Bizerte Under Fierce Attacks Of Yank B-17's

Allies Lose 6 Planes, Nazis 9 in Full-Day Aerial Bombing Raid

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Three waves of Flying Fortresses have subjected the Tunisian naval base of Bizerte to one of the fiercest bombings of the war...

These farflung air blows Friday which cost the allies six planes and the Germans nine, were announced soon after Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appointed Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz commander of all American and RAF air operations in this theater...

In the first raid, Flying Fortresses were attacking the airbases where they scored hits. The docks and shipping also were attacked.

The next raid was at Ferryville nearby and hits were observed on oil tanks and docks. The third time, the Fortresses attacked the Bizerte naval base.

French troops moving up on the Sahara front captured Tamout Mulet and Tachimet, inside Libya across the border from Algeria, the French high command announced.

In the central sector of Tunisia itself, the French reported they smashed back another German attack northeast of Fichen and dispersed small enemy positions. The Germans lost three out of four tanks engaged in this assault yesterday, the French added.

Fairly lively air activity was reported west of Kairouan and in the Pont-Du-Fahs area, but on the mud-bogged northern battlefield of Tunisia there was only patrol activity.

A Berlin broadcast meanwhile indicated that the British Eighth army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery might be about ready to attack the axis east of Tripoli in Libya.

The heaviest fighting therefore is to be expected in this sector, he said. Claiming that 150 British vehicles were blown up by air attack, he said "between 8,000 and 9,000 vehicles of all kinds concentrated to a great depth in front of the southern of the axis positions provided excellent targets for axis bombers."

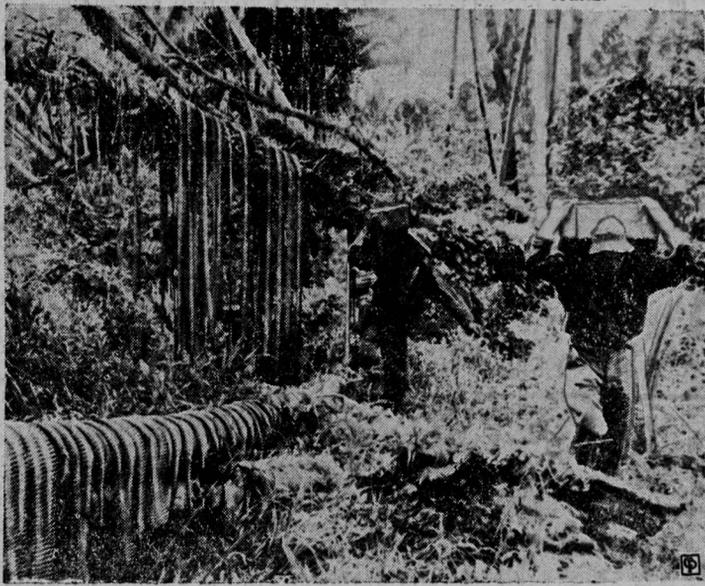

United Mine Workers To Return to Work, Union Officials Vote

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Local union and district officers of United Mine Workers voted yesterday to send approximately 24,000 striking anthracite miners back to work tomorrow.

The miner officials, in voting 63 to 45 for the back-to-work movement, also appointed a committee to seek an answer within the next week to the miners' protest against a $4 increase in annual union dues.

Union leaders said final success of their action probably will be known by tonight after it has been put to the miners themselves at meetings of some 20 locals.

JUNGLE SNAKES? HAPLESS JAPS WISH THEY WERE!

What looks like a colony of jungle snakes draped over tree limbs in the New Guinea jungle are in reality rows of ammunition belts placed in readiness for an American attack on a Japanese position in the Buna area. This picture was taken in a native village as the Buna campaign got underway.

G.O.P.'s Ask Flynn's Record Be Examined

WASHINGTON (AP)—Minority leader McNary of Oregon served notice yesterday the Republicans would demand a hearing and full investigation of the record of Edward J. Flynn, the resigning Democratic national chairman, if President Roosevelt appoints him envoy to Australia.

RAF Bombers Smash Holland Iron Works

LONDON (AP)—Speedy new American-made Ventura (Vega) bombers of the RAF smashed at the Ijmuiden iron and steel works in Holland yesterday, planting bomb bursts on furnaces and coke ovens, in the second assault in 24 hours on Germany's steel and industrial works, the air ministry announced.

Will Simplify Bookkeeping, Speed Coupons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nation-wide operation of the "ration banking" program, intended to ease bookkeeping burdens and speed the handling of millions of coupons by rationing boards and dealers, will start Jan. 27, the office of price administration announced yesterday.

84 Pilots, Gunners Decorated For Heroism at Midway Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Revealing for the first time the thrilling actions fought by marine air force units at the Battle of Midway Island last June, the navy announced today that all 84 pilots and aerial gunners of those units had been decorated for heroism and that 58 ground crew members had been commended.

RAF Based in India, U.S. Airmen in China Coordinate in Attack

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's southward thrusting forces have renewed the fighting with Japanese in the difficult lowlands north of Akyab in Burma simultaneously with the loosing of a one-two punch by American sky dragons from China and the RAF from India.

Far-Flung Red Flank Sweeps Toward Rostov

80-Mile Push Enables Soviets to Reclaim 22 Towns, Villages

MOSCOW (FROM SOVIET BROADCASTS), Sunday (AP)—The Red army, its flanks flung out over a front of 80 miles, is rolling on toward Rostov and the arterial route of supply for hundreds of thousands of German troops, after sweeping aside more than 100 tanks and strong infantry forces which the enemy threw into a desperate counterattack, the Russians announced today.

The northern wing of the advance captured Begoyavlenskaya on the north bank of the Don and 11 other villages.

The town is a little less than 20 miles above the confluence of the Donets with the Don, and is about 80 miles from Rostov.

The southern wing advancing toward Salsk and Rostov, along the Stalingrad-Tikhoretsk artery of military supply for all the German armies, already had reached to within 65 miles of that objective and reported the capture of five more villages.

In the Caucasus, too, the Russians broadened their front along the Rostov-Baku railway, and threatened to flank Georgievsk by capturing Soldatsko-Aleksandrovskoe, 20 miles northeast of Georgievsk. Four other villages were taken into the Russian net, including the railway station of Zgora.

The rush of the Red army astride the Don swept aside more than 100 tanks which the Germans threw into a desperate counter-attack, the communique said.

In a violent engagement, the large enemy tank force and its supporting tank units were forced to retreat and abandon dozens of crippled tanks, a large number of killed and wounded, the announcement added.

British, Japs Renew Skirmishing in Burma

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's southward thrusting forces have renewed the fighting with Japanese in the difficult lowlands north of Akyab in Burma simultaneously with the loosing of a one-two punch by American sky dragons from China and the RAF from India.

Enemy Craft Downed Trying To Cover Lae-Bound Convoy

Offers Buying Plan For Post-War U.S. Henderson Endorses Installment Scheme For Consumer Goods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson offered yesterday with his own unqualified endorsement a plan for installment buying now of consumer durable goods like automobiles and refrigerators for delivery after the war.

In its revised form the plan gives members of the armed forces longer terms of payment to compensate for lower incomes and provides for the issuance of post-war delivery certificates through personnel officers and chaplains.

Under the plan, any dealer or manufacturer's representative could sell certificates on the installment plan for post-war delivery of automobiles, pianos, refrigerators, oil burners or stokers, with the possibility this might be extended to cover such goods as expensive radios, washing machines, kitchen ranges, home air conditioning equipment, television sets, prefabricated homes and travel tickets.

Certificate holders would receive priority as the goods became available and could choose any make or model and take delivery from any dealer. Priority would be determined by the date installment payments began, but military personnel would be given higher priorities than civilians.

Each purchaser would receive 110 percent of his investment in post war merchandise, or 100 percent in cash. Sales and collection costs would be deducted for certificates cashed before the end of the war.

To Draft Many More Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war manpower commission disclosed yesterday that 10,000 more of the nation's 180,000 physicians would be taken by the armed forces in 1943 and said this would leave "more than 80,000" doctors for the civilians.

Chairman Paul V. McNutt promised every effort to provide adequate medical care for civilians, partly through voluntary relocation of doctors to areas of greatest need.

Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman of the directing board of WMC's procurement and assignment service for physicians, said that 80,000 active civilian physicians "is a sufficient number to care for the needs of the civil population if these men and women are properly distributed and allocated and if civilians will take every possible health precaution to keep well."

Yank Airmen Mar Two Ships To Foil Reinforcement Effort

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Sunday (AP)—One hundred and thirty-three aircraft destroyed, probably destroyed or damaged was the ruinous price the Japanese paid to provide the most formidable and persistent air cover to date for a convoy attempting to land reinforcements at Lae, New Guinea.

The allied air force release, describing the Japanese defeat in the air as "the biggest, most remarkable" of the New Guinea campaign, said allied victory cost the Japs 85 planes destroyed, 29 probably destroyed and 19 damaged.

Lockheed Lightnings and Curtis Kittyhawks were heroes of the three-day melee. Taking on odds as high as three to one, the release said, the Lightnings accounted for at least 50 Zeros certainly or probably destroyed.

One formation of 14 Kittyhawks knocked out 16 Zeros against a loss of only one, and the pilot of that plane parachuted to safety.

While American fighters were winning new glory in the mid and upper air, Flying Fortresses, Liberators, Billy Mitchells, Marauders, and Beaufort bombers were drawing a concentrated fire from as many as six Japanese warships at a time. So fast, furious and continuous was the bombing assault that Australian Beaufighters once or twice were unable to get in low enough to carry out strafing attacks.

Eight Lightnings set the fast pace Wednesday evening when they wiped out practically an entire flight of 14 Zeros attempting to intercept the first allied bombing attack on the convoy near Gasmata, New Britain. In this first, fast desperate fight, nine Zeros were downed, three others probably destroyed and two damaged.

Flying Fortresses then took up the fight, remaining over the convoy until after dark.

An Australian-flown, roving Catalina picked up the phosphorescent wake of the enemy vessels as they cut through the waters toward New Guinea. Three bombs from the Catalina hit a 14,000 ton transport which blazed furiously and then blew up.

Thursday morning saw the beginning of a shuttle bombing and strafing attack on the convoy off Lae by Fortresses, Liberators, Mitchells, Marauders, Kittyhawks, Lightnings and Beaufighters. Throughout the day the convoy was screened by relays of from 10 to 20 Zeros. As fast as the Zeros were downed, others entered the fray from New Guinea and New Britain bases.

Highlighting Thursday's work of destruction were the Lightnings which knocked down four, probably shot down three and possibly destroyed five out of 20 Zeros in a 40-minute battle.

But it was not only the allied fighters which scored against the Zeros. After braving a heavy anti-aircraft barrage from the warships to unload their bombs, one flight of Marauders fought off 12 Zeros, damaging two and dispersing the rest.

In a 50-minute running fight, three Fortresses destroyed four Zeros and sent another off, trailing smoke.

The air battle over the convoy reached even greater proportions Friday. By nightfall, 58 Japanese aircraft had been put out of action, 30 destroyed outright. Lightnings began the day with a bag of six (See AIR BATTLE, page 7)

Frank Byers to Be President Pro Tem Of 50th Iowa Senate

DES MOINES (AP)—Republican members of the Iowa senate yesterday afternoon chose Sen. Frank C. Byers of Cedar Rapids as their nominee for president pro tem of the senate for the 50th general assembly which convenes Monday.

Sen. G. W. Hunt of Guttenberg was named caucus chairman and floor leader.

Third Session Selection of Senator Byers will be made final on the formal action of the senate after the session opens tomorrow. This is the third session in which Sen. Byers has acted as president pro tem.

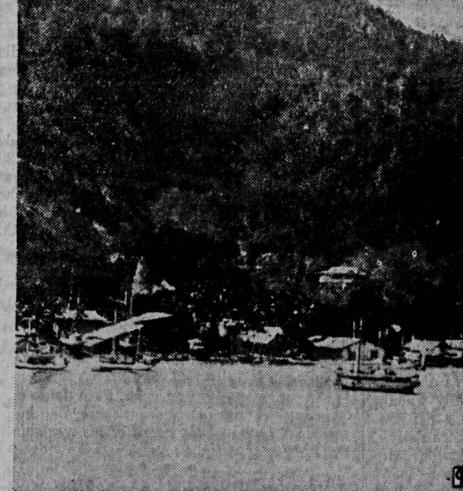

Senator Hunt, who is attending his second session, succeeds former Senator E. P. Donohue of New Hampton, who was majority leader in the last two sessions, but who did not seek re-election to the senate last fall. Senator Byers is attending his tenth legislative session.

Burma Voted Speaker Meanwhile house Republicans earlier in the day nominated Henry W. Burma of Allison, seasoned legislator who has served in three previous sessions, as speaker. Burma received 52 of the 97 votes cast, only one Republican house member being absent. The absentee was W. Eldon Walter of Beaman, who arrived later.

Earl C. Fishbaugh Jr., of Shenandoah was second in the ballot with 33 votes. A. H. Avery of Spencer was chosen speaker pro tem.

Albert Steinberg of Ames was elected as floor leader. Forty of the 45 Republican members of the senate attended the caucus, which was held behind closed doors.

BOMBERS SINK 9 JAP SHIPS HERE

Heavy bombers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's air force sank or destroyed at least nine and probably 10 Japanese ships, all but one being merchant vessels, off Rabaul, New Britain. A view of Rabaul is shown above.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Misunderstanding, Confusion In the Fuel Ration Set-Up

WASHINGTON — Solid fuelist Harold Ickes announced everyone should convert to coal, even though there is a minor shortage in New England. People are just refusing to do so because it is an "inconvenience," he said.

Well, Washington is not New England, so I decided to try it again. Six months ago, no furnaces or grates were available. Today my oil dealer, who also handles coal and furnaces, said:

"Fine. I have just the furnace for you. It will cost $200."

Now $200 is something more than an inconvenience to me, but not as much inconvenience as my inability to get oil here, adequate oil coupons, or oil deliveries now at a time when the government daily announces (erroneously) plenty of oil is available.

I had finally obtained 300 gallons shortly after my furnace went out last night. The air line from the tank to the burner thus became locked with air and I had to call my furnace repairman.

This in itself proved to be more than a minor inconvenience as the repairman was so flooded with similar calls for help that he left his telephone off the hook as a matter of necessity for half a day and does this regularly every day.

But I finally got the furnace going again today and went in to see the dealer about conversion, carrying my 2200 gallons of oil coupons with me to pay me up for oil used so far this winter, the same having been allotted to me under the complicated formula of Mr. Leon Henderson's bright young men, who proved themselves to be such damned fools that they figured only the floor space of every house instead of the cubic footage (heating space to the ceiling) in making oil allocations.

The dealer took half my coupons, 1175 to be exact, saying I had already used them so far this winter. As the winter has hardly begun in this section, I could see I can't get through on oil.

So I decided to suffer the $200 inconvenience, on Mr. Ickes' advice, and told the dealer I would order the furnace. He said:

"Well $200 is the price without installation, and I can't tell you when I could get it installed because we have no help."

I asked: "But if I once get it installed, can I get all the coal I want?"

"No," he replied, "you see the coal miners are still working a five-day week, seven hours a day, 35 hours a week. I have more than 100 orders right here (and he showed them) for nut coal."

"They say the miners are going to add seven more hours a week, making 42 in the anthracite mines, beginning this week, but that won't fill my orders, and I can't make any promises."

I immediately asked why in the name-of-bureaucracy, should anyone then convert to coal.

"That's what I say," broke in a nearby army officer just back from abroad. "Those blankety blank government officials over there (and he pointed in the general direction of OPA and Mr. Ickes) cut me 50 percent from last year's mild winter for the hardest winter yet."

when the temperature here was down to zero. They sat in the kitchen huddled around their electric stoves.

He said he could probably always dig up some kind of coal if the army officer and I would come to get it, that he was unable to promise deliveries because his men were quitting daily or laying off every few days. But bureaucrats did not allow us enough gasoline to get our own coal.

The officer and I decided the dealer was just trying to sell us a new $200 furnace, and, apparently, he considered we were in luck because he had a couple.

The OPA, an equal branch of government with Mr. Ickes, has just announced the people had better locate a coal furnace before deciding to convert. I might add they should also see if they can get it installed, at how much cost, and whether they can get coal after they have the furnaces.

These personal experiences have convinced me, just as they must have convinced every citizen encountering such average conditions everywhere in the country, that none of these Washington officials know the individual human problem of rationing in which they are supposed to be leading us.

They do not understand. They deal only in generalized statistics of supplies and transportation in the nation as a whole.

They show their ignorance everytime they open their mouths on the front pages because every newspaper reader knows different and can prove it from his own experience.

The Strange Tale Of 'Divergent Paths'

Each winter, the first snow brings forth a campus phenomenon of never ending interest to us. After several successive showings and thawings it is even more impressive since it becomes more noticeable as the months roll by.

We are referring to the fact that the divergent paths worn by students during winter are invariably of a different pattern than the symmetrical and carefully planned sidewalks across the campus.

This observation prompts several interesting conclusions: 1) either Iowa students enjoy walking in the snow so much they cannot resist the thrill of making paths or 2) the sidewalks were built for beauty rather than convenience. Of these two probabilities, the second seems more likely.

The student, like any other logically minded American, holds dearest to his heart that old maxim which states: "A straight line is the shortest distance between two points." And, like any other American, he follows it even if he has to "walk alone" because it is the easiest way. He does not understand, or simply dislikes, the more complicated method of crossing from one building to another which calls for numerous right and left pivot-turns, besides a goodly amount of plain, conventional walking.

This problem, however, has several remedies, each as interesting as the cause. 1) The entire campus should be sheathed in concrete, with not a molecule of earth left bare or 2) spies could be sent out among the students before the sidewalks are laid to find out where they plan to cross the campus.

Of these two suggestions, neither seems acceptable. Perhaps it would be better to advise future university builders just to sit tight for a couple of years after school opens and then begin filling the mud paths with concrete. This way everyone would be happy, even though the campus did look like a hedge-podge of mountain trails or Dali's conception of 16 eels going up the Columbia river.

Today, with axis invasion threats reaching new heights, it is necessary to ready oneself for whatever eventualities the future might bring. Even the midwest must be ready to meet possible aerial attack.

Local, as well as national officials, realize this impending danger and are preparing themselves. Through blood plasma centers all over the nation, civilians "injured as a result of enemy action" will receive necessary medical attention.

In Iowa City civilian defense officials have been asked to supply more than 1,000 pints of blood for emergency purposes. Thus far, only 600 have volunteered to make donations. Many more are needed.

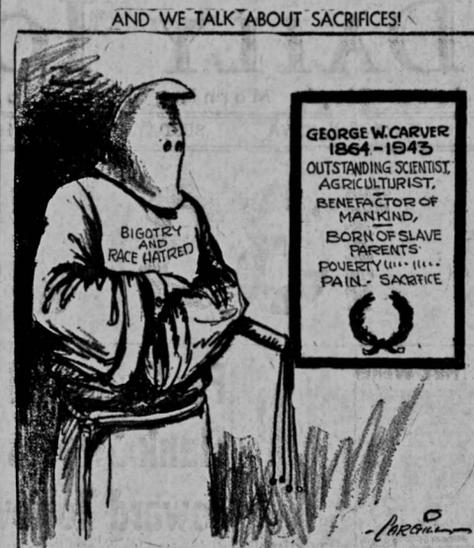

All healthy men and women between the ages of 18 and 60 who are not suffering from an acute disease or from chronic debilitating conditions are asked to contribute. The process is simple and harmless.

An average man weighing about 150 pounds has about 11 pints of blood; a woman of 120 pounds has 10 pints. Only one-tenth of that amount is taken from the body. Of this, the plasma is replaced in less than 24 hours with the red cells returning in a little over a month. Donations may be made every two months without harm.

The only possible effect such loss of blood can bring is a short period of dizziness. Only 5 percent (one in 20 persons) feel this.

After the donations are made the plasma is tested and stored for future use in case of civil emergencies. Each donor is supplied with information concerning his blood type and the result of his serologic test for syphilis.

To protect yourself and your loved ones against invasion attempts, sabotage, floods, tornados (any civilian disaster) invest in the blood bank. Give your blood to the Johnson county civilian defense corps.

Interpreting The War News

Allied Action Lends Realism to F.D.R.'s Forecast for 1943

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON: The first full week of the new year—the year President Roosevelt has chalked up to mark long allied forward strides by air, sea and land toward Berlin, Rome and Tokyo—ends under circumstances that lend realism to his predictions.

In far Pacific, MacArthur's spokesmen tersely dismiss the battle of the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea as ending in the most costly single Japanese defeat of the war except at sea. An enemy force once 15,000 strong and dangerously close to its Port Moresby goal has been annihilated except for a bitter-end handful.

Huge Jap Losses: The aggregate of Japanese ship and plane losses in the futile effort to hold the Papuan bridgehead is of even greater significance in a war of attrition. The implication of the Papuan cleanup is that there, as well as in the Solomons and in Burma, allied offensive preparations for 1943 are already replacing the defensive necessities of 1942. The fight for all New Guinea and Timor beyond it seems opening as MacArthur's bombers range increasingly that way.

That brightly illuminates Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that the period of "defensive attrition" fighting in the Pacific was passing and that "this year, we intend to advance."

The most pregnant sentence dealing with strictly military aspects of the struggle was the president's depiction of 1942 as the crisis year.

"Must Win in '42": "The axis powers knew that they must win the war in 1942—or eventually lose everything," he said.

That sentence was founded upon more complete and detailed information both as to allied resources and axis liabilities than is available to anybody but the highest inner circle of united nations leadership.

Before the echoes of the president's assertion had died away, a Nazi retreat in the Caucasus had been confirmed from Berlin. Moscow chimed in to report new 10-miles-a-day advances by some of the many steel fingers with which Soviet armies are reaching to throttle the foe on the Don estuary.

The Moscow announcements suggested a line-shortening Nazi retreat in the still wide and deep Rostov defense perimeter as well as from the Caucasus salient. If that does account for fast-paced Russian advances astride the lower Don toward Rostov as it accounts for the crumbling of the Caucasus salient and its threat to the Grozny and Baku oil fields, it implies abandonment of the axis army trapped in the Stalingrad pocket to its fate.

As a matter of fact, the drive to remedy the lumber shortage, both actual and prospective, is three-pronged: (1) The usual priorities, price controls, etc. (2) The FPS. (3) Government regulation of cutting practices.

The lumber shortage is both real and on paper. Real, in the actual shortage of specific woods, such as walnut for gun stocks. "On paper," because in overall board-foot consumption, the demand is terminating its way into a huge stockpile sufficient for momentary needs but which may become depleted soon.

The government hasn't done much about it. According to 81-year-old Rep. Walter M. Pierce, Oregon Democrat, who, after five consecutive two-year terms in the House, was defeated for reelection, one of things that might have helped earlier, would even help now, is establishment of the Forest Products Service, which has been on the President's desk since early November and was recommended by the WPB and Department of Agriculture last June. There Are a Few Bright Spots in Taxes

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE: WASHINGTON—Sundry taxpayers including business and pleasure travelers, telephone users, camera fans and cabaret patrons, are already getting a taste of Uncle Sam's new tax medicine, in addition to the Victory tax, which arrived with the new year.

Increased excise levies on telephone tolls, train, airplane and bus transportation, cigars and cigarettes, distilled spirits and wines went into effect on November 1. Also a tax of 4 cents a short ton on coal transportation and of 3 percent on freight and express shipments.

Amateur photographers are hit by a sharp advance in the tax on cameras weighing not more than 4 pounds, the levy going up from 10 to 25 percent. The tax on photographic films, plates and sensitized paper has been increased from 10 to 15 percent of the price. Hep cats, and perhaps, devotees of the old-fashioned waltz, should be interested in a new provision of the law which closed a loophole in the cabaret tax. The 5 percent cabaret tax is levied on the amount you pay for admission, refreshments or service even if no increase is made in the charges by reason of furnishing dancing or other entertainment.

The federal charge on telephone tolls is now 20 percent of the toll. The old tax was 6 percent on tolls costing under 25 cents and a nickel for each 50 cents of higher-priced calls. The rate of tax on local telephone service has been increased from 6 to 10 percent.

The tax on railroad, bus and airplane tickets and for special seating or sleeping accommodations in connection with transportation has been raised from 5 to 10 percent.

But there are a few bright spots, believe it or not, in the generally dismal tax outlook for 1943.

The most outstanding bit of relief is designed to alleviate the burden on those who have had to pay heavy medical bills. The new law allows a limited deduction for the medical care of the taxpayer, his wife and his dependents. It includes amounts paid for accident and health insurance as well as payments for doctors, dentists, nurses, hospital facilities and medical supplies.

However, only those medical expenses which exceed 5 percent of the net income of the taxpayer are deductible.

The maximum deduction allowed for medical expenses is $2,500 in the case of a head of a family or a husband and wife filing joint returns. In all other cases the top deduction is $1,250.

Another innovation is the elimination of the requirement that returns be made under oath. A simple affirmation as to correctness of the return will take the place of swearing to returns before a notary public or a similar officer.

The new law also reduces the burden somewhat on persons in the armed forces. Married soldiers and sailors in active service are allowed an exclusion from gross income of $300 and single men an exemption of $250. The exemption is limited to persons below the grade of commissioned officers.

As for the "Curds and Whey" we must warn you that the film, if we permit its production, can be exhibited nowhere on Curds and Wheyless Wednesdays.

(b) On Page 22 there is a character designated as Little Boy Blue. It will be necessary for us to know (1-b) if any significance not apparent in character's cognomen. We suggest "Little Boy Red" would be more appropriate as a subtle gesture of friendship to our Soviet allies.

(c) On Page 40, there is special emphasis on a character yclept Mother Hubbard. There is emphatic reference to the alleged fact that "her cupboard was bare." This must be eliminated because (1-c) it reflects on the efficiency of OPA rationing. Also, we demand close-ups, inch by inch, of said cupboard's wall-space to establish beyond doubt what your writers claim, i. e., that "her cupboard was bare." We suspect her of hoarding in concealed compartments. Nowhere in your script is it established that this Mother Hubbard (hereinafter we shall call her "Mother H") to save our valuable time and paper) has procured her Ration Books 1, 2, and 3. She must explain her delinquency in this matter at once to her local rationing board, and we enclose our Form X-2-B-C-2197 for her convenience. She must be prepared to state accurately her peral mileage per day, per month, per year in traveling to said "cupboard" (See HOLLYWOOD, page 7)

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Why Moguls Go Mad

By ROBBIN COONS: HOLLYWOOD—Moe, the mythical mogul, got a legendary letter from the mythical office of movie control. It said:

SIR: We have studied your script, entitled "Mother Goose," which you propose as a film production. Our conclusions follow, to wit:

(a) On Page 20 there is a character designated as Little Miss Muffet. According to your writers, this person (1-a) "sat on a Tuffet" and (2-a) ate "Curds and Whey."

Before proceeding, it will be necessary for us to know of what material said Tuffet is constructed. If of silk, or stuffed with kapok, it is forbidden as you well know by study of our Rules and Regulations, Volume 2,008, Chapter 18, Pages 276 to 420. Also, you must indicate clearly, in close-up, that said Tuffet is union-made.

As for the "Curds and Whey" we must warn you that the film, if we permit its production, can be exhibited nowhere on Curds and Wheyless Wednesdays.

The old groove, gang! . . . We're all back in it for another whirlwind semester of crammed schedules, a gay week end here and there, and more honest-to-goodness work than ever before. And with the new year comes a new hit parade of songs 'n shopping values 'n tidbits about goings on at Iowa . . . So c'mon, swing out for 'nother session of skool while the flag waves on high over Old Gold . . .

That's right, start the new year with a bit of music. . . First off, you might introduce young Mr. '43 to Mr. 5 by 5 . . . Then, too, along about Day-break you might wander down the Street of Dreams with Dearly Beloved, or some Juke Box Saturday Night it would be fun to try a fling at the Pennsylvania Polka. . . Anyway, whether you prefer your platter chatter on the smooth, soft 'er solid side 't would be a fine idea to get hep to the terrific tunes now showing at SEARS. . . For that disk player you'll find the latest by Decca, Victor and Columbia at SEARS.

From all reports, romance was running rampant over the holiday season and many a diamond and pin were presented. . . Among the few we heard of were the A T O pins Verle Flood and Dale Moritz parted company with. . . Prof. Anderson Will Present Baconian Talk

History Professor To Speak Thursday On Nineteenth Century

Prof. Troyer S. Anderson of the history department will discuss "The Nineteenth Century Revolution" in a Baconian lecture Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Historical Watershed
Taking issue with the prevailing concept that the period from 1815 to 1914 is essentially a unit, Professor Anderson will point out that there was a tremendous historical watershed about the middle of the nineteenth century. The failure to realize this fact has been partly responsible for ineptitude in handling the problems of today, he believes.

A native of Minneapolis, Minn., Professor Anderson received his bachelor of arts degree from Dartmouth college in 1922. His master's degree was taken at Howard college in 1923. He also holds B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Oxford university in England, received in 1925 and 1929.

Rhodes Scholar
He was a Rhodes scholar from New Hampshire from 1923 to 1926, in residence at New College.

In 1926 he became an instructor in history at Brown university, leaving that institution in 1928 to take an assistant professorship of history at Swarthmore college. In 1935 he became an associate professor at Swarthmore. He joined the Iowa faculty in 1942 as professor of history.

Students and townspeople are invited to attend Professor Anderson's lecture.

Jacob P. Wegmuller Receives Commission

Jacob (Jake) P. Wegmuller, for 12 years manager of the Barron Motor company at 104 S. Linn street, has been made a captain in the United States army and will leave Iowa City tomorrow to report to the proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md.

Wegmuller will head one of the recently established motor maintenance companies after undergoing preliminary training. His company will consist of 152 automobile mechanics, mainly from Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, whose task it will be to service all types of motor units with the exception of airplanes.

Mrs. Wegmuller will remain here at their home at 802 S. Summit street.

Fruit-Hungry Britons Get African Oranges

LONDON (AP) — Britons were happy today over the first "fruits of success"—oranges from north Africa.

The small quantity thus far received will go to the armed forces first at a fixed price of 15 cents a pound.

It has not yet been decided whether there will be enough additional supplies to distribute to the fruit-hungry public.

Home Economics Club To Broadcast Menus, Information on Meat

"Share the Meat for Victory" will be the title of a broadcast sponsored by Home Economics club on WSUI tomorrow afternoon at 5:30.

Designed especially to reach high school home economics clubs throughout the state, the broadcast will also be of special interest to housewives and others who must plan to adapt menus to the shortened amount of meat allotted under the rationing program.

Five members of the club, under the direction of Virginia Weaver, A3 of Tulsa, Okla., and Marjorie Ross, A4 of Shenandoah, will present a panel discussion on ways to get along on the 2 1/2 pounds allotted to each person per week and what is being done in the various housing units to adapt menus to the shortened ration.

The use of other protein substitutes for meat, such as peanuts, beans and cheese, will be discussed, as well as why meat rationing is necessary. Specific meat substitute dishes will be listed.

Members of the panel will be Margaret Wengert, A4 of Independence; Jean Springer, A4 of Princeton, Ill.; Jean Kennedy, A3 of Estherville; Beverly Burgess, A2 of Tipton, and Loanna Schnoor, A3 of Perry.

The broadcast and others sponsored by home economics clubs throughout the state helps to take the place this year of the annual convention of home economics clubs of high schools and colleges.

Receives Son's Story

Eugene McDonald, Iowa Citian, Gets Hawaiian Interview

Technical Sgt. Eugene McDonald, son of John M. McDonald, 23 W. Court street, was personally interviewed by a reporter of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and the interview was published in the Oct. 17 issue of that paper, the clipping of which was received by the boy's father last night.

McDonald is a gunner and radioman aboard a Yank Liberator which is blasting the Japs almost constantly and which is credited with the destruction of a Japanese cruiser.

Quoting in part, the article said: "Gene joined the air force in October, 1941. He joined a combat unit and now flies as a gunner and radio operator. 'I've been flying regularly now for eight months,' he says. 'And, like lots of fellows who fly, I always carry a silver dollar in my pocket for good luck.'"

"When Gene enlisted he was sent to Scott Field, Ill., to radio school. 'There we were trained to be both operators and mechanics,' he says.

"Gene says enlisted men who want to fly have to qualify by passing severe physical tests. 'We are given about the same examination as the pilots are,' he says. 'I'm glad I'm flying. I like it and wouldn't want to be in any other branch of the service.'"

IT'S A STRIKE

Ruth Franzenbur, above, treasurer of W. R. A. and head of intramural bowling, announces that bowling sessions are held every Tuesday from 4 to 5 o'clock at the Pla-Mor bowling alleys. Housing units that wish to get intramural credit for bowling are requested to get their teams practicing for the coming tournament. Special rates are extended to participants with the first line of play free.

2 Iowa Men Receive Navy Heroism Cross

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two marine corps lieutenants from Iowa have been awarded the navy cross "for extraordinary heroism" as airplane pilots in the Battle of Midway, June 4 to 6, 1942, the navy announced yesterday.

They were Second Lieutenant Thomas W. Benson, missing, whose father, Thomas Benson, lives at 1610 Green street, Boone, and First Lieutenant Orvin H. Ramlo, whose mother, Mrs. Lena Ramlo, lives in Decorah.

The citation accompanying Benson's decoration read:

"For extraordinary heroism and conspicuous devotion to duty as a pilot in marine squadron 221 in action against enemy Japanese forces during the Battle of Midway, June 4, 1942.

"Delivering a dauntless and aggressive attack against a vastly superior number of Japanese bomber and fighter planes, Second Lieutenant Benson aided in disrupting the plans of the enemy and lessening the effectiveness of their attack, thereby contributing materially to the success of our forces.

"As a result of his courageous and daring tactics and because of the circumstances attendant upon this engagement, there can be little doubt that Second Lieutenant Benson gallantly gave up his life in the service of his country. He displayed the characteristics of an excellent airman in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

The citation for Ramlo read:

"For extraordinary heroism as a pilot in a marine fighting squadron during action against enemy Japanese forces in the Battle of Midway on June 4 and 5, 1942. During the initial attack upon an enemy aircraft carrier, he, in a hail of blasting fire from Japanese fighter guns and anti-aircraft batteries, dived his plane to the perilously low altitude of 400 feet before releasing his bomb.

"His courageous determination and extreme disregard of personal safety were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

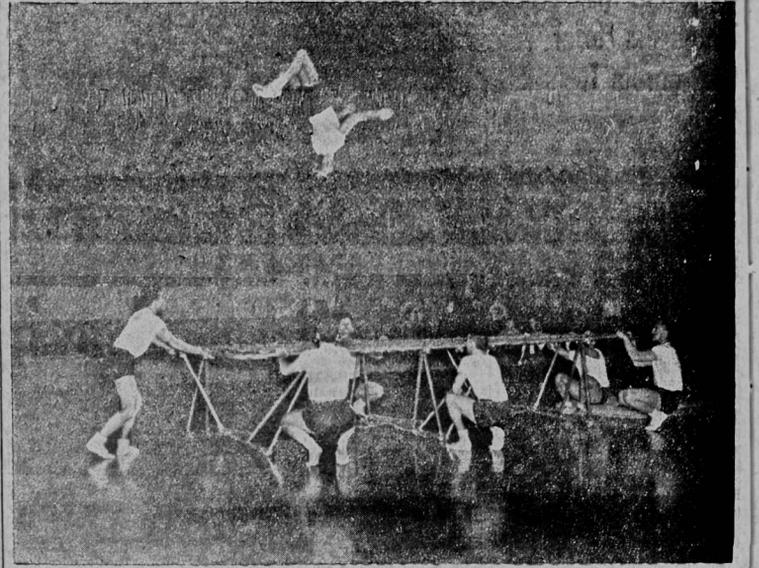

Mixers to Meet
Recipes will be exchanged at the Tuesday meeting of Modern Mixers. Mrs. Matilda Rahlf, 703 N. Dubuque, will be hostess at the 7:30 p. m. session. She will be assisted by Mrs. Rose Kehrer.

PRE-FLIGHT TUMBLER FLIES ON OWN POWER

Iowa Navy Pre-Flight tumblers provided the halftime entertainment at last night's Iowa-Minnesota basketball game in the fieldhouse. In addition to forming several pyramids, each member of the team performed individually on the sprung, elevated tumbling mat. A variety of stunts, including flips, twists, rhythmic leaps and aerial somersaults were demonstrated.

Roosevelt, Wickard To Address Farmers On Program Tuesday

All farmers are urged to tune their radios to the nation-wide farm mobilization day program that will be broadcast at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

The program will include talks by President Roosevelt, Secretary Wickard, Ambassador Litvinoff from Russia, Lord Wolton, British Minister of Foods and others.

J. C. Fuhrmeister, president of the Johnson county farm bureau, suggests that wherever possible, farm people assemble together in their local communities and listen to this broadcast and discuss their local production problems.

If the production problem is to be met, it will mean that careful plans must be made and that farmers will need to help each other even more than in the past, Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, said yesterday.

Statewide plans had originally included a suggestion that central county-wide meetings of farmers and rural and urban leaders be held on mobilization day. A committee consisting of representatives of the Johnson county extension service voted against such a central meeting for Johnson county in view of the tire and gasoline shortages, but urged farmers to listen to the broadcast in their homes.

Vespers to Replace Morning Services

Vesper services at 5 p. m. today are replacing morning church services during the month of January at the Unitarian church. This afternoon the Rev. Evans A. Warthey will speak on the subject of "Liberal Religion, An International Force."

Prof. Otto Jelinek and Evelyn Thomas will provide special music, with Prof. Henry Mattill at the organ.

Tea will be served in the Fireside room after the service. At 7 o'clock Prof. J. A. Posin of the Russian language department, will discuss "Russia: Its Past and Its Future."

Experts Prophecy Poisonous Gas Warfare as Inevitability

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military officials think it a certainty that both Germany and Japan will eventually attack with gas—perhaps in the last desperate effort to avoid defeat.

But whenever and wherever the gas attack comes, we are ready. Supplies of poison gas have gone out with all our expeditionary forces. Huge quantities are stored in England. And the axis is on warning that if it uses gas, we will retaliate in kind immediately.

The Japanese gassed Chinese troops at one stage of the war. Washington told Tokyo to stop immediately or gas would be used against Japanese troops at all points of contact. The gas attacks ended.

Early this year, Russia complained that Germany was using gas on the eastern front. A similar warning went to Berlin from London. The Russian complaints ceased.

On the basis of their records it is obvious that no moral scruple or human compunction restrains the Nazis and Japs from using gas. There is a more powerful deterrent. Neither country has the gas masks for the protection of all its troops, to say nothing of its civilian population, in the retaliatory gassing they have been told would follow.

But when the rulers of the axis see defeat ahead, not even that factor is expected to deter them.

FDR was speaking with restraint—putting his own anti-complacency rules into effect—when he said 1943 shipbuilding would run above 16,000,000 tons. Actually, it's expected to reach 18,000,000 tons—more if materials can be spared from other war production.

Radio monitors say the fall of Velikie Luki stalled the well oiled and fuelled Nazi propaganda machine completely. The day after the Russians took that highly important point, there was a news blackout in the Reich. The German press agency, DNB, which usually opens its daily broadcast with a torrent of tortured news, had only this to say: "There is nothing to report. There is no news available for the time being."

An old dispute is troubling intra-united nations diplomacy. It turns on the already settled question of which front—Europe or the Pacific—is to receive first attention.

Certain Australian officials think their area has been neglected. In their view any delay in starting offensive action there gives Japan invaluable time for consolidating her conquests and conserving her limited war resources. As a result, the Australians argue, the Pacific offensive, when it comes, will meet much greater resistance, take much longer, and prove much more costly in both lives and materials. All this is probably true. But while American war production of both ships and munitions is booming, there is still insufficient shipping to support two full scale offensives. The decision to concentrate first on Europe was made long ago and was translated into action with the African invasion. It aims at subduing Hitler in the least possible space of time, perhaps by early 1944.

That done, the massed strength of the united nations and a large percentage of their rapidly growing fleet can be concentrated against Japan.

That's the way of it. But nevertheless the Australians, with a natural concern for their own area first of all, are expected soon to ask formally for a much greater concentration of offensive strength in the south Pacific.

The delay in getting the president's budget message to congress was caused by printing difficulties, as officially explained. But the printing difficulties, it is reported, were caused by extensive last minute revision of the section on taxes.

The next big step in rationing, application of the point system to canned, dried and frozen foods, is not expected to be made effective now until March. It had been planned for February. Printing ration books and applications for them—about 60,000,000 of each—is taking more time than had been foreseen.

Times do change. It was not even amazing that congress—with the probable exception of Representative Dies—should cheer loudly at the mere mention of the name of Josef Stalin, the premier of Russia. But some could not help contrasting it with Stalin's general degree of popularity at the capitol just a little while ago.

Switzerland Protects— 26 Belligerents

—Interests in Countries

By JAMES D. WHITE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Meet Fritz, symbol of his exceptional country, Switzerland.

Fritz is working his head off taking care of citizens of countries other than his own. All over the world, Swiss businessmen like him have rushed into the breach to act as emergency consular and diplomatic authorities for people whose nations are at war.

Altogether, neutral Switzerland represents and protects the interests of 26 belligerents in 41 other warring countries, dominions, colonies, and dependencies. She acts for us in all axis countries and occupied territories.

I had known Fritz several years as a dapper, genial, manager of a Shanghai factory. His bachelor penthouse apartment was full of books in three languages—French, German and English, and there was a sprinkling of Chinese volumes. Next to his Han statuaries and Sung paintings there liked his Mongol saddle ponies and a small Austin for which he refused to get a chauffeur.

When we Americans became technical prisoners of war in Shanghai, we had that lost-sheep feeling. Thousands of miles from home, cut off from our government, our diplomats and consuls interned, we were unprotected in a Japanese military ocean.

When we heard that M. Fontanel, the Swiss consul-general, had been placed in charge of American interests, we didn't see much in it. He, was one man, with a very small staff. Besides ours he had taken over the interests of nearly 10,000 British subjects (including Indians) and 200 Dutch.

Neutrality is a state of mind as well as a political condition, and those Swiss could think and react as neutrals in at least three different languages. They come by this naturally, for Switzerland has not fought a serious war since Napoleon invaded the country, and that neutral go-between in World War I.

The background for their efficiency as neutral intermediaries goes back many years. When war breaks out, sovereigns from time immemorial have asked friendly neutral powers to look out for their interests in enemy countries. Switzerland has been obliging for centuries as wars surged across Europe.

There are less than 5,000,000 Swiss. They work for peace, but are always prepared for war. The men of this mountain-girded republic are subject to compulsory militia service from 18 to 60.

Julius Caesar noted the fighting qualities of the Helvetians, and Machiavelli centuries later called their descendants "most free and best armed." Last aggressor to invade Switzerland was Napoleon Bonaparte, who concluded: No wise man would attempt to conquer it.

The Swiss have been free and independent since the first confederation in 1291 and they mean to stay that way. Their position in the heart of Europe, a continent torn by resurgent tides of battle, has given them a consciousness of the role they can and do carry out while the rest of the world rends itself in war.

This is the story all over the world today. Practically every Swiss consulate and legation has increased its staff five-fold at least. Where the local government permits it, the Swiss accept the cooperation of the self-government association of the local "prisoner" population which is usually set up.

As one of the workers in the Shanghai American association, I was responsible first to the American chairman, then to my friend Fritz who with other Swiss went to bat for us with the Japanese on all questions where as a neutral he was qualified to plead for our interests.

This Little Girl Has Seen Too Much

She trembled on the sidewalks of Paris where she used to skip.

She's seen the strange, dreadful fear growing in her mother's eyes.

She's watched them take her father to a concentration camp—shuffling, stumbling. Her father who was always so strong and proud and full of fun!

She is only 7—but she knows what it means to lose a war!

You don't.

But you could—unless you, and I, and everybody make it our personal job to see that we win!

There is one thing we can all do. We can lend the money to pay for the guns and tanks and planes that'll win this war! Not give it, lend it—by putting it in War Bonds. And more Bonds. And still more Bonds! And the easy way to do this is join the millions who are now buying Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan.

While plenty of people on the Pay-Roll Savings Plan are setting aside more than the 10 percent Uncle Sam needs, a lot are investing less.

The fellows who aren't yet in the Plan—or, being in, haven't yet hit their 10 percent—aren't unpatriotic, or Fifth Columnists, or anything like that. They're just human. They just haven't realized their country's crying need for every cent—now! They haven't realized that Americans have been licked in battle for lack of planes, ships, tanks, and bullets—tools that the money we'd like to spend for fun has got to buy!

So, if you aren't setting aside your 10 percent, go on in and tell 'em you want to raise your sights. Not to 6 percent or 7 percent or 8 percent—but to at least 10 percent. If you can put in more than 10 percent—do it. If you aren't yet in on the Pay-Roll Savings Plan—sign up tomorrow!

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

- If you are—
1. Already setting aside 10 percent of your pay for War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan—boost that 10 percent if you can.
 2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
 3. Working in a plant where the Pay-Roll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager, and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
 4. Unable to get in on the Pay-Roll Savings Plan for any reason, go to see your local bank or other issuing agent. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

The Minnesota jinx is here again. In a nip and tuck ball game all the way the Gophers edged out Iowa's fighting Hawkeyes last night, 46-45, to give "Pops" Harrison's men their first Big Ten loss of the season. Last year the Gophers beat out Iowa on a last-second basket, 41-39. It was a see-saw game the last six minutes and it was just a question of who was ahead at the final gun.

The loss also breaks a nine game winning streak at home for the Hawks, since their last defeat was last Jan. 29. Iowa overcame a six point deficit at the start of the first half and led the rest of the period, holding a 23-18 lead at intermission. But Bernie Nelson, Gopher center started to hit long ones in the second half and ended up with 17 counters to lead the scorers.

Tom Chapman, who played a brilliant game despite the handicap of wearing a guard to protect his broken nose, led the Hawk scorers with 14 points. He was followed by Ben Trickey with 12 and Jim O'Brien with 10.

The Gophers did not waste any time after intermission to catch the Hawks and forge into the lead. At one time they commanded a six point advantage late in the second half but Iowa tied the score and it was a dog fight the remaining minutes.

O'Brien put the Hawkeyes into the lead, 41-39, with four and one-half minutes left in the game. Nelson swished a long shot to knot the count, and a few seconds later Gopher Bill Lind made a follow-up, and Trickey a push shot to tie the score at 43-43.

Kenny Exel, Minnesota guard, dropped one from far out and his teammate Louie Brewster sank a charity toss to give the Gophers a three point lead with one and one-half minutes remaining.

Tommy Thomsen, one of Iowa's two sophomore guards swished a long one with one minute remaining to put the Hawks behind, 46-45. The Hawkeyes had several hurried shots at the basket but the ball would not drop, and Minnesota captured the ball in the final seconds and froze it.

The Hawks played good ball and it was a tough one to lose. Jim O'Brien played one of his best games, showing well on defense in addition to hitting the bucket for 10 counters. Iowa used only one sub, Bob Lundstedt, and all of them fought their hearts out. Gene Nesmith played good defensive ball.

The same two teams will meet again tomorrow night to wind up the two-game series, and the Hawks will be after a .500 standing in the loop.

Wisconsin Edges Out Wildcats, 67-65, in High Scoring Game

CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Kotz, haltered most of the game by the gluey guarding of Bud Hasse, pushed in one of his famous one-handed shots in the final 30 seconds of play last night to give Wisconsin a 67 to 65 victory over Northwestern in opening the Big Ten conference basketball season before a crowd of 8,000 in Chicago stadium.

Kotz, starting his defense of the conference scoring championship, was credited with six field goals, five of them being potted in the last half after he solved the defensive web Footboller Hasse spun around him.

Scoring honors, however, were split between Wisconsin's Ray Patterson and Northwestern's little Bobby Jake—both with 19 points. Jake posted his before fouling out with eight minutes left.

The score was knotted 11 times during the furious pace and the margin of leadership was never more than four points, that advantage being hit three times in the last half.

The combined score of 132 points smashed the Big Ten record of 119 set last year during the Northwestern-Chicago game.

★ In Spring Training

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, as one fellow was saying, indoor training for the major league baseball clubs may be fine, but he wouldn't want to be within six miles of the place when the players started taking batting practice in a gymnasium or fieldhouse. The ball would start caroming off the walls and ventilators in all directions and probably would end up by conking the fellow who hit it.

And it would seem that batting practice would be the major problem in such training, at that.

Superb Condition
An athlete can get himself in superb condition indoors. He can melt away excess subt by galloping around the running track. A dirt floor can provide fielding practice, at least for ground balls.

Ohio State came back strong with two rapid-fire baskets by Wise as the second half opened to tie the score. The lead saw-sawed back and forth with neither team able to hold an advantage.

Mechanical Pitcher
We recall the first time we saw this mechanical pitcher down at St. Petersburg. It was tucked away in a corner behind the clubhouse and aimed into what seemed to be a huge fish net. It would have made the DiMaggios quite homesick.

Without fear of killing anybody as he and the bat and home plate were all alone in the cage, and his hits would swish harmlessly into the net.

The Cardinals gave their machine a pet name such as "Aunt Maud" or "Big Bertha" or something, and we understand other clubs have similar gadgets now, probably with appropriate names.

Anyway, it seems to be the solution to the batting practice problem if the weather in the north is not favorable for outdoor practice next spring.

The machine really is quite a wonder, and we understand Billy Southworth planned to start it in some early games last year, but gave up the idea when he couldn't teach it to go to its left for a bunt.

Irish Journey to Cedar Rapids Tomorrow Night to Play I.C.

Injuries Hurt Kritt's Team; Leeney Lost For Rest of Season

As St. Patrick's cagers prepared for tomorrow night's crucial battle at Cedar Rapids with the tough Immaculate Conception team, Coach Cliff Kritt announced that their reserve strength, already low because of a small squad and several injuries, received a severe blow yesterday when Gene Leeney, reserve center, was banned from the squad for the remainder of the season.

Leeney, a junior, has been seeing considerable action in recent Irish games. No reason was given for the action.

Leeney's loss, added to injuries to both co-captains, Jim Russell and Billy Connell, has necessitated several changes in the Irish personnel. Russell, who will start at forward along with Earl Murphy, may be called upon to play center.

Reserve guard Mike Montgomery is another who may see action as an understudy to Doc Connell in the pivot spot.

Billy Connell and Don "Red" Gatens will start at guards although Gatens has been working out in the front court on occasion during the recent practice sessions.

Bob Grady, forward, and Phil McLaughlin, forward and guard, are others who will see considerable action, especially if Connell and Russell's injuries limit their playing time.

The Cedar Rapids team is big and fast, one of the best in this part of the state, and their fast break attack should be potent on their home court. Included in the Greyhounds starting lineup probably will be Condon and Wilcox at forwards, Russell at center and Fee and Jennings at the guards.

This is the same team that defeated the St. Mary's of Iowa City team by a 33 to 24 count last Dec. 5.

The St. Pat's team will go into this game with a record of five victories in six starts.

Student Bowling Loop To Organize Soon

Representatives of the teams signed up for the student bowling league to be formed at Pla-Mor alleys are asked to stop at the bowling center between the hours of 1 and 7 p. m. tomorrow to decide what night the league will be held.

AIR BATTLE—

(Continued from page 1) and closed Friday's account with another eight. While the melee was going on up above, Mitchells Friday sank one transport near the Lae jetty. Subsequent flights saw the vessel roll over on its side. Later in the day, they met an attack by 15 to 20 Zeros. In 15 minutes, the Mitchells sent five Zeros crashing into the harbor and probably destroyed two others. Flying in under the fighters and bombers, Australian Beaufighters swept in low over the Lae air-drome. Their blazing guns caught four Zeros, set one aflame on the taxiway and holed others on the runway. Not to be outdone, Douglas Boston attack planes rained telling bomb blows on troops and equipment and set a 6,000-ton vessel ablaze. Kittyhawks reentered the field in the late afternoon to achieve one of the outstanding victories of the battle. Attacked by 18 Zeros which closed in from all directions, 14 Kittyhawks knocked out 13 enemy fighters for certain, one probably and two possibly. Lightnings closed the action late in the afternoon by downing 15
