Loose 200 Tons of Explosives On Harbor Crippling 24 Ships

Airmen Heap Destruction Upon Tunisian Supply Base Leaving Main Airport in Rubble of Wrecked Planes, City Clouded With Smoke

By DANIEL DE LUCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP) — Nearly 100 American Flying Fortresses loosed 200 tons of bombs on the southern Italian port of Naples Sunday, setting fires whose billowing smoke blacked out the combustion of nearby Vesuvius and leaving the harbor littered with 24 crippled vessels and the main airport in a rubble of wrecked planes.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique told yesterday of this greatest destruction yet heaped on Naples, the Tunisian supply key. The assault overshadowed all the land fighting in Tunisia where the Second American army corps of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. won a number of commanding hills near the Gabes-Gafsa road and pressed on to the east for an eventual junction with the strengthening British Eighth army.

The Americans, 12 miles or more southeast of El Guetar, fought on against strong German opposition and turned back a counterattack in which Elite German troops tried to recapture the lost hills. Patton's command still was about 40 miles from the British Eighth army, which was deployed against axis positions along the Wadi El Akarit 20 miles north of Gabes.

New Mayor Appoints Harlan F. Sprinkle I.C. Chief of Police

Dunlop, Dohrer to Be City Solicitor, Clerk; F. Gartzke, Engineer

Harlan F. Sprinkle was named Iowa City's new chief of police last night. Announcement of his appointment was made by Mayor Wilber J. Testers at the first regular meeting of the newly-elected city council.

Kenneth Dunlop, Republican candidate for police judge in the recent municipal elections, was unanimously voted city solicitor by the council.

Sprinkle succeeds Frank J. Burns; Dunlop follows Louis Shulman.

Selects Dohrer
The council voted George J. Dohrer to the position of city clerk. He is also to continue to discharge his present duties as manager of the city sewage treatment works. Dohrer will take office July 1, when William J. Nusser retires.

Other appointments announced at the meeting follow:

Fred E. Gartzke was appointed city engineer to succeed Walter Buchele, who left about a month ago to accept a commission as lieutenant (j.g.) in the navy. The position has since been vacant.

Health officer—Dr. Paul A. Reed; weighmaster—E. J. Shanahan; sexton—Ernest A. Shalla; city hall janitor—Elmer Krell; chief clerk of sewage disposal collections (created by the council last night)—Julia R. Englert.

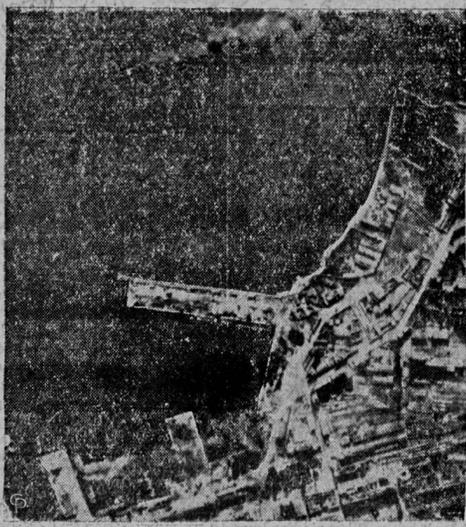

Continue as Depositors
The council adopted a resolution introduced by First Ward Alderman Max Boone to have the First Capital National bank and the Iowa State bank and trust company continue as the city's depositors.

The legislative body also received bonds of Police Judge Jack White and City Treasurer E. B. Raymond.

Mayor Testers announced the following committees:
Finance—Alderman-at-Large H. S. Ivie; LeRoy Spencer, fifth ward, and Carl S. Kringle, fourth ward.

Ordinance—Alderman-at-Large (See APPOINTMENT, page 5)

YANK AIRMEN battering southern Italy in an intensive aerial assault loosed 200 tons of bombs on Naples Sunday, setting fires whose smoke blocked out the combustion of nearby Vesuvius and leaving the harbor a tangled mass of wreckage. Only last week American Flying Fortresses conducted a similar raid on the Sardinian harbor of Cagliari (pictured above).

High-Flying, Precision-Hitting American Ships Pound Plane Centers With 'Good Results'

By LEO BRANHAM

LONDON (AP) — Living up to Major Gen. Ira C. Eaker's recent promise to match the RAF blow-for-blow in a withering aerial attack on Hitler's industrial Europe, a huge force of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators pounded the Erla airplane repair works near Antwerp yesterday to follow up a heavy British assault on Kiel, Germany, last night.

Yesterday's attack by the high-flying, precision-bombing American ships was declared to have been carried out with "good results." A DNB dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio said the Raiders scored direct hits "on blocks of houses, which caused fires and destruction and severe losses among the civil population" of Antwerp.

Radio stations in Munich, Stuttgart, Koenigsburg, Luxembourg, Lausanne and Burgenmunster, Switzerland, went off the air late last night, indicating allied bombers were over the continent again.

The air ministry announced last night that during the afternoon British Venturas of the bomber command, escorted by fighters, attacked docks and shipping at Brest. One enemy fighter was knocked down, but three British bombers and one fighter were reported missing.

The Americans' first attack in the area of Belgium's second largest city was carried out by what observers on the English coast at Folkestone described as the greatest single force they had ever seen crossing the channel. The big four-motored planes were escorted all the way to the target and back to "the coast of England by an array of Spitfire fighters."

Fighter opposition was described as "heavy." Four bombers and one escorting fighter were missing, and two German planes were known to have been shot down by Spitfires and a number of others by the bombers.

Returning pilots said the sky over the target was clear and they saw their hits register squarely.

The Erla plant formerly was the Minerva automobile factory, but its facilities now are employed by the Germans to repair planes and plane engines. Flak over the target was described as "moderate but accurate." Focke-Wulf 190 and Messerschmitt 109 fighters tried all the way from the coast to blunt the raid and then followed the bombers back for many miles, concentrating on the leading group.

Before taking off on the raid, the Catholics among the bomber crews were given absolution and holy viaticum by Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, military vicar of U. S. armed forces.

The latest blow in the united nations' aerial offensive came on the heels of one of the busiest weekends of the war for allied bombers based in Britain, and followed a pulverizing attack by 133 American Flying Fortresses Sunday on the Renault armament and engine works a few miles from the center of Paris. The British had pounded Essen, home of the Krupp works, Saturday night.

Since Friday night, when the RAF struck heavy and concentrated blows on the Nazi U-boat bases at St. Nazaire and Lorient in France, fleets of allied four-engined bombers, fighter-bombers, fighters and coastal command planes have struck almost continuously at the continent from the Baltic to the Bay of Biscay.

Use of the phrase "great strength" by the air ministry in describing the number of British heavy bombers which blasted the Nazi submarine base and shipbuilding yards at Kiel last night led experienced observers to conclude that the attacking force was the largest dispatched over Germany in several weeks.

5 Million Starve As Famine Strikes China
CHUNKING (AP)—A famine in Honan province has become the greatest natural disaster befalling the Chinese since the Sino-Japanese war began almost six years ago, an official government statement declared yesterday.

It said the government had received three different estimates of the number of persons affected: 3,000,000, 5,000,000 and 7,000,000, and that the 5,000,000 estimate "seems to be the most reasonable."

House Approves Measure to Rewrite State School Laws, Votes $1,500,000 on Upkeep

OPA Places Ceiling Over 4 Meat Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — OPA tightened its controls over meat yesterday by setting retail ceiling prices per pound on beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and forbidding stores to reduce point values of any rationed meats and fats without also cutting prices.

The two actions are designed, officials said, to eliminate confusion arising from store-by-store variations in ceilings, help stamp out black markets in meat, and guard against abuse of the privilege stores have of reducing point values in order to sell perishable rationed items.

They predicted the new ceilings will mean "in most cases less than the prices which consumers have been paying recently."

Heretofore, ceilings on beef, veal, lamb and mutton for each store have been the highest prices charged in March, 1942. Yesterday's order divides the country into 12 regions and fixes uniform ceilings in each except that small independent stores are allowed to charge one to three cents a pound more for various cuts than are the bigger outlets. The higher prices may be charged only by stores which did no more than $250,000 worth of business last year.

This price differential is intended to preserve the historical price relationship between smaller stores and the larger ones able to hold down unit costs by volume sales.

Proposal Withstands Strenuous Afternoon Of Opposition Efforts to Prevent Passage

DES MOINES (AP) — The "mail order catalogue" bill to rewrite Iowa's school laws and to appropriate $1,500,000 a year state money for local school support and tax relief was passed and sent to the senate by the Iowa house yesterday. The vote was 78 to 25.

Originally a 437-page measure and still upwards of 350 pages in length despite numerous curtailing amendments, the bill withstood a strenuous afternoon in which its opponents attempted to delay final action.

A last-minute resolution sought to put off the whole school code problem until the next legislature meets. A move to defer action until this morning was offered. A motion to adjourn until tomorrow was made before the final vote was taken. All were defeated easily. The most votes the opposition ever mustered were 42 ayes, against 60 nays, on one of the motions to defer.

Max Stephan to Hang For Harboring Nazi

Supreme Court Turns Down Appeal, Gives Warning to Traitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Max Stephan, Detroit restaurant owner sentenced to hang for treason, lost yesterday his bid for a supreme court review of his conviction of shielding a German who fled a Canadian prison camp.

Without comment, the court turned down his appeal, apparently closing Stephan's last avenue of escape from the scaffold.

Stephan's attorneys contended that he was prompted by personal motives in harboring Peter Krug, German aviator, and that he should not have been convicted of treason because he had no intention of aiding Germany. The justice department, on the other hand, argued that Stephan, a German-born naturalized citizen, received a fair trial and that the death penalty should be carried out as "adequate warning to all other potential traitors."

Stephan was accused of feeding and providing clothing for Krug after his escape from the prison camp in 1942. The aviator later was apprehended in Texas.

The court agreed to review litigation involving the constitutionality of a curfew imposed on west coast enemy aliens by the western defense command and of the office of "price administration's" power to control rents.

Million Chicagoans Will Cast Votes Today

CHICAGO (AP)—For the third time in eight years Republicans will attempt to unseat Mayor Edward J. Kelley today in a city election that is expected to bring out 1,000,000 or more voters.

Kelly, Democrat who has been head of the municipal government for 10 years, is opposed by George B. McKibbin, a Republican ally of Gov. Dwight H. Green and a civic leader for two decades.

Reds Gaining In Caucasus

LONDON, Tuesday (AP) — Russian forces driving against the Nazi base at Novorossisk have captured several populated places in two days of hand-to-hand fighting in the Caucasus, and in the Izyum area of the Donets valley have turned back new enemy attempts to cross the river, Moscow announced today.

The midnight communique, recorded here by the Soviet monitor, said also that the Russians consolidated their positions in the ring around Smolensk, and one unit broke through the enemy lines south of Bely and wiped out the occupants of several blockhouses with grenades.

The Germans over the weekend made what apparently was a major attempt to raid Russia's second city of Leningrad, but the communique said, only isolated planes managed to penetrate the city and drop bombs after air battles in which 42 German bombers were destroyed. The Russians acknowledged loss of seven of their planes.

The bulletin said that during the morning hours German tanks and infantry operated in two directions in attempts to outflank Russian units south of Izyum, where the Germans must have been trying for several days to push across the Donets.

Personal Experiences in Africa, France Described by Jay Allen

Intermixing military fact with good American humor, Jay Allen, noted foreign correspondent, told an audience of nearly a thousand people assembled in Memorial Union last night that "we've got to talk fast in Europe after the war to sell the conquered countries on democracy. These people don't want Nazism, Fascism or Communism—they want freedom," he declared, and added:

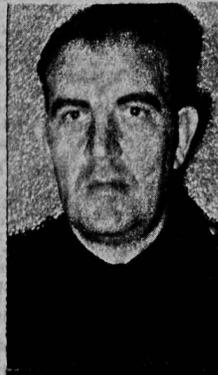

"Despite all doubt, if they think our society has been purged of its bad elements, democracy will spread in Europe like a prairie fire—when this is accomplished we will have won the peace as well as the war."

In Europe off and on from 1924 until 1941, Jay Allen covered affairs in virtually every country on that continent for his newspaper, the Chicago Tribune. He was captured by the Germans in Paris

Interpreting the War News All-Out Raids on Hitlerland Show Truth of Harris' Prediction

By GLENN BABB

The roaring processions of British and American heavy bombers across the English channel over the week-end must have caused the Germans to wonder if that time predicted last summer by Air Marshal Harris were not already here: "Soon we shall be coming over every night and every day, rain, blow or snow, we and the Americans." Certainly for three days and nights it has been that kind of performance. Here is the schedule:

Friday night the RAF attacked the U-boat lairs at Lorient and St. Nazaire; Saturday the RAF was over Brest and Abbeville; Saturday night the RAF made a "heavy and concentrated" raid on Essen, home of the Krupp works; Sunday 133 American Flying Fortresses "heavily and accurately" bombed the Renault plant near Paris; Sunday night the RAF attacked in "great strength" the U-boat base and shipyards at Kiel; Monday United States Liberators and Flying Fortresses attacked German industrial targets at Antwerp in daylight with "good bombing results."

This was the score against only the western bastions of Hitler's Europe. The time has come when hardly any part of the new dark continent can be considered immune to the scourging of the allied bombers. Fleets of American four-motored bombers comparable to those which cross the English channel are now in position to blast the southern shores, as Naples and Cagliari have learned in recent days. Both have suffered blows of such destructiveness as to greatly decrease their value in axis preparations for the coming finale in Tunisia, either as supply ports or bases for a possible "Dunkerque fleet."

The bombing campaign is one of three closely interlinked phases of the united nations' program, the others being the war on the U-boats and preparation for the coming invasion or invasions of the continent. The bombers are playing an important role in the submarine campaign, carrying the battle of the Atlantic clear to the factories that produce U-boat parts and to the shipyards that assemble them as well as to their lairs on the Atlantic coast. At the same time they are doing the preliminary work of the invasion program, softening up both western and southern Europe for the blows to come.

We have the word of the best allied authorities that this is only a foretaste of what is to come. And yet the results already must have meant considerable crippling of Hitler's war machine. Great areas of a dozen of Germany's greatest industrial cities have been laid in ruins. Havoc has been done to transportation, one of the weak links in the German war effort. Experts say it takes eight or nine months for such destruction to make itself felt in the actual arrival of war materials on the fronts, and the Reich has been under heavy although still intermittent raids for nearly a year now. It is more than ten months since that first 1,000-plane raid on Cologne.

The United States air force in Britain is not yet of the size necessary for attacks of that scale and its bomb loads still are measured in hundreds of tons instead of the thousands which the RAF's Lancasters and Stirlings deliver in their night forays. But the American contribution to the bombing war already is an important one and there is every indication that the coming weeks will see it grow tremendously.

clothed with very broad powers and charged with the sole responsibility of obtaining the greatest possible production and the best possible distribution of the food we have.

What now is required is an independent food administration with complete control over farm prices, food distribution, the production and allocation of farm equipment and the supply of agricultural manpower, and with powers cutting across those of all other federal agencies where the production, processing and distribution of food are concerned.

Perhaps the most effective move toward closer co-ordination of control in these several fields would be the creation of a special war cabinet in which officials would meet and discuss common problems face to face with one another and the president, who would then be in a position to settle disputes and conflicts of authority without the months of friction that now seem unavoidable before such final decisions can be made.

Until such a board is formed, or some similar organization with wide-sweeping powers is created, the solution to the food supply problem will remain unsolved.

Davis and the Food Problem

To meet the inevitable increasing demand for food supplies both for civilian and military consumption, a new food program under the direction of Chester C. Davis has been established. However, the steps taken thus far to seek a solution to the problem do not appear to be sufficiently well co-ordinated or thoroughgoing to alleviate the situation.

The appointment of Mr. Davis carried with it only limited power—power over food production and distribution heretofore exercised by the department of agriculture. There are absolutely no new responsibilities, no official membership on the War Production board, the Economic Stabilization board, and the Combined Food board. To be of any importance as an executive, Mr. Davis must be mentioned.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS SOUNDS

Fred Astaire's Favorite Fan

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The fan who sees more Fred Astaire dance routines than any other is Fred Astaire. This is not vanity. Before Fred makes a picture, he gets out all his old routines and studies them to avoid repeating himself. In his 16 films in 10 years, he has not been guilty of so doing.

Ten years of success in Hollywood make an actor practically an institution, and Astaire is that. He is without doubt the most agile and active star of his age in pictures. Some theater guides list his birthday as May 10, 1900. He says the year was 1899.

He has been on screen or stage for 38 years beginning with his sister Adele in vaudeville when he was five. He was born in Omaha, Neb., and his real name was Austerlitz. They changed it to Astaire because Austerlitz sounded "too much like a battle."

Fred thinks he began worrying—which has since become his favorite diversion—when he was 12 and a Jersey City theater manager let it be known that Adele had talent but "the boy" wasn't so hot. That puzzled Fred, who not only danced and sang but played the piano in the act. He kept on, however.

Sister Adele was Fred's partner longer than any of her nine successors. She left him in 1930 to marry Lord Charles Cavendish, as Naples and Cagliari have learned in recent days. Successors: Claire Luce (not the Congresswoman), Joan Crawford, Ginger Rogers, Joan Fontaine, Eleanor Powell, Paulette Goddard, Marjorie Reynolds, Joan Leslie.

Fred saw Joan Leslie dancing and talked to her studio, Warner Bros., about a picture with her. Maybe that gave them an idea—they put her in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and Fred had to wait months for her. But it took him less than a week to teach her the new routines for "Limit."

He looks taller than his five feet, ten, no stouter than his 140 pounds. His shoes—size 7—are custom-made and last for years because he has a large collection both for dancing and ordinary wear. One pair recently brought $116,000 at auction—on a bond-selling tour.

Astaire, by virtue of composing several hit tunes, is a member of ASCAP. Among his works: "I'm Building Up to a Big Letdown," "Like Taking Candy from a Baby." He is proud of the checks ASCAP sends him now and then. He likes "rhythm music"—things he can dance to. His name for the classical type is "water music."

Fred likes, in addition to gin rummy and golf, well-tailored clothes and bright neckties.

"BUG BEAR" THAT WALKS LIKE A MAN

Washington in Wartime— Capital Lights Fade

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If you want to be a hero in this war, stay out of Washington.

After 15 months of war and more than a year of national defense before that (which is longer than World War I lasted) Washington not only has failed to produce a hero, but it has been the heads of most of its potential heroes toppled into foxholes.

Whatever became of William S. Knudson, the production genius? He's a lieutenant general over in the War Department and doing a bang-up job, but for all you now hear of him, he might be No. 1 in the President's list of those with a passion for anonymity.

Whatever became of Floyd B. Odum, New York financier who was going to solve all the nation's economic problems? Frankly, I don't know. Where is Ferdinand Eberstadt? Don't ask me. Leon Henderson, who fought valiantly for price control in the battle against inflation, is supposed to be vacationing somewhere in the south, but on the government rolls there's only a big black line through the name of the ex-OPA chief.

Donald Nelson, head of WPB, has recently seen most of his reins turned over to Charles E. Wilson, Food "czar" Claude V. Wickard has seen his powers pass to Chester C. Davis.

Name one member of the cabinet who has grown an inch in stature since Pearl Harbor. Certainly not the aging Secretary of State Hull or Secretary of War Stimson. There is no criticism against the personal efforts of either, but neither have they emerged as heroes. Secretary of Labor Perkins has watched most of her peacetime powers pass to others. Manpower Commissioner

Paul V. McNutt has been under fire constantly, as has Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones.

The list could go on and on. One possible exception at the moment is Economic Stabilizer James F. Byrnes, but the "second president" for all his influence, will probably continue to act more behind the scenes. That doesn't make for glory.

If there are going to be any Herbert Hoovers and Bernard M. Baruchs in this war, they're a long time coming to the front.

What's the reason? I have asked a dozen old-timers who saw the last war through here. Most often their answers fall into two groups:

(1) Having watched the verbal punishment that the Hendersons, Ginsburgs, the Thurman Arnolds, the William Jeffers, the McNutts and others have taken, many competent industrialists have preferred to ignore the call to Washington. (See WASHINGTON, page 5)

THE BOOK PARADE

By JOHN SELBY
"Seven Came Through," by Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker (Doubleday, Doran; $1.50).

Those who are interested in Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker's recent Pacific experience merely for the spine-chill involved may just as well skip it—they will have to read Robert Trumbull's "The Raft," and that book is quite as good a thriller. In fact, better.

The usefulness of Captain Rickenbacker's "Seven Came Through" is in another department. Thrills are in it; for more than three weeks the men rode their three rafts watching each other deteriorate mentally and physically, watching one of the original eight die, approaching closer to the ultimate with every moment. A gull even landed on Rickenbacker's head—in "The Raft" it was, as I remember, an albatross. Then the seven who came through were rescued, and restored to life by navy doctors.

This experience was only one of many in a larger project the aviator had undertaken, which was to survey for Secretary Stimson our air force on all its fronts. This involved a trip to England, a lengthy tour of the United States and eventually a swing around the Pacific. Naturally the book does not reprint his confidential report, and just as naturally the conclusions it does contain are those of a man in the executive end of the American plane industry. Which is to say that they do not all agree with the estimate of American plane usefulness prepared by some other sources outside the industry. The result of the variance is to leave the reader where he was before, which is in an area of total obtusation.

As long as Captain Rickenbacker sticks to technical air data, or writes about his bitter experience on the raft, he writes convincingly. As soon as he enters other fields he merely provides material for debate. On page 93 he sideswipes the social legislation of depression days—his, he says, operates to lower "depricate" is his word) American initiative, while now we are spending billions to incite this quality in our armed forces. The other side will say the social legislation preserved our self-respect and honor—that starvation is poor food for rugged individuals. This aspect Captain Rickenbacker ignores.

Joseph Newton To Talk Here

Distinguished Preacher Will Lecture Sunday At University Vespers

The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, distinguished columnist and preacher, will speak at the University Vespers Sunday at 8 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

Diversified Pilgrimage

Probably no religious leader in our time has had a more diversified spiritual pilgrimage than the Rev. Mr. Newton. He first entered the ministry of the Southern Baptist church in the state of Texas, then became pastor of a non-sectarian church in St. Louis. He founded the People's church in Dixon, Ill., and later became pastor of the People's church in Cedar Rapids, from which he was called to the pastorate of the City Temple in London, England.

The City Temple is usually regarded as the outstanding non-Anglican pulpit of the city of London. From London, he was called back to America to become pastor of the Church of the Divine Paternity in New York City, which is the leading Universalist church in America.

Following this he entered the Episcopal ministry and during the last two decades has been rector of three outstanding parishes in Philadelphia, the present one being the church of St. Luke and Epiphany.

Among his better known books are "What Have the Saints to Teach Us," "The Mercy of Hell," "Preaching in London," "Preaching in New York," "God and the Golden Rule" and "Things I Know in Religion."

Newspaper Column

His influence has become particularly wide in recent years because of a daily syndicated newspaper column called, "Everyday Living." This column appears daily in the Cedar Rapids Gazette and in scores of newspapers throughout the country.

The records show that the Rev. Mr. Newton has appeared more frequently than any other speaker at baccalaureate services of the university. In addition to speaking at University Vespers Sunday night, he will address the Executive club of Cedar Rapids Monday.

Admission Sunday will be by ticket, available at the Union desk for faculty and students commencing Wednesday morning, and the general public Friday.

ALLEN—

sioned about America, Allen declared, because we were so long in taking heed of the "cancerous growth" which was slowly enveloping Europe and the world. "Those people saw that America was suffering from the same malady that they (the French) died from." This feeling was increased to a great extent when we "took Darian to our bosom."

Allen related this war to the last by saying that we tried to make the world safe for democracy, rather than "democracy safe for the world." He declared of our own complacency and isolationism toward the conflict, "We ought to raise a monument to the Japanese for getting us into it."

The German's feelings about the war—at least those of the German soldier—were brought out when the speaker took his audience on a sort of psychological tour of the Nazi mind under the influence of drink.

"After the first two or three drinks, the German explains that his country has no designs upon America and the rest of the world. But, after a few more, he becomes very brutal as his master state psychology becomes apparent, and he says: 'We will destroy everything.' Then, when he has had about seven or eight, his voice changes almost to a sob and he asks: 'Why don't they pity us? We didn't do anything.'"

Allen devoted a major portion of his speech to the actual invasion of North Africa, which he said was executed without any German knowledge of the plan whatsoever. "We caught them flat-footed in every sense, of the word," the correspondent asserted.

The main difficulty was that the Americans met with more "political" opposition than they had expected. In having to fight for Oran, Algiers and Casablanca, we lost "three precious days—time enough for Hitler to grab Tunis and Bizerte."

Hitler delayed any possible allied second front in Europe very cheaply, Allen declared. He has bought time with only 200,000 men. But it remains to be seen just how glorious the "German Danquerque" will be.

Violet Maxine Lackender, David Johnston Married in Ceremony at Methodist Church

Before an altar decorated with pink gladioli and white snapdragons and banked with seven-branch candelabra, Violet Maxine Lackender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lackender, route 4, became the bride of David M. Johnston, son of Mrs. Vida Johnston, 618 Iowa avenue, at 2 p. m. Sunday. The double-ring service was read in the First Methodist church by the Rev. L. L. Dunnington.

Preceding the ceremony, Winona Durst of Sharon played a group of organ melodies. Jane Wilson, A3 of Iowa City, sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" (Herbert). The wedding march from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) was played as the professional and Mendelssohn's recessional followed the service.

Bridal Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chiffon and lace, styled floor-length with a bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice was fashioned entirely of lace with gathered shoulders and three-quarter length sleeves. At the sweetheart neckline the bride wore three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her fingertip length veil of white net fell from a coronet of seed pearls, and her bouquet was of white gladioli with white satin streamers.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was Mrs. Kenneth Clancy of Iowa City, matron of honor, dressed in a turquoise gown of net, fashioned with a full-tiered skirt and panels of deep turquoise lace at each gather. Short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline were other features of the gown. She wore a short veil of matching net and carried a bouquet of giant bluish-pink sweetpeas tied with wide ribbons of pink and silver.

Best Man

Robert French, E4 of Albion, Ind., served Mr. Johnston as best man. Ushering were Russell Lackender of Iowa City, brother of the bride, and John Bates, M1 of Burlington.

The bride's mother wore a silk gown of navy and pink with navy accessories. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a navy blue suit trimmed in navy and white. Their corsages were of deep salmon-pink roses.

Following the nuptial ceremony, 90 guests attended a reception held in the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority house, with which the bride is affiliated. The white-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was served from a long buffet table appointed with multi-colored snapdragons. Presiding were Jean Koenig, C3 of LeMars, president of the house, and Mrs. Veva Huntington, house-mother.

Wedding Trip

The couple left Sunday afternoon on a short wedding trip, after which they will make their home at 618 Iowa avenue. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories.

Mrs. Johnston was graduated from Iowa City high school, and Mr. Johnston from Deep River high school. Both are seniors in the college of commerce of the university and will be graduated this month. The bride is affiliated with Phi Gamma Nu commerce sorority. Attending the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Cranston, Mrs. Maggie Stevenson, Mrs. Eliza Greer, all of Deep River; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McWilliams, all of Guernsey, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Johnston, all of Montezuma.

Iowa Defeats Western Illinois Teachers

Hawkeye Nine Victorious, 7-1

Lind Wallops Two Homers; Stille Keeps Illinois Team Hitless

By DON SLYE

Iowa's baseball nine won their second game of the season yesterday afternoon as they scored early and coasted to a 7-1 victory over Western Illinois State Teachers.

Capt. Harold Lind and Roy Stille shared the spotlight as Lind belted two home runs and Stille retired nine men in order during his three-inning stay on the mound.

The Hawks banged out 10 hits for their seven runs—scoring three in the first inning, three in the fifth and one in the seventh. Western Illinois was limited to two singles and scored its tally in the eighth inning.

Start to Work

Iowa went right to work on Pitcher Bob Peck in its first time at bat. Leadoff man Max Landes walked, Don Thompson advanced him to second with a clean single to left field, and Lind promptly cleared the sacks with a mighty home run into right center.

In the fifth inning the Hawkeyes were helped out by two Illinois errors, in-scoring three runs. Thompson beat out a bounder to short, Farmer then singled down the third base line and the left fielder, Bob Blaha, fumbled the ball to allow Thompson to score and Farmer to continue to second.

Lind was hit by a pitch ball and Harry Rinkema doubled Farmer home and sent Lind to third. The right fielder then scored on a wild pitch.

The Iowa captain finished the scoring in the seventh by pasting one down the left field line. Blaha, who was playing the left-handed hitter in left center, made a desperate try for the ball but missed and Lindy had his second home.

Finally Score

The Illinois team finally scored in the eighth as the Hawk defense let up. With one out, Blaha sent an easy roller to Farmer but the second baseman was too sure of himself and Blaha got life on first. Gaston Freedman then grounded to Farmer who tried for Blaha at second, but the throw was low and Blaha continued to third and Freedman to second.

Left fielder Max Landes made the third error of the inning by letting the ball roll through him, and Blaha scored and Freedman went to third. Max Smith decided to take matters in his own hands and struck out the next two Illinois batters to retire the side.

The Iowa nine really looked like a ball club aside from this one inning. The outfielders gathered in the fly balls with ease and the infielders worked smoothly in fielding ground balls.

The same three pitchers that twirled Friday's game worked yesterday with Red Kenney pitching the first four frames, Stille the next three and Smith the last two. Stille fanned five men during his stay and really looked good. Kenney and Smith each gave up one hit.

The Hawks start their conference competition this weekend against the Michigan Wolverines.

Whirlaway Tops List Of Handicap Entries

BALTIMORE (AP)—Whirlaway, greatest money winner of all time, headed a field of 32 top-notchers announced yesterday for the $20,000 Dixie handicap May 1, one of the high spots of Pimlico's spring "street car meeting."

The Maryland Jockey club also reported approval of an additional five days of horse racing by the state racing commission, and a decision to start five days earlier—April 16. The meet, which was scheduled for a 15-day run beginning April 22, will be run the same day as the Kentucky derby, which is for three-year-olds—will be Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, and Charles S. Howard's Miodland. W. L. Brann's Challeon, other member of the quartet which participated in the finish thriller last year, has been retired.

Receipts from the extra days will go to war relief.

Calumet farms' Whirlaway, who will be seeking his second straight victory in the mile and three-sixteenths battle, is one of three Dixie money winners from last year again nominated. It may be the first start of the season for the long-tailed beauty, unless he runs at Churchill Downs.

Cards Begin Spring Season In Good Shape

By OSCAR KAHAN
CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Although most major league teams are still experimenting with their lineups, the St. Louis Cardinals are in such excellent shape for manpower that it's possible today to predict their likely batting order.

Barring the unexpected—or the draft—indications are that the world champions will open the National league season with a team made up almost entirely of last year's players. No other club in either circuit can boast of a similar outlook.

Here's the way, it appears, that the Cardinals will go to bat against the Cincinnati Reds April 21:
Jimmy Brown, 2b
Johnny Hopp, 1b
Stan Musial, lf
Walker Cooper, c
George Kurovski, 2b
Buster Adams, cf
Martin Marion, ss
Harry Walker, rf
Morton Cooper, p

This is virtually the lineup used by Manager Billy Southworth in his intrasquad games, and there's only one name in the list new to the Cardinals—Adams, the speedy outfielder, who batted .309 for Sacramento. He's a long-ball hitter of the type Southworth likes in the sixth slot of his batting order.

Walker was with the Cardinals last season and saw frequent service as a centerfield substitute for Terry Moore, hanging up a creditable average of .314. He's fleet footed, fitting in well with the team's dependence on speed in its offense.

Back of this probable starting lineup, Southworth has a plethora of reserves, with a capable man or two for every position. That, again, is more than any other team manager can say, and some of them would be saying thanks if they could put uniforms on the Cardinals' second-stringers.

These reserves include Ray Sanders, who may yet take Hopp's first-base job, forcing Johnny to seek an outfield berth. Either George Fallon or Lou Klein will succeed Brown at second, if the peppery Cardinal captain goes into military service. Klein normally is a shortstop and could fill in for Marion, if necessary.

Debs Gagny, one-time National league batting champion, can play third base as well as the outfield. Along with the possible addition of Hopp, the Cardinals also have Coaker Triplett, Frank Demaree and Dain Clay as outfield candidates.

The pitching staff should be more than adequate with Morton Cooper, Harry Gumbert, Ernie White and Max Lanier as a "big four," supported by a promising crop of rookies.

Determine Champs In Three Sections

Delta Sigma Delta upset the apple cart as well as Sigma Phi Epsilon last night as its volleyball team won a 15-5, 15-11 decision over the Phi Eps in the intramural volleyball tournament. The win put the two teams in a tie for first place in the section 2 race for the title. The play-off game is not scheduled for any definite time as yet, but will probably take place this week so that the round robin championship title can get underway between the four sections next week.

Winners in the other three sections are Phi Gamma Delta, section 1; Psi Omega, section 3, and Phi Kappa Psi, section 4.

★ Donelli Minus School; ★ Back, Knee Injuries ★ Slow Cooper's Work

NEW YORK (AP)—If any school is looking for a top row football coach, there's one running around as loose as a zoot suit whom we'd recommend. Even guarantee.

He's Buff Donelli, who has just had Duquesne moved out from under him, leaving him up there pawing the air and looking for a nice spot to land.

He's a smart, stocky gent, is Donelli. He played considerable football in his time, and is a Ted Williams at soccer. Not meaning that Ted Williams was always booting them. We just mean Buff is tops at that sport.

His sports participation has left its mark. His nose meanders aimlessly over his mug so that if he followed it he'd never find his way back. His ears are a little the worse for wear, and he talks out of the corner of his mouth in that "All right, copper, you asked for it—bang, bang" style of radio gangsters.

But he's a real gent, and a whale of a football coach, as his record shows. A couple of years ago he had that undefeated, untied and uninvited team which may not have been the best in the country, but which could have made the best prove it was the best.

He's a keen student of the game, and his teams play a who's-got-the-ball system which drives opponents daffy, and much of this hocus-pocus was invented by Buff himself.

This may sound like a free ad for Donelli, and maybe it is, but with the coach situation as it is, we thought it would be in good taste to tell where a good one might be found. We aren't a guy to refuse to tell a fellow where he can get butter just because we don't need any ourselves at the time.

We haven't seen Mort Cooper throw since the last world series, and not too much then, but we understand the big Card chucker is having his troubles because of injuries suffered in a fall, and that, because of a lame knee, he can't use his usual throwing motion.

Which sounds like saying a guy can't kick a football because he has a sprained finger, but it's the truth, nevertheless, as a pitcher throws practically with his whole body and when one part is jimmied-up it spoils the synchronization of the whole.

Pro Football League Opens Parley Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The National football league requested delegates to its spring meeting to park their long faces outside the door last night as they checked in for the three-day parley which opens today.

Commissioner Elmer Layden said the sessions would be conducted on the "we can and will play football" theme unless investigations should prove conclusively the pro league can't weather the demands of selective service on player personnel.

"It's not going to be easy, I know," Layden said. "Our easy source of playing material—college football ranks—is gone for the duration. We're going to have to work to get players and prepare our teams for the 'schedule.'"

Layden made his often-repeated confident viewpoint clear to the league's executive committee when the five-man board gathered yesterday for a convention-eve discussion of league conditions.

Meeting with the commissioner yesterday were Harry Thayer of the Philadelphia Eagles, Bert Bell of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Fred Mandel of the Detroit Lions, and Lieut. Comm. George Halas of the Chicago Bears. This committee's purpose is to study reports on the 1942 season, including the financial sheet which is in excellent condition, and prepare ideas on future league policy for formal consideration by the entire body tomorrow.

There were only a few die-hards among the delegates who assembled last night, and they for the most part were men whose clubs have been pretty well shattered by the military draft without sturdy replacements being in sight. They repeated the frequently heard cry, "We don't see how the league can possibly operate next fall."

Cubs' Manager Called On Carpet by Landis

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP)—Catcher Tom Turner of the Chicago White Sox, who has been bedded down several days with an attack of the flu, was up and around yesterday, while pitcher Thornton Lee, who twice has been hit with throat trouble, felt strong enough to give his left arm a workout.

Jim Grant, rookie third baseman who injured his shoulder on a quick throw recently, was able to participate in infield practice and probably will be used tomorrow in a third match of the informal camp series with the Chicago Cubs.

Manager Jim Dykes also plans to use big Julius Solters, who is attempting a comeback after being out of baseball 18 months, in the outfield against the Cubs. Wally Moses, only survivor of the 1942 fly catching staff, also will make his spring debut.

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs yesterday received an invitation from Commissioner K. M. Landis to drop in at his office when he returns to Chicago to explain his uprising against umpire Art Passarella last week.

Wilson's shouts at Passarella during a game with the White Sox were so spicily seasoned that the umpire thumbed him from the field.

The Cubs will take a first look at National league competition when they meet the Cincinnati Reds here today. Wilson plans to unveil three pitchers who saw no service in the four games the Cubs have played with the White Sox and Detroit Tigers. Jake Mooty is scheduled to start, followed by Paul Erickson and Lefty Ray Prim of Pica, Calif.

League Umpire Ranks Now Lowered to Ten

No Draft Worries For Reduced Number In American League

CHICAGO (AP)—The poor umpire, who works two to four hours a day seven days a week unless it rains or the teams have a day off, will be doubly on his guard against injuries or sickness in the American league this season, for there will be only 10 arbiters in uniform instead of the 12 who took the field last year.

The league is relatively free of military draft worries in this department, however, for only one umpire, Ernest Stewart, is under the 38-year-old mark and he has two children.

Ten men will be by no means a low for umpiring staffs, for several years ago the junior circuit had only eight men available. Last year's 12 is a high point.

Harris Happy as 21 Players Report for Yesterday's Drill

Twenty-one gridders reported to Coach Jim Harris yesterday as spring football practice took on a major role. Five of the reporting gridders were lettermen.

Edsel Schweizer, John Staak, Bill Barbour, Bob Liddy and Forrest Masterson were the reporting lettermen. Schweizer, Staak and Barbour reported for the first time yesterday.

Harris stated that he expects the total to reach about 25 before the end of the week. The Hawkeye mentor stressed the necessity of spring drills to form a nucleus for the team this fall.

Although a good many of the gridders this fall may be freshmen it is probable that some of the reporting freshman may be in uniform for the fall season. It is expected that more lettermen will report before the end of the week.

The gridders who reported for the first time yesterday are: Bill Bergman, Ft. Madison; Edsel Schweizer, Burlington; Jerome Schweitzer, Webster City; Abe Rosenberg, Maquoketa; John Staak, Davenport; Bill Barbour, Mason City; Mauro Chicchio, Scotch Plains, N. J., and Arthur Beard, Moline, Ill.

Following are the men who reported earlier last week: Bob Liddy, Forrest Masterson, Bob Poulter, Andy Novasad, Don Lehmkuhl, Bob Farley, Jim Svensen, Harry Frey, Harold Fiala, Don Murray, Bill Cahill and Ambrose O'Malley.

Yanks Take Second Exhibition Win, 7-2; Reds Expect Sell-out

FT. HANCOCK, N. J. (AP)—With Jim Turner, Lefty Russo and Ernie Bonham combining to pitch six-hit ball, the New York Yankees whipped the Ft. Hancock nine 7 to 2 for their second victory in three exhibition baseball games.

Johnny Lindell, the Yankees' batting star in their first two games against Newark, failed to get a hit off four bolder hurlers. The only extra blow off the Yankee bats was a double by Joe Gordon in the seventh when the American league champs put together three of their nine hits with an error and base on balls to count three times.

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Mayor John C. Hampton of Muncie, was almost swept off his feet yesterday when the Pirates put on a sham riot just before the finish of a five inning camp game, in which the rookies beat the regulars 2 to 1.

The players pretended to flare up when Hampton, acting as chief umpire, called out Johnny Barrett on strikes. They dashed to the astonished mayor, seized him and almost had the breath hugged out of him before he caught on to the fun.

Max Butcher and Bill Brandt held the regulars to four hits, one a double by Bob Elliott. Bob Klinger hurled three hitless innings against the Yankigans but Xavier Rescigno, who won 23 and lost 6 last year with Albany, was touched for singles by John Wyrostek and Ripper Collins and a double by Bill Baker, to score their two runs.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds received word from the home office yesterday that for the first time in years a few opening game tickets were available early in April.

A sell-out still is considered a certainty by Red officials, who said drafting of many fans and transportation difficulties accounted for the slowing of sales. The 30,000 seats available at the park normally are sold by late fall or early winter.

The Reds went through routine batting drill yesterday.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Boston Red Sox of the American league took the first of a three game series from the Baltimore International league club yesterday by a score of 8 to 0.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) Third baseman Harland Clift, delayed for more than a week in arriving here because of travel difficulties, will arrive in St. Louis tomorrow and will join the Browns there, manager Luke Sewell said yesterday.

Sewell also disclosed that southpaw Archie McKain, last of the Browns' holdouts, has agreed to terms and will join the club in St. Louis Friday.

Vernon Stephens, the peppery little shortstop who is IA, arrived Sunday and plans to stay with the team until called to the army. He said his draft board said he could report to the team so Stephens expects to see some action before being called.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Washington Senators of the American league completed a five-day stay here yesterday by mauling the Norfolk Naval Air station, 10-4.

Navy Personalities... Hartley Price

He attributes his teams' successes to his stress of the idea of competitive exhibition gymnastics. In 1933 he organized "Gymkana," a gymnastics exhibition to raise money for his team. Soon the show was playing to large crowds on tours throughout the middle west and had the effect of attracting some of the nations outstanding gymnasts to Illinois.

Lieutenant Price explains that the gymnastic training is included in the sports program here because "it teaches the cadet how to fall under any circumstances. If they learn a few fundamentals about falling they can adapt themselves to numerous situations."

He also pointed out that the great stress on rope climbing that is given here at the base is quite necessary. "It's a long way from the water to the flight deck of a carrier," he said, adding that gymnastics is about the only sport in the whole program where cadets can experience general orientation of the body in space—which a flier must be able to do.

"Finally," he concluded, "probably from reaction to the last war the country went away from the so-called formal program of physical training to a play or recreation program. In that program of football, baseball, basketball, etc., the legs were well taken care of but the upper part of the body was greatly neglected. Because of that our basic philosophy of teaching here is to concentrate on strength during the first week of training and on skill during the second week."

Lieut. Hartley D. Price, head of the gymnastics department of the Iowa Pre-Flight school and one of the foremost gym coaches in the country, has complete charge of all tumbling, gym training and such specialties as rope climbing and exhibition gymnastics at the Iowa base.

Lieutenant Price was the head gymnastics coach at the University of Illinois for 14 years, and during his time there won 16 major titles, including six national team championships and four Big Ten titles. In his last four years there, the Illini won three out of four Big Ten matches, the National Collegiate championship four consecutive years, and both the National and Central A. A. U. meets. His 1940 team was the first college unit in history to win the National A. A. U. crown, a feat which they repeated the following year.

Reveal Plans For Stabilizing World Moneys

Administration Would Fix Post-War Values Of Currencies in Gold

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asserting the treasury is "deeply concerned with the threat of international monetary chaos at the end of the war," Secretary Morgenthau disclosed yesterday comprehensive administration plans to stabilize post-war currencies and fix their value in terms of gold.

The administration program, which the secretary emphasized is purely tentative, was outlined to an extraordinary closed session of the senate committees on foreign relations, banking and currency, and post-war economy and planning. It involves these major points:

1. Creation of an international stabilization fund by the united nations and their associates (a senator who heard Morgenthau said he understood the fund would have a capital of $5,000,000,000).
2. Fixing the value of currencies in terms of gold.
3. An agreement among participating nations not to devalue their currencies without consulting other members of the stabilization funds. This would be similar to the tripartite agreement signed by Great Britain, France and the United States in 1936.

Although his appearance before the senate committees was in executive session, Morgenthau later told his press conference that he would make public today the complete draft of the treasury's tentative proposals. They have been submitted to representatives of 34 nations invited here for conferences.

The treasury proposals were reported to include provisions for a new world currency unit to be known as "unitas." Treasury officials said the "unitas" would merely be used as a bookkeeping unit by the stabilization fund and would have a gold-backed value of $10.

'Leak' From London
Morgenthau appeared annoyed that a "leak" on the proposals had developed in London, and expressed belief this premature disclosure originated among the governments in exile to whom the treasury plan was submitted, and not in officials in British circles.

The secretary declined to discuss the treasury proposals at his press conference, saying to do so would "break faith" with members of the house foreign affairs and coinage, weights and measures committees, with whom he is to discuss the monetary plan today.

International Agency
The secretary told the senate committees yesterday that America should begin now to devise an international monetary agency because the completion of such a task is certain to take many months and because development of a post-war stabilization plan may be a factor in winning the war.

"It has been suggested, and with much cogency," he told the committee in a prepared statement, "that the task of assuring the defeat of the axis powers would be made easier if the victims of aggression, actual and potential, could have greater assurance that a victory of the united nations will not mean in the economic sphere a repetition of the exchange instability and monetary collapse that followed the last war."

Passage of Bankhead Bill to Up Food Cost 6.7 Percent, Says OPA

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The office of price administration said last night passage of the Bankhead bill over President Roosevelt's veto would boost the retail cost of food 6.7 percent and add $1,500,000,000 to consumers' annual food budget.

In the house, meanwhile, Representative Gore (D-Tenn.) said congress, if it overrides the veto, will be "flirting with an economic crack-up on the home front which might bring about defeat on the world battlefronts."

Raise Farm Ceilings
The senate is due to consider the veto today. The bill would raise ceiling prices on certain farm commodities by requiring that government subsidy payments to farmers be ignored in the calculation of parity prices.

OPA's statement, backing up Administrator Prentiss Brown's frequent criticism of the measure, said it would increase the cost of feeding the armed forces and supplying allied nations by $500,000,000 a year.

Rise in Wages
This calculation did not take into account the possibility of a rise in wages resulting from food price gains—which, OPA said, would in turn raise the parity figures by increasing the cost of supplies to farmers.

Navy School Begins Payroll Allotment Plan

A payroll allotment plan for buying War Bonds has been started at the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school. Under the plan officers, cadets and enlisted men may sign a pledge to invest at least 10 percent of their pay each month in war bonds.

The navy department has set as its goal 90 percent of all Navy personnel allotting 10 percent of their pay for war bonds.

Minimum allotment for officers has been set at $18.75 each month, and for cadets and enlisted men $6.25 each month.

The first to make an allotment was Capt. D. C. Hanrahan, commanding officer of the pre-flight school. The Navy pre-flight school band has also signed up 100 percent.

Eight Events Planned For Commencement

Eight events, as compared with the 20 of pre-war days, will be featured at the University of Iowa steamlined war commencement program which begins Thursday, April 22, Prof. F. G. Higbee, director of Convocations, said yesterday.

April 24, designated as alumni day, will feature a radio dramatic presentation, the alumni luncheon, a baseball game between Iowa and Wisconsin and a showing of war information and Latin-American films.

The Commencement activities will end Sunday, April 25, with the 83rd formal Commencement exercises, at which some 600 degrees will be awarded. Dean Emeritus Charles R. Brown of Yale university will be the Commencement speaker.

Homer S. Elmquist, Lieutenant in Medical Corps, Sends Wife Present—Boastful Jap Flag From Guadalcanal Now Hangs in Iowa City

By RENE CAPPON

"Victory certain," boasted the large, black characters on a battle flag of worn silk carried by a Japanese lieutenant as a talisman and private shrine.

Inscribed with numerous signatures of friends, relatives, and well-wishers, it is now a trophy on display at the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric company after Homer S. Elmquist, a lieutenant in the medical corps, sent it to his wife here. He obtained the flag in an abandoned Jap field hospital on Guadalcanal where the original owner met his "certain victory."

Former Physician

Lieut. Elmquist was a resident physician at the University hospital here before he enlisted in the navy. Transferred to the marine corps, he was sent to Guadalcanal. From there he brought back into the south Pacific base, where he is now on furlough, the flag and other items which he collected on the battlefield.

In the letter which accompanied the flag, he explained its significance and described Guadalcanal life in general. That "many of the trucks have Jap skulls as radiator ornaments" is one of the more macabre aspects.

The flag, unusual because of the amount of writing, is treasured highly as a souvenir, and $150 is not an uncommon price for the silk specimens (officers' flags).

Collecting More

Lieut. Elmquist is busy collecting some more souvenirs. According to the above-quoted letter, he is "making a bracelet for Helen from a piece of Zero I saw shot down January 31." And two days ago Mrs. Elmquist of 718 Rundle street received a letter with a photograph enclosed showing her husband just behind the front lines in Guadalcanal.

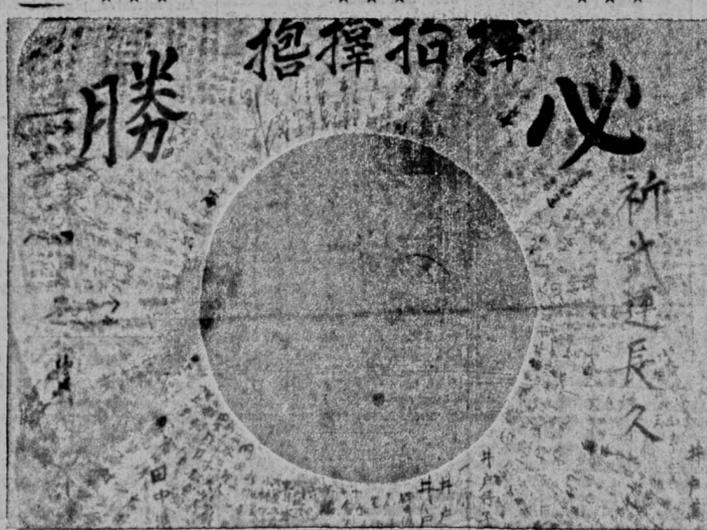

The knife, which he even a medical officer wears, should be noted, as he himself points out in his letter. To the left, before the first aid tent, there is a fox hole indicative of the insecurity of even the medical units. In the distant background to the right some marines can be seen marching by in a single file. This is the order of march in jungle fighting.

Lieut. Homer S. Elmquist

THIS ONE-TIME Japanese officer's morale builder is mainly a receptacle for signatures from friends and relatives. According to translation by Lieutenant Elmquist, big characters in the upper right—near the sun—mean "victory," followed by the name of the Jap's outfit in line from left to right, then the word "certain." He identified other signs as "Nakayama" and "Lamura Junior," evidently names.
