'Victory' Congress Conscious Of Greatly Increased Power

Legislature in Mood for Sharp Insistence Upon Writing Its Own Laws on Domestic Issues, Despite White House Desires

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 78th congress—dubbed the "victory congress" from the rostrum of the house—met yesterday in a mood for solemn united action to win the war and for sharp insistence upon writing its own laws on domestic issues, regardless of the wishes of the White House.

These two determinations dominated a brief preliminary session of speech-making and of organization for the tragically vital period which lies ahead. They were expressed by Republican spokesmen, conscious of their greatly reinforced strength. And they came from the Democratic side of the political barrier as well.

Last fall's election, with its wide Republican gains, was reflected at the outset in the closest vote for party control of the house in the last decade. The Democrats won. By 217 to 206, they reelected Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Immediately, the tension of the situation was broken. Republicans and Democrats alike jumped to their feet in a stormy and prolonged ovation. And when Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the defeated Republican nominee for speaker, said it was particularly appropriate that this honor should go to Rayburn on his 61st birthday, the pandemonium was renewed.

Someone among the Republicans started chanting "Happy Birthday to You." It was quickly picked up by others and in a moment, the whole house was singing, while Rayburn stood on the dais, smiling, but nearly overcome with embarrassment and emotion.

This was in vivid contrast with a later development. Rayburn, accepting the speakership, referred to President Roosevelt as the greatest "war leader" that could have been found for the present emergency. The Democrats shouted and hand-clapped their noisy approval. The big Republican membership sat, stony silent, and bored.

The senate, always the more sedate of the two bodies, meanwhile solemnly went through its historic ritual of organization. In groups of four, new senators were escorted to the rostrum and sworn in. Quickly, the usual procedure of adopting a resolution to notify the house and the President that the senate was ready for business was accomplished.

All this was preliminary to a session which many prophesied would prove the most important in the nation's history. Today it will meet in joint session to hear President Roosevelt deliver his annual message, making recommendations for congressional action. After that the session will settle down to the details of its great task.

All in all, it was an unusual convening of congress. If there was (See CONGRESS, page 5)

'Buzz' Wagner, Air Hero, Loses Life in Florida Routine Flight

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Lieut. Colonel Boyd David (Buzz) Wagner, whose name ranks alongside that of Colin Kelly and other air heroes of the Philippines campaign of World War II, lost his life when his single-engine plane crashed during a routine flight in Florida, it was disclosed last night with discovery of the body.

The 26-year-old flyer had been missing since he left Elgin field, Fla., on Nov. 29, on a routine flight to Maxwell field, Ala. He had been on a series of special assignments since returning from active duty in the far east last fall.

The war department notified Wagner's grief-stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd M. Wagner, that the body had been found in

Veteran British 1st Army Wins New Positions

Capture Jebel Azzag To Drive Enemy Back From Mateur Heights

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Veteran British first army troops captured Jebel Azzag and nearby points in an attack launched Tuesday to drive the axis enemy from high ground dominating allied positions along a road about 15 miles west of Mateur, the allied command announced last night.

It was the first real fighting in two weeks in north Tunisia. "Successful attacks were made on hills north of the road and we captured Jebel Azzag and other points in the vicinity," the allied command communique announced.

Mopping Up Posts "Our forces are mopping up isolated machine-gun posts and have repulsed a counter-attack against one of our newly-won positions." In the air, a headquarters spokesman said, Fortress bombers scored hits or near misses on a cruiser leaving the Tunisian harbor of Sfax and left the Sfax power station in flames.

(The British and Americans were pounding the axis with relentless energy from both ends of the Mediterranean, reports showed. The admiralty announced in London that British submarines had destroyed a large enemy troop transport and supply ship; hit and probably sunk two other vessels in the Mediterranean and bombed the Italian and axis-occupied Greek coasts.

Blast Sousse (The British and Americans announced in Cairo that their bombers blasted the Tunisian port of Sousse Tuesday. The Americans said their heavy bombers put all their explosives within the target in a daylight raid and bursts were observed on the commercial phosphate and southern quays. The British merely announced that hits were scored on quays and buildings.

Mateur is 25 miles southwest of the naval base of Bizerte. (Reuters, British news agency, said that a British force of commandos and paratroopers won the battle over some of the best German troops in a three-hour fight.)

Wins His Wings Gable Finishes Work At Tyndall Field

TYNDALL FIELD, Fla. (AP)—Clark Gable quit the movies to try for a job as army aerial gunner—and that's how it's going to be.

Tall, tanned, and wearing the mustache which identified him in many a Hollywood production, Gable received yesterday the silver wings of an air force gunner, emblematic of successful completion of Tyndall field's tough course.

Where he'll go now is something even Gable doesn't know—but he hopes it'll be to combat service, to get a crack at Tojo and the Jerries with the business end of a heavy machine gun.

Republicans to Help 'U.S. Back on Tracks'

Spangler Says Party Will Strive to Keep Nation on 'Main Line'

NEW YORK (AP)—Harrison E. Spangler, recently elected Republican party national chairman, yesterday asserted that the mission of Republicans was to "get the U. S. back on the tracks, keep it on the tracks, and see that no force, foreign or domestic shall throw the switch."

In an article published in the American magazine for January, Spangler called attention to duties of Republicans under a two-party system of government which he said had been imposed upon the G.O.P. by the voters' mandate at the last elections. He said the motto of Republicans might well be: "Keep our republic on the main line."

Underlying Causes Referring to the gains made by Republicans in the senate, congress and governorships, Spangler said: "There must be deep, underlying causes which move the people to go to the polls and to vote against the party in power. And this is especially significant in time of war."

In many ways, he said, the Republican party must fight to restore the state and the government as the servant of the people. These were the Republican tasks ahead, he said.

To withhold nothing calculated to strengthen our arms. To emphatically delete totalitarianism from the world.

Withhold Powers Fight to withhold all powers dangerous to the enterprise, opportunity and thrift of the American people.

To place an hour for the termination of dangerous powers necessary for efficiency in war. Report on the ability of men given crucially important jobs in Washington by appointment instead of by election.

To see that congress is "re-established as an independent department of government and that it shall cease to be merely another bureau with conduct dictated by the executive."

AS RUSSIANS PUSH BACK NAZIS

Special Soviet communique last night reported that the Germans are in full retreat from the Caucasus area shown in the above map and are being seriously menaced by a middle Don thrust toward Rostov where the river flows into the Sea of Azov. Red army troops have captured five more key cities in the Don river loop and are apparently attempting to link up with other Russian units pushing southward to Rostov from the Millerovo sector.

OPA Forbids Pleasure Driving By Eastern Seaboard Autoists

Order, Effective Noon Today, Says Violators To Lose Gas Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—OPA yesterday banned pleasure driving in 17 eastern states.

Under the edict, effective at noon today, any motorist driving to amusement centers or to "purely social engagements" faces the cancellation of all or part of his gasoline ration.

Ask Cooperation OPA called upon state, county and local law enforcement agencies to carry out the new regulation in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia where the oil-gasoline shortage is acute.

The ruling immediately threatened the operation of race tracks. President John C. Clark of the Miami (Fla.) Jockey club said Hialeah park, scheduled to open next Wednesday, would not operate "until such time as there is full approval of the continuance of racing." Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope of the New York state racing commission said racing would continue if it could do so legitimately—"if not, it will stop. It asks no special consideration."

Term Not Defined OPA prohibited all pleasure motoring by holders of A, B and C passenger ration cards. It did not define "pleasure driving" fully but said the term would have "broad meaning" and would be interpreted in an official regulation today.

However, the finding of a passenger car at a race track will be taken as "prima facie evidence that gasoline rations and tires are being dissipated needlessly and illegally," the announcement stated.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson made it clear that he had chosen this action in preference to a new slash in the value of A coupons.

"The chief abuse, insofar as gallons used for pleasure (are concerned)," said Henderson, "seem to stem from the B and C card holders."

Roosevelt to Speak To Congress Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt will appear before a joint session of the senate and house at 11:30 a. m., central war time, today to deliver his annual address.

The address will be broadcast. It was believed that, among other things, the president would touch upon Russia's stand against the Nazis, the swift conversion of American industry to war purposes, and the contribution it has made in unprecedented production of war material.

Russian Legions Take Two More Rail Centers In Middle Don and Caucasus Offensive Drives

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—Russia announced the capture of 21 towns and two more railway stations yesterday in the middle Don and Caucasus offensives and said that these drives have cost the Nazis more than 330,150 dead and captured since Nov. 19.

Two communique as broadcast by Moscow and heard by the Soviet monitor here listed one town as Marinsk, which may be a town of that name on the lower Don about 25 miles west of Tsimlyansk, which the Russians said fell to their armies on Tuesday.

Marinsk is about 92 miles from Rostov, Caucasus gateway whose fall would trap hundreds of thousands of German troops in the Caucasus.

Another town was listed as Krem-Konstantinovskaya, which the Soviet monitor here did not locate. The monitor first announced it incorrectly as Konstantinovsk. There is a city of that name 60 miles beyond Tsimlyansk and only about 65 miles short of Rostov—the key Nazi communication point whose seizure would trap huge German forces in the Caucasus.

Many of the newly-won points were in the Nalchik-Prokhladnenski sector deep in the Caucasus where the Germans were reported retreating hastily northward toward Rostov lest they be trapped by the Russian columns striking westward from Stalingrad and southward along the Moscow-Rostov railway in the middle Don area.

The capture of these cities was reported in the regular midnight

Cut Petroleum Rations in East

OPA Effects Reduction Of 25% in Allowances For Business Houses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of price administration yesterday ordered present fuel oil rations of non-residential users to be slashed 25 percent in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia.

The cut, effective as of today, actually reduces the ration of commercial, industrial and institutional users to about 45 percent of normal, as compared with commercial rations as originally issued based on 66 2/3 percent of normal.

OPA said theaters, amusement places, department stores, office buildings, factories, schools, colleges, government buildings and all other non-dwelling buildings would be affected.

Drastic Reductions Fuel oil usage will be reduced to a point, the agency said, that "may well mean curtailed performance, shortened hours, and even closings of a day or two a week."

"It may ultimately be necessary to cut this (non-residential) category further," Price Administrator Leon Henderson said. "We can make no predictions at this time. It all depends on the supplies available as winter continues."

"However, every owner of non-dwelling property heated by oil ought to be thinking ahead. He should consider the adjustment he may have to make in operating his building part time, of, as in the case of amusement centers, closing altogether, if the emergency increases."

Specifically, the new order prescribes a reduction in rations for period three to 50 percent of normal by removing coupons from the ration sheets. However, since the value of coupons for the third period was ordered cut by 10 percent last Sunday, the new step reduces the rations for the third period to 45 percent of the amount normally used.

Not Temporary That the emergency is not expected to be brief was proved by OPA's edict that rations for the fourth and fifth heating periods also would be reduced to 50 percent.

Announcing the latest drastic step to make fuel oil consumption fit the dwindling east coast supply, Henderson said: "We are going to have to cut deeper into the use of rationed petroleum products in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia. Supplies are not improving. In some districts they are getting worse. This has been confirmed by figures supplied the OPA by the petroleum administrator for war."

Yank Bombers Sink Japanese Cargo Ship Off Aleutian Coast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy reported yesterday that American bombers had sunk a Japanese cargo ship in Aleutian waters and had scored a direct hit on another ship.

The text of the communique, number 242, follows: "North Pacific: "1. On January 5, Mitchell medium bombers (North American B-25) bombed an enemy cargo ship 110 miles northeast of Kiska. The ship was left burning and was later seen to sink.

"2. On January 6, a 'Liberator' heavy bomber (Consolidated B-24) scored one direct hit and two near hits on an enemy ship 135 miles southwest of Kiska."

Allied Planes Soften Jap's Lae Airdrome

Four Anti-Air Posts, One Bomber Razed At New Guinea Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Thursday (AP)—Medium bombers and attack planes of the southwest Pacific command yesterday swept over the Japanese airdrome at Lae in New Guinea, destroying four anti-aircraft gun positions and a grounded bomber. Meanwhile, allied ground forces pushed preparation for the final assault on the remaining Japanese foothold in northeastern New Guinea—in the Sanananda area.

Except for an attack on the Gasmata airdrome on New Britain island by a Flying Fortress, General Douglas MacArthur's heavy bombers were out of the operational picture yesterday while B-25s and fighters carried on the job of softening enemy positions along the Sanananda trail with bombing and strafing attacks.

The communique reported concerning the raid on Lae, a point often bombed because of its proximity to the Papua battle field: "Our medium bombers and attack planes bombed and strafed the airdrome and supply installations. A twin-engine bomber caught on the ground was set afire and four anti-aircraft positions were destroyed by direct hits."

Other allied bombers paid another visit to the airdrome at Gasmata, on New Britain island. In a daring foray into the Japanese dominated middle Solomons, an American force of surface warships has shelled and battered the enemy air base and installations at Munda, New Georgia island.

The operation, which was carried out during the early morning darkness Tuesday, was reported in a navy communique yesterday which told also of an air attack, with uncertain results, on a heavy Japanese cruiser, and the bombing of an enemy transport some 300 miles north of Guadalcanal island.

Heavy losses were reported inflicted on enemy troops south and southwest of Stalingrad where the Russians also said their advance was continuing and had overrun several populated places. Inside Stalingrad itself Russian shock troops were reported to have stormed and destroyed 23 more enemy dugouts along with their garrisons.

On the central front Russian troops were still consolidating newly-won positions, and beating off counterattacks southwest of captured Velikie Luki, Moscow said. The Nazis were said to have lost three tanks and 150 men in one unsuccessful two-hour assault on Russian lines.

West of Stalingrad, presumably in the Don-Volga river pocket where the Russians are trying to annihilate the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions which they say they have encircled there, the communique acknowledged "stubborn resistance," but said Soviet troops had advanced to overrun a series of enemy trenches. Approximately 400 Germans were killed in this battle, the communique said, and Red armies destroyed three grounded Nazi transport planes and shot down nine other aircraft in combat.

7 Men 'Chute To Safety As Plane Crashes

SIBLEY (AP)—Seven men parachuted to safety when an army bomber crashed a half mile east of here yesterday afternoon, Capt. Fred Shick, public relations officer at the Sioux City air base, announced. No one was killed in the crash which occurred in unfavorable weather.

The plane burned completely after crashing to the ground, Captain Shick said. The officer reported the plane was on a routine flight from Orlando, Fla., to Omaha. Because of unfavorable weather at Omaha, the plane was directed to proceed to Sioux Falls, the captain said. None of the men was injured seriously. They were taken to Sibley.

The crash occurred at 3 o'clock on the farm of E. Helmers. Government officials did not release the names of the men involved.

communicate. Before it was issued a special communique said that 26,500 Germans had been killed from Jan. 1 to Jan. 5 on the Stalingrad front, and the regular bulletin added approximately 1,050 more Nazi casualties during yesterday's operations to that figure.

The Russians admitted the Germans were counter-attacking heavily in the middle Don and southwest of Stalingrad, but did not acknowledge any sustained resistance in the Caucasus battle zone some 360 miles southeast of Rostov. This bolstered the belief of British military quarters that the Germans were withdrawing from that area without putting up any organized fight there.

The tremendous quantities of captured equipment listed by the Russians in the action southwest of Stalingrad was seen as further evidence of a Nazi withdrawal so precipitate that huge dumps of valuable stores fell intact into Russian hands.

Red army troops were "conducting engagements for the annihilation of an encircled enemy garrison" on the middle Don front, the midnight communique said.

This phrase has been used for several days by the Russians to describe action apparently along the Moscow-Rostov railway in the Millerovo area. The Russian columns pushing southward there have met heavy resistance from fresh German reserves thrown into the struggle.

One Russian tank unit was said to have driven the Germans from an unidentified town, killing 300 Nazis and capturing much equipment.

West of Stalingrad, presumably in the Don-Volga river pocket where the Russians are trying to annihilate the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions which they say they have encircled there, the communique acknowledged "stubborn resistance," but said Soviet troops had advanced to overrun a series of enemy trenches. A. Lawrence Lowell, Former President Of Harvard, Succumbs

BOSTON (AP)—A. Lawrence Lowell, one of the world's foremost educators and president of Harvard university during the years of its greatest expansion, died yesterday at his Boston home only a few weeks after his 86th birthday.

Funeral services for Dr. Lowell will be held Saturday at Harvard's memorial church in the college yard at neighboring Cambridge.

Limy Pews Has His Ration Trouble Also

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Only housewives who have been shopping for the family meals in food-shortage communities will grant Limy Pews all the sympathy he deserves.
In the midst of Los Angeles' most acute days, when butchers stood behind white stands boasting only a spare-rib or two, the screen writers decided to add an extra scene to "Mission to Moscow." It was a wonderful scene—a Russian banquet!
Limy is the prop man, which makes him ex-officio marketing agent for such occasions. Limy had been reading the papers, which the scripters apparently hadn't. Limy groaned. "I can't go buy a Russian banquet," he groaned. "If I could get lamb chops, I'd need eight for each of the men—about 30—at the feast, counting all the takes. Two hundred forty lamb chops—and women scrambling from market to market in search of two or three, or anything that looks like meat. And I'd need fish, and caviar. No, I can't do it. It wouldn't be right!"

The morning paper solved his dilemma. The meat shortage had made the banner lines. But resourceful Limy had an idea: Why not, he asked, show the end of the banquet—the feast over, the guests lingering over demitasse, brandy, vodka, and cigars.
This is what you will see in the "banquet" scene. And it is all right with Director Michael

'Blues in Berlin'

(War brings many songs. Some of them survive; others do not. Not a new song, but a new turn cooked up by students at Chicago Teachers college parodies the popular "Blues in the Night." The new version, called "Blues in Berlin" was printed in the Chicago newspaper, the Tempo.—The Editor.)

My fuhrer done tol' me,
When I was in Munich,
My fuhrer done tol' me,
Hans—
A Russian will fall back, and give you the east front,
But when the winter snows come,
A Russian's a two-face,
A worrisome thing, who leaves you to sing
The blues in Berlin.

See the bombs a fallin'
Hear the blitzes callin'
Goering! Oh, where is the luftwaffe!
We ain't got no booties,
All we got is cooties,
Goebels! Oh, typhus and black plague,
Die wehrmacht! Die wehrmacht!
A clikety-clack, and soon we'll be back,
With the blues in Berlin.

From Smolensk to Mozhaik,
From Kiev to Lubin,
Wherever the panzers go,
I've taken some big towns,
And made me some big talk,
But there is one thing I know,
A Russian's a two-face,
A worrisome thing, who leaves you to sing
The blues in Berlin.

Curtiz, Mike wants to get on with the picture, one of the year's biggest, in order to get at another colossal—"This Is the Army."

Mike is afraid lest he be too long delayed on "Mission" and the "Army" film be given to another director. "If I don't do the Army picture," he moaned in his highly original language, "I cut my throat and jump off every bridge in town until I die!"
Speaking of food again: Jack Carson and Alan Hale were rehearsing a thunderous dance for "Thank Your Lucky Stars." They were comparing notes on scarcities and prices between hoofbeats. "Would you believe it?" demanded Jack. "Last night I stopped in a restaurant for dinner. 'Bring me,' I said, 'the $2.50 dinner.' The waiter said, 'Certainly—and would you like that sandwich on white or rye?'"

Laird Cregar is now official escort for his Coldwater Canyon neighbors, Gene Tierney and Cobina Wright, while their husbands Oleg Cassini and Palmer Bandette are in the service. They have a share-the-ride club to see movies together.
Gene lives up at the canyon's end, Laird lives half way down, and Cobina is near the entrance.
Gene drives to Laird's, parks her car, continues in his to Cobina's for another parking job, and the trio proceed to the closest movie in Cobina's car. They must really like pictures.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

(First of two articles on women in the war effort)

Draft for Women
WASHINGTON—The underground has it that sometime early in 1943 there will be a registration (maybe even a modified draft) of women for the war effort.
The reasons are two: (1) Best estimates now are that more than 63,000,000 persons will be needed in the military and industrial army by the end of next year, and there just aren't that many males available. (2) The example of Great Britain.

The War Manpower Commission breaks down 1943 requirements this way: 10,000,000 for the armed forces; 20,000,000 in war industry; almost 20,000,000 in civilian industry (practically all of it essential or near-essential); about 8,000,000 for full-time farm production; and about 5,000,000 for seasonal farm work.

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

- NEWSBOYS STAMP DRIVE—Jackie Ayres will speak for the newsboys of America, calling attention to their nation-wide drive to fill the country's half-filled war stamp album, on the Treasury Star Parade program at 11:15 this morning. Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra will provide the music.
- NAVY TIME—Ensign Walter Mehl, former king of the nation's milers, who placed second in the annual Sugar Bowl mile a week ago, will be interviewed on the Navy Time program at 12:45 this afternoon by Ensign William R. Reed of the public relations office of the Navy Pre-Flight school.
- In addition to his placing second in the Sugar Bowl, Ensign Mehl was the number one runner on the cross country team last fall and took first place in the National Servicemen's race in Chicago. Most of the best mile trackers in the nation followed Mehl to the tape during the height of his career two years ago. He met and defeated such great runners as Glen Cunningham, posting time of 4:07.4 in his best indoor mile performance.
- IOWA WESLEYAN COLLEGE—A piano and vocal recital program under the direction of Prof. S. C. Ham of the department of music of Iowa Wesleyan college

THE BOOK PARADE

By JOHN SELBY
"THE GAUNT WOMAN" by Edmund Gilligan (Scribner's, $2.50).

A melodrama now and then is good for the soul, and so far as I know, the best January melodrama is Edmund Gilligan's "The Gaunt Woman." It has all the advantages of its genre, and all the disadvantages. But it reads well.
This is the story of a prodigious young captain out of Gloucester, Capt. Patrick Bannon of the "Daniel Webster," which is supposed to be the next to last halibut using the port, and one of the few remaining large fishing craft without at least an auxiliary motor. The grinding force of evil essential to a melodrama is supplied by another ship—a square rigger called "The Gaunt Woman."
The ships meet on the Grand Banks. There is something bad about "The Gaunt Woman" that Bannon feels the instant he catches sight of her; something that the young Dane he has picked up in Gloucester feels as well. And on their own ship Bannon senses a reflection of his suspicion. It is his feeling toward Holger, who also is supposed to be a Dane, but whose language is not that of a common sailor, whose hands are a little too soft.

And there is a girl whose name is Margaret. There is no point in mentioning most of her characteristics, for they are the familiar ones of all similar heroines. To them is added a staunch quality that often seems to be missing in such books. Margaret is sailing for Newfoundland to care for her father, who has lost an arm in the war but not his hatred for the Germans and their habits.

This is the beginning. The rest is so tense that in spite of everything I read it word for word—not by the hop, skip and jump method.

Interpreting the War News

Analyzed by Kirke L. Simpson

Hitler has thumbed his armies in the Caucasus back out of that perilous 300-mile deep salient to avert an even greater disaster than menaces his shivering forces caught in the Stalingrad pocket.
Nazis Fast Crumbling
That conclusion is inescapable on the basis of Moscow advices. It was true even before Red Star, official organ of the Soviet army, proclaimed a general German retreat in the Caucasus and Russian war bulletins detailed the fast crumbling spearhead of the Nazi threat to the Grozny and Baku oil fields with recapture of key junctions in the Nalchik-Terek river theater. There is no other way to explain swift Russian advances in that sector. Blind Nazi accounts of successful "defensive" fighting on all active fronts in Russia do more to confirm than to challenge the Moscow versions.
Hitler—Ordered Retreat
Hitler has either thinned out his most extended southern front in the Caucasus to find reinforcements for the long and jeopardized eastern flank of that great salient. (See INTERPRETING, page 5)

The South's Psychological Revolt

Anti-Administration Feeling Arising

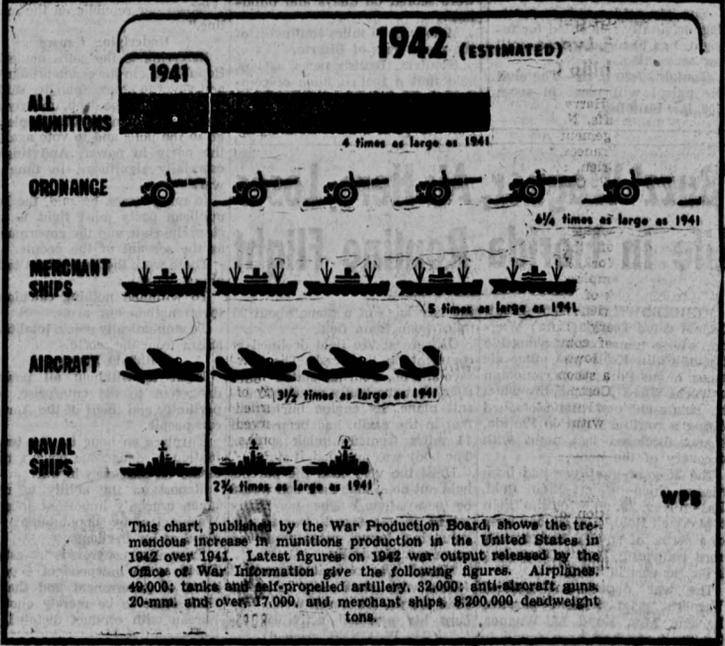

WASHINGTON—The south would go Republican today, if the Republican party offered an alternative to the existing national Democratic leadership.
I have found, in a trip through five southern states, irrefutable evidence that all the south and border states, with the possible exception of Florida, are in an extreme condition of psychological political revolution. I think it is a revolt against the use of totalitarian methods (centralized Washington government) in a democracy.
Everyone Wants Victory
This has nothing to do with the war cause. Everyone wants to win it, and nearly everyone is helping. In the sparse reports which have been published about the condition, it has been attributed to racial and some minor religious feelings.
These sentiments exist widely and dangerously, but, in my opinion, they are symptoms of sounder causes.
True, the opposition has taken that form.
It is impossible to analyze the human heart to prove the degree to which persons are animated by various causes, but I judge, from personal observation in talks with innumerable people in all walks of life, that a wholly new popular conviction about government itself is the real cause of the trouble in the south—and elsewhere.
The whole popular position of the country seems to have undergone alterations, and the alterations have not been sufficiently noted in Washington.

times to the newspapers and the Republicans.
There is now no organized political opposition. Business is cooperating with the government—or under it. The rich no longer exist as an entity or a power. They know that their riches either have already or soon will vanish under existing taxation.
The press, as a whole, shows no evidence of political campaigning except for the war cause, and the Republican party, as an organized force of opposition is nonexistent in evidence on a scale commensurate with the size of this new popular sentiment—certainly not in the south.
The administration cannot blame these old forces now.
The opposition this time is unorganized and unstirred by any of the normally functioning political spoons. It seems to be solely a spontaneous attitude reaching down through the middle classes of this middle class country.

'Individual' Participation
I think it is the result of the personal experience of the vast masses with government in this war. Multitudinous regulations and taxes of centralized Washington government, which formerly hit the rich or business, have, for the past year, been hitting every individual.
Each man has found a new political doctrine from this personal experience. He has not merely developed irritations, but he has come in contact with centralized controls, reforms, "new ways," and he has developed a revulsion against centralized government as an efficient way of running his democracy. He has learned the inefficiencies and inequalities first hand.
The administration has indicated 26,000 speakers may be sent out to explain away this trend. It will do no good. You cannot explain away by words something a man already has decided from personal experience.

Press Has Little Effect
The weight of the press, the radio and the movies can have but little effect one way or another. If all were abolished today, or had been abolished since the start of the war, the dissatisfaction would be much more widespread than it is.
Such new political sentiments always seek a dramatized outlet of expressions such as the racial problem in the south (it takes other forms in the east or west) or jokes about Mrs. Roosevelt and such comparatively less consequential forms.

True, the race problem is critical. A spark may touch it off. The south is prepared and will handle the problem in its own way, regardless of advice or interference from other sections, although the results may be lamentable for all concerned.
But my point is that even this problem is based upon personal experience with domestic help, high wages, liquor, and, therefore, beyond argument.
Reformation Only Cure
It seems to me the only way the government can reach and cure this, as well as the deeper problem, is by a careful government reorganization and a Washington reformation.
Our main troubles certainly will be ameliorated if changes in the cabinet and in administration bureaus bring a more benevolent and efficient direction in regulating, rationing, drafting, taxing.
First, there must come a change of attitude. The problem is well illustrated by Leon Henderson's Sunday night statement, still maintaining that the people had not felt the "real pinch" of war, "had felt no pain," "had more money," etc. In this, he assumed, as always, that the government was doing its part, but the people were having it easy.
Don't See It That Way
The people do not look at it that way, and no amount of speeches or organized publicity will make them abandon a conviction founded on their personal experience of direct contact with centralized government.
Unless a mutual condition of confidence between government and people is established by the government taking the first step now (the appointment of Henderson's successor is an excellent opportunity), the mutually unsatisfactory condition will continue into serious consequences.

Nancy Simmons Weds William Steinhour In Noonday Service in Davenport Church

Rev. Alfred Nickless Performs Ceremony At Decorated Altar

Before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and candles, Nancy Simmons, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Simmons of Davenport, became the bride of William R. Steinhour, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Steinhour of Davenport, Jan. 2 in a noonday ceremony in Davenport.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Alfred Nickless. The bride chose a street-length dress of powder blue silk, fashioned with a v-neckline and short sleeves. She wore a bracelet, gift of the bridegroom, and a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Attended by Sister
Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. J. M. Youngdale of Washington, D. C. Her street-length gown was of lime green wool, with which she wore dark green accessories and a corsage of jonquils.

Bridesmaids were Lois Christie of Omaha, Neb., and Lois Steinhour, sister of the bridegroom. Howard Frank of Davenport served as best man. Ushering were Edward Johnston and John Anderson, both of Chicago.

Mrs. Simmons, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of violet crepe with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Steinhour, chose a gown of turquoise crepe with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of Edith Willkie roses.

Reception Held
The reception breakfast after the ceremony was held at the Outing club. Out-of-town guests attending the affair were Mrs. J. A. Christie of Omaha; Mrs. Walter Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson, all of Rockford, Ill.; and Mrs. F. A. Carlson of Rochelle, Ill.

Mrs. Steinhour is a senior in the college of commerce at the university, where she is affiliated with Phi Gamma Nu, honorary commerce sorority. Mr. Steinhour, a former student at Iowa university, is now employed as tool designer in the Quad Cities tank arsenal in Bettendorf.

Max W. Boone Appointed New Councilman

Max W. Boone, 742 Dearborn street, of the Iowa Land company, was appointed to replace Alderman Walter J. Riley as councilman from the first ward after Riley's resignation was accepted at a special city council meeting held Tuesday.

Riley's resignation was mandatory since he changed his residence from the first to the fourth ward. Boone, a member of the Elks lodge, has been a resident of Iowa City for six years and connected with the Iowa Land company for five years.

After hearing the recommendations of Commander Rollin M. Perkins of the Johnson county citizens' defense corps and Roscoe Taylor, chief of the corps' utilities division, the council decided to purchase a three-phase 7 1/2-horsepower air raid siren for the city.

A police commission including Alderman Wilbur J. Teeters, Leo Kohl and Don Brown was appointed to handle complaints and all matters in regard to securing gasoline for the police cars and others concerning the operation of the police department during war time.

George R. Hall was granted a leave of absence from the police force and became the fourth patrolman to enter the armed services.

Chorus candidates should apply today to Prof. Herald Stark, room 103, music studio building. Orchestra candidates should apply to Thomas Turner of the music department, room 208, music studio building.

The university chorus, under the direction of Professor Stark, rehearses Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:10 to 9:15 throughout the semester in the south rehearsal hall of the school of music. Two or more concerts during the semester are planned.

The university symphony orchestra under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp of the music department rehearses Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:10 to 9:15 throughout the semester in the north rehearsal hall of the school of music. Three concerts are planned.

The first rehearsals of both organizations will be held this evening, and because positions for the semester will be assigned as soon as possible, it is desirable that candidates apply today.

These organizations are open to all graduates and undergraduates; academic credit is available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. There are no membership dues in either group.

Announce Engagement Of Edith F. Lynch, Lieut. Philip O'Brien

Capt. and Mrs. Harry P. Lynch of Englewood Cliffs, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Frances, to Lieut. Philip James O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. O'Brien, 904 Bowers street.

A graduate of the Madonna school and Holy Angels academy of Ft. Lee and of the Packard school in New York City, Miss Lynch is now employed by the National city bank of New York.

Lieutenant O'Brien was graduated from St. Mary's high school and the college of commerce of the University of Iowa. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant Nov. 22 at Camp Davis, N. C., and is now stationed at Camp Edwards, Mass., with the coast artillery.

Commemoration Dinner

A dinner commemorating the successful completion of the first year of activity for Company C of the Iowa State guard will be held at 6:30 tonight after which there will be an inspection, while the first drill of the new year will get under way in the armory at 7:30.

PEGGY KING BECOMES ENGAGED

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Peggy King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Carr King of Burlington, to Aviation Cadet Charles L. Jones, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert D. Jones of Sac City.

Miss King was graduated from Burlington high school and Stephens college in Columbia, Mo. At present she is enrolled as a senior in the school of journalism at the university, where she is affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Theta Sigma Phi honorary journalism sorority. She is associated with The Daily Iowan as society editor.

Cadet Jones, a graduate of Sac City high school, attended the University of Iowa, where he was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is now in training at the Navy Flight school in Glenview, Ill.

MAXINE GIBSON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Gibson, 715 S. Riverside drive, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Maxine Marian, to Cadet Edward H. Patterson of Bruce Field, Ballinger, Texas, son of Mrs. Chester Denter, 230 E. Benton street, and Gregory Patterson of Cedar Rapids. Miss Gibson, a graduate of St. Patrick's high school, attended the university last year. Cadet Patterson was graduated from Iowa City high school and attended William Penn college in Oskaloosa before entering the army air corps.

Iowa City Couple Arraigned In Court on Forgery Charges

Delmar Butterbaugh, 19, and his wife, Georgia Fay, 17, of Iowa City, were arraigned yesterday in the district court before Judge Harold D. Evans, and pleaded not guilty to charges of forgery.

The couple, according to County Attorney Edward F. Rate's information, had passed numerous spurious checks in Iowa City during the recent holiday season and about 10 in Cedar Rapids written on Wellman and Swisher banks.

The clue through which authorities were able to track the couple down was a telephone number given as reference.

Bad checks were passed here at Grimm's, Yetter's, Montgomery Ward, Eppel's, Penney's, Sears Roebuck, Kinney Shoe store, the Depot lunch, and Three Sisters, Inc., Sheriff Preston Koser stated.

Mrs. Butterbaugh, married only two months ago at Kahoka, Mo., has used several aliases, according to Sheriff Koser. Among those she has used in the past two years are Judith Larsen, Janet Martin, Janet Larsen, and Judith Sterner.

The total of checks passed recently in Iowa City was $98, but this was probably not complete, County Attorney Rate stated. About $38 worth of bad checks had been passed in Cedar Rapids.

The maximum sentence for forgery is usually 10 years, the county attorney stated.

The couple are now being held in the county jail on a $2,000 bond, pending a future trial. Atty. Ingalls Swisher was appointed counsel for the Butterbaughs by Judge Evans.

Mrs. E. A. Worthley Elected Commissioner Of I.C. Girl Scouts

Mrs. Evans A. Worthley was elected commissioner of the Iowa City Girl Scouts, succeeding Prof. Marjorie Camp, at a recent meeting of the Girl Scout council.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Ada Miller, deputy commissioner; Pauline Kelley, secretary, and Mrs. A. V. O'Brien, treasurer.

Professor Camp commented upon the local council's cooperation with the nation-wide campaign to expand the Girl Scout program. Every Girl Scout unit will act under the slogan, "A Million More by '44," in trying to make the Girl Scout code and activities available to all girls.

Annual reports from chairmen of standing committees were also made at the meeting. Mrs. Everett Means, head of the group responsible for securing leaders and troop committees, reported that about 40 women had served as troop leaders or assistants last year and 40 more had been members of troop committees, reported that about 40 ing existing troops, the committee organized a new Brownie troop. Prof. Mate Giddings, chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. Kirk Porter, head of the leaders' training committee, reported on their groups' activities during the preceding year.

State Board Examines Graduate Pharmacists

The Iowa state board of pharmacy is testing members of the December graduating pharmacy in a three-day examination which will decide the eligibility of the graduates to become registered Iowa pharmacists. The examination began Tuesday.

The first day of the examination was devoted to written exercises. The examination being conducted today and that given yesterday are practical laboratory experiments.

Members of the Iowa state pharmacy board are Duane Redfield of Shenandoah, L. R. Henderson of Muscatine, George Brown of Onawa and J. F. Rabe of Des Moines.

The graduating class are as follows: J. B. Beardsley of New Virginia, William Russel Bieber of Iowa City, Lynford Clair Bower of Dunkerton, Carolyn M. Carbee of Washington, Eugene Frank Challed of Cedar Rapids, Delpha L. Donner of Malvern, Ernest D. Erickson of Sioux City, Roy G. Herrmann of Middle.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

By DON SLYE

The Hawks open their Big Ten schedule here against Minnesota's Gophers Saturday night and it looks as if it will be a nip and tuck affair.

The setups of the two schools are somewhat similar. Both have new coaches, two regulars back, and two sophomores in their starting lineup.

Dr. Carl Nordly, who has taken over the coaching duties for Minnesota, will have two veteran guards in Kenny Exel and Dick Burk. The Gophers lost their two high-scoring forwards, Warren Ajax and Don Smith, by graduation but two sophomores have been handling the front court in fine style.

Dave Ruliffson and Wes Windmiller seem to be what the Dr. ordered, as they have been doing most of the point getting for the Minnesota team in the non-conference battles. Windmiller is the best scorer and is very fast, while Ruliffson is a good all-around man.

Bill Lind will handle the center duties. He is 6-3 and has had two years experience. Exel has taken over the Gopher leadership with the graduation of Smith, and will lead his team from the guard position.

There is probably the starting lineup for the Gophers. Now let us look over the Hawks. They have two veteran forwards, Jim O'Brien at center who has seen plenty of service, and two sophomore guards.

Having the veterans at forward instead of at the guards, as Minnesota has, may win the game for Iowa. There is no doubt about the scoring ability of Tom Chapman and Ben Trickey. The fire wagon front courtmen will give any Big Ten team trouble in holding them down.

The two sophomores, Theron Thomsen and Gene Nesmith, are coming right along. Thomsen is a dead shot from far out and Nesmith gets more than his share of rebounds. Sure, they will make mistakes but give them a few Big Ten games to become adjusted to the style of play.

The center spot is still a problem to "Pops" Harrison. He will need a man who can dump those points through the hoop for Big Ten play and only the coming games will tell just how badly he needs him. Bob Lundstedt, reserve forward, has plenty of scoring power but his 6-1 frame is not tall enough for a center.

The Hawks have not lost a home game since Jan. 29, 1942, and since then have won nine straight. This, combined with the last minute defeat suffered at the hands of the Gophers last year, 41-39, should give Iowa a strong incentive to win Saturday night.

Tom Chapman Breaks Nose

Good luck and bad luck hit the Hawk cagers this week as they are preparing for Minnesota.

Tom Chapman, leading scorer of the squad, broke his nose in scrimmage, while the defense was bolstered by the appearance of Chuck Uknes, sophomore guard. Chapman will play Saturday night, however, wearing a nose guard.

Coach "Pops" Harrison doubted that Uknes would be in shape for the Gopher clash but said that he will be used in the Illinois series Jan. 16 and 18.

The Hawkeys are working on their defense to halt the speedy attack of the Gophers. Theron Thomsen and Gene Nesmith, sophomore guards, are getting plenty of rebound work in addition to ball handling.

Jim O'Brien, 6-5 center, will start the game. Coach Harrison said; but Jack Movold, a native Minnesotan from International Falls, will see much action. O'Brien has been doing well defensively and will be charged with stopping Bill Lind, the 6-3 senior Gopher center. Bob Lundstedt and Sam Vacanti will also see action.

EX-IOWA MENTOR INSTRUCTS CADETS

Lieut. Rollie Williams, head Seahawk basketball coach, explains fundamentals to a group of the Navy Pre-Flight school cadets. Every aviation cadet takes two weeks of drills under Williams and his staff designed to develop coordination, stamina and teamwork. Williams sees more competition in the sport than he has ever seen before as basketball ranks high in the winter compulsory sports program.

Rollie Williams Misses Coaching Hawkeyes; Keeps Busy Teaching Cage Sport to Cadets

The loneliest man at the Iowa Pre-Flight school is Lieut. Rollie Williams, for 17 years coach of Iowa basketball teams. This season he is known as the man-without-a-team, for, although he is teaching fundamentals of the cage sport to several hundred cadets every day there is no varsity team for him to nurse over and intercollegiate schedule.

"I guess I'm the forgotten man this year," says Rollie wistfully as he watches the University of Iowa squad finish up their non-conference card in preparation for the fast approaching Big Ten season. "I miss having a varsity team of my own to coach and it makes it doubly tough because I'm right here at home and have to sit on the sidelines and watch the boys I coached last year."

But Lieut. Williams is not sitting idly by. Basketball instruction is a basic activity at the pre-flight school and every aviation cadet takes two weeks of drills under Williams and his staff designed to develop coordination, stamina, and teamwork. Despite the absence of a varsity basketball team, Williams sees more competition in the sport than he has ever seen before as basketball ranks high in the winter compulsory sports program.

As he reminisces about his Big Ten campaigns as mentor of the Hawkeys, Williams speaks in glowing terms of his 1941-42 team that tied for second in the conference after upsetting mighty Illinois, Wisconsin and most of the other tough quintets. But he calls the 1934 Iowa team the best group he ever coached. This season Rollie looks for Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana to be the toughest in the Big Ten.

This is the first year since 1924 that he hasn't been associated in some way with Iowa basketball and first since 1929 that he hasn't been head Hawkeye coach.

The Seahawk coach himself won high honors, not only as a cager but as a football and baseball player. He won nine letters at the University of Wisconsin, rating all-Big Ten mention in basketball for the years 1921-22 and getting all-conference honors in football in 1922.

Bluehawks Prepare On Shorter Floor For West Liberty

Coach Louis Alley sent his U-high cagers through a stiff workout yesterday in preparation for their tilt with West Liberty tomorrow night on the latter's floor.

The Bluehawks, after copying their first two victories with comparative ease, will be playing under a handicap when they meet the rangy West Liberty quintet. The home team has a small floor and the Blues are not accustomed to playing on a court of its size.

During yesterday's workout Coach Alley utilized one end of the U-high floor to acquaint the Blues with the playing conditions of tomorrow night.

In their first two games the Bluehawks knocked off Marion and Tipton in that order. They have averaged 48 points per game to their opponents' 30. Don Wagner, smooth working Bluehawk forward, is leading the scoring with 31 points followed by Jack Shay with 28.

Membership in 'I' Club Totals 714

Seven new members, added in recent weeks have brought the total membership in the University of Iowa's alumni "I" club to 714.

Of the new members, four are letter men who graduated last month: Al Mannino of Westfield, N. J.; Bill Stauss of Creston; and Robert Penultima of Waterloo, football players; and Donald Maland of Cresco, wrestler.

Honorary members are Kenneth Herberst of London, England, now in government service; Robert H. Hotz of Omaha, Neb., and A. V. Nord of Creston.

N.B.A. Denies Boxing Crown To Beau Jack

By SID FEDER NEW YORK (AP) — The National Boxing association announced its regular quarterly ratings of fighters in all divisions yesterday, along with a statement from President Abe Greene that "full responsibility" for "cleavage" in boxing championships lies directly with the New York State Athletic commission.

Greene referred directly to the lightweight and bantamweight title situations in "pointing a finger" at the New York commission. The New York body has awarded Sammy Angott's abdicated lightweight throne to Beau Jack without the benefit of a previously-agreed-upon tournament. In the bantamweight fuss, the Empire state solons of sock refused to recognize Manuel Ortiz after he whipped Lou Salica in a ten-rounder in California. Since then, New York sanction also was withdrawn from Salica, but still the Manhattanistic fathers refused to put the crown on Ortiz's head.

Following are the NBA ratings of the leaders of all weight divisions:

Heavyweights: Champion—Joe Louis, U. S. army and Detroit; logical contender—Billy Conn, U. S. army and Pittsburgh; outstanding boxers—Melio Bettina, U. S. army and Beacon, N. Y.; Tami Mauriello, New York; Turkey Thompson, Los Angeles; Pat Valentino, U. S. coast guard and San Francisco; Lee Savold, Des Moines; Roscoe Toles, Detroit.

Light heavyweights: Champion—Gus Lesnevich, U. S. coast guard and Cliffside, N. J.; logical contenders—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland; Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati; Billy Soose, U. S. navy and Farrell, Pa.; Anton Christoforidis, Greece; outstanding boxers—Nate Bolden, Chicago; Ken Overlin, U. S. navy and Decatur, Ill.; Freddie Mills, England; Tommy Tucker, U. S. navy and New York; Johnny Colan, U. S. coast guard and New York.

Middleweights: Champion—Tony Zale, U. S. navy and Gary, Ind.; logical contenders—Georgie Abrams, U. S. navy and Washington; Tony (Cianciola) Martin, U. S. coast guard and Milwaukee; outstanding boxers—Ernie Vigh, U. S. coast guard and Newburgh, N. Y.; Coley Welch, U. S. coast guard and Portland, Me.; Fred Apostoli, U. S. navy and San Francisco; Holman Williams, Detroit; Olivera Kid Tunero, Puerto Rico; Steve Beloise, U. S. navy and New York; Eddie Booker, Los Angeles.

Welterweights: Champion—Freddie (Red) Cochrane, U. S. navy and Elizabeth, N. J.; logical contenders—Ray Robinson, New York; Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles; California Jackie Wilson, U. S. army and Los Angeles; outstanding boxers—Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh; Marty Servo, U. S. coast guard and Schenectady, N. Y.; Young Kid McCoy, U. S. army and Detroit; Louis Kid Cocoa, New Haven, Conn.

Lightweights: Champion—vacant; leading contender—Beau Jack, Augusta, Ga.; logical contenders—Willie Joyce, Gary, Ind.; Allie Stolz, Newark, N. J.; Juan Zurita, Los Angeles; Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia; Maxie Shapiro, New York; Sluggo White, Baltimore; Johnny Thomas, Los Angeles; Cleo Shans, Los Angeles; Joey Peralta, Tamaqua, Pa.; Chester Rico, New York; Johnny Greco, Montreal.

Former Card Hurler Will Make Second Attempt at Comeback

Washington Senators Receive Mainstay Of St. Louis Staff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The hopeful St. Louis Browns, who harbor penitent ambitions, gambled yesterday that Paul Dean would make good on his second attempt to come back as a major league pitcher. To get the younger brother of colorful Dizzy Dean, they gave the veteran mainstay of their staff, submarine-ball Elden Auker, to the Washington Senators. Auker won 44 games and lost 39 in his three seasons with the Browns, so it was a case of trading a known quantity—and quality—for a decided question mark.

However, Donald L. Barnes, president of the Browns, who engineered the deal at the Chicago major league meeting, was confident the 30-year-old righthander would be a valuable acquisition.

Dean had a meteoric career with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934 and 1935 but developed arm trouble and drifted back to the minors. He made an unsuccessful appearance with the New York Giants in 1940.

Paul was nicknamed "Daffy" because his brother was Dizzy, but actually he was the quiet, steady, member of the duo of pitching game and off-the-field foolishness.

Egged on by Dizzy, the brothers staged a strike with the Cardinals in June, 1934, because they were dissatisfied with Paul's pay. The walkout fizzled but it provided Dizzy with an opportunity for one of his best trips—"Men 'n' Paul are three-strike men, not a two-man strike."

By CHAD BROOKS St. Patrick's cagers turned in their fifth victory in six starts last night as they ran over St. Wenceslaus' Big Red squad by a 22 to 10 count at Cedar Rapids.

Handicapped by Co-captain Jim Russell's injured ankle which limited his action to a few minutes, the Green and White were never able to get going on offense but relied on their aircal contender—Jui Kong Young, Hawaii.

Flyweights: Champion—Little Dado, Philippines; logical contenders—Jackie Patterson, England; Peter Kane, England.

tight defense to hold the home team to four baskets.

The game was rough from start to finish with several flagrant violations on each side. Eleven personals were called on the St. Wenceslaus squad, none of which were converted into points by the Irish. Their eleven straight misses brings their total for the last three games to three conversions in thirty-six attempts.

Six minutes had elapsed without a score before Victor Capek hit a two pointer for the Red Hawks. Two baskets, by Bill Connell and Earl Murphy, however, sent the Irish ahead for keeps. A gift toss by Victor Capek rounded out the first period scoring.

Murphy and Ted Connell, and a two pointer by Bill Capek ran the half time score to 8-5. At this point the Irish had missed six successive free throws.

St. Pat's started fast in the second half as Phil McLaughlin, playing in place of the injured Russell, hit twice within the first minute of play. A goal by Denny Erger, sub forward, narrowed the margin to 12-7 before Bill Connell hit again just as the quarter ended to give the Irish a 14-7 advantage.

Coach Cliff Krutts sent Russell in for the first time mid-way in the last quarter after a gift toss by Erger had made the count 14-8. Immediately the Green and White offensive went into high gear with two goals by Don "Red" Gatens, a rebound by Russell, and a two-pointer by Billy Connell icing the game. Another basket by Erger completed the evening's scoring.

217-206 Vote Gets Rayburn Speakership

less ceremonious formality than in past years, there also was less horseplay. Frock coats, usually the rule, were not to be seen. There were the usual amiable and boisterous greetings between members. But over all there was an atmosphere which bespoke a grim recognition of the times.

The house, with the Republican side of the aisle well filled after years of big Democratic majorities, looked strange. Well to the rear but prominent in bright vivid purple sat the most publicized of the new members, Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut.

The membership, milling about the chamber, was called to order by Clerk South Trimble. The chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, prayed briefly, asking that the membership be vested with a "great discretion," and then nominations for the speakership were received.

Rayburn was nominated by Rep. Sheppard (D., Calif.) and Martin by Rep. Woodruff (R., Mich.). The roll-call vote followed immediately.

Trimble announced the result and Martin, one of a committee which escorted Rayburn down the center aisle, presented him to the house, with a brief address.

"The 77th congress was known as the war congress," he said. "This is going to be known as the victory congress."

"This congress is going to see this war to a decisive and early end." That, he added, was the "aim of every one," and impressively, he continued:

"The leaders of the opposition pledge their effort to that end."

In Rayburn, he went on to say, the house had elected a "really great speaker," and a "great American."

The birthday statement, and then a great ovation, one of several for Rayburn, followed.

The speaker, accepting his post, said he was "deeply moved."

"We have just closed a great congress," he said. "We were criticized and we will be criticized."

Congress, he said, makes but cannot administer the laws. It declares wars but others must fight them. The 77th congress, he added, passed every law and granted every dollar that was necessary for the war.

"I believe and I trust," he added, "that the congress assembling today will so act that just criticism will not fall upon it."

Train Designer Dies.

Interpreting—

or he has ordered a retreat northward from its apex above Grozny, leaving only rear guards to impede Russian pursuit.

Whichever course he has taken, it sufficiently indicates his growing alarm over Russian threats to the Rostov communication key to the whole southern flank of his over-extended front in Russia. It also spells out into further convincing proof of his waning resources in manpower, planes and—perhaps most important of all—fuel for his war machine to meet all the defensive emergencies forced upon him by the still expanding Russian offensive and allied attacks in Africa.

That probably is the most encouraging aspect of the vast struggle at this stage to the inner circle of united nations leadership. The facts about Nazi oil resources have been difficult to determine, yet many well informed observers have thought all along that the Nazi 1942 offensive was primarily a drive to tap Russian oil fields in the Caucasus.

If that is true, Russian successes in folding back the nose of the Caucasus salient above Grozny, whether due to a forced German retreat or sheer Red offensive power, is the most notable Russian offensive achievement of the war. That Nazi thrust down the northern foothill flank of the Caucasus range along the Rostov-Baku railway was a vital element of Hitler's 1942 strategy. It was aimed at getting the oil around which his 1942 plans were built.

The march to the Volga at Stalingrad was essential to Nazi strategy, as Hitler himself has told his people time and again to justify ever mounting casualties. But it was more essential to protect his drive for oil in the Caucasus from the fate now threatening it than to permit Nazi domination of the Volga traffic artery against Russian use, as he said.

There is every indication that whatever he had hoped of his Caucasian drive last year, Hitler long ago gave up the thought that he might reach either Grozny or Baku without another spring or summer campaign. The Russian stand at Stalingrad insured that.

It follows logically that if Russian thrusts converging toward Rostov from the northeast, east and southeast and also threatening the Rostov-Baku rail artery of the Nazi communications along a 300 mile span have forced German retreat from the depth of the Caucasus salient, Hitler has already suffered his heaviest blow in Russia. He is losing his jump-off position for a drive for oil later in the year.

That waning oil resources are worrying Hitler as much if not more than waning manpower as yet was suggested from Ankara recently. Balkan reports reaching Turkey said he was pouring reinforcements into the Cyclades islands guarding Aegean sea approaches at its mouth. Up the Aegean lie Bulgaria and beyond that Rumania and its oil wells that are the life-blood of the Nazi war effort.

Hitler smashed Greece, pinned Turkey to a neutral role and dragged Bulgaria into the axis fellowship to protect his oil sources. He obviously fears air attack upon Rumanian wells as a major element of future allied designs against the "soft under belly" of the axis stemming out of the African campaigns.

ever. The rate of absenteeism is so high among women workers that in some instances, it has actually slowed production seriously. The Labor department and WMC are working hard on this now. Working conditions, hours, recreational facilities and many other things, of course, have much to do with it. As for the women themselves, it is being recommended that employers who wish to avoid absenteeism should hire in this order (after overall requirements of physical fitness, adaptability, experience and attitude have been considered): (1) Young, unmarried women without dependents; (2) Married women, without children; (3) Married women, with children.

If there ever is a draft of women into the war effort in this country, that is probably how they will be classified.

Sociologist Discusses Cultural Adjustments in Respect to War

The secret of abolishing war lies in the adjustment of existing social institutions and agencies to the idea of a world economy, Prof. H. W. Saunders of the sociology department said last night in a lecture on "The Cultural Lag and the Great Society."

War in the modern world must be understood in terms of the impact of modern science and technology on the social setup, Professor Saunders said.

"We must make them world-minded rather than locality-minded," he asserted. "We must avoid the oversimplified and naive ideas of war as an inevitable outgrowth of man's instinct to pugnacity, of economic determinism and population pressure as explanations of war, and of the 'devil theory,' which blames a few evil men for armed conflict between nations, Professor Saunders said.
