ONE MISS ALREADY—TWO MORE TRES COMING UP

By WALT BYERS

After fighting a fierce battle, the British cruiser HMS Exeter won all the major damage except for a hit below the waterline, the official account of the battle said yesterday. The cruiser, which was engaged in the Rotterdam area, was hit by a German 155mm shell that reportedly killed 10 men and wounded 20 others. In a statement purporting to come from the cruiser, the Exeter's commanding officer said that the cruiser had sustained "considerable damage" and would have to be repaired before it could return to service.

50 German Bombers Conduct Biggest Raid Since Battle of 1940

LONDON (AP)—German long-range bombers again struck Britain last night with the heaviest raid since the Battle of 1940, British radio announced. The raid was said to have lasted for over two hours and involved more than 50 bombers. However, the official account of the battle said yesterday that the cruiser, which was engaged in the Rotterdam area, was hit by a German 155mm shell that reportedly killed 10 men and wounded 20 others. In a statement purporting to come from the cruiser, the Exeter's commanding officer said that the cruiser had sustained "considerable damage" and would have to be repaired before it could return to service.

Roosevelt's Promise Already Carried Out—'

'Major Decisions of Strategy' Accomplished

By ERIKE L. EMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's promise of a big decision already accomplished. The President had promised a "major decision of strategy" before the end of the year, and he has delivered. The decision is the establishment of a new military command that will bring the United States closer to winning the war. The new command, known as the "Western Theater Command," will be headed by General Hjalmar Hill, who has been working on the project for some time. The President said yesterday that the command would be "the most important step we have taken in the war so far." The President also announced that he would be sending additional troops to the Western Theater, bringing the total number of American troops there to over 1,000,000. The President said that this would be the "last step in our strategy."

District Convention of Baptists to Be Held
In Iowa City Tomorrow Afternoon, Evening

A district convention of local Baptists, which will attract approximately 1,000 persons from the counties and metropolitan area of the state, will be held in Iowa City tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The object of the convention is to give the Baptists an opportunity to carry on additional responsibilities in Christian work.

Plans for the one day program which have been made by the convention of the Rev. Elbert B. Riechers, pastor of the Cedar Rapids First Baptist Church and chairman of the convention, include morning services in the McBrearty hall at 1:30, a dinner to be served at 3:00, and a public meeting in McBrearty hall at 7:30.

The Rev. Mr. Riechers, who is reports seven hundred weekly subscribers in the past eight months, noted that the newspaper business, which he has been in for five years, those papers which are written by the top of every week, and small city papers are better than those turned out in well-equipped plants, he stated.

At the conference ended of last November after a branch for many newspapers given by the I.P.L., a branch began writing in order to be able to write.

Concert to Feature Tone Poem by Professor Addison Alspach

Composer to Direct
Own Piece 'Tomesha'

Symphony to Play Music by Stanford, O'dandy Wednesday

'Tomesha,' a tone poem composed by Prof. Addison of the music department, will be one of the numbers to be presented on the second concert of the University Symphony scheduled for Nov. 7. It will be the first performance of the composition at the University. Also included on the program will be a study by H. V. S. Stabler, "Symphony number 2. 1791 TV," and 'Symphony No. 31, Theme and Variations,' by Mozart. The symphony will be conducted by Prof. Per K. Anderson, national honorary swimming co-ordinator.

First Performance
Wednesday's performance of Prof. Anderson's 'Tomesha' will be the first performance of the composition. Although it was composed in 1932, none of the members of the orchestra has been able to perform it, and the piece is one which American audiences have become familiar with through the 'Symphony of Indian Music,' a record made by the University orchestra in 1932 under the direction of Prof. Anderson.

The composition, which has been long awaited by students and faculty, is the first piece to be performed by the orchestra in 1932 and is one of the numbers to be played at the University's second concert of the season.

The composition is made up of three movements: the first, a slow movement; the second, a scherzo; and the third, a slow movement, with a coda.

In the first movement, the orchestra plays in unison, with the violins playing a slow, melodic theme, while the other instruments play in a more rapid tempo. The second movement is a scherzo, with the orchestra playing a lively, dance-like theme. The third movement is a slow movement, with the orchestra playing a slow, melancholy theme, which is followed by a coda.

The composition is based on the music of the American Indians, and is a tribute to the native American people. It is a composition that is both beautiful and dramatic, and is one that is sure to please music lovers.
