Push Ahead Inside Stalingrad As Reds Advance North of City

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—The Russians today acknowledged their second withdrawal in the battle-torn city of Stalingrad in 24 hours, but reported that the Red army had made gains north-west of Stalingrad and on the Black sea front of the west Caucasus.

The midnight Soviet communique said the Germans had advanced about 200 yards at one point in the factory district of north Stalingrad after gaining about two blocks during the previous night by throwing in huge masses of men, tanks and planes.

At another point, the communique said, a company of motorized infantry broke through Soviet lines to the southwest outskirts of one factory, but was completely wiped out.

The intensity of the fighting in Stalingrad was indicated by Russian claims that Soviet artillery and mortar fire and air attacks had destroyed 12 companies of German infantry (more than 2,000 men), 30 tanks, 90 trucks and 18 artillery batteries.

Moscow radio reported that the Red army's relief attack northwest of Stalingrad had resulted in further Russian gains after fierce hand-to-hand fighting which cost the Germans 1,200 dead.

The communique, referring to fighting in this sector, said the Germans had launched eight counterattacks against one night, but that all the attacks were repelled and the Russians launched counterblows killing more than 500 enemy troops.

Soviet dispatches from the Black sea area reported a dramatic reversal of the military position in which the Nazis were rolled back from Tuapse in heavy mountain combat.

Bomber Pilot Charged With Manslaughter After Plane Collision

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A congressional committee yesterday laid the blame for the crash of an airliner, killing its 12 occupants, to an air rendezvous between the pilot of an army bomber and the co-pilot of the commercial ship.

The two planes collided last Friday night near Palm Springs.

Today, the army formally charged the bomber pilot, Second Lieut. W. N. Wilson of West Los Angeles, with manslaughter.

Met at Party

A few hours later, the congressional committee headed by Rep. Jack Nichols (Dem., Okla.), reported that Lieutenant Wilson and the liner's co-pilot, First Officer L. F. Reppert of Dallas, had met at a party the night before and Wilson had arranged his takeoff from the ferrying command airfield at Long Beach to conform to the liner's scheduled departure.

Air Rendezvous

Nichols said:

"It has developed from the army's board of investigation in Long Beach that Lieut. William N. Wilson on the night before this accident met with the co-pilot of an airliner at a party some place and that night agreed that Lieut. Wilson would time his takeoff from Long Beach to conform with the time of the airliner at Burbank so that they could meet some place in the vicinity of San Gregorio pass.

Lieut. Wilson did overtake an airline flight, probably a short distance west of the pass, and immediately climbed to an altitude of about the same level as the airline plane.

Tries to Get Closer

"After passing the airliner, going a mile or a mile and a half, he crossed over in front from the left-hand side to the right-hand side at approximately the center of San Gregorio pass. In order to get closer to the airliner to see his friend, he again turned toward the airliner.

"He saw that he was too close and at this time made a violent turn to the right to avoid the collision but was unable to do so.

California Army Flier Blamed for Killing 12 in Aerial 'Rezvovous'

Home Accidents More Than War Casualties

CHICAGO (AP)—Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy of the navy said last night that "since Dec. 7, more Americans have been permanently disabled by accidents on the home front than the total of our military forces wounded, captured, and killed in action."

Address on Safety

Admiral Blandy, who is chief of ordnance for the United States Navy, made the assertion in an address written for the annual banquet meeting of the national safety congress sponsored by the national safety council.

"Since Dec. 7," he also told the delegates, "accidents have cost more than three billion man-hours—the same productive energy involved in building one hundred aircraft carriers.

War on Accidents

These startling figures, it seems to me, provide a ready answer to every patriotic American who is sincerely asking, 'what can I do?'" he continued and uninterrupted effort of every American will be needed to win this war, and to hasten the day of victory. Therefore it is in the direct national interest of every American to do his utmost to cut down this accident rate, to wage a personal war on accidents—Axis ally."

Sixteen Children, Workers Killed as Train Smashes Into Over-Crowded Detroit Motorbus

DETROIT (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed and more than a score injured, several critically, yesterday when a Detroit Street railways motorbus, jammed to its doors with school children, office workers and factory employees, was ripped in two by a passenger train.

The bus halted at the Caniff avenue crossing of the Grand Trunk Western railroad to permit a northbound freight train to pass, then moved directly into the path of a southbound passenger train.

The locomotive of the Chicago-Detroit train sliced through the rear end of the bus, hurled the front end to one side, scattered bodies along the right of way for two blocks and ground to a stop a quarter mile away with the bodies of six youths mangled against the front of its boiler.

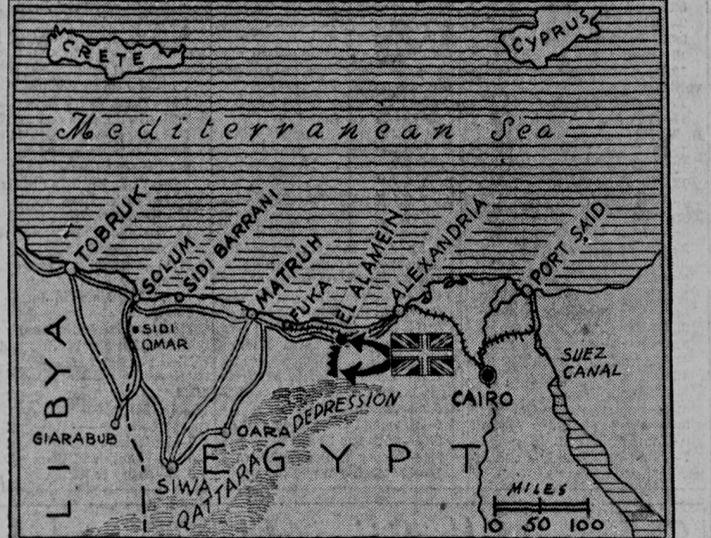

Suburban Hamtramck police took into custody for questioning the bus driver, William F. Clos, 25, who has been a regular motor coach operator for two years.

Fred A. Nolan, general manager of the municipally owned DSR transportation system, said the accident was the worst in the system's history. Mayor Edward J. Jeffries ordered a complete investigation.

Marie Giles, 21, a passenger seated directly behind the bus driver, told how standing riders obscured his vision:

"There was a car ahead of the bus," she said. "When the freight train cleared, this car started across. The bus driver asked the people jammed against the front door if everything was clear. He could not see for himself; the bus was too crowded."

ALLIES CONTINUE ADVANCE WESTWARD IN EGYPT

Offensive of the British eighth army against the Axis forces in Egypt is proceeding slowly as American and British bombers blast Axis armored units and supply concentrations. MacArthur Disavows Political Ambitions Following Accusations

'I Started a Soldier, Will Finish as One', Commander Declares

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEAD-QUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Thursday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today disavowed that he had any "political ambitions whatsoever" and said that "the only hope and ambition I have in the world is for victory for our cause in the war."

He issued a statement to this effect in commenting on newspaper reports quoting the Washington correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor that "political Washington was largely responsible for the establishment of two separate commands in the Pacific, partly because of the conservative opposition which launched the MacArthur-for-president campaign."

Always a Soldier

"I started as a soldier and I shall finish as one," MacArthur said. "If I survive the campaign, I shall return to that retirement from which this great struggle has called me."

He also denied reports that that Australian war effort was not being pushed as it should be.

His statement said:

Supreme War Effort

"No nation in the world is making a more supreme war effort than Australia." It is rapidly gearing to full capacity. Its resources are relatively meager but it is utilizing them to the utmost. Its effort is universal and embraces equally all classes and all parties.

"It has unanimously and completely supported me in my military command and the harmony and cooperation between Australians and Americans in this area are inspirational.

"Such internal party differences as exist are largely based on the desire of one group or the other to accelerate rather than retard the war potential.

Wonderful Spirit

"I am deeply grateful for their magnificent spirit of friendship and understanding without which it would have been difficult to go on."

I have noted the statement quoted in morning papers from the Christian Science Monitor's Washington correspondent that "political Washington was largely responsible for the establishment of two separate commands in the Pacific, partly because of the conservative opposition which launched the MacArthur-for-president campaign."

"I have no political ambitions whatsoever. Any suggestion to the contrary must be regarded as merely amiable gestures of goodwill dictated by friendship.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japanese trying to take the vital airfield on Guadalcanal are being "mowed down" in far greater numbers than the American defenders, the navy announced yesterday in a communique which also described the damage to enemy equipment as "very heavy."

Possibly because of the losses they have suffered since they launched their full-scale offensive on Oct. 23, the Japanese reduced their operations on the night of Oct. 26-27 to several "small scale thrusts" against the American positions. All of these attacks were thrown back.

Otherwise, naval officers interpreted a communique making these announcements yesterday as indicating that the fighting in the Solomons was in a lull. They emphasized however, that there was nothing to indicate that Japanese naval forces had withdrawn from the area of the fighting.

After a series of furious sea battles which erupted at several points in the vicinity of the Solomons over the weekend, it was only natural that both sides should be catching their breath and taking stock of the resulting situation.

Heavy Losses

Describing the losses in the land fighting, the communique said:

"Enemy losses in men and equipment in troop actions on the island since October 23 have been very heavy as compared to our own."

Naval officers added to this information that American losses have been light.

The period covered by the statement of losses included much land fighting. This reached an apparent climax on the night of October 24-25.

Then an attack from the south penetrated positions held by the army. The Japanese were driven back before dawn, however, and all American positions were recaptured. Meanwhile, marines on the north of the airfield gained some ground.

Since then, the communique said, "no report of any action (other than the light thrusts on the night of October 26-27) has been received." Naval officers emphasized that the department here was in continuous touch with the fighting forces in the Solomons.

Looks Situation Over

The situation in the Solomons and elsewhere in the southwest Pacific, as well as the outlook in the middle east, was canvassed during the day by President Roosevelt and the Pacific war council.

Walter Nash, New Zealand's representative on the council, said the emphasis was on "realism, rather than optimism" and added:

"We just looked and saw what the position was and what was likely to happen."

From capital hill, meanwhile, came renewed demands for closer coordination of the armed forces.

"There is an inevitable lack of teamwork when matters common both to the army and navy are handled separately," said Representative Wadsworth (R., N. Y.), co-author of the original selective service act.

Wadsworth endorsed suggestions by Representatives Maas (R., Minn.) and Dirksen (R., Ill.) that a congressional "high command" be created to coordinate military legislation. Dirksen has introduced a bill to set up a 42-man committee composed of senate and house members of the naval, military and appropriations committees.

Creation of such a committee was urged by Maas as a preliminary step toward merging the army, the navy and the marine corps into a single fighting force under one command.

LONDON (AP)—Additional units of United States marines led by Col. William T. Clement, a Bataan-Corregidor hero, have arrived in the British Isles and are at battle stations, the U. S. marine corps headquarters announced last night.

American marine units already here have engaged in joint training with the royal marines.

Colonel Clement was on the staff of Admiral Thomas C. Hart in the Philippines at the outbreak of the war. When Admiral Hart moved his headquarters to the Dutch East Indies, Clement joined the American fighters on Bataan peninsula, serving as liaison between army and navy units until he was ordered to Australia. He escaped from Corregidor island by submarine.

Colonel Clement, who served in Washington for several months before coming here with his leathernecks, received the naval cross for distinguished service in the Far East.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dr. Ewen M. MacEwen, Dean of the University of Iowa medical school, was chosen president-elect of the association of American medical colleges at the final session of the association's annual convention here yesterday.

He will be installed as president at next year's convention, succeeding Dr. Walter S. Leathers, Dean of Vanderbilt university medical school, who took office here.

After being adrift all night on the Pacific, the crew of a patrol bomber forced down by engine trouble is shown being rescued by seamen from a destroyer which came to their aid. Picture shows the seaman passing a line from their whaleboat to the bomber crew, perched on the wing of the plane. The bomber had sprung leaks due to its hard landing and only vigorous bailing by its crew kept it afloat until the men were rescued.

Cut Out Needless Waste

If there is a genius in economic warfare it rests in using to the last drop what we have and improvising only where we do not have.

An example of this form of conservation is related here to show just what can be done.

Shortly after the war started, army officers decided to set up the Army's own printing and binding plant near Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

A consultant in the War Production Board noticed the first order going through and wondered if the government really had to have nine big printing plants before it could fight the Japs and Germans.

Result: the army has its pamphlets done without tying up men and materials in the production of more than a million dollars' worth of unessential new equipment.

Getting Out of Hand

"The public interest" is a term to conjure with in Washington. When lawyers say that anything is "affected with the public interest" they may very well mean that it is "infected" with the virus of state socialism.

One of the latest and worst infections of public interest on the body politic is the Smith-Bone Bill, a new public power measure by two gentlemen from Washington state.

According to a leading reviewer of national legislation, this bill is chock full of concealed federal powers and clever catch clauses. Behind its heavy legal language interpreters see in the bill an authorization for official commissars to take over a plant which they think the government could run better, and seize with it all records on which the owners would have to base claims for compensation.

It creates a federal power czar who could buy private power companies in at his own price virtually, using national funds, including war savings, for the purpose. He could sell indiscriminately and could exercise his own judgment as to whether the power services taken over should be permitted to go on serving their old communities or not.

According to the bill, no private enterprise could buy these acquired properties, even if the community wanted it that way. This language has been construed as paving the way for public power officials to force public ownership on politically independent communities whether they wanted it or not.

The Death of a Democrat

Last week, as it must to every agency (eventually), death came to the Electric Home and Farm authority, of natural causes: there are no more electrical appliances available for purchase.

Born of the New Deal in 1935, the EHFA devoted its life to helping farmers and homeowners to buy appliances on the installment plan. It was preceded in death by two brothers, the NRA, killed by the supreme court, and the CCC, also of natural causes: all men of CCC age are now needed in the armed forces.

With the passing of the EHFA, the spell of immortality surrounding government agencies seems to be broken. Alphabetical survivors of the unfortunate deceased, however, are many.

Theater May Find Its Place Through Elimination Process

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The theater may find its place in wartime by a process of elimination. One avenue which seems to be quite definitely closed is the revival of formerly successful problem plays.

The problems over which 1942 theatergoers were expected to become excited concerned the love affair of a British girl and a young man above her station. The father preached humility and keeping place from the first scene to the last, and a dozen years ago probably would have aroused some sympathy.

However, nobody in this age gives a hoot about station, and humility is a virtue with little virtue, if I am not being ambiguous. You're only on this globe once, and you don't have to respect the wishes of others who would like to have you remain a cabinet maker or a gunsmith or whatever.

Yet there were two things about this Drinkwater play which made it of more than passing interest to me—one the characterization of the father, although not particularly as it was done by Harry Irvine, and the other a great job of acting turned in by a sparse little man named Harry Sothern.

Intentionally or not, Drinkwater made of the father the worst of the old-time parents as they are now viewed. He was concerned with his daughter's morals, which is credible enough, but by anticipating the troubles daughter could get into, he stood out quite clearly as a person with an essentially unclean mind. There were a great many like this father, years ago, and at the time they were looked up to as upstanding, God-fearing men who would tolerate no evil.

Sothern's characterization of a birdlike little nonentity named Blanquet, "pronounced Blanky, not Blanket, as I am of French ancestry," will be remembered much longer than the revival of "Bird In Hand."

Blanquet traveled in sardines, as he put it, and he was one of those unsuccessful people who have tried everything and stud their conversation with "I used to be." In his genteel long-tailed coat, which at one point he used in an inadequate attempt to cover his flopping night shirt and spindly shanks, Harry Sothern was the most pathetic and ludicrous figure to appear on the Broadway stage in many months.

Somervell Stirs Up Trouble

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—Brigadier General Erehon Somervell has stepped on a couple of important toes which happen to be sensitive, those of War Production Director Donald Nelson and Man-Power Paul McNutt.

It seems that General Somervell's old tangle with Mr. Nelson on the distribution of war materials, and the various intricacies of unresolved conflicting powers between the war department and WPB, has been followed by a tangle with Mr. McNutt over the man-power draft policies.

As a matter of fact, Mr. McNutt was none too assertive in his appearance before the senate committee on the man-power problem. Very significantly, he said that he would only present a report to the president, and broadly suggested that he did not propose to speak for the administration.

His strong views for an arbitrary draft have never been approved by any other authority in the government, and there is every indication that Mr. Roosevelt will recommend another course, in which case both General Somervell and Mr. McNutt might find their current argument purely academic. General Somervell is an old associate of Harry Hopkins from WPA days in New York, but Mr. Hopkins has not been around up front much lately.

Mr. McNutt is the most prominent, if not the only, presidential candidate for 1944 yet in the field, as far as the front pages are concerned.

Thus, the fate of two of the most prominent personalities of the administration are involved in the president's impending decision on the critical man-power problem.

NEW PROPAGANDA FAN TAN The Japs seem to be playing some kind of new Oriental fan tan with the Tokyo propaganda lately. To turn up publicly with eight prisoners from the Doolittle raid, seven months after they were captured, seemed a strange circumstance in itself, but to announce that these men had confessed they had orders to bomb non-military objectives, such as schools, churches and hospitals, is an absurdity which even the Japanese cannot expect anyone to believe.

Some uninformed civilians might believe these various stories put out by both sides, blatantly and continuously, by Hitler and the Japs, that churches, schools, hospitals and such are being savagely destroyed by us and the British. But, any thinking person can see that no one carries a bomb into enemy territory at great effort and expense to waste it on such inconsequential (militarily) objectives.

refineries. But when they are hit, it is a very inefficient and foolish mistake of the pilot. He is just not doing the job he was sent to do.

This is the silliest of all Axis propaganda lines, obvious fiction which they only expect the very, very stupid to believe, and hardly worth the trouble of putting it out. The only mystery is why Tokyo chose to use it at this time.

The whole affair suggests the Japanese people are uneasy at the lack of favorable war news in the past few months, and that Tokyo is forced to resort to digging news out of the past, and flavoring it with fairy tales for home consumption.

REPUBLICANS ON THE UPGRADE The average Washington guess is that the Republicans will gain 20 to 22 seats in the house this fall and 5 in the senate. That probably represents a consensus of opinion among congressional and political leaders.

The Dunn survey, which is respected among business people, predicts a Republican gain of 30 to 32 seats, but 52 are needed for a Republican majority. No one, therefore, seems to be predicting a Republican house as yet, except a few Republican leaders who have gotten together with their pencils and worked out the possibility that they might win by a majority of 10. But most expect about 25 seats will be gained, not enough to give a Republican majority.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS. Illustration of a man and a woman.

Very Little Change In Movie's Capitol

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is Hollywood again. Go away for a while and then come back, and you find it the same but always different.

There doesn't seem to be much more doubt about what's going to happen to the double feature. The industry's big headache (at least according to its opponents) is yielding to the curative influence of those bitter war pills—film curtailment and, secondarily, star shortage.

Ney, Robert Preston, George Montgomery, John Payne. In the world of rations, gasoline had replaced tires as the consuming topic. There was a general feeling that "they can't do that to us"—that some recognition would be taken of the town's appalling distances. Sugar? It was just a pet name for a chryrine.

In the world of romance, there'd been changes made. Ann Sheridan and George Brent had publicly called it off. Virginia O'Brien had married Kirk Alyn, and Rita Hayworth and Victor Mature were still the most spotlighted hand-holders—when Mature could get leave from the army.

There had been the usual title changes—a movie you left as "The Man on America's Conscience" was now "Tennessee Johnson" (a switch all for the good) and "Sweet or Hot" was "Seven Days Leave," and so on. It takes a while to track down these things, but it's advisable—for all fans—if you want to know what epics to avoid.

The Hollywood Canteen, after a gala-gala opening, was still flourishing, drawing the names and the uniforms, but the usual movie town night life was struggling through precarious times. Tax anticipations continued to keep the champagne corks from popping with the old easy frequency.

They were still announcing new productions, new castings, new finds—Van Johnson was being touted at Metro, Marcy McGuire at RKO, and so on. They were still "pre-viewing" films that played on Broadway and way points weeks ago—a quaint Hollywood custom springing from the consent decree and Hollywood's old desire to have its bad pictures spared advance panning.

This is Hollywood again, all right, all right.

Local Author Assists With Chicago Benefit

Emilie Blackmore Stapp, member of the Iowa Authors' club, was among the authors taking part in the recent autograph book party held in Chicago. The affair was sponsored by the United States treasury department and the Holy Cathedral Book club.

Authors, artists and columnists of the middle west attended to autograph the courage bouquets. Among the distinguished guests were Carl Sandburg and Sergeant Alvin York, $283,000 of bonds and stamps were sold as a result of the evening's effort.

Miss Stapp's book, "Isabella the Wise Goose," brought $800. It is a beautifully bound book and printed with over 30 illustrations in three colors; a wonderful addition to a child's library.

Among the prizes going to the highest bidders for bonds was an original Lincoln letter. There were also an autographed set of the President's books and a signed copy of one of Kipling's.

New Rules Adopted By Graduate College Concerning Abstracts

New rules have been adopted for publishing abstracts of doctors' dissertations, faculty members of the graduate college announced. Rules now provide that the larger departments may publish abstracts of dissertations in their departmental volumes if they wish to do so.

The objects of the measure are to secure early publication, to establish priority, and to secure effective distribution of dissertations to libraries, national organizations and specialists in the fields represented.

Seals Club Banquet Honors New Probates

The annual Seals club banquet in honor of new probate members was held last night at Iowa Union with the 25 probates and the instructors of the women's physical education department as guests.

Jean Knight, A4 of Cedar Rapids, was mistress of ceremonies, and Prof. Marjorie Camp presented a short history of Seals club. Other speakers were Anne Oliver, A3 of Schenectady, N. Y., probate sponsor, and Elva Jane Bolle, A3 of Highland Park, Ill., president of the club, who presented probate emblems.

SORORITIES DRAFTED FOR HOMECOMING BADGE CAMPAIGN

The sorority women grouped around the old-fashioned candy bowl filled with black and old gold capsules are waiting to receive their draft numbers for service in the university's army of Homecoming badge saleswomen. Under this novel plan devised by Prof. Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the badge sales committee, the four sororities that are to sell badges each year were determined through the number drawn by sorority representatives. Shown kneeling from left to right are Betty Cohen, Sigma Delta Tau; Marjette Fritchen, Alpha Chi Omega; Mary Sparks, Chi Omega; Clare Sherman, Kappa Alpha Theta; Dorothy Miller, Delta Gamma; Sally Brauch, Alpha Xi Delta and Helen Bryant, Zeta Tau Alpha. Standing are Shirley Gillett, Alpha Delta Pi; Shirley Bieg, Gamma Phi Beta; Elaine McDonald, Delta Delta Delta; Bette Rae Bartell, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Kathleen Hennessy, Pi Beta Phi.

12 University Women Select Dates to Sell Homecoming Badges

A group of 12 university women composed of representatives from each sorority gathered around an old-fashioned candy bowl filled with black and old gold capsules to receive their draft numbers—not for Uncle Sam's army, but for service in the university's army of Homecoming badge saleswomen during the next three years.

Since Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Sigma Delta Tau representatives drew numbers 1942, their groups will go into active service with the beginning of the 1942 badge sales campaign next Wednesday.

Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta and Chi Omega drew 1943, and will be given an opportunity to serve next year. The draftees for 1944 are Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi.

The numbers were contained in the 12 black capsules mixed in among the gold. Carrying out the procedure of a formal draft, Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs, acted as drawer, handing a capsule to each of the representatives.

Prof. Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the badge sales committee, devised the novel method, which gives all the sororities, over a period of three years, an opportunity to sell badges. For the past 18 years Homecoming activities have been financed entirely by the sale of badges by sorority women.

To Give Hallowe'en Party

An old fashioned taffy pull will be the feature of the evening at the Hallowe'en party to be given by Kathryn Gunnette Saturday at 8 o'clock. Miss Gunnette will entertain 15 persons in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Roy Willey of Oxford.

The date for the speech of Dr. Krishnalal Shridharani was incorrectly stated in yesterday's Iowan as Saturday. The speech will be held on Sunday.

The talk, sponsored by the India League of America, will be held in the Methodist church at 3 p. m. and is open to the public.

Games and dancing will follow the dinner. Families of the three groups are invited to attend, bringing with them a covered dish and table service for themselves and two additional persons.

Hawks Prepare for Passing Attack

U-High Concentrates On Defense for Tipton

Coach Paul Brechler gave U-high's eleven a stiff defensive workout yesterday afternoon in order to get them ready for the high scoring Tipton machine tomorrow night. Tipton plays, run by the reserves, were almost always stopped without gain.

Under the direction of Assistant Coach Merlin Westwick, the reserves tried a variety of plays. Steve Nusser imitated Bud Weller, Tipton's passing ace, and hit his receivers several times, but for the most part the varsity backs knocked them down.

Whirly Runs Alone Wins Pimlico Special In Walkover

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sixty-nine horses raced for all they were worth at Pimlico yesterday, but the seventhieth ran around the track unopposed and won the glory and a major portion of the money distributed.

Warren Wright's Whirlaway, running his fifty-fifth race in nearly three years, won his thirtieth victory in a walkover to take down the $10,000 invitational Pimlico special.

The purse raised his all-time winnings to $538,336, or $100,606 more than the record of his nearest rival, Seabiscuit, whose mark Whirly surpassed when he won the Massachusetts handicap on July 15 of this year.

The Maryland jockey club, paying honor to the great son of Blenheim II-Dustwhirl, named two of the secondary races on today's opening program for his sire and dam.

The winner covered the two miles and 70 yards in 3:30 4/5, and returned $4.00, $2.70, and $2.20 at the mutuels.

Berto Impersonated By Carideo, Vacanti

Duke Curran Probable Starter at Left Half; Hoerner Still Absent

Iowa's football team overhauled its pass defense yesterday with great detail for an anticipated aerial barrage when Purdue's Boilermakers came to town Saturday.

Backfield Coach Frank Carideo and Sam Vacanti, reserve half-back, did the throwing on a reserve team using Purdue pass plays. They impersonated Tony Berto, chief Boiler passing threat. The Hawkeyes also worked on Purdue running plays and formations.

Bill Burkett, who Tuesday returned to the varsity despite his bad knee, was back on the sidelines limbering up while Bill Barbour, who went 60 minutes against

City High, Franklin Of Cedar Rapids Play In Parlor City Tonight

Some new faces will probably appear on City high's starting lineup tonight when the Red and Whites try to rack up another conference victory by defeating the Franklin Thunderbolts at Cedar Rapids. Jim Bierman is a sure starter at an end post and it is a tossup between "Bucky" Walter and Don Williams for the other wing position.

Bob Arn may be seen at Howard Brown's guard slot with Tom Hirt handling the other assignments and Dick Lee and Dean Yanquish taking their usual tackle berths. Dave Danner, regular end, will get the nod at left half and Joe Casey, Bob Roth and Bill Sangster will complete the Little Hawk backfield.

After watching Coach Herb McCormack run his boys through drills this week, it looks as though most of his backs can be converted into linemen and vice versa. Casey, tonight's game captain, was even tried at center during yesterday's session.

Although Casey is probably in the best shape he has been in for the last two weeks, George Ware will undoubtedly see action and if the Davenport game was any indication of his grid abilities, this hard hitting little back will be the cause of many a Thunderbolt headache.

Game in South All-Star Laden

ATLANTA (AP)—Are you looking for a preview of this year's All-American football lineup? Then try the Georgia-Alabama game here Saturday.

Even if the game didn't match two unbeaten, untied bowl teams—Alabama's Cotton bowl champions vs. Georgia's Orange bowl winners—it would have been a crowd-puller with Frankie Sinkwich. The flat-footed fireball, sole holderover from last year's All-America backfield, is hotter than tobacco this season as the nation's leading ground-gainer.

But he'll have spotlight competition, both from Alabama and from his own team-mates like End George Poschner, Guard Walter Runk, and his understudy, Charlie Trippi.

Sure to be weighed in final All-American selection is Alabama's brawny captain, Joe Donnanovich, a standout candidate for center, called by Coach Frank Thomas the ablest diagnostician of opposing plays ever to wear the Crimson. Another is Don Whitmire, Alabama's bear-like candidate for All-American tackle, a huge chunk of football dynamite.

Poschner, once a high school teammate of Sinkwich at Youngstown, Ohio, has blossomed into one of the south's greatest ends this season.

Seahawks Work Out On Passing Defense For Hoosier Contest

The Pre-Flight school's Seahawks worked on pass defense and kickoff work yesterday in preparation for their grid tilt with Indiana at Bloomington Saturday.

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman also held a dummy scrimmage in a comparatively light workout yesterday afternoon. To polish off the day's drill the Seahawks ran touchdown plays.

It was learned yesterday that there will be no more scrimmage sessions the rest of the week before the Bierman men tangle with the Hoosiers. The Seahawks have been taking light workouts this week after engaging in heavy drills last week.

In their meeting with the Hoosiers it will be the fourth Big Ten foe for them thus far this season. They have already beaten Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan in the Western conference.

Indiana has not entered in the win column in Big Ten competition this season. Last Saturday they were beaten by Iowa's Hawkeyes 14-13.

Manse Tops Fairchild In Intramural Football

Beaten but once in intramural grid play, Manse ousted Fairchild from the ranks of the unbeaten yesterday, 20 to 6. Max Richardson and Hoyt shared scoring honors for Manse, and Wright led for the losers. Manse and Jefferson will tangle Monday for the co-operative dormitory championship.

Iowa Mountaineers To See Color Movies At Illustrated Lecture

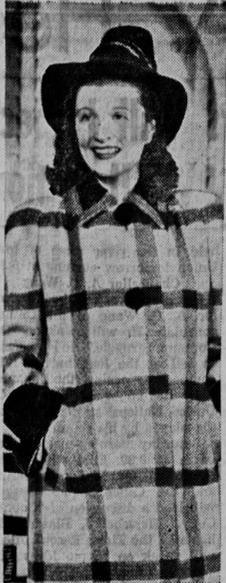

An illustrated lecture on the Iowa Mountaineers program will be presented tonight at 7:30 in room 223 of the engineering building by Mrs. W. G. MacMartin of Tama, Iowa, Iowa club-woman. Her lecture will deal with a South American tour which she recorded in color and titled "The Wonderland of the Andes."

The lecture will be preceded by a color movie of "The Desert in Bloom."

Mrs. MacMartin has traveled extensively and has held many important positions in women's organizations. At present she is president of the Tama County Historical Society of Iowa.

Her South American tour took her down the west coast of South America by boat and plane, across southern South America by Pan American highway and plane, and up the east coast.

WAACs to Launch New W.R.A. Health Program

'Hale America' Plan Will Be Introduced To Women Tonight

SUI Mass Meeting To Climax Day-Long Discussions of War

"Hale America," a new war service and physical fitness program sponsored by the Women's Recreation association, will be introduced to all university women in a mass meeting at 7:30 tonight in Macbride auditorium.

Third Officers Donna I. Niles and Jane Mauerhan of the women's army auxiliary training corps at Ft. Des Moines will speak at the meeting, after participating in war service discussions of several university women's groups throughout the day.

The program for the day's activities was written by Janet Dennis, A2 of Cedar Rapids. Margaret Mordy of the women's physical education department and director of the Johnson county Hale America program, will head the university "Hale America" activities.

Master of ceremonies at tonight's meeting will be Natalie Wells, A4 of Highland Park, Ill., chairman of the war service committee. Pauline Mudge, A2 of Edinboro, Pa., Betty Lou Little, A2 of Kingsley, and Shirley Mereness, A3 of Lima, Ohio, will introduce the "Hale America" program in a skit written by Mary Louise Nelson, A4 of Laurens.

Group singing will be led by Enid Ellison, A4 of Webster Groves, Mo. Members of the freshman physical education class will serve as ushers.

University faculty and staff women will entertain Officers Mauerhan and Niles at luncheon this noon in Iowa Union. This will be the first of the group's luncheon meetings this school year.

Prof. Clyde W. Hart Speaks to Lions Club On Opinion, Morale

"Modern wars are fought fully as much on the opinion front as they are on the military front," Prof. Clyde W. Hart of the sociology department said yesterday in a speech on "Public Opinion and Morale." Professor Hart spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Lions club in Reich's pine room.

Modern, mass, mechanized warfare—the blitzkrieg technique—means that public opinion must be organized as thoroughly as the armed forces, he declared. The farms, factories and transportation systems must be kept going at maximum speed if military operations are to succeed. That is the job of the morale-builder.

Wars today are fought on three fronts, according to Professor Hart. The military front sees the actual combat, the economic front produces material to fight the war and the public opinion front is concerned with civilian morale. "An effective organization of all activities about the collective purposes of the group is the basic meaning of the word 'morale,'" Professor Hart asserted. "Good morale corresponds closely to teamwork on the football field."

Friends of Vern Nall For Congress Show Up Opponent's Voting Record

They say Martin voted "No" on 15 out of 17 vital defense measures. Silent on pension grab.

"There are 1,200 American prisoners in concentration camps today who could tell you that the present Congressman from the First District of Iowa lacked foresight when in 1939 he voted against providing for a naval air base at Guam, yet Mr. Martin defends his vote on this and 14 other preparedness attempts and indicates he'd do it again," friends of the candidacy of Vern W. Nall, Iowa City, Democratic candidate for Congress from the First District, point out.

"The present Congressman continues to defend his vote against a survey of Alaskan waters that same year, yet Japanese now are entrenched in the Aleutian Islands. Too, he voted against strengthening the coast guard and thousands of men aboard hundreds of oil tankers, and merchantmen carrying vital supplies, went to the bottom as victims of Axis U boats.

"Certainly Martin's voting to eliminate 1,283 planes from an appropriation bill was good news to Adolph and Goering as their Luftwaffe only three months later destroyed Poland. This Congressman's vote against sending arms to China, Russia and England brings up the question, where would we be today if enough other Congressmen showed the regrettable lack of vision displayed by Martin in his voting? We would be fighting alone!"

"The Congressional Record shows Martin voted against an appropriation for the improvement of the vital Panama Canal.

"When the selective service act came up, at a time when France and the Low Countries had fallen, Representative Martin voted against this measure. Likewise, he voted against the 18 month extension of selective service. The same thing was true of Lend-Lease bill passage and the supplying of weapons for Britain and other Allies. Where would we be today without our Allies? they ask. Friends of Nall indicate that Martin did not raise his voice against the Congressional Pension Grab bill and that he voted against permitting the State of Iowa to tax his salary. Yet he helped hold up a raise in Service Men's pay for thirty days. Martin's voice on favorable farm legislation was never raised. Nall's friends point out, in asking that voters of all parties vote November 3rd for Vern W. Nall for Congressman from First District.

Born on Farm, Nall Is Successful Businessman

Vern W. Nall, Iowa City, asks your vote for Congressman from the First District on his past record of constructive action as an Iowa business man and civic leader . . . and on his desire to help win this war and the peace thereafter. Fern raised, Nall enlisted in the Navy in the last war, then took a job with an automobile manufacturer. For many years, he has owned and operated a thriving Chevrolet dealer-ship at Iowa City. He has had State and National recognition as an able, honest businessman and has served on policy making national committees on farm insurance and other constructive measures.

The Election is November 3. Vern Nall is a candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket.

Fuel Oil Applications Extended to Saturday

The deadline for filing fuel oil applications with the Johnson county rationing board has been extended to Saturday, the regional office of price administration announced yesterday.

Application blanks have been distributed through the fuel dealers. Any person not receiving an application should contact his supplier or go directly to the Johnson county board.

Bus Extension Denied by ODT

A petition for the extension of the Kirkwood avenue bus route, in the form of a letter from City Attorney Louis Shulman, has been denied by the office of defense transportation, it was announced here yesterday.

In answering Shulman's letter, H. B. Potter, assistant director of the division of local transportation, said "We have, of necessity, adopted the attitude that new bus operations in purely residential areas where private automobiles were formerly used, must not be installed."

Potter expressed the opinion that transportation problems could be solved with well organized group riding plans, and that a two mile walk was not unreasonable under war conditions.

Potter's letter ended saying that nothing could be gained from further investigation by the ODT as suggested by the Iowa City council.

Chancellor A. C. Wang

Guest speaker will be Chancellor A. C. Wang of the Chinese consulate. He will speak on "Our Common Struggle." He is expected to tell of the long battle of his compatriots against the Japanese, and the important role in the United Nations' strategy now being played by his country.

Saturday morning meetings will begin at 9:30. Elizabeth Wherry, columnist for Wallace's Farmer and the Cedar Rapids Gazette, will lead a discussion of "Country Copy." Herschel J. Blazer, publisher of the Times Record, Aledo, will speak on "Some Ideas That Work in Illinois."

W. Earl Hall, managing editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, will be the last speaker of the day. He will explain the regulations of the office of censorship.

A board meeting will be held for Iowa press women tomorrow and a general business meeting will be held on Saturday. The whole program is streamlined to war dimensions. Jean Olson, Story City, president of the Iowa Press women, stated, "Fun schedules will be eliminated. Only convention business pertaining to the all-out war effort and the conservation of values essential to a free press will keynote the convention."

Eighty-six Johnson county selectees departed yesterday morning for the state selective service induction station, Walter Shoquist, clerk of the local board, announced yesterday.

The men will take their final examination and be inducted into the United States army.

Following the induction they will return to Iowa City to begin a 14-day furlough.

Seventeen-year-old Lester Roy Richards of Waucoma, a freshman in the college of liberal arts, committed suicide by hanging himself yesterday morning in his room, 201, Commons.

The body was found at 10:30 by the maid, Richards, dressed in his pajamas and bathrobe, had tied his feet together and had looped a strap around his neck and hung it over a projection from the wall while sitting on a chair. He then knocked the chair out from beneath himself.

No suicide note could be found and there was no apparent motive for his action. The coroner decreed that death was by strangulation and said there would be no inquest.

George Anderson, Richards' proctor at the Commons, said that the lad seemingly had no worries about his studies or military service. Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of the office of student affairs, reiterated the fact that Richards was "up on his studies."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Richards of Waucoma, came to Iowa City immediately upon receiving news of the tragedy. Mrs. Richards said that her son had spent the last weekend with his family at home and had seemed normal in all respects.

The body, which was at the McGovern funeral home until late last night, was sent back to Waucoma. His personal belongings were also returned.

Let's Look At The Congressional Record!

In an advertisement, the present congressman from our first district, in an attempt to defend his voting record on vital defense measures, stated:

"I restate that every vote I cast was for the purpose of preparing our countries for the eventualities of war."
"I voted for every sound measure, including every appropriation that would help us prepare for war."

To save this man the embarrassment of spreading his voting record before you, we herewith list it as it appears in the Congressional Record to which he refers:

THE VOTING RECORD OF THOMAS E. MARTIN, candidate for re-election as your Representative in Congress in helping us prepare for war:

- 1. Guam Naval Base He voted NO
- 2. Survey of Alaskan Waters He voted NO
- 3. Increasing facilities of Coast Guard He voted NO
- 4. An Appropriation for Military Planes He voted NO
- 5. To Lift Arms Embargo He voted NO
- 6. Neutrality Revision He voted NO
- 7. Acquisition of Tank Corps Area of Camp Knox He voted NO
- 8. To Improve the Defenses of the Panama Canal He voted NO
- 9. Selective Service Act He voted NO
- 10. Extension of Selective Service He voted NO
- 11. Lend Lease Bill He voted NO
- 12. Seizure of Axis Ships He voted NO
- 13. A Bill to Conscript Industry He voted NO
- 14. To Lift Belligerent Zone Ban He voted NO
- 15. Two Power Dams for Defense Purposes He voted NO
- 16. Lease Lend Appropriation He voted YES
- 17. Arming Merchant Ships NOT VOTING

He Says He Would Do It Again
Fifteen out of seventeen times he voted wrong. Yet, Mr. Martin defends his own lack of foresight. In the advertisement quoted above, he says:

"Even if I could change my vote on these measures . . . I would not do so."

How can he defend such a voting record before the mothers and fathers of our soldiers? What will he say when the peace is being written? Will his partisan blindness which has always influenced his vote, make him the same sort of obstructionist, and thus prevent a lasting peace?

We want our sons home as soon as possible. We also want to know that their sons will not fight another war in twenty-five years. A man who voted wrong on preparedness cannot be trusted to vote right on the peace.

Let's Support Our Commander-in-Chief
Let's win the war and win a lasting peace. Let's support the Government of the United States. Elect Vern W. Hall, a capable citizen with an abundance of good judgment and business ability.

Let's Elect a Statesman with Foresight for Congress!
