Big African Battle Rages

Russians Rally Strong Forces Near Kharkov

Battle Rises to Peak Seven Miles From City As Nazis Rush Up Aid

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians said they tightened their strong semi-circle about Kharkov yesterday, and the battle for that great Ukrainian prize mounted to peak violence seven miles from the city as the Germans were reported pouring veteran troops from France into the battle.

Charging west from reappeared Rostov and south between Voroshilovgrad and Krasnoarmeisk, dispatches said that Gen. N. F. Vatutin's army was tearing wide gaps in the enemy defenses and swiftly rolling up the whole lucrative Donets basin.

(Reuters recorded a German radio broadcast that the Soviets had breached the German defense lines in the Kharkov area, but the Russian midnight communique made no direct mention of Kharkov itself.

Smash 3 Counterattacks

(The communique, as recorded in London by the Soviet monitor, declared the Russians had smashed back three counterattacks by SS (elite guard) troops in the Chuguev area 22 miles southeast of Kharkov, killing hundreds of the Germans.

(Other Soviet forces, it said, surged forward to the Donets basin, capturing Krasnodon and Verkhne-Duvannaye, 45 and 50 miles northeast of Stalino, and Rodionovo-Nesvetayskoye, about 20 miles north of Rostov.

(Thirty populated places were captured west of Krasny Sulin, and Soviet offensives continued south of Voroshilovsk and in the Krasnoarmeisk area, the war bulletin declared.)

(The German communique announced the fall of Rostov and Voroshilovgrad and acknowledged the Nazi plight in the Donets area saying the Russians "once more are trying to force a decision by outflanking and break-through operations." Berlin said the Russians were throwing fresh units into the battle. Attacks at Novosvissk were declared repelled.

The Russians also were reported attacking on a broad front south of Leningrad to Volkovo and at Kronstadt bay west of Leningrad.

Trapped in Donets

(The British radio said the bulk of the Germans in the Donets basin had been trapped and that Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov, was under artillery fire.)

Four strong Russian columns were driving in on the city of 800,000—the greatest railway hub in the vast Soviet union except for Moscow. Troops were reported seven miles east, and about 20 miles south and southeast.

The grimest fighting appeared centered in the Chuguev area, southeast of Kharkov, where the communique declared:

"The enemy is attempting to check our advance by throwing into action his picked units, including some SS (elite guard) divisions recently arrived from France. Our troops overcame the enemy resistance."

Soviet troops on the east, north and northwest of the Donets basin over a 200 mile front from Likhaya to beyond Losovaya all were declared advancing and closing like a giant iron fist on the Germans in the Donets.

Demands for Release Of Gandhi Repudiated By Indian Government

NEW DELHI (AP)—The government emphatically rejected demands in both houses of the Indian legislature yesterday for release of the fasting Mohandas K. Gandhi from internment at Poona.

Sir Reginald Maxwell, home affairs member of the viceroy's council, asserted in the assembly that Gandhi's 21-day fast, begun last Wednesday, was simply a new effort of his All-India Congress party "to regain the position and credit they have lost."

Heaviest British Raid in Weeks Scourges Vital German, Italian War Production Centers

LONDON (AP)—British bombers struck in force Sunday night straight at the heart of axis war production at Cologne in Germany and at Milan and Spezia in Italy, and by daylight yesterday U. S. Liberators and RAF Bostons executed two attacks on the docks at Dunkerque.

The German and Italian cities were made to "burn and bleed" Sunday night in the heaviest RAF attacks in many weeks which gave explosive accent to the words of Prime Minister Churchill last week.

The air ministry said the four-engined bombers "were out in strength over Germany and Italy." The number of raiders was not specified but one seasoned British coastal watcher declared the cyclonic roar of the passing bombers was "louder than anything of the kind I have ever heard." It took the detachment winging across the Swiss Alps 50 minutes to pass over Zurich and the explosions of bombs on the Milan war plants echoed clear across Lake Geneva.

Only 11 bombers were lost in the "large scale" raids, the air ministry said.

Hundreds of fighters protected the bombers and made diversionary sweeps over German held territory.

Swift wooden British Mosquito bombers attacked railway workshops and engine sheds at Tours, France. During an offensive patrol over northern France in the morning, a British fighter was lost.

Eaker Named Head Of African Airforce

Takes Over Command Of U.S. Eighth Army Replacing Gen. Spaatz

LONDON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Ira C. Eaker was appointed commander of the eighth United States army airforce yesterday, succeeding Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, assigned to the north African theater.

Eaker's appointment was announced by the war department.

Was 2nd in Command
He was second in command to General Spaatz in the U. S. army airforce in Europe. General Spaatz arrived in north Africa early in December and was appointed commander of all American and RAF air operations there on Jan. 9.

Eaker has personally led some of the attacks against the continent, and headed the first all-American bombing blow at Rouen in occupied France last Aug. 17.

Eaker's appointment was effective as of Dec. 1, when he took over from Spaatz, the announcement said.

Comes From England
A Reuters dispatch from allied headquarters in north Africa said Air Marshal Sir Arthur William Tedder arrived at allied headquarters Sunday in a Flying Fortress from England.

He was accompanied by Vice Marshal Arthur Coningham.

TOJO'S OCEAN BECOMES THE STAR-SPANGLED PACIFIC

JAPAN'S CONTROL of the Pacific, won by treachery, Dec. 7, 1941, has been broken by the gradual, persistent advances by allied forces westward through the embattled waters, as this Central Press map shows. The Japs still have numerous bases but the spread of stars (denoting allied bases) on the above map spell plenty of trouble for Premier Tojo and his Tokyo satellites.

AUSSIES FIRE ON JAPS IN NEW GUINEA

ONE OF THE FIRST action pictures to come out of the New Guinea jungles, this picture shows Aussie fighters firing on 25 Japs who were routed from a pillbox set in among the palm trees in the Buna area. A palm stump is an aid to the soldier in the foreground.

One-Third of Doctors In Service Will Not Return to Civil Life

CHICAGO (AP)—Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the U. S. navy, predicted yesterday that one-third of the nation's physicians who go into the armed services would not return to civilian practice after the war.

In speaking of medicine and the war at a council on medical education and hospitals, sponsored by the American Medical Association, McIntire said, "we might say that when this war is over a great number of doctors will return from the service. That is true, but not nearly as many as you might think, for certainly we will not be able to reduce the army and the navy below a certain point, and my own opinion is that if we are able to return two-thirds of those we take we will do well."

Finns Re-Elect Ryti As Nation's President

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The college of electors, in a meeting delayed 20 minutes by air raid warnings and held amid the wail of the sirens, re-elected Risto Ryti yesterday as president of warring Finland. The vote, all but unanimous, came as the capital, for the first time in more than a year, was under bombardment by Russian planes.

Heavy Air Activity Yesterday's Communique Told of Heavy Aerial Activity in Both the North and South Pacific.

In addition to the Shortland raid, which was made by Liberator heavy bombers with Corsair and Lightning fighter escort, five bombers, torpedo planes and fighter craft twice assaulted Munda, an enemy air base on New Georgia island.

Ground activity in the Solomons was confined, the communique stated, to patrolling on Guadalcanal, where organized enemy resistance stopped on Feb. 9.

Brown Opposes Pay Increases

Businessmen to Reduce Number of Employees, Not Boost Wage Scale

Administrator Prentiss Brown said yesterday he was opposed to allowing "any general price increases" to businesses forced to pay overtime wages under the 48-hour workweek order. Brown also suggested that congress require workers to invest the overtime pay in war bonds.

"The purpose of the work order," he remarked in an interview, "was to conserve manpower, primarily. Businessmen who must pay overtime wages under the order are expected to reduce the number of their employees accordingly, and should not be entitled to that basis to increased prices."

Wiley Rutledge Starts Duties as 9th Justice Of U.S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wiley Rutledge wrapped his black robes about his bulky frame yesterday, eased himself into a swivel chair at the end of the supreme court bench as his ninth justice and promptly found himself in the middle of at least three important cases.

First case vacated its 5 to 4 decision of last June holding that cities can constitutionally impose license taxes on the distribution of pamphlets and ordered it reconsidered. The decision involved activities of Jehovah's Witnesses and was widely criticized by newspaper officials as a threat to freedom of the press. James F. Byrnes, whom Rutledge succeeded, voted with the majority in the original decision; thus if the new justice finds the decision wrong he could be personally responsible for its reversal if his eight colleagues retain their former views.

Then the court ordered rearguments in two cases which had been pending several months, leading to the supposition that the eight justices who heard them originally were split 4 to 4, in which case Rutledge's vote would decide. Yesterday's two were:

1. The case argued by Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, as counsel for William Schneiderman, secretary of the California Communist party and native of Russia. Schneiderman's American citizenship was ordered cancelled by a federal court at San Francisco on the ground that he concealed his Communist connection and the supreme court's ruling is expected to decide whether membership in the Communist party, at least in 1927, is ground for revoking an alien's naturalization.

2. A case testing whether the federal power commission has jurisdiction over a utility (Jersey Central Power & Light Co.) which claims to operate entirely within one state but sells current to a second concern (New Jersey Power & Light Co.) which concealsly transmits it across a state line.

18 Injured by Blast In Grundy Center, Ia., Laundry Establishment

GRUNDY CENTER, Iowa (AP)—At least 18 persons were injured, three seriously, late yesterday afternoon in a fire and explosion which destroyed the Sanders Cleaning and Laundry plant here.

Glen Sanders, the proprietor and a town councilman, and two firemen, James Hasbrouck, 48, and Pearl Vogt, 38, were caught under a falling wall when a naphtha tank exploded.

Sanders and Hasbrouck, whose injuries included broken legs, were taken to Veteran's hospital in Des Moines.

Seven other persons, including Fire Chief George Canfield and Fireman August Anderson, were injured by the blast. Naylor Tyler, 14, a bystander, suffered a broken leg when he was hurled to the street by the force of the explosion.

French Warship Safe; 35,000-Ton Richelieu In New York Harbor

NEW YORK (AP)—France's newest and greatest battleship, the battle-damaged 35,000-ton Richelieu, is safe at anchorage in New York harbor after a perilous 13-day crossing from Dakar, French West Africa, her berth for the past two and a half years.

She dodged a nest of German submarines in mid-Atlantic, robbing Germany of a rich prize of war, and safely rode out a gale strong enough to cause genuine apprehension among many of the veteran seamen aboard. Her arrival at New York last Thursday was kept secret until yesterday.

Pay-As-You-Go Tax Hearings Concluded By House Committee

Ruml Plan Overlooks Pay Ability Principle, Tax Counsel Warns

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house ways and means committee concluded public hearings on a pay-as-you-go tax plan today, hearing from Randolph Paul, treasury counsel, that the Ruml plan "would seriously violate the principle of ability to pay."

"Complete forgiveness," he said "will mean that tax collections can be increased only by tax rate increases. These increases will necessarily fall in large part on the smaller incomes because the rates on large incomes are already very high. Forgiveness would in effect shift part of the tax burden from the few at the upper end of the income scale to the many at the middle and the lower end."

He concluded that the Ruml plan "cannot place the income tax on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) expressed hope the committee would be able to agree on a bill this week. Opposed to cancelling a full year's taxes, he said he expected the committee to write a bill not conforming in detail to any proposal submitted in the two weeks of hearings.

Meanwhile Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau reported that income tax returns this year were 50 per cent behind last year and that he was worried about it. He attributed public failure to file returns promptly to discussion of pay-as-you-go plans.

Taxpayers Urged To File Returns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two congressional leaders joined with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau last night in a public appeal to taxpayers to file their income tax returns promptly and warned that regardless of any pay-as-you-go legislation, the first quarterly installment of 1942 taxes must be paid on March 15.

Their appeal, made in a broadcast over CBS, was coupled with assurance from Chairman Doughton (D., N.C.) of the house ways and means committee that "the best plan for making the bulk of taxpayers current will be introduced at the earliest possible time, and a hint from Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee that congress may abate part of the 1942 tax liabilities."

The radio appeal followed a press conference statement by Secretary Morgenthau that he was "worried" because the number of tax returns received so far were only about 50 percent of the number on file at the same time last year.

All three speakers attributed this situation to confusion growing out of discussion of pay-as-you-go taxation. Doughton said that the confusion "is very embarrassing to the government."

Japs Abandon Base at Dobo

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Tuesday (AP)—Medium bombers of General MacArthur's command have blasted the port of Dobo on Aroe island with such effect the Japanese apparently have been forced to abandon the base, the allied noon communique said today.

Three-fourths of the port was destroyed on Feb. 8 by Dutch and Australian fliers, and yesterday MacArthur's bombers completed the destruction.

"The town is now in ruins," the communique said, "Wharves are destroyed and the enemy apparently has been forced to abandon the position as a base."

The communique said also that MacArthur's bombers returned to the steady attack on Rabaul, New Britain island, which absorbed a terrific pasting Sunday in the greatest mass raid ever carried out by the allies in this theater of operations. Great new fires were started.

Powerful Nazi Unit Advances Twenty Miles

American Positions At Gafsa in South Imperiled by Germans

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—American and German forces, identified as part of Marshal Rommel's Africa Corps were locked in violent fighting yesterday along the southern end of the axis corridor in Tunisia, where the powerful initial Nazi drive had broken through for more than 20 miles and imperiled the American anchor position at Gafsa to the south.

Noland Norgaard, Associated Press correspondent with American forces in southern Tunisia, reported that one spearhead of the German advance had cut the Gafsa-Sidi Bouzid road in a thrust from the Maknassy area which carried to a point nine miles southwest of Sbeitla in the mountains 45 miles northwest of Faid pass.

He said an elite panzer division of veterans of Rommel's Africa Corps, refitted with the newest German tanks in Tunisia, was being hurled against American tank units, many of which were in battle action for the first time.

The Germans attacked west of Faid pass in central Tunisia, with tanks, infantry, artillery and dive bombers in such force as to indicate to officers here that armored forces from Rommel's army were in the action, and that an effective junction had been made with the axis Tunisian army of Col. Gen. Jürgen von Arnim.

"Heavy fighting took place and is continuing," said the day's communique from General Eisenhower's headquarters.

The British Eighth army, which has thrown Rommel out of Libya and pursued him into Tunisia, still was about 200 miles south of the scene of this new battle and was reported engaged only in patrol activity.

The initial assault of the same new German offensive action was launched at 7 a. m. Sunday. The Germans smashed in with possibly 75 to 150 tanks and overwhelmed the American artillery positions holding the westward exit of Faid pass, although the young, relatively inexperienced American artillery men stayed with their guns to the last and American fighters and light bombers harried the enemy relentlessly.

Threatening Front.
The latest information indicated that the Germans were threatening to roll the front from Gafsa about 35 miles northward to Feriana.

Gafsa itself was in danger of being cut off by the spearhead of a Nazi panzer division and it was assumed here that the town might soon be evacuated.

American forces at Sidi Bouzid, 10 miles southwest of Faid pass, suffered heavily yesterday morning and at 9 a. m. was last reported moving back to the southwest.

(The German radio claimed the capture of Sidi Bouzid and the destruction of 14 American tanks; the German communique, however, spoke only of "lively patrol activity in Tunisia.")

The allied airforce in north Africa loosed its first raid against Sicily, sending American Flying Fortresses to bomb Palermo. Their bombs fired a large merchant vessel and oil tank stores, and struck drydocks. None of the big planes was lost.

In fiery battles over Tunisia, three American P-38 pilots each shot down a Messerschmitt 109, in addition to two German planes reported destroyed and three damaged earlier in the day over an American advanced airfield.

Eisenhower Confers
Gen. Dwight K. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief, conferred at tent headquarters Saturday with Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, U. S. A.

Eisenhower announced afterward that U. S. forces on the Tunisian front were being regrouped in order to send them into battle in the largest possible tactical units under American commanders.

Hijacking Campus Signs—

Souvenir hunters, fascinated by the colorful sign boards announcing forthcoming university parties, are making themselves quite a reputation these days by boldly removing the billboards within two or three days of their posting.

The signs, valuable only for their pre-party existence, are expensive and necessary. Yet despite their obvious importance, campus officials are seriously considering their elimination. They see no reason for posting signs which they know will be removed the following dark night.

Members of the central party committee, working in direct cooperation with faculty members, have asked students to refrain from taking the billboards until after the parties. Then they may gladly have the signs by calling the Bowman-Dutton Advertising company, 7122. They'll even remove them for you.

Unless the situation is stopped, all campus posters—except those locked in the glass-enclosed bulletin boards outside Macbride and Schaeffer halls—must be abandoned. Their cost is too high for the few hours they remain standing.

Union Union Needed—

Something long needed, and which may materialize after the war, is a truce between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. It seems that whenever the two have a difference of opinion on anything, fireworks start. But if a consolidation could be brought about under one management, labor troubles would be reduced to a minimum.

Since Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker returned from his Pacific ordeal, he has spent most of his time belittling the effort of labor. Labor doesn't like it and has made no bones about saying so.

Perhaps the World War I ace is correct in saying that if the war workers were placed in the foxholes and the troops in war plants, output might be doubled in 30 days. But no one has been able to bring proof that production is lagging, that the war worker is laying down on the job.

The controversy between Rickenbacker and the unions will probably remain a long range verbal duel. What may come of it is that the unions, through common sympathy because of Rickenbacker's blasts, will be able to clean out their undesirables and eventually merge, an act that would certainly prove a boon to industry in regearing itself for peace time production.

Thanks for That, Joe—

In Joseph Goebbels' recent speech, battling for Hitler, the Nazi propagandist said: "All that has been done since 1933 in Germany under the new leadership in economy, culture and social development, is so unique that nothing in a democratic country can be compared with it."

Thank God for that! "Only Fascist Italy," he continued, "has done anything comparable in its internal construction, thanks to the Duce." The same reaction from us greets that statement also.

Seeing what a criminal and hopeless mess those two nations, under their "wonderful" leaders, have made of themselves and all the rest of the world that they could reach, the free nations are more convinced than ever of the rightness and wisdom of their own systems.

As Franklin Roosevelt said in answer to critics of the administration who condemned government red-tape and confusion: "I think Berlin and Tokyo would like to have a little of that 'confusion' right now."

Paine and the Nazis—

Thomas Paine, famous pamphlet writer of Revolutionary times, was a man to whom the country owes a good deal. As a matter of fact we owe our independence to him, for he won over to the cause no less a person than George Washington.

As with other wise men, his wisdom is not for his time alone. He must have foreseen the Nazis, or people like them, for one of his remarks was: "It is impossible to calculate the moral mischief that mental lying has produced in society."

News Behind the News

Clare Boothe Luce Brings Up 'Freedom of the Air' By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—The British have maintained an empire covering one-fourth of the land surface of the earth for several hundred years by power upon the seas.

But this war has already proved to Mr. Churchill and parliament that the world of the future is to be an air world. The ship has become secondary to the plane.

The sea empire of the little isle of Britain, therefore, must become an air empire. So parliament has recently devoted its attention to various proposals of its air minister, designed obviously to fulfill this goal. The mistress of the seas must become mistress of the air.

Soft-hearted patriots in the United States, whose brains are so pliable that they will not follow the excellent British example and look out for the future of their own country, have started sympathetic propaganda here.

Statements have been broadcast that the United States has been selfish in maintaining its commercial aviation supremacy, because the British are manufacturing mostly fighter planes.

Now comes the new congresswoman, Clare Booth Luce, with the serious charge that this administration is now negotiating an air agreement with Britain for what is called a "freedom of the air" policy in the post war world.

The seriousness of the charge was shaded by the glamor of a widely known Republican congresswoman making her first speech, and everyone seemed more interested in what she wore than in what she said.

But an even graver importance was given the matter by the response of the administration to this charge that its secret negotiations portend a world of the future in which all planes of all nations may fly over any country at will and land wherever they choose.

Mrs. Roosevelt's answer seemed to confirm the charge, for she only asked in reply: "Are we going in for a peaceful world or aren't we?"

Vice-president Wallace, who occasionally has been in charge of the post war world for the administration, turned off the allegation in an affirmative manner by observing: "I am sure that the Republican party is not against either freedom of the seas or freedom of the air after the war."

The administration, therefore, practically announces in this indirect way that it is preparing something called "freedom of the air," but which appears to be freedom of the land as well.

Freedom of the seas went only to the three mile limit off each shore. By immigration, customs and port restrictions, each country protected its sovereignty against alien influence and encroachment.

But if commerce is to move in a future world of the air, freedom of the air policy would seem to allow each nation to move its commercial approaches fully in upon all other countries.

We would not think of allowing the British, the French and others to build railroads across our country, from New York to St. Louis, but freedom of the air would allow them to maintain many through the skies.

And, in a world of the future when St. Louis would be only 48 hours by air away from Australia and Russia, that right assumes far more significance than a railroad would. We could control a railroad.

What of immigration, customs and tariff protections when everyone flies around and lands at will? What of defense? With Britain now able to fly parachute troops to Algiers, would this not seem to involve the dangers of giving away a country by giving away its air?

The scope of this threat to American sovereignty has naturally terrified a portion of the American aviation industry, in on the proceedings so far. The conflict of opinion already has spawned a more moderate group of "freedom of the air" enthusiasts who propose only to carry that freedom up to the three-mile limit. They would have freedom of the air only where the sea is free.

This sounds slightly reasonable until you consider that air routes do not follow sea routes. For instance, Chicago might be the future important world air terminal of the United States, being the shortest distance across the polar air routes from far-flung destinations. Unless the "freedom of the air" was carried right to Chicago, it would not amount to anything.

Apparently, the "freedom of the air" enthusiasts are working on the theory that the United States has more planes, and, therefore, can get more out of such a policy than foreign nations can get out of us. This seems to be slipshod thinking, because each of the 20 Latin American nations, for instance, could maintain its own airlines into the United States and ignore ours.

Only two of those nations are in a position to maintain such a line, but nothing could keep the British—or even the Nazis and Japs of the future—from forming their own companies among residents of each of these countries and flying over us at will.

The advantage in any rivalry between the United States and Britain for control of post-war air routes would seem to lie with the British. While their air minister is screaming about commercial planes, they have commercial bases throughout the world, whereas we have kept to our own shores largely in the past.

The current propaganda sympathy for them may be premature, to say the least. A new subject has been opened in a very, very peculiar way.

Washington in Wartime—

Postal Officials Urge Folks to Use V-Mail

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—In spite of all the plugging in newspapers, on the radio and in postoffice lobbies, misunderstanding over mail service to our boys overseas continues.

Both the postoffice department and the army are worried. It is difficult for them to comprehend why the widely advertised V-mail isn't more widely used.

Relatives and friends of soldiers in foreign ports complain that it takes their letters weeks to reach the boys, while they receive letters from them in a third to a fourth of that time.

That answer is easy. Ships carrying mail from the United States travel in convoys. The mail has to be loaded at convoy points and then the ships have to assemble in the convoy. That is a tedious business.

That also explains why boys get 20 or 30 letters in one batch and perhaps nothing for a week or two.

The best remedy is V-mail. One thousand V-mail letters, transferred to miniature film, weigh only a few ounces. A thousand one-ounce letters would weigh more than 60 pounds. V-mail flies. Straight mail must go by boat. Letters in both categories are subjected to the same censorship and V-mail is in no way less private than regular mail. V-mail forms are obtainable at every postoffice.

Another cause of complaint (but mostly from the folks at home, according to army officials) is that packages can only be sent when the senders have written approval from the soldier's commanding officer and even then only in limited sizes.

This might be considered a drastic order, but you can bet that the problems involved in transportation far outweighed the morale benefits or the army never would have insisted on it.

Something of the problem the army is up against in getting the mail through may be seen from two recent statements: The military forces already are handling three times as much mail as they did at the end of World War I; and if the present rate of mail continues to the end of 1943, it will take the full time of 25 ships of more than 10,000 tons to handle the mail alone.

That's why postoffice officials plead that the folks at home use V-mail, a little patience, and a great deal more accuracy.

The handling of 20,000,000 overseas letters a week can be simplified greatly if that 10 percent now incorrectly addressed were reduced to one or two percent; and if half or two thirds of them were sent via V-mail.

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—People are always stepping up to Robert Benchley and asking brightly, "Well, how do you like Hollywood?" They ask it just as if Benchley, the writer who acts or vice versa, had just stepped from the train and were plunging his wit for the first time into this very, very funny place. They ask it, usually, as if he'd better say something funny and devastating about Hollywood right now or else.

Benchley, who is genial and vague and quite sure of himself in a confused sort of way, is willing to be a good fellow but he never knows how to answer. He hasn't learned the secret of making "Oh, I like Hollywood fine" sound like a neatly turned quip.

He will tell you, in deprecating manner, that people probably have him confused with some other writer—maybe Dorothy Parker. Or maybe somebody who once made cracks at Hollywood. After all, he says, he has made a total of 24 Benchley shorts and people are always telling him the one they liked best. "The snoring one," they say.

"And I never made a snoring

one," he says. "That was Bob Wildhack's."

Far from being a newcomer to pictures, Robert has been commuting between New York and Hollywood nearly 18 years. He came out the first time to be best man at a wedding—his friend Donald Ogden Stewart's. He was drama critic on the old Life magazine at the time, and arranged a movie writing contract to cover expenses of the trip.

His next adventure in films came when Fox, after he had eluded them for a year, pinned him down to make a test talkie called "The Treasurer's Report." I don't know why I didn't want to—either I just didn't want to work or I didn't believe talkies were here to stay," he says. He had no regular contract, only a drawing account. The first day he went to draw, he timidly asked for $2,000 to get his family home from Europe. He was amazed to get it with no protest whatever. "I had tasted blood now, and next time I asked for $5,000—and got that too." This kept up for a delightful period of time, and a "Report" (See HOLLYWOOD, page 5)

Carl Sandburg Speaks Tonight

Famous Author, Poet To Talk in Macbride On Abraham Lincoln

Carl Sandburg, one of the greatest living authorities on Lincoln, will speak on "What Would Lincoln Do Today?" in Macbride auditorium 8 o'clock tonight.

President Virgil M. Hancher will preside at the lecture, and Judge J. W. Bollinger of Davenport, special Lincoln collector, will introduce the poet and author.

Sandburg will attend a dinner in honor of Judge Bollinger, in the Triangle club rooms in Iowa Union, preceding the lecture. The judge is an alumnus of the university and possesses one of the largest private libraries on Lincoln in the United States.

Sandburg was born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1878, and learned about the "late war" from veterans of hard service under Grant and Sherman. More than 30 years ago he set himself an extraordinary task—to produce Lincoln's life as it was lived, and to impart to the reader the exact sensation of living while he reads it.

The two volumes of "The Prairie Years" appeared in 1926, and in 1930, "The War Years" brought him the Pulitzer history award.

The later volumes tell the complete story of Lincoln's life, from his inauguration as president in 1861 to his death and funeral in 1865. They also tell as completely as possible the story of the American nation in those years, and of all the people surrounding Lincoln who helped to shape the life of that nation.

Sandburg's home is Chickaming, near Harbert, Mich. His "Lincoln room" there contains 1,000 books and documents, and is an overflow of hundreds more in the barn close by.

Sandburg will be in Iowa City at 12:45 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb. 17, and will be in Des Moines on Thursday, Feb. 18.

Individual awards went to the five high men on each team as follows:

R.O.T.C. team: Henry Carey, A1 of Sioux City, 136; Glenn Pagan, A1 of Carlisle, 131; Charles Ellett, A1 of Iowa City, 128; Richard Glendenning, A1 of Ft. Dodge, 122, and Martin Duffy, A1 of Bussey, 120.

Freshman rifle team: Lester Brooks, A1 of Des Moines, 144; Robert Meer, A1 of Kalona, 143; Richard Gross, E1 of Iowa City, 140; Raymond Sievers, A1 of Remsen, 142, and James Starr, A1 of Iowa City, 141.

The next match will be fired Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the armory, at which time a team composed of infantry freshmen will fight against a team of freshman engineers.

The new constitution of the English Lutheran Ladies guild will be read at a meeting tomorrow afternoon. The group will meet for a potluck supper at 12:30 in the home of Mrs. George H. Mocha, 322 N. Van Buren.

The committee for the day is comprised of Mrs. Mocha, chairman, Mrs. Charles N. Kriel, Mrs. Amelie Swanbeck and Mrs. Hugh Hagenbuch.

At this primary election candidates are to be nominated by the Republican and Democratic parties for the following offices:

One Mayor
One Treasurer
One Assessor
One Police Judge
One Park Commissioner
Two Alderman-At-Large
One Alderman for each ward

At this primary election candidates are to be elected by the Republican and Democratic parties for the following offices:

Chief Petty Officer Talks of Ships and Their Men

Veteran of the Sea Recalls Submarine Menace of World War I

(This is the second in a series of articles written by Gene Claussen, former Associated Press correspondent at Iowa City, who is now serving with the merchant marines at Brooklyn, N. Y.)

BY GENE CLAUSSEN (AS-USMS)
SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Brooklyn, N. Y. (Special To The Daily Iowan)—I ran into the Chief walking along the sea wall that stretches around this maritime base and opens wide into the Atlantic ocean. He is a veteran of the sea, as most Chief Petty Officers in this service are, and I found his yarns and his bearing typical of the sea and the men it produces.

The Chief has been a sailing man most of his life, an injury of late landing him in New York from which he was ordered here as a lifeboat instructor. His job, needless to say, is one of the most important here because a lifeboat assumes tremendous importance in the eyes of any mariner.

"I've watched a lot of convoys coming and going out there," he said, pointing his finger toward the choppy sea which allowed view for a moving panorama of vessels slipping in and out of New York harbor. "And the boys are doing a great job, a tough job, in getting supplies through."

We were walking slowly now stopping every now and then to watch packs of planes and a blimp heading out to sea for convoy protection duty. "It was merchant vessels that did the big job of getting the British out of Dunkirk," the Chief remarked. "They made the huge landing last November in north Africa possible, and every day they're on the job from the icy run to Murmansk to the tepid waters of the south Pacific to Australia and India."

I knew he was on his favorite subject—ships and their men—so I kept my mouth shut and let him unravel.

Submarine Sinkings
"The number of sinkings by submarines have been great and out of every sinking there's a tale of men abandoning ship, striking out in lifeboats and fighting time and the elements for the price of their heads."

Since he hasn't been on the water in actual duty this war (due to his injury and job here) the Chief turned back the clock a bit and reported on some findings of World War I which bear repeating. The Chief himself was on a cruiser and a mine layer in the North sea and Atlantic.

"I was on a cruiser at the time of this happening," he said, "and we were patrolling a 60-mile strip of ocean near the English coast. One afternoon we sighted a lifeboat and pulled aside to haul in the survivors and here is the story we picked up from the crew:

The German sub surfaced after the vessel (a square-rigger) was blown to bits and one man shouted to the German commander that it was a fine thing for him to leave him and his fellow mates to wander about in an open lifeboat. The commander piped up that a cruiser would come along in half an hour and they'd be picked up and be in Pensance in an hour. "Or," the crew was surprised to hear him say, "you can set your sail and make port in two hours."

An angry seaman piped back that he was headed for London and not Pensance. "You can catch a train for London at 10:44," the German hollered back, "and you'll find a nice spot for dinner at a little place just five blocks due west of the point where you'll dock."

Thus stunned, the shipwrecked sailors watched the commander snap the hatch shut and the submarine quickly dived. They waited for the cruiser and, at the stated time, were picked up.

Secret Base
"It so happened," the Chief related, "that the sub had a secret base in a cove near Pensance and the crew, all speaking perfect English, made their way into the sailor-strewn port at frequent intervals."

"You know," he said, shifting the subject and lighting up a pipe, "I was a bit disappointed in the youth of America before this war broke out. I was confined to New York and watched the so-called glamour girls and play boys frolic. But I was disillusioned. I made the mistake of thinking New York was typically American. Out here you see boys from all parts of the country and they still have a fighting spirit truly American and basically haven't changed from our forefathers."

We continued our walk in silence. A stiff wind was blowing in from the south and the Chief was having trouble with his pipe but he didn't seem to mind. Another swarm of planes whined overhead and we followed them out to the convoy.

Iowa Mountaineers Will Hear Address By Fritz Weissner

The world's outstanding mountain climber, Fritz Weissner of New York City, will give an illustrated lecture at 7:30 in room 223, engineering building tonight.

Weissner, who was the leader of the American Alpine club's 1939 Karakoram expedition to the Himalayas, will be the guest of the Iowa Mountaineers.

He will relate the story of the attempted ascent of the second highest mountain in the world. Weissner reached an elevation of 27,500 feet and, except for a misunderstanding with his climbing companion, might have reached the summit.

He is credited with having climbed higher without the use of oxygen equipment than any other person. Only on Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, has anyone climbed higher. Four of his companions lost their lives on the expedition.

In 1932 Weissner was a member of the German-American Nanga Parbat expedition attempting the ascent of the seventh highest mountain in the world. He survived this expedition by the narrowest of margins, and two later expeditions were practically wiped out.

He began his climbing and skiing career in the mountains of Europe in 1917. Since becoming an American citizen, he has climbed the most difficult mountains on the North American continent.

In 1936 he reached the summit of Mt. Waddington, the highest peak of the coastal range of British Columbia, which heretofore was considered insurmountable. In 1937 he made the first ascent in history of Devil's Tower, Wyo., without the use of artificial aids.

Members of the Iowa Mountaineers club may obtain free admission tickets, and the general public may attend by paying a single program membership fee.

Service Fund Group To Observe Student World Day of Prayer

The World Student Service Fund committee, a relief organization for student victims at war, will meet Sunday in the Congregational church to observe the world student day of prayer.

Jane Byers, A4 of Fonda, heads the committee, which has been chosen from members of the Student Christian council, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Prof. M. Willard Lampe of the school of religion is treasurer for the fund.

The fund, working through the channels of the international Red Cross, is non-sectarian, and non-political. From headquarters in Switzerland, food, money, books, and medical supplies are sent to American, European and Chinese prisoners in internment or prison camps, or in exile.

The work done by the World Student Service fund is vital and duplicated by no other relief organization. It provides not only physical but intellectual and spiritual aid to student prisoners, many of them Americans.

Any students, faculty members or townspeople wishing to contribute, may do so at the Y. W. C. A. office in Iowa Union.

Virginia Rice Weds James Marvin Huff In Service Feb. 11

In a candlelight ceremony, Virginia Rice, daughter of Mrs. U. Grant Rice of Milton, became the bride of James Marvin Huff, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Huff of Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., Feb. 11 in Unionville, Mo. The single ring service was read by the Rev. Charles Caldwell, pastor of the Methodist church, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hauck.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauck attended the couple as best man and matron of honor.

The bride was attired in a two-piece dressmaker suit of pastel green, accented by brown accessories. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. Hauck wore a gown of dusty pink crepe and a corsage of rose camillias.

A dinner for 12 was held after the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hauck. The couple took a short wedding trip to Chicago before returning to Iowa City, where they are at home at 811 E. College street.

The bride was graduated from Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., and Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority and P. E. O. sisterhood. She has been a music teacher in the Iowa City elementary schools.

Mr. Huff attended the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. At present he is associated with Ely and Walker company of St. Louis.

5 Debaters to Enter Northwestern Tourney

Five University of Iowa debaters will go to Evanston, Ill., Thursday to compete in the annual western conference men's debate tournament to be held at Northwestern university Friday and Saturday.

They will participate in four rounds of debate on the national question, "Should the nations of the world form a postwar federal union?" Representatives from all the Big Ten schools will attend the tournament.

Iowa's representatives will be Gordon Christensen, A2 of Iowa City; William Arnold, A3 of Sioux City; Elbert Dempsey, A3 of In- travis, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rehder and Mr. and Mrs. Eric C. Wil- son.

Vronsky and Babin Piano Team Will Play Wednesday

"It's easy to do, but hard to explain." That is how Vitya Vronsky of the Vronsky and Babin two-piano team, which will appear in Iowa Union tomorrow at 8 o'clock, views the brilliant results of their pianistic team-work.

"Either two people can play together, or they can't," Vronsky sums it up. "It's almost a matter of breathing together, as though one were breathing the rhythm of the piece."

Vitya Vronsky, who is Mrs. Babin in private life, is petite and vivacious. Victor Babin is tall and good humored. They are both Russian born, and first met in the studio of the well-known concert virtuoso, Arthur Schnabel, in Berlin. Previous to this time both artists had separate concert careers.

In addition to his piano attainments, Babin is also a composer. He studied composition under Franz Srecker in Berlin, but his work bears little similarity to that rugged individualist's. An invigorating freshness of ideas all his own is the keynote of his several works, notably his "Concerto" for two pianos and orchestra.

This composition was first performed in this country by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and was also performed by the New York Philharmonic under Barbirolli.

"Composition," Babin says, "is much like writing. You must have the idea and know what to do with it musically. An idea can come to me at any time, but I like to work at one number until it is finished."

During the concert season there is no time for composition. When summer comes, however, they pursue together busy and beautiful hours practicing the "easy" to do but hard to explain" art of two-piano work. Their summers are spent on a ranch, which they have named "Piano Ranch," on the outskirts of Santa Fe, N. Mex.

Prof. M. W. Lampe Will Speak at Coe

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, is guest speaker for the Coe college spiritual emphasis week.

Professor Lampe spoke at the vesper service Sunday afternoon and at a fireside chat that evening. Yesterday afternoon he spoke to the independent women, and will speak this afternoon to the sorority women. Wednesday afternoon and evening he will speak to the college men.

Regarding Clothes Rationing

The joint statement by Donald Nelson and Prentiss Brown, WPB and OPA heads, respectively, to the effect that it is not planned to ration clothing now or in the near future should answer any questions regarding the possibility of clothes rationing. Strub's has and will continue to advise its friends and customers to buy only the merchandise they need . . . and to buy QUALITY merchandise.

NOW is a good time to buy "all-wool" and quality merchandise! Because of our foresight in buying last October and November, we have for your selection, today, large and varied assortments of choice styles in woolen suits, coats, and piece goods.

Assortments in apparel, like in most civilian goods, are diminishing daily. This is a natural condition in war times. Until now, the large stocks on hand at the mills, wholesale houses and in retail stores have kept the civilian population supplied at near normal levels, but from now on, every-day shortages will be felt. Therefore, we again advise you to buy what you need now.

Northwestern Edges Out Hawkeyes, 52-50

Thomsen Counters 11 Points in Final Tilt; Trickey Garners 18

Last Second Basket Gives Wildcats Win In Conference Game

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Sophomore Ronnie Schumacher's basket in the final five seconds of play last night gave Northwestern a 52-50 Big Ten basketball victory over Iowa.

By sweeping the two-game series, the Wildcats boosted their conference record to four victories in seven starts. Iowa has one win in eight games.

With Captain Russ Wendland showing the way, Northwestern jumped into a 27-19 lead at half-time. Earlier Iowa had rolled into a 11-11 deadlock but faltered when Jim O'Brien, rangy center fouled out.

The Wildcats increased their margin considerably at the start of the second period and were in front 47-27 before Ben Trickey and Theron Thomsen combined with Bob Lundstedt for a sensational rally. Trickey's goal tied the score 50-50 in the final 45 seconds. Schumacher then was substituted for the injured Bobby Jake and lifted in a one-handed shot to break up the game.

In the absence of Tom Chapman, who reported for duty in the air corps Sunday, Trickey shouldered the scoring load and racked up 18 points.

Psi Omega Crowned All-University Cagers By Edging Waterplant

The dentists of Psi Omega were crowned all-university cage champions last night as they edged past a fighting Waterplant quintet, 17 to 15, in the finals of the round robin tournament held on the fieldhouse basketball court.

Marsh Davenport raked in the game's high scoring honors by pouring three field goals and two charity tosses through the net for a total of eight points.

Although trailing at the end of the first quarter, 3 to 2, and at intermission, 10 to 8, the dents tightened defensively to hold the dormitory champions to one free throw during the third period, whereas Davenport and Moon Mullin tagged up a swisher alley to make the third quarter tally read 12 to 11 in their favor.

A floor shot by Ray Beecher, ahead by a three-point margin, Psi Omega guard, put the dents which was widened to a lone digit as a toss by Gordon Mau was good for two points.

Mullin's field goal again raised the margin to three points, only to be cut down on a floor shot by Bob Meyer. A free throw by Mullin ended the scoring, and the final score read: Psi Omega 17, Waterplant 15.

At the close of the contest, Glenn Devine, director of the intramural program, awarded the winning team with a championship trophy, as well as gold medals to members of the victorious outfit.

Waterplant received a sectional trophy and silver medals to individual players, the same as those awarded to other sectional crown holders.

Individuals receiving medals for honors achieved during tournament competition were: Moon Mullin, Psi Omega guard, who racked up 58 points for the tournament; Roy Ralston, Waterplant forward, who ran second in scoring with 46 points; and Jerry Seiffert, Theta Xi forward, who registered 17 points in one tilt to establish the single game record.

Bluehawks Journey To Play Mt. Vernon In Important Contest

University high's Bluehawks will travel to Mt. Vernon Friday in an attempt to make it two in a row over the host cagers. Last week the Blues soundly trounced Mt. Vernon, displaying their best form of the season to date.

This is an important loop contest for the U-high quintet since they must defeat the Mt. Vernon five in order to stay in the running for the Eastern Iowa conference crown. If they get past Mt. Vernon they will then play West Branch to decide the championship.

Coch Alley's quintet plays these last two games on foreign territory and the going will be tough. The Mt. Vernon aggregation will attempt to revenge last week's defeat handed them by the Blues.

If the Blues keep up the pace they set in last Friday's tilt, the Mt. Vernon clash will be an easy one. But it is quite possible that the losers last week will be more polished and ready for the Bluehawks.

Tribute should be paid to the hard-working guards of Coach Alley's squad, Ed Smith and Bud Halvorsen. Both the back court men had a big hand in clinching the final victory over Mt. Vernon. Smith, a cool ball handler and a good shot as well, played an outstanding floor game last Friday. Halvorsen drove in for three baskets and fed the ball to the forwards time and again.

Chapman Ends With 547 Total

The figures were totaled for Tom Chapman as a University of Iowa basketball player yesterday, after he left the team for the army air corps and among the findings were the following statistics:

547 points in 48 games, for an 11.3 average (199 field goals, 149 free throws with 52 missed for 74%).
343 points in 30 Big Ten games, for an 11.2 average (125 field goals, 93 free throws with 35 missed for 72%).
Chapman made 100 points in 16 games of 1940-41, 235 points in the Iowa season's individual record, in 20 games of 1941-42, and 202 points in 12 contests of 1942-43. Missing the five remaining games undoubtedly cost him a new Iowa record for he needed only 44 points, an average of nine per game, and had been averaging 16.8 per game.

Future Baseball Stars Will Have to Learn All Positions on Team

NEW YORK (AP)—It might not be a bad idea for the hard-working baseball pitchers to brush up a little on their fly chasing, and for the fly chasers to take a turn behind the plate in batting practice or expose themselves to jittery ground balls at third base. A little versatility might come in handy next summer.

With the man-power situation as it is, the one-position prima donnas and the every-fourth-day chukkers are liable to find themselves being called upon to fill in wherever and whenever a hole in the lineup appears.

In fact, it doesn't stretch the imagination much to vision pitchers taking their regular turn on the mound, and in between these appearances holding down 10 feet or so out in left field. There was a time when the practice was not uncommon, and right now the idea of a guy sitting around doing nothing for three or four days in a row just because he works a little harder than the other fellows for a couple of hours every fourth or fifth day doesn't seem just right.

We have an idea the most valuable player this year might turn out to be that perennial old codger, Mike Ryba. There's a fact after our own heart. He's at home wherever you put him, just wandering around out there and hanging up his hat wherever he finds a vacancy.

Mike is the champion jack-of-all-positions, but there are plenty of other players who have had varied experience and with a little dusting up could fit satisfactorily into other positions besides the one they have adopted more, or less permanently.

Jimmy Fox, old 6 by 6, is a human blowout patch ready to plug a leak nearly anywhere in the lineup. Bucky Walters was a journeyman third baseman before he found out he could curve a ball. That tireless old gaffer, Johnny Cooney, started out as a pitcher and has done a little first basing in addition to his regular outfield chore.

Eddie Joost is an infield grasshopper, switching from short to second to third without trouble. Mel Ott has a battle-scarred chest from playing third base now and then. Rudy York has played every infield position but shortstop in addition to catching and taking his chances of being beaned in the outfield.

Many pitchers, in addition to Walters, have doubled at other positions. Chubby Dean has played first base, and Johnny Lindell played first base and the outfield. Jack Wilson was an infielder and Boots Hollingsworth once played the outfield.

In fact, about half the players have at one time or another filled in at other spots, and this year those who are willing and able to do so may be valuable all out of their peace-time proportion when the draft really starts nibbling in earnest at the starters.

Commissioner Landis remarked that there would be baseball this year as long as they could get nine men for each side. That was a little exaggeration, but if he had said 12 men it wouldn't be so unreasonable. Particularly if they were 12 Mike Rybas. They could take their turns pitching and have three spares to replace gents who were out with injuries or hangovers or one thing or another.

If we were lining up a team now we think we'd try to get all 4-F players who could play all nine positions.

If they all could hit .330 it would help, too.

Board Defers Naming Coach Until Today

The naming of a temporary head football coach to replace Maj. Eddie Anderson, who was sworn into the army medical corps last Thursday, was deferred until today by the University of Iowa board in control of athletics at a meeting yesterday.

E. G. (Dad) Schroeder, director of athletics, said that because of the absence of several members, official action could not be taken at the meeting. All members must be present before the board can appoint a coach.

Schroeder confirmed, however, that Anderson has been granted a leave of absence from his duties and will return after the war to complete the remaining three years of his contract.

Jim Harris, line coach, who came with Anderson in 1939 has been mentioned as his probable successor.

Directors Declare Services to Continue Competitive Sports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Directors of the army and naval aviation physical training programs declared last night the two services would continue competitive sports during the war.

In a Mutual Broadcasting system symposium, Col. Theodore P. Bank, chief of the army's athletics and recreation branch, and Comdr. Thomas J. Hamilton, head of the naval aviation physical training program, said competitive sports help build better fighting men and urged colleges and high schools to keep up their sports activities.

Army officials recently announced that soldiers in the army's specialized training courses will not participate in varsity athletics because of lack of time. Asked whether that means competitive athletics is out for the duration in the army, Bank replied:

"Some people feel that the announcement precludes competitive games in the army program. Nothing could be farther from the truth. There will be competition and plenty of it. Competitive games have been a powerful weapon in the army's training program to date and it would be unreasonable to surmise that they will be thrown out the window now. A definite time is set aside each day for participation in athletics, and a good portion of that time will be devoted to competition."

Hamilton declared competition was "as old as the navy itself" and that it was the basis of crew training in peace and war.

"It has been proved that war is a very physical proposition," Hamilton said.

"We want the colleges to continue their competitive sports programs," Bank said, "and we want the high schools to do likewise because our records show conclusively that those who compete in athletics in school come to us more physically fit for the job at hand."

Bluejays Barely Beat Drake Cagers, 49-47

OMAHA (AP)—Creighton's Bluejays narrowly missed being toppled from the top perch in the Missouri Valley basketball conference last night, besting Drake university, 49-47.

Forward Gene Ollrich of Drake paced the scorers with 26 points, while Forward Ralph Langer had 18 for the Jays. It was the fifth conference setback for Drake, and Creighton's seventh straight win.

Wisconsin Team Wins Over Indiana, 57 to 53

First Big Ten Loss May Upset Indiana's Championship Hopes

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A fighting Wisconsin basketball team, never behind from the outset, defeated previously unbeaten Indiana, 57 to 53, in a Big Ten game last night and toppled the Hoosiers from a share in the conference leadership.

A crowd of 12,500 fans saw the Hoosiers drop their first game in 10 Western conference starts as Wisconsin set up a close defense under the basket. Indiana, which defeated Wisconsin handily in the first of a two-game series Saturday night, was behind at the half by a 33 to 27 count.

Fred Rehm, Wisconsin guard, dropped in a long shot in the opening seconds to put the Badgers in front, and with 12 minutes of the first half gone Wisconsin led, 20 to 11.

Late in the final period Indiana closed the margin to 51 to 50, but three quick Badger baskets erased the danger and Wisconsin controlled the ball after one more Hoosier basket and free throw.

Johnny Kotz and Bob Sullivan of Wisconsin, collected 19 points apiece. Ralph Hamilton and John Logan of Indiana, clicked for 14 each.

The loss dropped Indiana to second place behind undefeated Illinois in conference standings. Wisconsin remained in third place with five victories in eight games.

Boilermakers Defeat Michigan Quint, 33-27

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Taking a lead midway of the first half, Purdue's basketball team won the first of a two game series with Michigan last night, 33-27. The Boilermakers were ahead at halftime, 20-11.

Purdue controlled the ball off both backboards and, after going into the lead, was never seriously threatened. Twice in the second half Michigan narrowed the gap, but on each occasion Purdue either stalled or split the Michigan defense for quick dribbles up to the basket.

Ed Ehlers led Purdue scorers with 11 points. Leo Doyle, shifted to forward, paced Michigan with eight.

Purdue's winning margin would have been greater had the Boilermakers been able to hit their shots in the second half. The two teams play again here tonight.

Draft Situation Still In Doubt Concerning Baseball Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas league representatives who inquired as to the possibilities of listing baseball among occupations whose workers can't be draft-deferred have been told simply that the sport isn't on the non-deferred list as yet.

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, disclosed this yesterday. He cautioned against any speculation on whether baseball, or other fields not yet designated as non-deferred, would be so listed in the future.

McNutt, in his press conference, said he had not undertaken to advise baseball clubs whether they should prepare to play this year.

"That is their business," he observed.

A reliable source, who cannot be named, said some baseball men want McNutt to tell them not to operate, on the ground that this would force Commissioner Kenebrew Mountain Landis to "freeze" all player contracts.

McNutt said he was willing to confer with baseball representatives on their situation at any time, and added that he had talked with Clark Griffith, president of the Washington team of the American league. He declined to discuss his talk with Griffith, however.

Griffith said later he and McNutt "didn't talk about baseball, but only about the general situation."

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Rogers Hornsby, veteran of many illustrious battles along baseball's rugged trail, now general manager of the Fort Worth Cats, blasted at the management of six Texas league clubs, who he said "talk about manpower, but have their eye on money."

Executives of the A-1 minor circuit recessed their meeting at Shreveport over the weekend after asking Manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt to define the status of professional baseball players, declaring the league could not operate unless the manpower commission approved the game as essential.

"They don't want to take a chance," Hornsby charged of Shreveport, Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, Tulsa and Beaumont, Oklahoma City is standing with Fort Worth for operation of the league.

"They're afraid they'll lose something," said the man who last year was named to baseball's hall of fame. "They aren't willing to fight and take a loss in an effort to keep the game going; to give the people the finest, healthiest entertainment in the world."

"Now is the time for baseball men to take their eye off the dollar sign and demonstrate that they really believe in the merits of the game."

"Baseball has no more of a manpower problem than any other business," Hornsby added. "Walk down the street and you'll see every business battling against a shortage of workers, but they are keeping open—and serving a good purpose."

Russell Hurt; St. Pat's Tilt Is Cancelled

St. Pat's basketball tilt with Cosgrove last night was called off midway in the second quarter when Co-Captain Jim Russell sustained a thigh injury while driving in for a set-up shot.

Russell was driving hard at the basket when he ran into a hook projecting from the stage platform on the Cosgrove court. He was taken to Mercy hospital where his condition was reported as improved.

The contest was played on a small court and the unfamiliarity handicapped the Shamrock forward as he attempted his shot. After the accident, the officials and coaches agreed upon cancelling the game at that point.

Savold Scores K.O. Over Franklin in 10th

CHICAGO (AP)—Lee Savold, Paterson, N. J. heavyweight, scored a spectacular knockout over Lem Franklin, Cleveland, Ohio, Negro, in the tenth and final round of their bloody battle in the Chicago stadium last night.

Floored with a heavy right hand blast in the first round and his right eye rapidly swelling shut by the end of the second, Savold fought a remarkable game fight to come from behind and triumph. Savold's victory was frantically cheered by 8,548 spectators.

In the eighth, Franklin began tiring. Savold, the better boxer, ripped an uppercut to Franklin's chin in the ninth and hurled lefts and rights to the body, with Franklin bleeding profusely from cuts under both eyes and from the nose and mouth.

Starting the tenth, Savold drove a savage right to the jaw and the exhausted Franklin went down. He was counted out, but attempted to arise at "ten" only to fall back on his haunches.

Drive Planned By Red Cross

Chapter to Organize War Fund Campaign At Dinner Meeting
The Johnson county Red Cross chapter will meet for dinner at the Hotel Jefferson Friday at 6:30 p. m. to organize volunteer workers for the Red Cross war fund drive, scheduled to begin in Iowa City March 1.

Roger Holden, head of the national Red Cross speaker's bureau and former president of the Red Cross chapter in Chicago, will be the guest speaker. Lieut. Robert M. Schwyhart, chaplain of the Navy Pre-Flight school, will speak on "The Red Cross as I Have Seen It Work."

In charge of the after dinner program, which will include the speeches by Holden and Lieutenant Schwyhart, is Prof. Earl E. Harper of the school of fine arts.

All Johnson county Red Cross workers and anyone who may be interested is invited to attend. Reservations must be made not later than Thursday evening at the Hotel Jefferson, 4121. Those who cannot attend the dinner are invited to attend the program, which will begin about 7:30.

Bob Pfeiffer Named Head of Association of Senior Presidents

Bob Pfeiffer, A4 of Detroit, Mich., president of the college of liberal arts, was elected president of the S. U. I. association of senior presidents at a meeting of that group last night.

Other officers chosen were Roy W. Van Der Kamp, L3 of Sully, vice-president, and Mary P. Heller, N3, secretary treasurer.

Presidents from each of the college classes represented in the organization also selected members for two senior class committees—invitation and memorial. Purpose of the former group is to handle invitations for Commencement and the memorial committee is to determine the senior class gift to the university.

Selected to serve on the invitation committee were Charles Malcock, P4 of Belle Plaine; Marian Tank, N3; Sam K. Lane, C4 of Rock Island, Ill.; Charles Wormley, D8 of Kingsley; Bruce Mulhaup, E4 of Cedar Rapids; Scott Swisher, L2 of Iowa City; Robert J. Plank, A4 of Chicago; and Dorothy Welch, G of Iowa City.

The memorial committee consists of Hugh Keasling, P3 of Keokuk; Mary E. Harbert, N3; John M. Klein, C4 of Burlington; John Atkinson, D3; Carol McConaha, A4 of Centerville, Ind.; Nora Leonard, G of Hazen, S. D.; Alfred N. Holmberg, E4 of Glenbrook, Conn.; William O'Malley, L2 of Davenport, and Marvin E. Johnson, M4 of Sioux City.

Kids Ape Elders To Raise War Funds

LAS ANIMAS, Colo. (AP)—After the children of Columbian watched their elders in a cam- paign to raise the thousands of dollars necessary to pay for the manufacture of an army bomber, they laid their own plans—and set their sights accordingly. They announced plans to raise funds for an army jeep—cost $900—and they reached it, too.

Ellsworth Smith First 17-Year-Old Youth From Iowa City to Enter Naval Aviation

 Enlists

Ellsworth Smith, Iowa City high school senior, last week be- came the first Iowa City youth to be sworn into naval aviation under the new 17-year-old enlistment program.

Smith was given the oath in St. Louis by Ensign Loren L. Hickerson, former editor of The Daily Iowan, who is a member of the St. Louis naval aviation cadet selection board.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Har- old A. Smith of 311 Ronalds street, Ellsworth is not the only member of his family now iden- tified with naval aviation. His brother, Richard, was sworn in at St. Louis last fall, and will be called to active duty in the near future.

Ellsworth will complete his se- nior year at Iowa City high school this spring, then will be trans- ferred to aviation cadet, V-5, from his present inactive classification of apprentice seaman, V-5. His formal aviation training will begin at the navy's new flight-preparatory school at Murray, Ky., where cadets receive extensive instruc- tion in ground-school subjects. A minimum of two months of war training service flight training will follow, after which he will spend three months at one of the navy's five pre-flight schools.

Smith is a member of the se- nior boys council at City high this year. President of the junior class last year, he has been active in the high school's band and or- chestra during his high school and has participated in many national competitions.

Seventeen-year-old men only are now eligible for enlistment in naval aviation. They may be high school seniors who will graduate before June 30, or high school graduates or college stu- dents who have not yet reached their 18th birthdays.

In addition to meeting the navy's standard physical requirements for cadets, applicants must also rank in the upper one-half of the male population of their classes (if in high school), or in the upper two-thirds of the male popu- lation of their classes (if in col- lege.)

Representatives of the St. Louis board visited Iowa City high schools and the University of Iowa two weeks ago, and will return within the next two weeks for further meetings with ap- plicants. The principals of Iowa City's four high schools, and C. Woody Thompson, the university's di- rector of student affairs, have com- plete information on the program for 17-year-olds.

William Kerr Service Will Be Held Today At Local Mortuary

Funeral service will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Hohenschuh mortuary for Wil- liam Kerr, 66, who died Saturday at a local hospital after a ling- ering illness.

Born in Scotland, March 25, 1876, he became a member of the Masonic lodge of Wilmette, Ill., Odd Fellows, and the Painters Union at Evanston, Ill., after com- ing to this country.

He is survived by two daugh- ters, Mrs. Emil G. Trott and Fanny Kerr of Iowa City, and two grand- children, Margaret and Carolyn Trott, also of Iowa City.

The Rev. Iton T. Jones of the Presbyterian church will be in charge of the funeral service, Iowa City lodge No. 4, A.F. and A.M. will also conduct funeral service for Mr. Kerr at 9:30 this morning.

Youth Hostels Founder Will Deliver Talk Thursday

Monroe Smith, founder of youth hostels in America, will present an illustrated lecture on youth hostels in Macbride auditorium Thursday night at 7:30. He will tell listen- ers of the hostel movement in this country.

A youth hostel is an inexpensive overnight accommodation, usually set up in farm buildings with friendly farm folks acting as houseparents. All essentials are provided for only 25 cents a night. At present there are 209 chartered hostels in the United States.

The idea for such a movement came to Smith and his wife, Isabel, when they were studying in Eur- ope in 1933. It so appealed to them that they returned to America and opened their first hostel at North- field, Mass., Dec. 27, 1934. There have been such hostels within traveling distance of Iowa City, located at Anamosa, North Lib- erty, Mt. Vernon, Homestead and Monticello.

All those between 4 and 94 who enjoy the out-doors and like to travel under their own steam—by bicycle, foot, skis, horseback or canoe—may go hosteling. Hostellers cook their own meals, make their own beds, wash their own dishes, and tidy the hostels. There is no racial, creed or class distinction.

Settle Out of Court

The case of Barnes vs. Kiny, et al, originally scheduled for the district court yesterday morning, was settled out of court, Judge James P. Gaffney stated. In the next few days the non-jury and equity cases will be assigned.

ANNOUNCEMENT

No decision has been reached regarding the appointment of a new director for the school of journalism, it was announced here yesterday. The office will not be filled before the end of the current semester. The di- rector will be announced as soon as the appointment is made and is approved by the state board of education.

Point System Food Rationing To Begin Over Nation March 1

Sales of Restricted Foods to Be Stopped At Midnight Saturday

Rationing of food under the new point system will be inaugu- rated throughout the entire nation Monday, March 1, the office of war information announced yester- day. Included on the list of foods to be rationed in this man- ner are commercially canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vege- tables, juices, soups and dried fruits.

Retail sales of these products are to be suspended after mid- night this Saturday. All civilians are to register for War Ration Book Two during the six days beginning Monday, Feb. 22.

The OWI said in a bulletin retail sales of the rationed foods will be resumed March 1, when the first ration period begins. Holders of the new book will be allowed to spend 48 points dur- ing the entire month. Stamps marked "A", "B" and "C" will represent these 48 points, the bulletin explained.

The point allowance for April will be announced about March 15. This allowance may vary from that of the previous month. Stamps for ensuing months are to be used in alphabetical order.

Each grocery store is to give an official table of point values for the more than 200 foods included in the rationing program. This table must be prominently dis- played by the store for the infor- mation of purchasers.

Point values will not be dis- closed until the suspension of re- tail selling becomes effective Feb. 22. Value will be determined ac- cording to the abundance of the product and the quantity in which the product is sold. This value will be the same in every store in the country.

Application for ration books may be made by one member for the entire family at any of the registration points to be an- nounced by the local war price rationing board. In this case, a

Johnson County Loans Available to Farmers

New Program to Help In Production of Crops, Ray E. Smalley Says

New loans became available for Johnson county farmers yesterday under a new program to help in the production of war crops when Chairman Ray E. Smalley of the AAA announced the completion of a regional agricultural credit corporation plan.

According to Smalley, Johnson county farmers now will be able to draw upon a 200 million dollar national fund in order to facilitate the increase of livestock and war crop production, especially such highly vital items as flax, hemp, and soybeans.

Johnson county farmers, farm partnerships or livestock corpora- tions, if in need of financing for increased war production, should contact Ernest F. Burke in the Iowa City post office building. Approval for the new loans, which may be obtained in ad- dition to regular ones now being made for increased production, must be obtained from Burke and the county war board.

The money paid out in this man- ner will be designated as "ad- vances" and the producers will not have to pledge assets other than the crop itself in payment for these advances.

copy of War Ration Book One must be surrendered for every member of the family.

A consumer declaration sheet must also be filled out for every member of the family. Informa- tion asked for by this sheet in- cludes amount of coffee on hand as of November 28 (the first day of coffee rationing) and the amount of canned goods on hand as of Feb. 21, the first day of the "freeze" on canned products. The sheet may be obtained at the registration center.

In reporting the amount of canned goods on hand, it will not be required that the housewife include the number of cans or jars containing less than eight ounces of the product. Her report must include information on commer- cially canned fruits, vegetables, vegetable juices, soups, chili sauce and catsup.

Junior C. of C. to Meet

Capt. E. J. Gifford of the Iowa State Guard will address the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce at that organization's meeting to be held at 6:30 this evening at the D/L grill. He will speak on the activities of the state guard.

Notice to Gas Customers (except industrial gas users) Who Received Gas Service During All or Any Part of the 20-Month Period from August, 1940, to March, 1942, Inclusive, from IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY (or from any of the following utilities to which Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company is successor:

- CEDAR RAPIDS GAS COMPANY
IOWA CITY LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY
OTTUMWA GAS COMPANY
PEOPLES LIGHT COMPANY
PEOPLES POWER COMPANY)

This advertisement is published by the undersigned Tappan Gregory, as officer for the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, pursuant to a decree of that court entered September 3, 1942, in Cause No. 7454, as amended.

The court is preparing to make a refund to eligible customers of the above named utilities who were ultimate consumers during the 20-month period from August, 1940 to March, 1942, inclusive (known as the "refund period") of the gas supplied by Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America. Under the court's decree of September 3, 1942, as amended, providing for refunds, industrial gas users are excluded from participating in the refund, and gas used for house or space heating will largely be excluded in determining the amounts of individual refunds.

The following four paragraphs will indicate whether or not you are called upon to reply to this advertisement:

- 1. If you recently received a notice from the undersigned stating that according to the records of the utility mentioned in such notice you received gas service from it during the entire 20-month refund period, you should not reply to this advertisement with respect to the service covered by such notice.
2. If the recent notice from the undersigned to you stated that according to the records of the utility mentioned in such notice you received gas service from it during only a part of the 20-month refund period, and if that information was correct, or if in reply to that notice you informed the undersigned of other addresses at which you received gas service from that utility during the 20-month refund period, you should not reply to this advertisement with respect to the service covered by such notice.
3. If you received gas service (except industrial gas service) from one or more of the other utilities named in this advertisement (in addition to the utility mentioned in the notice you recently received from the undersigned) during a part or all of the 20-month refund period, and if you have not already communicated to the undersigned the addresses at which you received gas service from such other utilities, then you should reply to this advertise- ment, giving information in the manner outlined below.
4. If you received gas service (except industrial gas service) from one or more of the above named utilities during a part or all of said 20-month re- fund period but have not received any notice from the undersigned and have not communicated with him as to when and from what utility you received gas service during that period, you should reply to this advertisement, giving information in the manner outlined below.
If you determine, in accordance with the above, that you should reply to this advertisement, please write on the coupon set out below (1) the name of the utility from which you received gas service during the 20- month refund period of which the undersigned is not, or has not been, previously advised, (2) the address or addresses at which you received such service from that utility during the 20-month refund period, and (3) your present address; and mail the coupon to the undersigned.
If you find it necessary to furnish information regarding gas service received during the 20-month refund period from more than one of the above named utilities, you should reply on separate pieces of paper giving the information as to gas service received by you from each of such utilities.

Unless information to be furnished by you in reply to this advertisement is received by the undersigned within five (5) days from the date of this advertisement, it will necessarily be disregarded in determining your eligi- bility to receive a refund or the extent of your participation in it.

The individual refunds will be small, varying with (1) the number of months within the 20-month refund period during which the customer re- ceived service, (2) the normal billing to such customer within a monthly billing period occurring between the dates of September 3 and October 31, 1942, and (3) the number of months within the refund period during which the particular utility received natural gas from Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America.

Your cooperation in furnishing information if required by this advertise- ment is respectfully invited. All information received by the undersigned will be carefully checked and every reasonable effort will be made to arrive at an accurate determination of your eligibility to participate in the refund, and the extent of your participation.

Refund checks will be issued by the Clerk of the Court to the eligible customers of each utility. Where the service was received by the customer at more than one address, the refund to such customer may be made by more than one check.
