Jap Supplies Short--Knox

Describes Guadalcanal Battle As Complete Failure for Enemy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japan's latest costly and futile attempt to deliver troops and supplies to Guadalcanal island was described by Secretary of the Navy Knox yesterday as evidence that enemy forces there must be running short of material.

Knox described the attempt, made Monday night, as a complete failure for the Japs and he called it "round 3" in the battle for control of the southeastern Solomons. An American naval force sank six warships, two transports and a cargo vessel.

"They lost a lot of ships," Knox said, "and they went away. They failed to gain their objective. They did not get ashore."

The secretary told his press conference, in fact, that he believed the enemy had been unsuccessful in landing any reinforcements or supplies for the past three weeks; that is, since their greatest effort to retake the island was smashed by a great American naval victory Nov. 13-15.

They must be expected to try again, however, he said, and the only safe theory is that they will return with ships and men as long as they can.

On the island, Knox said, American forces are gradually expanding and "taking in more territory."

U.S. Judge Discloses Argentine Espionage

38 Persons Arrested In Spy Hunt; German Embassy Implicated

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Federal Judge Miguel Jantus said yesterday a government investigation had proved that the German embassy was involved in espionage within Argentina.

Judge Jantus has been hearing in secret the evidence supplied by the United States against 38 persons arrested in a spy hunt. In ordinary cases before a federal tribunal the testimony is taken by the court secretary, but Judge Jantus has been hearing these cases personally.

The inquiry grew out of charges of U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles in Boston two months ago that Argentina and Chile were being used as bases for axis agents. When Argentina asked for concrete evidence a memorandum was supplied to the Argentine government.

Judge Jantus ordered the detention of the first six persons questioned in the roundup, asserting that they thus remain at the court's disposal in view of the fact there already had been produced partial proof of their guilt.

Thirty-two others remain to be questioned but the court said the testimony of the first six proved that members of the German embassy in Argentina participated in spy activities and received information from agents operating in the country.

Ask Stay of Execution For Sentenced Trio

WASHINGTON (AP)—A stay of execution for Louis Buchalter, Emanuel Weiss and Louis Capone, sentenced to die at Sing Sing prison on December 10 for their part in Brooklyn's "Murder, Inc.," was sought yesterday from Supreme Court Justice Roberts.

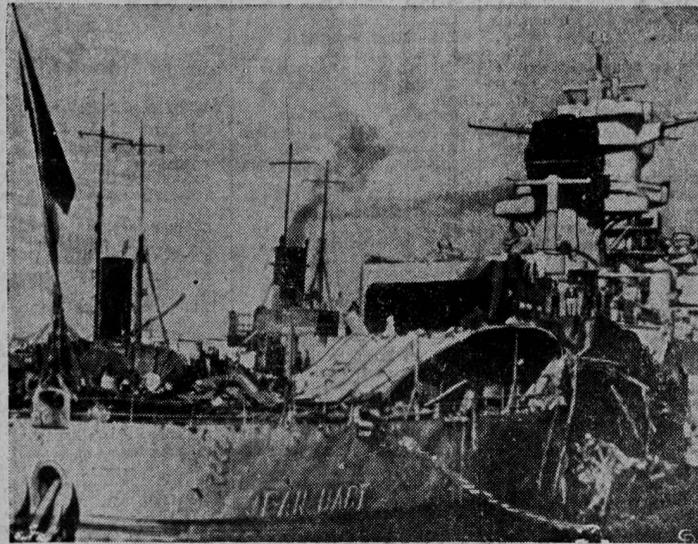

With Laval Trying to Form Pro-Nazi Rule

Vichy State Fast Falling Apart

LONDON (AP)—The Vichy regime as it existed under Marshal Petain is rapidly falling apart, with the aged chief-of-state kept in ignorance and deceived concerning much that goes on and with his chief-of-government, Pierre Laval, conniving at the formation of an all-out pro-Nazi government, reliable advices to The Associated Press said yesterday.

Both the Rome radio and dispatches from Switzerland said Eduard Harriot, 70-year-old former premier of the republic of France, and Jean Borotra, an old French Davis cup tennis star, had been arrested. The Rome radio added that Leon Jouhaux, former chief of the French general confederation of labor, and Francois De Tesson, former undersecretary

DAMAGE CAUSED BY U. S. SHELLS ON JEAN BART

One of the greatest obstacles to American occupation of the French Moroccan port of Casablanca was the fight put up by the French fleet stationed there, particularly by the 35,000-ton battleship Jean Bart. However, American warships blasted several of the hostile ships to the bottom and left the Jean Bart in the condition shown in the above photo. Salvos from the U. S. guns blasted the ship, buckling heavy armor plate and smashing superstructure, and set fire to the dock at which the battleship was tied up. (Central Press Photograph)

Reds Slay Upwards to 2,500 Nazi Troops in Two Offensives

Capture 11 Villages In Stalingrad Area, Advance Within City

MOSCOW, Saturday (AP)—The Red army seized 11 more villages in the Stalingrad area yesterday, presumably in the Don river bend west of that city, surrounded a German stronghold near Velikie Luki on the frozen central front, and killed upwards of 2,500 Nazis in twin offensives that still are gaining ground, the Soviets announced early today.

The regular midnight communique said the Russians gained 200 to 300 yards inside Stalingrad itself, occupied two important points northwest and southwest of the Volga river city, and were beginning "the liquidation of encircled enemy strongpoints" in the area of Velikie Luki, only 90 miles from the Latvian border.

Calling Up Reserves
Dispatches said the Germans were throwing reserves into the central front in a desperate effort to stem the Red army in the Rzhev - Velikie Luki - Vyazma triangle northwest of Moscow.

The communique said that several populated places had been seized west of Rzhev, and for several days the Russians have reported numerous holes torn in the German lines between that point and Velikie Luki.

One German infantry battalion counter attacking west of Rzhev was smashed, the Soviets said, and another battalion was routed from a height controlling an important road in the Velikie Luki area.

"Hundreds of enemy dead remained on the field of battle" in the latter sector, the bulletin said.

F.R. Names Lehman Foreign Relief Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday handed a commission to Herbert H. Lehman, former governor of New York, to undertake the job of directing foreign relief and rehabilitation.

Lehman was administered the oath in the president's office in the presence of high officials and members of his family.

The president handed his former "good right arm" at Albany the formal commission and then gave him the actual appointment from Secretary of State Hull in whose department Lehman will work.

Plans for Wickard As Food Administrator Awaits Action of F.R.

President Expected To Put Draft Under Manpower Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—Executive orders naming Secretary of Agriculture Wickard as food administrator and transferring control over selective service to the war manpower commission headed by Paul V. McNutt were reported last night to be on President Roosevelt's desk for action today.

F. D. R. to Confer
High administration sources who could not be quoted by name said the president planned to confer on Wickard wide authority over the nation's wartime food production, along with power to determine what products should be rationed and when new rationing orders should be issued.

The delegation of selective service policy-making functions to the manpower commission, it was indicated, would be accompanied by transfer of the federal employment service to the commission. This would concentrate in McNutt's hands centralized control over manpower.

To Retain McNutt
The decision to make McNutt the chief in this field was said to have been made after the president abandoned plans for a three-way cabinet shift which would have given the post to Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Subsequent suggestions to Mr. Roosevelt that he turn over the manpower authority to James F. Byrnes, the economic director, were said to have been met with objections from Byrnes that this would place on him administrative tasks conflicting with his full time duties as stabilization policy maker.

To assist in handling the manpower problem, there were indications that Mr. Roosevelt might act to ban voluntary enlistments in the armed forces. Many employers have complained at the loss of skilled, key men through such enlistments.

With authority to direct the policies of selective service, McNutt also would be in position to regulate the flow of essential industrial and agricultural workers into the ranks of the military branches.

Terrific Nazi Counterattacks Dislodge British, U.S. Forces

WPA Receives Death Sentence From F.R., To Cease Operations

Present Employment Increases Eliminate Need for Organization

WASHINGTON (AP)—The works projects administration, which provided depression relief for millions and an ever bitter controversy for congress, was ordered out of existence yesterday by President Roosevelt.

War-time increases in private employment make the agency unnecessary now, he said in a letter to Major General Philip B. Fleming, the federal works administrator. Some individuals remain on the rolls, he added, but they can be provided for by the states and localities. Uncompleted building projects are to be taken over by other federal agencies.

To Disappear June 30
In "many states" the death sentence is to become effective by Feb. 1; in others "as soon thereafter as feasible." The whole is to be liquidated by June 30 at the latest, for Mr. Roosevelt observed there would be no necessity for WPA appropriations for the next fiscal year, which begins on that date.

During its career, WPA spent more than $10,000,000,000, providing relief for some 38,000,000 people.

Defends Agency
To the end, the president stoutly defended the agency, its record, and the policy which guided it. It displayed "courage and determination in the face of uniform criticism," he said. It had "asked for and earned an honorable discharge."

WPA began its existence seven years ago as the works progress administration. It was a successor to the old federal emergency relief administration. Its program was rooted in the theory that it was better to make work for the jobless, than to provide them with an outright dole.

Yesterday Mr. Roosevelt said his experience had "amply justified" the view that "providing useful work is superior to any kind of a dole."

Setback Implies Allies Facing Stonewall Resistance at Tunis

LONDON (AP)—A series of terrific axis counterattacks through the mountains between Djedeida and Mateur which caught the British first army with its American armored forces on the flank at Tebourba were reported last night to have left plains and hills of Tunisia strewn with the wreckage of tanks and the situation at Tebourba in doubt.

"It is now clear that axis troops have recaptured Tebourba," 20 miles west of Tunis and about 35 miles south of Bizerte, said the military correspondent of Reuters, British news agency.

The Germans also were holding to Mateur, 25 miles south of Bizerte.

An allied headquarters communique, however, said "our troops in the neighborhood of Tebourba are consolidating their positions" without giving the situation at Tebourba itself and without mentioning the situation at the previous advanced positions of the allies at Djedeida, 12 miles west of Tunis, or at Mateur, 25 miles south of Bizerte.

The implication was plain, however, that the allies had come up against a stonewall of resistance in the admission that the forces of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson were consolidating at the rearward position.

The same implication was evident in the earlier statement of an allied headquarters spokesman that the advantage in the forthcoming test would be the "one who regains his strength more quickly" following the hard battles in the Tebourba area.

The Morocco radio said the Germans had thrown a fleet of about 50 tanks into their counterattack and that the "larger part" were destroyed or damaged.

The enemy also was reported by the same source to have sent paratroopers into the attack, but these were said to have been rounded up and made powerless in short order.

Berlin claimed that the ruins of 40 allied tanks dotted the battlefield after 48 hours of fierce fighting.

The last reports had said the Americans and British were holding doggedly to the western outskirts of the little white walled railroad town of Djedeida, while the Germans fought from the eastern half and that the town had changed hands several times.

The last official reports also said that the allies still were applying pressure at Mateur. But there was no official report on the situation at those two places last night.

An allied communique last Tuesday mentioned clashes with German armored patrols in the mountains between these two towns, about 15 miles apart, and apparently the enemy launched his first counterattack in that area the next day to strike at the allied rear and perhaps in an effort to separate the two allied forces operating against Tunis and Bizerte.

A pro-allied French communique also announced considerable fighting in central Tunisia, including the routing of axis patrols between Gafsa and Gabes.

Japs Attempt To Parachute Aid to Troops

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Saturday (AP)—

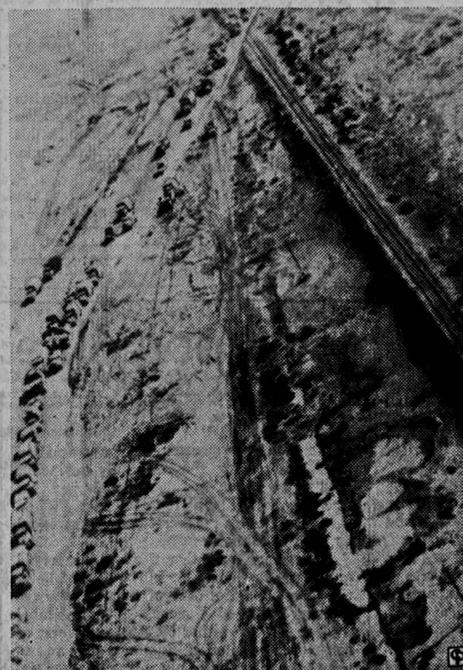

Hard-pressed Japanese, apparently finding too costly in ships their repeated attempts to aid trapped forces in the Buna-Gona area, were reported today dropping supplies by parachute in an aerial attempt to relieve their beleaguered comrades.

The allied command communique issued at noon said that "the enemy has resorted to supply dropping by parachute in an effort to relieve his beleaguered garrison."

The noon communique told of mopping up of pockets of opposition left behind by the allied spearhead which fought its way to the coast near Gona and then turned toward Buna. More than 400 enemy dead have been counted. In addition, an estimated 40 Japs drowned when two large barges were sunk from under them by bombers of General Douglas MacArthur's air force.

The fighting in sectors other than around Gona was referred to as intermittent.

ALLIED SUPPLY LINE ADVANCING

These British army supply trucks crawling over the desert sands somewhere in Libya would never dare proceed in such a compact string as this if it were not for a vast protective umbrella of American and British planes above them. This photo is proof that the allies have virtually swept Marshal Erwin Rommel's planes from the skies of northeastern Africa. (Central Press Photograph)

The Mining Manpower Problem

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

They Might as Well Have Sent Beauticians to Mine the Copper

WASHINGTON — Government, government, government! Manpower, manpower, manpower!

Remember when the manpower shortage of the Montana copper mines was in the news a few weeks back, day after day? Well, the government decided to take hold and cure it immediately, because copper is more valuable to the war effort than gold or silver.

The war production board issued a big order and it was printed in the newspapers. It directed the selective service board to withdraw copper miners from the army and put them back at work. Mr. McNutt's manpower commission selected the miners, and the army hauled them back to Montana.

When they arrived, there were found to be 50 large Negroes who had never seen a copper mine before, at least not the type around Butte where they were to work.

Shaft mining is pursued there, the shafts running down to 3,000 feet under the earth, where the heat makes the work more difficult than any other type of mining. Some say the Negroes were coal miners, but apparently most of them had worked in some type of surface or strip metal mining.

The manpower commission had merely run through their draft cards which classified them only as "metal miners" and assumed they could do the copper job. The commission might as well have sent beauticians.

The local Butte mine, mill and smelters union, whose men think something of their own lives, refused to work with the unskilled ex-troopers, whereupon some of the liberals in New York began shouting in their press: "Racial discrimination."

The 50 Negro soldiers sat down to see what next. Meanwhile, the copper mine manpower problem remains.

Bottleneck in the Meat Situation—Government, eh? The agriculture commissioner of Virginia told a congressional committee that in this current meat shortage, which is pinching the people both in the pocketbook and appetite, the federal government has limited abattoir production.

The Richmond abattoir, for instance, is limited to 70 percent. Deliveries to wholesalers are restricted that much.

But that abattoir, just as most others around the country, is owned by a few stock raisers, and they can slaughter their own first. When the small farmer comes in with his hogs or cattle, they say: "Sorry, our quota is filled. Take your stock back home."

The condition is national in scope. Yet the butcher cannot get meats.

Manpower Shortage Isn't The Cause—Manpower, eh? The same source told a congressional committee two of the three big packing companies furnishing smithfields to the country have been forced to close down and throw their men out of work in the middle of the meat shortage.

Their specially fed hogs are ready for smoking, and ham is scarce, but the government put a quota on smithfield production, which will not permit them to operate and make money.

This grade is too high-priced for lend-lease sale to Britain—so the government, for no particular reason, has just let them go out of business, although American consumers, with more money now, could pay for this high-priced ham, and if the government let them do this, it would help cure the meat shortage and stop inflation.

'Managed Economy' in Transportation

Defense transporter Eastman has issued an order (says the agriculture director of Ohio) saying children within two miles of school must walk, and so must those who live more than 1 1/2 miles off the bus lines. The order, of course, will have different results in Florida than in the zero winter weather of Ohio.

More than 300,000 farm school children are affected, although this will save only three miles of rubber per bus per day.

Like Mr. Henderson, who says the public may not get 65 degrees of temperature this winter even if there is pneumonia, Mr. Eastman says the kids should return to pioneer days when every one walked to school.

Managed economy, eh? Today there are many people, thinking themselves liberals, who still want the government to continue a managed economy after the war, or institute a state capitalism or socialism, which will allow the government to manage all business and lives as it is doing now.

Labor-Manpower-Draft Czar Needed

For the reasons cited above, and many thousands more that have not been published yet, the temper of Washington is favorable to the appointment of a man, even of the type of Mr. Ickes, as a labor-manpower-draft czar.

That particular situation is so susceptible to pain that what Mr. Roosevelt needs, of course, is another diplomat like Jimmy Byrnes. Here is a job which surely requires a judicial nature to maintain balance between CIO and AFL, between army and civilian drafts, between labor and the war effort of the government.

But the choice of a politician like Mr. Ickes, on its face, presumes that an administration favorable to union labor more than to the interests of the army, civilian or government, will be offered. Here is a china shop which would seem to require anything but a bull like Ickes.

But Washington, as I say, has reached the point where "practically anyone will do."

The 'Chronic' Culprit

With the announcement of the sharp rise in the monthly mortality rate during November came the many I-told-you-so remarks from the country's civilian population blaming the increase onto the nation's shortage of physicians and surgeons.

However, according to insurance statisticians, the setback was due mostly to chronic diseases such as cancer, diabetes, and diseases of the heart, kidneys and arteries. And inasmuch as these conditions had been running at a lower-than-average rate in the earlier months of the year, their records for the year through November still remain comparatively favorable.

There'll Always Be a Broadway

By GEORGE TUCKER

(George Tucker, your old friend on the Broadway beat, is going to war. He has other, more vital stories to report than the Manhattan scene. Although you may see his byline on stories from Cairo and other fronts of the world, this is the last Manhattan column he will write for the duration.—The Editor.)

NEW YORK — When the boss told me I was going to Cairo I almost fell out of the chair. They were, to me, the most impressive words I had heard in a long while, and for a moment my heart stood still. I didn't know whether to try to compose myself or to get up and shout, and so I compromised by leaping up and shaking his hand.

He said, "Not so fast. There are a few things we've got to talk about. Before I send you out of the country I want to give you the other side of what may appear now to be a glamorous experience."

I said, "Yes, sir."

"There are," he went on, "great dangers involved. One of our foreign staff members is missing and we fear he may be dead. Another is a prisoner of war. Still others have been injured, or have had very narrow escapes. Many have become ill.

"There is no telling where a man in the foreign service may be sent. In many countries the living conditions are terrible, the drinking water is dangerous, and none of the ordinary comforts of home is available.

"All such assignments now have to be for the duration because of the uncertainties of transportation. Former provisions for home leave can not apply in war time.

"There is no likelihood that your family can join you. You should make provision so that they can carry on without you indefinitely.

"There are no regular hours in the foreign service, and vacations are on a catch-as-catch-can basis under present conditions.

"This paints a very dark picture. But it is all true, just as it is true that there are momentous events to be reported and great stories to be written.

"Do you still want to go?"

I said, "Yes, sir."

"All right. Get ready to go. Write yourself a series of farewell columns. Explain to your readers that I'm not going to replace you. When you leave—this column fades out—at least until the end of the war. The importance of this war can not possibly be over-emphasized. We all have too great a stake in the outcome. It is more important right now than anything else, and this includes first nights, country clubs, and cafe gossip."

I thought back over the old bygone days when the Butter & Egg men were around, when the "Hello Sucker" era was in high tide and when Broadway—or was it Wall Street—was still the real center of the world. Gradually some of that importance has been dispersed to Hollywood and to Washington and to other points, and now there is War, and though the tom-toms still beat along the street that has been called Rue Regret, these are other days and other times.

I went over to the International Bldg. and put in an application for a passport that looks like a secret, censored passage out of the Arabian Nights. This passport calls for Egypt and India, Iran, Iraq, Palestine, Turkey, Russia. But Cairo is the first stop, and in this war Cairo is the hub of the wheel. Whichever way the war rolls, I'll roll too.

I was vaccinated for smallpox, and inoculated for typhoid, yellow fever, typhus, tetanus, and cholera. The smallpox took fast. The typhoid threw me, which pleased the doctor a great deal. He said I was a wonderful subject for work on an old bridge, and I was the bridge.

I don't know why I am telling you all this, except that we are old friends and I hope you will remember me when I shift from the amusement sections to the front page and begin to write from other cross-roads more ancient and storied than Times Square can ever be.

I expect to be gone for a long time, but then Broadway itself will still be here. After all, it has already been here more than 200 years.

Today, Hitler finds himself confronted with all these forces. Leningrad, Moscow, Stalingrad and the battle of the Caucasus have shown the ability of the Russians to absorb great blows. Winter, this year as last, is again proving to be a great offensive weapon for the Russians. Every wrecked supply train, every act of sabotage, shows the indomitable will of the Russians to remain free of any oppressor.

Space, winter and the desire to be free. Each in its place sounds small and perhaps trifling. But combined, they have become powerful enough to stop the greatest military machine the world has ever seen.

Stalin's 'Secret' Weapon: The Russian Desire to Remain Free

When Hitler marched against Russia on June 22, 1941, military experts the world over thought that the Communist state would be destroyed in a month's time. Hitler, who had sent his mighty troops crashing through Poland, Norway, France and the Balkans, confidently told his people that Russia would be quickly and completely crushed.

During the first weeks, it seemed as if the experts and Hitler were right. German troops, paced by their armored spear-heads, pushed gradually toward Moscow. German communiques spoke triumphantly of trapping entire Russian armies. By October, Hitler proclaimed to the world that the Russians had been utterly crushed.

Even so, the Nazi hordes were still not in Moscow. German communiques, which had formerly boasted of advances of 50-100 miles per day, now boasted gains of one or two miles. The Russian army, rallying like a football team when its own goal-line is threatened, started to trade the Germans blow for blow. The Germans, who had advanced so that the spires of Moscow could be seen across the battlefield, were checked, then as advance spear-heads were cut off, started to retreat.

The world was amazed. Here was a nation who, battered by the seemingly invincible Nazi war machine, had not only stopped that machine, but had put it on the run. What, people asked, was the secret weapon employed by Stalin's soldiers?

The weapon, or rather weapons, are as old as modern Russia itself. In the days of Peter the Great, Charles XII of Sweden was the aspiring ruler of Europe. After subduing western Europe, either by threats or force of arms, Charles attacked Russia. To his amazement, the Russians only put up token resistance. The Swedish troops advanced farther and farther across the immense Russian plain. Supply lines became more and more difficult to maintain, but Charles, intent on capturing Russia, paid little heed.

Suddenly, the Russians stopped running, and at Poltava, turned on the Swedes, who, lacking supplies and with forces continually whittled down by the Russian resistance, were completely defeated. Charles saw his dream of an European empire shattered, not only by the Russian soldiers, but by the enormity of the Russian plain.

Napoleon, in 1812, discovered two more of the Russian weapons. Napoleon too, thought that Russia would be easy to capture. He drove forward, and like Charles XII, met only slight, but persistent, resistance. Unlike Charles, or Hitler, Napoleon actually captured Moscow. Now, he thought, Russia would surely capitulate.

But Napoleon did not know two things. One; that the Russian peasant would sacrifice all to save his country, and two; that the Russian winter is bitterly cold.

One cold morning the French leader awoke to hear the news that the Russians had fired Moscow, capital of all the Russias. All efforts to extinguish the blaze were in vain and the proud Napoleon had to order his troops to retreat.

Now, winter and the Russians combined to strike deadly blows. Napoleon found foes on all sides. Not only was he beset by the Russian army, but guerrillas harassed his every step. Hard riding, avenging Cossacks rode out of the blinding blizzards, cut of stragglers or stampeded horses, and disappeared into the white wall of snow. Forests, seemingly clear of the foe would suddenly echo with rifle fire. In the camps, men froze as snow, falling like a thick blanket, smothered their small fires. Wounded men froze to death, weakened by their wounds. When the retreat ended, Napoleon had been able to escape from Russia with only 45,000 of an army of 600,000.

Today, Hitler finds himself confronted with all these forces. Leningrad, Moscow, Stalingrad and the battle of the Caucasus have shown the ability of the Russians to absorb great blows. Winter, this year as last, is again proving to be a great offensive weapon for the Russians. Every wrecked supply train, every act of sabotage, shows the indomitable will of the Russians to remain free of any oppressor.

Space, winter and the desire to be free. Each in its place sounds small and perhaps trifling. But combined, they have become powerful enough to stop the greatest military machine the world has ever seen.

The Johnson county women's salvage committee has been authorized to launch a tin can drive...

County residents are urged to start saving tin cans immediately. They should wash the cans, soak off the labels, dry the cans to prevent rust...

Details about collections will be published later, Mrs. Bales said.

ENLISTED RESERVE CORPS

Contrary to rumors that the army enlisted reserve corps will close Dec. 15, Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of student affairs, announces that students may enroll in the E. R. C. until Dec. 31.

The army air force reserve will not close at that time, according to announcements from the seventh service command at Omaha, Professor Thompson said.

Prof. H. H. McCarty To Teach New Course, 'Wartime Geography'

Another war course, "Geography in Military Operations," has been added to the curriculum of the university for the coming semester to serve as a general introduction to more advanced map reading and meteorology.

With Prof. H. H. McCarty of the college of commerce as instructor, the course will offer three or four hours credit. The only prerequisite is junior standing, but sophomores may be admitted with the consent of the instructor.

WPA May Halt Airport Project

Iowa City may be called upon to finish the work on the WPA project at the municipal airport because of yesterday's announcement by the state director of WPA that all projects will be closed down as soon as possible.

Remaining work includes the completion of a north-south runway which to date has covered only 3,120 of the planned 5,100 feet and the completion of the drainage job on the uncompleted runway, Buchele stated.

A WPA contract involving the renting of some equipment from the Horrabin Contracting company was cancelled Dec. 1.

Prof. Bush Improved Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the romance languages department, is in an improved condition following a heart attack Wednesday night. Professor Bush, who has been ill for several weeks, is in Mercy hospital.

New Stewardess

Doris Lambert, a former University of Iowa student, has completed her training at the United Airlines stewardess school in Chicago and has been assigned to the Denver-Chicago-New York section of United's route.

Cadet Board Will Examine SUI Applicants

The aviation cadet examining board will receive applications from candidates for army aviation cadet training in room 9, Armory, from 9 to 12 a. m., Monday through Friday.

Applicants should be prepared to present the board the following: documentary evidence or proof of age and place of birth (birth certificate if native born, evidence of citizenship if foreign born); three letters of recommendation and parents' consent if candidate is a minor.

Appointments will be made with candidates for the mental examination to be given after the aforementioned papers are accepted by the examining board.

Mrs. William H. Orr Rites Will Be Today

She is survived by her husband and one son, Ernest. Another son, Merrill, died during World War I at the Great Lakes naval station. A funeral service was also held at the Kistner funeral home in Waterloo at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Prof. G. Davies Cites Increase in Business, Economy This Year

That business in Iowa this year shows a steady increase over the 1941 reports and that there is a definite statewide trend in war economy was pointed out by Prof. George R. Davies in the current issue of the Iowa Business Digest, a publication of the University of Iowa bureau of business research.

The percentage increase in price over 1941 shows farm prices, 29; department stores sales, 25; industrial payrolls, 15, and bank deposits, 11. Percentage decreases over last year list life insurance sales, 25; railroad carloadings, 15, and building contracts, 66.

The burden of small business in wartime is alleviated, to some extent, by the exodus into service and defense work while retail business is becoming increasingly heavy. Professor Davies said that purchases of bonds, as a supplement of consumer taxation, is necessary for our war effort as it will offset increases in income and reduce purchasing power to match the lowering level of consumer production.

Mrs. Sarah M. Reese Funeral to Be Today

Funeral service will be held at 3:30 this afternoon in Oakland cemetery for Mrs. Sarah Margaret Reese, 74, formerly of Iowa City, who died at her home in Cedar Falls Thursday morning.

'Heart of a City' Opens Monday

Slated to Be Last SUI Play Before Christmas Vacation

"Heart of a City" by Lesley Storm, the last university play before Christmas, will open Monday in the University theater for a six-day run.

The popular London play is based on the experiences of a group of young actors, musicians and singers in the Windmill theater during an air raid. The play features authentic recordings actually made in London during the blitz in 1940, and portrays the ability of the young actors to "stick to their guns" while under fire.

Theater Basement Courage Much of the action centers in the basement of the theater, which is a combination workshop and dressing room. The play portrays not only the courage of the English people but also of the theater and its workers in general.

Judy, a chorus girl, will be played by Shirley Rich; Tony, Margaret Rowland; Valerie, Janet Myers; Bubbles, Eloise Humphrey; Rosalind, Marjette Fritchen; Joan, a strip teaser, Isabel McClung; Frenchie, Nan Zimmerman; Patsy, Virginia Daugherty; Lila Saddle, Patricia Pierce; Gert, Mary Bob Knapp.

Features of the bride's gold wool street-length dress were a V neckline, a peg-top skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. With it she wore brown accessories and a gold brooch given to her by her grandmother. She carried a colonial bouquet of tulasia roses.

Miss Harsha's blue wool dress was trimmed with silver nailheads. With it she wore a corsage of tulasia roses.

The bride's mother chose a pink crepe gown with navy blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a victory blue silk dress. Both had corsages of a gardenia and three rosebuds.

Mrs. Gerald W. Buxton played organ music before and after the ceremony, and Mary Bracewell sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "Because" (D'Hardelot).

University of Iowa officials, with the cooperation of several hundred Iowans, are planning to bring the Christmas season to from 75 to 100 child patients in hospitals here.

As the number of volunteers for the Johnson county citizens' drive passed one third of the fence corps blood procurement quota, officials of the drive announced yesterday that the civilian defense canteen corps would be on hand at University hospital to serve coffee and cookies to the donors during the 20-minute rest period that will follow the donation.

Two members of the canteen corps will be present every day during the procurement period. The rationing board has given official authorization for the use of the coffee and sugar. The university has donated the facilities at the hospital.

A late count of the lists of volunteers last night revealed that 351 persons had signed agreements to donate approximately one pint of blood each. The quota which has been set for Johnson county is 1,000 donors.

Mail Christmas Cards 1st Class, Official Asks

All Christmas cards should be sealed and sent as first class mail in order to assure eventual delivery, Postmaster Walter J. Barrow announced yesterday.

Approximately 2,500 unsealed letters, he said, are destroyed as waste each Christmas by the Iowa City post office. Christmas cards, when a one and one-half cent stamp is used, he explained, are not entitled to forwarding privilege, and addressees who have moved may never receive this mail.

This may be avoided, Barrows said, by sealing each envelope, placing a three-cent stamp on it, and writing a return address on the envelope. A return address on the envelope assures return of the card providing the addressee can not be located.

Knights of Columbus To Entertain Cadets

Knights of Columbus will entertain naval cadets in their club-room from 2 to 5 tomorrow afternoon.

Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sullivan. Members of Scribblers' Service club are asked to attend.

Three Marine Fliers Tell Pre-Flight Men Of Solomon Fighting

Three marine aviators recently returned from the fierce air fighting in the Solomon islands, spoke to an audience restricted to the officers and men of the Iowa Pre-Flight school last night.

These devil-dog heroes described the current tactics of both the U. S. forces and the Japanese in the struggle for air supremacy in the south Pacific.

The three, just returned from active duty and decorated for outstanding service are Lieut. Col. Richard C. Mangrum, who, when marines landed on Guadalcanal, led a dive bombing squadron sinking three out of four Jap destroyers; Maj. John Smith, 27-year-old ace who has downed more Jap planes than any other American pilot, having been officially credited with shooting down 19 aircraft by Nov. 29; and Capt. Marion E. Carl, Major Smith's close competitor, who has scored 11 victories in air battles since mid-September.

The marines are on tour of the pre-flight schools and reserve bases of the United States naval flight training program.

Major League Meetings Produce Player Trade

Eddie Miller, Braves, Traded for Andrews, Eddie Joost, Cash

Minor League Clubs Hold Stormy Session; Vote Territory Rights

By JUDSON BAILEY
CHICAGO (AP)—The winter baseball meetings floundered to a finish yesterday with the major leagues finally completing a player trade—Eddie Miller of the Boston Braves to Cincinnati for Eddie Joost, Nate Andrews and cash—and the minor leagues making plans for 1943 in a stormy convention session.

The Boston-Cincinnati deal which saved the week-long confab from a complete shutout in trades was completed by the narrowest conceivable margin as President Robert Quinn of the Braves rushed to catch a train for home. The deal had been discussed earlier, but seemed doomed when Quinn left the baseball headquarters in the Palmer house to return home. However, Warren Giles, general manager of the Reds, succeeded in catching Quinn by telephone at the station and the transaction was concluded quickly.

Miller has been the outstanding shortstop of the National league for about three years and has been with the Braves since 1939. Both he and Joost are 26 years old, are married and have children, and had similar records last year. Miller batted .244 in 142 games, made 130 hits including 28 doubles, two triples and six homers, and batted in 44 runs. Joost batted .224 in 142 games, made 126 hits including 30 doubles, three triples and six homers, and batted in 41 runs.

Joost became the Reds' regular shortstop in 1941, but manager Casey Stengel of the Braves said he intended to use him at second base.

Andrews, 29 years old, had been with the St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Indians in the past but served at Syracuse in the International league last year. He pitched in 31 games, won 17 and lost 12. He was in 214 innings, struck out 114 and walked 79. In the big minor circuit he was rated right behind Red Barrett of Syracuse, whom Boston purchased recently. Barrett won 19 and lost 13.

The amount of cash was not disclosed, but it was estimated that the Reds put up $25,000. Many major league representatives left Thursday and virtually all of the other baseball men headed for home last night preceding further trades.

Before they left, the minor leagues, however, held a bitter session of the national association of professional baseball leagues. They voted for a plan that would preserve territorial rights of clubs forced to suspend during the war, but would permit leagues to realign themselves in order to continue operations.

This phase of the meeting was conducted without incident, as was the election of Thomas Richardson, president of the eastern league, and Dr. E. M. Wilder of the South Atlantic league to the executive committee of the national association. Wilder was re-elected and Richardson succeeded Trammell Scott, who had been replaced as president of the Southern association Thursday by Billy Evans.

Dave Armbruster Calls Squad Smallest in Coaching History

Coach Dave Armbruster has announced that his present tank squad is one of the smallest in the history of his coaching career here. There are seven returning lettermen to give needed strength to each department. The remainder of the squad is green, but there are possible grounds for improvement of the sophomores.

Seniors Form Nucleus
The nucleus of the squad will be formed around the senior members of the team. Most prominent of these are Capt. Clyde Kennitz and Bob Becker, freestyler and backstroke, respectively.

Last season Kennitz showed improvement and if he keeps up the pace this season the husky Chicago merman will be one of the top swimmers in the conference.

Becker, the leading backstroke artist on the squad, will supply plenty of power in that department as he was one of the leading contenders in the conference during last season's campaign.

The sprint team has suffered the loss of Ed Armbruster through induction into the service. Don Wenstrom, last year's leading scorer, was lost to the spring team through graduation.

The returning sprint lettermen will be Kennitz and Vito Lopin, senior sprinter. There is a possibility that Clarence Moore, another varsity letterman, will be drafted to fill the gap left by Armbruster.

Promising Sophomores
There are several promising sophomores to fill the other vacancy. Dan Perry has looked good in short sprints and may be used to fill this gap. Don Holmwood and Sid Craiger are other possibilities.

In the distance department three veterans will lead the mermen. Jim Forrest, Dale Lounsbury and Moore are the three returning. All of them are capable of improving and there is a possibility of developing a good distance squad.

Nick Karaffa will be the leading breaststroke contender, fortified by Bill Miller and Ernie Stranglin. Miller, a veteran, made a remarkable showing in last year's competition and is expected to show still more improvement.

Few Divers
Lyle Brown, sophomore from Clinton, will bear the brunt of the diving task for Coach Armbruster's squad during the current campaign.

There are several possibilities who may develop into regular squad members before the season. In the freestyle department there is Steve O'Brien, who is a veteran of two years who can supply plenty of punch if he comes out for the squad.

Ed Sundberg may be one of the starters if some of the other team members are moved to different divisions.

John Gottsch may supply power in the backstroke and George Georges in the breaststroke.

Time and Place: 7:30 p. m. Saturday, field house
Admission: free

A pre-view of the University of Iowa varsity basketball team will be given in the fieldhouse Sat. at 7:30 p. m. in a regular game with the freshman squad.

Coach "Pops" Harrison scheduled the contest to give his players experience in playing before spectators and to give the fans a chance to size up the ability of some of the new men. No admission will be charged.

Opener Dec. 10th
Opening intercollegiate game is with South Dakota State here Dec. 10. The squad has been drilling since mid-October.

Three sophomores—Gene Neamith and Theron Thomsen, guards; and Dick Kelling, center, definitely were named on the starting lineup and one other, Bob Lundstedt, may start, Coach Harrison said. Co-Captain Tom Chapman will be at one forward and either Co-Captain Ben Trickey or Lundstedt will occupy the other forward position.

The varsity probably will be without the services of Jim O'Brien, slated for regular center duty, because of an injury. O'Brien, the tallest man on the squad, has been unable to practice recently but will return for the South Dakota State opener.

Cocherell Heads Fresh
Opposing the varsity will be a freshman team headed by Bob Cocherell, all-state guard from Ottumwa. Others will be Harold Fiala of West Waterloo and Leroy Jones of Muscatine, forwards; John Scanlon of Chicago, Ill., center; and Merle Blair of Cedar Falls, guard.

Among the varsity players who will be used are Carroll Allen, Carroll Mullin, Donald Thompson, Bob Gustafson, Seymour Brodner, and Max Smith, forwards; Glen Anderson, Sanford Donner, and John Andresen, centers; Chuck Uknes, Sam Vacanti, Jim Humphrey, Maynard Woodbury, Jerry Seiffert, and Hillary Cole, guards.

Mosconi Takes Lead In Billiards Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Youthful Willie Mosconi of Jackson, Mich., all but grabbed a stranglehold on at least a tie for the world pocket billiards championship last night by defeating veteran Ralph Greenleaf of New York, 125 to 97, in 19 innings.

Mosconi's victory was his seventh against a single loss.

Andy Ponzi of Philadelphia, who with five wins and two defeats alone had a chance of catching Mosconi, met Jimmy Coates, a fellow-townsman, in last night's second match.

The Mosconi-Greenleaf match, which required two hours and 35 minutes, was the longest played so far in the tournament.

Johnny Revolta Nabs Lead
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., the 1933 winner, sank a 40-foot chip shot on the 18th hole yesterday to complete a brilliant five-under-par 65 and take the half-way lead with 135 in the $5,000 Miami open golf tournament.

Kansas City to See Tilt
KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Tigers, champions of the Big Six conference, and the Iowa pre-flight navy team tangled today in Kansas City's first major football game since 1931.

Condon tied it up for the Greyhounds with a set-shot and they were never behind again.

The scoring was pretty well divided for the Ramblers. Semuth counted seven points, Smith six, Sweeney five, Bright four and Brogla two. Smith kept the Ramblers going the first half with two of his three buckets. Semuth helped out in the last half with four counters.

Condon was the big gun for the Greyhounds in the first part of the game, making three swishers. Wilcox and Fee took over in the second half, scoring six and five points respectively.

St. Mary's next game is with St. Ambrose of Davenport and they will cause plenty of trouble.

Iowa Cagers to Miss Last Year's Veterans Only Three Regulars To Return This Year As Team's Nucleus

Lost: from the 1942 University of Iowa starting basketball team which shared second place in the conference—a forward, the all-conference center, and both guards.

Remaining: from this 1942 squad—a forward who holds Iowa scoring records, Co-Captain Tom Chapman; an alternating forward, Co-Captain Ben Trickey, holder of the single-game scoring mark; and a sub center, Jim O'Brien.

So Coach Lawrence (Pops) Harrison, former assistant who was named head mentor when Rollie Williams became a naval lieutenant, is in the midst of a rebuilding process. Twenty-one of the 30 squad members are sophomores.

"Season of uncertainties" may have become an over-worked phrase from the football season but it is doubly applicable to Hawkeye basketball because it is possible that some of the candidates won't be available during the second semester because to call to armed service.

Speed, Scoring Good
From early season observations, it appears that team speed will be somewhat above average and scoring adequate, but defensively the team is a question mark, especially since no veteran guards are present.

Chapman and Trickey will be regular forwards, while the best of the sophomores are Bob Lundstedt, 6-1, of Rock Island, Ill., a good all-around player; and Dick Kelling of Davenport, 6-2 and a clever scorer. Carroll Allen of Tiffin, Carroll Mullin of Cromwell, and Donald Thompson of Mapleton had slight game experience last year. Among others are Seymour Brodner of Sioux City, Bob Gustafson of Rockford, Ill.; and Max Smith of Rake.

At center, Jim O'Brien of McGregor, 1942 reserve, looks like a regular. He is much improved and uses his 6 feet 5 inches to advantage. Since center material is thin, Lundstedt and Kelling probably must be used there at intervals. Jaek Movold, 6-5, International Falls, Minn., squadman last year who saw little action, returns in January and will help. Among the sophomores are Glen Anderson, 6-2½, Council Bluffs; John Andresen, 6-11½, Ossian; and Sanford Donner, 6-3, Brooklyn, N. Y.

All Sophs At Guards

It's entirely up to the sophomores at the guard positions, for no veterans are available. Theron Thomsen, 6-1, of Cedar Rapids is a good shot, clever and fast, and an excellent position, as is Gene Neamith, 6-2 of Shenandoah, another good shot with fine coordination. The football backs, Charles Uknes of Sioux City and Sam Vacanti of Omaha, Neb., will be useful, as will Jim Humphrey of Mason City. Other sophomores include Hillary Cole of Thurman, Gerald Seiffert of Davenport, Donald Tyler of Vhlicsa, Robert Bender of Waterloo, Bill Wright of West Union, and Dick Sodergren of Wayland.

Iowa not only lost Wendell Hill, Milton Kuhl, Vic Siegel, and Rudy Soderquist from the starting lineup last season, but also capable reserves Dick Hein, Bruce Fountain, Bernard Duffe, Bill Wheeler, and Vincent Harsha.

All home games will begin at 8 p. m. and reserved seats will be sold only for the six Big Ten contests. Charles Galhier, business manager has announced.

For years the starting time of the games has been 7:35 p. m. but increased use of the fieldhouse by the pre-flight cadets has made it necessary to start the basketball games later.

No change has been made in the prices for the home games, Galhier said. For the conference games, general admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children, and reserved seats are 75 cents, with year ticket holders entitled to reserved seats without charge. Rates for non-conference games are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. All prices include tax.

No bleachers will be installed on the sides of the court this season. The reserved section will be in the lower balcony on the south side.

Perhaps the most unproductive winter meeting of the major leagues in recent years ended Thursday in Chicago. About the only thing accomplished was the routine tasks of deciding about night games and discussing travel difficulties and the plight of the Phils.

And in Philadelphia the Phillies really are in a sorry state. Weekend attendance at Shibe park rarely goes over the 15,000 or 20,000 mark, while week days a gathering of 4,000 is considered a good day.

President Gerald Nugent is not in a position to do much about it, either. Last year he was forced to borrow a goodly sum from the National league, and even that did not pull him out of the red.

At the present rate Nugent will never be able to lift the Phils out of the cellar. Instead of being able to buy new blood for the outfit with the money he borrowed, he was forced to use it to take care of outstanding debts.

The only possible way to give the Phils a new start is to get someone in control of the organization with some money to put on the line for new players. When these newcomers begin to show some ability to play the game of baseball, lift the club out of its perennial second division berth and give it some color, then the ledger will start to show a profit.

In previous years the only way Nugent could raise money aside from borrowing was to sell any player with an established name. By this method he barely kept the club's finances above water, and never had a balanced bunch of ball players.

Nugent himself cannot be entirely blamed. It was about the only recourse open to him. The Philadelphia baseball followers certainly gave him no encouragement. Aside from St. Louis, Philie is about the poorest baseball town in the majors.

If the club has a pennant contender, it will get support, if not, it may as well not exist as far as the fandom is concerned.

Had Nugent adequate help from the citizenry, he probably would have had a ball club worth exhibiting today. Among the better players he has been forced to trade or sell include Dolph Camilli, Claude Passeau, Curt Davis, Dick Bartell, Kirby Higbie and others.

Should someone be in the market to take over the Phils, a man of ability is on the loose looking for just such an opportunity to help the club stabilize itself—Bill Terry.

There are differing opinions about Memphis Bill around the league. He is not liked in all quarters, but this still cannot detract from his ability to lead an organization. He knows his baseball and has years of big league experience behind him, so that his word carries weight.

Seahawks Play Big 6 Champs In Game Today

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Seahawks wind up their grid season today when they face the Missouri Tigers at Columbia.

The Seahawks will go into the game in the worst condition of the season to date. Injury ridden from their defeat at the hands of Ohio State, many of the first stringers will see only limited action.

Missouri is champion of the Big Six conference and will be out to avenge the defeat handed to Nebraska by the Navy squad. Earlier in the season the Bierman men soundly trounced the Cornhuskers 46-0.

The Seahawks have suffered only two defeats thus far this season. Both of these defeats were sound trouncings which proves that the Seahawks have their bad days when they are off.

Notre Dame defeated the Navy squad, 28-0, and Ohio State smothered them under a 41-12 barrage. In both of these games the Seahawks were considerably off form and the usually potent scoring punch was lacking.

It is obvious that the Navy eleven possess a powerful attack, as shown in some of their smashing triumphs earlier in the year. They ran wild over Kansas and Nebraska in lopsided triumphs and settled down in defensive contests to polish off Minnesota and Michigan.

It is doubtful whether George Svendsen will be able to start at his regular center position. He has been ill with influenza and had been participating in light workouts.

Bus Mertes and Al Couppee are expected to play an important role in the game today.

Augustana Defeats Coe In Last Minutes of Play

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Trailing 22-23 at the half, Augustana rallied in a closely-contested game with Coe college of Cedar Rapids, Ia., last night to win 51 to 41.

The lead frequently changed hands and there was never five points difference in the score until the last five minutes when Augustana sailed ahead.

Dave Connell of Coe took scoring honors with 17 points. Byron Swedberg of Augustana contributed 14.

Injury Jinx Hampers Hawklet Cage Hopes In Moline Tilt Tonight

Capt. Dave Danner, Bob Roth, Farnsworth To Miss Away Game

The injury man has made another of his too frequent visits to the Hawklet camp this week to take out a few of the main cogs in the Red and White cage machine. Tonight's Little Hawk basketball squad will travel to Moline, but probably will be minus the services of Capt. Dave Danner, Bob Roth and Don Farnsworth.

Danner was the first man to drop from the lineup because of a sudden attack of flu. The Hawklet captain first missed practice last Wednesday and although he will make the trip tonight, it isn't very likely he will play much, if any, of the contest.

Farnsworth received a severe mouth injury during Thursday night's session which may even keep him out of action for the Davenport game next week. The third fatality, Roth, came out of practice Thursday night with a badly sprained ankle to leave another first string spot vacant.

Coach Fran Merten has several reserves on hand in case of such an emergency. Yesterday the City high mentor tried several combinations from which to pick a starting five against Moline. Trying to develop a sure-fire offense, Coach Merten ran the boys through shooting practice, smoothed out a few plays and topped off yesterday's drill with a fast, hard scrimmage.

George Mellicker is slated to take over Roth's center position and Bill Sangster and Bucky Walter, both regulars, will handle the guard assignments. The forward situation is a little hard to dope out, but Dale Sleicher, Curly Brack and Ned Smith will get their chances against the Moline quintet.

Moline started out its cage season last night against Sterling, Ill. Five boys have returned from last year's squad which had a successful season last year. City high would like to win this one but the Little Hawks are eyeing the battle with the Davenport Blue Devils next Friday night to shove off on their Mississippi Valley conference trail.

Lieutenant Smith was graduated from the university here with a B. A. degree in music, 1938. The following June, he obtained his M. A. degree in music.

He was born in Estherville Oct. 19, 1915, and in the fall of 1916, came to Iowa City, where he attended elementary and high school. He was a member of the Order of De Moley and of the Methodist church.

Douglas J. LaNore, Reported Missing, Found 'Alive, Well'

Army Air Cadet Douglas J. LaNore, former University of Iowa student, who was reported missing Tuesday after he had left the Sarasota, Fla., field in a P-40, was reported here yesterday to be "alive and well."

A telegram from Cadet LaNore in Crescent City, Fla., addressed to his fiancée, Helen Biddick, Currier hall, was received here yesterday. It stated: "Four days of hell. Alive and well. Love, Doug."

The flier took off for the first time in a P-40 at about 1:15 p. m. Monday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas LaNore of Grand Forks, N. D., were notified Tuesday that he was missing.

Miss Biddick left for Grand Forks immediately upon hearing that Cadet LaNore had not returned to the landing field. She was still in Grand Forks yesterday when the telegram was received.

Cadet LaNore, who was a physical education major, completed three semesters here at the university. He enlisted in the army air corps last February. He was assigned to the Sarasota field a little over a week ago.

Chemical Engineers Aid Coal Producers

The small Iowa coal producer has been given a boost by the results of coal washing research in the chemical engineering department.

Prof. H. L. Olin, reporting on the preparation of stoker coal from Iowa screenings, states that with a modest investment the small Iowa producer can put out a quality comparable with most of the fuel shipped in from other states. This fuel can be developed from raw screenings which often have little value, according to Professor Olin.

Coal with mineral impurities up to 20 percent can be washed with a recovery of 75 to 80 percent of the gross tonnage, the report indicates.

November Jurors Notified to Appear

Jurors for the November term of district court were notified yesterday by Judge Harold D. Evans to appear at the court house Monday morning at 10 o'clock to hear a civil suit case between Vince Clear, plaintiff and Dr. M. L. Mosher, defendant.

The case involves a suit for damages received in an automobile accident.

LAUGH HIT

Brother... quit being so human!

Remember 1933—when times were tough?

Maybe you didn't have a job. Maybe you and your wife and kids didn't eat too well—dress too well—have too much fun. Maybe you swore then that if things were ever different, you'd make up for it.

Chances are, today, things are different. You've got a job. You're getting good money. And you'd naturally like to have a little fun with it. You'd like to buy some of the "extras" that you and your family never had during the hard times.

It's only human to feel that way. But right now—we've got to quit being so human!

Right now, over in England, a bunch of fellows are getting ready to tackle one of the bloodiest jobs ever given an Army. In the Pacific, another bunch is playing hide-and-seek with an enemy that thinks the right treatment for a wounded prisoner is a bayonet through the guts. Others are sweating in Africa—still others are on cold, dreary fog-bound islands near the Bering Sea.

That's their job.

But it's our job to give them the tools they need to win—by buying War Bonds! And so far, we aren't doing our full job! Right now, there are still people who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—but aren't.

While plenty of people in the Plan are investing more than the 10% Uncle Sam needs, a lot are setting aside less than they can.

The fellows who aren't yet in the Plan—or, being in, haven't hit their 10% yet—aren't unpatriotic, or 5th Columnists, or anything like that. They're just human. They just haven't realized their Country's bitter, crying need—now! They haven't realized that Americans have been licked in battle for lack of planes, ships, tanks, and bullets—tools that the money we'd like to spend for fun has got to buy!

Uncle Sam hopes that every single one of us will realize it—by January 1, 1943. By that date, everybody on a payroll should be on a Payroll Savings Plan—and we'll "Top That 10% by New Year's."

So, if you aren't setting aside your 10%, go on in and tell 'em you want to raise your sights. Not to 6%, or 7% or 8%—but to at least 10%. If you can put in more than 10%—do it. If you aren't yet in on the Payroll Savings Plan—Sign up tomorrow!

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

- If you are :
1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.
 2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
 3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
 4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.
