Japs Bombard Yank Shipping

Fighting Interceptors Down 37 Enemy Craft With Loss of Only 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Japanese, in their greatest aerial assault against the Guadalcanal area since last November, hurled almost 100 planes Wednesday against precious American shipping off that battle-weary island. American fighters, rising to intercept, shot down 37 enemy planes and lost seven, the navy disclosed yesterday—a ratio of one to five.

Whether any bombers got through to attack the ships was not made known.

Speculation immediately rose here on whether the assault signaled the beginning of big new Japanese moves some have expected for weeks. Not since early February had the enemy shown up in force near Guadalcanal.

Here's what happened to the force of 50 Japanese bombers and 40 Zero fighters escorting them, according to the navy: 21 Zero fighters, 5 dive-bombers and 10 planes, "of types unreported," destroyed; another Japanese plane crashed.

United States planes lost were one Aircobra fighter and six Wildcat fighters. One American pilot was rescued.

The navy communique was released coincidental with a press conference at which Secretary of War Stimson said that Japanese air strength is growing in the lower Pacific. He added, however, that American strength has been increased also — "and further increases are in immediate prospect" in India, China and the southeast Pacific.

At the same time, Secretary Stimson asserted that American airmen in the north Pacific are making the positions of Japanese garrisons on the Aleutian islands of Kiska and Attu "increasingly precarious." He said U.S. attacks are being stepped up despite adverse weather.

In addition to the enemy aircraft wrecked at Guadalcanal, another plane, a four-engine flying boat, was destroyed Wednesday when American Avengers and the Dauntless dive-bombed Rekata bay, Santa Isabel Island.

Allotment for Land Army Passes Senate

House-Approved Plan Revised to Increase Measure 14 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate passed and returned to the house yesterday legislation appropriating $40,000,000 for an army of roving workers to help this year's farm production.

The house-approved measure, expected to decrease greatly an estimated shortage of 3,500,000 agricultural workers, was revised by the senate to boost the appropriation by $14,000,000 and permit recipients of old age assistance to draw pay for farm work without losing their benefit payments.

Senate action came on a voice vote after a motion by Senator Lodge (R., Mass.) to send the bill to the agriculture committee was shouted down. Lodge contended (1) the legislation might open the door to large numbers of foreign laborers and (2) it first should have approval of the secretary of state.

Senators Hayden (D., Ariz.) and Russell (D., Ga.), senate sponsors of the bill, argued that heavy immigration would be impossible as the measure does not revise existing immigration quotas.

Joining opponents of the measure, Senator Austin (R., Vt.), co-author of the Austin-Wadsworth bill to draft civilians for war work, predicted that a sufficiently large group of transient labor could not be raised by the voluntary methods called for in the bill.

"Not under existing law can you mobilize men for this work because they won't go," he shouted. The bill, which other opponents said might create a class of "super floaters" dependent upon government funds, supplies, transportation and housing, authorizes the food administrator to spend up to $40,000,000 "for assisting in providing an adequate supply of workers for the production and harvesting of agricultural commodities essential to the prosecution of the war."

Eden Invites Hull to Britain To Continue Peace Discussion

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons yesterday that he had invited Secretary of State Cordell Hull to visit Britain this summer to continue conversations on British-American relations which he said should be based on their "true foundation—a common interest in maintenance of world peace."

His announcement, made during a report on his recent trip to the United States and Canada, was greeted with cheers. (In Washington Hull said he appreciated the invitation, but had not yet made any plans.)

Eden said he was satisfied that the United States and Britain were in "complete agreement" on their "future policy toward France," and that there was "a very close similarity of outlook" on a wide variety of post-war problems.

U.S. Must Recapture 35 Billions Surplus Buying Power—Davis

Food Administrator Says Control Needed To Combat Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food Administrator Chester C. Davis declared yesterday that $35,000,000,000 in surplus spending power will have to be recaptured by the government if present price and wage controls are to combat inflation effectively.

In his first press interview since taking office 10 days ago, he recommended higher federal taxes and sharply increased investments in war bonds to relieve the strain of "too much purchasing power" on a declining supply of consumer goods, including food and other living items.

"This is no 10 percent war," he declared with apparent reference to the treasury's campaign to get 10 percent of salaries invested in war bonds. And, emphasizing he was advocating no particular program, he said he believed higher taxes must be collected at the time the income is earned.

A banker as well as an agricultural leader, Davis said the war economy is putting at least $35,000,000,000 more annual income in the hands of consumers than they can spend for goods and services, and this is putting a terrific strain on price and wage controls.

"We cannot put too much dependence on price and wage controls as means of stabilizing the economy," he declared, "so long as consumers have more money than the available supply of goods and services."

Davis said he felt confident he and Price Administrator Brown would be able to cooperate effectively and without dissension in controlling prices of farm and food products, and indicated he is satisfied with powers granted him by President Roosevelt.

"I'm proceeding on the assumption that those powers are adequate," he said. "If later it should be found that that is not the case, then we'll see what should be done about it."

Leaders of some of the major farm organizations have contended that Davis should have complete control over farm prices. Under the present arrangement, control is shared by Brown and Davis, with Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes, acting as the final authority in event of a disagreement.

The food administrator said the major farm organizations were "100 percent behind his recommendations. He indicated, however, that he sided with President Roosevelt in opposing the Bankhead and Pace farm bills when he said he would "hate to see the farm front be the first to break through the inflation program."

Asked about food production and distribution plans, Davis said he was getting acquainted with his task and was working on an overall price and production program that did not contemplate any major changes in policies or administrative set-up.

Anderson Now But 27 Airline Miles of Tunis

All Southern Tunisia In Allied Hands After Breaking Wadi Lines

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP) — The British Eighth army, gaining 15 miles in the coastal pursuit of Marshal Rommel's forces, was reported last night only 25 miles from a junction with another American column, which was driving toward the sea in the Maknassy-Mezzouna sector of central Tunisia.

In the north, Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's British First army, striking out northeastward in the Medjez-El-Bab region, reached a point within 27 airline miles of the axis stronghold of Tunis.

Possess South Tunisia Field dispatches said all southern Tunisia now is in allied hands after the British shattered the Wadi Akarit lines and made their first junction with the Americans on the Gafsa-Gabes road.

The next juncture of the British with an American column was expected in the area between Mezzouna and Graiba, more than 50 miles up the coast from Gabes.

There were indications that advance Eighth army troops already had swept beyond Cekhira (La Skhirra), a coastal settlement within 50 miles of Sfax.

Twenty-five miles to the northwest U.S. troops under Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton Jr., were battling German armored columns near Mezzouna in an effort to break through to the sea and cut off Rommel's retreat.

No Other Stand The swift Eighth army pursuit also indicated that Rommel would be unable to make another defensive stand in Cekhira sector between the sea and the Sebket salt marsh.

The Americans fighting near Mezzouna are less than 25 miles from Graiba on the coastal road along which Rommel is now retreating.

Military observers pointed out that steady pressure on Rommel may force him to run clear up the coast to the mountains north of Souste, 120 airline miles north of the broken Akarit line.

Relentless allied air hammering was speeding the enemy's flight. American and British troops were mopping up isolated pockets of resistance in the area between El Guetar and the coast, burying axis dead, sending the enemy wounded to hospitals, and methodically rounding up surrendering Italians.

Many Prisoners French troops sweeping across the big Djerid salt marsh south of the Gafsa-Gabes road knocked out remaining enemy positions, taking numerous prisoners and war material, a communique said last night. Rommel's retreating transport and troop columns were raked by allied airmen almost continually.

The loss of every axis piece of equipment made Rommel's situation all the more critical because Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's bombers also were doing a tremendous job against axis supply lines between Tunisia and Sicily.

Vandenberg Declares Service Men Should Be Allowed Right to Run for Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) warned the war department yesterday not to try to stop any man from becoming president merely because he is serving with the military forces, while Secretary Stimson flatly denied that the department's ban on political activity was aimed at General Douglas MacArthur or any other specific person.

Vandenberg told the senate he was "completely shocked" by the regulation preventing military personnel from seeking or accepting election to any public office not held by them when they entered active military service, or accepting reelection without prior approval of the war department.

Declaring that the order "nullifies the fundamental rights of American citizenship" and tends to

"militarize the processes of American democracy," Vandenberg told the senate:

"We are not yet totally at the mercy of our self-serving overlords. If a great American emerges, for example, as the next most eligible president of the United States, the war department can not stop him just because he happens to be a 'member of the military forces on active duty'—and it will make a blunder, as ineffectual as it will be transparent, if it tries."

Democratic leader Barkley of Kentucky, taking the floor after Vandenberg, described as "the quintessence of stupidity and quadruple asinity" suggestions that the order was designed to prevent "a famous general" from seeking office or to guarantee a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

Sugar Again Available For Home Canning Without Ration Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — OPA decided yesterday to make sugar available to home canners again this year without ration coupon penalties after arranging for an extra 200,000 tons of sugar to be imported from Cuba.

The sugar deal involving extra shipments was concluded this morning, and a few hours later top OPA officials held a special conference and authorized the home canning sugar.

Previously, OPA had considered requiring persons who asked for extra canning sugar to surrender eight to twelve points of their ration stamps for every extra pound of sugar.

Stimson Says LaGuardia Not Going in Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York City, it developed yesterday, is not going into the army after all, at least not in the near future.

Asked about reports — which have stirred criticism in congress — that the mayor would receive an army commission, Secretary of War Stimson said the war department felt it would be "very difficult to find any place in the army" where La Guardia would be as helpful as he is in his present job of administering affairs of the nation's largest city.

Stimson said the 60-year-old mayor offered his services to the armed forces, but "after talking it over we decided to leave it open and the mayor assured me he would always be available if needed."

Reports that La Guardia, a major and flier in World War I, would be commissioned in the army cropped up several weeks ago. One version was that he would be appointed a brigadier general and assigned to administering former Italian colonies in north Africa. The mayor is of Italian descent.

F.D.R. Places Ceiling on All Cost of Living Items, Restricts Further Increases in Wages

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a drastic "hold-the-line" order against inflation, virtually froze all prices last night and further restricted wage increases.

He directed that price ceilings be placed immediately on all cost of living items, thus bringing under controls fresh fish, all fresh vegetables and other foods presently exempt. And he ordered, too, that any "unfair" prices be reduced.

As for wages, he ordered that no general increases be granted except under the war labor board's "little steel" formula or to "correct standards of living." This eliminated the possibility of wage increases to correct inequalities, one of the grounds on which WLB has allowed some advances.

Mr. Roosevelt said, however, that his order was not to prevent "reasonable adjustments of wages and salaries in case of promotions, reclassifications, merit increases, incentive wages or the like, provided that such adjustments do not increase the level of production costs appreciably or furnish the basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices."

Further Points In two further points of a sweeping executive order, Mr. Roosevelt:

Authorized the manpower commission to establish hiring controls to prevent a worker from switching employment in order to get higher pay.

Asked that federal, state and rate regulatory bodies passing on rates of utilities and carriers take note of the order "so that rate increases will be disapproved and rate reductions effected" consistent with the stabilization program.

The president said in an accompanying statement that this was a "hold-the-line" order under which "all items affecting the cost of living are to be brought under control."

"No further price increases," he said, "are to be sanctioned unless imperatively required by law. Adjustments in the price relationships between different commodities will be permitted if such adjustments can be made without increasing the general cost of living."

"But any further inducements to maintain or increase production must not be allowed to disturb the present price level; such further inducements whether they take the form of support prices or subsidies must not be allowed to increase prices to consumers. Of course, the extent to which subsidies and other payments may be used to help keep down the cost of living will depend on congressional authorization."

On Wage Front On the wage front, he asserted: "There are to be no further increases in wage rates or salary scales beyond the little steel formula except where clearly necessary to correct standards of living. Reclassifications and promotions must not be permitted to affect the general level of production costs or to justify price increases or to forestall price reductions."

One provision of the order directed attention of all federal, state and municipal authorities concerned with rates of common carriers or other public utilities to the stabilization program "so that rate increases will be disapproved and rate reductions effected" consistently with the stabilization act and other applicable federal, state or municipal law so as to keep down the cost of living and effectuate purposes of the stabilization program.

In the case of agricultural commodities the price administrator, Prentiss Brown, and the food administrator, Chester C. Davis, were directed, and in the case of other commodities, the price administrator was directed, to "take immediate steps to place ceiling prices on all commodities affecting the cost of living."

Each was directed to "authorize no further increases in ceiling prices except to the minimum extent required by law."

Further, each was ordered to use all his discretionary powers to prevent further direct or indirect price increases, to prevent profiteering and to reduce prices which are "excessively high, unfair or inequitable."

The order will permit the two administrators to make "such readjustments in price relationships appropriate for various commodities, or classes, qualities or grades thereof or for seasonal variations or for various marketing areas."

Maps of Scandinavian Peninsula Confiscated

Detailed Information Concerning Telephone, Rail Lines Included

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish foreign office announced last night that maps of Sweden and Norway, which it described "as extraordinarily detailed," had been confiscated from a freight car bound across Sweden from Finland to Germany.

All goods in the car were removed by Swedish authorities, the announcement said, and a complete investigation has been ordered by the foreign office.

Discovery of the maps came on the anniversary of Germany's invasion of Norway three years ago and in the midst of a controversy over shipments of German goods and soldiers through Sweden between Germany, Norway and Finland.

Swedish customs and military officials discovered the maps when inspected goods were being transferred from one car to another at Haparanda in northern Sweden. What steps Swedish authorities will take will depend on the results of a full inquiry, the foreign office reported.

The confiscated maps, it was announced, had rail, telephone and communication lines all marked.

Discovery of the maps recalled the protests made when a German plane, forced down in Sweden early in March, was found to be carrying dismounted machineguns.

Conserving Ration Coupons

"I'm selling more canned food in my store than ever before in spite of the scarcity and meager selection," declared a grocer of a small Iowa town.

"Here's the way I shop now. I go into the store and find the can that requires the most points and compare it in price to the other cans of the same amount of points. I buy the can that costs the least but that requires the most points—that is unless I don't happen to like what's in the can," the farmer explained.

"The beauty of point rationing," reads an explanatory pamphlet on the subject, "is that everyone gets a fair and equal amount of canned fruits and vegetables."

Perhaps if Prentiss K. Brown, of the office of price administration, made an inspection tour of farm cellars it might provide more than food for thought.

After MacArthur's Statement— Taking Stock in the Pacific

Interpreting THE WAR NEWS by Glenn Babb. We Have Made A Good Start.

General MacArthur's moving statement on this first anniversary of Bataan is a reminder that there is a long and bloody trail back to be traveled before that tragedy is avenged.

People had more time to read books dealing with "great principles," then, too. Now they are busy, and tired at night, and they want to know more facts about where Johnny Doughboy is and what he is doing.

Reason for Nazi Air Decline

Germany's air power is declining. The reason is based not so much on shortages of fuel, but mainly to actual defeats and the attrition of three and one-half years of war.

Germany is losing the air war but final victory for the allies involves two jobs. The first is to finish smashing Germany's offensive air power.

Interpreting THE WAR NEWS by Glenn Babb

Bataan surely was the nadir; the subsequent fall of Corregidor was largely anticlimax. No incident in American history surpasses Bataan for the bitterness which came with the realization that this great and powerful nation was helpless to rescue the men who had held its Oriental outpost so heroically.

Our forces still are some thousands of miles from the prison camps where the survivors of Bataan await "the day of salvation" but since last August and September they have been on their way.

THE BOOK PARADE

By JOHN SELBY "FATHER AND GLORIOUS DESCENDANT" by Pardee Lowe (Little, Brown; $2.50). A few months ago Pardee Lowe delivered the manuscript of "Father and Glorious Descendant" to his publisher and enlisted in the United States army. The two actions complement each other in the Chinese fashion, ceremonially and practically. For Pardee Lowe is "Glorious Descendant," and he and his father represent in the book the Chinese-born gentleman, and the American-born Chinese gentleman. The two together are the mirror of the Chinese in America. Very simply and with the humor which China alone seems to possess among Oriental races, young Mr. Lowe reviews the whole matter of relations between differing peoples. He and his father exemplify, also, such solutions as there are. Here is father, sustaining his clan as a true Chinese down to the most distant most honorable cousin, and at the same time holding his own as a merchant against the white world. It was a saying among San Francisco's Jews, Mr. Lowe reports, that Chinatown could outbargain the ghetto any day. Here also is Father taking Glorious Descendant to the huge banquets of the tongs and family groups in the Banquet Hall of the Blossoming Almond, where Chinese ladies of the night circumspectly played childish games with the boy, after which Mother worried about Glorious Descendant. But not for the reason you might think— Here is Glorious Descendant at grammar school, with Aunt Lillian arriving one morning, followed by Uncle Jack who carried a great basket of wicker. The basket contained gifts for the teachers, very beautiful gifts. Or we find a tong war breaking out, and Father forced to pack a suitcase at midnight and hide from the hatchet men. Or, after many and varied events in a life spent as unofficial ambassador between the outside world and Chinatown, we find Father and Step-mother going strongly through days of feasting and ceremony in celebration of Father's having reached the age of 66. The celebration nearly killed Glorious Descendant and his sisters, but not Father. Is it possible that Clarence Day's famous Father was a world type, after all?

Symphony Orchestra To Present Concert

Program Wednesday To Include Berlioz's 'Romeo and Juliet'

Haydn's "Concerto in D Major," Berlioz's "Romeo and Juliet," Tchaikovsky's overture, "Hamlet," and Enesco's "Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1" will be presented on the program of the university symphony orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, Wednesday evening in the main lounge of Iowa Union at 8 o'clock.

Prof. Hans Koelbel will play the violin solo of the "Concerto in D major." Formerly he took part in this composition with the university summer session orchestra in July, 1937. Of the six violin solo concertos that Haydn wrote, this one is the best known and loved.

Contemplating the play, "Romeo and Juliet," some years before he started composing his symphony, Berlioz wrote: "Such a perfect subject for musical portrayal!" First there is the splendid ball where young Montague first sees Juliet, next combats in the streets of Verona, and then the night scene in Juliet's balcony when the lovers discover their love for one another. Lastly there is the catastrophe with the death of the lovers and the tardy reconciliation of the families burying their hate in the graves of their dead children.

Control of Pain Dentists Stress Use Of New Drugs Control of pain through skillful use of drugs and stressing dentistry as a health rather than a mere mechanical service are among the best advances in the practice of the profession, according to Dean A. W. Bryan of the college of dentistry.

"Use of new drugs has removed much of the patient's deep-seated fear of the drill, and therefore, more persons are following the recommended practice of visiting their dentist twice yearly," Dean Bryan said.

He points out that the preventive phase of dentistry training is being employed now to a greater extent than ever before. Students are taught to recognize and correct serious defects before they become impossible to control.

Dental students are well-trained to begin work upon graduation, for they then will have had two years of work in the dental infirmary. This training laboratory is open to any citizen desiring dental care, the work being entirely done by students under faculty supervision.

Dean Bryan said that figures on men examined for service in the armed forces have revealed that an alarming number have neglected proper dental care. Dental deficiencies make up many causes for rejection of the men for service.

Iowa Opens Conference Against Michigan Today

Induct Harris Into Army For Limited Duty

DES MOINES (AP)—Jim Harris, who took over the top football coaching job at the University of Iowa only seven weeks ago, was inducted into the army for limited service yesterday.

Harris took the oath after completing his physical examination at Camp Dodge and army officials said he would be assigned a week from yesterday. He elected to take the seven-day delay customarily granted new inductees.

Harris, 36, once was rejected by the army because of defective eyesight. He recently was reclassified 1-A.

Army officials did not disclose the nature of Harris' limited service assignment, but there have been reports that he was in line for a commission in the physical training department.

The former line coach went to Iowa in 1939 with Dr. Eddie Anderson from Holy Cross. Harris became head coach when Dr. Anderson was commissioned a major in the army medical corps.

Frank Carideo, backfield coach, was named head coach Wednesday when Harris resigned. However, Carideo is scheduled to be sworn into the navy as a lieutenant (jg) Monday.

Michigan Ace

MICKEY FISHMAN, star of the Michigan pitching staff, will twirl for the Wolverines in tomorrow's game. He won four of five conference games last season, allowing only 25 hits and 10 earned runs in 41 innings.

E. G. Schroeder, athletic director, said he would discuss future coaching plans with Dr. Anderson this weekend.

Hawkeye Highlights

Iowa, needing a head football coach, has at least eight of them on the athletic premises. . . but they are not available because they are navy officers on the pre-flight navy staff. . . among them are Bernie Bierman, Minnesota; Denny Myers, Boston college, who played at Iowa; Clyde Carpenter, Montana; Forrest Evashevski, Hamilton; Fred Faurot, Parsons; Jim Tatum, North Carolina; Moon Mullins, St. Ambrose, and Ben Douglas, Grinnell.

Bill Garrett, winner of state high school titles in the 50, 100 and 220-yard dashes, was being groomed to run for Iowa in the Drake relays. . . but he has been drafted and reports next Monday. . . Garrett was a freshman who had been working hard and successfully to make up a scholastic deficiency so he could compete.

Back in 1935, Mark Panther of the University of Iowa set the Big Ten javelin record of 219 feet 7 3/8 inches. . . he has been coaching near Chicago since then. . . now, an ensign at the North Carolina Pre-Flight school, Panther recently hurled the spear 191 feet after a 7-year-layoff, he reported to Coach George Bresnahan.

If Iowa beats Michigan this weekend in baseball, it will be something unusual for Hawkeyes. . . Iowans have won only three of fifteen games in the series. . . but the teams have not met since 1937—and Iowa had its strongest teams from 1938 through 1942.

Slide Rule Gallops To Win in Opening Day Race at Jamaica

NEW YORK (AP)—W. E. Boeing's Slide Rule, a Kentucky derby eligible, yesterday won the six furlong experimental handicap, feature of Jamaica's opening day meeting.

Coming along the rail down the stretch, the son of Sir Galahad pushed his way home by a neck in front of William Woodward's Bossuet. Allen Simmons' Blue Swords, second choice in the Kentucky derby winter books, trailed all the way to finish 11th in the field of 15, which included 13 derby eligibles.

Slide Rule dashed the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 under Conn McCreary's ride and returned $9.00 for each $2 ticket. A crowd of 26,424 packed the Long Island track, nearly double that of last year when 13,608 fans saw the first day's program run off in a blizzard.

Slide Rule carried 120 pounds, compared to 126 for top-weighted Blue Swords and picked up a winner's purse of 4,650. Bossuet took the place by a nose over W. L. Brann's Vincentive, while Mrs. A. R. Smith's well-regarded Through Bound faded to fourth after cutting out the early pace.

The unexpectedly large crowd turned out for the opening of New York's 180 day racing season, in spite of transportation restrictions which forbade parking of cars within a mile of the track and which led taxicab drivers to discharge fans several blocks from the gates. The regular bus and rail lines were well patronized, however.

Farmer Rated High in Pro Football Draft

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO (AP)—Teams of the National football league took out insurance on future operations yesterday by drafting 300 college gridders of whom less than five percent are expected to be available for service during the war years.

No. 1 player posted on the board yesterday was Georgia's All-American halfback, Frankie Sinkwich, to whom the last place Detroit Lions quickly laid claim.

No. 2 was Joe Muha, a huge halfback from Virginia Military institute, who will play for the Philadelphia Eagles at any time he enters professional football.

Other Choices
In order the pro league magnates then took:

Glenn Dobbs, great Tulsa halfback, by the Chicago Cardinals; Paul Governali, Columbia's passing wizard, by Brooklyn; Mike Holovak, Boston college's bruising fullback, by the Cleveland Rams who will not operate for the duration of the war; Steve Filipowicz, Fordham's fine halfback, by the Pittsburgh Steelers; Dick Wildung, Minnesota's All-America tackle and the first lineman selected, by the Green Bay Packers; Bob Steuber, Missouri's passing ace, by the Chicago Bears; and Jack Jenkins, Vanderbilt's clever fullback, by the championship Washington Redskins.

For the second, third and fourth rounds the names of outstanding collegians of the last three years continued to be assigned to the 10 clubs. After that the players chosen were less known, but their records had been scanned carefully by the clubs choosing them.

Washington took a liking to Notre Dame men, pulling out end Bob Dove, center Wally Ziemba and tackle Lou Rymkus on its third, fourth and fifth turns. Bill Dutton, Pittsburgh halfback, was the Redskins' second choice.

Detroit Gets Schreiner
The Chicago Bears took Fred (Dippy) Evans of Notre Dame and Ed Stamm of Stanford on its second and third picks. The Detroit club grabbed Wisconsin's twice All-America end, Dave Schreiner, in the second round, the Eagles took Lamar Davis of Georgia and Monk Gafford of Auburn and the Brooklyn team called for Blondy Black of Mississippi State, George Ceithaml of Michigan, and center Joe Damanovich of Alabama.

League heads asked Commissioner Elmer Layden to draw up a 45-game schedule which will be approved at a special meeting June 19.

Tom Farmer, Iowa quarterback, was the second man selected by the Cleveland Rams, who also drafted Bill Parker, Iowa end.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' selections included Vic Schleich, Nebraska tackle, and Bill Burkett, Iowa end.

Philadelphia Eagles—Paul Darling, Iowa State fullback; Chicago Cardinals—Emil Lussow, Dubuque end; New York Giants—Jack Lester, Missouri end; Chicago Bears—Al Zikmund, Nebraska halfback, and Lloyd Arms, Oklahoma A and M tackle.

Regulars Win
MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Bob Elliott tripled and Vince DiMaggio singled yesterday with two out in the last half of the 10th inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirate regulars a 4 to 3 victory over the Yanigans, Maurice Van Robays received notification from Detroit he has been classified 1-A in the draft.

HAWKEYE HURLER TODAY

ROY STILLE, pictured above, will be on the mound today for the Hawkeyes as they face the strong Michigan team in the opening conference game of the 1943 season. Stille saw limited service in 1941 and '42, winning three games and losing none. However, the senior hurler is set for a big year this season, possessing a good curve and fast ball. Roy looked best this year in the Western Illinois game, retiring nine straight during his three-inning stay on the mound.

It's another year and another Big Ten baseball race but the two biggest figures in the championship campaigns of 1941 and 1942, Iowa and Michigan, get their chance to cut each other down here today and tomorrow.

They tied for the title last year, without meeting. Michigan was champion in 1941, with Iowa runner-up—and they didn't meet then either, so the 1943 games will influence the championship chances of these league giants.

Both teams have been rebuilt, with Michigan having five sophomores and a freshman in the lineup—but a four-man veteran pitching staff. Iowa has two regulars of 1942 still in action, but all except one of the present starters has had intercollegiate experience.

Hawkeye batters, who clubbed for a .309 average in winning the two non-conference games, will be faced by Irv Boim, who won three of four and had the league's best earned run average last season. Mickey Fishman is due to hurl tomorrow for the Wolverines. Bill Cain and Dick Savage are other veterans available for relief duty.

Coach Waddy Davis will start Roy Stille on the mound today, with Jack 'Red' Kenney as tomorrow's pitcher. Sophomore Max Smith will be ready to relieve either if necessary. These hurlers have allowed only six hits in the two games this spring.

Best of the Iowa batters to date are Don Thompson, Lyle Eber, Capt. Harold Lind and Harry Rinkema. Michigan expects heavy hitting from Paul White, Dick Walterhouse and Bob Wiese. Today's game will start at 4:05 p. m.

With the coming of warmer weather the athletic program of the Iowa Pre-Flight school will move out-of-doors and along with this move will come the incorporation of football as one of the major sports of the program. This sport will be in charge of Lieut. Wesley Edward Schulmerich, former Pacific coast fullback and major league baseball star.

The cadets have been getting football during their instructional sports period all winter, but it hasn't been among the competitive sports since the fall sports program ended.

Under the summer schedule, football will be retained in the instructional period and will be added to the sports program, with 12 squadrons teams, six using the Bierman system and six using a combination of the T-formation and the single wing back.

Each team will play one game a week, and all-star teams from each group will be selected monthly for championship games.

Speaking of the value of football in the pre-flight program, Lieutenant Schulmerich said: "Football is one of the best conditioners in the pre-flight program. It teaches cadets to be able to go out there and give and take in bodily contact to a greater degree than in any other sport."

He pointed out that football requires a great deal of teamwork, "and that's what they need when they start combat flying."

Lieutenant Schulmerich was born in 1901 in Hillsboro, Ore. He attended grade school and two years of high school there, quitting to work on his father's ranch for two years.

He finished high school in Portland and then entered Oregon State college, where he made a name for himself in 1924, '25 and '26 as a fullback and halfback in football and an outfielder in baseball.

After his graduation in 1927 Lieutenant Schulmerich went to Butte, Mont., where he played semi-pro baseball for several months before he went to Los Angeles to finish out the year. He spent that year and the next three years with the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast league.

He was sold to the Boston Braves in 1931, remaining with that team in '31, '32, and part of '33. For the last half of 1933 he was with the Philadelphia Phillies and was then traded to Cincinnati for the rest of '34.

He spent the rest of the years until 1942 in various teams of the western minor leagues and was at one time manager of the Lewistown, Idaho, team of the Western International league, "where we almost broke a world's record for consecutive games lost."

He was commissioned last November and after having a month's training at Chapel Hill he reported here at the Iowa base to succeed Lieut. Phil Bengston as head of the football department.

Russian Troops Score Success In Tank Battles

LONDON, Friday (AP) — Russian troops fighting bitter but apparently localized tank and infantry battles in the Izyum sector of the Donets basin scored successes both in offense and defense against the Germans Thursday, the Soviet midnight communique said today.

On one unnamed sector of this front the Russians attacked the enemy and "occupied a favorable defense line," said the communique recorded here by the Soviet monitor. "In fighting for this line," the bulletin continued, "about a company of enemy infantry was wiped out."

South of Balakleya, which is 27 miles northwest of Izyum on the railroad from Khar'kov, the Germans attacked with an infantry battalion supported by a dozen tanks, but were beaten back, the Russians said.

These successes were reported after Moscow dispatches, quoting the official Soviet army newspaper Red Star, told of the Russians routing the enemy from several advantageous positions in the Izyum sector after taking a heavy toll of Nazi casualties in the past week or ten days.

Elsewhere the front remained quiet, the communique noting that no "significant changes" occurred anywhere.

2 State Guard Units Called Out by Flood

Broad Missouri River Threatens Defenses Along Northern Iowa

OMAHA (AP)—Two Omaha units of the state guard, called out in an emergency order by Governor Griswold, went into action last night as the Omaha-Council Bluffs area tightened its defenses against the menacing yellow flood waters of the Missouri river.

The guards established a constant patrol of dikes protecting Omaha's vital utilities and major industries, warned away sightseers who Governor Griswold said had been interfering with defense measures, and prepared to handle any evacuation of civilians.

"Old Muddy," on the rampage from Sioux City in the north to Nebraska City in the south, will exceed flood stage here by five-tenths of a foot this morning, the weather bureau warned, despite a temporary fall in the level yesterday. A crest of 22.5 feet is expected by next Tuesday.

The bureau said dike breaks above Omaha caused the level to drop to 18.3 feet here yesterday afternoon, after a level of 19 feet—the official flood stage—was reached earlier in the day. The washouts north of Omaha were described as a series of minor breaks which drew off enough water to lessen the strain on the Omaha-Council Bluffs area for a few hours only.

The only dike which so far had withstood the flood waters—the Henry Mehne dike at Blair—was abandoned yesterday afternoon when it became apparent two breaks would render the entire barrier useless. The barrier, erected last spring, protected 1,500 acres of rich farmland. A road crew directed by Washington County Commissioner J. E. Campbell set about raising the level of a road running parallel to the dike but about half a mile farther back from the river.

Torpedoed 13 Times, Sailor Learns to Swim

NEW YORK (AP)—Torpedoed, bombed and attacked thirteen times, Sydney Grant Wood, ship's engineer, has requested the United Seamen's Service to help him get swimming instruction after having been at sea for thirty-eight years.

The last time Mr. Wood was forced to abandon ship, he could not leave in a life boat. He was ordered by his captain to jump, and he did so although he did not know how to swim. His captain immediately followed and saved him.

Right Soldier's Name But the Wrong War

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Corp. Edward Farrell of San Antonio, Tex., assigned to a Missouri training center, wanted a furlough to visit his sister, Mrs. E. J. Brehaut of Danvers, Mass. He couldn't get the furlough but his sister said she would "fix it up." Back came a furlough paper from her. It was made out in the name of Edward Farrell, soldier of the War Between the States and Corporal Farrell's grandfather.

transportation and administration—not of supply.

Food and gas restrictions do not challenge the health of the people, but the fuel restriction did. A man may live healthfully on a diet and even improve physically. But no physician has yet arisen to contend that 60 degree temperature, and even less in offices and homes, during winter cold, improves the health of the average man and woman.

So while most reports are running to the contrary and predicting a harder fuel winter ahead (oil men freely say so), I am stringing along with Ickes, for once, in the expectation that ways will be found.

MERITS OF RUMPL PLAN—

The Ruml plan seems destined never to be considered squarely on its merits. It is always getting into political complications. The unexpected defeat of the proposal in the house was unexpected only until two or three days before the vote. Then it was apparent that a number of Democrats began to fear the political results of Republican leadership in this matter.

On the senate side, also, such an administration non-conformist as Democratic Senator McKellar of Tennessee turned against the plan, although he has been fighting the administration on other matters. Furthermore other Democrats professed to fear the political efforts of tax "forgiveness."

(misnomer that it is) among labor and worker groups.

Together these factors were sufficient to cause the defeat of the measure. And if it had not been defeated in the house, the stand taken by McKellar suggested it would face an "unexpected" situation in the senate.

INTERPRETING—

Pacific. First, the Japanese are determined to maintain the offensive and are ready to spend men, planes and ships freely to that end. Second, the Americans have such a tremendous qualitative superiority in the air as to make any Japanese offensive adventures highly costly, perhaps so much so as to hasten the day of victory.

Increasing Jap Pressure

Both in the south Pacific and in Burma the Japanese are increasing their forces and their pressure. The navy's communique of yesterday recording another brilliant American air victory over Guadalcanal also illustrates the aggressive temper of the enemy. Out of 50 bombers and 48 fighters sent to attack United States shipping off that island of bitter memory for the Japanese our fighters shot down 21 Zeros, five divebombers, 11 of other types.

This score, coupled with similar heavy tolls taken by General MacArthur's airmen from large Japanese air armadas trying to raid our posts on New Guinea, seems to show:
1. The Japanese still are turning out more than enough planes to replace losses; apparently there is nothing wrong quantitatively with their production.
2. Apparently they are not very good planes or they are not flown by very good airmen.

Evidence piles up to support General Kenney's recent comment that Japan's "first-string team"—the few thousand carefully selected, highly trained, experienced pilots, mostly navy men, with which she entered the war—had been largely expended in the 16 months of the Pacific conflict.

This, however, does not keep the enemy's high command from sending its inferior planes and fliers in increasing numbers into the south Pacific to oppose the superb combination of men and machines the United States is building up there. One wonders how long the morale of the Japanese air force can withstand the realization that any pilot who goes into battle has about one chance in three or four on any one day of swift translation to that company of shades the people back home worship in the Yasukuni military shrine in Tokyo.

Aggressive Purpose

On the Burma-India frontier again the Japanese are giving proof of their aggressive purpose. Reinforced by fresh divisions and under a new commander, not yet identified, they have compelled the British-Indian forces of Marshall Wavell to relinquish much of the territory gained in the four-months-old minor offensive toward Akyab. The British communiques insist that the withdrawal abandoned only territory that could not have been held in any case through the imminent monsoon season, but the fact remains that the allies still have to make a convincing start toward their avowed objective of reconquering Burma and reopening the road to China.

General Yahagi, the army's mouthpiece in Tokyo, says the British retreat means that "the enemy's ambition of recapturing Burma has at last been crushed" and that this "has increased the confidence of our forces to advance into India." The threat to invade India can be discounted, but the developments in Burma at least have given Yahagi and his colleagues the first good material for boasting since the tide turned in the Solomons and New Guinea half a year ago.

Will Increase Training Group

Aircraft Organization To Handle 100 Men In Service Program

The Shaw Aircraft company at the municipal airport will step up its operations beginning May 15 to handle 100 men in its war training service program, it was announced yesterday by Paul Shaw.

The new program will be the largest navy elementary training unit in Iowa, and is under the direction of Shaw at the municipal airport and Elmer Lundquist at the university college of engineering.

The men entering the war service training program here come from Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri and Iowa. They will be given 240 hours of ground school training at the university and 35 hours of flight training at the Shaw Aircraft company.

Following the successful completion of their work here, the majority of men go into United States navy pre-flight units for further navy training.

The new program will necessitate the purchase of 15 new Taylorcraft planes for the elementary trainees, which will bring the total of planes in use to between 28 and 32. The instructor personnel will be increased to a staff of 20 men.

"The men will fly a total of at least 2,000 hours a month and we'll do as much in total hours of flying in each month as we previously did in two months," Shaw said.

Harry N. Schooler Resigns AAA Post

Says Farm Leaders Had U.S. Food Head 'Relieve' Him of Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry N. Schooler resigned yesterday as AAA director for the corn belt after, he said, the American Farm Bureau federation and state extension service leaders had succeeded in getting Food Administrator Chester C. Davis to relieve him of his duties.

In a letter to Davis submitting his resignation, Schooler said he had been under constant attack "by enemies of the democratic principle" that farmers should direct and operate the AAA farm programs.

Those enemies, Schooler asserted, were "self-seeking officials of the American Farm Bureau federation and the land-grant college extension services."

Schooler, himself a South Dakota farmer, said action of Davis in relieving him of his duties grew directly out of what he called a Farm-Bureau-inspired investigation, by a house appropriations subcommittee, of speeches he had made criticizing the farm organization for its opposition to Secretary Wickard's food production program, particularly a proposal for $100,000,000 in incentive payments on war crops.

Davis himself made no comment on Schooler's resignation.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Fostelle Petersen of Clinton; a brother, Warren W. Henyan of Clinton, and two grand-daughters, Sadoris and Carleen Petersen.

Helps and Hints For—Your Victory Gardens

—By Stan Myers

Proper preparation of this soil is very important this year, due to the great importance of Victory gardens. The better the condition of the soil before the seeds are sown, the better the results will be at harvest time. Seeds grow more readily in a fine, well-prepared soil than in a coarse or lumpy soil.

If the Victory garden area is small, it can be spaded by hand. A digging fork is excellent for this purpose, as illustrated in the accompanying graph. The tines of the fork should be sunk straight down into the soil, since if thrust into the ground at an angle the proper depth is not achieved.

Six or Eight Inches The soil should be turned up to a depth of at least six or eight inches, since if less depth than this is achieved weeds or other refuse are not adequately buried.

New gardeners usually take too large a "bite" with fork or spade, which is a mistake. This naturally makes the work unnecessarily heavy and tiring, and may be prevented by starting with three- to four-inch slices.

A forkful of soil should be thoroughly broken up in turning it over, as illustrated. Turning and breaking up the soil correctly helps to kill most of the weeds, and also loosens and aerates the soil and gives it a greater moisture holding capacity. Deep turning of the soil also helps to bring the plant food up from the lower levels, thus making it more available for the roots of the Victory vegetables.

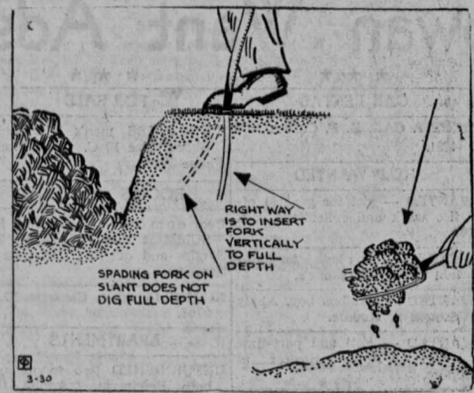

Cabbage may be planted between the 1st and 15th of April. The leaves of the cabbage plant are extremely high in calcium and phosphorus content.

Victory gardeners should seriously consider the calcium content of vegetables to be planted, and should plan to grow as much calcium-containing food as possible, since this mineral is especially necessary in the building of strong bones and teeth, and is also expected to be scarce under food rationing.

Besides cabbage, other vegetables containing calcium include: turnip greens, mustard greens, watercress, broccoli, beet greens, celery, spinach, leaf lettuce, snap beans, carrots and onions.

Content Varies The calcium content of vegetables will vary according to the presence of calcium in the soil. Newly plowed or spaded black soils are most likely to be deficient since the lime may have been washed out over a period of many years. Sandy soils and those in wooded sections also are likely to need lime.

Lime, in the form of fine limestone, is easily added, should be applied before the garden is spaded, and should be thoroughly mixed with the soil. Lime has great value in stimulating the growth of plants, and although not a fertilizer it makes plant food present in the soil more available to the plants.
