Demands More Civilian Effort In War Work

Defends Army's Goal Of 8,200,000 Men By End of This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Replying to demands that the proposed size of the army be reduced, Secretary of War Stimson demanded in turn last night that industry and agriculture first be stepped up to top efficiency.

In his first major radio address in more than a year, Stimson said that the argument for a smaller army depends upon the assumption that civilian efficiency cannot be increased, that every man-hour put into the army must result in an equal loss to industry, and asserted that "such an assumption is not true." "It is the duty of every citizen," he continued, "to examine into his own life and his own community and see whether production in industry and on the farm cannot be increased enormously in efficiency; whether absenteeism, threatened strikes, general complacency, insistence on 'business as usual,' or even insistence on hoped-for standards of living, are not going a long way to prevent what could be accomplished by an all-out war effort.

Take a Look About
"If you are content with the present situation and with the present results in industry, in agriculture, and in our civilian life, then I suggest that you go to one of our great camps and see our boys in uniform working. I suggest that you compare your comforts of life with theirs, and then ask yourself again—are you content?"

Criticism of the proposed size of the army, said the secretary, results from the delusion that the war can be won "in some easy manner and without too much trouble and sacrifice." That size — 8,200,000 men by the end of 1943 — has been fixed after months of study by the general staff and the war college, Stimson explained, correlated with studies of the navy and the marine commission, and approved finally by the president.

Best Possible
"They have thus had the benefit," he asserted, "of all the brains, accumulated research, and judgment which our governmental machinery provides for that purpose. They have not been worked out in disregard of, but in full reference to, our program of shipbuilding and production of equipment."

Stimson reiterated his advocacy of compulsory manpower legislation to replace the present voluntary system, first expressed in a letter to Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the senate military committee Feb. 27 endorsing the Australia-Wadsworth bill. "I have reached the conclusion," he said, "that one of the reasons why industry and agriculture and the whole civilian population have not moved more rapidly towards an all-out effort is that we have relied almost entirely on voluntary cooperation."

Allies Take Land, Air Offensive in Tunisia As Rommel Retreats

U.S. Fliers Bag 19 German Warplanes Over Sicilian Strait

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP) — Allied forces in Tunisia seized the initiative on land and in the air yesterday as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel dragged his battered panzer column out of the clutches of the British 8th army, leaving 50 wrecked tanks on the battlefield.

American Flying Fortresses and Lightning fighters hatched a powerful German air formation over the Sicilian strait, accounting for 19 out of an estimated flight of 50 German warplanes, to hand Reichsmarshal Goering's forces the same kind of thumping that Rommel had received from the British artillery.

Decisive Defeat
While Rommel is noted for his daring, it is difficult to see how he can hope to take the initiative in the south with a new attack in the face of the decisive defeat suffered in his initial try.

German and Italian communiques significantly omitted mention of Rommel's attacks and his subsequent retreat. They were reticent, too, on the score of the air battle off the Tunisian coast except to claim five planes shot down and to say their own planes were protecting a convoy.

The allies made no mention of attacking a convoy but it was presumed here that the Fortresses carried out their attacks despite opposition.

In northern Tunisia small German attacks resulted in the end in gains for the British First army which counter-attacked and forced the axis troops back on their heels.

Withdrawing Forces
Having suffered far heavier losses than earlier reports had indicated in his assaults of the week-end—an allied communique revised upwards from 33 the total number of German tanks left on the field—he apparently was withdrawing his forces into the protective terrain southwest of the Mareth line.

"The total of enemy tanks definitely in our hands following the battle of March 6 is now 50," the allied command announced.

In yet another southern Tunisian sector the allied line moved steadily eastward, with the French occupation of the town of Tozeur, 50 miles southwest of Gafsa, and allied patrols reported operating on the outskirts of the latter point.

Price Officials Place Ceiling On Live Hogs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government price control officials were reliably reported last night to have decided to place a ceiling on live hogs at a top price of between $14.50 and $15 per hundred pounds, Chicago basis.

Hogs have reached a top of $16 in recent days due to the unprecedented demand for meats for war needs and civilian requirements. A top of $15 would be $1.75 above the government's support price for hogs.

Although it would bring about some reduction in hog prices, the new retail ceilings on pork and pork products which go into effect April 1 possibly will be left unchanged, it was said. Some packers have complained that they are being squeezed between advancing hog prices and ceiling prices on meats.

A food official who requested that he be not quoted said Economic Stabilization Director Byrnes has instructed the office of price administration to establish hog ceilings, after a series of conferences with Price Administrator Brown, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and farm leaders.

CAMERA FOLLOWS AMERICAN TROOPS INTO TWO-DAY TUNISIAN BATTLE

A GLIMMERING OF WHAT BATTLE really means is given the folks at home by these action photos of a two-day attack by American forces on axis troops defending the central Tunisian town of Seneid. The action was fast and furious in the struggle for the railway town as the Nazis sent their planes over in a strafing attack, top, in an effort to halt the advancing Yanks. Note how vehicles, men and anti-aircraft guns are scattered to lighten casualties. There were some, however, like the wounded half-track gunner, lower left, who is being given a sulfa tablet by a medical corps man. One of the medical cars can be seen hurrying across the battlefields in the top photo to pick up wounded men. The successful American attack resulted in capture of Seneid and a considerable bag of prisoners, like the Italians who were caught and confined in the barbed wire enclosure, lower right.

French Slay Scores Of Nazis in Protest Against Labor Edict

Hitler-Laval Campaign To Round Up Workers Causes Growing Revolt

LONDON (AP) — Scores of German soldiers and Gestapo agents have been slain in France during the past three days as a result of the campaign of Pierre Laval and Adolf Hitler to round up 400,000 Frenchmen for forced labor in German war industries, a Fighting French spokesman reported last night.

The mounting popular anger against the high-handed methods of the Nazis and Vichy puppets has resulted in numerous outbreaks among the civilian population, informants said, adding that there has been a sharp increase in attacks on Germans by French guerrillas.

200 Nazis Slain
Figures on the number of Frenchmen and Germans killed in the past 72 hours were lacking here, but the spokesman said the total of Nazi dead alone might exceed 200.

Reuters reported from the French frontier that extreme tension prevailed in Paris last night. The dispatch said German troops had built barricades in many streets and that all hitherto unprotected barracks and officers' canteens were being barb-wired and sand-bagged.

Disorders were said to have broken out all over France with the most serious clashes in Paris, Lyon, Marseille, Brest and industrial centers in Normandy, Brittany and Alsace-Lorraine.

Between 20 and 40
The Fighting French said the stepped-up Nazi drive was being concentrated upon men between 20 and 40, both skilled and unskilled. While the advertised purpose of the roundup is to provide labor for German war plants, some quarters saw in the German campaign an effort to denude the country of all men, fit or unfit.

Welles Denies Standley Charge That Russia Conceals U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expressing shock and surprise, administration leaders on Capitol Hill last night disputed Ambassador William H. Standley's charge that Joseph Stalin conceals American lend-lease aid from the Russian people. The state department, saying that Standley spoke without consulting Washington, cabled him for a transcript of his remarks. The White House was silent.

The Standley statement, made at a press conference in Moscow Monday, created a major sensation in the capital, which sought to gauge its effect on Russo-American relations. There was some unofficial speculation that the 70-year-old admiral might be rebuked on the ground that he had spoken out of turn, but this opinion was by no means unanimous.

Some felt that his blunt expressions of discontent might hasten, rather than retard, that frank exchange of views on all problems which the state department recently has been advocating.

Only Monday, Vice president Wallace, in an address at Delaware, Ohio, warned that "unless the western democracies and Russia come to a satisfactory understanding before the war ends, I very much fear that World War III will be inevitable."

It was Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, who told reporters yesterday that Standley had not consulted this government prior to his Moscow statement. Welles then went to the unusual length of releasing his press conference remarks in textual form.

As for the relations between this country and Russia, Welles said: "The understanding which exists between the united nations in this great enterprise in which they are joined for the purpose of defeating utterly the axis tyrannies and for the purpose of insuring the security of the liberties of the peoples of the united nations would not be worth much if it were not based upon complete trust and understanding between all of them."

"I believe that understanding and trust exists and I am perfectly confident that anything that Ambassador Standley may have said could not have been intended to do and did not cast any doubt on that trust and understanding. For the time being I am going to limit myself to that brief statement." (See STANDLEY, page 6)

RAF Hits Nuernberg In Blockbuster Raid

Germans Acknowledge 'Major Damage' From Fires, Huge Bombs

LONDON (AP) — The RAF's heavyweights struck nearly 500 miles inside occupied Europe Monday night with a blockbuster and fire attack on Nuernberg where, the Nazis conceded yesterday, "major damage was done, especially in residential quarters . . . some places of cultural and historic interest were destroyed . . . the population suffered losses."

The Paris radio went off the air at 10 p. m. last night, indicating that the RAF again might be raiding axis targets on the continent. Enemy activity also was indicated by an authoritative announcement that an enemy raider was shot down in the sea last night.

The German radio, elaborating on the results of Monday night's attack on Nuernberg, said bombs fell on a theater as well as the famous Germanic museum and the "Maut hall" which was built in the 15th century. The Berlin broadcast also claimed three hospitals and two old age asylums were hit in Nuernberg.

Yesterday afternoon the Germans hit back weakly. Two planes heading inland from the south coast put London under alert briefly, but there were no reports of bombs dropped or of any damage.

A communique from the air and home security ministries later last night said enemy aircraft dropped bombs on two places on the south coast of England. It reported damage and casualties including a small number of persons killed.

UNIVERSITY PLAY TICKETS

Because of the illness of Patricia Pierce, A4 of Beaumont, Tex., who plays the part of the grandmother in the university play "The Distaff Side," the performance scheduled for last night was cancelled.

Tickets for last night's presentation will be valid for the extra performance to be given Saturday night, or may be exchanged for any other performance this week.

Rosa Neil Reynolds, G of Gary, Ind., will play the part for the remainder of the week.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, Wednesday — The Germans, after withdrawing westward across southern Russia through most of the winter, have launched a giant counteroffensive in the Donets basin and in a 100-mile march have recaptured eight key cities south and southeast of the big fortress city of Kharkov, the Russians acknowledged early today.

The German offensive was launched late in February with 25 strong divisions, or approximately 375,000 men, including 13 divisions which had been replenished after previous action and 12 fresh ones rushed from the west to this vital sector of the long German-Russian battlefield.

The Russians acknowledged giving up the cities of Krasnograd, Lozovaya, Pavlograd, Krasnoarmeisk, Kramatorsk, Barvenkovo, Slavyansk and Lisichansk.

All of these had been taken in the great Soviet winter offensive. Lozovaya, about 65 miles short of the Dnieper river, was the highwater mark of the westward push.

Extent of Retreat
It is just 100 miles from Lozovaya eastward back to Lisichansk, and, as nearly as such things can be measured on such an active front, this represented in general terms the extent of the Soviet retreat.

The inference could be made from the communique that the German advance had been checked at this point, but it was not so stated and it was made clear that the battle still was raging at full fury.

"Fierce battles in which the German Fascist troops are suffering tremendous losses in men and material, especially in tanks, are continuing in the district to the south and west of Kharkov," said the Moscow communique.

The Russians in falling back before the powerful onslaught, conducted by "a numerically superior enemy," withdrew north-eastward to the region of the northern bank of the northern Donets river, the bulletin said.

"Further attempts of the enemy to develop his offensive and force a crossing of the northern Donets river and take Kharkov were met by firm resistance of our troops and the enemy did not meet any success," the communique added.

Opening New Fronts
In the period covered by this great action in the south, now disclosed in detail by the Russians for the first time although the Germans had given glimpses of it, the Russians were opening new fronts northwest and west of Moscow.

As told by the Russians in the communique, the Germans launched their offensive in the Donets region at the end of February "against our troops who had pushed forward toward the Dnieper river."

"The German command," said the bulletin, "had intended by means of deep encircling blows to surround and destroy our advanced troops and recapture the district of Kharkov."

The 25 reinforcing divisions included eight tank and five infantry divisions recently rushed from western Europe, and 12 other fresh divisions, including four tank, one motorized and seven infantry, the communique set forth.

"Thus," continued the communique, "the Germans had concentrated on a narrow sector of the front 12 tank, one motorized and 12 infantry divisions, altogether 25 divisions."

375,000 New Troops
At an average of 15,000 troops to a division, the Germans thus would have amassed approximately 375,000 fresh troops for the offensive, undertaken at a time when the warm spring winds were thawing the earth.

Russian dispatches, in fact, had ascribed to the thaw's mud the slowing of the Red army onslaught which had pushed steadily onward from Stalingrad throughout the winter. The westernmost point which had been claimed by the Russians in this southern offensive was the rail junction of Lozovaya, about 65 miles from the Dnieper at its great bend.

Although the communique said that fierce battles are continuing, the implication of the bulletin was that the Nazi onslaught at least had been checked.

OK Arnold Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman Arnold, former assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust prosecutions, was confirmed unanimously by the senate yesterday as associate justice of the U. S. court of appeals for the District of Columbia.

This course, if approved by the committee, will throw on the house floor the whole knotty pay-as-you-go issue, including the Ruml proposal to skip a tax year in achieving a current tax payment basis.

The withholding levy would become effective July 1. It would not be an additional tax but collections under it would be applied to actual taxes as now computed.

'Rosie' vs. Teacher—

Dear Editor: It is about time some one stands up and says something in defense of teachers and school teaching as a profession.

Some girls, and men, say, "Why teach? It is so dull and the pay is poor." If one investigated this field she would learn that salaries have greatly increased and that teachers are always sure of a steady pay check.

And DON'T use the old argument "Well, school teaching isn't even patriotic." It certainly is! You, as a school teacher, are one of the most patriotic workers in our country.

So, those of you who speak harshly of teaching, and those who plan to be the higher paid "Rosie" instead of the "helper of our younger generation"—think twice before you utter those words again.

Sincerely, Natalie Pedersen.

Catering to the Soldier—

The United States soldier—the best-fed fighting man in the world—eats more than a ton and a quarter of food a year, or about seven pounds a day, measured in terms of the raw product as it comes from the farm.

The ration of a soldier and the ration of a civilian vary widely in some items of food and vary only slightly in other items.

On-rationed items, such as sugar and coffee, the soldier gets only slightly more than a civilian. Only in food that comes from grain, such as bread and cereals, will the civilian consume more this year than the soldier.

Experience has taught the army what the average soldier will eat. He doesn't like kale; in fact, he has little taste for green vegetables of any kind.

By catering to his tastes, the army cuts down on waste, is able to serve three big meals a day at a cost per soldier of approximately 56 cents a day or $204.40 a year.

Your Help Is Needed, Too—

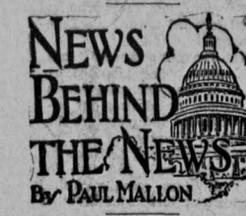

Knowing that it must work harder than ever to take care of the men who are fighting for our safety and security, the Red Cross has started a two weeks nationwide war fund subscription campaign which will come to a close on March 15.

General George C. Marshall said, "As chief of staff of the Army of the United States, I would like to say to every family throughout our great democracy, that in this program of training for defense in which we are all engaged, the home front is of equal importance with the military front."

The Red Cross, too, is keenly aware of the relationship between the home and army morale. One of its major responsibilities is to serve as a connecting link between the men of the armed forces and their homes.

Now is the time for every man and woman, wherever located, to personally support the Red Cross—for both home and army morale, for strengthening of the home and army front.

Will Japs Open China Drive?

Such Ideas Are Sheer Chow Mein

WASHINGTON — A few swift local thrusts made by the Japs in China have aroused both fears and threats that a drive is on to knock China out of the war.

This is no doubt the time for the Japs to try it if they can, but a survey of their available fighting power on the ground in south China has exposed the truth that they will do well to hold on to what they have.

When General MacArthur's flyers blasted the whole 22 ship Jap convoy out of the water in the Bismarck sea, they pointed to a new realistic understanding of the war in the Far East.

sary for the Japs to knock China out, but also the indispensable ships (upon which latter item they are exceptionally short).

MacArthur's kind of aid to China is unfortunately not being assessed in the current tabulation of our lend-lease deficiencies.

POWER OF GERMAN ARMY STILL A QUESTION— A satisfactory assessment of the war on the Russian front is harder to make.

This is of especial importance to us in view of the imminence of our promised invasion of the continent this year, because it may largely determine what we will have to face.

Some authorities claim the heavy fighting in Russia has been at only a few strong points, such as Stalingrad, the Donets basin, and the Caucasus.

Rumanian Troops Certainly, he tapped Rumania harder than anyone else, and some estimates of Rumanian troops on the front run as high as 30 divisions.

no more than 40 divisions of satellites' troops could be made to fight in Russia for Hitler — a paltry 600,000.

The number of German divisions on the front has been reported at 180—2,700,000 troops.

Certainly then, the best of the German eastern army has been in Russian fighting and has not been saved out. Certainly also, German production is declining and the manpower squeeze is so great that he has been forced to take men out of the army and put them back in the factories, in some instances.

Beyond Comprehension How he can organize a spring offensive comparable in any way to that of last year is beyond comprehension of any outside authority.

True, his losses have not amounted to anything like the fantastic Russian claims (else his entire army would now be twice annihilated). But where he is going to get the men, planes and equipment to try to rush back to Stalingrad is hard to imagine.

The general expectation is that he will retire to a shorter eastern line which can be defended by strongly holding a few points against the Russians, and then switch his endeavors mainly to meet our expected blows—by a march through Spain, an attack on Turkey or a purely defensive internal consolidation.

GOOD FIGHTING WEATHER AHEAD— Confidence here in the Tunisian outcome has in no way been diminished by recently discovered American defects on that front.

WAKE UP, AMERICA! Should the Axis Peoples Suffer for Supporting Their War Leaders? As debated by William Hillman, Oswald Garrison Villard.

MR. HILLMAN OPENS: The peoples of the world have cried out against war for centuries. There is one way to put an end to the anarchy called war—to keep the memories of people fresh with an understanding—that lashes like a whip—wars do not pay!

Germany during this war. Mr. Hillman blows cold in his challenge after being so hot at first. What does he mean by "policies of restraint?" Let him be specific.

MR. VILLARD OPENS: To punish the axis peoples would mean the application of vengeance to millions of innocent Germans, Italians and Japanese who have abominated the actions of their governments and of the criminals who control them, but have been unable to revolt and regain power, and because of false ideals of patriotism.

MR. HILLMAN REPLIES: Hitler and German militarists have a better knowledge of their people than Villard in view of their unparalleled mass crimes. The Versailles Treaty failed partly, because it provided no long-term control against military resurrection.

Interpreting The War News Japanese Emphasize Defense in Historic Army Day Festival

The Japanese army is observing its annual festival today (Wednesday) by holding big air raid drills in Tokyo and Yokohama. Axis broadcasts say the exercises "will be made more realistic by the flying of captured American and British planes" over the capital of the empire and its seaport.

A year ago, when most of the world was speculating on Japan's next move, there was widespread belief that before many months or weeks she would attack the Soviet Union.

At that time the Mikado's armies stood at the pinnacle of triumph. Not even Hitler in Paris in June, 1940, had a more dazzling prospect spread before him. Last March 10 the Japanese had seized virtually all the oriental possessions of the European and American powers.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds 'Goldwyn Isn't Making a Movie, He's Opening Up a Second Front' By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A bunch of the boys were looking over the growing east for Samuel Goldwyn's "Russia." They counted off Ann Harding and Walter Huston, Walter Brennan and Jane Withers, Erich Von Stroheim and Teresa Wright and so on, and consensus was that here indeed was an aggregation of temperaments.

Unlike some of the big noises that sit behind studio desks, the big noises of total war—as used for film purposes—are safely confined and catalogued in sound effects libraries. They used to be preserved in tin cans, but priorities now have them in fire-proof fiber.

Hal Shaw, sound librarian at Warner's, has added thousands of feet of biffs and bangs to the library there in the aftermath of "Air Force," "Edge of Darkness" and "Action in the North Atlantic."

Jean Arthur, with this picture, becomes Hollywood's "first lady of Washington." That is, she's spent more screen time there than any other star. James Stewart made love to her, remember, in a senate ante-room and Ronald Colman and Cary Grant had romantic business with her in the supreme court building.

200 Army Cadets Will Begin Pre-Meteorology Class Monday

A group of approximately 200 army cadets are expected to arrive here Monday to begin a 48 weeks' training period in the army air forces' pre-meteorology unit which has been assigned to the university, it was announced yesterday. They will be housed in the Commons, it was stated.

In general charge of the administration of the group is Dean Harry K. Newburn of the college of liberal arts, and the commanding officer is Capt. John U. Galvin, who arrived in Iowa City a few days ago.

Coordinator working with Dean Newburn is E. N. Oberg of the mathematics department. Assisting him will be Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department, and Prof. E. P. T. Tynndall, also of the physics department, in charge of physics; Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department, in charge of speech, social studies and history; Prof. H. McCarty of the commerce department, in charge of geography, and Prof. Roscoe Woods and Prof. Lewis E. Ward, both of the mathematics department, in charge of mathematics.

The group expected next week belongs to the C class and is made up of high school graduates, some of whom have had college work. They will be in uniform and will attend classes in the campus buildings.

Also stationed here with Captain Galvin is Lieut. Frank Havlicek, athletic director for the pre-meteorology school, and several other non-commissioned officers.

Local Boy Scouts, 2 Cub Packs Meet

Troop Inaugurates Opening Ceremony At Methodist Church

Regular weekly meetings of four Iowa City scout troops were held Monday night. Cub pack 2 held their regular monthly meeting.

Troop 2 and cub pack 2 held a combined meeting to work out a program of organization and activities. The meeting was held at Longfellow school. George L. Whitaker, cubmaster, and Howard H. Biendarra, scoutmaster, were in charge.

Troop 9

The program for troop 9 of Manville heights was presented by the Flying Eagle patrol. There were games and group singing following the meeting. During the past week scouts of troop 9 under the leadership of Patrol Leader Bob Crum distributed Red Cross posters in the downtown area. Bruce Bundy, assistant scoutmaster is the leader of the troop.

An opening ceremony was inaugurated at the meeting of troop 14 which was held at the Methodist church Monday night. Ray Culp is the scoutmaster. Two movies, "Down Where the North Begins," and "Mexico," were shown. They are the first in a series which will be shown to the scouts once a month by P. G. Harris of the visual education department of the university.

Horse Head Patrol

The Horse Head patrol with William Paulson as patrol leader was in charge of the opening ceremonies at the meeting of troop 13 which was held at Horace Mann school. Don Fryauf of the Indian patrol will be the leader of a program of physical development which was initiated Monday night. Basketball and other games were played following the meeting. Frank Fryauf is scoutmaster.

Troop 18 of St. Mary's church held their weekly meeting last night with the Rev. John Schmitz, scoutmaster, in charge.

Sea scout ship 1 which is sponsored by the Roy L. Chopek post No. 17, American Legion, will meet tonight. Skipper Irving J. Schaefer will be in charge.

Pan-American League To Hear John Dearth

John Dearth, an instructor in the Santiago college for women, Santiago, Chile, will speak to members of Pan-American league tomorrow afternoon at 12:15 in the private dining room of Iowa Union.

Mr. Dearth has spent three years in Chile as a teacher, and he will tell the group of his experiences in that country. Following his talk there will be a period for discussion and questions.

Special Broadcasts Planned This Week For Morning Chapel

Morning Chapel, religious program broadcast daily by the school of religion, is observing the first week of Lent with special devotional meditations by Sister Mary Aloysius.

Today Sister Aloysius will present remarks on "Meditations on Ash Wednesday." Thursday, Friday and Saturday she will discuss certain phases of Catholic philosophy and education.

Sister Aloysius is an instructor in speech and dramatics at Clarke college in Dubuque and is taking advanced graduate work in the university this semester.

3 SUI Professors To Attend Conference

Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the home economics department, Prof. Grace Chaffee and Prof. E. B. Reuter, both of the college of commerce, will go to Mt. Vernon tomorrow to take part in the family relations conference to be held at Cornell college to morrow and Friday.

Professor Reuter will speak tomorrow evening on "Some Interrelations of War and Population." He is nationally known as an authority on race and population problems.

Margaret Mead, outstanding anthropologist and author, will be a featured lecturer at the conference, which will stress the family in the wartime community. Other speakers will be Mrs. Daniel Sands of Sioux City, former secretary of the department of child welfare in Chicago; Henry A. Bowman, Stephens college, and Margaret A. Ohlson, Iowa State college.

Pythian Sisters Elect Convention Delegates

Delegates to Grand Temple and to the district convention were elected by Athens Temple No. 81 of the Pythian Sisters Monday night in K. of P. hall.

The Grand Temple delegation will include Mrs. William Wiese, Mrs. Mary Russell, Mrs. Anna Sutton and Mrs. Frew A. Tucker. Mrs. J. W. Figg and Mrs. Earl Calta will represent the group at the district convention.

Rebekahs Plan Practice

A business meeting will be held by Iowa City Rebekah lodge No. 418 tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. The session will precede a degree staff practice.

WHAT'S YOUR HIT PARADE?

WILMA SEEMUTH, A1 of Milwaukee, Wis., writes down her three favorite melodies in hopes of winning one of the prizes to be awarded at the all-university party Saturday from 9 until 12 p. m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union. John Nordin, A2 of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mary Helen Seemuth, A1 of Milwaukee, Wis., wait their turn to sign up in the student poll for the top campus tunes. After voting, John walked over to the union desk and purchased his ticket for "Your Hit Parade," Larry Barrett and his orchestra will furnish the music for this informal dance, sponsored by the central party committee. The numbers to be played during the evening will be those which received the greatest number of votes.

University Symphony Concert Will Feature 6 Bohemian Legends

Music by Bedrich Smetana will be featured by the University Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The cycle, "My Country," composed by Smetana consists of six numbers based upon Bohemian legends. They are: "Vyshrad," "Vltava," "Sarka," "Zeskych luhuv. a hajuv," "Tabor" and "Blanik." In this cycle Smetana expresses patriotic sentiments which are an inspiration to all those who love freedom and their homeland.

The entire work to be performed by the University Symphony orchestra this evening has seldom been presented in this country. The most recent performance was given in New York City in 1942.

Doctor Contributes 2,000 Quinine Pills To Pharmacy Drive

Two unopened bottles of 1,000 quinine tablets each, the largest contribution yet to be made in the quinine drive by the college of pharmacy, have been sent in by Dr. Arthur Smith of Manning, it was announced by Dean R. A. Kliever yesterday.

Prof. Louis C. Zopf, in charge of the drug service station in pharmacy, sent two shipments totalling 150 ounces of the precious drug to the national quinine pool in Washington, D. C., where it is sent to troops in North Africa, India, Burma, China, New Guinea and Guadalcanal. A third shipment of 18 packages is being prepared now.

The drive was started early in February, and quinine, its salts and preparations, have been collected from every corner of the state.

DeSeversky Talks Friday

Authority on Aerial Warfare, Strategy To Present Lecture

Maj. Alexander de Seversky, leading authority on aerial warfare and strategy and author of the best-seller, "Victory Through Air Power," will be the next speaker in the university lecture series Friday at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union.

Major de Seversky has been a staunch advocate of a separate air corps for the United States and believes that the military security of the future lies in an impregnable and superior airforce. Without this airforce, Major de Seversky believes, the Atlantic ocean is no safeguard to the United States.

Russian Air Ace

The Russian Imperial army ace of the first World War has a long record of accomplishments, including invention of the first fully automatic bomb sight and the design of the first high-altitude combat plane. He holds many world speed records and recently was presented with the coveted Harmon trophy by President Roosevelt.

The war is not going to be won by sending large troop concentrations to foreign battlefields, according to Major de Seversky. He does not believe that the United States should waste its manpower, its ships and tanks, trying to conquer a 12,000 mile front when it would be so much easier to attack Japan in her vital spots by strong and independent air strategy.

Outmoded Ideas

Germany and Japan have become strong, he points out, by ruthlessly discarding outmoded naval and military ideas. The history of recent allied failures at Crete, Singapore and Java have proved beyond doubt that air strategy is the secret of "eliminating the enemy," Major de Seversky says.

David C. Shipley To Entertain Council

Prof. and Mrs. David C. Shipley, Woodlawn apartments, will entertain members of the Student Electa circle at dinner Friday at 6 o'clock.

The dinner, which has been held annually, will take place in the University club rooms of Iowa Union and will be an informal affair.

Professor Shipley of the school of religion is adviser for the council.

Alpha Phi Alpha Holds Founders' Celebration With Formal Dinner

In celebration of Founders' Day and to honor new initiates, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity entertained recently at a formal dinner in the private dining room of Iowa Union.

A color scheme of black and gold, representing fraternity colors, was featured in the table decorations. Acting as master of ceremonies, James D. Parks, G of Lincoln University, Mo., presented a brief history of the founding of Alpha Theta chapter at the University of Iowa. Ardith P. Graves, G of Atlanta, Ga., presented new initiates, Landry Burgess, G of Baton Rouge, La., and Richard Sykes, P3 of East St. Louis, Ill.

A short talk on the responsibilities of fraternities and sororities was given by Clifton Jones, G of Philadelphia.

The group spent the evening at the home of Mrs. Allyn Lemme, 15 E. Prentiss street. A late supper party was given by Mr. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Lars McNeely. Other guests included in the affair were George F. Meadors, P4 of Nashville, Tenn., president of the organization; Mrs. Byron J. McDaniel, Frances Mills and Sophia White.

War Prisoners Washington Announces List of Iowans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department yesterday made public the names of 194 army men, 116 navy personnel and 38 marines who are held as prisoners of war by the Japanese government in Taiwan, Manila and Java. Iowans held at Taiwan include:

Army—Master Sergt. James B. Cavanaugh of Neola and Pvt. Robert B. Herr of Waterloo.

Navy—Radioman, 3c, Hubert Raymond Morley of Wall Lake, Radioman, 2c, Russell O. McQueen of Marion and Petty Officer, 2c, Linville C. Trimble of Valley Junction.

Marines—Corp. Willard R. Stearns of Des Moines.

Coralville Club to Meet

Mrs. John Vlasman, 212 Chapman street, will entertain members of the Coralville Heights club tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. J. A. Gunderson and Mrs. William Parrin.

V.F.W. Plans Meeting

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Community building for a regular business session.

Women in Uniform SUI Library Exhibits Information

Pamphlets, folders, uniforms, information and pictures concerning women in the army, navy and marine forces are on display in general library in Macbride hall this month.

The light blue summer and dark blue winter uniforms of the WAVES are exhibited with a shoulder navy blue purse which resembles the purses carried by the WAACs.

Attractive posters picturing patriotic women read, "Be a marine—free a marine to fight," and "This is our war—join the WAAC." Photographs picture women attending classes, the Naval Training school in Cedar Falls, room inspection and an apprentice seaman standing at attention in her WAAC uniform.

Government officers and other sources of information furnished material for the display. One photograph, secured from the Des Moines Register, pictures a WAAC stenographer, the only woman present at the Casablanca conference, speaking to Winston Churchill. Very little marine material is displayed, as this branch of the service is so recent.

Mary Humphrey and Miriam Allen of the government document department were in charge of the display, and copies of the pamphlets shown are available for closer study in their office in the library annex.

Mrs. Frances Hager To Hold Interviews At Student Center

Mrs. Frances Hager, associate secretary of missionary personnel of the Methodist Women's Division of Christian service, will be available in the student center tomorrow for personal interviews with students interested in carrying on missionary work.

Recruits are needed to carry on all types of work including, full time workers, part time workers, workers for the summer only, workers for the home field, some ready to go at once to the foreign fields, and others needed for training now to go to the foreign fields when the time arrives.

The skin of a 3-year-old male seal is the most valuable for fur. Catherine the Great of Russia first popularized sealskin for women's fur coats.

THIS IS PART OF YOUR PAY CHECK

That gun's making things pretty hot for the Axis

It came from the pay check and pay envelopes of people like you. It was bought with the money you lent your Government in regular installments from your pay.

But hold on now—Maybe it's not your gun! Maybe you aren't setting aside at least 10 percent of your salary for War Bonds!

There are still some people who aren't. Not many, but maybe you're one of them. If you are one, we're sure it's not for want of patriotism, but because you haven't gotten around to it. Tell your boss today you want to help win the war by joining the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. Tell him you want to save at least 10 percent of every pay check by putting it into War Bonds.

You can't make a better investment. You'll be buying the weapons that insure a future of freedom, peace, and plenty . . . and you'll be getting back $4 for every $3 you save.

MAKES SENSE, DOESN'T IT? THEN START TODAY!

SAVE WITH U.S. WAR BONDS EVERYBODY...EVERY PAYDAY... AT LEAST 10%

Intersectional Grid Games Dropped for Duration

Every Section Cancels Tilts To Cut Travel

NEW YORK (AP)—Intersectional football games definitely are on the way out for the duration.

Notre Dame's cancellation on contests with two of its traditional rivals—Southern California and Stanford—brought word from every section of the country that few if any college elevens would travel out of their own bailiwicks.

Listed as definitely cancelled were the annual Fordham-St. Mary's tussle in New York, the Army-Texas Aggies game and Boston college's affairs with Clemson, Tennessee and Wake Forest. B. C.'s trio of games with the southern elevens have not been declared off officially but Graduate Manager of Athletics John P. Curley said yesterday.

"Boston college has no thought of any intersectional games this fall."

Fordham is planning on building almost an entirely new schedule. In addition to the cancellation of the St. Mary's game, Graduate Manager Jack Coffey listed as very doubtful games with Missouri, Texas Christian, Tennessee, and Purdue.

"And I understand the North Carolina Pre-Flight's schedule will be confined to teams with the state," said Coffey. "In which case that leaves us with Holy Cross and North Carolina and I'm not even sure about the latter."

Other intersectional frays listed as doubtful include, Oklahoma-Temple at Oklahoma City, Pennsylvania's games with Michigan and North Carolina at Philadelphia, Temple's contests with Southern Methodist at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh-Southern Methodist at Dallas, Colgate-Duke at Durham, Pittsburgh-Nebraska at Lincoln, Penn State-Georgia at Athens, Penn State-Michigan State at State College, Oregon-Texas at Portland, and Harvard-Michigan at Cambridge.

Great Lakes Cagers Put Phillip on Second All-Opponent Team

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—Having concluded their regular season with 34 wins in 37 games, the Great Lakes basketball players yesterday lent their authority to the selection of an all-opponent team and paid high tribute to Charles Black, Kansas forward, as the best cager they faced all season.

The selections were based solely on each player's performance against Great Lakes. Holding to this method, the sailors voted for Ken Menke of Illinois' Big Ten champions rather than Andy Phillip, best scorer in the conference's history. Phillip was a unanimous choice on the Big Ten's all star team chosen by coaches while Menke received honorable mention.

The sailors named Menke and Black, forwards; Ed Bessner of Creighton, center; and Bob Rensberger, Notre Dame, and Ed Ehlers, Purdue, guards. On the second team they placed Phillip and Dick Miller of Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., at forwards; Bob Shaw of Ohio State at center; and Don Knowles of Creighton and Gene Vance of Illinois, at guards.

The Bluejackets selected Illinois as the best all-around team they met.

Two of the three teams which whipped Great Lakes—Illinois and Notre Dame—were represented, but the third team, Northwestern, failed to land a berth. Menke, Rensberger and Black were chosen unanimously.

Personal selections of Lieut. Paul D. Hinkle, Great Lakes coach, were Menke and Ralph Langer of Creighton at forwards, Black at center, and Rensberger and Phillip at guards.

The Bluejackets played 30 different schools during the season.

Ross Will Receive Trophy in Person

NEW YORK (AP)—Marine Corp. Barney Ross, who was awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque in absentia nearly a month ago while he was still in the South Pacific battle area, will receive the trophy in person Friday night in Madison Square Garden's ring.

Former Mayor James J. Walker, who made the original presentation at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers association of New York, again will do the honors for the one-time world welterweight-lightweight-junior welterweight boxing champion.

Prep Cagers End Successful Season Despite War Troubles

Despite necessary war limitations on travel and before-the-season moanings of Calamity Johns that the sport could not endure, prep basketball is winding up one of its most successful campaigns and state tournaments are now underway or about to get started in 40 states.

These facts were released yesterday by H. V. Porter, secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, who disclosed that prep cage teams in war work areas played to capacity galleries at regular games, with many fans being turned away, although there was a decrease in attendance in isolated areas, where gas rationing took its toll.

"One of the most gratifying things about high school athletic activities during the current year," Porter said, "is the phenomenal way in which the many handicaps to an efficient functioning of the school athletic program have been met by the coaches, school administrators and players."

"When athletic departments were denied the use of school buses for transporting teams, there were many predictions that the school athletic program could not be continued," Porter recalled. "At a later date when gasoline eliminated the use of private cars, many were certain that it would be impossible to maintain any degree of efficiency in the athletic and physical fitness activities."

"School leaders, however, took as their cue the slogan, 'The difficult we do immediately; the impossible requires a little more time.'"

Coaches were called into service, Porter said, but in some instances they were replaced by principals and even superintendents of school systems, who directed athletic programs years before.

In some districts, he pointed out, funds were not available to buy equipment. But this did not stop the prep kids. In one school the boys practiced discus throwing with a stove lid requisitioned from a junk yard. Another group of youthful huskies, acquired a 12-pound cog wheel from an out-of-service corn grinder to carry on as shot putters.

Teams hiked as far as ten miles to play rivals, while other teams have piled on to cattle trucks that passed by on regular schedule.

Phillies May Make Trade With Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rumors of a deal involving the Phillies and New York Giants circulated yesterday on the heels of the trade that brought first baseman Babe Dahlgren from Brooklyn to the Phils.

While William D. Cox, the Phillies' new owner, and his manager, Bucky Harris, kept mum about the next step in their rebuilding plans, the name of Ed Levy was mentioned in unofficial quarters.

Levy, obtained by the Phillies from the New York Yankees during the winter in the deal that sent Nick Etten to the Yanks, is a first baseman and the Giants

Dahlgren was traded to the Phils for second baseman Al Glosop and veteran outfielder Lloyd Waner. It was a straight swap with no cash involved," declared Cox, adding "I think it's a peach of a deal."

Player's Honor Roll Complete for Naming Most Valuable Cager

The Western conference honor roll in the balloting for the WGN Most Valuable player trophy was completed last night when Northwestern named its great forward, Otto Graham, for the second straight year, and Ohio State placed in nomination its sophomore center, Jack Dugger.

The names of the ten players selected as the most valuable of their respective squads are now submitted to a 23-man final selection committee headed by the Big Ten commissioner of athletics, Major John L. Griffith, and including the ten coaches, ten officials, WGN Sports Announcer Jack Brickhouse and WGN Sports Editor Grayle Howlett.

The player voted the Western conference most valuable will be announced Saturday night. The WGN trophy is an actual-sized gold basketball, and was won in 1941 by Gene Englund of Wisconsin, and last year by another Badger star, John Kotz.

Six of last year's individual most valuable were eligible this year, but only two have again received the vote of their teammates. Andy Phillip, the record-shattering Illinois forward, ran second to Kotz last year in the final voting. Otto Graham, the Northwestern forward, is the other player to rate the most valuable citation for the second straight year, although the Wildcats had to take two ballots before he shaded his captain, Russ Wendland.

This year's honor list includes three sophomores: Jack Dugger of Ohio, Hank Ellman of Chicago and Dave Strack of Michigan; three juniors: Phillip, Rudy Lawson of Purdue and Graham; and four seniors: Iowa's Ben Trickey, John Logan of Indiana, Ken Exel of Minnesota and Wisconsin's Bob Sullivan, the latter named over the WGN trophy winner of 1942, Kotz.

- ★ Olympic Committee
- ★ From Japan Used
- ★ Flowery Words Too

NEW YORK (AP)—"Our people being by nature deeply imbued with the spirit of universal love as well as the ideal of human equality, they at once heartily identified themselves with the ideals of international friendship and world peace."

"The crisis is a thing of the moment, while our people are invariably inspired by the ideal of international understanding, mutual love and respect between peoples."

These aren't quotations from Alice in Wonderland or excerpts from a polyanthropic essay on the great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world, although it develops they are something of a fairy story, at that.

They were taken from the book put out by the Japanese after it was found necessary, if that is the right word, to call off the 1940 Olympic games in Tokyo.

It is a comprehensive tome, dealing with the elaborate preparations that had been made for staging the games and fairly breathed good will to man.

That the Jap Olympic committee apparently was in ignorance of the far-reaching plans of the government leaders to make the world's trophy to be opened with a bayonet, is indicated by the expenditure involved in the preparation for the games, such as construction of a rowing course, cycling stadium and other elaborate courses.

It does not seem reasonable to suppose that had the Olympic men inkling of what the future held for their plans, as a guy intent on knifing his neighbor doesn't go about planting a big garden just to prove he is a peace-loving soul with honorable intentions. The Japs, were they trying to camouflage their intentions, could have done so at far less expense.

However, the quotations above merely go to show how empty are words when the drums start rolling. Had Japan not attacked us, and if the Olympic games had gone on as scheduled, the words would have carried a ring of sincerity. As it is, they are as hollow as a vacuum and are pointed to as just another instance of smiling Japanese perfidy.

Another quotation so flowery you almost can smell it—in fact, you really can smell it now—reads: "It would, indeed, have been a supreme satisfaction for our sportsmen to see great athletes from all corners of the world congregate on their soil and display superb physical and mental achievements. What else could such a manifestation be but the expression of a poetical inspiration or the unrolling of a magnificent picture scroll? But at the moment of its realization, manuscripts are lost and the scroll found torn. To our great dismay and regret the whole historic enterprise collapsed."

That from a nation which has outlawed baseball from its schools as not in keeping with the Japanese tradition of sportsmanship. That from a nation whose idea of fair play is to sneak in at dawn to blast an unsuspecting nation with whom it was, to all intents and purposes, at peace.

It is pointed out in the 181-page book of regret that the Olympic light still flickers in Japan, and if so it should be guarded carefully. One of these days it is liable to be blown out by a 2,000-pound breath from the sky.

Athletes In Service

"Wild Bill" Hallahan, the former Cardinal world series hero, was a recent visitor to the Mound City, escorting a contingent of selectees from the Fort Niagara, N. Y., induction centers, where he is stationed, to Jefferson Barracks.

Hallahan said that athletic opportunities are numerous and varied for soldiers once their basic training is finished. But, he said, the army's baseball, basketball and football teams provide no snap period, as all athletic work can be done only in addition to the soldiers' regular work.

Ken Bartholomew, former Minneapolis national ice speed skating champ, is now in the army. He's stationed at Camp Crowder, Mo., and is a corporal. . . . Sgt. Thomas Gorman, former New York Giants pitcher and pro basketball star, is now playing center for the Fort Meade, Md., cagers. . . . Lt. Ray Barbati, 1938 Olympic champion, is on naval duty in the Mediterranean.

Pvt. Bob Sikes, former southern heavyweight champ, has quite an imposing list of boxers under his tutelage at Brooks field, Texas. They include Tom Attra of Austin, Texas, national Golden Gloves lightweight champ; Arnold Winters, Chicago Athletic club heavy titlist; Norman Tillburn, Little Rock, Ark., heavy; Robert Delgado, San Antonio, Texas, Golden Gloves lightweight; and Jim Giovanni, Detroit Golden Gloves featherweight.

National Hockey league stars are scattered throughout the armed services. John Mariucci, ex-Blackhawk, and Art Coulter, former Ranger, are now with the Baltimore coast guard cutters. ## Mermen May Enter National Swim Meet Selected University of Iowa athletes, including several star freshmen, may be sent to the National Collegiate championship swimming meet at Columbus, Ohio March 26 and 27, Coach David Armbruster said yesterday.

The contingent certainly would include a medley relay team and men in several individual events. The Iowans were a close third in the Big Ten medley relay.

Among the freshman possibilities are David Brockway of Marshalltown, all-American interscholastic diving selection of last season; Bill McDonald of Chicago, Ill., also an all-American diver and Illinois state champion; and Robert Matters of Waukesha, Wis., Wisconsin state high school backstroke champion of 1942.

The Hawkeyes were fourth in the conference meet last weekend, with the medley relay team as the Iowa standout.

Hawk Baseball Squad Drills Under Davis With Six Major, Two Minor Lettermen

With the basketball season concluded, attention is being turned to Iowa's baseball squad which has been drilling in the fieldhouse under the direction of Coach Waddy Davis.

In his first year at the head of the Hawkeye nine, Coach Davis has six major letter winners and two minor award men returning from last year's co-championship club.

Returning letter winners are Capt. Harold Lind, Harry Rinkema, Ben Trickey, Tom Farmer, Roy Stille and Jack Kenney. Max Landes and Don Thompson are the minor letter winners who are working out with the squad.

Lost by graduation from last year's successful team were catcher Bill Welp, first baseman Rudy Radics, third baseman George Knight and pitchers Wendell Hill and Dick Helm.

Besides those lost through graduation, several players who were figured upon to play an important role in this year's aggregation have been lost to the armed forces. Pitcher Bob Faber, who gained recognition by winning the Big Ten batting crown, was the first to leave.

He was followed into the service by Clarence Dunagan, Bud Flankers and Bob Collins. Ray Koehnke also did not return to school because of work on a farm.

Despite the loss of these stalwarts, Davis still has the eight returning veterans to build his team around, plus the addition to the squad of several promising sophomores.

Still Calling 'Em Ormsby Handles New Job With Ease

CHICAGO (AP)—The drunk was almost paralyzed, but he still could feel that firm grip on his shoulder. Turning around he met the stare of Emmett Ormsby.

"I'm going to rule you out of the field unless you quiet down," Ormsby threatened.

The drunk started to put in his two-bits worth.

"Get going out if you open your trap to me!" bellowed Ormsby.

All was quiet. Ormsby was as emphatic in the tavern as he had been on the diamond.

That's just one episode in the new life of "Red" Ormsby—an American league umpire for 19 years until he was retired at the close of the 1941 season. Now he's a police sergeant in charge of enforcement of vice and liquor laws in Cook county.

He still calls 'em as he sees 'em, and when he yells "yer out!" it doesn't mean a drunk has passed out, but is going out—to the patrol wagon.

"One time I chased two hoodlums into a saloon after I caught 'em beating up a guy," Ormsby, father of 12 children, recalled. "I ran smack into their whole gang. It wasn't so much different than being ganged up on in baseball, so I just stuck out my chin and defied 'em. I was lucky, nothing happened. This is a cinch compared to umpiring. I had 50,000 fans trying to get my scalp in the ball park—and one of 'em did in Cleveland with a pop bottle on the head. But in a night club or tavern I only have about 150 to contend with."

His box score, which has drawn praise from the sheriff, shows 20 arrests without an assist.

Intercollegiate Cage Association Selects Officers at Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A. D. Dickson, athletic director of Delta State, Cleveland, Miss., was elected president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball yesterday.

Dickson succeeds Louis E. Means of Beloit (Wis.) college.

Other officers included: William Slyker, Evansville (Ind.) college, first vice-president; John Russell, Seton hall, South Orange, N. J., fourth vice-president; E. S. Liston, Baker university, Baldwin, Kan., executive secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee members include Frank L. Casty, Simpson college, Indianola; Joe W. Hutton, Hamline university, St. Paul; Don S. White, Connecticut university, Means, Russell, Liston, Dickson and Slyker.

Sophomore Headlines Indoor Track Scorers

Veterans held the roles of leading scorer on three of the University of Iowa's four winter sports teams with a sophomore breaking in only in track.

Vito Lopin of Rockford, Ill., topped the swimmers with 29 points, despite the fact that he competed in only three meets before being called into service. Bob Becker of Clinton was second with 25 points.

In track, Harold Fiala of Waterloo piled up 18.7 points, as Capt. Kenneth Steinbeck of Rubio was second with 11 1-3. Leading wrestler was Bernard Conrad of Council Bluffs, 16; followed by Jack Shepard of Mason City, 14; while Ben Trickey of Marshalltown, 229, and Tom Chapman of Storm Lake, 202, were 1, 2 in basketball.

Luther Barely Wins In Tourney, 31-29

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Luther college of Decorah edged out Southeastern (Okla.) State, last year's runner-up, 31 to 29, in the national interscholastic basketball tournament yesterday. A scoring duel between Lloyd Herwig, Luther's 6 foot 3 inch forward, and Cecil Hankins, southeastern forward, featured the tilt.

Iowa Teams Win In Cage Tourney

OMAHA (AP)—Two Iowa teams took first-round victories at the expense of Omaha quintets in the Midwest A.A.U. basketball tourney here yesterday.

Steinbergs of Council Bluffs, bolstered with several last-year Abraham Lincoln high school hot shots, thumped Walsh Bros. of Omaha, 49 to 30. Danbury edged Fuchs Machinery of Omaha, 33 to 29.

Former Students—Serving the Nation—Former Iowa Citizens

Five former university students have reported at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for technical training in the army air forces.

They are Harry Eugene Goodwin of Council Bluffs, Ted J. Parks of Iowa City, Charles B. Sanders of West Point, Norman Carlson of Merrill and Vito Lopin of Rockwell, Ill.

Private Goodwin was a junior at the university, majoring in journalism, at the time of his induction. He held the position of night editor on The Daily Iowan.

Private Lopin was a member of the Hawkeye swimming team.

Second Lieut. Thomas N. Peterson, former student at the university, was a member of the first group of student officers to complete a special course in piloting the Martin Marauder, B-26 medium bomber, at the army air forces transition flying school at Del Rio, Tex.

The Marauder is the world's fastest medium bomber.

Richard E. Ash will be transferred to Camp Kohler, Calif., for advance signal corps training in the immediate future.

Ash, who has been attending the signal corps school in Des Moines, is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ash, 1311 Muscatine avenue.

Pvt. Paul Barrus, a former graduate student in the English department at the university, was granted an honorable discharge from the army at San Diego, Calif. This is in accordance with the executive order of last December which provides for the release of men over 35.

He is now engaged in vital defense work at the Consolidated aircraft corporation in San Diego.

Pvt. Alan G. Sentinella, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sentinella, 614 Gilbert street, has begun his basic training at the armored force replacement training center in Ft. Knox, Ky.

Jack E. Kotlow, a former university student and athlete, has entered the U. S. naval reserve as a chief specialist.

For the past three years, Kotlow has been an instructor in physical education, assistant football coach and softball director at the West New York high school in West New York, N. J.

He was also E. I. A. collegiate basketball official and a baseball umpire.

Kotlow is now undergoing a period of advance training at the naval training station to provide him with the proper background to qualify as a company commander in a recruit training center.

John M. Shaver, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Shaver, 728 E. Washington, and a former student at the university, is now serving with the quartermaster's corps at Camp Young, Calif.

He was graduated from the university in 1935 with a B. A. degree. He was a member of the varsity basketball team for three years, played baseball, participated in cross-country runs and was the university's 147-pound boxing champion.

Army Specialist Tests Will Be Given April 2

To Examine College, High School Students For Technical Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friday, April 2, will be examination day for the thousands of high school and college youths who hope to participate in the army's specialized training program.

Uniform pre-induction examinations to determine qualifications of the students will be given at all high schools and colleges where applications have been received.

Success in the examination, the war department emphasized yesterday, will not assure participation in the program, but will constitute a part of the individual's record and will be considered in connection with subsequent army tests.

Those eligible: High school and preparatory school graduates who will have attained their 17th but not their 22nd birthday by July 1, regardless of whether they are attending college.

High school and preparatory school seniors who will be graduated by July 1, provided they will have attained their 17th and not their 20th birthday by that date.

Students who have attained their 17th and not their 22nd birthday by July 1, who do not hold certificates of graduation from a secondary school but who are attending accredited colleges or universities.

Speaks in Des Moines

Kurt Schaefer of the University of Iowa college of commerce spoke at the opening meeting of a conference sponsored by the department of adult education of the Des Moines public schools and the Des Moines council for social studies yesterday at Roosevelt high school in Des Moines.

pires had to offer, had capitulated only the day before.

It appeared that the Japanese war machine had only to choose one of three roads to follow in order to double the dazzling riches already gathered in: the northern way into Siberia, the southern route to seize the British dominions of the Antipodes or the westward road to India. The southern adventure was chosen. It came to grief on New Guinea and in the Solomons.

Last year it was inconceivable to many that the Japanese army, led by men schooled in the tradition of Mukden, could long withstand the temptation to stab Russia in the back while Hitler held most of the Red army far to the west. It was not realized then, probably not even in Berlin, how completely Japanese military leadership had shifted its objectives, how the Russian question had been subordinated to the purpose of expelling the white man from Asia and welding his possessions into Japan's own greater east Asia.

But a year has gone by with no change in the correct if not cordial neutrality that marks Japanese-Russian relations. The prospect of a Japanese attack on Russia never appeared more remote. Both countries, fighting for their lives on other fronts, seem entirely willing to leave well enough alone on their Amur and Ussuri river boundaries. From Moscow comes no encouragement for American hopes that sooner or later we shall have Siberian air bases from which to level Tokyo and Osaka.

The other change in outlook since the Army day of 1942 is no less significant. Then it appeared that Japan was all set for the conquest of half a world, a dominion embracing a billion people, half of humanity, all China, India, the south seas. But today the Japanese army realizes that the best it can hope for is to hold a respectable portion of what it has overrun.

From the highwater marks on Guadalcanal and the approaches to Port Moresby the tide of Japanese expansion has begun to ebb, although, from our point of view, painfully slowly. And although the Japanese army has spread itself over such an expansion that its holiday breaks out the flags from the Aleutians to the Indian ocean it knows that nothing it holds is secure, not even the heart of the empire. Therefore it drills the people today against the terror it knows is coming, American and British planes over the palace of the son of Heaven himself.

AMERICA—

ism and loyalty—and their secret police—have supported their leaders in war. No form of punishment, humane or inhumane, could adequately requite the wickedness of their leaders. To wreak vengeance upon the victimized, tortured, bleeding axis peoples would be to pretend they had commissioned those base men to commit their crimes.

That is absurd! The bulk of the axis peoples, who hate no other nation, seek no national aggrandizement, and desire only to live in peace and quiet, cannot be convicted. Hence, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have declared they do not seek punishment of the axis masses who are not escaping terrific penalties for their leaders' sins. Today their sons lie maimed and dead by the millions; their peace of mind is utterly destroyed. Their knowledge of their nations' crimes eats at their hearts; their fears of the dreadful future, their awareness they will be moral outcasts—all these mean a suffering, a punishment, to which no territorial losses, no indemnities, no reparations could add appreciably.

MR. HILLMAN CHALLENGES: Mr. Villard must have information not accessible to the world when he says the bulk of the axis peoples hate no other nation—seek no national aggrandizement—desire to live in peace and quiet. I wonder why innocent Americans, Britons, Russians, have to die because supposedly innocent axis peoples prefer risking death killing them rather than their leaders? This just won't wash! Sentimental pervasions of history can't wipe out the fact the German people exalt Hitler and fight with fanaticism to fulfill his dream. Villard better wake up! He thinks the German people will spank Hitler should Hitler win the war!

MR. VILLARD REPLIES: The problem is: what is the best way to achieve the end desired, of so treating the German people they never again will permit rulers to commit horrible crimes? If severe punishment could do it, it would be tried. Penology, history, morality, human nature itself, forbid this. We must not make martyrs, nor plant ranking injustices in the hearts and minds of the Germans as we did when we starved 250,000 during the armistice. Dorothy Thompson says, we should never despair of German aid in achieving a decent world and real peace. Shall we destroy this possibility by punishing the innocent?

Will Describe School X-Ray Film Program

Tuberculosis Group Will Sponsor Plan In Interest of Health

The miniature X-ray film program to be conducted soon in all Johnson county high schools is being described to Iowa City students this week by Mrs. Luella K. Gunn of the Iowa Tuberculosis Association and the state health department.

During the program, which is part of Iowa's fight against tuberculosis, miniature x-ray films will be taken on March 16, 17 and 18 throughout Johnson county schools.

The purpose of the program, sponsored locally by the county medical society and the county tuberculosis association is to discover those endangered by tuberculosis before the disease has made serious inroads on health.

Funds from sale of Christmas Seals in Johnson county will finance most of the costs and examinations will be made only with written parental consent. Findings will be reported only to parents and their family physicians.

According to Dr. C. K. McCarthy, state tuberculosis case-finding director, high school students are entering the age period when tuberculosis takes its greatest toll.

It is pointed out that "it is good common-sense to find tuberculosis before it is too late" and that there is no good reason why every student should not take advantage of the examination opportunity. The goal of the program is 100 percent participation, including teachers and other school personnel.

War, Inter-American Films to Be Shown Thursday in Macbride

Three films on war and inter-American subjects will be shown in the fourth of a series of public previews of government films in Macbride auditorium tomorrow night at 7:30. The program, which is sponsored jointly by the extension division bureau of visual instruction and the Johnson county citizens defense corps, was announced by John R. Hedges and Prof. Rollin M. Perkins.

"Letter from Bataan" and "U. S. News Review No. 2", both released by the office of war information, will be first on the program. "Letter from Bataan" shows how civilians can contribute to the war effort, and "U. S. News Review No. 2" consists of a series of short film editorials on the progress of the war on both the home front and the battle lines.

A Julien Bryan 30-minute color film, "Venezuela Moves Ahead," released by the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs, will be last on the program. Illustrating the geographical and historical features of Venezuela's background, the film shows the effects of recent developments in many scenes of the country and its people.

New government film releases will be shown in a series of public previews every other Thursday evening. The films will also be available for use by clubs and civic organizations.

STANDLEY—

At the capitol, Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee, in a statement, and Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee, on the senate floor, declared in strikingly similar language that the Russian press had told about lend-lease supplies and had reported speeches of the president and Prime Minister Churchill concerning lend-lease.

Bloom said he issued his statement after consultation with the state department, but was "not necessarily" presenting its views.

Both he and Connally referred to recent articles by Henry Cassidy, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Moscow, now in the United States, as indicating the Russians knew of and appreciated American help.

Connally called Standley's remarks "most unfortunate" though he said it was not for him to "criticize the ineptness of the American ambassador."

His remarks touched off a sharp debate in the senate with Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) saying he had not the slightest doubt that Standley's statement was true "or Admiral Standley would not have made it."

"The reason Stalin isn't telling his people about our aid is because Stalin is a realist," Wheeler declared. "He's for Russia first and last. He isn't for the four freedoms and never will be because he couldn't be for them and still be a Communist."

(In New York, Wendell L. Willkie issued a statement saying "drastic and ill-considered" statements by government officials could only do harm to Soviet-American relations.)

BLUE SIGNAL 2 MINUTE STEADY BLAST 	RESUME 	RESUME OPERATION WITH DIM LIGHTS 	RESUME OPERATION 	STAY BLACKED OUT UNTIL LATER ALL-CLEAR BUT WAR INDUSTRIES RESUME WORK

The office of civilian defense of the seventh service command area has issued the above series of illustrations to acquaint Iowa Citizens with the new form of air raid warnings to be used throughout the entire area. The first warning, a steady, two-minute blast, will be given when enemy aircraft are fifteen minutes from the area. Pedestrians will be permitted to remain outdoors and vehicles may continue to operate with dimmed headlights. Homes must be blacked out, but war plants will be allowed to operate. The second warning will be given in the form of a series of short blasts when the city is in immediate danger of attack. Pedestrians must take cover and traffic must come to a halt. All buildings must black out. When enemy aircraft have passed over the city a steady two-minute blast will be sounded, allowing pedestrian and vehicular traffic to progress as during the first warning. Homes must remain blacked out; war plants may resume operations. The general all clear will be indicated during night attack when street lights are once again turned on. In the event of attack, WSUI will suspend broadcasting until the all clear is given.

Helps and Hints For— Your Victory Gardens

—By Stan Myers

(Editor's note—Readers of The Daily Iowan with Victory garden problems are invited to communicate with the writer of this column who will endeavor to answer your questions.)

Victory gardens will become increasingly important to the American people due to the rationing of canned goods and the proposed rationing of meat. It is necessary that individuals grow some of their own produce, and to insure success in this project, steps must be taken to insure the health of their plants.

A serious malady affecting seedlings is "damping off." Excessive moisture, crowded plants, lack of air circulation, high humidity and lack of sunlight are all factors which help to make this disease successful among plants destined for Victory gardens.

Take Preventive Measures
"Damping off" can be prevented, but there are no known means of saving plants afflicted with the disease. Because Victory gardens are so essential, every preventive measure should be taken to protect seedling plants.

To guard against this malady of young plants sterilize seeds, container and soil. A commercially sterilized soil can be purchased, and a fungicide to sterilize seeds can be purchased at the seed stores.

Three Sterilization Means
Three methods of sterilizing seedling soil at home are shown in the accompanying illustration. Figure 1 shows how soil can be sterilized by baking it in the oven for one hour at medium heat. Care must be taken, since if it is baked longer than one hour, some bacteria necessary to the soil will be killed. Allow the soil to cool completely before planting seeds.

Figure 2 shows a method of sterilizing soil by steaming. Use 4½ gallons of boiling water to a box of soil 14 x 30 x 3 inches, and a proportionately larger or smaller amount of water, according to the amount of soil.

Formaldehyde Dust
Figure 3 illustrates the use of formaldehyde dust. This dust is mixed with the top inch of soil before sowing the seeds to help control "damping off." Use a 2½ inch pot of formaldehyde dust to a flat of soil. Water the flat thoroughly after treatment and allow to dry out before planting seeds.

These treatments will eliminate weed seeds in addition to sterilizing the soil to prevent "damping off."

If the malady should set in before treatment, the spread may be checked by immediately digging out the afflicted plants, including the soil surrounding them.

Following the removal of the sick plants and the soil they grew in, the entire flat should be top-dressed with a thin layer of sand or powdered sulphur. Transplanting of the unaffected seedling plants should be done as a "safety first measure."

April 1 is the correct time for planting early gardens, according to Mrs. H. C. Harshbarger, publicity chairman of the local victory garden committee. Those plants which should be in the ground by the first of next month include: potatoes, radishes, lettuce, carrots and beets.

The Iowa City real estate board, in co-operation with the OCD will assist in procuring large plots of ground suitable for victory gardens.

Persons having large tracts of land in or near the city suitable for gardening are asked to call the OCD office, dial 7955. Those having small lots available for rental to victory gardeners are also asked to call the OCD office and list the lots.

Block leaders will soon distribute questionnaires to families in their respective areas to determine the needs for small victory gardens, according to Prof. C. E. Cousins, chairman of the local victory garden committee.

Professor Cousins has asked that all men wanting garden plowing work list their names at the OCD office at the First National Capital bank building. The office already has listed the names of seven men who could do garden plowing.

All persons having fruit trees which they wish to have sprayed this spring are asked to call the OCD office, 7955, and leave their name and telephone number. An attempt will be made to place fruit tree owners in contact with parties who are equipped with spraying equipment.

F.R. Favors Home Rule for Puerto Rico

Asks Congressional Amendment to Permit Native Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday advocated home rule for Puerto Rico, where 2,000,000 United States citizens are crowded on a small Caribbean island which has been converted into an Atlantic Gibraltar for defense of the Panama canal.

The president asked congress to consider as soon as possible an amendment to the organic law of Puerto Rico to permit the people there to elect their own governor—the post now held by Rexford Guy Tugwell, one of the original new dealers.

Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation came on the heels of reports of hunger and want in the tropic island which has been under the American flag 45 years. Members of a special senate committee, returning from the island recently, told of hardships resulting from over-population and unemployment, sharpened by the loss of shipping and insular trade.

The president, noting that "it has long been the policy of the government of the United States progressively to reinforce the machinery of self-government in its territories and island possessions," also recommended that congress redefine the functions and powers of the federal government and the government of Puerto Rico respectively.

Mme. Chiang Postpones Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—The transcontinental trip of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, scheduled to start Thursday, was postponed last night for about a week because of her physical condition.

A member of her entourage said the decision was reached after a consultation with her physicians earlier yesterday. It was purely a precautionary measure, the spokesman said, in consideration of the strain Mme. Chiang has been under since she underwent an operation soon after her arrival in the United States Nov. 27.

Mme. Chiang will spend the next week here resting, the spokesman said. She almost fainted twice when she was welcomed to New York on March 1. She almost fainted again last Sunday in Wellesley, Mass., while addressing students at Wellesley college, her alma mater.

Mrs. L. F. Klema Rites Will Be Held Today

Funeral service will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Hohenschuh mortuary for Mrs. L. F. Klema, 58, of 41 Lincoln avenue, who died at Mercy hospital at 8:35 p. m. Monday night.

A lifelong resident of Iowa City, she was born here Sept. 17, 1884. Surviving Mrs. Klema are her husband; one daughter, Edith M. Helmer of Peoria, Ill.; a sister, Rose Waterman of Spokane, Wash., and a brother, George Yanda of Iowa City. Two sisters preceded her in death.

The Rev. James Waery will officiate at the service. Burial will be in the Oakland cemetery.

Red Cross Contrasts Work of Volunteers In Years of World War I and World War II

Figures revealed yesterday by local officials of the Red Cross war fund drive contrast what was done by volunteer workers during the last war with what has been done so far in this war.

During the total period of World War I, 13,944 garments were sewed and knitted by Johnson county workers. Already, during this war, Mrs. L. E. Clark, production chairman, reports that 6,255 knitted articles have been completed, and 7,347 articles have been made by sewing groups.

Surgical Dressings
During the last war 253,310 surgical dressings were made and shipped from Johnson county. Since last July the workers at the City hall have made over 173,000 dressings. They anticipate greatly increased quantities since work has begun at the house furnished by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 630 E. Washington street.

Auction sales were popular as a means of raising funds during the first World War. In Cass county one rooster was sold over 5,500 times and raised $27,300 in all. One pound of butter brought $567 at Marble Rock; one pumpkin brought in $42.85 at Tama. Almost anything would bring a good price at a Red Cross sale in Iowa during World War I.

Form "Pig Clubs"
Pig clubs were numerous. Each member pledged himself to raise one pig for the Red Cross. The pig was selected and marked with a tag on the ear. On the appointed day a train of 27 carloads of pigs left a winneshiek county for Chicago. The train was decorated with banners, Red Cross emblems and the placard, "Winneshiek County Hog Special." More than $70,000 was raised by pig clubs.

Iowa City, perhaps to maintain its dignity as a seat of learning, adopted a monthly subscription plan and allowed no other method of raising funds. Three thousand subscribers gave $2,200 a month in amounts ranging from 25 cents to $25. This sum amounted to $26,400, almost the same as this year's war fund quota for Johnson county.

Membership Up
Records show that 3,147 names were on the Johnson county Red Cross roll call in October, 1917. In November, 1941, during the last roll call in Johnson county, 34,448 was collected in membership fees of $1 per member, and $8,401.47 was collected in the war fund drive which followed soon after the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

This year the membership roll call and the war fund drive are being combined in one campaign. The Johnson county quota is $26,400. Of this amount, $15,000 will remain in the chapter for carrying on the greatly extended local work.

47 Jap Planes Hit Allied Base In New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Wednesday (AP)—Forty-seven Japanese planes have raided Wau, New Guinea, the allied base some 35 miles southwest of Salamaua, the high command announced today.

"This heavy raid on an allied base where last January the Japs suffered one of their biggest aerial defeats of the war added emphasis to a warning by a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He said that Jap aerial strength in the southwest Pacific was growing and that recent allied victories, such as the sinking of the 22-ship convoy in the Bismark sea, should not be allowed to lull the Japs."

Only yesterday, another communiqué had told of the sinking of an allied merchant ship by Jap bombers in Oro bay below Buna, New Guinea.

"Twenty-six enemy bombers escorted by 21 fighters bombed the (Wau) airdrome," today's noon communiqué stated.

"Damages and casualties were light."

That Extra Something!

... You can spot it every time

ALL America values the extra service that the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps brings to the war effort. And Americans, too, set store by the simple things that help build morale.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola, for example, does a special job in refreshing folks. You know from experience that its taste is deliciously different. And Coca-Cola does more than quench thirst. It brings a delightful after-sense of refreshment that never fails to please. Choicest ingredients and 57 years of experience have helped make it the best-liked soft drink on earth.

An original creation to begin with, the taste, refreshment and quality of Coca-Cola set it apart. So make sure you get the real thing. There's no comparison.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Army needs come first. That's why you see plenty of Coke at Post Exchanges. In civil life, Coca-Cola being first choice sells out first, now that there's less of it in wartime.

The best is always the better buy!
