Stalin Reveals Huge German Loss in Soviet

Asserts 2nd Front Will Be Launched 'Sooner or Later'

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Saturday (AP)—Premier Stalin told his people today that the Soviet army "has put out of action more than 8,000,000 enemy officers and men," and declared "the day is not far off when the enemy will feel the force of new blows of the Red army."

This hint of an imminent Russian counter-offensive against the Nazis followed the premier's statement yesterday that the allies would open "a second front" against Germany in Europe "sooner or later."

Soviet Anniversary
The suggested new war developments were made in an order of the day commemorating the 25th anniversary of Soviet revolution, and he told the Russians that the fighting on the Russian front "is becoming more and more tense."

However, he said the Germans were "considerably weaker" than last year, and their forces "have been blunted and stretched to the limit."

The Red army, he declared in the order of the day, "is carrying the full weight" of the war against the axis, "and by its self-sacrificing struggle it has won the love and respect of all freedom-loving peoples of the world."

In his speech yesterday Stalin spoke only to Moscow members of the Communist party and other special organizations in a secret meeting place.

Reds Hurl Back New Nazi Attacks

MOSCOW, Saturday (AP)—The Russians announced today that repeated assaults by large forces of German tanks, infantry and planes upon a factory district in Stalingrad have been thrown back with heavy losses for the Germans and indicated they were holding firm in the Nalchik and Tuapse areas of the Caucasus.

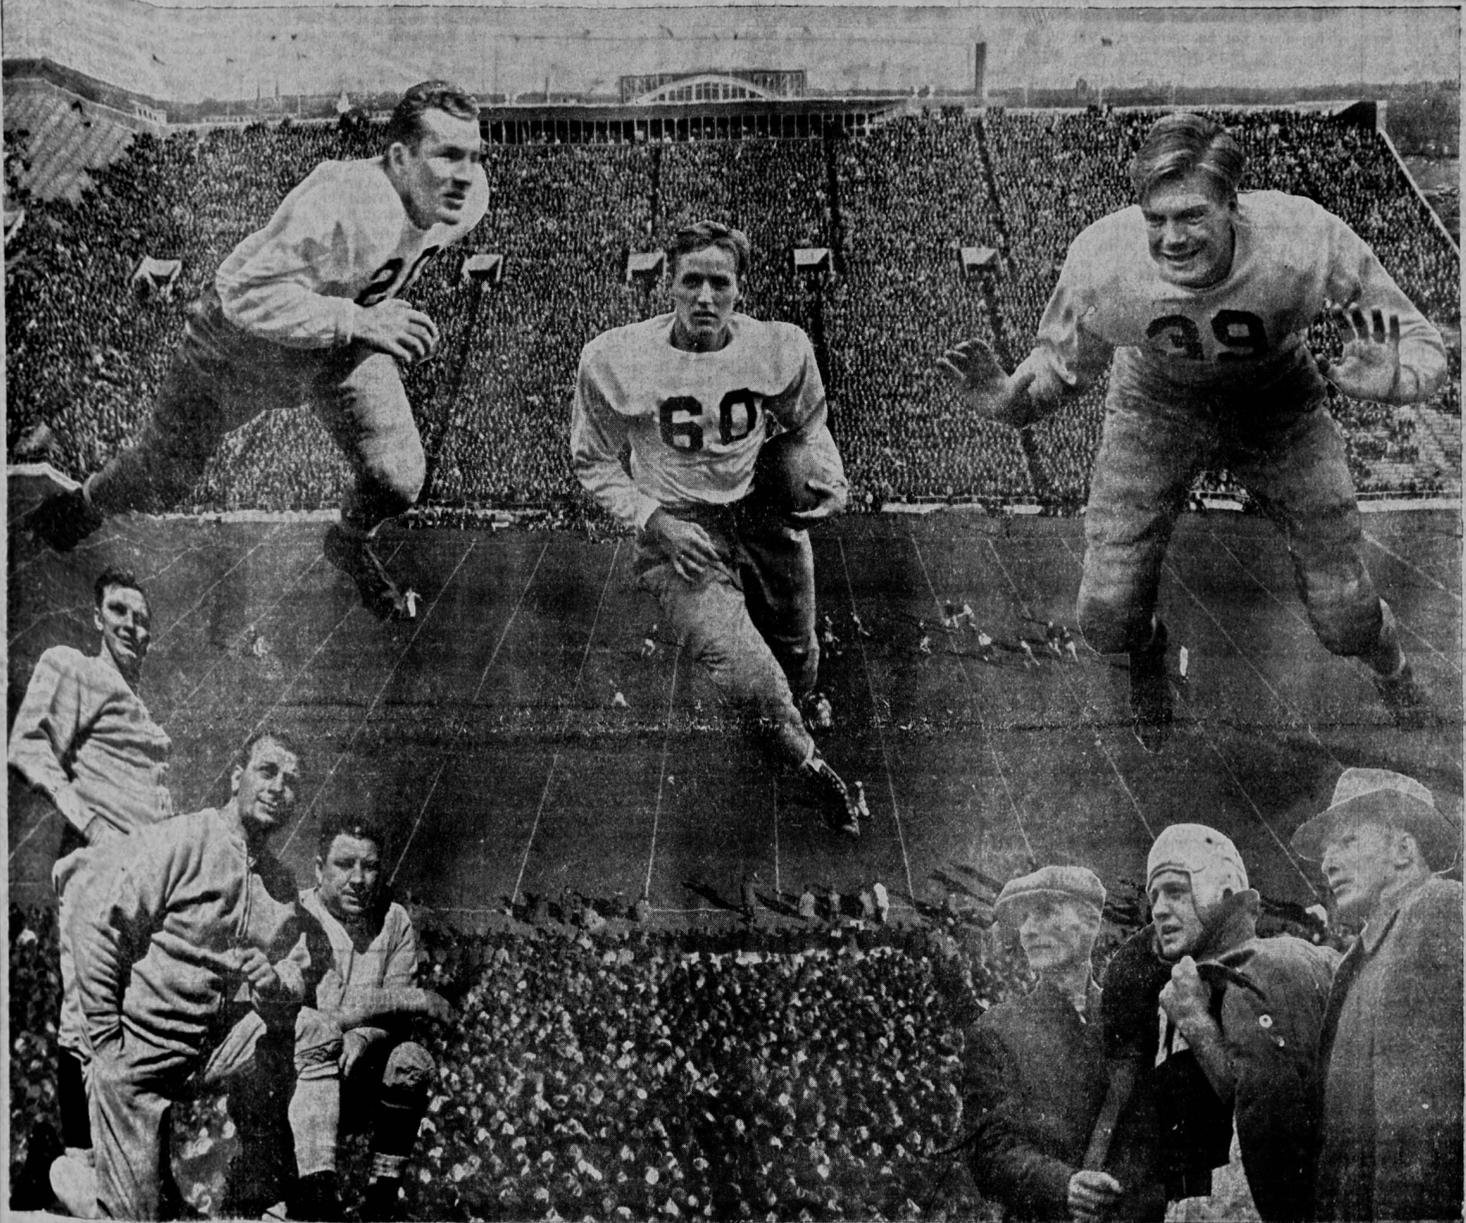

1,000 Nazis Slain
The Soviet midnight communique reported that the Germans were thrown back to their original positions in the fierce fighting for the Stalingrad factory area. Further, the Soviets said, the Nazis lost about 1,000 men killed, 11 tanks, 20 trucks, and a large number of blockhouses there.

In the first mention in weeks of action on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, the Russians said the Germans threw a battalion into an attempt to capture a height of tactical importance.

"At first the Germans succeeded in pressing back our units somewhat," the communique said. "A Red army unit then counter-attacked and threw the Germans back. About one company of the enemy was wiped out and some arms were captured."

On the battlefield northwest of Stalingrad, where the Russians are pressing the Germans hard to relieve Stalingrad, Nazi and Russian artillery maintained a fierce duel, the war report said.

These Hawks Ready for Wisconsin Badgers

30,000 Expected for Homecoming Tilt

Last of Iowa's '42 Home Games May Prove Conference Upset

The H's have it: Hawkeye Homecoming, Hirsch, Harder, Hoskins—and hopes for high honors. And, in case you are wondering, that's referring to the football game here today between Wisconsin, current No. 1 in the league; and Iowa, tied for third and still possessor of a title chance.

Just on the chance of sitting in on an upset—and to see the United States No. 2 team which last week bowled over the previous No. 1, Ohio State—some 30,000 persons will see the 31st Homecoming game and the 20th contest of the Hawkeye-Badger series. It also is the seventh and last of Iowa's 1942 home games.

Unbeaten Wisconsin, the team that had everything last week in whipping Ohio State, will try to prove that nothing has been lost. Some of that fine edge might have been dulled, but the Badgers still have "Ghost" Hirsch, the wobble-legged runner; Pat Harder, the plunger; Mark Hoskins, as well as such other capable young men as Dave Schreiner, Bob Baumann, Ken Currier and Jack Wink.

Unseen Power
Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, Iowa will have a team very much in the ball game, a dangerous eleven which has won five of seven games and has yet to reach the full blasting power of its attack.

Iowa's running attack, which has gained consistently in the past two games, will be up against an excellent line and the right end runs of Chuck Uknes, which baffled Indiana and Purdue, will have all-American Dave Schreiner with which to contend. Uknes, however, may have the speed and drive to bother the Badgers, especially if he gets efficient blocking.

Farmer's Passing Vital
Highest Hawkeye hope is based upon the passing of Tom Farmer. The game captain and quarterback has gathered 640 yards on his passes, exceeding the mark of Nile Kinnick of '39 fame. His targets will be Bill Burkett, back in action after a two week lay-off; Bill Parker, Ted Curran, and Jim Youel.

Wisconsin has a 13-6 lead in the series which started in 1894, but Iowa won two of the last three games, 19-13 in 1939 and 30-12 in 1940. Badgers were winners, 23-0, at Madison last year.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin mentor, observed in practice earlier this week—"This Iowa outfit worries us plenty. We must find some way to stop Tom Farmer's passing and Chuck Uknes' running."

F.D.R. Declares 40-Hour Week Best for Efficient Productivity

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mid-some discussion in congress over suspending or repealing the 40-hour week laws President Roosevelt declared yesterday that examples in England and Germany proved that a working week longer than 48 hours was not conducive to greater production.

The president's press conference discussion, in which he complained that the fatigue factor was generally not recognized, was seen as a reply to the move to Senator O'Daniel (D., Tex.) to suspend the wage-hour law for the duration and similar sentiment voiced in the house.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the working week in the production of most important war goods is 48 hours, overtime being paid for work beyond 40 hours, and that the average working week in all war production is between 47 and 47 hours.

Beyond that point, he said, production is not increased by a longer working week except in the first

British Fliers Strike At German Industry In Daylight Bombing

LONDON, Saturday (AP)—Flying through rain and heavy clouds, British four-motored Lancasters and medium Wellington bombers attacked Germany in daylight yesterday while 200 Spitfire fighters, some with American pilots, made diversionary sweeps over occupied France.

A small force of Lancaster heavy bombers dropped explosives on industrial communication targets at the rail junction of Osnabrueck, it was reported. They slipped in and out of clouds for protection.

Swooping suddenly out of the clouds, the Wellingtons, meantime, attacked an unidentified port in northwest Germany.

One Wellington was hit by anti-aircraft fire at 600 feet but escaped and bombed a ship in the North sea near the Nazi coast. Another had a running fight with three Messerschmitts at 300 feet, one of which was seen falling in a trail of smoke.

Imperials Continue Relentless Pursuit Of Rommel Legions

CAIRO, Saturday (AP)—Pursuing British mobile forces, equipped with big American-made General Sherman tanks, have overtaken some of the remnants of Marshal Erwin Rommel's African corps in the Matruh region of western Egypt, "and are steadily chopping them to pieces," front dispatches said early today.

After a swift 104-mile drive from their jumping-off point of Alamein, three British tank divisions were said to have pinned some of the fleeing German armored units against the Mediterranean coast.

The advancing British ignored thousands of surrendering German and Italian infantrymen along the way in their effort to crush with finality the axis armored units.

Already a total of six Italian divisions, upwards of 80,000 men, were reported either trapped or cut off in the desert far to the rear of the Germans who were trying frantically to escape into Libya.

The "conservative estimate" of 13,000 axis prisoners taken no doubt will be revised in official pronouncements shortly, front correspondents said. So will the figures of 339 enemy tanks either captured or wrecked.

Allied airmen effectively supported the advancing ground troops by tearing huge holes in jammed axis tanks and trucks which had to stay on the coastal road in order to escape.

A scene of wild destruction met front correspondents at El Daba. These correspondents said the axis losses were terrific. Three entire Italian divisions, the Trente, Bresioia, and Felgare, have been trapped by the British far south of the Mediterranean coastal road at the axis anchor positions near the Qattara depression.

These troops were abandoned as the German African corps scurried westward. But another reason for their encirclement was effective allied aerial blows that wrecked most of the Fascist transport.

One dispatch late last night said that a large New Zealand detachment had passed between these Italian divisions and the Qattara depression in a race toward the Egyptian frontier as part of the effort to pin Rommel's troops against the sea before they can reach Libya.

U. S., British, and south African airmen still were hacking constantly at the fleeing axis columns packed tight in four lanes west and south of Matruh. The entire Mediterranean coastal road by which Rommel's troops hope to escape into Libya has become "a ribbon of fire and death," AP Correspondent Frank L. Martin, said in a dispatch from the front in the western desert.

For miles this road is littered with the wreckage of axis equipment—and hopes. Sometimes this debris extends for hundreds of yards on either side of the road as evidence of telling aerial blasts.

Allied airmen were constantly moving their bases westward in their knock-out effort. The newly-formed RAF regiment, a ground force that does this necessary work, already had taken over El Daba airfield, 33 miles west of the shattered Alamein line. This British group also captured 200 axis prisoners sitting glumly at the edge of the field.

7 Killed, 10 Injured In Plant Explosion

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Seven women were killed and 10 other employees of the Rochester fireworks company were injured in an explosion at the company plant in the town of Perinton, Sheriff Albert Skinner said. The explosion was caused when a tray of powder carried by a workman was set down or dropped hard enough to create a friction spark, investigators said.

Congratulations to 'Townmen'

Homecomers and football fans are finding a new type of hospitality around the university campus today. The new organization of town men has taken over the responsibility of seeing that homecomers and their guests are put at ease, and they're doing a fine job of extending courtesy to Iowa City's visitors.

"Townmen," representing 1,700 men students living in Iowa City residences, is the first organization of its kind to appear on the university campus, but they are not letting the youthfulness of their organization stop their activities. Though their treasury consists of a few scattered dimes and quarters, they are interested members they have more than overcome that shortness with a vitalized exhibition of ambition, resourcefulness and a willingness to work.

The desire to see their organization grow in power and usefulness and an unwillingness to sit around in the usual "all talk no action" gathering has given them the momentum and ideas to make themselves well known in a hurry.

Their present undertaking of Homecoming information and courtesy agency of the university, in which they are assisted by Tau Gamma girls, has brought them the good will of the university and the Homecoming committee. Prof. Allen C. Tester, Homecoming committee chairman, congratulates the boys with the statement that "their contribution to Homecoming is being done the best, for the least money, that can be accomplished."

Few of our organizations, much as we hate to admit it, can produce the type of enthusiasm these fellows are displaying. They deserve plenty of credit and the best of luck.

'It All Depends on Me'

In Britain there is a lesson that could well be learned by many Americans who view prospective rationings with contempt and disgust, claiming that actual shortages are non-existent, a mere outgrowth of wartime economy.

In Britain there is no time for complaints and the Britishers are not waiting around for orders from the government. They are feeling the tightening grip of war and are answering the Nazi challenge with a new sense of personal responsibility, a new comradeship and a new scale of values.

To them war is hard and realistic. Almost everyone is working in some wartime capacity. Personal initiative has increased almost one hundred percent, this time on a national basis. Shipyards are no longer idle. Defense plants are now expanded and flourishing. Production is full speed ahead!

But the English have done more than step up production. They've realized that they must make new sacrifices if a victory is to be won.

In June an American reporter wrote a contrast of British and German rationing problems and the terrible war shortages. The conclusion was that Britain was far better off. But the Britishers didn't let that satisfy them. Instead of smugly congratulating themselves on their existencies, they buckled down still more and remarked:

"So—the Germans are eating less, wearing less and winning victories. Well, why don't we tighten up some more—eat less, wear less and put the difference into the fight. We can take it as well as the Germans."

The thought can best be expressed in their new slogan which reads: "It all depends on me."

The theory is that in Nazi Germany all depends on Hitler, but in a democracy we must say, each one of us, "It all depends on me."

That is the lesson the Britishers have learned. The lesson the Nazi bombers pounding the English coast have impressed upon the people. That is the lesson that could well be learned by our fellow Americans.

Let's have a national responsibility resting upon the individuals with dependency not on a mass of agricultural workers or plane manufacturers, but upon everybody.

And then let's have a little action!

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

(Second of two articles on the 'teen-age draft')

WASHINGTON—The 18-19 draft (capital observers are unanimous in the opinion that it will be passed in one form or another) is probably going to have more effect on U. S. manpower and domestic life than any legislation since the first selective service law became operative.

Out of the more than 2,000,000 'teen-age youths who will become subject to military training under the law, there are, it is estimated, a half million now in war industries. Because these lads are young and lack years of experience and training, it will be difficult to exempt them under the "necessary man" clause.

The effect it will have on universities and colleges is something that educators here shudder to think about and refuse to be quoted on. There is a rumor that several of the nation's universities are planning to "fold up" before the spring semester opens. That may not be necessary. The delay in getting the 18-19 draft bill to the president's desk may result in the bulk of the 'teen-agers not being called before next summer.

But even that would leave institutions of higher learning stripped of male students for the 1943-44 term. The alternative to closing would be converting to war or navy department training centers.

The 'teen-age draft might be the signal for shutting off all voluntary enlistments.

If it gets into operation in time it may result in the deferment for a year at least of married men with one or more children.

You can't find any official who will vouch for this last, but if the manpower figures are anywhere near correct, we could raise an army of 9,000,000 men (including the 18-19 year olds) without further tapping married men with dependents.

Why then have there been so many conflicting statements about the need soon for drawing men from the married ranks?

That answer isn't really so difficult. Officials who have had anything to do with it have been bending over backwards to keep from announcing any policy on draft deferments in order to save the entire draft set-up from criticism.

Calls on the draft boards are made on a basis of population. Without going into every draft district and analyzing it thoroughly (a task equal to a national census), the population basis is the only one that can be used. But what happens? One district has several hotels for young men; another is made up entirely of young married couples, with one or two children, who are buying lower bracket homes; a third (there are many of them in the south) has a preponderance of illiterates.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Always one to see the bright side of things, particularly with a war on, I would like to report that things around The Associated Press offices here in town are considerably more interesting now than there are young women—and some of them very young—taking the places of editors and copy boys who have gone into the armed services or have become war correspondents. For instance, there's a pretty Flora Lewis, who files the outgoing night wire to Great Britain for APGB. She is a rare combination of brains and beauty, being a product of UCLA and the Columbia school for journalism, and I am sure that no other news-stand in town has anybody to match Flora.

And there was a lovely, red-headed colleen named Kathleen Holmes, tall and slender, who replaced one of the copy boys and often went around with carbon smudges on her pert little nose. She lived way out in Brooklyn, however, and the late hours and long subway rides proved too much, which was sad because all of Kathleen's "big brothers" were hoping she would stay until she was 18, anyway.

All of which by way of prelude to Annie Rooney. Yes, there's actually an AP office girl named Annie Rooney, and the name fits her like a sweater. She is 17 and has red hair and greenish eyes and is very slender and pert, a lot like Kathleen though not so tall. And she has the sense you might expect a girl named Annie Rooney to have.

The other day one of the editors, whom I will call R. W. since his name is Roder Winget, announced a quintuple blessed event at his home, the family cat having had five kittens in a bureau drawer.

Annie Rooney came along "You know, Annie," said R. W., after a bit, "I wish I had a secretary, just exactly like you, only ten years older."

"Why, Mr. W!" said Annie. "And you a married man with five kittens!"

HOLLYWOOD—Today's Cinderella story is about a poor little gal named Lassie who didn't have to get rich and famous to get a fur coat.

Lassie started out with hers, the way most collies do.

Aside from that asset, Lassie a few months ago was just as undiscovered and obscure as any million-heiress who isn't doing war work. She was romping around on a ranch, getting burrs in her fur and wearing out her beautiful ruff. Far from being discovered, Lassie was all "washed up," had been looked over and passed up, and was already put out to pasture at the tender age of three.

This was tough on Lassie, whose position deserved better. Lassie's owner, Rudd Weatherwax, used to work for dog-trainer Reggie Renfro. Then Rudd bought Lassie, paying $10 for her, and went into the business himself. That made Lassie No. 1 in the Weatherwax kennel. But not in the movies.

Rudd took her around, but they weren't using collies this season. Rudd eventually added 40 more dogs to his outfit, and all 40 of them got movie jobs of one kind and another—but not Lassie. So Lassie went out to the ranch, got burrs in her fur and wore out her beautiful ruff.

She might be there yet if Metro hadn't decided to make "Lassie Come Home," Eric Knight's story about a dog and a boy. It was about a particular dog, a collie, Fred Wilcox, the young director, looked everywhere for the right collie. They even had a collie show at a local athletic field, and after all was barked, yelped and done they still hadn't their one dog. They looked in New York and Boston and practically everywhere the Scarlett O'Hara search had gone, but no dog.

Rudd Weatherwax heard about it, naturally, and he brought in Lassie. Wilcox was interested, but Lassie wasn't at her best. The burrs were combed out, but Lassie's ruff was worn. No, said Wilcox, he'd look some more. Well, to cut it short, Rudd nursed the ruff to health and beauty, and next time Wilcox wondered where Lassie had been all his life. Talent searches generally end in Hollywood just like this one.

Lassie is a movie queen now, in technicolor. She's been on location to Washington state and Monterey, Calif., traveling by train or station wagon. Around the studio she rides in a fashionably old yellow bantam car.

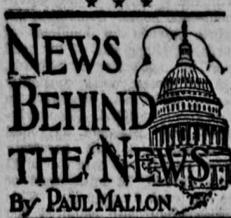

She is, when this movie is done, a likely answer to the leading man shortage—a dog that can carry a picture just as Rin-Tin-Tin did in his day. And Lassie, make no mistake, will be a leading man. She's really a he, and her real name is Pal.

In truth, he probably ran for the benefit of his office staff as much as anything else. His employees have been with him many years.

Some Democrats Feel They Were 'Kicked in the Teeth'---

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

They Didn't Know

WHAT HAPPENED— WASHINGTON—The Democratic congressmen were slightly dazed in their first comment on the election result. All they could mutter, as the final returns came in, was: "It looks like someone kicked us in the teeth."

One ousted member attributed his defeat solely to the 18-19 year old draft. Another says he crawled through by promising eight gallons of gas on each ration coupon.

More typical of the general run, however, was the defeated Missouri member from a farm district, who was a sure 15 to 1 shot to win before the votes were counted. He did not know what happened to him.

The successful Republican candidates generally said in their public statements that their success was a popular demand to get on better and faster with the war effort.

I believe the explanation runs deeper than that. My mail furnished an advance warning of what was coming, and the reasons for it. There is a popular revolt in this country against methods that have been followed.

WILLKIE VOTE OF LAST ELECTION
It is a revolution not only against war methods, but reform methods. It is an expression of feeling that pervades, not only the small business men and the conservative element, those who, together, might be called the Willkie vote of the last election, the anti-new deal vote of 1940.

This one goes further—down into the middle class groups everywhere, and has spread widely into the ranks of farmer and worker.

These people are not "turning conservative," as the radicals say. They do not want to abandon the gains that have been made in social progress, but they have reached the point where they want these gains made practical.

They want this reform wave settled down to a workable basis which will consolidate and perpetuate the gains, rather than have it blown up further and further into ever new heights. They just want some common sense about it. They want practical methods.

Every man in this country, furthermore, has been hit hard by this war in many ways, but Washington does not recognize it. Some have lost their businesses. All remaining businesses have lost their help and are struggling to keep going. Most of their businesses have been made unprofitable by tremendous taxation.

All individuals at home are suffering sacrifices of their friends and relatives to the service, but, on top of that, they are sacrificing themselves in many ways, in changed modes of living, food, work, transportation, hours.

THEY WANT KINDLY HANDLING

I have heard no one begrudge these sacrifices, but their plaint and plea is for better administration over them. They want kindly direction, not arbitrary and unexplained admonitions.

They must line up every few weeks in a different rationing for this and that, haggle and scrape for gas, sugar, coffee, meat. They see themselves that administration is not efficient in the way it is handling them. They want better methods in this respect also.

They will get them, are getting them. As one wise democratic leader said when he saw the returns: "Now we have someone looking over our shoulder."

The election result, therefore, cannot be anything but constructive in the war effort.

THOSE WHO SURVIVED ARE HEADING FOR A CHANGE—

Democratic congressmen who survived are going to the White House for some changes in methods of handling them also. They are saying FDR has failed to consult them, although they have their ears closed to the ground than Leon Henderson, Ben Cohen, Frankfurter, Hopkins. Two or three good Roosevelt friends are saying this out loud in the corridors.

They think also Mr. Roosevelt's advisers represent a wholly union labor or extreme liberal viewpoint, to the exclusion of the interests of other factions. Some southern Democrats call his administration "Communist" although they know it is not intended to be.

They, too, will get their wish. "Reform" types of legislation will never get through the house now. Dissenting Democrats will give the Republicans a majority against all that.

The president will have to consult Congress before making his recommendations, unless he wants them defeated.

NATION'S NO. 1 EXAMPLE OF THE CHANGING TIMES—

Prime example of the changing times was the defeat of Senator Norris by an anti-new dealer in a state which had been new-dealing before Mr. Roosevelt.

The 61-year-old senator got into the race in an indirect way. One day news-men, looking for a story, dropped into his office to ask if he would run. He said frankly he was too old, could not keep up the work.

Later, he was "drafted." His foes harped upon the interview throughout the state. It helped take away that halo of sincerity which had been his most popular appeal. His campaign consisted only of making three speeches by radio.

In truth, he probably ran for the benefit of his office staff as much as anything else. His employees have been with him many years.

Law Professor Feled at SUI Triangle Club

Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law, who has completed his 26th year on the faculty, was honored at the Triangle club's annual Homecoming party for men last night when his portrait was presented to the university and to the public.

The picture was presented by Atty. Daniel Dutcher of Iowa City and Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law. Francis McCray, formerly of the art department, painted the portrait, which was done as a result of law alumni contributions in honor of Professor Perkins. Formal presentation to the college of law will be Nov. 19, Supreme Court day.

Professor Perkins came to the university as assistant professor in 1916. He had just completed a year of graduate work at the Harvard law school, receiving his degree of doctor of juridical science. He became professor of law in 1920.

Professor Perkins received his B.A. degree from the University of Kansas in 1910 and his juris doctor degree from Stanford university in 1912. After practicing law for three years in Lawrence, Kan., he went to Harvard where he received his S.J.D. degree.

Professor Perkins has taught in many schools during summer sessions, including the University of Wisconsin, Stanford university, the University of Michigan, Chicago university and the University of Minnesota.

He has written for various leading legal periodicals and for Harpers magazine. In addition, he has published a case book on Iowa criminal procedure and, in 1941, a book on the elements of police science, which has become a well recognized work in law enforcement.

Professor Perkins is the director of the peace officers' short course, conducted each summer at the university for the past six years. At this course, 250 or more sheriffs, chiefs of police, highway patrol and other officers attend for one week.

Professor Perkins' principal interest lies in the field of criminal law, criminal procedure and related problems. He has done extensive work in the fields of bills and notes, and security transactions.

The symposium number of the Iowa Law Review was dedicated to him and devoted entirely to the

Currency Errors I.C. Bank Displays 'Freak Money'

Yes, even our national government can make mistakes—if you don't believe it walk down to the First National bank and see the collection of "freak money" which will be on display until 12 noon today.

Feature of the display is a national currency note with a $100 face and $50 amount printed on the back of the bill. This has been termed "one of the greatest errors ever put into circulation by the government" by the owner of the collection, Lloyd B. Gettys of Davenport.

Gettys' manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company in Davenport, has gathered the bills and currency pieces as a hobby. He possesses notes from every federal reserve bank in the United States and numerous valuable bank notes which are no longer in circulation.

Included in his collection is a $10 bill, called the "Jackass Note," which is the result of a prank on the part of an English engraver of Iowa City, and Richard Alan Williams and Florence June Rohrbacher, both of Iowa City.

Police Expect 30,000 Crowd

Complete arrangements for handling the crowd of more than 30,000 expected for tomorrow's Homecoming game have been made, Police Chief F. J. Burns announced yesterday.

Police officers from other Iowa cities have been called in to help facilitate the movement of traffic.

No parking will be allowed on either side of Burlington street west from Johnson street to the stadium.

After the game westbound traffic will be barred from Burlington street as far west as Dubuque street.

Starting at 12 noon the Benton street bridge will be closed to all traffic until 5:30. Traffic will be sent straight down Melrose avenue, and no traffic will be allowed on Melrose court after the game.

Chief Burns has asked that all delivery truck drivers in town get their unloading done by at least 11 o'clock in the morning.

Drivers of out of town trucks will be notified by the truck stops on their routes to hold over at the stops as long as possible during the afternoon until 6 o'clock. Necessary trucking will be permitted, however.

Former Students—Serving the Nation

—Former Iowa Citizens

Today, while Dr. Eddie Anderson pits his Hawkeyes against the Wisconsin Badgers, his kid brother, Pvt. William H. Anderson, is concluding his first week at Ft. Sill's field artillery officer candidate school in Oklahoma.

Private Anderson has followed Iowa's football fortunes since 1939, but has watched only two of Dr. Eddie's teams play—once on Soldier Field, Chicago, at the 1940 All-Star game and in 1939 when Northwestern upset the Hawkeyes' hopes for the Big Ten title.

Before induction into the army, Private Anderson was an attorney in the Chicago claim department of the Continental Casualty company.

Henry Frank Toczydowski, S. U. I. former student is now stationed at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where he is receiving naval aviation flight training. Upon completion of his courses he will be commissioned as an ensign in the naval reserve and be assigned to duty.

Robert S. Paukert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Paukert, 112 1/2 S. Dubuque street, recently received his commission as a second lieutenant from the Army Air Force advanced flying school at Albuquerque, N. Mex. Lieutenant Paukert, a former student of the university, received his preliminary training at the Santa Ana army airbase, Santa Ana, Calif.

He will be assigned to active duty in the near future.

YOU CAN COUNT ON ALL OF US

To serve in every way we can

THE 70 employees of this company can't all fire the guns. They can't all fly the planes or man the ships either. But every one has a job to do right here at home—a job which is essential during normal times and vital to victory during time of war.

True to the traditions of the utility business, these people are loyal, dependable, highly skilled in the execution of their duties — and thoroughly familiar with the meaning of "devotion to duty."

At the gas and power plants, on the switch boards, and out on the gas mains and power lines, they are constantly "on the alert" striving to see that the service shall not fail. They are daily advising customers on condition and proper care of gas and electric appliances and equipment—of new equipment still available for local sale.

In addition, employees of your Iowa City utility are buying war bonds, aiding in the sale of war bonds, and helping in numerous other ways—including actual service with the armed forces.

Above all else, these friends and neighbors of yours have dedicated their skill, training and determination to the all-important job of winning the war—with the greatest possible speed.

Wisconsin Favored Over Hawkeyes

Harold Claassen Picks Irish Over West Point In Tilt in New York

Georgia Tech Given Edge Over Kentucky; Buckeyes Over Pitt

NEW YORK (AP)—Picking this week's football winners with all the assurance of a housewife asking for an extra pound of coffee.

Notre Dame over Army—The lines are about on a par but Bertelli's passes should be the difference. Army is better than the 19 to 0 loss to Penn last week indicates and this struggle should be close with Notre Dame coming out ahead.

Georgia Tech over Kentucky—Despite its record, Kentucky is one of the toughest teams in the south. The Wildcats lost to Georgia by a point, to Alabama by two touchdowns. They might spring an upset but the record says Tech.

WISCONSIN over IOWA—Another spot for an upset. It is the Hawkeye homecoming, they have the heaviest line in the Big Ten and also one of the better passers in Tom Farmer but the choice is Wisconsin.

California over Southern California—Apparently the Bears have pulled themselves together in time for a game where past performances mean absolutely nothing.

Texas over Baylor—Don't believe Baylor can engineer upsets on successive weekends.

Boston College over Temple—One of the nation's best eleven men meets a sub-par Temple outfit.

Penn over Navy—It will be a moral victory for the Middies if the score is no worse than the 19 to 0 pasting the Quakers gave Army last Saturday.

Missouri over Nebraska—Both teams crippled but Missouri has the better reserves and should go on to win the Big Six crown.

U. C. L. A. over Oregon—Now that they feel they are headed for the coast title and the Rose bowl that long train ride north won't trouble the Bruins a bit.

Michigan over Harvard—The Wolverines would have won this even if Harvard's Swede Anderson, Harlow's best blocking back, was in the lineup. Instead, he's in a Boston infirmary with boils.

Ohio State over Pittsburgh—Oh me, oh my.

Minnesota over Indiana—That long Gopher losing streak of two games has been ended.

Georgia over Florida—Why should Frankie Sinkwich and company start dropping decisions now?

Louisiana State over Fordham—Although the Rams have lost only one, this is not a great Fordham outfit.

Washington State over Michigan State—The junket to the west coast plus the Cougars courage will prove too much for Michigan State.

Colgate over Columbia—Mike Micka to pound through that vulnerable Columbia line.

Mississippi State over Tulane—As close as your next breath but taking a guess on State.

Yale over Cornell—The rumor is out that Yale has lost its last game of the season.

Northwestern over Illinois—Otto Graham is back in the lineup.

Vanderbilt over Mississippi—Jack Jenkins will decide.

Lumping all the others: Holy Cross over Brown, Duquesne over St. Mary's, Syracuse over Penn State, Texas A & M over Southern Methodist, Texas Christian over Texas Tech, Rice over Arkansas, Tulsa over Oklahoma A & M, Oklahoma over Kansas State, Kansas over Washington of St. Louis, Tennessee over Cincinnati, Wake Forest over Virginia Military, North Carolina over Davidson, Clemson over George Washington, The Citadel over Furman, William & Mary over Randolph Macon, Duke over Maryland, Virginia over Washington & Lee, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Iowa Pre-Flight over Ft. Knox, Marquette over Manhattan, Great Lakes over Purdue, Lafayette over Rutgers, Williams over Wesleyan Colorado over Utah, Colorado State over Utah, Denver over Brigham Young, Santa Clara over Loyola.

Paul Brown Optimistic Over Pittsburgh Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State, knocked from its perch as the nation's No. 1 team by Wisconsin last week, tackles Pittsburgh here today and Coach Paul Brown said the Bucks were ready to start a comeback against the none too powerful Panthers.

"It takes a great team to come back after being counted out of one game, but I believe my team this year is that kind of outfit," said Brown before Ohio and Pittsburgh tapered off their week's training with brief workouts.

- ★ Pre-Flight Elevens
- ★ Do Right Well For
- ★ Team of Little Men

NEW YORK (AP)—When we first heard that the navy pre-flight schools were going to have football teams, and would compete against major college elevens, we felt a little sorry for the pre-flighters, and their coaches.

Particularly Bernie Bierman at Iowa City. A schedule had been lined up for his team which looked like it might have been dictated during one of Bob Neyland's particularly bad nightmares when he was at Tennessee. Nothing but trouble every Saturday.

Now we understand there were certain physical requirements these embryo flyers had to meet, and that one of the requirements was that they couldn't pack too much weight, as the navy doesn't want young fellows who have to be shoe-horned into the snug cockpits and pried out with jacks.

We thought this weight maximum was around 200 pounds, and that the average would run much lighter so that Bierman would do well to assemble a 180-pound line and a 170-pound backfield to put up against the unlimited young men of Minnesota and Northwestern and Notre Dame and the rest. It was quite surprising, therefore, to discover through the latest roster put out by the Iowa flyers that they could put a line on the field averaging just a shade under 220 pounds and a backfield averaging 194½.

Of the 38 men on the new roster, 13 weigh 200 pounds or better, with tops being a couple of 240 pounders from—surprise—Minnesota. You know that story about how Bierman picked his Gopher candidates by asking farm boys directions. If they picked up the plow and pointed with it they'd do. Well, these two fellows must have picked up a barn to point with the weathervane.

Anyway, despite the remarkable testimonials for the pre-flight school food offered by these two fragile lads and their lesser brethren in the 200-pound class, showing that proper diet will take care of the weight problem nicely, the pre-flight coaches have their troubles.

Most schools have two graduation periods a year, mid-year and June. Otherwise a football player starting a season is pretty certain to remain with the team, barring slight thlapses like flunking in math or whamming the Dean with a ball bat or some other youthful prank. The original Iowa roster listed 70 names. The new roster lists only 38, and 14 of the 38 were not on the original roster. This gives an idea of how Bierman must shuffle around his players, bringing in newly arrived candidates as he watches the "veterans" depart. It's sort of an endless chain proposition, with Bierman doing what polishing the can as the boys move slowly toward the dump bin at the end. Then he starts all over again on the new boys at the other end of the line.

AP Reports Rose Bowl Contest Will Be Played on West Coast

Grid Team Selected May Be Located Near Site of Engagement

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The guessing can start, folks. They're going to play the Rose Bowl game here again next New Year's day, all things being equal.

The Associated Press learned from an unimpeachable source yesterday that while formal application for permission to play has not yet been acted on by the army, there is no objection to the 29th renewal of the classic, oldest and most famous of the post-season bowl games.

The source cannot be named, and there was no comment from the army.

Last year's contest, coming in the midst of huge military preparations on the west coast, was moved to Durham, N. C. Oregon State defeated Duke, 20-16.

This year's game, as is every other civilian-activity, is subject to cancellation at the army's discretion.

Although tentative preparations for the event have been going on for weeks, the general uncertainty has held back a usual rush of speculation as to who'll oppose who that Friday afternoon.

Notre Dame 3 to 1 Favorite Over Army In New York Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Army and Notre Dame football teams, which played a scoreless tie a year ago, meet again today before a sell-out crowd of more than 75,000 in Yankee stadium. And this time the Irish are determined to do something about scoring.

Rated one of the best college teams in the country at this stage despite early-season setbacks, Notre Dame has been made a 3-1 favorite by local betting men. After a tie with Wisconsin and a defeat by Georgia Tech, the Irish knocked off Stanford, Iowa Pre-Flight, Illinois and Navy decisively. Meanwhile Army's record was spoiled last week when the Cadets took a 19-0 drubbing from Pennsylvania.

Coach Frank Leahy, who appears to be the only pessimist in the Notre Dame camp, points out that the Cadets may be dangerous on the rebound, but the "subway alumni" argue that the Army won't have much to rebound with unless Hank Mazur and Ralph Hill are in better shape than reports from West Point indicate. Mazur and Hill, regular halfbacks and Army's chief scoring threats, were too battered to practice all week and Coach Earl Blaik said he did not expect them to start the game.

Crossett Fined

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Crossett, New York Yankee infielder, was fined $250 and suspended for 30 days starting next season for pushing Umpire William Summers in the third game of the world series. Commissioner K. M. Landis announced yesterday.

Seahawk Team Rated Favorite In Tilt Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa Cadet Seahawks were top-heavy favorites last night to defeat the Fort Knox Armorridders in their football battle here today.

The Seahawks will outweigh the Fort Knox soldiers approximately ten pounds to the man. In addition the Armorridders will probably be without the services of three of their stars—Curtis Larsen, 205-pound tackle from Northern Illinois State, Quarterback Sam Puterbaugh of the Cleveland Rams and Emery Boza. All three are suffering from injuries.

The Armorridders from Fort Knox have been able to win only one game so far this season.

Purdue-Great Lakes Contest in Lafayette Should Attract 15,000

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—A couple of football teams which have been considerably less than world beaters in the way of offense will get together here today as Purdue's Boilermakers clash with the Sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Both teams showed some signs of an offensive last week, however, as Great Lakes thumped Missouri and Purdue was nosed out by Iowa.

The probable starting lineup:

BY MAXIE ROSENBLUM

Well, that day is here, and we'll guarantee every football fan in the nation will have a weather eye on that Iowa-Wisconsin encounter. And well they might keep that eye peeled on the Hawkeyes, for the Badgers are in for a tough engagement, and a rough afternoon.

The Cardinals may have made the mistake of looking past this one, for they have a tough meeting next week with Minnesota. Coach Harry Stuhldreher has been trying all week to keep his men from doing just that thing, how well he succeeded we don't know. This afternoon will tell the full story. What we do know, however, is that these Badger players are just as human as the next fellow, and to peek around the corner at next week is only natural.

They've jumped into national prominence after walloping Ohio State last week, and the pressure of maintaining that rating is definitely upon them. As we've said before, the psychological advantage is all with Iowa.

But Dr. Eddie Anderson's charges are going to have to play 60 minutes of heads-up football, take advantage of every break that comes their way and keep but one thought on their minds—to start Wisconsin rolling down that lonely hill of defeats.

There's a bevy of good men coming to town with the Badgers. Elroy Hirsch, Mark Hopkins, Pat Harder, Dave Screiner, Bob Baumann, Dan Currier, and almost any one of the starting eleven men you can name.

Steve Owen, coach of the New York Giants, recently termed Hirsch the best college back in the country, and that's taking in quite a bit of territory when you think of Frankie Sinkwich, Gene Fekete, Paul Governale and the rest of them. Owen, furthermore, knows what he's talking about. He's seen the best of them, and coached many of the top-notchers, including such all-time greats as Ken Strong, Mel Hein and Joe Maniaci.

It's a tough, awfully tough, assignment for the Hawkeyes today, and the boys know it, too. We're sure the brand of football Dr. Eddie's men are capable of playing will be enough to show Wisconsin a few things about upsets. Nuff said.

City High Trounces North High 35 to 6 As Sangster Stars

Losers' Mulford Tallies Touchdown On 101-Yard Run

By JOHN GRAHAM
Daily Iowan Sports Reporter

City high brought down the curtain on its 1942 home grid schedule last night when the entire Hawkllet squad had a hand in rolling over the North high Bears of Des Moines 35 to 6.

It was a field day for Bill Sangster who made 23 of City high's points, and Dave Danner threw the pass that tallied another Red and White touchdown. "Bucky" Walter snagged one of Danner's tosses in the fourth period by jumping into the air, making a sensational catch and stumbling into pay dirt for Iowa City's final score.

North high had a green line built around Capt. Jim Cave and Kenny Mulford. Mulford, a former City high griddler, accomplished something that isn't seen very often on the grid-iron. With his team on the short end of a 14 to 0 score, the slippery back picked up a kick-off a yard behind his own goal and raced 101 yards for the Bears first and only touchdown.

Iowa City received the opening kickoff and it looked as though it would be easy going for the Hawkllets as Bob Roth and Joe Casey reeled off a total of 27 yards and two consecutive first downs in the first couple of plays. Sangster then faded to pass, but was smothered by North high linemen for a loss of 11 yards. The Little Hawks weren't able to make up the difference and kicked to the Des Moines 21.

On the first play out of the big, Captain Cave took an 80-yard sprint behind excellent blocking for what looked to be a score, but the officials called it back on a clipping penalty and put the ball on the Iowa City 31. This stroke of bad luck seemed to take the pep out of the Capitol City boys, and didn't prove to be much of an offensive threat to be remainder of the half.

Danner set up City high's first score with a 56-yard run to the Bear 18. With Sangster toting the ball four out of five of the following tries, the lanky quarterback plunged over from the two for the first score of the game. His dropkick was good to put Iowa City on the long end of a 7 to 0 tally.

George Ware, Danner and Sangster all had a hand in the second Red and White scoring drive. A series of plunges and end sweeps put the ball on the Des Moines 23-yard line. Another jaunt by Danner took it to the 9 where Sangster dashed off tackle into pay dirt and then converted to make it read 14 to 0.

City high's last three scores were well earned by Wayne Hopp, Sangster and Walter. Hopp went off tackle during the latter part of the third quarter from the 7, and Sangster and Walter soon afterward. Sangster scored on a 19-yard reverse and Walter by snagging a pass from Danner by the 12.

consin will be Hoskins, who led the Cardinal men to their 35 to 7 win over Marquette. His gridiron career has been sort of spotty due to injuries, which until this fall have kept him more or less on the sidelines. He has been a big gun in Badger victories this fall, however.

Series Since 1894
For the first time this year, the Wisconsin squad will not travel by train. Twelve cars will take the men to Cedar Rapids, and then on to Iowa City just before game time today.

1917	Wisconsin 20	Iowa 0
1924	Wisconsin 7	Iowa 21

Pennsylvania Faces Navy at Phillie Today

PHILADELPHIA—Navy, hopeful of rebounding from two successive defeats by Georgia Tech and Notre Dame, among the first ten teams in the nation, will meet Pennsylvania on Franklin Field today in the 27th game of the series that started in 1888. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

Approximately 1,000 Midshipmen who will travel to this city from Annapolis by steamer will attend the game. The future ensigns will march from Chestnut street pier through the center of the city to the scene of the game where they will parade before the contest starts.

Pennsylvania, undefeated but tied in collegiate competition hopes to atone for last year's 13 to 6 defeat by the Navy. Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Army have succumbed to the power of the Red and Blue eleven while Princeton succeeded in earning a 6 to 6 stalemate. In its opening game the home eleven lost to Georgia

Pre-Flight, 14 to 6.
George Munger, Pennsylvania's youthful coach, plans to start virtually the same eleven who opposed and gave Army its first defeat of the season last Saturday. There is a possibility that Joe Swan, right end, will start in place of Herb Nelson, who has been hobbled by a leg injury. Otherwise the Red and Blue will be the same as a week ago.

Phi Kappa Psi B's Take SAE Machine in Intramural Game

The fraternity B league championship was settled yesterday as Jim Slater's passes gave Phi Kappa Psi a 14 to 6 edge over Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the intramural football fields. Slater started the fireworks on an aerial to Buck Weaver, who carried the oval across the Sigma Alpha Epsilon goal line. John Kline's placekick sliced the uprights.

The losers scoring fell one point short of the Phi Psi's in the first half, but they registered on Ken Steinbeck's nine yard run for the only marker of the game credited to the victims.

The champs tallied again in the final frame on a Slater-to-Weaver-to-Dick Igenfritz combination to widen the winning margin. Kline's kick added the frosting. The final score: Phi Kappa Psi 14, Sigma Alpha Epsilon 6.

Monday will see the following teams in action: Alpha Tau Omega vs. Delta Upsilon for the right to meet Phi Kappa Psi in the finals of the fraternity class A league; Delta Chi vs. Phi Gamma Delta; Commons A vs. McChesney for dormitory consolation honors, and MacLean and Spencer in the town league.

Happy Homecoming to You Too . . .

Those spuds may need peeling in all parts of the globe but you are with us in spirit. It seems strange that you aren't here to watch Iowa batter the Badgers but we know that you are busy participating in a far more important game. You can't hear our cheers for you but they are on our lips. We are trying to help in a small way by saving our tires, gathering scrap, cutting down on the luxuries and buying bonds. We only wish that we could do more. Our best homecoming will be the day that we shake your hand after the final whistle blows on the Axis defeat.

WE WOULD ENJOY MEETING THE PARENTS OF THE IOWA MEN AND WOMEN WHO HONOR US BY BANKING IN THIS INSTITUTION.

If we can serve you in any way please feel free to call on us. The bank will be closed this afternoon so that we can watch two great teams play an American game in the free, American way.

Students Requested to Preserve Corn Monument

War Demands Corn, Wiring Conservation

Alumni, 'I' Men Plan Luncheons at Noon For Iowa Visitors

"A victory over Wisconsin in the football game today can be best celebrated by preserving the corn and the electrical equipment of the corn monument for the major victory in our war efforts," said Prof. A. C. Tester, general chairman of the Homecoming committee, in regard to the fate of the monument.

To destroy it would contradict all war efforts of conservation. In keeping with the spirit of the times, the corn will be taken from the structure and will go to feed hogs, helping to maintain the nation's food front, while the electric wiring, so scarce in wartime, will be saved for future uses, he said.

Students have willingly sacrificed Homecoming decorations, and preservation of the monument materials will be the second step in co-operating with the national wartime economy and conservation program.

Following the mass meeting and Homecoming party last night, a wide variety of events, highlighted by the Iowa-Wisconsin football game, is scheduled for today.

Approximately 150 persons are expected to be present at the buffet luncheon for "I" men in the Triangle club ball room in Iowa Union at noon today. The luncheon is an informal affair sponsored by the athletic department for returning lettermen and members of the "I" club. Tables will be reserved for members of the 1917 and 1922 football squads, who are honored Homecoming guests. Coach George T. Bresnahan of the athletic department, and member of the general Homecoming committee is in charge of arrangements.

M. W. Hyland of Tama, president of the "I" club, will preside at the club meeting and at election of officers for the coming year, which will be held in the ballroom immediately preceding the luncheon.

The first event scheduled for this morning is a hockey game on the women's athletic field from 10 to 11 o'clock. Alumnae of the physical education department and Iowa City club players will oppose senior members of W.R.A., student women's athletic club. Following the game, alumnae will hold a meeting in the social room of the women's gymnasium.

Other morning events include a campus college open house with deans and staff members in their offices and all buildings open from 10 to 12 noon, a military exhibit and demonstrations in the armory from 10:30 to 11 o'clock, and the starting of the Iowa-Wisconsin cross country race on the east side of the stadium at 11 o'clock.

Tickets for the alumni luncheon to be held in the river room of Iowa Union at noon today may be obtained at the Union desk. No program is planned for the luncheon, which is an informal affair arranged primarily to give alumni an opportunity to meet old friends.

Homecoming badges will be sold by sorority women and "mums" by the Y. W. C. A. until game time today. Proceeds from the badge sale are used to finance all Homecoming activities.

Students to Select Outstanding Couple At Commerce Mart

The couple voted "Most Likely to Succeed" will be chosen by commerce students in place of the traditional queen at the annual Commerce Mart November 13.

Nominating petitions may be obtained at the commerce office, room 104 of University hall. Wednesday noon is the deadline for the filing of petitions.

The signatures of 10 petitioners are necessary to present a nominee. In addition, each petitioner must state why he believes his candidate deserving of the title.

The board of directors of the Commerce club and a faculty committee will choose from the nominations five men and women students whose names will be placed on a ballot.

At the Commerce Mart the ballots will be distributed, marked, returned and counted. The two chosen will be presented to those attending the dance. The names of the honorees will be placed on a permanent plaque, which will be hung on the walls of the commerce reading room.

John McCollister, C4 of Iowa City, president of the Commerce club, is general chairman.

First Nighters To See Play 'Lost Horizon'

"Lost Horizon," a dramatization of the popular James Hilton novel, will open the experimental season with a four-day run in University theater Tuesday evening. Christopher Sergel of Chicago, an alumnus of the University of Iowa, co-operated in effecting the dramatization.

The play will be given privately before members of the First Nighter's club, an organization made up of season ticket holders who agree to write short objective criticisms of each experimental play they attend. These criticisms will be mailed to the author of the dramas given, in this case, Hilton and Sergel.

The entire action of "Lost Horizon" takes place in Shangri-La, a mythical paradise located high in the Tibetan mountains, and concerns the adventures of Hugh Conway, a British diplomat-traveler, who stumbles into Shangri-La after his plane crashes in the mountains.

Directed by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the speech department, the cast includes Stewart Stern as Hugh Conway; Barbara Hudson as Helen Briac, an Englishwoman; May Baker as Lo Tsen, a Chinese girl, and the Rev. James E. Waery as the High Lama.

Ted Ritter will play Chang; Betty Lou Knudson, Elizabeth; Marjory Jessup, Miss Brinklow; Lowell Matson, Capt. Charles Malinson; Marjorie Daughton, Myra, and John Boyd will be cast as Henry D. Barnard, an American.

Other members of the cast are Calvin Kentfield, Lionel Chew, Harold Debbon, Charles Debbon, Betty Jean Reed, Virginia Schrockengest, Mary Frances Clayton and Ruth Neuman.

Questions on Army Answered by Display In General Library

A colorful exhibit designed to answer many questions about the United States army is now on display in the glass case in Macbride hall library.

On the lower shelf are pictures of the generals of the army high command, a chart showing the organization of the war department, and two maps of the United States, one showing the location of the better known camps, and the other showing the nine corps areas into which the country is divided, and their headquarters. Iowa is in the seventh corps area of which Omaha, Neb., is the headquarters.

An American flag is found on the floor of the case which contains specimens of army papers such as Stars and Stripes and Yank. Scattered throughout the case are pictures of camp life—classes, officers' rooms, recreational activities, training periods and libraries.

Officers' and regimental insignia on display were lent to the library by Col. Homer H. Slaughter, commandant, R. O. T. C., and by other members of the military department. Charts showing the organization of a division and the insignia of different branches of the service are also on exhibit, along with several soldier's manuals issued by the war department on various subjects.

PHOENIX FUND, USO BENEFIT FROM SCRAP DRIVE

The Johnson county United Service organization and S. U. I.'s Phoenix fund are the recipients of the proceeds netted from the city-wide Daily Iowan scrap collection conducted Oct. 4. Peggy King, Daily Iowan society editor, is shown in the upper picture presenting a check for $109.90 to Dwight Edwards, chairman of the county USO. Robert Noble, editor-in-chief, is donating a check for the same amount to Joseph Phelan, president of the Phoenix fund central committee, in the lower picture. A grand total of 43,960 pounds of scrap was realized from this campaign, which was part of an intensified nationwide newspaper salvage collection project.

Legion Plans Armistice Day Parade, Talk

The east approach to Old Capitol will be the scene of Wednesday's Armistice day services sponsored by the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion.

Preceding the ceremonies, a parade consisting of the University band, the firing squad of the military department, a company of state guardsmen, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion will march from the Community building down College street to the Johnson county honor roll at College and Clinton streets and turn north on Clinton, proceeding to the campus. The parade will form at 10:20 a. m. and march at 10:30.

The principal address of the exercises will be delivered by the Rev. L. L. Dunnington, pastor of the Iowa City Methodist church, whose talk is entitled, "Battle Cry of Freedom."

At 11 o'clock the entire audience will pay tribute to America's dead in the first World war by facing east at the sound of the explosion of one bomb and remaining stationary until the explosion of two more bombs approximately one minute later.

After the explosion of the two bombs, the military department's firing squad will fire three volleys and taps will be sounded.

Scrap Drive Boosts Phoenix Fund $109.90

Phoenix fund's share of the profits from the scrap metal drive, which amounted to $109.90, helped considerably to boost the previous total toward a high goal.

This sum is half of the money received through the sale of the scrap metal collected in the drive, and it will be invested in war bonds until it is needed for financing the postwar education of university students who serve their country in the armed forces.

Kappa Phi Sorority Plans Dinner Feting Homecoming Alumni

The annual homecoming dinner will be held by Kappa Phi Methodist sorority alumnae today at 12 M. in Fellowship hall of the First Methodist church.

In tune with the day the table centerpiece will be a replica of the corn monument. Letters of greeting from Kappa Phi alumnae will be read at the dinner.

Mrs. Ernest Bright is in charge of the dinner, and Genevieve Wendlandt is supervising decorations. All former Methodist students and Kappa Phi alumnae are invited to attend.

Recent surveys show that for every lightning-rod-protected building destroyed by a lightning-started fire, at least 50 unprotected buildings are so burned.

Tri Deltas Lead In Badge Sale

Leading the Homecoming badge sale competition for the third consecutive day, Delta Delta Delta sorority has now hold a total of 3,292 buttons. More than 500 badges behind, Zeta Tau Alpha is second in the badge sale contest.

Official ratings as announced last night by Prof. Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the badge sale, are as follows:

Delta Delta Delta	3,292
Zeta Tau Alpha	2,750
Sigma Delta Tau	2,250
Gamma Phi Beta	2,243
Total	10,535

Sorority teams, striving to make it "A Badge for Every Iowa Eosoter," will continue their sales until game time today.

Marching Band Will Complete Football Season This Afternoon

Special Maneuvers, Patterns Prepared For Half-Time Show

Completing a season of nearly twice as many home game programs as in any other year, the university marching band will bring their total of special maneuvers and patterns prepared during the year to 32, when they perform at the Iowa-Wisconsin Homecoming game this afternoon.

Directed by Prof. C. B. Righter of the music department, the band has also presented five special vocal arrangements and learned 49 different musical numbers.

Heavy Schedule

The band, along with the Highlanders, has provided all of the half-time entertainments at the seven home games, whereas in previous years bands visiting with opposing teams have lightened the load of long programs. Rehearsing but three times indoors because of bad weather, the band has required only one extra rehearsal—despite illness, work, class conflicts and draft board clashes which have presented problems throughout the season.

Saluting visiting graduates, band members will form the words "HELLO" and "GRADS" in the center of Iowa stadium this afternoon. Joining with the Highlanders, the Naval Pre-Flight school band, the Pershing Rifles and the Pontoniers, the band will participate in the flag-raising ceremonies to be held while the entire crowd at the game stands as the "Star Spangled Banner" is played.

Professor Righter will present the Iowa bandmen in a half-time feature musically depicting the wars of our country since the American Revolution in 1776. Forming a "stage" for the maneuvers, the different sections of the band will advance in order to the center of the formation to play a number popular at the time of the war being portrayed.

Yankee Doodle

"Yankee Doodle" will first be played by the piccolo and drum sections of the band, bringing recollections of the war fought by our forefathers in winning their independence. Returning to their places in the formations the clarinets of the band will next take the center of attraction as they give a lower octave rendition of the civil war tune, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." "Over There", reminiscent of World War I will be played by the cornet section, followed by the baritone playing the "Boston Commandery" march, as a symbol of the American participation in World War II.

Other formations planned for today's exhibition are a huge "W" as a salute to the visiting Wisconsin team and fans, and an "I" formation enclosed in a circle which will increase in size with the swelling of "On Iowa."

Barbados is the only territory in the Caribbean that has been continuously British since it was first claimed in the seventeenth century.

Latest estimates of the earth's area place fertile regions at 33,000,000 square miles, steppes at 19,000,000 square miles, and deserts at 5,000,000 square miles.

Repulse New Jap Solomon Attacks

U.S. Forces Exacting Heavy Toll Of Enemy Guadalcanal Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—American forces, taking a heavy toll of enemy troops, have repulsed several strong Japanese counterattacks in the land battle for Guadalcanal island in the Solomons, the navy announced yesterday.

The Japs struck against advanced army-marine positions to the west of the American-held airfield Wednesday night and early Thursday, Guadalcanal time.

But not one of their several attempts to drive the Americans back upon the airfield was successful and presumably they left the American forces in position to continue the offensive begun last Sunday.

The Japs were subjected not only to withering fire from U. S. ground forces but also, a navy communique reported, to strafing from American planes which maintained "continuous air patrols" over the enemy lines. There was no mention of opposition and apparently the planes had full control of the air.

American positions to the east of the airfield, where the Japs landed troops and reinforcements earlier this week to undertake a squeeze maneuver, were unchanged, the communique said, and so far as was known here, the threat from that quarter had only been checked, rather than eliminated.

In a press conference just before the communique was issued, Secretary Knox said that Japanese casualties in the three-month-old Solomons campaign were more than four or five times as great as American losses and that this ratio was continuing. He was "inclined to believe" that this ratio was due to the superb marksmanship of the American troops.

The lull in sea fighting which set in with the retirement of the Japanese armada from the Solomons late last week continues, the secretary said, but he cautioned against any conclusion that "this is a finished fight."

"We thoroughly expect and confidently expect that they will come back," he added, explaining that American preparations were being made accordingly. Asked whether a prolonged lull in sea fighting would work more to the advantage of Japan or to the United States, Knox said it would be advantageous to both sides in that each would have more time to strengthen and dispose its forces for the next phase.

Asked for comment on the campaign—the immediate prize of which is the Guadalcanal airfield—Knox said that "even if we lost the Solomons, it would not be decisive; nor would it be decisive if the Japanese lost them." President Roosevelt remarked at his press conference earlier that the island campaign was neither decisive nor of major importance. Knox said whether or not it was "major" was a matter of an individual's estimate but did not otherwise express his own view on this point.

Knox gave the impression at the conference that the communique to be issued afterward would report another American advance, saying his recollection was that four forces have thrown back the enemy and gained some new ground.

The communique made no mention of any advance following up the repulse of the enemy counterattacks, however, and naval men assumed the secretary had had in mind reports of ground gained earlier in the week.

The advance against the main enemy positions started Sunday when one wave of marines swept forward two miles at the base of the jungle-clad northern hump of the island. Subsequently, additional ground was gained, and more than two score enemy artillery pieces and machine guns were captured.

Bitter Fight Raging For Jap Buna Base

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Saturday (AP)—A bitter battle is raging between allied and Japanese ground troops at Oivi, in New Guinea, some 50 miles south of the Jap coastal base of Buna, the high command said yesterday. The Japs, who have been pushed back more than half way across New Guinea from their push on Port Moresby were reported resisting strongly.

After recapturing the midway point, Kokoda, Nov. 3 in a push across the Owen Stanley mountains, the allies drove on toward Oivi with the Japs in retreat but yesterday's communique had indicated the appearance of resistance, noting the advance was slowing up.

Today's communique stated "fighting continues near Oivi" without claiming capture of that point, although the communique of Nov. 5 had placed the allies within three miles of the place.

WLB Establishes New Salary Stabilization

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The War Labor Board announced a new wage and salary stabilization policy which, said Chairman William H. Davis, would be "pretty damn tough" on proposed increases above levels prevailing on September 15.

The policy set up under a recent order of President Roosevelt directing the board to stabilize wages and salaries under its jurisdiction, virtually froze such wages and salaries at the September 15 level.

Increases above that level will be granted "only in exceptional cases" and in accordance with an economic stabilization order issued by the president on October 3, the board said. The order directed that no wage or salary increases be approved by the board "unless such increase is necessary to correct maladjustments or inequalities, to eliminate sub-standards of living, to correct gross inequalities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war."

ENGINEERING STUDENTS ERECT CORN MONUMENT

With the "V" for victory representing both the Iowa football battle with Wisconsin and the nation's war effort, the largest corn monument ever built for Homecoming stands at the intersection of Iowa Avenue and Clinton street. It was erected early yesterday morning by members of the Associated Students of Engineering, and was designed by Robert H. Multhaup, E3 of Cedar Rapids. The traditional monument was built of larger size than usual this year to compensate for the lack of housing unit Homecoming decorations, abandoned to save money and material for the war effort. Materials in the corn structure will be salvaged later.

British Take Complete Hold on Madagascar

LONDON (AP)—British occupation of Madagascar, begun last May and resumed in September to thwart its use as a U-boat base for Indian ocean raids, was completed yesterday as an obscure but vital link in the allied high strategy for mastery of Africa and the seas.

Even as the final surrender of the island's Vichy French was accepted on their petition for an armistice, Japanese sources in Ankara disclosed that Hitler, in desperation over his crumbling position in north Africa, had appealed to the Japanese as it did, indicated that no such attempt would be made by Tokyo to bail Hitler out of his African difficulties.

Moreover, the Japanese in Turkey said Tokyo had flatly turned down the appeal on the ground that Japanese naval forces had been so depleted and were still so urgently engaged by American forces in the Pacific that they could not be spared to divert allied strength from the Egyptian quarter.

The French acknowledged the capitulation in a communique issued at Vichy, and from there also Marshal Petain curiously instructed the island command to conduct the negotiations on a purely military basis without entering into "any political parley" with the British.

The significance of Petain's instructions could be judged in relation to the British report that more than a thousand French and colonial troops had deserted over to the British side in the last few days alone.

In the course of the 6-month campaign, the British took more than 3,000 prisoners.

The end of Vichy rule on Madagascar was foreshadowed in a French communique Thursday which related significantly that only 27 Europeans remained among the colonial troops.

Local ration boards will issue gasoline coupons after the certificate of war necessity is presented to them. Special rations, valid for the period between Nov. 22 and Dec. 31, will be issued to those who do not receive the certificate before rationing begins.

In the truck classification are ambulances, hearses, buses, taxis, rental cars and all vehicles, including passenger cars owned and operated by the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard.

Flynn Held for Superior Court Trial On 3 Counts; Photographer Testifies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Errol Flynn was held today for Superior Court trial on three counts of statutory rape, after a preliminary hearing which ended with a photographer's testimony that the actor had told him he was being made the victim of an attempted shakedown.

"I believe there was," Stackpole replied. "I believe it was $5,000. Flynn told me he had a print of her developed in color and was going to caption the picture 'Five Thousand Dollars.'"

On cross examination, Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler asked: "Did Flynn ask you to destroy the photos?"

"No," Stackpole answered. "At one time I said I was willing to destroy them, but he didn't insist." Giesler wound up three days of cross-examination of Miss Satterlee taking her in minute detail today over ground largely covered in her previous testimony—her acquaintance with Flynn and her description of what actually happened on the boat.

Flynn, at conclusion of the preliminary hearing, which opened last Monday, said in a statement: "The District Attorney has had the ball so far. When I get it the picture will change. My ultimate vindication is all that counts, and I have complete confidence in the essential fair mindedness of the American majority."

Highlanders to Give Drum Demonstration At Intermission Today

Drums will hold the spotlight as the Scottish Highlanders of the university present their last football game exhibition of the season this afternoon in Iowa stadium.

Included in the special routine planned for the killed group by Pipe Major William L. Adamson is a drum dance executed by one of the dancing lasses of the organization, a drum solo by one of the snare drummers, and a drum selection for the entire percussion section of the group based on the rhythm of the "Sorcerer's Apprentice."

Dancing the Highland Fling on a bass drum held on the shoulders of seven Highlanders will be Laura Dempster, A4 of Iowa City, smallest of the nine lasses to perform at the game. Surrounding her on the field will be four lasses dancing the Highland Fling and four more dancing an old Scottish favorite, the Sword Dance, all enclosed in a circle formed by the other Highlanders.

After a company front entrance playing "On Wisconsin" at the beginning of the half-time program, the Highlanders will divide into two groups, the pipers wheeling east to form a company front and the drummers forming a concert formation on the west side. Jack Cickenbaugh, C4 of Independence, cadet major and national champion drummer, will play a short selection on the snare drum.

Utilizing the bass, tenor and snare drummers of the group, Pipe Major Adamson will next present this arrangement of the drums.

Beginning with one drum playing the basic rhythm, the other snare drums will gradually join in and pick up the rhythm. Tenor and bass drums will take the rhythm while the snare drums go into various difficult variations, until all the drummers finish in a melee.

SUI Student Bureau To Discuss War News

Speech Organization To Present Programs Of Current Interest

The organization of a student speakers' bureau providing a program of student addresses and discussion in the interest of war information has been announced by Prof. F. H. Knower of the speech department.

The committee on war information and training of the university is co-operating with the speech department and the extension division in providing student speakers for the program. The purpose of the service is to provide information to the public concerning war problems, to stimulate thinking on war issues, and to promote civilian co-operation in the war effort.

Will Provide Programs
Programs are appropriate for presentation before service clubs, high school assemblies, women's clubs, parent-teacher organizations, church and community forums and other local groups. The talks and forums aim to present issues, problems and information relating to the war and the postwar period.

Speakers are students of the university who have particular qualifications fitting them to speak on certain topics and have been trained in public speaking and discussion. Programs available include panel discussions with audience comment and questions, symposiums, cross-examination programs in which the speakers examine each other, and formal debates.

Discussion Subjects

Some of the subjects for group discussion or individual speaking are inflation control, the problems of rationing, the formation of a postwar federal world government, co-operation between the United States and Latin America, women and the war, modifications necessary in the educational program because of the war, farm labor, and the church and the war.

To secure this service any organizations interested may write or telephone the student speakers' service, extension division, Professor Knower, or the office of war information and training service, room 11, Schaeffer hall.

Speakers should be requested at least two weeks in advance. Persons requesting the service should state the length of the program and the amount of time they desire the speaker to take, and groups engaging speakers will pay transportation and other costs.

The debates and public discussions are planned to consume 60 minutes, and the individual speeches are timed to use 20 to 30 minutes. Adjustment can be made to the needs of the program.

Local Boys in Plays

James Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred M. Smith, and Dean Lierle, son of Dr. and Mrs. Dean M. Lierle, will take part in a program of three one-act plays to be presented at the Thanksgiving observance at Shattuck school, Faribault, Minn.

SELL YOUR IDLE TIRES TO UNCLE SAM—NOW! EFFECTIVE NOV. 22, IT WILL BE ILLEGAL TO USE GASOLINE IN THE OPERATION OF YOUR PASSENGER CAR IF YOU OWN IDLE TIRES

IDLE TIRES MUST BE PUT TO WORK TO HELP WIN THE WAR

Idle Tires are needed to keep America rolling. Workers must get to their jobs. Farm products must be delivered to market. Essential services must go on. So Uncle Sam has taken steps to buy every idle tire for a national stock pile to keep every possible car in service until synthetic rubber production is able to take over the load.

The purpose of the Idle Tire Purchase Plan is not to take cars off the road, but to help keep cars on the road for essential uses. When you need other tires, the Government will do everything possible to see that you are supplied.

FACTS ABOUT THE IDLE TIRE PROGRAM

WHAT IS AN IDLE TIRE? Under the Idle Tire Purchase Plan, the ownership of passenger car tires will be limited to five tires per passenger car owned and to one tire for each running wheel of each passenger car trailer or other such equipment owned. Any passenger car tire in excess of those limits is an Idle Tire. Beginning November 22, it will be illegal to use gasoline or permit gasoline to be used in the operation of any passenger car if the owner of the car owns one or more Idle Tires. Furthermore, it will be illegal for any person owning a passenger car, to use or permit gasoline to be used in its operation if any person in his or her household who is related by blood, marriage or adoption, owns one or more Idle Tires.

- EXEMPTIONS— (a) Passenger car tires intended for use on trucks, taxicabs, public rental cars, jitneys, buses, cars licensed for hire, etc., are exempt from Idle Tire Purchase Plan regulations. (b) Passenger car tires intended for use on cars owned or leased by Federal, State, local and foreign governments also are exempt. (c) Passenger car tires in the hands of dealers (including car dealers), jobbers or manufacturers, bought or made for sale, are exempt if they have been reported to the Government on official inventory forms.

DISPOSING OF IDLE TIRES—Usable Idle Tires and Idle Tires that can be made usable by repairs can be disposed of only to the Government in accordance with the instructions given elsewhere on this page. Any other disposition of such tires is illegal and subject to severe penalties. Idle Tires that are beyond repair should be sold to scrap dealers.

TRUCK AND BUS TIRES—TUBES—Compulsion does not apply to bus-type and truck-type tires and tubes, nor to passenger car tubes, but the Government will buy all that are offered.

PENALTIES—Severe penalties are provided for the illegal use of gasoline on and after November 22, or for making false statements about tire ownership. If in doubt on any question under the Idle Tire Purchase Plan, full details will be found in OPA Mileage Rationing Regulations.

READ THESE IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS

The Government's Idle Tire Purchase Plan requires that you do two things if you wish to use gasoline to operate your passenger car.

FIRST. You must dispose of ALL Idle Tires. If the Idle Tires are usable or can be made usable by repairs, they MUST be sold to the Government. If they are beyond repair, they should be sold to scrap dealers.

—In areas where gasoline is already rationed, Idle Tires must be disposed of before November 22.

—In areas where gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22, Idle Tires must be disposed of before you apply for a gasoline ration book.

SECOND. You must file a Government Tire Record Form. (Forms may be obtained at War Price and Rationing Board Offices, Post Offices and Garages.)

—In areas where gasoline is already rationed, Tire Record Forms must be taken or sent to your War Price and Rationing Board by December 12. Earlier is better because this form also contains the Tire Inspection Blank which must be signed by your War Price and Rationing Board and which you must have in your possession after December 12.

—In areas where gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22, Tire Record Forms may also be obtained at school houses when you register for gasoline. The forms must be filled in and presented before you can obtain a gasoline ration book.

Note: in both areas it will be illegal on and after November 22 to use or permit gasoline to be used in any passenger car you own if you, or any member of your household related by blood, marriage or adoption, owns one or more Idle Tires.

HERE IS HOW TO SELL YOUR IDLE TIRES TO UNCLE SAM AT CEILING PRICES

Keep your 5 best tires for each passenger car; one for each running wheel of passenger car trailers and similar equipment. All other tires, new or used, regardless of condition, are Idle Tires. Sell all usable Idle Tires (even those needing repairs), to the Government before Nov. 22.

Railway Express Agency has been designated to collect usable Idle Tires (at no cost to you) and deliver them to Government warehouses. In areas where Railway Express has "pick-up" service, call or write nearest Railway Express Agency office and say you have Idle Tires for Uncle Sam. A truck will call.

In rural areas beyond Express "pick-up" zones, take usable Idle Tires and tubes to the Railway Express Agency office, usually at nearest railroad station. The Express agent will give you a receipt. Scrap tires should not be turned over to Railway Express. Sell them directly to scrap dealers.

At Government warehouses, Idle Tires will be appraised at ceiling prices, according to make, size and condition, less cost of repairs, if needed. (Typical prices are shown elsewhere on this page.) A U. S. Treasury check for payment in full will be sent to you by mail. Tell the express agent if you prefer payment in War Savings Bonds or Stamps at current purchase value.

EXAMPLES OF PRICES THE GOVERNMENT WILL PAY FOR YOUR IDLE TIRES

Table with columns: Tire Size, Tread Depth 7/32" or more, Tread Depth More than 3/32" or less, Smooth Tread. Rows include sizes like 7.00x15, 3.30x16, 4.00x16, etc.

Prices in column marked "3/32" or less" also apply for all regrooved and remolded tires. Only popular sizes are listed. Other sizes priced proportionately. The above prices apply to used tires which need not be repaired. If repairs are needed, costs fixed by the appraiser will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for recapping. If tires received prove good only on scrap, scrap prices will be paid.

USED TUBE PRICES Maximum price for most used passenger car tubes is $1.50. NEW TIRE AND TUBE PRICES New tires, including undamaged tires for less than 1,000 miles, and new tubes, will be paid for at maximum applicable OPA price in nearly every case the manufacturer's current list price will prevail.
