Soviets Closing Huge Trap

Prepare All-Out African Attack 300,000 Enemy Troops Facing Encirclement as Reds Advance

Allied Planes Hit Axis Forces As Anderson Prepares for Drive

LONDON (AP)—The grand allied assault on Tunis and Bizerte is about to be launched by forces under Lieut.-Gen. K. A. N. Anderson, the Morocco radio announced last night, while American and British planes in relays pounded axis hotbeds over the whole Tunisian battle ground.

The Morocco radio declared that Anderson, leader of the British first army and a supporting force of Americans, is on the verge of beginning a large-scale offensive. It said further that his forces had once more thrown back a German column in an engagement 28 miles south of Tunis.

The regular communique of the allied force headquarters in north Africa merely said that "the British first army is making satisfactory progress in operations against the enemy in eastern forward areas."

The communique, devoted mainly to the terrific aerial battering that the combined RAF and U.S. air forces are giving the axis, said that two successful raids were carried out on Bizerte Monday and Tuesday nights and that U.S. army P-38 fighters of the 14th air force destroyed 14 enemy planes in Tunisia yesterday.

The fighter bag included, the war report said, seven Italian troop transport planes shot down at Gabes and two Junkers 88 planes destroyed elsewhere in southern Tunisia; four transport planes and one seaplane and a tank destroyed on the airfield at Gabes.

In the raids on Bizerte, the strong naval base city in Tunisia, the communique said, RAF bombers Monday night caused a large explosion and more than 30 small ones on the Bizerte airfield.

The Tuesday night attack was devoted mainly to the Bizerte docks and shipping in the harbor.

Numerous bomb flashes were seen and there was a big sheet of flame which appeared to come from exploding gasoline," the communique said. "All bombers returned safely."

The French were giving support to the British and Americans, the Morocco radio reported. It broadcast a French general headquarters communique saying "our troops are effectively accomplishing their task side by side with allied troops."

The axis poured aerial reinforcements into Sardinia and Sicily and flew troops to Tunisia today while Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in the house of commons twice emphasized that the battle of north Africa has reached an "extremely critical" phase.

The determined efforts to reinforce Tunisia made it plain that the Germans and Italians will try to win in Tunisia at any cost—even perhaps at the expense of the Russian front or the battered retreating forces in Libya, which apparently will be left to make whatever stand they can at El Aghella.

Reports of fighting, now spread over about all of Tunisia in sharp and violent patch clashes, were high-lighted by air activity.

Axis power appeared to be concentrated in the small pocket around Bizerte and Tunis on the north coast where the British first army, augmented by Americans and French, was within 25 to 30 miles and moving in along the rugged coastal roads from Algeria.

Must Reach Common Understanding Over War Aims—Willkie

Says Fight Is Either 'One of Liberation Or It Is Nothing'

TORONTO (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie told Canadians tonight that the peoples of the united nations must define their purposes during the war and reach "a common understanding of what they fight for and what they hope for" or risk having "sacrificed and suffered to win a war for no purpose."

This war, Willkie declared in an address prepared for delivery at a rally here of the Canadian aid-to-Russia fund "is either a 'grand coalition' of peoples, fighting a common war for liberation, or it is nothing . . ."

Great Pooling
"It must be either a great pooling of all our energies, inspired by a united strategy, planned and fought on a global scale, or it will be lost . . ."

"We must declare the common purpose which drives us all, or we run the risk of having worked and sacrificed and suffered to win a war for no purpose."

Resolution to Win
Willkie said that he found everywhere on his flight around the world, from which he returned five weeks ago, encouragement on the fighting fronts and a resolution to win in the peoples behind the fronts.

"But I also found—and this troubled me greatly—I also found worry and doubt in the hearts and minds of the people . . . They were searching for a common cause . . . The whole world seemed to me in an eager, demanding, hungry, ambitious mood, ready for incredible sacrifice if only to justify the sacrifices already made," he added.

2 Sets of Answers
World War I ended "with an armistice, not real peace," he went on, because Lenin gave the world one set of answers, Wilson gave it another and "neither set of answers ever became blood-and-bone part of the war . . . Neither set of answers redeemed the war or made it anything more than a costly fight for power."

America Observes 1st Wartime Thanksgiving in 25 Years Today

Nation Flush With Money, Yet Lacking In Food Supplies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
America observes its first wartime Thanksgiving in 25 years today with swollen pocketbooks and shrinking larders.

For the first time in years, many with the money to buy were unable to get the traditional turkey and some of the "fixins" because of local shortages due to the war emergency.

Flush with war funds, millions crowded food stores throughout the country in a last minute rush to stock up for the holiday. Agriculture officials reported that never before had there been such a demand for food.

But because of lend-lease requirements and the need for supplying hundreds of thousands of troops overseas, there were shortages of meats, poultry, dairy products, eggs and some vegetables. These shortages varied with localities. Some stores instituted their own rationing in order to make available stocks go further. Missing from many tables will be the after dinner coffee (sales were halted last week as a prelude to rationing) and the piece de resistance of some pumpkin pie eaters—whipped cream.

The war production board issued an order yesterday halting sales of whipping cream in order to conserve fluid milk. The order is effective immediately.

Millions of war workers will observe the day by remaining on the job. This is in response to a plea by War Production Chief Donald Nelson, who asked that nothing be allowed to interfere with the uninterrupted flow of war materials.

Army Flier Exonerated Of Killing 12 in Crash

SANTA ANA, Cal. (AP)—A rangy, dark-haired army lieutenant was exonerated yesterday of killing 12 occupants of an airliner in a collision with his bomber a month ago near Palm Springs.

Kidnaped Waukegan Child Found Tucked In Travelling Bag

ZION, Ill. (AP)—A four-months-old baby boy—alive and well and tucked in a travelling bag—was found yesterday less than 24 hours after he was snatched from his buggy in nearby Waukegan.

Police Chief, Alvin Reusch said the infant was recovered from Mrs. Anne Tyrell, 29, in Zion and that the woman admitted she took the child but offered no reason for her action.

Dramatic Search
The finding of the baby—Gary Botsford—ended a search that aroused the northshore and was surrounded by dramatic circumstances.

The chief said he saw Mrs. Tyrell in a car that was leaving the home of a relative. Attracted by her resemblance to the woman sought in the case, he questioned her. He reported that he saw the gladstone bag, opened it and beheld the infant.

Admits Snatching
He related that Mrs. Tyrell claimed she was the mother of the child, but later admitted that she took the baby from the buggy in front of a Waukegan store at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday.

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—The Red army striking across the snow-covered Don steppes west of Stalingrad has seized the Don-Chir river junction in a move threatening rapidly to complete the envelopment of the 300,000-man German assault army at Stalingrad.

A special Soviet communique, the fourth in four days, announced also that the Nazi toll in dead and captured now stood at 95,000, and presumably another 140,000 Germans have been wounded in the bloody battle of the Don river bend.

The Russian armies occupied Novomaximovskiy and Staromaximovskiy at the junction of the Don and Chir rivers, 65 miles southwest of Stalingrad, the communique said, without detailing the significance of this advance.

This indicated one of two developments. Either the Russian army which struck across the Don river at Serafimovich on the north side of the bend had penetrated clear across that strategic elbow to the southern side, or that the Red army column driving down the Stalingrad-Novorossiisk railroad had turned northward to link up with the upper Soviet army.

Field dispatches had reported only a 30-mile gap remained to be closed in the Don elbow to encircle the Nazi Stalingrad armies. These reports preceded the issuance of the latest special communique, which did not give the new mileage rolled up by the Soviet offensive begun Nov. 19.

Besides occupying the new and old cities of Maximovskiy on the Chir-Don rivers, the communique said, six more villages had been taken, the 22nd Nazi tank division had been routed, 15,000 prisoners taken, and 6,000 Nazis killed during yesterday's operations.

This made a total of 47,000 German dead and 51,000 captives. In addition the Russians said they now have captured 1,300 guns of all calibers, 5,518 trucks, 62 ammunition dumps and vast quantities of equipment and food.

Little to Say
(The Germans had little to say about the Stalingrad and Don river bend battles except the claim that the Soviets were losing heavily. But the Germans referred to Soviet successes on the Rzhev front, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, which the Russians did not mention. The Russians were conceded by the Germans to have "temporarily broken" Nazi lines in that area.)

Inside Stalingrad, the regular midnight communique reported, Russian troops had cleared the Germans from several emplacements and strong points, killing 300 Nazis in one sector and putting out of action some enemy artillery and mortar batteries.

The Red Stalingrad garrison now is fighting with the aid of a Russian column that was reported yesterday to have driven southward along the Volga to join Soviet units in the northern factory district.

The regular war bulletin acknowledged that the Russians were meeting heavy resistance from Germans operating from field fortifications northwest of Stalingrad and said the enemy also was counter-attacking in some sectors.

But the Russians said their shock troops were repulsing these fierce charges, and that Soviet attack planes had shot down nine Nazi fighters and 15 Junkers, 52 transport planes. This reference to transport planes indicated a hurried German effort to bolster their troops with aerial reinforcements.

The powerful Russian effort to bag the entire Nazi army stemmed inside and outside Stalingrad appeared to be confined almost entirely to the Don river bend during yesterday's operations. The situation as it was summed up last night before issuance of the special communique was:

A tremendous battle was in progress some 50 miles west of Stalingrad between Kalach and Trekhosirov Skaya—both recaptured by the Russians along the ice-clogged Don—to cut the corridor and thus trap for liquidation the survivors of the 300,000 axis troops which for three months had assaulted Stalingrad.

Russians drive both north and south of the path of death continued to roll forward over the bodies of Germans, Italians, Romanians and even Finns.

Attack Preparations Concealed By

Clever Red Army Manipulations

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Evidence continues to accumulate that the twin-jawed Russian counter offensive in the Don bend caught Hitler as much by surprise in its scope, power and direction as the Anglo-American double-headed attack in Africa although his failure to foresee it remains a mystery.

It speaks volumes for Red army staff skill, inasmuch as weeks of preparation under the eyes of Nazi air scouts must have been required to mount such powerful blows. There is little cover available on the barren, windy Russian steppes to conceal mass troop and supply movements from enemy observation.

It is possible that the Nazi high command already had determined to lift the siege of Stalingrad and withdraw to winter lines before the allied offensive in Africa or the Russian flanking squeeze play took shape. It would take time and meticulous management to effect a retirement from so deep a pocket as the Stalingrad salient. Not only men but all manner of heavy army impediments would have to be moved back, without prematurely revealing the strategy to the enemy.

Engrossed by preparations for so dangerous an undertaking, the Nazi field command might have failed to give sufficient attention to reported Russian troop movements on the flanks of the great Volga triangle. From the hour of his order to attack Russia, Hitler and the generals on whom he has most heavily relied have been guilty of a cardinal military crime. They have, by Hitler's admission, repeatedly underestimated the foe—his morale, military skill and resources.

That they have now repeated that unforgivable blunder is obvious if Russian claims of continuing deep advances on both flanks of the dwindling Stalingrad salient have any basis in fact. That they have, Berlin has officially admitted.

It requires no seventh son of a seventh son to foresee that if Hitler loses not only his grip on Stalingrad, but an army and its gear in that Russian trap, nothing he could say could keep such a major defeat from having its full psychological effect on a German populace that had been promised nothing but victory.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

—Thanksgiving Day 1942—

Thanksgiving day will be celebrated in a very much changed style today as Iowans and the nation give thanks—over machines, production lines and corn pickers—the tools of victory.

We've a lot to be thankful for today. A lot more than our abundant harvest and the health of our families. We have our lives and our way of living, our homes, our churches, our schools, and as we read our papers this morning we are watching the beginnings of our victory in war—the preservation of all we believe to be good in life.

Today we re-enact a scene of many years ago and as we kneel to thank God for His guidance through the year we will be thanking Him for our freedom, our health and our harvest as the pilgrims on the wooded slopes of New England knelt to thank Him.

Though the years have brought great changes in this land they have changed but little the condition of this day. We are still struggling, as have our forefathers through the ages, for the right to live our lives as we desire—to worship our God and to live in peace.

Some of us have suffered greatly during the year. We've lost fathers, sons and friends, killed in action. To us those losses can not be weighed in gold, nor can they be repaid in a life time, yet we can not but be thankful for the good that has befallen us and on this day pray to the Lord that the lives of those who were so dear to us shall not have been given in vain.

Our futures are as uncertain as the darkness of night, the depth of the ocean. Our lives will be changed immeasurably before we again celebrate Thanksgiving day. What lies ahead we can neither see nor tell but by our faith in God and our conscientious efforts in the job before us we can steer our course to winning a victory and earning the peace to follow.

Let us today, as we continue our drive toward victory, pause a moment to pledge ourselves again to our task so that we may enjoy a new peace on this Thursday in 1943.

France Feels the Heel—

Pierre Laval, who modestly enough only wants to be remembered as the greatest "patriot" in the history of France, has given up the ghost of civilian decency. The latest of his "patriotic" moves is to announce that henceforth he will direct the efforts of the true revolution, and make deadly certain that democracy will never again rise in France from the seeds of this challenged generation.

Thus, with this latest Laval move and the latest bloodless conquest of Hitler, an era in which "Hitler will respect French honor," gasped and died.

Most Frenchmen must have recognized from the beginning that the attributes that Petain credited him with were non-existent. Finally, Petain, who stinks with the foul odor of appeasement, gave up all efforts to mediate between his countryman and the Monster. Laval had neither the popularity nor the capabilities of Petain, so his efforts were wasted. The recent African situation gave Hitler the excuse he needed to complete the utter debasement of the Frenchmen, and to furnish the well-used rifles of the Gestapo another hunting ground. Most of us, sooner or later, expected that Hitler would not deal with French honor, nor honor of any other species.

But the move that engages our attention, is Laval's efforts to make certain that democracy will never again place its roots in French soil. The very thought is frightening.

The only comfort we have is the remark of Eduard Herriot who patiently and simply stated the situation. "Democracy will never die in the land of its birth!"

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Not since the fight over reorganization of the supreme court (and that covers a lot of territory) have the foundations of congress been so rocked as in the senate scrap on the poll tax bill.

Only by seeing it could you believe it. From the very outset, party lines broke down. Friends turned against friends of long standing. Traditional foes discovered that they were bedfellows. And from the first day of the ruckus, jangled nerves resulted in spirited verbal rows that left the public galleries and the senate itself a little breathless with astonishment.

Imagine the ordinarily courteous, kindly, long-haired Texan, Senator Connally, tossing such bitterisms at aged, lame-duck Senator Norris that even he (Senator Connally) seemed amazed at his own remarks and withdrew some of them from the record.

Imagine dyed-in-the-wool Democrats, men who have followed the administration through many a fight without a public whimper, turning on majority leader Senator Barkley and threatening rebellion against his leadership.

Imagine Senator (the Man) Bilbo—or any other senator, for that matter—standing on his feet at the very time that news was rolling in from both hemispheres of titanic battles, threatening to tie the senate up for 30 days or more with a filibuster.

Observers here are bemoaning the fact that congress, fresh from the strafing it got for voting itself pensions and bickering over political issues, gasoline rationing cards, etc., has stuck out its neck again.

It undoubtedly has, but before you pass judgment, it might be well to consider one more thing: That there isn't a single parliamentary weapon used in the poll tax scrap that hasn't been used for a century and a half under that very same Capitol dome.

In other words, this is nothing new—not even in war time. The filibuster has been recognized as a parliamentary expedient for 150 years. Taking up all the senate's time with roll calls (raising the point of order that no quorum is present) isn't quite as old, but almost. Loading a bill down with extraneous and highly controversial amendments (the poll tax senators threatened to file more than 40 onto this bill) each of which would result in days of debate, also is an ancient trick.

All of these things have been done before—and even in the World War, the Civil War and others. It's just "democracy at work"—a phrase that is a pretty good springboard to take off from when you are trying to form opinions on the antics of the legislative branch of our government.

Nelson's Skids Are Being Prepared—

WASHINGTON—Within WPB, the top-ranking personnel expects Donald Nelson to fade, and be replaced soon by his right-hand man, Ferdinand Eberstadt, who now bears the unimposing title of vice chairman of the program committee.

They say now that Mr. Nelson never was the man for a detail-dynamo job. On the other hand, Mr. Eberstadt is well-liked by his associates for keenness and driving ability.

He came out of a leading New York law firm into the army-navy munitions board early in the war. When Nelson and the generals were squabbling over respective jurisdictions, Mr. Roosevelt lifted Eberstadt up to his present position to end the fight.

While rosy official publicity has deadened congressional and press criticism of the war effort in Washington to a considerable extent lately, the clumsiness and inefficiency of WPB and Mr. Henderson's OPA are just as much as ever the talk of the town.

All business men and lawyers who deal with either (and who does not) have a typical tale to tell of personal experiences.

A small manufacturer, for example, applied to WPB for 100 feet of belting to run from his generator to his machines. A WPB official wrote back asking if he was manufacturing indispensable war materials.

The business man furnished proof that 60 percent of his business was in war orders, whereupon he was astounded to receive from WPB an official priority stating that inasmuch as 60 percent of his business was indispensable, he was being given an order to purchase 60 feet of belt.

"BUT THIS IS WASHINGTON" COVERS A MULTITUDE OF SINS—

A Washington fuel oil distributor was called on the telephone by a harsh official voice and informed: "This is OPA. We have checked you, and found seven violations of the fuel regulations."

The B. M. smiled! "That's not so bad. I thought I was worse than that." The official voice mellowed a little, and conceded that practically every oil dealer was worse.

The B. M. was told to come to headquarters, and there found an official with mimeographed forms piled 3 feet high on the desk. The official took the top two sheets off the pile and handed them to the B. M. saying:

"If I was running this business, I would help you fill out these forms and we would have the job done in two minutes. But this is Washington."

"So you must take the forms down to the end of the hall, about a block south, down the corridor, and there you will find a man who will help you fill them out. Then you must bring them back to me, and I must see if they are correct."

"But you must not hand them to me. Take them home and mail them to me. The regulations say I must have a postmarked envelope accompanying the forms."

"It's crazy, but that's the way we do it."

Sic semper gloria Washingtonis. There is no simple step of business that the government cannot make complicated; no progress that red tape cannot clog.

NEW CHAMPION COMES TO THE AID OF ADMINISTRATION SALVERS—

The liberal magazine, New Republic, has taken up the Wallace-Gallup salute for administration wounds suffered in the election, and is spreading it around. They all now say the new dealers might have won, if it had not been for the absence of young people in the army and moving masses of itinerant war workers. They count the army as pure new deal.

It is difficult to check the truth or falsity of arguments like that on a national scale, but some evidence can be obtained. The soldier vote of Northumberland county, Pennsylvania, (Mount Carmel) has been announced. This is an anthracite coal area which has fluctuated between Republican and Democratic tendencies in the past, although it returned Republican majorities in the last two elections.

For congress, the anthracite soldiers voted 78 Republican, 13 Democratic, and for other state offices about the same (governor, 70 Republican, 21 Democratic.)

As has been wisely said: "The draft boards did not ask men if they were Republican or Democrat when they called the numbers."

The contention that this nation's army is of any political character is absurd. It is a people's army.

IN CONFERENCE

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

Though Lights Dimmed Crowd Doesn't Mind—

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Doubtless it was the lingering influence of the Chink and the Girl along the West India Dock Road, in Thomas Burke's "Limehouse Nights," but the first time I came to New York Broadway actually seemed sinister, and though the Street itself weltered in its customary blaze of lights, it was easy to imagine that each side street shadow concealed a shawled figure with a patch over one eye. I can tell you now that the cop on the corner was a very welcome sight.

Now, in the dimout, one often wonders what visitors think. The Great White Way is the gray way now. You can not see cars until they are on top of you. Only the other night I stood at 8th avenue in front of the New Yorker hotel, and witnessed an accident that resulted in the death of a woman. She stepped right into the path of an automobile. She simply didn't see it, and before anyone could scream there was a grinding of brakes and she was a limp, crushed figure on the asphalt, dead.

Though the lights have dimmed the crowds do not seem to mind. The sidewalks remain jam-packed, not only with seamen and soldiers from the seven corners of the world but with New Yorkers and visitors, out to catch a moment's distraction.

The last time I saw Broadway (last night) I was walking south towards Penn station and contemplating, of all things, the flush of the light of the moon on the skyscrapers. How many years it has been since people walked Broadway and got romantic about the light of the moon is as good a guess for you as for me. It won't happen again after this, God willing, for generations again.

I hadn't gotten beyond Thirty-seventh street when the air-raid siren blew. For me, all arguments of whether you can hear sirens in mid-town New York were settled. You couldn't have helped hearing them in the vaults of a bank.

I did what no good citizen does, and sprinted for the station, instead of taking immediate cover. If I had stopped right there I would have missed my train. Before I reached the station the street was miraculously clear of traffic, even though everyone seemed to agree by then that it was only a practice blackout, which it was.

The train was dimmed and one could not read a paper. So I stood in the vestibule and watched as mile after mile of darkened city rolled by. The only lights were in war production factories. The mystery in that bit of logic was only less marvelous than the absolute perfection of the sudden darkness imposed by the wail of a noise machine on the first city of the world.

OVER THE TOP FOR VICTORY with UNITED STATES WAR BONDS-STAMPS

Keeping Up With the War

Through the Channels of Current Literature, Yours for the Asking—

A thorough account of the present war (with pictures, too!) appears currently in THE SECOND GREAT WAR. As an introduction, try pages 1820-28, in number 45, on "The German Campaign in Russia—Up to the Fall of Smolensk." The plans and accomplishments of the Germans, as well as Russia's ability to protect herself, are included in this article. The increasingly important role of Latin-America in the war, not only as a source of raw materials but as a source of military power, is brought out in two articles—Hernane Tavares de Sa's "Count Brazil in this War"; PAN-AMERICAN (Nov. p. 3-7) and Edward P. Morgan's "Notes from Wartime Mexico," AMERICAN MERCURY (Nov. p. 681-86). The former article, by a prominent Brazilian educator, suggests that Brazil can give valuable assistance in defense of the vital South Atlantic region.

Martin H. Niemeyer's "Radio in Wartime," SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIAL RESEARCH (Nov.-Dec., p. 95-105) and Richard W. Hubbell's "Television Enlists for the War," SCIENCE DIGEST (Dec., p. 87-90) reveal the growing importance of these closely related fields in winning our struggle against totalitarianism. That war is not only destructive, but can produce useful products for peace-time living is illustrated by Samuel M. Levin in "The Impact of War on Industrial Technology," in SOCIAL STUDIES (Oct., p. 243-49).

SOCIAL RESEARCH (Nov., p. 495-509) contains a revealing account of Nazi organization of seamen into an effective propaganda agency, in Ernest Hamburger's "A Peculiar Pattern of the Fifth Column." Two sides of the "farm problem" are presented by Ben James and Webb Waldron. The former discusses the problems of the preparation and shipping of food products to united nations soldiers and civilians in "Pantry of Democracy," AMERICAN LEGION MAGAZINE (Nov. p. 12-13). But the need of skilled labor as well as a numerically large supply for our farms is demonstrated through actual individual cases in Mr. Waldron's "The Crisis in Farm Labor," AMERICAN MERCURY (Nov., p. 687-92).

Two interesting proposals for post-war reconstruction in Europe have appeared. One deals especially with agriculture in the Balkans and central Europe, pointing out possible ways for cooperation, and the need for assistance from the united nations if Germany is not to again dominate this region economically. Leaders from these countries have already informally met to discuss this program, which is described in "From the Bohemian Forest to the Black Sea: a Peasant Program," by Sir Frederick Whyte, in CONTEMPORARY REVIEW (Nov., p. 257-64). The other proposal, suggesting international control of the European continental steel industry, as the best preventive of rearmament and international rivalry, appears in "German Disarmament and European Reconstruction," by Mercator, in POLITICAL QUARTERLY (Oct.-Dec., p. 319-61).

These articles have been selected and annotated by staff members of the periodical reading room, university library, and are available in the periodical reading room, library annex.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

He Never Let Atlas Bother With Him— By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Glamour factory at war: Sometimes I think a North Carolina boy named Kay Kyser must long, in his selfish moments, for the comparative serenity of a buck private's life, with nothing to do more than take orders, hike unimpeded miles a day with full pack, nurse blisters, and gripe.

Mr. Kyser has not been asked to put on a uniform, which is perhaps fortunate. For Kay is 37, has never let Charles Atlas make a new man of him, and his physique—developed in years of baton-swinging and heaving quizzes at the Kollege of Musical Knowledge—will never make Bernard Macfadden's body-beautiful pages.

He can still totter around without benefit of cane, of course, and it is because he has lolled around so successfully on war bond tours and camp entertainment and such, that he has been tactily invited to forget about uniforms for a while. Kay is chairman of a committee of 25 top radio entertainers formed by the Office of War Information. He seems to have been called into the job because, on bond tours, he threw overboard that old business about entertainers being there just to entertain. He threw it overboard and talked cod turkey about the war and what it means to each of us. His manager, I understand, swooned on the spot, but the crowds seemed to like it. Kay being a sincere sort of fellow who feels this thing deeply. Well, Kay flies back east for conferences now and then, and in between he hauls his gang of 28 men (at his own expense) around the country to give shows at camps. Here's a recent Kayser week in brief: Left New York by plane at 5 p. m. Monday, sat up all night, arrived Salt Lake City Tuesday, 8 a. m. Slept 9:30 to 12:30. Flew to Wendover air base (where Bob Hope "never saw so much salt—and no celery" in his life) to give three shows. Then five hours by car back to Salt Lake City—at 1 a. m. One to 3 a. m., worked on next day's show. . . . Wednesday noon, after appearances at Fort Douglas, to Salt Lake air base for a show. Back to University of Utah for dress rehearsal, a sandwich, then evening broadcast with army audience. Arrived Hollywood Thursday night, worked Friday and Saturday on next script, Saturday night played Hollywood Canteen, 8 to 12:30. Off Sunday at 9 a. m. in bus to Needles, Calif., thence for two-day tour of desert encampments. Back to Hollywood, 2:30 a. m. Wednesday. Left for ferry command, Long Beach, 10:30 a. m., rehearsed and broadcast, back to Hollywood, etc., etc. If any smart-aleck stepped up to Kay and said "Why ain't YOU in uniform, Bud?" I think Kay would be entitled to totter over and smack him down.

SUI Education Survey Slated To Start Friday

Registration of all senior women in commerce and liberal arts and graduate women students for the university educational and occupational survey will begin tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock in room 110, Schaeffer hall. Registrants are asked to come with a pen, a small photograph and a list of high school and college credits, either tomorrow between 8 o'clock and 5:30, or Saturday between 8 a. m. and noon. The survey is being conducted in order to ascertain the qualifications of senior and graduate women for helping in the war effort.

Tomorrow Six Organizations Plan to Meet

One hundred percent registration of senior and graduate women is the goal of the survey. The survey provides an opportunity for college women to take part in this way in "Women at War" week, now in progress.

4 Members Elected By Historical Society

Four persons were elected to membership in the State Historical Society of Iowa at the recent meeting of the board of curators. New members include: Helen O. Galvin, Des Moines; Robert E. Meyers, Iowa City; V. U. Sigler, Des Moines, and the Rev. L. C. Wuerfel, Iowa City.

Sheer Shoulders

Street length dinner dresses are the high note in wartime fashion. This delft blue crepe gown is especially effective because of the sheer chiffon shoulders and long sleeves. Double rows of blue sequins around the bodice and on the wrists add the final dramatic note.

Simple things you can do to get more help for your eyes. You'll get more help for your eyes when you read, play games or sew, if your lamp shades are light-colored or have white linings. Clean or brush them regularly; or if they're too bad, replace with fresh shades. Your eyes need all the help they can get. Don't handicap them with too little. Clean reflector bowls and bulbs frequently. You'll get from 25 to 30% more light. Arrange your furniture and lamps so that you can, if necessary, make each lamp provide good light for more than one person. Be sure you're close enough to the lamp; a difference of 12 inches may cut your light in half. Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co. 211 East Washington Street

Claassen Picks Wolves, Tulsa, Great Lakes in Final Selections

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Getting the final football selections out of the way while the turkey still is in the oven:

Thanksgiving Day Games
Tulane over Louisiana State; Lou Thomas to outshine Alvin Dark and therefore Tulane to spill Louisiana State although the edge is thinner than a drug-store sandwich.

Tulsa over Arkansas; The Oklahomans have come this far without being tied or beaten so it is unlikely they will crumble before a southwestern conference foe that has gone without a win or a draw in its own loop.

William & Mary over Richmond; Here's where Johnson, Ramsey and company clinch the Southern conference flag.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt; If the Vols were starting their season now instead of finishing it, they probably would go through undefeated.

Iowa Navy over Ohio State; These pro-studded Navy clubs are just too strong, especially when collegians have played their traditional rivals the week before.

Georgia Navy over Alabama; Despite the Tide's defense.

North Carolina Navy over Fordham; Lieut.-Com. James Crowley's home-coming to be complete.

Michigan State over Oregon State; The Beavers went all out to beat Oregon last Saturday and "recuperated" by taking a train ride.

Nebraska over Kansas State; The Huskers aren't that bad.

Rice over Baylor; They are both in the title race and anything can happen—but we figure it is likely to happen to Baylor.

Finishing the year: Dec. 5—Great Lakes over Notre Dame, Rice over Southern Methodist, Iowa Navy over Missouri, William & Mary over Oklahoma, Southern California over Montana, UCLA over Idaho, Washington State over Texas A & M. Dec. 6—California Navy over California, St. Mary's over Detroit, Dec. 12—UCLA over Southern California.

Iowa Squad Stresses Defense for Michigan

Defensive activities occupied Iowa's football squad yesterday in the next-to-last workout before entraining for Ann Arbor, Mich., tomorrow morning.

Dr. Eddie Anderson indicated yesterday that Gene Curran and Bob Penaluna probably will get the starting call at the guards, with Roger Kane and Bruno Niedziela on hand to fill in for either one.

While not definite, Anderson said that Tommy Farmer may be in at left halfback at the starting game, with Jim Youel calling the signals at quarterback. Bill Stauss probably will see considerable action at right halfback, with Jim Ferguson a possible starter at fullback.

John Staak, who has been nursing a bruised leg all week, will be in shape for the game Saturday, but Al Urban may be in at the start.

Third place in the Big Ten standings will be at stake Saturday. The Hawkeyes will pin a big part of their hopes on the passing arm of Farmer. The weak spot in the Wolverine team all year has been a shaky pass defense.

Thirteen Hawkeyes will play their last game against Fritz Crisler's team, including such first team members as Bill Parker, Bill Burkett, Gene Curran, Bob Penaluna, Farmer and Youel.

The squad will arrive in Jackson, Mich., about an hour's ride from Ann Arbor, Friday evening at 9:09, and establish headquarters at the Hotel Hayes. Final leg of the trip to Ann Arbor will be completed Saturday morning.

St. Mary's Ramblers won their third straight game as they easily defeated Solon's Spartans, 36-23, last night at old City high. Co-captain George Seemuth and Bill Sweeney sparked the attack with 14 and nine points respectively.

The Ramblers were never headed as they made the first two shots that they tried from the field, and led at the end of the first quarter, 12-4. Dave Ivie and Seemuth both sank long ones, with Capt. Jim Wilson scoring first for the Spartans. Later in the period Seemuth tallied two quick buckets, and St. Mary's started to roll.

In the second quarter Sweeney replaced Bright at center, and immediately helped out Seemuth with the scoring. He scored seven of his nine points in this quarter, and the Ramblers were ahead 24-10 at the half.

The third period did not bring much scoring, as the quarter ended, 29-16. Seemuth fouled out, and Bill Upmeyer helped Solon's cause with two baskets. During the fourth quarter Coach Francis Stueppel substituted freely, and the game ended, 36-23.

The fast break of the Ramblers was working much better than last week, with Sweeney and Seemuth doing some fine shooting. Upmeyer and Wilson looked best for Solon.

Navy Officials Forbid Pre-Flight-Bowl Tilts

Washington (AP)—Navy department officials said today that navy pre-flight school football teams had been forbidden to take part in any bowl games this year.

The decision, it was announced, was based on these reasons:

Lack of transportation, the fact that such games would take trainees away from their studies for more than 48 hours, and because the trainees constantly are being called up to active duty.

Fraumann Out Of Seahawk Lineup

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Seahawks got down to hard work yesterday as they held a lengthy scrimmage in preparation for their tilt with the Ohio State Buckeyes Saturday.

The navy eleven also threw passes for a possible passing attack against the Buckeyes. After a dummy scrimmage the Seahawks finished off the day's work by running touchdown plays.

It was learned yesterday that Whitey Fraumann, substitute end, underwent an appendicitis operation. Nothing was reported on his condition, but he will be out for the season.

Spirit is running high in the naval school this week as their team meets the Big Ten championship eleven.

The enthusiasm of the cadets after the Seahawks' sound trouncing of the Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday is quite remarkable.

The cadet team made a good showing against the Huskers and it is obvious that Bierman will have plenty of reserves going into the Ohio State game. The colonel was pleased with the navy team's performance in the Nebraska game but nevertheless does not underestimate the strength of the Buckeyes.

4 Dodgers, Redskins Fined

CHICAGO (AP)—Fines of $50 each were levied yesterday against four players who engaged in a fight in the Brooklyn-Washington game at Washington. Fined were Perry Schwartz and Dean McCadams of the Dodgers and Bob Masterson and Ed Justice of the Redskins.

Cards' Captain Plans Tour

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Terry Moore, captain and center fielder of the world champion Cardinals, is going to Panama to talk baseball and sell war bonds.

Falling meteors will seem mild to the fall Michigan will take Saturday if the Hawkeyes can come through with that long-sought-after victory over the Wolverines.

Fritz Crisler's men are now tied up for fourth place behind Iowa, but a loss would drop them down to seventh, just a shade above Purdue's Boilermakers, resting in eighth place with a lone triumph and four defeats.

With only Saturday's contest left to round out the final Big Ten standings and statistics, Tommy Farmer has cinched second berth among the passing leaders of the conference. Otto Graham of Northwestern heads the list with a net gain of 714 yards in six games.

Iowa's star thrower has piled up a net gain of 307 yards in the five loop meetings to date, well ahead of Indiana's Billy Hillenbrand with 225. It's well nigh impossible for Tommy to catch the Wildcat ace at this stage, but the only other player in the first six, Bob Chappuis of Michigan, is far down with only 160 yards.

Chuck Uknes, however, can improve his notch a bit from sixth place among the rushing leaders. He's not far behind Hillenbrand in fifth. The heaving Hoosier has an average of 53.8 yards per game, while the Hawkeyes' blond charger is right on his tail with 52.8 per game.

Two more touchdown tosses to Bill Burkett would send the Independence end into fourth spot among scoring leaders of the Big Ten. Burkett now has 12 points to his credit in conference competition. Eight other conference players have 18 points, while McCarthy of Illinois, only end in the upper brackets, has 20. Two crossings of the goal line would put Burkett behind Gene Fekete of Ohio State, Paul Sarringhaus of the Buckeyes and Pat Harder of Wisconsin.

Green Bay's amazing Don Hutson nabbed 14 passes Sunday against New York, and set a new league record by bringing his total pass-grabbings up to 71! He has scored 125 points and gained 1,166 yards. No other player in the National football league even comes close to the former Alabama flash in any of these departments. He's a one-man show.

If Georgia Tech is dumped Saturday by Georgia, which is a very likely occurrence, leading contender for the Rose Bowl bid would be Boston college, providing the Eagles get by Holy Cross this week. The Crusaders should not prove too much trouble.

If Denny Myers' men should get the bid, plenty of squawks are going to be heard that they don't deserve it on the basis of their schedule. Admittedly the Eagles' card is not the toughest in the nation, but they have demonstrated power.

The Eagles whipped Fordham, conqueror of Missouri, by 24 points more than did Tennessee. And the Vols have been beaten only once this year, and have piled up 226 points to opponents' 47. The lone loss was to Alabama by eight points. Even North Carolina pre-flight fell to B.C. earlier this year.

The Boston college line was rated by Col. Bob Neyland's army all-stars as the best in the nation outside of the Chicago Bears, which in itself is quite a compliment. Should the Eagles get the bid, we feel they'll keep up that string of victories.

It was big "Doc" Connell, 6-foot sophomore center, in the driver's seat as St. Patrick's Green and White rolled up 28 points in the second half to down a fighting Oxford quintet 36 to 22 in the Irish gym last night.

Held to an eight point total in the first half by their own over anxious shooting and wild passing, the Irish scored fourteen points in each of the last two quarters with Connell, assisted by Earl Murphy and Jim Russell, leading the way.

Connell Brothers
The big soph center scored on hook shots, pivot shots and even set shots to garner his 19 point total. Billy Connell, older brother and all-city guard was held to two baskets by alert Oxford guards.

Oxford opened the scoring when Bill Rugger hit from the corner but "Doc" Connell scored from under the basket and followed with a gift toss to give Coach Cliff Kritt's squad a lead they never relinquished.

A long shot by Bob Connell ran the score to 5-2 at the quarter.

Fast-Break Score
After Maurice Underwood had opened the second half with a goal which cut the Irish lead to 8-7, four baskets by Connell, two by brother Billy brought the third period count to 22-14 and iced the game for St. Patrick's.

Underwood kept the Black and White in the running with four baskets and three gift tosses, all in the second half.

Holovak of Boston College Gains Second Spot Among Individual Rushing Leaders

By DAVE HOFF

CHICAGO (AP)—Mike Holovak, blocked the efforts of the Hardin-Simmons duo of Mobley and Camp Wilson to finish one-two in individual rushing. Wilson dropped this week from fourth to fifth, with Bob Steuber of Missouri now third and Gene Fekete of Ohio State fourth.

On the total offense front it's still all Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia, who last week wiped out the old record of 1,928 yards set by Bud Schwenk of Washington U. (St. Louis) in 1941. Sinkwich ran his string of yards to 1,995, only five short of the coveted 2,000-yard figure—once considered an unattainable high. He has one game yet to play.

Columbia's Paul Governali, the nation's yardage leader via passing all fall, completed his season Saturday with a total of 1,442 yards by a series, just 15 short of the modern record of 1,457 held jointly by Texas Christian's Dave O'Brien and Schwenk. For the first time Governali was listed No. 1 in total completions with 87 compared to 83 for Kansas' Ray Evans, who has led the pack all year.

In eight games Mobley, already accredited with a record-smashing total offense figure for the season, has picked up 1,173 yards on the ground. Holovak's spurge in recent weeks leaves him with a total of 893 yards rushing for a total of 1,066 yards for the same number of games.

Holovak has, at least temporarily, blocked the efforts of the Hardin-Simmons duo of Mobley and Camp Wilson to finish one-two in individual rushing. Wilson dropped this week from fourth to fifth, with Bob Steuber of Missouri now third and Gene Fekete of Ohio State fourth.

Badminton Club Plans Ladder Tournament To Begin Saturday

A ladder tournament starting Saturday will begin the schedule for this year's Badminton club program. Marjorie Davis, A4 of Cedar Rapids, president, has announced. Plans for the season were arranged at the first business meeting of the year. Regular club meetings are held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5:30 and on Saturday from 2 to 4 o'clock. The December 5 and 19 meetings will not be held. Unless more people attend the Saturday sessions, however, they will be discontinued the second semester. In order to be on a voting basis for the Women's Recreation association, club members must attend 50 percent of the meetings. A playday will be held next semester, if possible, with high school and "Y" groups from Cedar Rapids attending. Badminton club is now open to Navy Pre-Flight school officers and their wives as well as to students, graduates, and faculty members. Club members who will start the ladder tournament are: Mildred Anderson, A4 of St. Louis,

War Art Workshop Preparing 8 Murals For Iowa Army Post

Camp Dodge Designs Under Supervision Of Prof. L. D. Longman

The largest project so far undertaken by the newly-established war art workshop of the art department here is a series of eight large murals for the recreation hall at Camp Dodge, Des Moines, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Lester D. Longman, director of the workshop and head of the art department.

Six murals for the side walls will represent the Revolutionary war, the Indian wars, the War of 1812, the Civil war and World Wars I and II. Two murals will be large vignette decorations of the united nations, to be placed on either side of the recreation hall stage.

Project Workers

The designs are under the supervision of Prof. Philip Guston and are being done by Kenneth Loomis, instructor in art, Kathleen Kane, graduate assistant in art, and Thomas Watkins, Joyce Wahl, Frank Dorsay, Frank Casa and Angelo Granata, art students. The murals were ordered by Lieut. Col. Orson B. Powers, commander of Camp Dodge, at the request of Lieut. I. J. Mirkin, special service officer in charge of the service club and recreation hall. Arrangements were made for the murals with Professor Longman at the suggestion of Erma Lukenbill and members of the board of the Des Moines Art association.

Color sketches have already been approved and the gessoed masonite panels on which they will be painted have been prepared. The painting will be done in casein and the workshop will be ready to install them in the camp in January.

Sculptured Reliefs

Additional commissions received for projects for Camp Dodge by the war art workshop are those requesting four large sculptured reliefs.

Three of the reliefs will be panels representing baseball, basketball and boxing. Designs are now being prepared by Humbert Albrizio of the art department and he will be assisted in the work by advanced art students. The reliefs will be cast in plaster and painted and will be used as overdoor decorations in the recreation hall at Camp Dodge.

It is expected that an altarpiece will also be sculptured by Albrizio for services in the theater-chapel at the camp, designed as a triptych with panels devoted to Protestant, Catholic and Jewish worship and executed in painted plaster.

Scribblers' club will entertain the enlisted men of the Navy Pre-Flight school at a dance to be held at the Community building tomorrow from 8 to 11:30 p. m. The navy band will play for dancing and a special highlight of the evening's entertainment will be a novelty tap dance by Jean Irwin of Iowa City.

Goldie Kinney, chairman of the dance committee, will be assisted by Lorene Berkey and Jane Hogan. Hostesses for the event are Mary Louise Quinlan and Maxine Triska. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Jean Reddick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins, Ens. and Mrs. J. S. Provance and Lieut. and Mrs. A. C. McKelway.

December 5 Named As Application Date For Late Registrants

Approximately 2,000 Iowa Citizens will be without gasoline rationing books until about Dec. 5 because of their failure to register during the recent three day registration period, local ration board officials stated yesterday.

The unexpectedly large number, which includes many S.U.I. students, will make it impossible for the already overcrowded board office schedule to handle them now, despite the fact that there are plenty of registration materials on hand.

In an effort to clean up the work now on hand, the board yesterday issued a call for volunteers to handle addressing work and other details. Those interested in giving some of their time are asked to call the board at 7682 between 2 and 5 p. m.

United Service Groups Plan Rummage Sale

A rummage sale sponsored by the local United Service group and Sustaining Wings will be conducted Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at 230 E. College street.

It was announced that clothing donations are urgently needed, especially children's and infants apparel. Contributions should be delivered to the rummage shop by tomorrow.

Thanksgiving Masses

The three Iowa City Catholic churches will celebrate special Thanksgiving day masses this morning. High mass will be conducted at St. Mary's at 8 o'clock, and St. Patrick's at 9 o'clock. St. Wenceslaus church mass will be held at 8:30.

To Objectors Camp

Samuel A. Yoder left yesterday morning for a conscientious objector's camp located in Nebraska. Walter Shoquist, chief clerk of the Johnson county selective service board, announced yesterday.

Protestant Churches Plan Union Service At 10 O'clock Today

Protestant churches of Iowa City will meet in their annual Thanksgiving day union service this morning at 10 o'clock in the Congregational church. The Rev. L. L. Dunnington of the Methodist church will deliver the sermon, "A Time For Greatness."

Other ministers participating in the service include the Rev. E. E. Dierks of the Baptist church, the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy of the Trinity Episcopal church and the Rev. James E. Waery of the Congregational church.

During the service, President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving day proclamation will be read in full. The Methodist choir will sing under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark, and Mrs. E. W. Scheldrup will be at the organ. The offering will be used for social service work in Iowa City.

Committees Revealed For Fashion Review

Committees and entertainers at the style show to be given tomorrow night at 7:30 in Towner's store as part of "Women at War" week activities were announced yesterday.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Ruth Towner and Mary Newell. Evelyn Whitebrook will be in charge of selling defense stamp corsages. Those who will sell stamps at the booths are Marjory Anderson, Wanda L. Elwood and Mary Mercer.

Music will be furnished by the Iowa City high school string quartet composed of Helen Gower, Mary Poulter, Ruth Husa and Dorothy Hubbard. The quartet will play Christmas carols and semi-popular numbers during the modeling.

Admission to the style show will be the purchase of a defense stamp. Twenty-five women will model clothes from Towner's.

Meeting of Red Cross Sewing Group Canceled

The Red Cross sewing group will not meet today, Mrs. L. E. Clark, chairman, announced yesterday. The regular meeting will be held next Thursday in the sewing rooms in the Community building.

Yarn for khaki army turtle-neck sweaters may be obtained between now and then from Mrs. Clark, 582 S. Lucas; Carrie Wieneke, 920 E. Burlington; or Mrs. William Holland, 325 Melrose court.

To Serve on Committee

Local Dealers Must Register For Gasoline

Registration for all Iowa City gasoline dealers will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a. m. to 12 a. m. and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. at the Skelly oil station, Dubuque and Market streets, Johnson county ration board officials announced yesterday.

Operators of dealer outlets who work on a lease, rental or similar basis, whereby they receive title to gasoline transferred to them by a licensed distributor, must also register with the board despite the fact that their outlet may be owned by a licensed distributor.

Dealers must be able to give their total storage capacity and their total gasoline inventory as of 12:01 a. m., December 1, 1942. Ration board officials define total storage capacity as the total capacity of all fixed gasoline storage facilities, including gasoline in storage tanks, tank trucks, in any tank car delivered to a siding or in any movable containers.

Will Have Services

Special services will be held in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, this morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the lesson-sermon will be "Thanksgiving."

Five Superior Ratings Awarded to Students For Poetry Reading

Superior ratings were given to five Iowa City high school students in the annual poetry reading contest conducted in the school auditorium yesterday morning.

Fourteen readers, chosen by elimination from students in all English classes, participated in the contest. The contestants receiving ratings of "superior" were June Johnston, Betty Thomas, Barbara Williamson, Cary Jones and Don Lay.

Dr. Frank L. Love Appointed Coroner

Dr. Frank L. Love yesterday was appointed by the board of county supervisors to serve as county coroner during the absence of Dr. George D. Callahan, who reports to San Diego Dec. 7 for duty in the navy medical corps.

Dr. Love, a graduate of the University of Iowa's college of medicine, has practiced medicine in Iowa City for over 36 years. He now serves on the Mercy hospital staff and the selective service examining board and is a member of the Johnson County Medical society.

Dr. Callahan, who was recently reelected to the position of county coroner, will conclude his business affairs here Dec. 1 in preparation for his entrance into the navy.

Rev. L. Max Weir To Become Ordained At Services Friday

The Rev. L. Max Weir will be ordained as pastor of the United Gospel church, 418 E. Fairchild street, in special services to be held tomorrow night in the church.

Examination service will start at 7 o'clock and the ordination proper will be conducted at 8 o'clock. An ordaining council of ministers from Johnson and surrounding counties has been called for the service.

The Rev. Mr. Weir delivered his first sermon in the United Gospel church last Aug. 23. He has been in residence here since October. The Rev. Mr. Weir was graduated from the Moody Bible institute, Chicago.

Tomorrow night's service will be open to the public.

CD Director Explains Organization Details

Irving Weber, assistant director of the Johnson county citizens' defense corps, explained developments and problems connected with local civilian defense organization at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions club in Reich's pine room yesterday.

Weber listed and briefly discussed the functions of the various branches of the community's defense groups. Many new organizations will be set up in the future, he indicated, as need for them arises.

Following Weber's talk, members of the club held a discussion of civilian defense requirements and problems.

A STATEMENT OF OUR POLICY
THANKSGIVING —1942. Thankful. — Yes, for the Men of our community, and all the other communities, who fight out there this day in the muck and blood to defend us and our liberties! Thankful enough to get up from our dinner and go somewhere and buy a bond! Let's all do that! God Bless America!

"...We could no more teach school today without the newspaper than we could have taught it a hundred years ago without the slate."

...TRIBUTE to the importance of the newspaper in the classroom is from a recent statement by E. R. Van Kleeck, Assistant Commissioner of Education of the State of New York. His department supervises the education of 2,000,000 children in the nation's largest public school system.

Mr. Van Kleeck is not alone in this view. Educators and teachers throughout the country know that textbooks alone are not enough to prepare today's students for the world of tomorrow. They realize that if the boys and girls in our schools and colleges are to solve tomorrow's problems successfully, they must know and understand what's going on in the fast-moving world of today.

They realize, too, that the newspaper is indispensable in acquiring this knowledge and understanding. For, in the classroom or out of it, the daily newspaper satisfies the need for the news... and its interpretation... as no other medium can.

In these critical days, all of us... young and old, students, teachers and parents... are relying on newspapers more heavily than ever before, not only for the news of the day but also for guidance and instruction in waging the war on the home front.

It's not surprising, therefore, that so many advertisers find the newspaper today's most effective medium for presenting their messages to the public.
