Red Army Storms Rostov

Eisenhower Heads African Units

Southern Units Tighten Noose Around Nazi Caucasian Troops

Move Interpreted as Direct Outgrowth of Casablanca Meet

Reshuffling of Command Virtually Completed With Appointment of Brereton as Head of All U.S. Forces in Middle East

By WES GALLAGHER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was named commander-in-chief of all allied forces in a new north African theater of operations set up yesterday as further results of the "unconditional surrender" conference at Casablanca continued to unfold.

Gen. Henri Giraud had just designated a French "war committee" to replace the "imperial council" of the late Admiral Jean Darlan, a move interpreted as a direct result of the French high commissioner's talks with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill last month.

(From the Algiers radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, came a report that troops of the British eighth army were "a good 60 miles inside Tunisia," indicating further that allied efforts to drive the axis from the "dark continent" were fast approaching a showdown.)

Although the Eisenhower announcement made no mention of promotion in rank to a full general, authorities said that forces of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British eighth army entering this theater would come under his command.

SUI Named to Train Engineers Under New Manpower Program

Commission Releases List of 281 Schools For Specialized Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war manpower commission announced yesterday approval of 281 non-federal schools, colleges and universities for utilization by the war and navy departments for specialized training of men and women needed in the armed forces.

Throughout Country
Located throughout the country, the institutions were the first to be selected by a joint committee of the army, navy and manpower commission for the new war training program. Many others will be designated later. Every institution in the country is being considered for possible use.

The commission emphasized that actual contracts will be let only to institutions whose facilities prove acceptable to the interested branch of the services.

Contracts for training made before creation of the committee remain in force. There are between 600 and 700 of these. Renewals will clear through the committee.

Mid-Western Colleges
Among mid-western colleges approved yesterday for training engineers were Iowa State college, University of Iowa, University of Nebraska, and the South Dakota College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts.

Colleges approved for training of army aviation cadets included Coe, Iowa State Teachers, Morningside, Creighton university, University of Omaha, Nebraska State Teachers, Black Hills Teachers college, Huron college, South Dakota State college.

For training engineers for the navy—Iowa State, South Dakota School of Mines.

Separation of the U. S. north African theater of operations from the European theater is one of the results of the Roosevelt-Churchill conference.

(Under ordinary military procedure, Eisenhower would be out-ranked by both Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of the British forces in the middle east, and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, field commander of the British eighth army.

(In Washington, however, the war department press relations chief said he assumed that the new setup merely separated the north African command from the European theater.

Yanks Wreck Burma Communication Lines

Force Japs to Change Defensive Maneuvers To Allow for Repairs

BOMBAY (AP)—U. S. heavy bombers have wrecked a Japanese communications between north and south Burma so completely that the enemy has been compelled to rearrange his defensive forces while an effort is made at repair.

Two weeks ago Maj. Earl L. Tash, of Walla Walla, Wash., led an attack on the Myingay railway bridge across the Irrawaddy, just south of Mandalay—sole connection for north-south traffic—and dropped at least one thousand-pound bomb on a span in mid-stream. Photographs show the span dropped into the river.

Since then the Japanese have been working frantically to repair the bridge. Before their evacuation the British had destroyed the foot bridge at Myingay, but the rail span remained.

The Japanese had built runways on the railway bridge and used it both as a highway and railway crossing. Thus the American bombs cut both road and rail traffic.

Since the first damage, American bombers have repeatedly strafed the bridge and repair crews.

The latest attack was Friday when American bombers again scored direct hits on the bridge and on adjacent areas where repair crews were operating.

WHEN HITLER LOOKS AROUND, HE DOESN'T LIKE WHAT HE SEES

Mourning has been ordered for the German people by their overlords, specifically for their disastrous defeat at Stalingrad, but plenty of other reasons could be found and more will come to light shortly. This Central Press map shows the present situation in Europe, with the Russians pressing into Nazi-occupied territory from the east, the allies mopping up north Africa and threatening all along the western and southern coasts of Europe, and, most recent, a threat that Turkey might become helpful to the united nations in a possible thrust through the Balkans. This last possibility developed from the visit of Prime Minister Winston Churchill with the top Turkish officials after the Casablanca conference at which plans were laid for the British-American invasion of the continent. The Balkans, with their great rivers reaching up to heart of German Europe, offer a good highway toward Berlin.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film hero Errol Flynn strode happily from a superior courtroom yesterday, cleared of charges that he had played the villain's role in real life.

Committee Postpones Vote on Salary Limit

Roosevelt Requests Chance to Tell Views On Pending Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—House ways and means committee members, pondering the question of nullifying President Roosevelt's order limiting salaries to $25,000 after taxes, yesterday postponed a decision to give the chief executive, at his request, a chance to submit his views.

The committee deferred action until next Saturday amid strong signs that the move to erase the executive order by legislation would have won a committee majority had it been put to a vote yesterday.

In a letter to Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the committee, Mr. Roosevelt expressed his "earnest hope" that a pending bill to boost the nation's debt limit to $210,000,000 would be passed without amendment.

Brazil Joins With Allies In War Against Japan

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil joined the united nations yesterday as a full partner against the axis in a move which places this country at war against Japan as well as Germany and Italy.

No United Nations' Craft Lost In Fierce Day-Long Struggle

UPHEAVALS INDICATE—Mussolini Worried

LONDON (AP)—Political upheavals on both sides of the Mediterranean—Mussolini's shakeup of the Italian government and Gen. Giraud's inauguration of a war committee in French north and West Africa—momentarily submerged military maneuverings of allied and axis forces last night for strategic positions in Tunisia.

In the actual fighting, however, the allies suffered a setback when the Germans captured a strategic mountain from the British first army 20 miles south of Pont-du-Fahs. But the British announced sea successes with submarines sinking three more axis supply ships, and a tanker in the Mediterranean.

Mussolini's sudden sacking of his foreign minister and son-in-law, Count Ciano, and all but two of his Fascist ministers went far beyond his periodic "changing of the guard."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, Sunday—The Red army stormed forward at the last German defenses of Rostov south of the Don today and sent flying columns southward toward the Kerch straits to cut off the seaward escape of a large Nazi Caucasian army already virtually caught in a Russian noose by a lightning thrust to the Sea of Azov.

A special Russian communique recorded last night by the Soviet monitor said the Russian forces reached the Sea of Azov south of Rostov, cutting the Germans off in the Caucasus, and the regular communique early today said columns were turning south toward the Kerch straits.

Adolf Hitler thus was presented with the task of extricating his entire Caucasus force, estimated up to 200,000 men, in his first "Dunkel" and after his disaster at Stalingrad.

First Losses in Pacific Sea-Air Battle Termed 'Minor in Everything'

U.S., Japanese Units Continue to Skirmish For Pivotal Positions

WASHINGTON (AP)—American and Japanese naval forces sparring in the southwest Pacific have each knocked out some warships on the other side, Secretary Knox said yesterday, although no major clash has yet developed.

Discussing the situation at a press conference, the navy secretary said the losses were "minor in everything—surface and air." Then he added that they might be called "moderate, if you want to change the word," but emphasized that they included "nothing significant—nothing of a major character."

He did not amplify but his statement seemed to mean neither side has lost any large vessel, such as an aircraft carrier or battleship.

As to whether a great air and sea battle was developing, Knox said he did not know. It was not yet clear, he said, what was the Japanese objective or how much of their fleet they might risk although the preliminary moves had been of a nature which "ordinarily would precede an engagement of some size."

Knox also told reporters:

The Germans now have more submarines at sea than last June, the month of heaviest allied losses, with large concentrations south of Iceland, on the route to Britain, and in the mid-Atlantic on the routes to north Africa. The navy is "straining every effort" to produce sufficient anti-submarine vessels to combat this menace upon which Hitler undoubtedly is counting heavily.

Although Knox referred to last June's ship losses in speaking of the large number of Nazi U-boats now operating, he did not imply that current losses were at the same rate. In fact, he commented, as Secretary of War Stimson previously had said, losses on the north Atlantic route to Russia had been reduced. He also said that Brazil was making good progress in combatting submarine activities off the south American coast.

He did not believe the Japanese had increased their strength in the Aleutians. This was in response to a question from a reporter who remarked that recent navy communiqués had reported considerable Japanese air activity in that area.

Semester Enrollment Reaches 4,312 Total

Second semester enrollment in the university had reached a total of 4,312 on Feb. 4, according to figures released by the registrar's office yesterday.

Of this number, 2,312 are men, 2,000 are women, it was announced. This enrollment will be increased to some extent on March 1 when a new freshman class enters the college of medicine.

This figure does not include 1,900 cadets now in training in the Iowa Pre-Flight school. Another increase in enrollment will come next month with the arrival of 200 cadets of the army air corps pre-meteorological school.

5 Killed in Plane Crash
CLINTON, Ill. (AP)—Two soldiers of the air corps and three aviation cadets were killed Friday night in the crash of a twin-engine army airplane on a farm seven miles southwest of Clinton.

At the same time, the communique announced, the Red army surged to within five miles of Rostov from the south by the capture of Bataisk and burst across the Donets river in a sweep which threatened not only the encirclement of Rostov and the Donets mining basin but also the approaches to the Crimea.

43 Miles of Khar'kov
In the latter thrust they came within 43 miles of Khar'kov, industrial capital of the Ukraine, with the capture of Balakleya, on one of the railways radiating southeast of Khar'kov.

The Russians, in their drive to the Sea of Azov south of Rostov, announced that they had captured the town and port of Yeisk, 65 miles southwest of Rostov and the terminal of a branch railway from the main Rostov-Baku line.

With all railways and roads in their possession the Russians thus had cut off the large German force still holding Krasnodar and the Black sea naval base of Novorossisk in the Caucasus after a retreat of 275 miles from the highwater mark of their invasion.

Escape by sea from Novorossisk or across the Kerch straits into the Crimea were the only exits left to the Germans, and with the Russian fleet still in being in the Black sea it was a question whether the German high command had the naval facilities to attempt an evacuation such as saved the British army at Dunkerque in 1940.

Take More Districts

Fanning out rapidly south and southwest of Yeisk, other Russian columns seized several more district centers in spearpoints thrusting 25 to 70 miles below that port, the midnight communique as recorded by the Soviet monitor reported.

Yashenka and Kopanskaya, only five and ten miles from the coast but 25 to 30 miles south of Yeisk, fell to the Russians, while another column seized Pereyaslavskaya, 70 miles southeast of Yeisk and only 65 miles directly north of Krasnodar. This meant the Soviets were rapidly driving toward the Kerch straits from the north and closing off even this avenue of German escape.

In the Ukraine, the midnight communique told of additional successes, with Soviet columns thrusting west and southwest of Stary Oskol toward Belgorod and Kursk and between those two places.

Iowa to Admit New Nursing Class May 24

In compliance with the government's request to help meet the shortage of nurses, the school of nursing of the University of Iowa will admit a new class of 100 students on May 24.

Those eligible should apply at once, Lois B. Corder, director of the school of nursing, announces.

In 1942, 8,000 additional students were admitted to schools of nursing. It has been suggested that this number be doubled in 1943 to provide enough nurses for civilian and military needs.

Recently President Roosevelt signed a bill granting army and navy nurses pay equivalent to their rank and providing for an increase in rank, up to that of colonel. This places nurses on an equal basis with other army officers.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Gaps in Nazi Morale Seen, But Must Be Taken Cautiously. WASHINGTON — Widening cracks in Nazi morale have inspired no expectations within President Roosevelt's high coterie that Germany will blow up fast as she did last time.

Mr. Roosevelt himself was realistic and serious about the dangers of the attacks ahead, in his private talk with the congressional leaders. He was especially apprehensive about the current German submarine campaign, the severity of which no outsider can gauge because official figures of current losses are not announced.

While naval authorities are constantly telling congress the menace is grave, one army general has testified sinkings are still running less than new ship construction and, therefore, cannot be considered in any way a disastrous threat to our cause.

But Mr. Roosevelt's disinclination to place hopes in the accumulating proofs of Nazi weakness reflect, in general, the inside attitude of army, navy and government. The state department has even professed alarm at the wide popular feeling of optimism, contending it is not justified.

The official position is that while we are numerically superior in Africa, Hitler is entrenched so firmly on the continent we will have to go in and drag him out like a crazed lion from a den. Also, they contend the Germans have held the Russians long enough to establish a defensive line west of Rostov and Kharkov and thus save themselves from a rout.

True, they say, the Germans are notorious front runners accustomed to victories. They broke last time within 90 days after the peak of their effort. It was August 11, 1918, when Pershing took formal command of American fighters, and October 6 when the Germans first asked terms of an armistice.

The authorities here, however, overwhelmingly doubt that such history will be repeated in view of the more stringent controls Hitler now exercises over the people. They do not seem to expect the end in April, as some British do, or even necessarily this year.

It must also be reported, however, that of fialdom looks upon optimism itself with misgivings. Apparently, there is some fear that the people might exaggerate any optimistic hopes and relax their efforts. Although, logically, you would expect the army of a fully mobilized nation, gathering for the kill, to redouble its efforts at the scent of final success. Certainly a people on the verge of victory should work doubly hard.

The news from Helsinki and Ankara shows the Finns and Turks sent it. Although Finland is Germany's ally, President Ryti has let the news out through Stockholm that he has informed the Finnish parliament "the war is approaching a culmination point."

With Mussolini's personal prestige swiftly ebbing, it is obvious the wholesale dismissals were made to convince Italians that he is once more a man of action, laying a steady hand on the reins at a crucial moment in Italian history.

Atop all this, convincing proof is available here that German production has been on the decline the past several months. Indeed, this is almost officially confirmed by the new Berlin announcement of a draft for every German from the cradle to the grave.

Hitler's inexcusable ducking of his tenth anniversary celebration and the defensive, fear-spreading tone of the Goering and Goebbels remarks, furnish further proof that the decline of official Nazi morale—first evident on the Russian front—is progressing rapidly.

An early end would not be amazing therefore, even if it is not authoritatively expected. Last time, the final crack was a German naval mutiny October 29, just 13 days before the armistice. It swiftly spread through all Germany.

Pacific Situation Secure—As far as the Pacific is concerned, Navy Secretary Knox has rather indicated to congress that our position is secure. His testimony indicates we have enough air strength on hand to meet any challenge of our position from the Japanese.

While the Japs are still tough fighters, it is evident they have not been able to take advantage of many of their best opportunities lately.

The situation on that front, however, has not encouraged a single optimist in Washington who can do anything more than pray for an early conclusion.

Interpreting The War News Russians Threaten To Retake Crimea From Nazi Forces

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON. Before somber echoes of Nazi attempts to turn the Stalingrad disaster into a moral victory died from the air, another Russian trap was clamping down in the north-western Caucasus below Rostov on a once powerful axis army. How many German or other troops are caught in that fast developing pocket is far from clear. Moscow and London estimates range between 80,000 and 200,000.

Reds Near Coast. The Russians are virtually on the coast of the Azov sea below the mouths of the Don, and by Berlin admission also have a commando footing on the Black sea coast north of Novorossik. It threatens the Kerch strait escape road to the Crimea as the Red advance farther north astride Yeisk estuary severed the last Nazi rail communications with Rostov.

Even should the trapped remnant of the army of the Caucasus escape to the Crimea or to the mainland it will probably be in no better case than the British army which a miracle saved from death or capture at Dunkirk. Weather Too 'Warm'. Had this winter in southern Russia equalled last in severity, Nazi forces might hope to carry off much of their fighting gear in the final retreat from the Caucasus. Deep ice in Kerch strait or even bridging much of the Azov sea would have given them footing.

Impending Nazi loss of any foothold in the Caucasus, however, makes the value of the Crimea to the Hitlerites dubious in the light of dwindling manpower. The conquest of the Crimea undoubtedly figured in Nazi war plans as essential because it would afford a backdoor springboard for the now collapsed invasion of the Caucasus.

That Soviet forces would promptly exploit reconquest of the Caucasus to strike anew for recapture of the Crimea seems certain. If the Nazis can use Kerch strait to escape, the Russians can use it likewise to attack and to avenge Sevastopol.

Assuming as many informed military observers do that the Hitlerites are falling back in south and south central Russia on a wide front with their new defense line to be hinged in the south along the Dnieper river bend, retention in the Crimea of forces sufficient to hold the peninsula would be an added manpower strain. It seems likely Moscow has already shaped plans for recapture of the Crimea as well as the Caucasus.

If that objective is ever achieved, now or months from now, it would afford opportunity (See INTERPRETING, page 7)

Our Costly Enemy—

An insignificant looking Austrian painter who not more than 10 years ago was laughed at for his "crazy" scheme of taking over the world, has cost us more to support than any other man in history. This man, Adolf Hitler, has already charged the world over $400,000,000,000 for services rendered, and estimates are that he will ring up another billion before his work is brought to an end.

It is probably foolish to tack the entire blame for this war onto Hitler, for he merely symbolizes what we are fighting against. The real blame, we think, should be divided rather evenly between ourselves and the Nazi leader; 50 percent to Hitler for starting the trouble, and the other half to ourselves for not finding out that he was going to do this.

Had governmental officials, newspaper editors, university professors sensed the meaning of something which should have been obvious eight years ago—namely, that Adolf Hitler was no longer painting houses, but was penning a few maps with a friend named Haushofer—we could probably have kept the cost of Hitler's presence here on earth around a few billion. And that would have made a lot of people feel better, we think.

Il Duce's Prestige Ebbing—

Urgently seeking a seagoat to bear the brunt of Italian criticism for the loss of the modern "Roman Empire" in Africa, Mussolini Friday discharged his foreign minister—a man supposedly being trained in his own footsteps.

Unpopular because he attained riches through his party and government affiliations and because of his scandalous private life, Ciano was easy prey. Shelved among the dusty relics of the board of strategy (a group of which as foreign minister he was automatically a member), he is apt to provide little trouble.

With Mussolini's personal prestige swiftly ebbing, it is obvious the wholesale dismissals were made to convince Italians that he is once more a man of action, laying a steady hand on the reins at a crucial moment in Italian history. Ciano had been toying with the idea of Italy separating from Germany. Think what a horrible disaster his discharge prevented!

The shake-up, as viewed by allied headquarters, is generally encouraging and is indicative of the internal rumblings of Fascist Italy. Such things just don't happen to a well-functioning government.

Bitter Nazi Loss—

Hitler paid a very bitter penalty when his army was forced to retreat from the Caucasus—he lost the Maikop oilfields, capable of producing high quality petroleum needed for supporting an air force. This means that the already heavy strain upon the Rumanian wells and synthetic oil factories in Germany will be increased.

Hitler's men had not been able to restore the oilfields for the purpose of producing high grade gasoline because of the lack of refineries, but they were drilling wells and were shipping great quantities of oil by railroad. The Germans had enough warning to be able to blast the reopened wells before leaving the territory, but it must have been a tough job for the Nazis to watch their hard-won fields blown up.

There is little prospect of the Germans ever returning to the region for a third time, but if they do they know they will find only devastation, and they have no assurance that they will be able to hang on long enough to exploit the fields.

Repetition Does It—

In a magazine article released Friday Vice-president Wallace again attempts to produce a solution for the eventual coming of a post-war world. This time he proposes a united nations peace force and air arm, with the dual job of policing the world and providing commercial transport. Such a mechanism, he believes, will provide for "an international peace law, an international peace course and an international peace force."

If the constant references to a world-wide—international—peace plan will effect the outcome, certainly Mr. Wallace has started out right!

Carry Your Draft Card—

To protect the nation against sabotage, sedition and draft evasion and to offer government officials a means of making necessary check-ups, all men of draft age are urged to carry their draft notices with them at all times. If, in the event, a person has enlisted in a reserve unit, the official acceptance of your credentials into that division of the armed forces will serve as your card. Forgetfulness is no excuse and there are heavy penalties for evasion.

His rich experience makes him an expert on a gay period, so you needn't question the authenticity of the rags when Benny Rubin (above) recalls some of them on CBS' nostalgic "Only Yesterday."

Walt Disney Deserves A Special Bouquet

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—When bouquets are passed out for quick conversion to war industry, there ought to be a special arrangement of red-white-and-blue orchids for the Walt Disney flicker factory. Disney's pre-war output, for entertainment only, amounted roughly to 32,000 feet of film, or about two features and 20 short subjects a year. The figure was equalled or topped in the first month of 1943—and the estimate for the year is between 250 and 300,000 feet, despite loss of large slices of his personnel to the service! The productions include many technical training films for the U. S. navy, delivered at cost, several short films in color under the auspices of the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs, and the feature, "Victory Through Air Power" based on Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky's best-seller. There is a second South American feature in work, plus the usual Disney shorts and two features, "The Gremlins" and "Peter Pan."

Carl Sandburg to Speak February 16 On 'What Would Lincoln Do Today?'

Native Poet, Author Will Present First University Lecture

Carl Sandburg, known as "America's most truly native poet" and one of the greatest living authorities on the subject of Abraham Lincoln, will speak on "What Would Lincoln Do Today?" at the first University lecture this year, at 8 p. m. in Macbride auditorium Feb. 16.

Born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1878, Sandburg began to think of Lincoln in his youth and to study him in his young manhood. More than 30 years ago he set himself to the extraordinary task of producing Lincoln's life as it was lived, and to impart to the reader the exact sensation of living it while he reads it.

He successfully employed this method in two volumes of "The Prairie Years," which appeared in 1926, a work of startling proportions from one who was known as a poet, and not a scholar of history.

Robert E. Sherwood, author of the Pulitzer prize winning play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," said, "Not until I had read Carl Sandburg's 'The Prairie Years' did I begin to feel the curious quality of that complex man, who, in his statement of the eternal aspirations of the human race, achieved a supreme triumph of simplicity."

In 1939 the four volumes of "The War Years" were issued, five times the length of "The Prairie Years." Photographs were selected from approximately 5,000 originals examined by Sandburg in various private collections. He has been painstakingly thorough, but entirely individual, in the immense task of his Lincoln research.

As a boy he knew Lincoln's neighborhood and men who remembered Lincoln. In the last 20 years he has traveled from coast to coast a dozen times ransacking more than a hundred libraries for their Lincoln material, and talking to the sons and daughters of people who remembered Lincoln. He has studied Lincoln's own writings and his printed speeches and letters, a greater volume of material than the complete works of Shakespeare.

Every scrap of essential record was faithfully examined. To this formal research was added a study of the civilization which shaped Lincoln and his contemporaries—the songs people sang, the poems they recited, the proverbs they spoke, their jokes, amusements.

Sandburg has been honored with degrees from many universities and colleges, among them Harvard, Yale, Lafayette college, Wesleyan university, Rollins college and Dartmouth. He was awarded a special diploma by Lincoln Memorial university. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, American Academy of Arts and Letters, National Institute of Arts and Letters, Authors League of America, Michigan Authors association, National Press club of Washington and the Harvard alumni association.

The poet's home is Chickaming Goat Farm, Harbert, Mich. His "Lincoln room" there contains 2,000 books and documents, and there is an overflow of hundreds more in the barn close by.

The student panel, which will be led by George Hall, consists of the following students: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lozano, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Picazo, Chito Dayton, Irene Chan, Raul Descalzi, Enrique Lulli, Bob Quevas, Leonidas Saavedra, Fernando Tapia and Gentil Vera.

Merchant Marines Misunderstood Lot

Former SUI Student Tells How Trainees Become 'Old Salts'

(Formerly Associated Press correspondent from Iowa City, Gene Clausen here relates his impressions of his stay at Sheepshead Bay in Brooklyn, N.Y. Clausen, a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, A.F.I., and Inter-fraternity council, was recently inducted into the service following his graduation from University of Iowa school of journalism.)

By GENE CLAUSSEN SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Brooklyn, N.Y. (Special To The Daily Iowan)—Here at the edge of a fashionable beach resort has sprung up one of the newest of our country's military stations which is a part of the most misunderstood services of Uncle Sam—the maritime commission.

The nature of this service is confusing to everyone, due mainly to the fact that it has received practically no nationwide publicity—and hasn't asked for any—and is not classified technically as an "armed force." But its duties are perhaps unequalled by any service in the nation today.

For Victory Fleet The job of the various maritime stations is to train seamen for our rapidly growing Victory fleet. And supply has been one of the biggest problems of both axis and allied military planners.

The merchant mariners carry along a job that has, perhaps, little of the so-called "glamour" that many people connect with a fighting machine and its fighting men. The only real fighting these men do is defensive—when planes attack a convoy or a submarine lurks in the distance to blow the ship and its cargo to bits.

Seamen are trained to "get the goods through." And with American and other allied fighting men stretched over the entire globe the problem of reaching them with the necessities of warfare is fairly obvious.

That, in short, is the duty of the merchant marine. The hazardousness of the job can be stated in simple terms. There have been more casualties among the merchant mariners in proportion to their numbers than in any branch of the armed forces.

3-Month Training Trainees are given a three-month period of instruction that includes "boot" training and advanced work in three fields—engineering, deck, and steward. All trainees go through daily lifeboat drills and a physical toughening program. Merchant mariners are also given plenty of gunnery training so they may supplement navy gun crews aboard merchant vessels.

The three-month course covers a wide variety of subjects dealing entirely with the sea. "Old Salts" undoubtedly frown on the brevity of this training period but the work is intense

Piano Team Will Appear Here Feb. 17

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, acclaimed by Newsweek magazine as "the most brilliant two-piano team of our generation," will appear here Feb. 17 in Iowa Union, as a part of their country wide tour.

These artists have not only musical and technical skill, but the ability to make various pieces of music sound different, without distorting their intrinsic meaning. It is this expert artistry in reducing or enlarging the tonal frame that imparts fresh values to each composition. Brahms, Debussy and Mozart compositions come to life as arranged for two pianos by Victor Babin.

Babin himself is a composer of distinguished gifts and has contributed a number of compositions to the limited repertoire of two-piano playing, as well as other types of compositions. Wide traveling throughout Europe has made Vronsky and Babin true cosmopolitans. They speak five languages with equal ease, including Russian, Czech, French, German and English.

Cinema entertainment delights the couple, and they are well-versed in the movie fare of the nation. When they visited Hollywood, they lost no time in visiting the big studio sets and meeting personally the screen celebrities they had admired from afar. Since then one of their programs has been filmed and released by Artist Films.

Their complete unanimity in rhythm and nuance are rare assets that set them apart as exceptional masters of the difficult art of two-piano playing. Tickets will be available at a special desk in Iowa Union, beginning Feb. 15. Students may receive tickets upon presentation of their student identification cards.

and little time is lost once the trainee walks through the station gates. And the trainees probably are "saltier" than their elders at the completion of their course, having taken daily swimming instruction in a pair of huge pools which contain salt water, pumped directly from the Atlantic which is but a stone's throw away.

Revised Park This station, which has been in operation since last September, was the scene of an ocean-side park. Two buildings of the resort center still remain—an outdoor band shell and amphitheater and a seaside cocktail haven which now houses the station's canteen.

Officers include both navy and maritime men and one of the most popular is Lieut. Arthur Donovan, well-known flight referee. Speaking of New York figures, a distinct break for the men stationed here is the fact that Broadway showgirls and showboys are very generous in displaying their entertainment for the trainees.

The 11th Century Castle church at Pforzheim, Germany, is divided into separate places of worship for Roman Catholics and Lutherans.

U. S. FLYERS HIT TUNISIAN PORT

Flames and smoke rise from burning warehouses and buildings along the docks at Sousse, Tunisia, as U. S. Army bombers strike at the axis-occupied port, above. Bomb bursts can be seen in the harbor waters and a bomb-damaged ship can be seen lying heeled far over on its side in the inner harbor.

MORE GOOD NEWS FROM THE PRODUCTION FRONT

"Production, Production - and More Production!"

GENERAL MOTORS REPORTS ON ITS FIRST FULL YEAR OF WAR ACTIVITIES

FIRST, AN APPRECIATION . . .

While the figures and statistics shown below are impressive, they do not tell the full story. They do not show, for example, the cooperation we have had from Army and Navy officials at every step of our progress toward the record production already achieved. Nor do they indicate the fine spirit of cooperation shown by our suppliers and subcontractors, on whom we rely for so much of the work. They cannot convey an adequate picture of the eagerness of hundreds of thousands of General Motors men and women to back the courage and determination of our fighting men with an ample supply of the most effective fighting weapons in the world. They cannot give even a hint of the initiative displayed by our engineers and mass-production technicians in effecting manufacturing economies and efficiencies which have resulted in the saving of critical war materials and manpower, and which have already made possible price reductions amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars.

These are the practical results that come from encouraging individual effort and initiative—the American way of getting the job done. Machines alone cannot win the victory—it will be won by free men working and fighting together for the only kind of future worthy of America.

1940 and 1941 were years of defense production and of planning for the possibility of war. Pearl Harbor found this defense production well under way. With the declaration of war and the call for "all-out" war effort, General Motors concentrated its entire organization and all its facilities on war production.

The tremendous job ahead at the threshold of 1942 called for the "know-how" of all our engineers, designers, mechanics and managers, skilled and experienced in mass production. It required the retooling and rearranging of all our plants for maximum production of war products. It meant designing and building new machines, and tools to make them—training skilled hands to perform new tasks, and teaching the unskilled—building employment and payrolls to unprecedented peaks—organizing and enlisting the support of our network of thousands of suppliers and subcontractors. It also meant establishing and operating training schools to teach thousands of men in the armed forces how to properly service and maintain General Motors-built war equipment.

Now at the beginning of 1943 these basic tasks have all been accomplished, and during their accomplishment General Motors plants made and delivered a mighty, rising tide of war materials. That tide continues to rise with mass-production technique swinging into full stride.

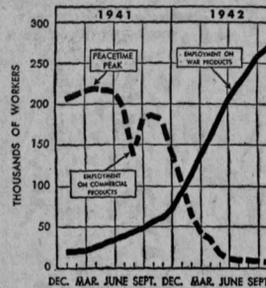

Thus General Motors answers our government's call for "Production, production—and more production!"

GENERAL MOTORS' WAR PRODUCTION

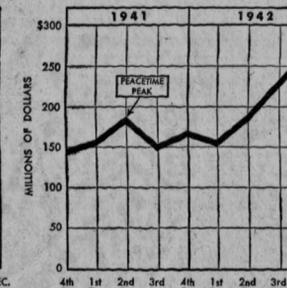

We regret that for military reasons we cannot report the number of guns, tanks, planes, shells, armored cars, trucks, Diesel engines for submarines and other uses, airplane instruments and hundreds of other items made and delivered by General Motors. We can say that in dollar value they totaled approximately $1,900,000,000—almost two billion dollars—in the year 1942 alone.

GENERAL MOTORS' EMPLOYMENT

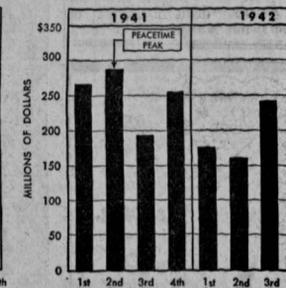

In June 1941, factory employment was 250,000—an all-time high. Since then, 50,000 replacements have been made, largely to replace men who have gone into the armed services, and 49,000 additional employees have been hired. To the 54,000 salaried workers employed in June 1941, 17,000 have been added. At the end of 1942 General Motors' employment reached 370,000—66,000 above the previous peak. It is anticipated that 100,000 will be added.

GENERAL MOTORS' PAYROLLS

General Motors' payrolls, like General Motors' employment figures, are at an all-time high in our 105 plants in 46 communities and 13 states—and five plants in Canada. The December 1942 payroll was $88,000,000. This was 45% more than the peacetime peak in June 1941. The total General Motors payroll for 1942 was $839,000,000—28% more than in 1941—the highest previous year.

GENERAL MOTORS' PURCHASES FROM SUBCONTRACTORS AND SUPPLIERS

The fastest, most effective way to distribute war work among the greatest number of producers is primarily through larger industrial organizations who have technical staffs available and who are accustomed to working with suppliers and subcontractors. Purchases from subcontractors and suppliers in the fourth quarter of 1942 were $30,000,000, compared with the peacetime peak of $28,000,000 in the second quarter of 1941.

Judge J. P. Gaffney Grants 3 Divorce Decrees in Court

Petit Jury to Report Tomorrow Morning For Frazier Trial

District Judge James P. Gaffney granted three divorce decrees yesterday.

Burgh S. Johnson, a lieutenant at the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school, was granted a decree from Dorothy C. Johnson on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple was married on May 3, 1940. Ingalls Swisher is attorney for the plaintiff.

Lois Huff was granted a decree from Dudley Huff on the grounds of a previous felony conviction of the defendant. The couple was married May 8, 1941. Edward O'Conner represented the plaintiff.

Mary T. Brown was granted a divorce from T. V. Brown. The custody of the minor child was awarded to an older daughter, Gretchen, in whose care the child is now. Brown was ordered to pay all living expenses of the child. Attorney Swisher represented the plaintiff.

The petit jury will report at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Judge Gaffney stated yesterday. The case for trial is Frazier vs. Scharf.

The cases of Lillie vs. Oakes, et al; Meier vs. Hartsock; Trott vs. Schmidt have all been settled, and juries in two of the assigned cases have been waived and they will be tried later in the term of court, Gaffney stated.

Tryouts for Anderson Play to Be Tomorrow

Tryouts for "The Eve of St. Mark" by Maxwell Anderson, the play which follows "Candida" on the University theater schedule, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the University theater.

Men in town and on the campus, not necessarily students in the university, are especially invited to take part in these readings. Prof. E. C. Mabie, director of the theater, announces.

Young Misses Snub Gallantry of Mayor

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) Mayor Willis N. Kelly gallantly offered to give several young girls a lift to school when he found them trudging through a deep snow. They disdained the offer; definitely snubbed him. Several days later the mayor called at the school to address the students and as soon as he reached the platform one of the girls popped up in the audience. "That's the man who tried to pick us up," she announced.

Prof. H. W. Saunders To Speak at Meeting

Prof. Harold W. Saunders of the sociology department will speak on "Civilian Defense" at a meeting of the Child Conservation club Tuesday. The group will meet at 2:15 p. m. in the home of Mrs. G. L. Whitaker, 425 S. Lucas street.

Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Carroll Williams and Mrs. Percy H. Bliss.

Cairo Evacuee U.S. Woman Saw War in Egypt

Mrs. Edward Chorlian is a woman who, in her own words, "lived on the edge of a volcano for years."

The wife of a former Columbia broadcasting system correspondent in Cairo, Egypt, Mrs. Chorlian is now back in the United States while her husband is doing war work somewhere in Africa.

She is an alumna of Monmouth college, and was for a time enrolled as a graduate student at the University of Iowa. After leaving school, she went to Egypt, where she taught in the American College for Girls. She has traveled extensively in the Near East, Africa and Europe, and is now visiting her brother, Dr. B. L. Evers of Coralville.

Mrs. Chorlian left Cairo, with many other American and English civilians, when Gen. Erwin Rommel's Afrika Corps was threatening Egypt last year. Going first to Khartoum, in central Africa, she later embarked from the Gold Coast for South America, following the same route taken by President Roosevelt on his journey home from the historic Casablanca conference.

"And I did it first, too," Mrs. Chorlian declared with a smile. The order that women and children were to evacuate Cairo came on short notice. Mrs. Chorlian had to do all her packing between 9 o'clock at night and 7 o'clock the next morning. "The turn of events was quite sudden," she said.

There was little actual bombing of Cairo, although the city was on almost continual alert during Rommel's advance. "The alert was a nuisance," Mrs. Chorlian commented dryly.

"The anti-aircraft barrage made more noise than the bombs," she added. "It sounded like a rousing good thunder storm just above one's left ear."

Life was exciting in Cairo, according to Mrs. Chorlian. The city was full of people of all nationalities—South Africans, Australians, New Zealanders, Poles, Greeks, Indians and British, as well as Americans. One Christmas the Chorlians had a party in three languages—English, French and Afrikaans, the South African tongue.

Hawk Cagers Defeat Knox, 62-45

Tom Chapman Totals 29 Points to Break Iowa Scoring Record

Hawkeyes Play Final Game Before Starting Conference Contests

By DON SLYE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Tom Chapman poured in 29 points last night to break the fieldhouse record for an Iowa player as the Hawkeyes defeated Knox, 62-45. Ben Trickey formerly held the record at 27 which he made against Chicago last year.

Chapman's total included 11 field goals and 7 free throws as he totaled 15 counters the first half and 14 in the last stanza. He played the entire game and barely missed breaking Ralph Hamilton's total of 31 points which the Indiana star scored two weeks ago against Iowa.

Once the Hawks got started the outcome was never in doubt, but Knox gave them a scare early in the first half as they held a 10-4 lead. Jerry Lemon, the Siwash's high scoring center, garnered 22 points to far outshine his teammates.

However, Iowa held Knox without a basket for 12 minutes later in the first stanza and the Hawkeyes led at the end of the period, 33-15. At the start of the second half the Hawks went into another slump and the Siwash came up to a 34-23 count, but Chapman started hitting again to widen the gap. Later on, both coaches substituted freely as a total of 23 players were used in the game.

Chuck Uknes played his last game for the Hawks last night as he leaves for the army Feb. 12. The blond eager did not score but played a good floor game, although handicapped with three fouls against him early in the contest.

Bob Lundstedt played his first game at a guard position and looked good on the rebound. His added height should help the Hawks in the back court. The Hawkeyes next face conference competition when they play Northwestern at Evanston Feb. 13 and 15.

In a certain rasher the Iowa freshmen defeated Cornell's frosh, 34-26.

Mitchell Wins Mile At Millrose Games In Featured Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Mitchell, Big Ten conference's two-mile and cross country champion from Indiana university, came out of third place on the last lap to win the classic Wanamaker mile in 4:08.6 at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden last night.

Gil Dodds the Boston A.A. set a 2:02.1 pace through the first half and 3:03.2 gain to the three-quarter pole with New York university's Frank Dixon at his heels before Mitchell surprised the crowd of 15,000 by hitting the tape four yards in front of Dodds.

The Boston divinity student, clocked in 4:08.9, was no match for Mitchell in the final drive but he had enough left to pull away from Dixon, who, running his fastest mile, was timed in 4:10.5.

After James Rafferty of the New York A.C. had paced the field through the first two laps, Ens, Walter Mehl of the Iowa Pre-Flight school, took over. He held it for one lap and then gave way to Dixon. Meanwhile, Dodds and Mitchell were bidding their time some 10 yards off the pace. With six and one-half laps to go, Dodds

Chicago Loses Again, 47 to 25

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota won its fourth Big Ten basketball game in seven starts last night, defeated Chicago 47 to 25. It was Chicago's 35th consecutive loss in conference play and the Maroons' 32nd defeat in a row against all competition.

For the greater part of the first half Chicago gave the Gophers such a tight contest it appeared the Maroons might break their long Western conference losing string against the team they last defeated in league play.

The surprising Maroons held Minnesota to a 2-0 lead until the seven minutes of play had expired.

Iowa Finishes 2nd in Triangular As Farmer Wins Two Events

Iowa's cindermen opened their '43 indoor schedule yesterday in the fieldhouse by finishing second in a triangular meet with 33 5-6 points. Wisconsin won the event with a total of 74 1-6 points and the Navy Pre-Flight school's Seahawks were third with 22.

Capt. Lee Farmer entered his final meet before joining the army and led the Hawkeyes by winning the two specialties, the 60-yard dash in :06.3 and the broad jump with a leap of 23 ft. 2 in. Ken Steinbeck won the only other first for Iowa by tying two Wisconsin men in the pole vault at 13 feet.

Wisconsin's well-balanced squad captured 9 of the 12 events with a different man placing first in each event. Both Badger Big Ten indoor champions won their events, Bob Beierle in the shot put and Bob Hodgell in the high jump. The Seahawks did not win any firsts but placed several men in the runner-up spot.

Harold Fiala showed up well for the Hawks by placing in the 70-yard high hurdles, 70-yard low hurdles and the high jump.

Summary

Intramural Winners To Determine Champ

A round robin tournament for sectional winners will be held in intramural basketball this week to determine an all-university champion. Two games will be held every night this week except Friday, with the tilts scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock in the fieldhouse gym.

Psi Omega professional fraternity crown-holders, will meet the town league champion, MacLean, on the first night of play. The dents will be the quintet to watch in this tournament, winning their game in the finals with Nu Sigma Nu by the score of 27 to 8.

However, MacLean's height and the accurate shooting of high scoring Carl Moore, MacLean forward, should be an important factor in favor of the town league winners. The appearance of Moon Mullins and Marsh Davenport, former all-state prep engers, on the Psi Omega five will give the edge to the dents.

On court 2, Waterplant battles with Chesley, co-op dormitory league leaders in the other 8 o'clock tilt. The Waterplant eked out a 19 to 18 win over Dubuque for the dormitory crown, while Chesley trounced Gables, 23 to 15, in the co-op finals.

Phillips Leads Mates To Sixth Consecutive Conference Triumph

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Illinois defeated Ohio State 60 to 48 here last night before 3,000 fans, the defending Big Ten champions hanging up their sixth straight league conquest. Andy Phillip, the loop's No. 1 scorer, ran his total to 126 for six contests, the Illini star bagging 19 last night.

The Illini battled from behind to snatch the laurels, an early scoring spurge putting the Bucks out in front 11-6 at the end of five minutes, and 22 to 13 at the end of 10. At that point, however, the invaders made their move, Phillip contributing seven to a 16-point spurge which put Illinois ahead 29 to 22.

In Chicago, Col. Winn, 81-year-old dean of American racing, heard of yesterday's request through The Associated Press and said he was "very much surprised" inasmuch as the Downs had expected to preserve the traditional May race as a local "street car" attraction, if necessary.

"I have not received the government's request," he said, "and until I do so, I do not feel at liberty to reply to it. This is a serious proposition and requires a lot of thought because I am not the only one to settle a thing like this. I am very much surprised."

"The derby has been run continuously since '75, through all kinds of wars and panics. It was run before we had automobiles. We were expecting to have it this year, probably as a local proposition. We were not expecting any crowds from out of town, or any auto service, inasmuch as the Downs can be reached by street car, or Louisville people can walk out there. We don't expect any special privilege at all."

"The reported request involves my board, owners, breeders, trainers, and in fact all racing industries. I can't answer it right off."

Col. Winn, an attendant at all of the 68 derbies, has personally supervised the last 40 of them as head of Churchill Downs.

The recommendation against the running of the derby was issued by Joseph B. Eastman, transportation director, with the view of conserving transportation. In this it differed from the request previously made by William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, that state governors cancel race meetings at tracks which can be reached only by motor. Jeffers' request was aimed at conserving rubber.

Churchill Downs, scene of the derby, is at Louisville and city officials there had generally expected that the race would be permitted with Louisville residents composing most of the spectators.

Eastman acknowledged that the ODT had no direct authority over sporting events but emphasized his authority over transportation and said that "this authority could be exercised in such a way as to affect sports seriously."

Because of the heavy demand on railroads and inter-city buses for troop movements and other essential traffic, Eastman said in a statement, "it would be better from a transportation standpoint if the Kentucky derby were not run this year."

"If it is held," Eastman added, "the ODT will not permit the operation of special train, extra sections or charter buses or cars."

Government Requests Cancellation of Derby
KENTUCKY SPECTACLE MAY BE DISBANDED TO LESSEN TRAVEL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government requested officially yesterday that the Kentucky derby, one of America's greatest sporting events, not be run this year.

If the request is complied with, it would represent the first break in the holding of the annual turf classic, in war or peace, since the first race was run in 1875. Entry blanks already have been mailed for this year's 69th running and Col. Matt Winn of Churchill Downs had said previously that it would be held to maintain the tradition even if no one attended.

In Chicago, Col. Winn, 81-year-old dean of American racing, heard of yesterday's request through The Associated Press and said he was "very much surprised" inasmuch as the Downs had expected to preserve the traditional May race as a local "street car" attraction, if necessary.

Government Requests Cancellation of Derby
KENTUCKY SPECTACLE MAY BE DISBANDED TO LESSEN TRAVEL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government requested officially yesterday that the Kentucky derby, one of America's greatest sporting events, not be run this year.

If the request is complied with, it would represent the first break in the holding of the annual turf classic, in war or peace, since the first race was run in 1875. Entry blanks already have been mailed for this year's 69th running and Col. Matt Winn of Churchill Downs had said previously that it would be held to maintain the tradition even if no one attended.

In Chicago, Col. Winn, 81-year-old dean of American racing, heard of yesterday's request through The Associated Press and said he was "very much surprised" inasmuch as the Downs had expected to preserve the traditional May race as a local "street car" attraction, if necessary.

"I have not received the government's request," he said, "and until I do so, I do not feel at liberty to reply to it. This is a serious proposition and requires a lot of thought because I am not the only one to settle a thing like this. I am very much surprised."

"The derby has been run continuously since '75, through all kinds of wars and panics. It was run before we had automobiles. We were expecting to have it this year, probably as a local proposition. We were not expecting any crowds from out of town, or any auto service, inasmuch as the Downs can be reached by street car, or Louisville people can walk out there. We don't expect any special privilege at all."

"The reported request involves my board, owners, breeders, trainers, and in fact all racing industries. I can't answer it right off."

Col. Winn, an attendant at all of the 68 derbies, has personally supervised the last 40 of them as head of Churchill Downs.

The recommendation against the running of the derby was issued by Joseph B. Eastman, transportation director, with the view of conserving transportation. In this it differed from the request previously made by William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, that state governors cancel race meetings at tracks which can be reached only by motor. Jeffers' request was aimed at conserving rubber.

Churchill Downs, scene of the derby, is at Louisville and city officials there had generally expected that the race would be permitted with Louisville residents composing most of the spectators.

Eastman acknowledged that the ODT had no direct authority over sporting events but emphasized his authority over transportation and said that "this authority could be exercised in such a way as to affect sports seriously."

Hawkeye Swimmers Trounce Wisconsin Mermen, 63 to 21

Capturing eight of nine first places, Hawkeye swimmers yesterday afternoon downed Wisconsin's mermen 63-21 in a Big Ten dual meet held in the fieldhouse pool.

The Badgers were able to take only the breaststroke event as Capt. Bob Stumpner barely nosed out Ernie Stranglen. The Wisconsin captain picked up on the last lap and the deficit was too much for Stranglen to make up.

Vito Lopin led the Hawkeyes by capturing firsts in both the 60 and 100-yard sprints. The blond-haired Iowa tankman has not been defeated in his speciality this season.

Capt. Clyde Kennitz who has been plagued with a gland infection swam only the 60-yard sprint and came in a close second to Lopin. Kennitz's condition was all right but Coach Dave Armbruster wanted to make certain that he would be ready for the Michigan battle Saturday.

This victory gives the Hawk swimmers a record of two and none in the Big Ten. They will meet the powerful Wolverines in a dual meet here Saturday. The Michigan dual will be the last home contest for Iowa this season.

Hubert Norman, Hawkeye distance man, won the 220-yard freestyle in fine fashion. Norman has not had much conditioning this year but didn't have much difficulty in nosing out teammate Dale Lounsbury. Lounsbury went on to win the 440-yard event for Iowa.

In the diving department Lyle Brown, sophomore Hawkeye diver, won first place in that event. Iowa had only one diver entered in the meet. Aside from the diving and breaststroke the Hawkeyes won first and second places in the other divisions.

Armbruster used four new sprint men in the 400-yard freestyle relay to give his regulars a rest. Clarence Moore, Ed Sundberg, Sid Craiger and Don Holmwood swam in this event. Although Moore is a letterman his speciality is distance swims.

Ernie Stranglen swam his last race for Iowa yesterday afternoon. Stranglen will be inducted in the army Monday afternoon. The breastroker has won eight points in conference competition this season, winning at Northwestern.

for new and effective air attacks on Hitler's prime war reserve, Rumanian oil. The plains of the Crimea offer many good airfield sites within 400 miles of the Ploesti nerve center of the Rumanian oil industry. A day when bombs like British blockbusters could be dropped on the oil jugular vein of the Nazi war effort in sustained attack would be at hand. It grows clearer day by day that Turkey is watching developments of the Russian offensive with rising hope that it will forever crush Nazi striking power, and possibly permit Turkish entry into the struggle to help give the axis in Europe its death blow. Russian recovery of the Crimea, and with its complete control of the Black sea, could go far toward influencing ultimate Turkish action.

Jury Acquits Errol Flynn

FLYNN—

Flynn should be acquitted, but they wanted a thorough discussion of the case before returning a verdict.

Flynn's calm, which he maintained without a break during the long ordeal of the trial, deserted him at the last moment, when three strident buzzes of the jury room bell informed a waiting courtroom that the jury was ready to return a verdict.

As court attaches and attorneys were hastily summoned, Flynn, had been sitting at the counsel table, nervously lighted a cigarette, rose from his chair, sat down again, and talked tensely with Robert Ford, one of his attorneys.

Apparently Nervous
He lighted one cigarette after another during the half hour or so before the jury filed into the box.

The entire courtroom was tense, and Flynn leaned forward in his chair as Mrs. Anderson handed the verdict to the bailiff. He, in turn, gave it to Superior Judge Leslie E. Still, who inspected it carefully, then turned it over to the court clerk to be read.

As the verdict of acquittal on the first count was read, there was a burst of sound from the courtroom, and Judge Still gaveled his bench sharply. The other two acquittal verdicts were read amid dead silence.

When the final verdict was reported, Flynn jumped from his seat and rushed over to Mrs. Anderson, shaking her hand enthusiastically. Flynn then went down the line, shaking hands with all the jurors.

Flynn had only a brief statement to make.

Glad to Be Citizen
"My confidence now has been justified in essential American justice. I really mean it. I didn't become an American citizen for nothing. The fair play I received during the trial proves that. I want to thank all those who stood by me during the trial."

Some indication of what took place behind the locked doors of the jury chambers came from the jurors.

The two jurors holding out against an acquittal verdict finally were convinced by the others. It became known, that it would have been physically impossible for Flynn to have attacked Peggy La Rue Satterlee, one of his accusers, in the cabin of his yacht Sirocco. Miss Satterlee had alleged the attack occurred after the actor invited her below decks to "view the moon" through a porthole.

Next, those favoring acquittal were able to convince the others that the count charging he mistreated blonde Betty Hansen at a dinner party at Bel Air likewise should be thrown out. Flynn was accused of two counts of statutory rape against Miss Satterlee and one against Miss Hansen.

Thomas W. Cochran, deputy district attorney commented: "It was my duty to prosecute the case, and I did so just as honestly as I could."

"Justice has prevailed," declared Jerry Giesler, chief of defense counsel, and veteran of the Los Angeles criminal courts. "We are indeed thankful for a fair and impartial judge and jury."

SUI Orchestra Slated to Play Debussy Music

The University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp will present a program of music including selections of Johannes Brahms, Claude Achille Debussy and Christian Sinding Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union.

The "Three Nocturnes," including "Clouds," "Festivals," and "Sirens," by Debussy were first performed in Paris in 1900 and have since that time passed into the standard repertoire of major symphony orchestras all over the world.

16-Voice Chorus
"Sirens" calls for a special chorus of 16 voices which represent the sirens and their song. The composer suggests, "The sea and its innumerable rhythms; then amid the billows silvered by the moon the mysterious song of the sirens is heard; it laughs and passes." Prof. Herald Stark has trained a chorus which includes 8 sopranos and 8 mezzo-sopranos to appear with the orchestra Wednesday evening.

Called by Romain Rolland "This great painter of dreams," Debussy, in "L'apres-midi d'un Faune" displayed the "Earliest and most astounding proof of the charm of subdued color in music." "The Nocturnes" further develop this trend, giving delicately singled impressions of sea, clouds, festivals, and songs of sirens.

Sinding, contemporary Norwegian composer, is comparatively unfamiliar to the public in the field of symphonic literature. His "Symphony in D minor, opus 21," will be played by the orchestra Wednesday evening. Sinding's "First Symphony" was performed in Christiania in 1890. Two years later, Weingartner gave the symphony in Berlin, and on Sinding's 60th birthday he was given an award by his government in recognition of the fact that he was the "greatest national composer since Grieg."

In His Honor
Joan T. Forland, who was associated with the physiotherapy department of University hospital, is a niece of Sinding, and writes that the most recent news of her uncle is that a concert was given last year in his honor in Bergen, Norway.

Brahm's "Variations on a Theme by Haydn, opus 56" will be presented first on the program. Chronologically, these "Variations" precede the four symphonies and "German Requiem," which was performed here last summer by the university summer session chorus and symphony orchestra.

Free tickets for the concert will be available at the main desk in Iowa Union tomorrow morning.

Rev. P. J. Budreau To Hold First Mass To Conduct Service In St. Mary's Church At 10:15 This Morning

The Rev. Paul J. Budreau, son of Mrs. Oscar Budreau, 215 E. Prentiss street, will celebrate his first solemn mass in St. Mary's church at 10:15 this morning.

Father Budreau was ordained to the holy priesthood at Immaculate Conception academy in Davenport last Sunday. He attended St. Mary's grade and high schools here and was graduated from St. Ambrose academy in Davenport in 1939. He prepared for the priesthood at St. Paul's seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl Meinberg, pastor of St. Mary's, Father Walter F. Boeckman of Richmond, Father Patrick McCoy of Davenport and the Rev. James Fandel of St. Paul's seminary will assist Father Budreau at the mass. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Patrick's church, will deliver the sermon.

Father Budreau's special blessing will be given this afternoon after the benediction at St. Mary's church. A reception will be held for him at the home of his mother Sunday afternoon and evening.

Australians Take A Tip From Barnum

CAIRO—A laugh was provided by two Australian soldiers who were enjoying their leave mightily until they found themselves at a famed Cairo bar with combined resources ten cents short of the price of their beers. One hastily retired to the street, seized a sandbag from a heap, hoisted it on his shoulder and returned to the saloon, shouting "Tobruk sand! Genuine Tobruk sand! Take home a souvenir!" His pal solemnly explained it was straight from the front and only two pias-tres (10c). A delighted waiter paid the money and bore the trophy proudly away while the Australians drank their beer and wondered if they weren't the first preneurs to sell sand in Egypt.

Commandant

The officers of the central Phoenix Fund committee have announced that Monday through Friday is to be designated as official Phoenix Fund week on the campus.

In contrast to former semesters, the entire drive is to be held within a five-day span, when all Greek-letter fraternities, sororities and men's and women's co-operative dormitories will be contacted by representatives of the organization and urged to make their semester's contribution.

Faculty members, towns men and women and all other interested parties are urged to contribute, if they so desire, by leaving their contribution at the treasurer's office in University hall.

Since the inauguration of the Phoenix Fund on the campus, the first fund of its kind in the nation, it has shown a steady growth. The fund will continue building during the coming semesters and until the war is over. The money contributed will be used to help defray the costs of returning to school of Iowa students who have enlisted or who have been called into the armed forces and who wish to return to school after the war but cannot do so without financial aid.

The committee will attempt to keep and publish a record in The Daily Iowan of the collections and quota of each group, the percentage of the quota obtained by the university as a whole and from the individual organizations. Many groups on the campus went "all out" for the Phoenix Fund last semester, giving 100 percent contributions.

Stalin Deserves Greatest Acclaim

Weather Had Little To Do With Russian Successes This Year

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—After watching the Red army for 15 months, this correspondent is convinced that the weather has had little to do with the Russian successes.

The Russians, it is true, are better equipped for cold weather and probably are more accustomed to it—but that doesn't win a war. The Red army has learned something after every battle and they've improved on their cumulative knowledge of tactics.

Getting Stronger
The army has become stronger both at the front and in the rear. Evacuated industries are running at high gear. The peoples of the vast nations which compose Russia are making tremendous personal sacrifices. The Russians are not going without food, but it is no secret that the people don't get everything they want to eat.

Homes often are cold and crowded. Sometimes there are hours without electricity because the Russians are saving fuel for the factories. Luxuries have disappeared. Factories are turning out only things with which to kill Germans.

Not once has this correspondent heard a real Russian complaint. Although the fare behind the lines is meager, the Red army eats handsomely.

Another great contributing factor to the success of the winter offensive has been an improvement in communication. A year ago the Russian railway and highway systems were tangled—to put it mildly.

The evacuation of factories, workers and civilians was in full swing. Sidings were packed with trains. Sometimes a train moved only 10 to 20 miles a day.

New Regime
It is different now. Traveling over the same lines this winter, one is whisked along with train-loads of tanks, automobiles, munitions and men moving to the front. Behind all the Russian successes is the massive stature of Stalin.

He assumed responsibility for everything in this vast land when it was invaded by what was supposed to be the world's greatest army. When things have not gone well, he has never publicly tried to throw the blame on anyone else. Likewise when things went well, he did not dodge the adulation.

He directs the army. His generals tell one this quickly and emphatically. He also directs industry and civilian life. His responsibility in this war is probably as heavy as any man ever faced.

His latest visitors say he looks like a man who is working hard. He is said to be in fine health, and he still can laugh and joke when the occasion calls for banter.

Find Body Of Alaskan Pilot

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—

The body of Harold Gillam, veteran Alaska pilot, was found on the beach of Boca de Quadra yesterday, a month after his plane with five passengers aboard crashed on a mountain peak in Alaska wilderness.

A coast guard searching party found the body. Gillam, who had left his passengers to seek aid for them, evidently died from shock and exposure.

Earlier yesterday the coast guard reported rescue of two more survivors of the crash. The only woman aboard the plane was injured fatally.

Spitfires, Whirlwinds Blast Nazi Rail, Road Transportation Lines

AAA Boosts County Soybean Goal, Raises Vegetable Production

Johnson county's soybean goal for 1943 will be boosted 1000 acres, it was disclosed Friday at the district AAA meeting in Washington, Iowa.

Accompanying this increase, the AAA plans a greater production of vegetable crops, with a similar stimulation of flax production also being projected, according to Chairman Ray Smalley.

Farmers will be compensated for growing comparatively unprofitable crops by so-called "incentive payments" from the government. This will be the outstanding feature of the food program of the AAA for this year.

It seems the Delta Tau Delta brothers have unanimously decided that Art Flint should have the following inscribed on the back of his pin: "Drop in any postoffice or mailbox—postage guaranteed"...

Make your Valentine happy by taking her to a "heart-y" dinner in the ROSE ROOM or the HUDDLE... Iowa City's sophisticated eating places... Excellent food, delicious coffee... quick, efficient service and a quiet friendly atmosphere... And for quick snacks and lunches you will like it at the HUDDLE... De Luxe hamburgers, waffles, sandwiches of all kinds... Next time you "eat out" choose the HUDDLE or the ROSE ROOM... Make it a habit to meet your friends at the HUDDLE... It's the particular people's choice...

We've been wondering who went through the worst "hell" last week—Louise Harkness, Kappa, or Dave Rude, Sigma Chi... Dave went through quite a mental "hell" when "Harky" wouldn't speak to him...

Valentine's day is coming next week, and also the inter-fraternity dance. If you want him to say "Be My Valentine" you must be pretty as a picture. How can you be as "pretty as a picture" if your clothes have unattractive spots and ugly wrinkles... BROWN'S CLEANERS will take care of those if you will just give them the chance. Give your clothes the right for their needed "pick-up" by sending them to BROWN'S CLEANERS. You will look like you've stepped out of a Valentine if you have your clothes cleaned at BROWN'S.

Although he professes to be a "woman-hater," we have it on good authority that Walter Beggs, Delta pledge, is carrying a torch for a certain Pi Phi gal.

Follow-the-crowd!!! Where will they take you? To the CENTRAL TAP, of course. Our only suggestion is—get there early. You'll be one of the "out-group" if you don't make the CENTRAL TAP your regular "hangout."
