RAF Conducts Round-the-Clock Aerial Assault Upon Continent, Hammers Turin, Ruhr, Spezia

LONDON (AP)—The RAF bombed the Turin royal arsenals and the Spezia naval base in Italy, German industries in the Ruhr and Nazi submarine pens at Lorient on the French coast Thursday night and bomber and fighter squadrons roared across the channel again yesterday to keep the continent under aerial assault 'round the clock.

The new target of night attack was Spezia, below Genoa on the Ligurian seashore.

All the others have been hard hit before, but it was Turin's first bombing since last December 11, when the first two-month phase of British attack on Italian industries ended.

Pilots reported the Turin defenses had been reinforced but had proved no more effective than on their previous forays across the Alps.

"The Turin defenses were badly handled," a pilot said. "There was little method in them when the attack one started."

Four-ton super-blockbusters were dropped on Turin in the heaviest of the night operations and with two-tonners and incendiaries also showered down it was the greatest of all the British attacks made there.

The docks of Lorient were set afire by pilots braving concentrations of searchlighted anti-aircraft fire around the U-boat base. The Germans apparently had rushed up new defenses.

By official account, the RAF lost only three planes out of the many spreading wide over the continent in the four separate night raids, most of them made by Britain's biggest bombers.

The Italians said the raid on Turin had caused destruction and as yet uncounted casualties. They minimized the effects of Spezia's first bombing.

The Ruhr raid was made during reconnaissance. The targets were not identified, but it was assumed that they were the beginnings of U-boat production.

A British air ministry communique said planes of the fighter and army cooperation command attacked railway and other ground targets in France and Holland in daylight yesterday, damaging several locomotives and freight trains.

U. S. air force Spitfires, operating with the RAF fighter command, attacked enemy shipping off the Dutch coast and damaged two escort vessels, the communique added. One USSAF Spitfire and one RAF fighter were reported missing.

During the day, the Germans said that yesterday's American big bomber attack on northwestern Germany—their second on the Reich proper—was a failure and that eight U. S. planes were shot down, as against the American admission of the loss of five.

American pilots, however, told of desperate German efforts to cope with the self-protecting four-engine U. S. bombers, declaring that the Nazis threw many types of planes against them yesterday including fast two-engine bombers which tried—but failed to bomb them out of the air from above.

German General Killed On Middle Don Front

NEW YORK (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Arno Jahr, commander of a German infantry division, has been killed on the middle Don front, the Berlin radio said last night.

The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, said Jahr had been decorated recently with the knights cross of the iron cross "for his audacious counterattacks on the Don."

House Military Committee to Block Program—New Manpower Plan Encounters Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Manpower commission's plan to draft fathers of families unless they switch from "non-essential" jobs to more essential occupations encountered strenuous opposition yesterday in the house, where members of the military committee moved to block the program.

Chairman May (D., Ky.) announced that hearings are scheduled for next week on a bill by Rep. Kilday (D., Tex.) to give deferment priorities to men with dependents and to put draft quotas on a state basis. Under this procedure, all eligible men in a state who are without dependents would have to be drafted before heads of families could be called.

Prime Minister Visits in Tripoli
Wants to Personally Thank British Eighth Army, Allied Airforce

TRIPOLI, Feb. 3 (Delayed AP)—Prime Minister Churchill came to Tripoli today to thank the British eighth army and allied air force personally for their magnificent feat in driving Marshal Erwin Rommel's axis army from Egypt and Libya.

It was a triumphant moment for the doughty prime minister who has turned up at odd moments and places in the past few weeks on a spectacular tour which has included a meeting with President Roosevelt in Casablanca, a conference with Turkish President Ismet Inonu at Adana and a review of troops at Cyprus.

"The occupation of Tripolitania has altered the whole character of the war," he told Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, their staff officers and thousands of troops gathered at Montgomery's headquarters near here.

There was a roar of applause from the men who were led by Montgomery in three cheers for the prime minister.

Churchill's arrival from Cairo was dramatic and exciting. He was flown across the route of Rommel's retreat and saw for himself the story of the British victory in wrecked German and Italian planes, tanks, trucks and guns still littering the sands across a 1,000 miles of wasteland.

When he arrived at Montgomery's camouflaged trailer headquarters Churchill was smoking a cigar. Hundreds of army and air force officers and men gathered on the grassy slopes of a hill. There were many sentries about and crews manning anti-aircraft guns.

It was there that the prime minister thanked the forces on behalf of his majesty's government for their accomplishment.

American Fliers Bag 26 Craft in Brilliant Tunisian Aerial Battle

U. S. Armored Forces At Sened Retire After Accomplishing Mission

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—A brilliant aerial victory in which American airmen destroyed 26 axis planes and damaged 26 others, with a loss of ten allied craft, was announced yesterday while land action remained minor and the British Eighth army probed Field Marshal Rommel's defenses along the southern Tunisian frontier.

Withdraw From Sened

A headquarters spokesman announced that U. S. armored forces had withdrawn from the Sened railway station in central Tunisia, 65 miles northwest of the axis-held port of Gabes, after "accomplishing the purpose of their mission." The allied communique itself did not mention the action, simply reporting:

"There was no change in the ground situation."

It was the air on which attention was focussed.

Flying Forts Active

Twenty-four of the 26 axis planes shot down—this was Thursday in fights resulting from American raids on German airdromes and auxiliary fields in the Gabes area—were torn apart by two formations of Flying Fortresses in a 50-mile running combat which cost but a single Fortress. The 25th axis plane was downed by American Lightning fighters; the 26th was destroyed in attempting to sweep in over the allied forward area.

In the great combat over the Gabes area four Lightnings were lost, aside from the single Fortress. Five other allied fighters were lost in other operations.

Italian Shake-Up Follows Major Axis Reverses in Russia, Africa

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Mussolini of Italy in a thorough house-cleaning following the loss of Italy's African empire and axis reverses in Russia, yesterday ousted his foreign minister son-in-law, Count Galeazzo, who had held the post since 1936 and at one time was considered Mussolini's successor as head of Fascist Italy.

Mussolini himself took over the foreign ministry, said a Rome radio broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, and Ciano was given only an empty honorary position in the Fascist grand council.

Il Duce already held the war, navy, air and interior portfolios, and on Jan. 31 had dismissed Marshall Ugo Cavallero as chief of the Italian general staff, appointing in his place Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, head of the Italian army staff.

A London dispatch earlier quoted information reaching allied quarters that Crown Prince Umberto of Italy had been appointed commander of all remaining Italian divisions in Russia. Some observers said that might be a move by Mussolini to remove the prince lest he become a focal point for a political upheaval in Italy where the people are reported weary of the war.

Only three persons in Italy's cabinet were not affected by the shakeup, among them Maj.-Gen. Alessandro Lessona and Gen. Attilio Teruzzi, respectively, minister of colonies and Italian Africa. These posts don't mean much any more now that the British armies have conquered Italy's African empire.

The third unaffected was Carlo Pareschi, agriculture minister.

Ciano was given a three-year membership in the Fascist grand council, a post that obviously doesn't mean much since he automatically held a seat in that body before foreign minister. These "extraordinary" memberships generally are given to "persons who have deserved well of the nation and of the cause of the Fascist revolution."

Yanks at Guadalcanal Make Big Land Gains

'Sporadic Encounters' Reported in Crucial Pacific Sea-Air Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—American troops on Guadalcanal made another important advance into enemy-held territory, the navy reported yesterday, as warplanes and ships slugged at each other over a wide area in the eighth day of a crucial struggle for control of the Solomon Islands.

The navy maintained its silence about developments in the sea-air fighting and its communique said only that "sporadic encounters" were continuing. This was said to mean that American and Japanese naval task forces, strongly supported by land-based planes, were still striking at each other in a number of separate actions.

Large forces were involved. Dispatches from Guadalcanal said aerial reconnaissance had shown between 30 and 40 Jap ships, including many warships, in harbor at Shortland island Monday.

Another dispatch described a new type of night attack by two waves of 12 Mitsubishi twin-engine torpedo planes against a United States task force 35 miles south of Guadalcanal last Friday.

The enemy dropped float lights on the water and then marker flares which hung suspended in the air for several minutes. Gunners on the ships had difficulty in picking out the torpedo planes as they came in low, although the planes' exhausts helped locate them and at least 17 were destroyed.

In connection with Japanese attempts to land reinforcements and supplies, the advance reported yesterday assumed notable significance.

Task Force Nets 17 Jap Mitsubishi

ADVANCE BASE, South Pacific (AP)—The Japs lost at least 17 Mitsubishi twin-engine torpedo planes in a spectacular night torpedo plane attack on a U. S. task force a week ago last night, 35 miles south of Guadalcanal in the Solomons.

In Dollars and Cents—A. Hitler --Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adolf Hitler's lust for conquest has already cost the world more than $400,000,000,000, the commerce department estimated today, and the cost may exceed $500,000,000,000 if the fuhrer is not brought to his knees for another year.

Basis for Estimate

The department based its estimate of the staggering financial toll of Hitlerism on known and estimated military expenditures to date of Germany and her victims and the nations allied against her, and the loss in national income to the axis-conquered lands.

While most of the financial burden has fallen on the nations opposed to the axis, "the cost of Hitler has been shared by the Germans themselves and, more particularly, by the Italians," the department reported in its weekly publication, Foreign Commerce Weekly.

German military expenditures since Hitler came to power were estimated in excess of 100,000,000,000, while Italy was said to have spent about $8,000,000,000 "since the date, June 1940, of her deluded entry on the side of the Nazis."

U. S. Well Ahead

While a late entrant into the war against Nazism, the United States has already spent more than any other power fighting Germany, the article continued.

Taking only expenditures already used or appropriated for military purposes during the last three years, the cost of Hitlerism to the United States so far was placed at $112,300,000,000.

Expenditures by the United Kingdom since the rise of Hitlerism were estimated at $58,200,000,000 and of Russia at $96,000,000,000.

In addition, the article estimated the loss in national income in axis conquered lands at more than $100,000,000,000.

Lieut. Gen. Andrews To Head U. S. Forces In European Theater

LONDON (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, advocate of repeated use of the heavy bomber, succeeded Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday as commander of the U. S. forces in the European theater and pledged an immediate intensification of the aerial onslaught on Germany.

"We intend to go all out in intensifying the air warfare," the 60-year-old flying Tennessean declared. "My first job is to increase and intensify the bombing of the enemy."

Gen. Eisenhower now is allied commander in north Africa.

Andrews said he would build up U. S. air forces in Britain in order to increase the aerial offensive against Germany. He said there would be no immediate night bombing of Germany by his forces, since big Flying Fortresses and Liberators are better adapted to precision daylight attacks.

This is his third and most important command since he left the U. S. army's general headquarters air force, which he had organized and commanded.

NO LONGER TO SAIL FOR ITALY

Wounded and captured, this Italian sailor is lifted ashore on a stretcher at Valetta, Malta, the British Mediterranean base, after he had been picked up by a British destroyer from the water. His ship was sunk while attempting to carry supplies to the trapped axis forces in north Africa. Allied planes, ships and submarines have made hazardous this supply route by sea and now the axis is sending men and supplies by plane.

United States marines paid a price for their gains on Guadalcanal island, but the buddies of those who died have made the Japs repay, and with interest. ## Thanks F.R. for Congratulations On Soviet Seizure of Stalingrad

Russian Army Continues to Make New Sweeping Gains Along 1941 German Defense Line; Column Within 22 Miles of Kursk

LONDON, Saturday (AP)—Premier Joseph Stalin has sent a message to President Roosevelt expressing his conviction that "joint military operations of the armed forces of the United States of America, Great Britain, and the U. S. S. R., in the near future will bring about victory over our common enemy," a Moscow dispatch said early today.

This message, which replied to Roosevelt's congratulations on the Russian victory at Stalingrad, was disclosed as two Russian communiques recorded by the Soviet monitor here continued to tell of sweeping Red army gains all along the 1941 German defense line in Russia.

The Red army was reported within 22 miles of Kursk, 45 miles from Belgorod, and only 50 miles from Kharkov. These are the three main German positions in southern Russia aside from Rostov, Caucasian gateway city which already is menaced directly by Soviet troops who cracked the first line of German defenses about 30 miles to the southeast.

The midnight bulletin said the Russians south of Rostov still were advancing, and a Reuters Stockholm report said that Bataisk, 10 miles south of the key city, had fallen.

Stalin's message to President Roosevelt as reported by Reuters said:

"To Franklin Roosevelt, commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the U. S. A.:

"I thank you for your congratulations in connection with the victory of the Soviet forces at Stalingrad.

"I express my conviction that joint military operations of the armed forces of the U. S. A., Great Britain and the U. S. S. R. in the near future will bring about victory over our common enemy.

"Stalin."

A special Russian communique earlier had announced the capture of Stary Oskol, an important railway town 75 miles southeast of Kursk, and Izium, another railway point in the Ukraine 70 miles southeast of Kharkov.

But the midnight bulletin also said that southwest of Stary Oskol, whose axis garrison was wiped out, or taken prisoner, the Red army had swept on to take Skodorodny, only 45 miles northeast of Belgorod. This town is about mid-way between Kursk and Kharkov.

In the Ukraine the Russians were said to have captured Olkhovatska, a district center 58 miles from Kharkov, and Veliki-Buruk, another district center only 50 miles from Kharkov.

Yama, in the Ukraine, another railway point on the Kharkov-Voroshilovgrad line, was seized by the advancing Russians. This town is 15 miles southeast of Krasny Liman.

Hopes for the 'New Iowa'

One of the most ironic sidelights to the war as it affects the university is being brought out by the relatively large number of appointments and commissions which have come to faculty members. In fact, the faculty seems to be participating in this war almost more than the students.

Most people have thought of university professors as men who sat tight at their posts during an upheaval such as the present one, and tried to solve problems of the world with which they had no first hand experience. This time, however, it is different to a great degree. Many Iowa instructors—those who are physically able—have already put their brains to work for America and are holding important positions either with government agencies or the armed forces.

This is certainly just as it should be, for those men who have left are serving a two-fold purpose: the country now, and the university later. They will be fresh and full of new ideas upon returning and so should do much to banish the great evil of any university, static education.

All educational institutions have suffered from lack of intellectual progress, have failed to see new trends or even kept up with the old. They have been content to tread water and take a conservative outlook when just the opposite view was needed. Because many of the instructors in our universities have been out of contact with actual, everyday problems of the world for the last ten years or longer they have become stagnant.

But, by employing the same teaching methods year after year, by grappling with out-of-date problems, how can any university hope to keep its students well informed and aware of changes that are taking place the world over?

The answer is that it can't, for no university can be any more advanced than the instructors who teach there.

Consequently, the best thing that can happen to an institution such as Iowa is just what is happening today; namely, "upheaval." Due to the turnover in personnel, this university has entered a "plastic" stage and can turn one way or the other when the war is over and it starts to rebuild.

Men like Paul Packer, George Haskell, Ethan Allen, Mason Ladd, Allen Tester—only to mention a few—men who have seen the world's problems and then return here to teach will form the backbone of this university after the war. It is gratifying to think of what the "new Iowa" child, should, and will—if the university follows the most desirable path—be like.

February to February—

Remember what some of the big war questions were just one year ago? Pearl Harbor . . . Dakar . . . Aleutians . . . The French Fleet . . .

Last year, as the initial shock of Pearl Harbor gradually became a grim reality and the American people were feeling the first pinches of wartime existence, the United States and the allied nations of the world took stock of their assets and found them entirely lacking.

Last February they saw (1) Axis-dominated Dakar threatened still-neutral South America; (2) North Africa controlled by axis with the British in retreat toward Egypt; (3) The French fleet in Vichy hands, a potential threat to the allies; (4) First A. E. F.'s reached northern Ireland and Australian bases; (5) Soviets in winter drive gained ground, but didn't smash Nazis; (6) Japs held Burma and menaced India, which was torn by dissension; (7) Japs pushed drive through southwest Pacific, seized Solomons; (8) Pearl Harbor virtually defenseless after Jap attack with the United States fleet badly crippled; (9) Isolated Alaskan outposts being fortified in race with time.

That was the picture of a year ago—one of gloom and despair. The United States and the allies were low in men and materiel, badly crippled by invasion attempts and meeting only defeat on the world battlefields. We were on the spot, and the enemy was ready and willing. We were neither.

But that was last February! Since then American war industries have taken hold. Planes, tanks and guns are being turned out in mass production. Hundreds of thousands of men are being trained in army, navy, coast guard and marine bases—eager to get in the fight. Our troops abroad are increasing daily and their stamina and endurance cannot be surpassed. Today we are ready, and plenty willing!

But compare what we have done in the past year, compare those same nine focal points of military prowess. Today the war pattern is changed and different. (1) Twenty American nations have broken with the axis; Dakar in allied hands; (2) United States holds French north Africa, and the under-side of axis threatened; (3) Nazis take unoccupied France; French fleet scuttled at Toulon; (4) More than one million U.S. troops are stationed at 65 foreign posts; (5) Mighty Soviet drive wipes out big axis army; sieges of Leningrad and Stalingrad lifted; (6) British invade Burma; India has become a vast allied depot-fortress; (7) Land, naval forces roll back Jap spearhead in south Pacific; (8) Hawaii strengthened and navy beats Japs in major tests; (9) Nipponese hold tip of Aleutians; Alcan supply highway is built.

These are the conquests of the allied nations, the dangers lessened by our fighting men, the territorial accomplishments of the democracies. And, indeed, the picture is far brighter than in February, 1942.

Interpreting The War News

The 'Fox's' Best Bet Is a Further Tunisian Retreat

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Subsiding rains in Tunisia make it possible that late February will see the first crucial fight for that meagre Nazi hold on the south shore of the Mediterranean but the theater of action is not yet clearly defined.

Its locale depends on many factors. Among them is the real purpose of Rommel's flight from Egypt, Libya and Tripolitania.

1,200 Mile Flight
He has fled more than 1,200 miles, abandoning without a stand one strong defensive position after another to gain the shelter of the French-built Mareth defense line in southern Tunisia. What is left of his veteran corps of desert fighters now appears huddling there but whether he intends to stand there is questionable.

There is no very authoritative information as to the numerical strength or battle equipment still available to Rommel. Most military observers seem agreed that, even allowing for reinforcements poured across the Mediterranean, the aggregate axis strength in all Tunisia probably is less than 200,000 fighting men.

Impossible Task
If that is true, and if Rommel is in fact preparing to make his first stand since El Alamein on the Mareth line, he and his colleague axis commander in the north, Von Arnim, are taking on a seemingly impossible task.

Faced by vastly superior allied strength, they are proposing to attempt defense of a Tunisian coastal strip roughly 250 miles wide and averaging 50 miles wide. The advantages of defensive terrain, of short interior communications, of less than overnight sea passage between the Italian coast and Tunisia as well as air routes covered in minutes rather than hours is all with the axis.

Big Problem
Nevertheless, the problem of holding so large a sector of Tunisia, certainly vulnerable at many points on its inshore flank, with far inferior numbers is obviously extreme. The desperate Nazi fight to hold open or even enlarge the escape corridor northward menaced by probing French and American as well as British jabs points more toward a further Rommel retreat than to stage setting for a decisive battle on the Mareth positions. He has more to gain by retreat than by a stand. Weeks, even days, should serve to disclose his intentions.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Hollywood Prepared For Unsliced Era

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Dawn of the great unsliced era, I am unhappy to report, seems to have found Hollywood prepared. It looks as if all Hays' chillun got bread-knives.

The canvass is not complete, but first results of my galloping poll indicate that bread-knive film families far outnumber the bread-knives.

Walter Huston, Vera Vague, Ann Harding, Olivia De Havilland and many others all knew definitely they were equipped, and only Richard Travis, the pride of Paragould, Ark., confessed knifelessness—he being a new bridegroom and not yet set up for housekeeping.

Miss De Havilland, who hadn't been reading the papers and didn't know that bakery-sliced bread was a war casualty, was delighted to hear it. She said firmly that steps should have been taken long ago because bread was always sliced too thick and it was a bout time the government stepped in, so there.

Anyway, Hollywood can still slice bread as thin as it pleases. So I'm chagrined—because my theory, based on years of observation, is that there is a direct relation between thin-sliced bread and wallpaper-climbing at movie cocktail parties.

Cocktail parties are rare nowadays, but the hors d'oeuvre tray—with thin-sliced bread as its soul and foundation—is still with them when they happen. The tray slithers by the hapless guest, whose 5 p. m. appetite is already whetted by a sip of martini, and it dares him in the name of Emily Post to take more than one of its minute adornments.

These are usually damp, water-thin, party-shaped dabs of bread buried under mounds of anonymous goo, the taste of which demands two quick cocktails to obliterate same. By this time the victim is ravenous, and starts slithering—he hopes inconspicuously—after the slithering tray in hopes of better luck.

In the old days he could settle on a fraction of deviled egg with some confidence, but nowadays he hunts in darkness. So he draws an anchovy tidbit, he thinks, but it is really a string of spiny, salted leather curled up coyly on a bed of glue atop a heart-shaped wafer of wet dough. He runs choking for another washer-downer, and so on, and on—and after a while he thinks he is Louis B. Mayer and starts handing out M-G-M contracts.

My notebook is full of such sad case-histories. Mr. X, for one, had got muscle-bound springing after the non-stop tray, fantastically determined to consume the equivalent of one man-sized sandwich. And Mr. A, who fell flat on his face after two hours' entirely, I was told, from frustrated hunger. And poor Mr. B, who developed arms like Atlas from ceaseless reaching after trays, and would have been a fine physical specimen except that his liver dissolved in the down-saw. All because of thin-sliced bread!

But Hollywood is well-learned, and science must wait. And another bitter thought: No matter how thin they slice it, it's still, alas, not bologna.

Turkey: The Unknown Quantity—

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

She Could Be Of Great Aid to Us

WASHINGTON—The surprise Churchill visit to Turkey has inspired some hope that Ankara will immediately fling her army in on our side and attack the Nazis in Bulgaria and Greece.

We could furnish the planes, and also formidable forces now in Syria and Trans-Jordan.

Eventual fulfillment of this delightful prospect is certain, but how soon it will come is something for Hitler to guess. If it were imminent, Churchill might not have gone to Turkey and brought the international spotlight that always follows him.

Turks Friendly

The Turks have been very friendly with our cause, especially since the recent accumulation of Russian victories, but they are still trading with Hitler, furnishing nickel and some other war materials. There are many things they can do short of war, and they were no doubt the most immediate subjects of the Churchill talks.

The harassed Herr Hitler, now running around Europe trying to plug rat-holes enlarging before him on all sides, recently has augmented the size of his forces in Greece and Rumania as a necessary precaution against Turkey. The Churchill visit should at least pin these forces there permanently, and call for more if Hitler has them.

When we first went into Africa, Hitler concentrated planes in Crete, threatening invasion of the near East, but his forces on that ground are not now sufficient to warrant any fears on our part.

Rommel Will Probably Continue Withdrawal—

General Rommel has been brandishing armor on the Mareth line as if he intended to hold it at all costs. Do not let yourself be surprised if he withdraws as he did from his last three defensive positions, and seeks shelter closer to the larger Nazi forces in north Tunisia.

Rommel probably has only about 50,000 troops left, two-thirds of the strength generally attributed to him. The north Tunisian Nazis had 75,000 until this week, when Hitler started air-ferrying reinforcements in fast.

These two Nazi African armies are probably not strong enough to maintain the long line of more than 200 miles from Bizerte to Mareth. Furthermore, as long as Rommel is in the Mareth line, his rear is exposed to a drive by our armies, which would cut him off completely from his northward line of supplies and cause him to be surrounded in the desert.

May Withdraw

The ex-hero of Berlin may therefore withdraw from the "little Maginot" position and continue his flight northward to establish a defensive position around Stax, or even closer to Tunis.

The confused Tunisian situation is, therefore, not considered as dangerous for us, as you may have thought. The maps suggest our southern flank is hanging in the air in the desert, exposed to attack by Rommel, but his weary army is hardly fit for such an operation now.

Red Attack Has Slowed—

Glib Russian communiques the last few days barely conceal the fact that the Red attack has slowed down.

Hitler has thrown reserves into the actions south of Rostov in order to rescue his armies from that pocket. At Leningrad also, the Russians were unable immediately to exploit the breach they made in the Nazi lines when they raised the siege. They control the railroad running into the city, but succeeded only in occupying a small patch of territory.

About three weeks ago, the Red army drive similarly slowed down, then gathered strength to go on to unexpected victories. Stalin may have enough left to muster relentless pressure again.

Must Make Repairs

Then, too, these drives must pause once in a while to mend railroads, repair airfields, bridges and roads, and re-establish communications to supply bases in the rear.

Final annihilation of the Nazi army in front of Stalingrad has helped the Red army immeasurably. The lost Nazi army there, at the edge of the city, lay astride an important railroad line, and thus denied the Reds a main artery of supplies for their drive up to now.

MacArthur May Have to Do Some Selling—

General MacArthur's plan of an air conquest of the Pacific, airport by airport instead of island by island, has brought no noticeable reaction around here—which is only to be expected. If he is to get the planes for such an attack, the decision would not be advertised. The same silence would envelop a contrary decision.

Observers Don't Understand

Many military observers do not understand precisely what MacArthur means. If he only wants enough bombers to keep pasting Babaul and other Japanese bases into rotten-ripeness for seaborne invasion, he will certainly have them.

But, if he wants enough to conquer airfields by airfield back to the Philippines or over Java, he may have to do some selling here.

T.V.A. Jobs Women Needed For Clerical Work

Women interested in employment with the Tennessee Valley authority are asked to call at the education placement office, room C103 East hall, to arrange to take the qualifying examinations to be given Monday afternoon. The available employment includes typing, stenography, accounting, and other clerical fields.

Entrance salaries for a 40-hour work week are usually $1,320 or $1,440 a year, based upon the duties and responsibilities assigned. At the present time, TVA is operating on a 48-hour work week basis. Overtime compensation was authorized by a recent congressional resolution and brings the above salaries to $1,606 and $1,752.

Under the salary policy, the basic entrance rates of $1,320 and $1,440-hour week are increased to $1,440 and $1,620 immediately following one year of satisfactory service. Overtime compensation for a 48-hour work week increases these rates proportionately. The usual leave privilege of 26 days a year applies to employees of TVA.

Applicants for typing positions are eligible for consideration when they achieve satisfactory results on the 10-minute typing test. The minimum requirement is a net speed of 43 words a minute.

Applicants for junior stenographic positions must make satisfactory scores on both the typing and shorthand test. The shorthand test is dictated at 100 words a minute for three minutes and is graded on the basis of speed and accuracy of transcription.

Educational motion pictures made under Cochran's supervision are making a definite contribution to the war effort. "We shall miss Mr. Cochran," said Mahan, "but shall close ranks and carry on until he returns at the end of the war."

Women's Choir Will Appear Wednesday At Concert With Symphony Orchestra

The University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, will present the first concert of the new Wednesday evening in Iowa Union at 8 o'clock. A women's choir trained by Prof. Herald Stark will make its first appearance with the orchestra.

Three highly impressionistic compositions by Claude Achille Debussy which were written as a set will be featured numbers. The first two, which include "Cloude" and "Festivals," are very frequently given. The third, "Sirens," is seldom given, as it calls for, in addition to an orchestra, a small chorus of 16 voices representing sirens and their song. Special preparation has been made, and the siren voices will be taken by eight sopranos and eight mezzo-sopranos.

"Variations on a theme by Haydn," opus 56a by Johannes Brahms will be the first number played by the symphony orchestra. Brahms' "Variations" was conceived in two-fold form, for orchestra and also as a duet for two pianos, neither version being properly described as an arrangement of the other.

The theme is taken from a divertimento for wind instruments by Haydn which is still in manuscript form today. Chronologically "Variations" precedes the composition of the "German Requiem," which was performed here last summer by the university summer session chorus and symphony orchestra.

Christian Sinding's "Symphony in D minor," opus 21, is the remaining score to be played. Sinding, who will be remembered as the composer of "Rustle of Spring," is comparatively unfamiliar to the public in the field of symphonic literature. A very talented pianist, he has written much for his own instrument as well as for stringed instruments.

The D minor symphony is characterized by full, sonorous orchestration, with considerably more attention given to the brass and woodwinds than usual. Sinding handles his thematic material with facility and variety. His use of folk-like melodies, the singable quality of his themes and the forcefulness of his climaxes have caused some listeners to compare him to Tschalkowsky.

The eight sopranos in the women's choir include: Joan Joehnk, A4 of Iowa City; Helen Latch, A3 of Renwick; Mary Phillips, A3 of Lynchburg, Va.; Hope Peck, A4 of Marquette; Phyllis Myers, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Virginia Swanson, G of Ft. Dodge; Elizabeth Freerksen, A4 of Kanawha, and Gladys Noteboom, A2 of Orange City.

* Semi-Pro Baseball * Has Plenty of Men * But Short on Balls

NEW YORK (AP)—Periodically our effervescent friend, Ray Dumont, sends us publicity yarns concerning his robust brain-child, the national semi-pro baseball congress.

They always are bubbling with optimism, and list latest bubbles more emphatically than usual. He sees in the decrease of professional league plays a silver lining for the sandlot game. Not that he gloats over the trials of organized ball, he regrets the situation as much as the next man. But it is his fault if the circumstance works out to the advantage of his sandlot offspring?

And as balm to the organized ball sponsors, he sees the sandlots developing more candidates for the organized ranks, when baseball again is able to assume its place in the minor league field, than would be developed were the leagues still operating.

He says a survey of industrial baseball prospects indicates the number of factory baseball clubs throughout the nation will be doubled this year, mostly due to the fact that hundreds of former minor league players are scattered about in such plants producing Uncle Sam's war materials. These boys will want to play baseball, he logically reasons, and there will be an incentive for a team in practically every plant where a former professional player is working.

In the past decade, he says, shortage of baseball talent caused many plants to quit baseball. The war has changed that, he insists. Viewed from Dumont's angle, the outlook for the sandlotters does seem bright, at that. The factory teams as a rule do not have to rely on attendance to keep operating, as many firms foot the bills for the clubs. And with plenty of defense workers with the baseball itch anxious to get their recreation on the diamond the setup seems perfect.

Offhand, there would seem to be just one gremlin messing up the picture, but this one mischievous little pest could wreck the whole setup.

You know the story of the golf fanatic who dreamed he died and went to heaven, and there discovered the most beautiful course imaginable. There was a fine set of clubs waiting for him, a perfect caddy, the weather was just right and there were three congenial playing partners.

He walked buoyantly to the first tee, and asked the caddy for a ball.

"No golf balls," said the caddy, and the gent began to suspect he wasn't in heaven after all.

West Liberty Topples Bluehawk Five, 29-28

Heath Tallies Basket In Closing Seconds To Clinch Thriller

By JACK SCHODER

With a second and one half to play and U-high leading 28-27, Leroy Heath, West Liberty guard, grabbed the ball and dribbled under the basket to sink the final two points and clinch a thrilling 29-28 victory for the Comets on the Blues' court last night.

This was the first loss for the Bluehawks and put them in a tie with West Branch in Eastern Iowa conference play. West Liberty has lost two games, one being to the Blues earlier in the season.

Chick Wiese led the scoring for the evening garnering 15 points from his forward position. The flashy Comet tallied 10 points in the first half. Capt. Jack Shay and Don Wagner led the Bluehawks with eight points apiece.

It was a close ball game all the way with U-high grabbing a 9-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. Shay sank the scoring bucket for the Blues as the scoring began to pick up at the close of the first stanza.

During the second period the Comets surged ahead, mostly because of the fine basket shooting of Wiese. The score read 18-16 at the end of the half.

At the outset of the second half the West Liberty quintet began to find the range and the Blues were baffled by the strong defense thrown up by the invaders. Six minutes had elapsed before Coach Alley's five entered the scoring column, with Bud Halvorsen sinking a long shot.

The fourth quarter was a thrill-packed period with both teams playing hard. The Blues went into the lead with a basket by Ed Smith and began to stall until Heath sank his only bucket of the game.

The five starters for U-high played the entire contest and began to tire in the final stages. Bud Halvorsen played a fine floor game and sank three baskets as well.

Indiana, Illinois Face Second Division Clubs In Conference Play

By JOHN GRAHAM

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten's two undefeated basketball teams will meet—they hope—on second division quintets this weekend, as heavy competition resumes after the between-semester lull.

Indiana, pacing the pack with six straight triumphs, will be at home to Michigan, which is tied for seventh place, in games today and Monday, while Illinois, victor in five straight, will be at Ohio State, whose Buckeyes are in sixth place, in another "weekend double-header."

Hawklets Lose In Final Half

By JOHN GRAHAM

Daily Iowan Sports Reporter

After leading all the way up until the closing minutes, City high cagers lost a heartbreaker to the Clinton quintet, 31 to 30, last night on the floor of the River Kings. The Hawklets held a 26 to 19 advantage at one time during the fourth quarter, but relinquished their lead when the Clinton offense started rolling.

Dave Danner held the evening's high scoring honors with six field goals and a free throw for a total of 13 points. Hansen and Robinson, ace Clinton forwards, were outstanding for the River Kings, although they scored only six and five points respectively toward the winning margin.

City high grabbed the lead early in the game to lead 8 to 5 at the end of the first quarter, but Clinton slowly found the range in the second quarter to pull up within one point of the Hawklet margin. As the City high fast break slowed down in the fourth stanza, the River Kings gradually pulled past their rivals to win by a one point verdict.

St. Mary's Ramblers Tip St. Joseph's Five By 54 to 28 Margin

Outcome of Contest Never in Doubt As Sweeney, Smith Star

By GENE DORR

Daily Iowan Sports Writer

The fast break of the St. Mary's Ramblers clicked to perfection last night as they crushed a hapless St. Joseph quintet, 54 to 28, on the foreign hardwood. The contest was never in doubt from the opening play until the final basket, as Bill Sweeney and Melvin Smith registered 14 points apiece to lead in the scoring drive.

St. Joseph's ace forward, Craig, looked best for the Illinois cagers, pouring in four field goals and a charity toss for a total of nine points. Co-captain George Seemuth of the Marians accredited himself with 11 points toward the Rambler victory on four field swishes and three free throws to run third in the scoring.

Sweeney, Seemuth and Smith played brilliant offensive ball, shooting fast and accurate on the large court. Don Brogla starred in the defensive part of the battle, playing a cool and steady game from the guard position for the Ramblers.

President Roosevelt Withholds Information On Future of Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt withheld any definitive answer yesterday to press conference queries as to the future of professional baseball in the light of the War Manpower Commission's Still treating the subject lightly, the president said a minor league man had written him saying he could not keep his team going. The writer recommended that baseball be confined in the future to major leagues only.

Still smiling, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that since he did not know anything about the matter he had referred it to his secretaries.

warm-up game starting at 6:30 p. m.

Iowa's thinclads open their '43 indoor track season this afternoon at 3:30 when they compete in a triangular meet against Wisconsin and the Seahawks.

The other veterans are Ken Steinbeck in the pole vault and Carl Schnoor in the two mile run. Schnoor just reported to the team and may not be in top shape for this meet.

The Badgers have a fairly strong outfit, led by two conference champions. Capt. Bob Beierle is both indoor and outdoor shot put champ and Bob Hodgell won the indoor high jump last year. The Seahawks are reported to be strongest in the 60-yard dash and the broad jump.

Iowa's entries include:
60-yard dash—Lee Farmer, Hubert Cline, Robert Bowles and Richard McCarthy.
One-mile run—John McCollister, Carl Schnoor and McCarthy.

Zivic Loses Close Fight to Beau Jack

NEW YORK (AP)—A body punch that apparently only the referee thought was a foul gave Beau Jack a 10-round decision over Fritz Zivic last night and churned up one of the wildest demonstrations seen in Madison Square garden in years. Jack weighed 137 lb.; Zivic, 145 lb.

The blow came in the eighth round of a roaring, rip-tearing brawl, and when Referee Young Otto called it "low" and penalized the veteran Pittsburgh war-horse with the loss of the round, the roar of boos that rolled down from a close-to-capacity house lasted well into the ninth round. Newspapers

Robinson Loses First Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Rugged Jacobs La Motta, belting his foe through the ropes for a nine-count in the eighth round, handed Ray (Seguar) Robinson his first defeat in 130 fights by scoring a 10-round decision last night before a record crowd of 18,930 spectators at Olympia stadium. Both are New Yorkers.

Men Overseas Will Receive Sports News

Sports news-hungry service men in all sections of the world will get information prepared by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau and the University of Iowa will contribute its share.

Former Black Shirt Commander Reported Sent to Washington

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Gen. Annibale (Electric Whiskers) Bergonzoli, former Italian shirt corps commander who was captured by the British in Libya in 1941, was reported last night to have been sent to Washington as a prisoner of war.

A dispatch from Cannobbio, Italy, to Il Popolo D'Italia reported that the Italian Red Cross had notified Clotilde Bergonzoli, sister of the picturesque little general, that he had been sent to Washington recently.

In Washington, the provost Marshal general's office declined to make any comment on General Bergonzoli or his whereabouts.

The general was dubbed "Electric Whiskers" by the British, who were impressed with his bristling beard and handlebar mustache.

The last previous account of Bergonzoli's whereabouts came on Oct. 23, 1942, when he was reported among 52 Italian generals being held at a war prison camp in northern India.

“Fight! Work! and SAVE!”

A War Message on WAR BONDS from the President of the United States

“... The American people know that if we would raise the billions which we now need to pay for the war and at the same time prevent a disastrous rise in the cost of living, we shall have to double and more than double the scale of our savings.

“Every dime and dollar not vitally needed for absolute necessities should go into WAR BONDS and STAMPS to add to the striking power of our armed forces.

“If these purchases are to have a material effect in restraining price increases they must be made out of current income.

“In almost every individual case they should be big enough to mean rigid self-denial, a substantial reduction for most of us in the scale of expenditure that is comfortable and easy for us.

“We cannot fight this war, we cannot exert our maximum effort, on a spend-as-usual basis.

“We cannot have all we want if our soldiers and sailors are to have all they need.”

—Franklin D. Roosevelt.
