisoner of war (although the two countries did not formally declare an existent state of belligerence until the next week), he would no doubt be charged with attempted sabotage—designing to promote the ideals of Nazidom, to cause upheaval within the British state. Even though it is not likely such intentions could definitely be proved, Hess would, in all events, be found guilty. The punishment for such could be only death. And the minute Rudolf Hess is executed, so will hundreds of British and Allied prisoners be lined up before the German firing squads and executed.

There is no alternative. Any action the British government might take against Hess leads only to his execution and, automatically, to the execution of hundreds of helpless Allied prisoners.

What Russia demands is merely a matter of ethics. The principle of the thing seems to be foremost in Russian thought. But the question remains: Is it the wisest thing to try and execute one man simply to keep face, knowing full well that it means the lives of hundreds of others?

This is the question which now faces the British government. Inaction can be their only response.

A Bit of Canadian Thought—

A copy of "Le Carabin," official student organ of the University of Laval in Quebec, sent us in search of someone close at hand who had a rather adequate smattering of French, and as a result provided us with an insight into the lives and thoughts of Canadian students in wartime.

Two hundred of those students have responded eagerly to an S O S from their federal minister of labor to go to Saskatchewan to save the crops—crops which would otherwise go unharvested for lack of laborers and thereby subtract from the goal of all-out production. Although Saskatchewan is almost two thousand miles west of Quebec, a place quite strange to their tongue, their spirit and their past, these students go willingly because there is a pressing material need.

At the same time, they have confidence that their government realizes that in wartime all fronts must be guarded, those of education and thought as well as others more concrete. Therefore, the editor says, "In the west we shall prepare our manual course; at the university we shall put our intelligence to the service of Canada at all times."

A column, called "Balles Explosives," is full of political jibes, witticisms and cryptic remarks. Representative of these are:

"The Cardinals have sunk the Yanks in a new Pearl Harbor." "One doesn't need to understand English to go to see Mrs. Miniver; one understands England." "Public officials are like the books in a library: the least used are placed the highest."

Although our interpreter made out pretty well on editorial material, one cartoon was apparently so completely French that it defied translation into English. So we have undoubtedly failed to a certain extent to secure an entire cross-section of the thought of Canadian "universitaires" on the basis of material at hand.

Quiet Jimmy Byrnes Works Up Formula for Inflation Problem

WASHINGTON—The inflation repressor, Justice Jimmy Byrnes is going about his job quietly, without much of a staff.

He says all he needs is a place to hang his hat. The White House has given him a rack for it, and the other departments lend him what help he calls for.

The technique he is applying against salaries has taken somewhat the same easy form. His hold-down step against salaries is aimed to stop collective increases, but to allow individual advances.

While he went beneath the surface of his law from congress to prevent collective increases in even the smallest salaries, the rules he set will allow individual increases for practically any purpose the employer seeks to set.

So also with the restriction of big incomes to $25,000 net a year. The only way the order can be enforced is to prevent corporations from taking tax deductions on salaries paid to executives, above that figure. If the corporation chooses to pay the tax, apparently it can also pay the salary.

Thus Justice Byrnes seems to be working up a formula which is a little easier than those considered in the public debate, certainly much easier than an arbitrary freezing, and no one can yet safely predict its overall effect upon wages, although it must be assumed the average will slowly rise.

Swish—There Goes Willkie—Mr. Wendell Willkie seems to be running some place fast, but the pondering politicos here are wondering where.

Naturally, in view of the general direction he is traveling, there has been speculation that he may wind up in Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet, some say as secretary of state, some as war secretary, when and if Judge Patterson, the heir apparent there, is appointed to the supreme bench.

In such talk, the seriousness of the recent pointed international conversations between Messrs. Willkie and Roosevelt are discounted. The second front dispute certainly served no permanent end. It must have made Stalin happy and caused Churchill to remember the idea. Beyond this, Mr. Willkie's destination defies speculation, even though the publicity velocity he has engendered must cause any observer to feel the breeze.

One thing he has continuously done since the last campaign is to correct the apprehensions of the New York radicals, who thought him a barefoot boy of Wall street, instead of Rushville. Along that line his progress has been continuous, but in that process, in fact, to be the leader of any party. The only safe prediction is that the breeze will grow before it diminishes.

Tax Bill Is All That, and More—Some people suspect this is a corporation tax bill. True, it proposes to collect only $1,300,000,000 more from corporations and more than three times as much, or $4,900,000,000 from individuals.

But its top average corporation rate, (which will hit the big corporations like U. S. Steel and General Motors) is 80 per cent and, as they are generally operating under government orders, restricting their profits supposedly to six per cent, the bill means roughly that they will be allowed to earn 20 per cent of six per cent.

Consequently, while the stock market has been shaking off its chronic despair as a result of the bill, and the market men are saying the bill means business is going to have profits which will continue to increase slightly as production swings into its highest gear, there are no reasons for corporate cheers.

The market reaction is probably a result of changes in the capital gains tax more than the corporation rate. As for what it does to the individual taxpayer, the most extreme statement yet printed is not exaggerated.

Rumor of Artificial Inflation—One of the old stories now going around, with a new war twist, is that the government is letting the banks issue paper money against nothing more than government bonds. The inference is that money is being inflated artificially, as well as through price-wage increases.

Under the present system of issuing money, the treasury deposits a gold certificate in the federal reserve banks and money is issued against that certificate. The federal reserve banks may, upon the approval of the treasury and the federal reserve board, issue other money up to 60 cents on the dollar with bond backing.

But today the amount of gold held by the treasury is far above the value of outstanding currency, so there has been no direct inflation from that source.

The real value of the dollar today is fixed by Mr. Henderson, not by bookkeeping devices, but by decreasing the price to be paid for the food we eat and the wage we receive for our work. We have gone far beyond currency manipulation into a completely managed economy.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS SOUNDS (One of a series by Robbin Coons on a tour of the country.) NEW YORK—They have a cute little outdoor sport in these parts that for thrills, excitement, and hazard puts ice hockey, football and the subway crush in a class with kindergarten games. It's taxi-dodging. To play with any hope of survival the wary hinterlander needs either Leon Errol's limber leg, Ray Bolger's lightning agility, or the native New Yorker's sublime trust that they can't do that to HIM. Some such trust, or magic, must surely protect the blithe jaywalkers who abound in the concrete canyons, flourishing despite the odds against them and the dutiful warnings of officials.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The Bowery is beginning to take on airs. The street's merchants are pointing with pride to sidewalks uncluttered with shapeless forms of unconscious drunks. You can walk five or six blocks without having to step over a body.

Most obvious reason is the war. The able-bodied men who made the Bowery their hangout have been drafted. Another reason is a quiet and unobtrusive police cleanup. For two years, plainclothesmen have been plaguing the Bowery bums, loading them into the pie-wagon and hauling them away to sit out five days, ten days, for vagrancy. The bums took the hint and began moving out.

Now about all that you can see, in the famous dozen short blocks between Chatham Square and Houston (pronounced Howston) street, are the dregs, the ghosts, the mortals, the smokies, the cripples, the men who for lack of audience talk to themselves.

We stopped at a flophouse on Bowery and Broome streets to read a sign advertising beds at 20 cents, room and shower at 25, other rooms at 25 and 30. The higher priced rooms have windows. And then we went on to the Salvation Army Memorial hotel at 225 Bowery, a famous institution in charge of Envoy E. Epstein, a dark, solidly built, bespectacled, practical working Christian.

"Yes, the street is losing its characters," the envoy said. We're at only 45 per cent of capacity for paying guests. The relief load is down because of war jobs, but of course quite a few men have gone into the army. We've lost 15 from the hotel staff.

"What we have left as lodgers is the residue, from the public's standpoint, of the real socially handicapped. The employables are gone. It used to be that the drunks were on the sidewalks in front of our place like herrings in a barrel. Sometimes, I couldn't even get to the door. But you don't see that now."

The envoy expressed belief that the government right now is interested only in usable human material, not that which has to be reclaimed. But he thinks there is no reason why some of this "residue" can't be sent to farms where liquor is unavailable, and be made useful.

FACING THE FACTS ABOUT WAR FINANCE

No. 1 This is the first in a series of pictorial articles in question and answer form compiled by the Tax Foundation to help the average American understand the serious and difficult problems of financing the war and what it means to us as individuals. Paying for the war is part of our battle here at home. Being a democracy, only we as a whole people can win that battle. We can win it only if we understand it. This, the first in the series, gives a graphic, simplified picture of pending tax measures in relation to war costs, borrowing and the inflationary dangers of the latter. Succeeding articles will cover the various factors which contribute to the problem and which relate to how much we can raise and where.

PENDING REVENUE MEASURES IN RELATION TO WAR COSTS

- 1. What will the war cost in 1943? Most recent estimates place the war cost for 1943 at approximately $70 to $78 billion, or an average of $2,000 for every family of four in the country. 2. How much of this cost will taxes pay? The revenue bill now before congress (arrow 1. in the chart) provides for approximately $25.5 billion of taxes or a little over 30% of the total federal expenditures for the year. Additional measures (arrow 2. in chart) might possibly raise another $4 to $5 billion through increased or new forms of taxes such as withholding or sales taxes. 3. How will we pay if not through taxes? The expenditures for war not paid for by taxes will have to be paid with borrowed money. Looking at present tax plans, the federal government will have to borrow between $45 to $50 billion in 1943. 4. How much should we raise in taxes? It is impossible to say just how much. It can only be said that we should pay as much in taxes as we possibly can—the more, the safer will remain the economy of the nation. Most congressmen and government officials realize that sizeable additional revenues are needed over and above those pro-

'Arsenic and Old Lace' to Open SUI Theater Season Monday

Comedy Features Old-Maid Sisters, 'Teddy Roosevelt'

"Arsenic and Old Lace," Joseph Kesselring's hilarious comedy which has kept theatergoers in stitches for nearly two years, will open the University of Iowa's 22nd theater season with a six-day run starting Monday. It is the first of at least eight plays planned by Prof. E. C. Mabie, director of the speech and dramatic art department, for the coming season.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding comedy since the Kaufmann and Hart reign on Broadway several years ago, "Arsenic" derives much of its success—like "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "You Can't Take It With You"—from the fact that it is completely irrelevant to the war.

With the majority of contemporary playwrights concentrating on the present struggle, Kesselring's play has produced the opposite effect in giving Americans a psychological uplift by taking their minds off war.

Praised by Critics

When the play opened in New York in 1941, the critics as a body were outspoken in their praise. John Mason Brown of the Post, who, incidentally, is a scheduled speaker on the university's lecture program, summed up the general reaction toward the play when he wrote "Arsenic and Old Lace" is so side-splitting and terrific it can be guaranteed to make even dramatic critics care for the theater. Just when it is threatening to make you scream with terror, it compels you to scream with laughter.

The play revolves about the activities of two delightful, though somewhat batty old-maid sisters who are wont to offer their houseguests an occasional glass of elderberry wine containing among other things, a dash of arsenic. The bodies are then carted nonchalantly to the basement for burial in one of Teddy's Panama Canal boats which he has dug up all unfortunates "yellow fever" victims.

Centered in this eerie and madcap atmosphere is Mortimer, the dramatic critic, supposedly the only sane one of the bunch, who, when rushed, writes his reviews "on the way to the theater" since practically every play is "a little stinker."

This excitement is heightened by the injection of long-lost brother Jonathan into the scene. Since he is a man "who looks strangely like Boris Karloff," the New York audience must have had this fact brought home to them when Boris Karloff himself stepped onto the stage in the original role.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is under the direction of Prof. Vance Morton and settings have been designed by Prof. Arnold Gillette.

Future Plays Listed

"Lost Horizon," a dramatization of the popular James Hilton novel, will open the experimental series when it is presented for a six-day run starting Nov. 8.

Professor Mabie has announced that negotiations are under way for good plays to replace any of those which might be changed.

"For example," he declared, "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward and "Watch on the Rhine" by Lillian Hellman are likely to be available later in the season."

War Savings Stamp To Be Ticket Price To High School Party

A War Savings stamp, to be purchased at the door, is the admission price to the University high school homecoming party to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium. This will follow the football game with West Branch high school at 3 o'clock at the university practice field on Melrose avenue.

In previous years admission prices have paid for an orchestra for the annual dance. This year the students have voted to dance to recorded music. Refreshments will be served.

Fred Zeller, president of the senior class, is in charge of the arrangements. The alumni are invited to attend.

Among Iowa City People

Visiting in Des Moines until the first of November is Mrs. Maude Hess, 2121 F street.

John Raymond Alberhasky, stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training base in Chicago, will arrive home Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alberhasky, 1119 E. Jefferson street.

Mrs. Clyde H. Albrecht, 108 W. Harrison, left Monday for New York to visit her son, Corp. Arthur Albrecht. She was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farnsworth, and their daughter Sandra Sue.

Margaret Chittenden of Chicago left today for Salt Lake City, Utah, after spending a few days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Chittenden, 1101 Kirkwood avenue.

Pilot Officer Gordon Douglas Cremer, RAF flier of London, England, arrived today to visit Prof. and Mrs. Charles B. Righter, 419 Ferson street. Pilot Officer Cremer, Professor Righter's cousin, is on leave from Napier field in Dothan, Alabama, where he is stationed as an aviation instructor.

Prof. E. L. DeGowin, 1218 Yewell street, returned yesterday from a business trip to Washington, D. C.

Basic Skills of Iowa Pupils in Grades 3-9 To Be Tested in 1943

Basic skills essential to school accomplishment of Iowa pupils in grades three to nine will be tested early in 1943, Prof. E. F. Lindquist of the college of education has announced.

The extension division and the college of education will cooperate in the testing program, which will take place between Jan. 13 and 27. The tests provide for the measurement of intellectual skills involved in reading, work-study, language and arithmetic.

Every pupil in every grade will be tested. Each school scores its own papers and reports the results to the university, which will furnish detailed statistical reports to each school.

Chief purpose of the program is to enable teachers and school officials to become acquainted with the educational accomplishments and capabilities of each pupil, so that instruction may be better adapted to his individual needs.

Mortar Board Urges Students Vote Here

Heads of all men's and women's living units on the campus met Tuesday night at Iowa Union under the sponsorship of Mortar Board to announce a new plan of absentee balloting for students.

Cards which students can send to county auditors in order to receive absentee ballots were distributed, to facilitate voting in the national, state and county election Nov. 3.

Cards to send for ballots are also available at the main desk of Iowa Union.

New Officers Named In Spencer Section

New officers of Spencer section, town men's organization, were elected recently. They are: Ted Hess, A3 of Charles City, president; William Reckner, A1 of Des Moines, vice-president; Roland Paulson, A1 of Sioux City, secretary-treasurer; Keith Hamilton, A2 of Ft. Madison, social chairman, and Irving Wansik, athletic chairman.

That clothing will be as smart this year as any other in spite of the acute scarcity of material was proved last night at the combined formal dinner and style show at Currier hall. Although government regulated lengths were evidenced in the jackets and skirts, clothes tend to be even more exquisitely designed with simplicity as a guiding light. Campus togs, still bright and gay, emphasize smart tailored vests and pert pancake hats. Modeling these startling new creations were twenty girls from the dormitory. Models pictured above are from left to right, back row, Marjorie Hargrave, A4 of Des Moines; Marjorie Douglas, A4 of Grand River, and Mary Jane Neville, A2 of Emmetsburg. In the front row are Betty Scheef, A1 of Mason City, and Betty Jean Peterson, A3 of Madison, S. D.

SUI Students Rank Highest In Bar Exams

David Watts of Murray ranked first and Marcellina Hummer of Iowa City placed second in the Iowa bar examinations given at Des Moines this month. Both are graduates of the university college of law.

All of the 28 students who took the bar examinations passed and were admitted to practice. The list of new Iowa lawyers includes: Richard E. Benesh, John F. Bierman, James R. Brown, Mitchell M. Carter, John L. Cockrill, Carl C. Conrad, Edward G. Fogarty, Thomas J. Gilloon, Frank R. Giltoft, Harold R. Grigg, John J. Heffernan, Lewis S. Hendricks, Marcellina Hummer.

The following former S. U. I. students now in the armed forces, because of a recent war provision adopted by the Supreme Court of Iowa, were admitted to practice without having to take bar examinations: Richard M. Adelman, Thomas S. Brown, Dean R. Dort, Tom A. Loudon, H. James McCaskrin and Harlyn A. Stoebe.

SUI Group to Discuss 'World Today' Lecture

The weekly war discussion student group meeting today will feature a discussion based on last night's World Today lecture by Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department. Professor Glockler's topic was "The Contribution of Chemistry to Post-War Problems."

The meeting will be held at 4 o'clock in the lounge of the women's gymnasium. Members of W. R. A., Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and U. W. A. will attend.

Edna Herbst, A1 of Newton, is in charge of the meeting.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter Will Give Address On International Law

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, will discuss "Contemporary Research in International Law" when he presents the third in the 1942-43 Baconian lecture series at 7:30 this evening in the senate chamber of Old Chapel.

Professor Porter has been a member of the political science department since 1919 and was made department head in 1940. He completed his undergraduate work at the University of Michigan in 1914 and his graduate work at the University of Chicago in 1918.

His published books bear the titles "History of Suffrage in the United States," "Country and Township Government," "State Administration" and "National Party Platforms." He is a member of the American Society of International Law.

Gretchen Floyd Feted At Pre-Nuptial Parties

Honoring Gretchen Floyd of Iowa City and Allen White of North English who will be married Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of North Liberty entertained at a miscellaneous shower in their home Friday at 8 p. m.

After an evening of visiting and games, refreshments were served. Oak leaves and orange and black decorations were used to emphasize an autumn theme.

Forty-eight friends and relatives of the couple shared the courtesy.

Dr. and Mrs. Mark L. Floyd, 1802 E. College street, entertained in honor of the couple at an 8 o'clock family dinner party Saturday evening.

A large, hollowed-out pumpkin filled with fruit formed the centerpiece of the table and additional decorations were in Halloween colors of orange and black.

Guests included Miss Floyd and Mr. White, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Floyd, Eugene Floyd, Don Floyd and Nadine Massent, all of Iowa City, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Floyd of Cedar Rapids.

Military Board Leaves Today

University men will have their last opportunity today to interview the five officers of the military advisory board who will leave the campus this noon.

The board, here since Monday, is contacting 42 college and junior colleges in this area.

Maj. L. A. Pollack, acting head of the group, reports that the interest in the interviews has been very gratifying and that the mass meetings held Monday were the best attended and most responsive of any of the board has encountered so far.

Major Pollack also said that university men seem genuinely interested in armed forces reserve plans and that many are making plans based on the advice of the board.

Dr. Robert R. Sears To Address P.T.A.

Dr. Robert R. Sears, director of the Iowa child welfare research station, will address the Longfellow P.T.A. tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. in the gymnasium of Henry Longfellow school. His speech, "A Child's Charter for Wartime," will follow the business meeting at 2:45 p. m.

Mrs. Leo Sullivan is program chairman. The musical portion, under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Small, will include vocal numbers by the boys and girls of sixth grade and a clarinet trio.

Refreshments will be served by the mothers of fifth grade pupils.

Oct. 31 is the date set for the wedding of Ruth Plass, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Plass, 407 Melrose avenue, and Lieut. William A. Buckley, son of Capt. and Mrs. W. C. Buckley, 1132 E. Washington. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents, with Betty Plass and Robert Buckley as attendants. The couple will reside at Ft. Benning, Ga., where Lieutenant Buckley is stationed.

Pharmacy Window Shows Health Front

Patriotically done in red, white and blue, the pharmacy window display for national pharmacy week points out a second front, health standards allied for victory. A copy of the first supplement to the "United States Pharmacopoeia," telling of changes made to meet civilian and military needs, centers the display.

On the right is found an enlarged page with "British Pharmacopoeia" standards for two preparations, and on the left a page of "National Formula" standards. Various editions of the "United States Pharmacopoeia" are arranged in the center.

Practical pharmacy students in charge of the display this week are Bob Hughes, P4 of Emmetsburg; Orlando Pothoff, P2 of Carroll, and Norman Snider, P2 of Grinnell.

Sorority Alumnae To Honor Pledges

Gamma Phi Beta alumnae club will hold its annual tea honoring the pledges at the home of Mrs. Paul Sayre, 326 Magowan avenue, Friday from 4 to 6 p. m.

A yellow and brown fall color scheme will be used in the decoration. Vernetta Schmidt is in charge of arrangements for the event.

Dolphin Follies To Open Nov. 5

Annual Water Show Stated as Highlight Of Iowa Homecoming

The Dolphin Follies of 1943, annual show sponsored by Dolphin fraternity for the past 26 years, will open this season Thursday, Nov. 5, and will continue through Nov. 7.

A highlight of Homecoming week end, the aquacade will have as its nautical theme, "Gobs of Fun." The program will feature a sailor's hornpipe dance, a water ballet, a group of fancy and clown diving events plus many other comedy and thrill numbers.

One of the opening night's main events will be the presentation of the beauty queen and her attendants who are being selected from a group of representatives entered by dormitories and sororities on the campus.

Proceeds of the show will be used to purchase war bonds and stamps in the past, it was customary for the swimmers to take a trip south during the Christmas holidays with the profits of the show, but war restrictions have changed this plan.

Hillel Center to Have Service Tomorrow

Regular Friday evening service will be held at the Hillel student center, 24 1/2 Clinton street, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Rabbi Morris N. Kurtzer will be in charge of the meeting assisted by Harry Dvorsky, A2 of Des Moines.

Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of student affairs, will lead a discussion on "What Students Should Do During the Present Crisis." Special emphasis will be placed on what college men's plans for the future should be.

Before you call Long Distance, please ask yourself:

1. Is it really necessary?
2. Will it interfere with war calls?

TELEPHONE lines—especially Long Distance circuits—are crowded as never before, these war days. Materials to build new lines—copper, rubber, nickel—are needed for the shooting war. So we must get the most out of present facilities.

You can help us keep the wires clear for vital war calls if you will do these two things: (1) Don't call Long Distance unless it's urgent; (2) Call by number if possible and please be brief. Thank you!

WAR CALLS COME FIRST!

Hawkeye practices this week are something to see. The boys are not boisterous, and there's not much shouting or outward demonstration of spirit.

The squad took that Illinois loss to heart, and are determined to make it up this week. And if they shouldn't happen to come out on the long end of the score, those Hoosiers will know they had a game on their hands before the final gun goes off.

This bunch of Hawkeyes has the stuff. Sure, they've made mistakes, and some pretty bad ones at that, some of them in the wrong places. But they're out there trying, and trying hard to win those ball games.

Then, too, it must be remembered that for many of the players it is their first baptism of fire in the country's toughest conference. Keeping that in mind, we feel their performance has been creditable. The material is there. And judging from what we've seen this week, that material is going to make itself evident Saturday.

Latest Big Ten statistics reveal that Tommy Farmer ranks second in the passing department of the conference. Otto Graham, Northwestern's brilliant junior, tops the league with an average of 179.5 yards per game.

Ted (Duke) Curran is the only Iowa man in the first ten men in conference ground-gaining. He ranks ninth with an average of 54 yards a game.

Dr. Mal Stevens, who coached New York University football teams before that institution gave up the sport at the conclusion of last season, believes that colleges should continue to play the game.

The pros are having their own race for scoring honors. Up until a week ago Mervyn Condit, Brook-

Alsab-Shut Out Duel Upset by Long Shot

Dark Discovery Steals $11,300 Gallant Fox Pot From Favorites

Alsab Finishes 2nd, While Shut Out Takes 4th in New York Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The glamour boys of the three-year-olds, Alsab and Shut Out, were so intent on watching each other in the Gallant Fox handicap yesterday that a four-year-old filly who hasn't supposed to have a look-in just about "stole" the $11,300 pot from them.

She was Dark Discovery, a front-running daughter of Discovery from the stable of the Virginia breeder, John A. Bell Jr., and while the Sab and Shut Out—and their riders—spent the time being over-cautious about what each other was going to do, they let the dark chestnut filly scamper 'way out in front and hold on to grab the bankroll.

This mile-and-five-eighths tussle was supposed to come close to deciding the 1942's championship of the three-year-olds, for in their previous get-togethers Shut Out had won the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont stakes for Mrs. Payne Whitney and Alsab had grabbed off the Preakness for Al Sabath.

But, although this was the first time they said "howdy" to each other since the Belmont in June, yesterday's test didn't settle a thing, except that Alsab turned loose some "lick" to finish second to Dark Discovery. Shut Out wound up a well-walloped fourth. Discovery's daughter was a $37.80 for $2 shot.

The $3,000 second money boosted Alsab's earnings to $335,825.

Dark Discovery was clocked in 2:44 1-5 after a slow first mile in 1:41.

Trailing the winner and the Sab at the end was Marriage, two lengths back of Alsab. Shut Out came ambling home fourth, nine lengths out of it.

U-High Drills Against West Branch 'T' Plays

University high's regulars stopped the West Branch plays that the reserves ran against them without much trouble in yesterday afternoon's practice. Steve Nusser imitated Bill Anderson, the Bear's ace passer.

Under the direction of Asst. Coach Merlin Westwick, the reserves ran their plays from the "T" formation and several times fooled the first stringers. Bill Vogel, imitating Don Rummels, West Branch halfback, teamed with Nusser in doing the share of the running.

Later in the afternoon the Bluehawk first team took over and ran a dummy scrimmage against the second string. Don Wagner, Max Seaton and Chuck Kent showed speed in skirting the ends, and Jack Shay was hitting with his passes. Kent may start in the backfield in the homecoming game because he is a senior.

The Blues may throw a passing attack of their own against the Bears. Shay is an accurate passer but has not had too much luck in previous games. DeWayne Ailey is an excellent pass catcher end, and if this pair starts clicking Friday, West Branch will have to look out.

lyn Dodger right halfback, led the pack. Last week Bill Dudley of Pittsburgh replaced him, but once more, by virtue of Condit's 116 yards gained in 12 attempts against the Washington Redskins Sunday, the Dodgers are on top in individual scoring honors.

Green Bay once again stole passing honors when Cecil Isbell displaced Sammy Baugh. Isbell has connected for a total of 703 yards, while Baugh trails with 640.

'Old Gaffers' May Be 1943's Rookie Stars

Babe Herman or Pepper Martin or Some Other Oldie May Be Baseball's Best

NEW YORK (AP)—It would be funny, at that, if next year's major league rookie of the year turned out to be Babe Herman or Pepper Martin or Gabby Hartnett or some other mossy gent who would have to saw off a leg and count the rings to find out just how old he is.

With the army threatening to grab the youngsters who in normal years would be considered top rookie material, we have an idea that many an old gaffer creaking toward the end of his career in the minors is eyeing the future optimistically, and hoping the scouts eyed him the same way.

Next year's major league teams, if any, will be made up of married men with children or 4-F guys able to throw a baseball but not considered able to throw a hand grenade. And with a dearth of the young, single candidates, the door will be open for the old-timers, many of whom slammed it on their way out long ago.

That a gent like Babe Herman, who started his major career with Brooklyn in 1926, would be welcome on many a big league club next year is not at all improbable. He still pastes that ball when he plays with Hollywood. It might be hard to drag him away from his poultry farm, but a photograph record of a Brooklyn crowd at high tide might do it.

We don't know whether Pepper Martin played at all this year as skipper of Sacramento, but the Wild Hoss is the kind of citizen who would be able to get out and play at 80 if he had a mind to. Just give him a chest protector and plant him at third base. Or maybe it would be better to give third base the chest protector. He really tears things up around there.

That popular old perennial, Gabby Hartnett, still is plenty of catcher. Bill Killefer, Phil coach on a scouting expedition, said Gabby, managing and catching at Indianapolis, was the best catcher

Iowa Seahawks Get Second Straight Day Of Heavy Practice

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman sent his Seahawk squad through another heavy practice program yesterday apparently taking advantage of an open week end to toss in as much work as possible.

Bierman stressed speed in yesterday's workout as the entire squad worked on dummies to improve its balance. Later Bierman sent his men through an extended pass session. To finish off the day's work the navy men ran through a scrimmage session and then polished their signals.

Another chalk talk was held last night at 7:45 p. m. The Bierman men have been getting down to work this week since their sound trouncing by Notre Dame last week end.

The Seahawks' next game is with the Indiana Hoosiers at Bloomington Oct. 31.

CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, will enter the navy as a lieutenant commander next week and will direct his team for the last time Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles, Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, said today in a copyright article in his column "In the Wake of the News."

Iowa Hawks Perfect Defense to Stymie Hillenbrand's Passes

Jim Youel Operates in Bill Stauss' Place Against Hoosier Plays

A pass defense aimed at stopping the tosses of Hoosier Billy Hillenbrand occupied Iowa's Hawkees yesterday afternoon as Dr. Eddie Anderson sent the squad through its next-to-last drill before train-time tomorrow morning.

Bob Yelton was operating from John Staak's right tackle slot, while Henry Blum and Bob Lauterbach alternated at the pivot post.

Bill Burkett's injured knee kept him from practice again yesterday, and it is doubtful whether or not he will make the trip to Bloomington. Bill Stauss, who had spent the earlier part of the week limbering up his sore knee, also saw some action at right half yesterday.

Coach Bo McMillin, Indiana mentor, has also spent the greater part of this week concentrating on a defense for Farmer's heaves. Tommy's accurate eye leaves him second in the Big Ten passing records, topping Hillenbrand.

Iowa will feel the loss of Burkett, but the Cream and Crispin is not without its own injuries. Ted Hapes, McMillin's standout at left end, has two injuries which will keep him out of the game entirely, squaring matters somewhat.

An alert Indiana defense will also have to be reckoned with—a defense that has given its last two foes only two first downs. Pittsburgh made none by rushing, while Nebraska pushed over the two.

Wolves Get New Defense ANN ARBOR, Mich., (AP)—Coach Fritz Crisler yesterday gave his University of Michigan football squad a batch of new "defensive signals" for use in its battle with the Minnesota Gophers at Minneapolis Saturday.

There seemed to be sound reason for believing the position was Rickey's to accept or refuse, but it was also apparent that there still are obstacles to overcome.

One of the principal problems might be a settlement of Rickey's contract with the Cards, which expires December 31. This is a participating arrangement in which Rickey receives a share of the profits—and profits for the Cardinals usually are determined to a large extent by the players they sell at the annual winter meetings the first week in December.

His income in salary and bonuses from the Cardinals last year was reported to be approximately $75,000.

BEAHAWKS' WELLS AND BLICKE

Herb Cormack Gives Hawklets Extra Dose Of Passing Practice

Apparently Coach Herb Cormack expects to have an air battle on his hands tomorrow night when his Little Hawks meet the Davenport Blue Devils here on Shrader field for City high's 1942 homecoming. The Hawklet mentor has had his boys concentrate mostly on passing offense and defense this week, and yesterday the Red and Whites got an extra heavy dose.

Bill Sangster has made a name for himself with his passing arm already this season, but he is not the only member of the aerial department. Bob Todd and "Curly" Brack took a crack at the hurling assignments yesterday. Although Todd doesn't have the experience of Sangster, he does a nice job on long shots and Brack throws an accurate short pass.

While the ends and backs worked on passes yesterday, the linemen were engaged in brushing up on their assignments by blocking the dummies. Coach Cormack then lined up his first two teams and ran through some passes and dummy drills on a few new plays.

Due to the absence of Joe Casey on the first team, the Red and White backfield was made up of a couple of new combinations.

Collegiate Cheer To Surround Debut Of Beahawks

Fifteen hundred cadets on parade, the Iowa Pre-Flight school band on the march, tumbling navy cheerleaders, the navy goat and dog—all the atmosphere of an Annapolis naval academy football extravaganza and a collegiate homecoming will surround the first appearance of a Pre-Flight school football team in Iowa stadium Saturday afternoon.

The Beahawks, kid brothers of the famed Seahawks, clash with Wisconsin's "B" squad amid a colorful background at 2:30 while Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Seahawks take their first week or rest in a strenuous football campaign. The game is slated to start at 2:30 with students—whether they yell for or against the Navy crew—admitted for 50 cents.

The entire regiment of Pre-Flight school cadets will parade into the stadium and give exhibitions during halftime. The "crack" platoon of cadets will give an exhibition of fancy precision drilling.

The football game itself should provide plenty of action for Iowa fans while their Hawkeeyes are seeking their first conference victory at Indiana. The Beahawks got on the victory road last Saturday by edging Grinnell, 14-12. The Badger B's are unbeaten.

Additional 57 Tons Boost Sunday Scrap Figure to New High

An additional 57 tons of scrap collected in the county drive conducted Sunday has been credited to Iowa City, Jack White and Dale Scott, co-chairmen of the Johnson county salvage committee, said yesterday.

This contribution raises the total amount gathered in a single day to 252 and boosts the county total for the day to 619 tons.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway turned in 52 tons yesterday, it was reported. The Greer Products company, Coralville, turned in another five tons.

Two Highway commission trucks will make collections today in the residential districts of the city. Those having scrap are asked by the committee to place it on the curbing.

$1,000 Bail Fixed For Frank Stinocher

Bail bond for Frank Stinocher, who was arrested Oct. 10 for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, has been fixed at $1,000.

County attorney's information was filed against Stinocher yesterday.

He was driving the car on highway 9 near Coralville when apprehended.

'Warden Haynes' Former Prison Head Honored

The October issue of "The Palimpsest," pamphlet published monthly by the State Historical Society of Iowa, devotes its contents to the late Glenn C. Haynes, former warden at Ft. Madison.

Prof. Fred E. Haynes of the college of commerce has written two articles in the issue, "Warden Haynes," and "The Warden's Theories," and Jacob A. Swisher of the State Historical society has written "A Good Soldier."

With the death of Warden Haynes on June 6, 1942, his administration of nearly nine years at Ft. Madison was ended. Warden Haynes studied law at the University of Iowa.

During his administration at the state prison, a number of progressive changes were brought about. Warden Haynes stated in the Presidio, monthly magazine published by prison inmates, "I believe men are sent to the penitentiary as a punishment, not for punishment." Among the changes brought about were better sanitary conditions, establishment of the Presidio, a band, and educational opportunities for the prisoners.

Warden Haynes, who served in the rainbow division during the last war, believed in discipline and impartial treatment of the prisoners. If men obeyed rules and regulations, they in turn knew the meaning of fair treatment. Through this type of cooperative

Chest Drive Reaches New High of $12,317

A new high of $12,317.70 has been reached in the drive to fill Iowa City's $13,975 community chest quota, Vern W. Bales, chairman of the campaign, announced yesterday.

The university division of the drive is 99 per cent complete, with only a few departments still unreported.

Bales thinks that perhaps some people were missed when the chest cards were originally sent out or in later solicitation work.

He has asked persons who have not had an opportunity to contribute to the fund to call chest headquarters, 7815, and necessary arrangements will be made.

"We are extremely hopeful that we may be able to put this year's drive over the $13,975 quota," Bales said.

Other minor violations and fines are listed as follows: George Parks, $1 for blocking the sidewalk; Roy Berg, West Branch, $1 for parking in an alley; Thomas Matney, Laurel, $2 for violation of city ordinance 787, and Horace Yeesley, Cedar Rapids, $4 for violation of a city driving regulation.

I.C. Man Graduates From Naval School

Charles H. Eden of Iowa City was among the 30 men that left last week from the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school for their primary training bases.

These men will report for their advanced training at Glenview Primary Training base in Chicago. They will spend three months there and then move on for further advanced training.

The men will spend a total of nine months in training before they are commissioned as ensigns in the U. S. Navy Reserve.

Election Officials Chosen for Johnson County; Deadline for Registration Will Be Saturday

City Clerk William L. Condon warned yesterday that Saturday is the deadline for the general election, Nov. 3.

Condon's office in city hall will remain open during noon hours and until 9 p. m. Saturday to accommodate workers who can not register at other times.

Persons who have never voted in Iowa City before, those who have just become of voting age and women who have changed their names by marriage or divorce are the only ones required to register.

Those already registered who have since moved are required to file their change of address before Saturday. Residence requirements demand residence in the state for six months prior to the date of election.

Three hundred and ten election officials, who will be in charge of the polls and will count votes at the 31 precincts in Johnson county, were announced yesterday by the board of supervisors.

Each precinct has 10 officials. Five serve as a receiving board to instruct voters at the various polling places, and five comprise the counting board.

The nine Iowa City polling places will open at 7 a. m., Nov. 3. Counting will begin in all the precinct polls of the community at 9 a. m. Rural polling places will open at 8 a. m. and will start counting at 1:30 p. m.

Chemistry Will Tend to End Future Wars By Creating National Wealth, Glockler Says

By creating wealth and enabling all nations to have the power and raw materials they desire, independent of national boundaries, chemistry may have much to do with ending wars like the present one, Professor George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, declared last night in a lecture on "The Contribution of Chemistry to Post-War Problems."

Professor Glockler's lecture was one in "The World Today" series, sponsored by the departments of sociology, economics, history and political science.

Physical power and raw materials, both of which are vital to industry, may someday be produced by new methods of harness-

Pledges to Serenade, Salute Actives as Part of Pontonier Initiation

Initiation exercises for pledges of the Pontoniers, engineering unit of the State University of Iowa R. O. T. C., will begin at 8 o'clock this morning with all Pontoniers and pledges reporting in full dress uniform for a flag raising ceremony on the east side of Old Capitol.

During the day pledges will be required to come to attention and salute all Pontonier officers and answer questions pertaining to military. A record will be kept of any mistakes and the prescribed penalty will be meted out in the evening.

At 8 o'clock tonight all Pontoniers will report at the armory for the final initiation ceremony. The program will be under the direction of the junior officers, headed by Charles C. Wright, first sergeant.

After the initiation at the armory, all the Pontoniers will march around and serenade the girl's dormitories. Quantity of singing, not quality will be stressed, and any response will be welcome, officers announced.

Formal Party to Open New Mermaid Room For Naval Officers

The opening of the Mermaid room at the Anchor club is the inspiration for the formal housewarming to be held Friday evening in the Hotel Jefferson for officers of the Navy Pre-Flight school.

A cocktail party at 6:30 p. m. in the Anchor club will precede the initiatory dinner-dance to be held at 8:30 p. m. The Navy band will play for the occasion.

Among the guest officers will be Capt. and Mrs. David C. Hanrahan, Commander and Mrs. John M. Bloom, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. I. C. McKee and Lieut. Commander and Mrs. R. C. Follett.

Tom Martin Arrives in Iowa City to Begin Reelection Campaign

Thomas E. Martin, Republican representative in congress from the first district, arrived in Iowa City last night to begin his campaign for reelection.

Representative Martin said that the opening of his campaign had been delayed at least two weeks by the important tax and draft legislation. He reiterated his support of the 18-19 year old draft bill and predicted that its passage would be complete before election time.

His opponents in the coming election are Vern W. Nall, Democrat of Iowa City, and John A. Huglin, National Recovery party of Fairfield.

'Buddy-Boxes' Club to Send Boxes To Men Aboard

A "buddy-box" for every Johnson county man who is serving abroad or on the seas is the aim of Scribblers' club. Each "buddy-box" contains items such as lightweight stationery, cigarettes, gum, toothpaste or toothpowder, handkerchiefs, soap, shaving cream, razor blades, hard candy, and similar non-perishable things.

November 1 is the deadline set for mailing the boxes, to insure their reaching the boys by Christmas. Mothers and relatives of men who are serving abroad or on the seas may submit the names of the boys to Neva Mae Schaefer (3765), Goldie Kenny (5737), or Betty Kessler (9337).

Scribblers' club is financing the postage and the mailing of these boxes and contributing the contents. Cash donations or items for the boxes may be left at the Adelaide Beauty salon, Motts' Drug store, Bremer's Clothing store and at the air-raid quilt sewing center.

I.C. Youth Accidently Wounds Self in Leg

Dwane McFarland, 16, 127 E. College, is in University hospital recovering from a bullet wound in his leg which was incurred Tuesday when he accidentally shot himself as he was about to leave his home on a hunting trip.

McFarland was carrying his gun over his arm, unaware that the hammer of the weapon was open. He accidentally discharged a bullet into his leg about a foot above the ankle as he was going out the door of the house.

He was taken to the hospital immediately after the accident. According to the doctor's report, it will be necessary to leave the bullet in the bone of the lad's leg. Complete recovery is expected within a few weeks.

Election Candidates Invited to Participate At Open Labor Meet

Johnson county candidates seeking office in the state and county elections, Nov. 3, will be invited to give their views on the labor situation in wartime at an open labor meeting soon, John Stephenson, president of Iowa City local 197 of the A. F. of L., indicated last night.

Republican and Democratic central committee chairmen for Johnson county will be asked to arrange the program, Stephenson said.

Ed Carter of local 197, chairman of the joint union meeting held last Monday night for locals 197 and 12 and independent hospital workers group, has appointed a committee to set a date for the affair. This committee consists of Clarence Hay, president of the A. F. of L. local 12; Verne Eaks, president of the independent organization, and Stephenson.

The meeting in which county political candidates will present their labor views will be held "as soon as possible," Carter declared. Local 197 is an organization of state, county and municipal employees, the Iowa City members of which are chiefly University hospital workers; local 12 is the grounds and buildings workers branch of the American Federation of Labor, and the independent group is also composed of hospital workers.

Dale Sleichter Heads I.C.H.S. Senior Class

Dale Sleichter and Don Winslow have been elected presidents of the senior and junior classes, respectively, of Iowa City high school, Principal W. E. Beck announced yesterday.

Other senior class officers chosen were Ellen Thompson, vice-president, and Don Walters, secretary-treasurer. Wayne Hopp was elected vice-president and Helen Dot Newcomer, secretary-treasurer, of the junior class.

University Chorus Presents Auspicious Debut

By BEULAH STOWE

University chorus opened its concert series for the year with a program of religious music and folk songs, excellently presented and directed by Prof. Herald Stark. A preponderance of women's voices became an asset instead of a problem under Professor Stark's leadership, and the music was well-chosen to utilize the division of vocal sections, with tenor, baritone and bass parts providing the necessary solidarity to offset the higher voices.

The first half of the program opened with Georg Friedrich Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen" from Judas Maccabaeus, embodying the swelling chords and triumphant climax of church music. Next came "Chorus of the Angels" by Franz Schubert. "Descende in Hortum Meum" by Anton Fevin and "Father Most Holy" by Cruger-Christiansen.

in "Father Most Holy," achieved excellent oneness of tone. Lois Biebesheimer's rich contralto voice was well adapted to the difficult chant, "Credo" by A. Gretchaninof, from the Russian Liturgy, as she sang the solo part. She received much applause for her interpretation, sung on several notes, of the story of Christ in the selection.

Richard Koupal, tenor, and Helen Latch, soprano, took solo parts in Gustav Holst's "Psalm LXXXVI." Koupal has a fine tenor voice, which in last night's performance carried the melody of supplication alone, and later, singing above the chorus background Miss Latch sang the soprano solo with great clarity and expression.

Following intermission, the women's chorus sang a group of songs, beginning with three folk songs arranged by Johannes Brahms. In this and in their next selection, "Weary Wind of the West" by Edward Elgar, they proved more than adequately that women's voices alone can form a chorus of marvelous smoothness, great volume when desired, and precise exactness.

Third song by the women's chorus alone was "Gay Young Jack," a Finnish folk song, an amusing tongue-twister around a rapid tempo with a quick stroke of the end.

William Redburn took the baritone solo in "Rantin' Robin," a Scotch folk song, the evening, in which the entire chorus took part. Redburn handled both the music and the complicated dialect well.
