McNutt Clamps Control on Hiring in Move To Curb Job-Switching for Higher Wages

Smashing Assaults in Heights Of Northern Tunisia Cut New Wedges in German Siege Line

General Eisenhower Predicts Hard Fight to Clean Up North Africa, Announces Loss of 5,372 Troops in Patton's Forces

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, (AP)—Slashing attacks by British and French troops yesterday in the shell-swept mountain heights of northern Tunisia cut new wedges in the enemy siege line which rings Tunis and Bizerte from a distance of 25 to 50 miles.

Meanwhile, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the supreme allied commander, warned of hard fighting ahead and declared future advances would be "difficult and costly."

Slowly and stubbornly, two British brigades exploited their capture of the 2,000-foot Djebel Ang and the lower Djebel Tanngoucha slightly to the east. Thrusting forward in strong patrols, the British reached some points only 25 miles from Tunis in this general sector about Medjez-El-Bab.

Not since the ill-fated campaigns in Norway and Greece have the British tackled such difficult mountain positions as those which tower beside the 13-mile stretch of road to Tebourba where the plain of Tunis begins. The canyons have been sown thickly with mines. Heavy German mortars with a range of 3,000 yards and strong arrays of machine-guns defend the approaches to each enemy strong point.

Reviewing the entire north African campaign at one of his infrequent press conferences, General Eisenhower told how the Germans had been sowing land mines heavily and disclosed that by commanding the mine fields with mortar fire the enemy had turned the mine into "an offensive instead of a defensive weapon."

French Concentration French troops concentrated their assaults about 30 miles south of Medjez-El-Bab against the southwestern tip of the enemy's Tunisian defenses in the mountains at the head of Ousseltia valley.

The British eighth army ranged along the 30-mile sector from Enfidaville on the coast westward through the area of Djebibina. Patrols struck continually at the enemy line.

While forecasting that the battles yet to come would be the costliest of the entire Tunisian campaign, Eisenhower disclosed that Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s second U. S. army corps lost 5,372 men killed, wounded and missing in the Gafsa sector in about three weeks.

Yanks Improving The role of the American troops in the final phase of the campaign remained undisclosed, but Eisenhower declared that "the American forces improved in quality and technique each day and by the time it's over they are going to be one fine fighting body of men in Tunisia who are entitled to stand up and cheer."

Continuing the aerial assaults against enemy supply lines, Flying Fortresses staggered the Sicilian harbor of Palermo again with a raid in which direct hits or damaging near misses were scored on six merchant vessels and two destroyers as the allied air forces maintained supremacy over Tunisia and the coastal waters.

Yanks Lose 16 Bombers in Bremen Raid

LONDON (AP)—American heavy bombers, flying unescorted in strong force, smashed at the German Focke-Wulf fighter plane factory at Bremen yesterday and shot down more than 50 enemy planes enroute, but the bold 800-mile round trip cost the United States an unprecedented raid toll of 16 four-engine craft.

The renewed campaign to flatten Germany's armament industry also cost the British a record loss of 55 bombers last night out of a force of more than 600 attacking the great Skoda works at Pilsen in Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia and the industrial twin cities of Mannheim and Ludwigshaven on the Rhine.

Berlin Elated The Berlin radio immediately seized upon the opportunity to exploit what it termed "sensational German defensive successes," pointing out in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press that continental ground defenses

Liberators Encounter Spirited Opposition In East Indies Raid

Down 4 Intercepting Enemy Fighter Planes, Light Numerous Fires

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Sunday (AP)—A small formation of Liberators bombing Amboina in the East Indies Archipelago encountered spirited opposition Saturday, shooting down four of the 12 Japanese fighter planes and damaging another.

The Liberators raided at dusk, setting numerous fires in the dock and waterfront areas of the former big Dutch naval base. The fires were followed by explosions.

Over Banda Sea The battle with the interceptors which followed the raid ranged over much of the Amboina island, which is in the Banda sea some 600 miles above Darwin, Australia. The raid was reported in today's noon communique.

A single Liberator bomber on reconnaissance off New Ireland sighted a 5,000-ton Japanese ship in the Bismark sea, 90 miles southwest of Kavieng. The Liberator bombed the vessel but was not able to observe the results.

A 1,000-ton cargo vessel was attacked by another reconnaissance bomber at Bogia bay, on New Guinea's north coast between Wewak and Madang. Results of that bombing also were not observed.

Blast Gasmata Drome Gasmata's often-raided airbase on the southern rim of New Britain was twice bombed by single raiders.

In addition to the raid on Amboina, activity elsewhere in the battle sector to the northwest of Australia included: bombing by a two-engine allied plane of two villages on the Kai islands; the bombing by a single raider of Taberfane on the Aroe islands; the setting of fires by a heavy bomber in an attack on the village of Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, and a raid by medium bombers of the airbase at Timika.

Japan's latest move to aid its troops in New Guinea has been brought to a destructive end with this escape of a nine-ship convoy off Wewak.

Former SUI Student Wins Press Contest

Anne Marie Sheely of Marshalltown was chosen as the writer of one of the best two news stories to appear in Iowa daily newspapers in the Iowa Press Women's newspaper contest in Des Moines yesterday. Miss Sheely is a graduate of the University of Iowa school of journalism and was formerly society editor of The Daily Iowan.

Rutledge to Be Feted MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, special adviser to President Roosevelt, and Associate Justice Wiley B. Rutledge Jr., of the United States supreme court, will be awarded honorary degrees by the University of Wisconsin at its 90th commencement May 29.

Specify the size of the attacking force. It was the fourth raid of the month for the Russians who, after months of lull in long-range bombing, pounded Koeningberg April 10, returned to the same objective two nights later and then raided Danzig April 14.

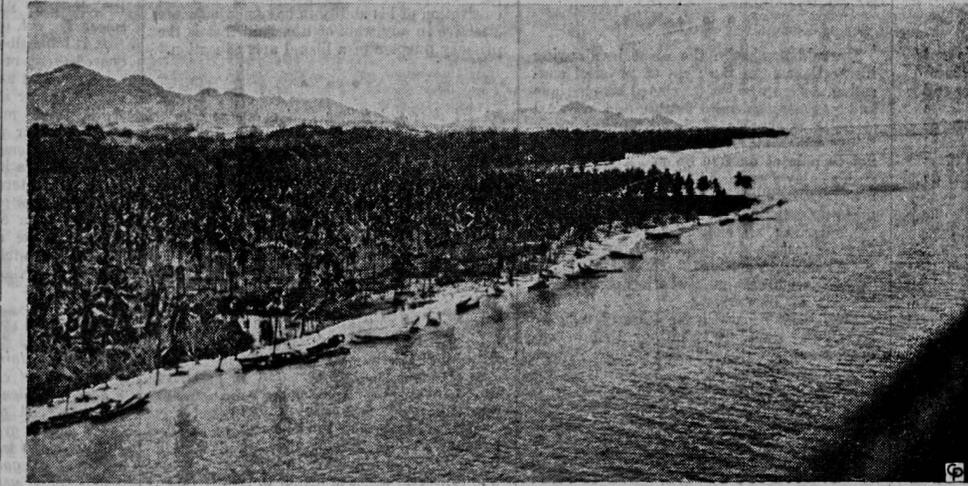

In smashing at German air power on the assembly line and in the skies, the Americans carried out their first attack of the war on Bremen itself.

It was the second daylight assault in two days for the American bombers, which Friday pounded the U-boat bases at Brest and Lorient, and it carried the current allied re-invasion onslaught of Europe twice around the clock.

Square Hits An 8th U. S. air force announcement of yesterday's operations declared that hits were observed squarely on the target area.

A spokesman said the specific target was the Focke-Wulf Flugzeugbau, which is the largest assembly line for German's best "Yellow Nose" fighter.

STILL TRYING, JAPS LOSE ANOTHER LANDING PARTY AT GUADALCANAL

COMPLETE FAILURE was this attempted Jap landing at Guadalcanal. The enemy's landing boats, barges and tank lighters are shown strewn along the beach after the Battle of the Matanikau where the Jap landing party was completely wiped out.

Russians Slay 4,000 Germans In Fighting Near Novorossisk

LONDON, Sunday (AP)—Russian troops in a renewed fight to oust the Germans from their remaining Caucasian foothold around Novorossisk have killed 4,000 of the enemy and destroyed or damaged 17 tanks in the last two days, Moscow announced early today.

The midnight communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor also said that 39 German guns, 31 mortars and more than 100 machine-guns had been destroyed.

Soviet forces last were reported only 20 miles northeast of Novorossisk in the Abinskaya sector, and 30 miles north of the Black sea port in the Anastasevskaya area.

In yesterday's fighting the Russian communique said that the Germans used Rumanian troops as a shield in an unsuccessful counterattack which was described thus:

"Under the deadly fire of Soviet troops the Rumanians turned tail. Then the Germans opened fire against their 'allies'—the Rumanians.

"By a counterblow our men beat the enemy and improved their positions. In this sector alone the enemy left three damaged tanks and 300 dead on the battlefield."

Local fighting was reported on the Spolensk front and along the Donets river southeast of Kharkov, but Russian attention was concentrated on ejecting the enemy from the Caucasus before the end of the spring thaw which already has disappeared in the Caucasus.

The Berlin radio commentator, Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, said in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press last night that good fighting weather "for offensive as well as defensive operations" was expected all along the Russian front by the end of April.

He agreed that the Russians were fighting strongly in the Caucasus "to remove this dangerous German starting base as quickly as possible, that is, before the Germans regain complete freedom of action" at the end of the mud period elsewhere on the Soviet front.

Sertorius did not say whether the Germans planned another offensive in Russia next month, but declared that all Nazi units which participated in the winter campaign had been reinforced and rested, and that large stores of ammunition and supplies had been concentrated at strategic "places of deployment."

NLRB Cancels Part Of Kaiser Complaint

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Robert N. Denham, trial examiner for the national labor relations board, yesterday dismissed a section of the NLRB complaint against Henry J. Kaiser.

Kaiser attorneys had moved dismissal of the charge that the Kaiser companies aided AFL unions to organize Kaiser workmen to the exclusion of the CIO and Denham granted the request.

The ruling is expected to shorten by several weeks the NLRB inquiry into CIO charges that three Kaiser shipyards signed purportedly illegal closed shop agreements with the AFL.

"I am unable to find that the board has made any showing that the respondents have engaged in any unfair labor practices that have assisted the AFL unions in establishing themselves in the yards," Denham ruled.

The principal question remaining to be decided is whether there were appropriate units of AFL workmen in the yard when the closed shop agreements were signed.

Demos Determined To Employ Intraparty Scheme at Convention

Streamlining Plans For 1944 Campaign Hit G.O.P. Ambush

By KIRK L. SIMPSON WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic plans for an interparty deal to streamline next year's presidential campaign have fallen into a bush, but the Democrats haven't given up the idea as far as their own party is concerned.

There are intimations that the idea will be pressed next spring, when the Democratic national committee is called to decide the time and place of the 1944 nominating convention, regardless of what the opposition party does. So far as influential party opinion is known, it is said, the recent suggestion for a shortened campaign period by National Chairman Frank C. Walker has found favor.

No Objection At least, there has been no outspoken party objection inside national committee circles or out. Observers at party headquarters regard that as significant.

They admit that the counterattack by Walker's Republican opposite number, Harrison E. Spangler, who informed Walker in an open letter that his committee could not consider a short-campaign deal unless it received assurances that President Roosevelt would neither seek nor accept a fourth nomination, diverted the discussion.

Democratic advocates of the streamlined presidential campaign say the present system of prolonged delay between the nominations and election grew out of circumstances long since forgotten. Modern communication and transportation, they contend, make it possible for party platforms or political arguments to be distributed throughout the nation in a matter of hours instead of days or weeks.

Roosevelt Mysterious One other argument favoring a late Democratic nominating convention is advanced, based on a conclusion which seems virtually unanimous in party circles—that Mr. Roosevelt is apt to do or say nothing to indicate his own role in the campaign until the eve of the party caucus. It stressed the fact that Republican spokesmen including Spangler, former Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas as an extitular head of the party, and others have maintained a concentrated no-fourth-term bombardment for months.

Republican orators following a party nomination weeks before the Democrats acted must necessarily train their fire upon Mr. Roosevelt both for his presidential acts and policies and as a potential candidate for a fourth term, it was pointed out. If it later developed that he did not run, they would have wasted much ammunition against a non-existent target.

Vital Centers The air ministry described the targets hit by the RAF Friday as "two of the most important centers of German armament production." Many workers in the bombed-out Krupp plant at Essen were said to have been transferred to the Skoda works, now employing an estimated 55,000.

Reunited Flashing Fingers Tell All Is Forgiven

CHICAGO (AP)—Love is love in any language—even the sign language—and that's why Walter Burris and his wife, Anna, were reunited last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Burris are deaf mutes. Their fingers flashed angrily as they talked to each other in Municipal Judge Francis Borelli's court today.

"She's telling him that she doesn't know whether or not she should get a divorce," Mrs. Julia Hansmann, the couple's daughter, told the court. Burris was charged with disorderly conduct on his wife's complaint that he had been drinking.

"Stop them," Judge Borelli commanded. "Ask them if they know the old sign language." Burris did, it developed, but his wife didn't. The judge and the defendant made signs. "He says," the court translated, "that I'll stop drinking if his wife will give him another chance." When this information was conveyed to Mrs. Burris she signified her agreement, the charge was dismissed and the couple went home.

Learned the old sign language 25 years ago," Judge Borelli explained. "Used it in a big case I had then."

Jury Acquits G. W. Welch Of Sister's Death

KANSAS CITY (AP)—George W. Welch Jr., 29, was acquitted of a murder charge yesterday in the slaying of his pretty sister, Leila Adele Welch, two years ago. The jury had deliberated five and one half hours.

The verdict was received in a crowded courtroom with a cheer which could be heard far down the hall.

The jury, which received the case at 9:30 yesterday morning, buzzed at 3:01 that it was ready to report. Its decision came on the fifth ballot, jurors said.

Welsh's mother, Mrs. Marie Fleming Welch, who was a witness in her son's defense, wept when the verdict was read.

The verdict left the brutal, mutilation slaying of the 24-year-old young woman a mystery.

It was two years ago, on March 9, 1941, that her lifeless body was found in her bed in the Welch home in a fashionable neighborhood. Her skull was crushed by blows from a heavy hammer, her throat slashed and a large piece of flesh cut from her hip.

Drastic Order Hits 30 Million War Workers

Violation of Ruling To Bring 1,000-Dollar Fine, Prison Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, acting under orders from President Roosevelt, last night clamped drastic nationwide controls on hiring in a move to curb job-switching for higher wages.

His order, backed by penalties as great as $1,000 fine and a year in prison for violations by either employers or employes, will affect half of the nation's 60,000,000 workers in all wage-brackets, restricting their movement to new jobs. It was declared effective at one minute after Saturday midnight, just four hours after McNutt announced it.

Representing one big step toward carrying out the president's directions to hold-the-line against inflation, the McNutt controls bore the approval of Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes. The regulations were adapted simultaneously to extending the wage controls exercised by the war labor board and to furthering McNutt's plans for switching workers to essential activities and holding them there.

1. Specify that employers in essential activities may hire without restriction anyone not employed in an essential activity during the preceding 30 days.

"Essential activities" were defined as those listed as such by the war manpower commission or designated by its 12 regional directors as "locally needed activities."

2. Forbid non-essential employers to hire employes away from essential activities at higher pay.

3. Forbid essential employers to hire workers away from other essential employers at higher wages or salary rates, except where such hiring is permitted under WMC-approved employment stabilization programs—frequently described as "job-freezing" plans.

These programs, hampered in application by the admitted inadequacy of WMC's staff to do a thorough job of patrolling hiring on a big scale, have been put into effect thus far in only some 50 areas scattered throughout the country. They require employes moving from one essential activity to another to get a release termed a "statement of availability" from the old employer or, if he refuses, from the WMC's job-placement unit, the U. S. employment service.

The McNutt-Byrnes order provided that statements of availability be issued whenever the worker:

"1. Is discharged by his last employer.

"2. Is laid off for an indefinite period of for seven days or more.

"3. Can establish that his present employment does not utilize him at his highest skill or that he is not being employed at full time."

But the order forbade issuance of a statement "solely on the ground that the individual's wage or salary rate is substantially less than that prevailing in the locality for the same or substantially similar work."

Nebraska Town Has 6 Sullivans to Avenge 5 Waterloo Heroes

BELLEVUE, Neb. (AP)—Leo, Leonard, Harold, Ray, Jack, and Bob—they are Bellevue's six "fighting Sullivans" who are doing all they can to avenge the loss of five Sullivan brothers from Waterloo, Iowa, who went down with the Juneau.

The six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Sullivan of Bellevue all are in the army, two in the Pacific. One of the five other children, 16-year-old Maxine, is looking forward to the day she can join the W.A.C.

The Purpose of a Liberal Education ... by Kirk H. Porter

To say that the purpose of liberal arts education is to prepare students for life is to say something that is very true indeed. Nevertheless, I believe the statement is true, and I do not know how the matter can be stated better in one brief sentence. It remains to elaborate the statement and to give it specific meaning.

The purpose of a liberal arts education is to bring it to pass that students will be better equipped to meet any and all of the multifarious situations which they may be destined to encounter in the future. It is to be expected that they will be better parents, better business and professional men and women, better citizens, better neighbors, more enlightened people, possessed of greater tolerance and broader social outlook, and more effective in their life's work than they would have been if they had not had a liberal arts education.

Let me hasten to say that I do not imply that people who have not had such education do not possess these virtues and good qualities in as high degree as those who have had formal education. Nothing could be more obvious than the fact that many such people do indeed possess these qualities in greater measure than do many college graduates.

Nevertheless, it can still be asserted that those who do go to college should be helped along the path to these goals; and to contribute that aid is the main purpose of a liberal arts education.

Whether this purpose is accomplished or not is a matter for debate in the mind of some people. We hear it said that "college graduates cannot do anything," that they have wasted their time and have not learned to do things that are useful. This assertion is so clearly untrue that anyone who makes it can quickly be obliged to admit that what he really means is that some college graduates whom he happens to know are not able to do some of the things which he thinks they ought to be able to do.

College graduates can do so many things it is quite impossible to list them. They can, and do, promptly enter into every type of activity to be found in our social structure, and for the most part acquit themselves creditably. They become merchants and tradesmen, proprietors and managers of all kinds of establishments; they go into the various professions. They become farmers, salesmen, teachers, accountants, scientists, writers, statesmen,—everything under the sun. And it is the purpose of liberal arts education to equip them to enter any one of these occupations with somewhat greater promise of success and happiness than would otherwise be the case.

One who complains that at the moment of graduation "they cannot do anything" is thoughtlessly assuming that they should have been trained to become at once—what? plumbers? bookkeepers? factory managers? bankers? store managers? railroad executives?—what? The fact is they may not be equipped at once to be proficient in any of these occupations, but they are potentially ready to engage in any of them.

I would emphasize the point by drawing illustrations from the field of physical education. A man who has developed his physique and possesses splendid health and physical strength is capable of doing a great many things which other men cannot do. He may not be able at once to do particular things, such as play a game of basketball, do tricks on a trapeze, or operate an airplane; but he has great potentialities and a promising capacity to undertake an enormous variety of unfamiliar tasks which the man with poor physique could not attempt.

So it is with the man who has enjoyed the benefits of liberal arts education. He has potentialities of which he himself may be largely ignorant. In whatever line of endeavor he may embark he has greater chances of success. He can read with quicker apprehension, he can express himself better in writing, he can speak more effectively, he has a greater capacity to investigate unfamiliar subjects, he has a wider knowledge of what is going on in the world, he is more adaptive to new situations, and, in a word—he finds many more opportunities open to him than would have been the case had he not had an education.

All this is tacitly recognized by the multitudes of students who seek college education, by their parents who insist that they go to college, by leaders in the business and industrial world who take college graduates into their establishments, and today by the armed forces and governmental agencies wherein they find swift promotion.

It is by no means necessary that the student should have studied subjects which will bear directly upon his future occupation. A course in English literature is of benefit to one who becomes a hardware merchant or a stock salesman. A course in astronomy or mediaeval history has widened the horizons, and cultivated the potentialities of one who becomes a real estate operator. His interests are broader, his capacity to engage in conversation and to enjoy social contacts has been enhanced, and his opportunities to become an influential person in his community have been extended. He has experienced some mental discipline, and has acquired some intellectual resourcefulness that he did not have before.

Whatever he may have studied in college is sure to have contributed in some measure to the enrichment of his personality and the cultivation of his ability to be somewhat more effective in any walk of life. And that is the primary purpose of a liberal arts education.

It does not follow that everyone who has had a liberal arts education will be effective and successful. Unhappily that is not true. And great numbers of people succeed splendidly who have not had formal education. But the opinion may be ventured that one is better off than he otherwise would have been if he had not had it.

One might conclude from the illustrations I have used that I think it makes no difference what studies are pursued in college. Indeed there is some truth in that; but I would not press the point. There are abundant opportunities in any college to study subjects particularly adapted to the needs and abilities of the individual student, and it is a very important responsibility of college authorities to assist students to adjust themselves to their own best advantage, rather than to force them all through the same curriculum. If the student wishes to prepare himself in any one of many different fields, the opportunity is there, be it chemistry, journalism, or home economics. But I would emphasize the proposition that it is not at all necessary that he prepare himself for any specific line of work in order to reap benefits from his education.

It is not to be supposed that all students who complete a liberal arts eduation are prepared to do some particular thing. If they are, well and good. If not, they are nevertheless better equipped to start doing anything at all with greater prospects of success than would otherwise have been the case. That the great majority of college graduates do prosper is some evidence of the truth of this assertion.

Finally I would venture the opinion that a knowledge of no particular subject matter is essential to a liberal education. There was a time when a knowledge of Latin and Greek was considered essential. That is no longer the case. There are those who would insist that a knowledge of the English Classics is essential, or history, or philosophy, or modern language, or mathematics, or a laboratory science, or art, or music.

It is impossible to make out a case for any one of these, or any other subject, as being essential. Just as it is impossible to name any one particular item of food as absolutely essential to the maintenance of health; or any one particular physical exercise as essential to the maintenance of bodily strength and vigor; so it is impossible to define a liberal education in terms of precise subject matter. But to possess good health one must include in his diet a considerable variety of good foods. To use another illustration, no one brick is absolutely essential to the integrity of a brick wall, though many good sound bricks are needed.

That certain subjects contribute more to a liberal education than others, will hardly be denied, even though no one is essential. A good knowledge of history contributes greatly to a liberal education though one who possesses it may be ignorant of government and politics, or music, and yet possess a splendid liberal education. Specialization, and diversification each has its advantages.

Many of us would advise a happy medium, and the college curricular pattern is designed with that in mind. But there are some educated people who come very close to saying in effect, "To be well educated one must know what I know." It could not possibly be true. There are many approaches to a liberal education, and they all lead to the same end—preparation for life; whatever it may hold in store.

Sudden Realization of Post-War Importance Reflected in New Governmental Policies

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—The administration's post-war and economic policies seem to be changing—perhaps veering in a better word.

Often in the past, Mr. Roosevelt has used sailing technique toward his objectives, tacking first to one side, then the other. The permanency of current symptoms of change is therefore not firmly established.

Under Secretary of State Welles, in his last speech, did not again mention an "international police force," but spoke of "preserving peace by force," which is another thing.

Mr. Welles occupies a position greater than his title and is a consummate classicist in the use of diplomatic language. His moderation of phraseology, therefore, must be considered significant, especially as he is handling much of the duties of secretary of state these days.

This change reflects an inner realization down through government diplomatic authorities that developments of this war from now on will have more to do with making the post-war world than any words that can be said now.

If Russia manages to accomplish the victory, a wholly different set of peace circumstances may be presented than if the victory is wrought by Anglo-American action.

Some authorities like Navy Secretary Knox also are beginning to imply that it is more important for our post-war peace for the United States to hold bases in the Pacific than it is to enter upon pious pronouncements of brotherly love.

The island of Guadalcanal for which we are fighting so heartily is few steps to think—a British possession. The airfield we have fought so valiantly to defend would normally become a British airfield at the cessation of hostilities.

In the future air world, it is obvious that many Guadalcanals will be more essential to the security of our shores than any other factor.

Mr. Churchill, in his recent statements, has indicated Britain and Russia are getting more and more together. If this proves true in fact as well as word, another set of post-war circumstances will confront us.

There appears no truth to the rumors that Litvinoff might return home and thus offer us a Red diplomatic goodbye with gloved hand. Litvinoff has laughed off such suggestions, saying he can do more good here.

But certainly all these conditions make it evident the post-war world will be fixed by future negotiation, not by what Washington officials may have wanted in the first place.

The change in domestic economic policies of this government is clearer cut. The administration move to freeze prices and wages at long last now carries a ring of sincerity and determination.

It should have been done a year or more ago, but the new deal economists desired to let

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS SOUNDS

Movie Stars Get the Gate

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — One time, in his early days as a press agent, an energetic young man we shall call Frank Perrett, because that is his true hancock, thought he had come up with a new one.

"The gateman," said he, with artful enthusiasm, to his boss, "failed to recognize Colleen Moore when she came through the studio gate this morning" (Colleen was playing an old woman that day for "So Big"; the time was 1925).

The boss just smiled and said the gateman not recognizing the star-story was such old stuff that no one, not even an enthusiastic Perrett, could get it in print again. Whereupon, a bet was made. A story was written that Colleen, made up as an old lady, was immediately recognized by the gateman.

The perpetrator of that harmless phony didn't know, and may not know until he reads this, how close he was to the truth. For a gateman who can't recognize the stars of his lot, no matter how they are made up, isn't worth his weight in film.

Let's give the poor, maligned gateman five minutes to refute the slander. Our spokesman will be Irving Gibbs, now at Twentieth Century, who's been watching them come and go for more than 25 years.

"The truth of the matter," says Brother Gibbs, "is that a gateman has to spot the stars, no matter what they have on their faces. But if he's got good sense, there's many a time that he pretends he doesn't know them."

"Nothing deflates a star playing a character role more than to have folks recognize him through his makeup the first time he appears in it around the studio. Just think, the chances are he had to be in the makeup department by 5:30 in the morning and the boys worked on him until 9, putting on whiskers, building wrinkles and maybe adding a scar here and there. Makeup men love to put scars on actors. I don't know why. Boy, did we have a time when they made 'Black Swan' and had all those pirates!"

"One of our players is Lee Cobb, who's a little over 30 but he always plays old men. For 'The Moon Is Down' he wears a wig of thinning white hair and a scraggly mustache. Like a good gateman, part of whose job is to help keep

Blackout to Be Tuesday Night

Exact Hour of Test To Remain Secret, Says Rollin Perkins

Iowa City will conduct its third practice blackout Tuesday night, Rollin M. Perkins, citizens' defense corps commander, announced last night. The hour at which it will occur will not be made public.

The new signals will put into practice.

First, a two-minute steady blast will indicate a partial blackout and announce imminence of an air attack. Street lights will be turned off. Essential industries will keep on working, ready to black out on a moment's notice. Traffic may continue, cautiously and with dimmed lights. Pedestrians may remain on the street, but are advised to seek shelter before the total blackout comes on.

The total darkening will be signalled by a series of short five-second blasts at three-second intervals. Following the total blackout there will be a partial blackout again, in which the immediate danger is passed but the raider's return yet possible. This partial blackout will be heralded by a two-minute steady blast.

The "white" signal will then be given by means of street lights going on and WSUI's broadcasting of the "all clear."

Iowa City Girl Scouts To Have Penny Hike, Make Easter Eggs

Easter eggs, hikes and merit badge work are listed on the Girl Scout calendar for the coming week.

Mary Ann Kurtz, A2 of Iowa City, will accompany members of Troop 5 on a penny hike tomorrow afternoon. The group will assemble at 3:30 at University elementary school.

Troop 10 will meet at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in Iowa City high school to plan its summer program. Emphasis will be placed on cook-outs, cook-out menus and fire building.

Work on the cook's merit badge will be continued by Troop 6 at a meeting at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday in St. Patrick's school.

Easter eggs representing WAACS, WAVES and Red Cross nurses will be made Tuesday by members of Brownie Troop 22. The girls will meet at 3:30 p. m. in Horace Mann school.

Troop 3 of Longfellow school visited the Iowa City Press-Citizen building yesterday afternoon as part of their work on the community life merit badge. The scouts were accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur S. Benham. The excursion took the place of their regular meeting, which was to have been held Wednesday.

Independent Study Unit Planned for Graduates

Graduate students who attend the eight-week summer semester may, upon receiving permission from the head of the major department, earn three extra hours of credit by attending the three-week independent study unit to be held from Aug. 2 to 20.

The unit is held primarily for the conducting of independent research projects.

Lodge Plans Exchange

White elephants will be exchanged by the members of the Royal Neighbors lodge at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Odd Fellows hall. A potluck supper will precede the business meeting and social hour.

He received his commission this month at Ft. Benning, Ga., and is now stationed at Camp Swift, Tex.

Glamour Girls of 1943 Shed Former Heavy Mystery Look

No more heavy mystery for this year's glamour girl. The well-scrubbed, radiant look is in again, and with it cosmetics in the natural tone are appearing. No matter what your assets and your attempt at smooth make-up, the first essential to natural beauty is a clear, glowing complexion. And the shortest way to bright, blossomy skin is good old-fashioned soap and water. Soap has an amazing quality of getting through to that very last speck of dirt and grime to which we are all exposed these windy days. Even the most sensitive of skins can't help but be satisfied with new scientifically-made soaps featured in sniff-pleasing perfumes. One of the better cold cream soaps utilizes the exotic fragrance of almonds and the fresh pine aroma in its make-up.

Water Softeners
No excuses if your skin "just doesn't take to water." There are numerous scented bath crystals and oils which will soften even the hardest water and which complement your choice of soap. A soothing body lotion completes the "clean up" procedure and may be had in several constituencies to soothe dry skin and invigorate oily skins. The next step in femininity is a good dusting powder, essentially one that matches your favorite cologne or perfume. Terry-cloth mitts in gay colors are conveniently handled and may be refilled time and again. Whether you prefer a spicy or a sweet scent, you'll find what you're looking for in dusting powders. One ingenious manufacturer has filled a combination box with three luscious spring fragrances in cologne and dusting powder. Another has devised a huge lamb's wool puff for that luxurious feeling. Face powder or no, you'll need a good foundation cream for protection against wind, dirt and sun. Popular among their users are the pancake make-ups, displayed in a variety of summer shades. These are easily applied with a damp sponge or a square of moistened cotton, and their finish lasts for hours without a re-do. Lotions and several light-weight creams make practical make-up bases too.

Matching Make-up
Have you ever found just as you've finished dressing oh-so-carefully that your rouge, lipstick and powder don't quite match? To protect yourself against such disillusionment, several harmonized groups of make-up have been created. Your only task is to select the one most flattering to your coloring. Another safeguard is a powder blended for you personally. You can't miss your color scheme. Start with a clean powder puff every time you touch up that shine. To get rid of any excess powder, a feathery brush is just the thing. If you handle it carefully, a patting of the powdered surfaces with a slightly dampened sponge will give you that fresh, clean look without destroying any

Daniel Hughes To Talk Here

Daniel E. Hughes, student secretary of the north central Y. M. C. A. area, will be the chief speaker at the last Y. M. C. A. general meeting of the year, which will be held in the conference room at 4:10 tomorrow afternoon.

Hughes, a graduate of Iowa State college and of the University of Minnesota, has had a varied experience, including his work as counselor at a psychiatric clinic in Maine, as instructor in psychology in Macalester college, as director of men's residences at the University of Minnesota and as assistant dean of student personnel at Colorado State college.

Donald Halboth, A3 of Odebolt, president of the Y. M. C. A., will also give a talk, and Jack Fickel, A1 of Henderson, will lead the group singing.

Presiding officer will be Kenneth Thompson, A3 of Cedar Falls, chairman of the committee in charge. Other members of the committee are Richard Wooster, A1 of Des Moines; Lester Mangold, C3 of Iowa City, and James Roalson, A2 of Forest City.

Members of the advisory board will be guests at the meeting.

Congregational Church Plans to Have Annual Thank-Offering Lunch

A meeting of the Business Women's circle, the annual Women's thank-offering luncheon and a fellowship supper honoring new members of the church are events on the social calendar of the Congregational church this week.

Hostess to the Business Women's circle at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday will be Alma Miller, 115 N. Dubuque street, Apt. J. The group will spend the evening in Bible study.

Mrs. Paul Packer is chairman of the annual Easter thank-offering luncheon to be held at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the church parlors.

Mrs. Ira Houston will lead devotions, and a musical selection will be offered by Mrs. J. E. Waery. Mrs. J. D. Boyd will review the book "Religion and the World of Tomorrow," by W. W. Van Kirk. Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. Frank Kelley, 4463, or Libby Ereth, 2353, by tomorrow night.

For that final touch in your good grooming add a dash of perfume, not too heavy, not too light, personalizing you. Whatever you choose, be sure the fragrances you use are in harmony.

A word of warning: whatever cosmetics and accessories to beauty you may have, conserve them. Don't waste powder, and when you buy, get a large box to be re-boxed in a smaller container for daily use. Keep your manicure implements clean and safely tucked away together. Those last bits of soap may be saved to tuck into the pockets of terry cloth bath mitts. Use hand lotion often, but discriminately. Be sure your perfumes and colognes are tightly corked—prevents evaporation and that alcohol odor. Try whipping up your face cream with a spatula. It will go farther and is much creamier to apply. Pick up every single hairpin you drop.

Newman Club Plans Dinner, Final Meeting

Newman club will hold a banquet and its final meeting of the year at 6:30 this evening in the banquet hall of the Jefferson hotel.

At this meeting, officers for the coming year will be elected, the club's new constitution will be read and plans will be made for the summer activities of the club. The new officers will take over their new duties immediately, and the club will function for the entire summer.

The nominating, constitution and Kampus Kapers fund committees will also report at this meeting. Members of these committees are Genevieve Dwyer, A2 of Iowa City; Anna Popovich, A2 of Oakville, Conn.; Ned Billick, A1 of Iowa City, and Ray Breen, A3 of Winterset, nominating committee; Harold Lange, D3 of Dubuque; William O'Malley, L2 of Davenport; William Walsh, A3 of Creston, and Frances Langin, A1 of Neola, constitution committee; Clarence Barrett, D3 of Bettendorf; Joseph Phelan, A3 of Colfax, and Barbara Cotter, A2 of South Bend, Ind., Kampus Kaper fund committee.

Code Editor

MARJORIE FEWEL, J3 of Des Moines, has been named editor of "Code for Co-eds" for 1943-44. Other staff members are Kathleen Irwin, A4 of Cedar Rapids, art editor; Phyllis Nissen, A2 of Walnut, activities, and Louise Hillman, A1 of Bettendorf, social editor. Sponsored by the University Women's association, "Code for Co-eds" is a handbook sent to all freshmen and transfer women students enrolling in the university.

3 Iowa Professors To Speak at Meeting Of Engineering Group

Three University of Iowa professors will take part in the national spring meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers to be held April 26 to 28 in the Blackhawk hotel in Davenport.

They are Prof. E. C. Lundquist of the mechanical engineering department, Prof. H. L. Olin of the chemical engineering department and Dr. Arthur Steindler of the college of medicine.

Professor Lundquist will address the convention on the "Work of Civil Aeronautics Administration in the War Effort." Dr. Steindler will lead a discussion on a study of motion and how the science of biokinetics can be used to conserve manpower in industry. "Iowa Coals in the National Emergency" will be the subject of Professor Olin's talk.

Under the auspices of the A. S. M. E. management division sound motion pictures from the industrial engineering laboratory of the university will be shown at the meeting.

"Speeding Production for Victory" will be the theme of the convention. War and production leaders will participate in the sessions which will be devoted to such subjects as aviation, manpower, the role of women in war industries, ordnance, fuels, power-plants, plastics, industrial training and an engineering discussion of blood plasma.

The Davenport convention is the first of a series of three meetings planned by the A. S. M. E. this year to help solve problems connected with the war effort. It is expected that more than 1,000 engineers and industrialists from all parts of the country will attend.

Bridge Party Planned By Civic Newcomers

Civic Newcomers bridge club will meet Tuesday at 1:15 p. m. in the room of the Hotel Jefferson for a bridge luncheon.

Hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. William Bauer and Mrs. E. B. Wilkinson. Reservations may be placed with Mrs. Louis K. Pohl, phone 5110.

The state flower of Alabama is the goldenrod.

Kenney Bests Busse in Duel

Iowa Rallies in 4th To Gain Win; Kenney Garner 14 Strikeouts

By DON SLYE

Iowa and Northwestern engaged in a pitcher's battle yesterday afternoon with Red Kenney besting Bob Busse to give the Hawks a 5-2 victory. It was the second consecutive win over the Wildcats and gave Iowa a three out of four standing in the conference.

Kenney had his strikeout ball working and whiffed 14 Northwestern men. Kenney gave up eight hits while Busse allowed nine, and both received poor support, with the Hawks committing six miscues and Northwestern four.

The game was a far cry from Friday's 13-4 battle as the weather man obliged with a nice day and both clubs had good pitching in the clutches. The Wildcats tallied one run in the third inning and one in the seventh. Iowa got three in the fourth, one in the sixth and one in the eighth.

Both Threaten

Both teams threatened in the first two innings with Northwestern breaking the ice in the third as Busse went all the way to second. Don Thompson threw the ball away. Otto Graham struck out but Jim Homco banged a single to center for the run.

The Hawks took the lead in the fourth with the help of two walks. Thompson walked and stole second and Tom Farmer was also passed. Capt. Lind brought Thompson home with a drive to center, putting Farmer on second. Clark Briscoe then fled deep to left and the Iowa veteran advanced to third after the catch. After Lind stole second, Lyle Ebner popped to short for the second out, but Harry Rinkema drove a single to right, driving in both runners.

The Hawkeys garnered another in the sixth after two were out. Rinkema got life on an error and advanced to second on John Quinn's single. Kenney promptly brought him home with a bing to left field.

Make Comeback

The Wildcats made a comeback in the seventh to score one run. However, the bases were loaded as the final out of the inning was made.

Lindberg and Busse led off with singles and Graham flied to center. Homco walked to fill the bases and Schadler beat out an infield roller to score one run. But Kenney bore down and struck out pinch hitter Meacham and threw out Phillips, another pinch hitter, at first.

Iowa scored its final run in the eighth as Briscoe doubled and scored on Quinn's single to left. Landes, Briscoe and Quinn led the Hawk batters with two for four. Briscoe got the only extra base hit of the game with his double. Lindberg and Busse were best for Northwestern with the same figures.

Most of the honors go to Big Red as he had at least one strike out in every inning except the fourth, and in the fifth he turned the trick three times.

The Hawks' next foe will be Wisconsin in a two-game series here this Friday and Saturday.

Cyclone Nine Swamps Upper Iowa, 20 to 7

AMES (AP)—Coach Chick Sutherland's Iowa State nine swept to its fourth straight win of the season yesterday, drubbing Upper Iowa, 20-7, in a loose contest.

Gene Phelps and Dick Wright led the Cyclone assault that accounted for 18 hits.

Phelps' double and Upper Iowa errors paved the way to 6 runs in the first inning for the winners and they built up 14-0 lead before the invaders could tally.

Iowa State won Friday by a score of 4 to 3.

Kennitz Sets New Record in Mermen's Ice-Cream Eating Tilt

"Ice cream doesn't taste like ice cream after while—just something cold that doesn't want to go down," unquote, Swimming Capt. Clyde Kennitz, Iowa's new ice-cream eating champ. The new title-holder placed first yesterday in the "Glutton Contest" held annually by the university swimmers here, when he downed a sum total of four and a half quarts of America's favorite dessert and thereby exceeded the old record by one quart.

Placing second among the ten contestants was Bob Matters, captain of the freshman swimming team, who managed to consume four quarts, and Erv Straub, who attained last year's record of three and a half quarts.

This year's competition resulted in more than one broken record, Coach Dave Armbruster outdid his own mark of previous years in putting away two pints of the frigid food instead of his usual one and two thirds.

Due to the existing shortage of ice cream, part of each dishful was "ice," but the pint quantity per dish was there just the same—with the contestant's choice of sauce to cover it.

The Glutton Contest, sponsored by Irv Weber, Iowa's first all-American swimmer and former backstroke champ, who is now employed by the Sidwell Dairy Co., was held yesterday for the 10th time in as many years and is always staged shortly after the end of the swimming season.

The first of these events ever to be held on this campus, resulted in a three-way tie between Bob Reed, Bob Schweitzer and Richard Sears. Until this year, when honors were taken by Kennitz, husky six-foot captain of the varsity mermen, the champions have all been comparatively small, none exceeding 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height.

Rules state that no entrant is allowed to leave the scene of the contest and that, if a contestant spills as much as a drop from the dish from which he is eating, that dishful no longer counts in his score and he must begin another.

Each year the champion is presented with a small china pig as a trophy at the Dolphin club banquet. As this banquet is usually held in the fall of the year, the award is not conferred until the academic year following the contest and in the instance the winner has left school meanwhile, his trophy is shown at the banquet and later sent to him.

Yesterday's contest was held at Weber's home, 421 Melrose.

Baseball Gets Ready to Start '43 Season With Stars Gone

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball for the fourth time in five years, has lost their entire outfield, Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Lou Finney, and shortstop Johnny Pesky.

The St. Louis Browns, which sprouted into a third place club, has lost two outfielders and is awaiting the call of shortstop Vernon Stephens.

The Washington Senators appear to be the most improved club in this league, but have too little reserve strength and are draft vulnerable in the infield.

The writer's own opinion of the finish in the American league is New York, Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Chicago and Philadelphia.

The National league is almost certain to have another of its characteristic wide-open pennant battles and my own selection for the eventual winner is Brooklyn.

The Dodgers were beaten by only one game last year, losing out on the final day of the season, and they do not appear to have been hurt as much by the war as the Cardinals. Brooklyn's chief losses were Pete Reiser and Peeewe Reese and the places of both seem adequately filled. The team has more experience, more power and more protection against the inroads of selective service than the Cardinals.

On this basis the order of the finish shapes up as Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

League Heads Give Statement On '43 Season

By Ford Frick

NEW YORK (AP)—The customary "official statement" by a league president on the eve of the opening of a new baseball season is a pretty silly thing at best. In these war-torn days it is doubly silly.

As president of the National league I know no more about the prospects of our clubs than the fan. Probably not as much. If I had a favorite I wouldn't say so. I have no inside information on the much-discussed "future of baseball" and I'm not making guesses. Right now we're at war—and I'm perfectly willing to accept the judgement of our commander in chief and his aides as to what we do and how we do it.

Certainly baseball will continue to operate as long as those in authority want us to. And we have been told that they do want us to go on. We've lost a lot of men. We'll probably lose a lot more. Baseball this year will be played by married men with families. That is as it should be. So long as those men are available we can keep going. If the time comes when it is necessary to call such men to the colors you can bet your bottom dollar the men in baseball will go—and go gladly. And that will be that!

As I said before pre-season statements seem to me to be very silly. After all the important thing is the season is about to start. We'll do the best we can. We hope we may be able to bring you a little relaxation; a little relief from worry—a bit of pleasure to add zest to the work we all must do.

By Will Harridge

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball will open its second year with fan interest higher for this time of the year than it has been in many seasons.

This increase in enthusiasm is the principal reason for my belief that the public will accord a genuinely warm-hearted welcome to the 1943 campaign—one which I think will prove highly interesting in many respects.

It is true the season will open with scores of the game's outstanding stars in the service of our nation and I have been asked many times what the attitude of the public may be in view of the departure of the armed forces of stand-out players now among the 148 American leaguers in uniform.

I think that attitude will follow the line it generally has followed—an avid curiosity and interest in the possibilities of the many rookies and other newcomers to the active club rosters. For I do not believe it at all out of line to think that before the 1943 season is far under way another Ted Williams or another Bob Feller or another Joe DiMaggio may have been uncovered.

We know, from past experience, that competition is the No. 1 requisite of the real baseball fan and I think that competition in the American league will be much in evidence this season. Every club players into uniform and right in our league has sent stand-out now it's anyone's guess how the teams will finish next October.

Baseball has tried to meet the problems of the times as they develop.

White Sox Score Run In Ninth to Top Cubs

Pale Hose Overcome Lead for 6 to 5 Win In City Series Battle

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox saw the Cubs take a five run lead in the first three innings yesterday and then came back to win, 6 to 5, scoring the deciding marker with two out in the ninth inning and evening their formal city series at one game apiece.

Before 1,714 spectators in Comiskey park, Rookie Dick Culler stole home with the Sox' winning run while Dick Barrett was on the mound for the Cubs.

The American leaguers now lead in their spring duel with the Cubs, three games to two. A trio of contests was played as part of "no count" series at the team's French Lick, Ind., training grounds.

The National league Cubs landed on Johnny Humphries for two runs in the first inning, one in the second and two in the third. Pitcher Bill Lee kept the White Sox scoreless for four frames but yielded four runs in the fifth. The Sox tied it up with a run in the sixth off Ray Prim, who succeeded Lee.

Culler pilfered home in the ninth after Pitcher Dick Barrett, veteran rookie who was with Seattle last year, had issued three passes, one of them intentional, to fill the bases.

Indiana Beats Irish, 3-2, on Long Triple

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Bob White's triple into right field with the bases filled and two out in the seventh gave Indiana university a 3-to-2 victory over Notre Dame yesterday and an even split on the two-game baseball series.

Ward Williams allowed Notre Dame only three hits—a single by Steve Pavea and doubles by Angelo Bertilli and Tom Sheehan for the Irish's two first inning runs.

Harmon, Old 98 Come Through In South American Air Crash

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Tom Harmon and "Old 98," the numerals that were so successful on the gridiron that the former all-American transferred them to his bomber when he joined the army air forces, have won their way out of another trap.

The war department reported yesterday that Lieutenant Harmon, one-time University of Michigan halfback and later a screen player and radio sports commentator, was safe nine days after his plane crashed somewhere in a South American jungle.

Their were no details and no inkling of the fate of other members of the crew, but bare word that Harmon himself was safe brought rejoicing among old classmates and coaches and to his parents, who live here in a house he built them with money that came from his screen and radio work.

Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, Tom's old football coach, took time to confirm news reports of Tom's safety and then dashed to the home of the Harmons. First word came to Tom's parents, Louis A. Harmon, 70, and his wife, who is 67, just as they returned from a special prayer service in the chapel where their son had worshipped in his student days.

"Oh, thank the good God," his mother rejoiced.

Crisler's grin was as big as any. The coach who had called Harmon "the greatest competitor in the history of football" insisted that the first that the Gary galloper would turn up safe.

"And I'll bet a dollar he doesn't have a scratch on him," Crisler beamed when his first hunch was proved correct.

Mrs. Harmon wouldn't rest until she had prepared a message to be cabled to her son when the circumstances permit. It read:

"Thank God you're safe. We're all so happy. We're together here at home. Have talked to Elyse."

Elyse is Elyse Knox, pretty movie picture starlet with whose name Tom's has been linked romantically. A large photograph of her stands in Tom's study.

Carroll Makes Cards, Dodgers Even Choice

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll and the nation's sports writers are at odds 5-1. Detroit 15-1, Chicago 25-1 and Philadelphia and Washington 100-1.

National—St. Louis and Brooklyn 9-10, Cincinnati 8-1, New York 10-1, Chicago 15-1, Pittsburgh 20-1, Boston 30-1 and Philadelphia 100-1.

Here are Carroll's prices: American league—Yankees 3-4, St. Louis, Cleveland and Boston 5-1, Detroit 15-1, Chicago 25-1 and Philadelphia and Washington 100-1.

National—St. Louis and Brooklyn 9-10, Cincinnati 8-1, New York 10-1, Chicago 15-1, Pittsburgh 20-1, Boston 30-1 and Philadelphia 100-1.

Carroll, however, bracketed the two teams yesterday at 9 to 10 in his list of pennant prices for 1943. He did string along with the sports writers in selecting the New York Yankees as heavy American league favorites at 3 to 4.

Count Fleet Takes Jamaica Race in 1:43

NEW YORK (AP)—In spite of a gashed hind foot, Count Fleet mopped up just about all the Kentucky Derby's eastern delegation yesterday by taking the Wood Memorial at Jamaica in a waltz-without music.

He came home swinging on the bit by four lengths in front of seven other derby eligibles, after suffering the cut in his left hind foot in a scramble at the starting gate.

Although the injury bled considerably, it was not regarded as serious after a preliminary examination. So, last night the tall son of Reigh Count pointed his long brown "beak" at the $75,000 bank roll waiting at Churchill Downs on May 1—and the rail birds told you it was strictly a case of shooting black birds at midnight if you had even a remote idea of picking against him.

Yesterday the pride and joy of Mrs. John D. Hertz pocketed a $20,150 pay-check and at the finish had left Allen Simmons' Blue Swords four lengths behind, with Jockey Johnny Longden easing him up from the eighth pole to the wire.

Iowa City Maintains Good Transportation

Necessary Facilities Provided for Travel To, From, In Town

By STAN MYERS

War-time restrictions on transportation have cut pleasure riding to a minimum, but efficient systems of buses and taxicabs still provide necessary transportation in town, and railroad and inter-urban systems still make Iowa City accessible to Iowa and to the rest of the nation.

The local bus firm offers good transportation to most parts of Iowa City from about 6:30 o'clock in the morning until about 11 o'clock at night. The number of buses in operation at one time are staggered to fit the number of patrons. Approximately 99 percent of local student residences are accessible to the bus lines, and all routes run downtown to within one block of the downtown campus. Excellent service is maintained at a cost to the patron of five cents per ride, and transfer facilities are also provided.

Four taxicab companies operate in Iowa City, giving 24-hour service daily. Combined, the four companies operate a total of about 25 cabs, which provide transportation to and from railway stations and to and from any place in or around Iowa City. The companies stagger the number of cabs on duty to fit the needs of patrons, and the greatest number of cabs are available on weekends. Prompt, courteous service is maintained by all companies at low cost to the patron.

The Cedar Rapids and Iowa City railway offers 16 round trips daily between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City through the interurban system. This system makes connections with all buses and trains out of Iowa City and Cedar Rapids. Interurban trains begin their daily schedule from Cedar Rapids at 5 o'clock in the morning, and the last train arrives back in Cedar Rapids at 1:45 a. m. The first trip from Iowa City begins at 5:50 a. m. and the last trip begins 12:52 in the morning. Passenger service is provided at a cost to the rider of 83 cents round-trip, or 55 cents one-way. Freight service is also maintained on the interurban route.

Iowa City is located on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, making it easily accessible to all stops on this railroad, and also providing transfer service to other railroads.

Student Religion Local Church Groups Plan Meetings

Many Iowa City churches will not hold meetings this evening for university students because of the vesper service, "Seven Last Words of Christ," which will be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Iowa Union by the combined Iowa City church choirs, the University Chorus and the University Symphony orchestra.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP
The regular 5:30 social and supper hour will be held for members of this group. Fern Harris, A2 of Newton, will be in charge of the supper.

The annual pre-Easter candlelight vesper and communion service will be held in the sanctuary following the supper hour. Eloise Tupper, G of Galesburg, Ill., will preside. The Rev. Hion T. Jones will give the communion meditation.

PILGRIM YOUTH FELLOWSHIP
A Palm Sunday supper hour will be held at 5:30 in honor of those leaving the campus at the close of this semester. Members in charge of the supper include: Mary Garfield, A1 of Humboldt; Phyllis Brandau, A2 of Rudd; James Roalson, A2 of Forest City, and Lester Mangold, C3 of Iowa City. Henry Montgomery, A1 of Decatur, will lead the song fest.

Candlelight vesper service will follow the supper hour in the Little Chapel. Betty Long, A2 of Iowa Falls, will lead the service, and recorded Easter music will blend into the worship service. Edward Vorba, director of the group, has chosen as his meditation theme, "Arise, Let Us Go Hence." The observance of the Holy Communion will be in charge of the Rev. James E. Weary.

Fellowship hour will be held at 7:30 in the student rooms. This will be the last meeting of the semester for students, and everyone is urged to attend all or part of the above activities. Service men on the campus are also asked to join the students. Summer plans for the group will be announced later.

TRINITY EPISCOPAL GROUP
The student group will meet at the rectory at 7 o'clock.

ROGER WILLIAMS GROUP
Following the vesper service in Iowa Union, members of this group will meet at the Roger Williams house at 5:30 for an outdoor picnic. An outdoor vesper service will be led by the seniors. Betty Jane Morgan, A4 of Ottawa, Ill., will be in charge.

Prof. M. W. Lampe To Address Meeting Of A.A.U.W. Group

"I Have Lived in Japan" is the topic chosen by Prof. George Glockler, head of the university chemistry department, for his talk at the 12 M. luncheon of the University club Tuesday.

Meeting in the private dining room of Iowa Union, the group will hear Professor Glockler tell of his experiences during five years of residence in Tokio and of his travels to other parts of the Japanese island. Professor Glockler was stationed in Tokio from 1916 until 1921 while associated with Horne Ltd., importers of Seattle, Wash. He was traffic manager and consulting chemist with this firm.

Luncheon reservations are to be made at the Union desk not later than tomorrow night by calling

Peace Officer Course In Law Enforcement To Meet on Campus

Peace officers from all over Iowa will study the problems and techniques of law enforcement at the peace officers' short course to be held on the University of Iowa campus July 12 through July 16.

Under the direction of Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, the short course is sponsored annually by the college of law, in cooperation with the Iowa department of public safety, the Iowa State Sheriff's association, the Iowa Association

X327. Heading the luncheon committee is Mrs. F. G. Higbee. She will be assisted by Prof. Lulu Smith, Helene Miller, Prof. Miriam Taylor and Mrs. Charles Looney.

Housekeeping Keeps Meteorologists Busy

"Housekeeping" duties of the Pre-Meteorologists include keeping their rooms orderly, the floors of their rooms clean and their beds carefully made.

They are issued clean bed linen every Saturday morning, must turn their mattresses over daily and must air their bedding each Wednesday morning.

In making their beds, they must have a six-inch "collar" of the top sheet showing over the blanket at the head of the bed, and this "collar" must be three inches from the pillow.

Lillian Castner Heads University Seals Club

Newly elected officers of the University Seals club for the coming year are Lillian Castner, A2 of Des Moines, president; Helen Oltman, A1 of Oak Park, Ill., vice-president; Ruth Knight, A2 of Cedar Rapids, secretary; Sally Friedman, A1 of Highland Park, Ill., treasurer, and Carol Carr, A2 of Minot, N. D., probate sponsor.

The Seals club placed second in the national inter-collegiate telegraphic swimming meet held last month, it has been announced.

Plan All-Day Session
An all-day quilting session will be held by the Ladies Aid of the Christian church Wednesday in the church parlors. The work will begin at 10 a. m. and a potluck luncheon will be held at noon.

Clerk's Auxiliary Plans Anniversary Luncheon

An anniversary luncheon will be given by members of the Post Office Clerks' auxiliary Tuesday. The group will meet at 1 p. m. in Reich's pine room.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Joe Soucek (2772) or Mrs. Alice Crawford (6611) by tomorrow afternoon.

Ancient Greeks believed Proteus, a sea-fairy could change his appearance almost at will.

Iowa Students Asked To Contribute Clothing

Nation-Wide Campaign To Provide Apparel For Civilian Refugees

Iowa students will be asked to contribute to the nation-wide campaign for clothing being conducted by the American Friends' Service committee it was announced yesterday after a meeting of campus leaders with John Willard, Iowa representative of the Quaker organization.

College campuses throughout the country, particularly men who are leaving for the armed services, are being urged to contribute used clothing, shoes, sweaters, and other apparel for which they no longer have immediate use. This clothing, when cleaned and repaired, is being sent abroad for distribution to civilian refugees, many of whom have lost all of their possessions.

"College campuses, particularly at semester-end when many students are leaving, many of the men to have no further use for civilian apparel, have proved a rich source of contributions," said Dr. William D. Berg of the university faculty in announcing the local drive.

Local organizations sponsoring the drive are the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the Student Christian council, and the Fellowship of Reconciliation. Collection boxes will be placed in all of the dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses early next week.

Honorary Fraternity Will Have Initiation For 24 New Members

Initiation ceremonies conducted by Prof. E. N. Oberg, secretary, will be held for 24 students elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

A banquet will be held in Iowa Union following the initiation. Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the political science department, will be the main speaker and speak on "Post-war International Organization." Robert Martin, A4 of Davenport, valedictorian of this class, will give a short speech as response for the initiates.

Phi Beta Kappa is one of the oldest scholastic organizations in the country. Students must have a grade point average of 3.2 in 105 hours or more of completed work and must be eligible for graduation at the next Convocation.

Newly elected members are M. Boyd Berryhill, M3 of Iowa City, Sylvia Blackman, A4 of Brooklyn; Jeanne Christie, A3 of Belmont; Elihu Cooper, U of Norwich, Conn.; John David, M4 of Bettendorf; Patricia Flynn, J4 of Des Moines.

John Glenn, A4 of Osceola; Irene Groom, A4 of Kalona; Charlene Horn, A4 of Clinton; Richard McCarthy, A4 of Webster City; Robert Martin, A4 of Davenport.

Dorothy Miller, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Betty Peterson, A4 of Madison, S. D.; Nancy Pray, A4 of Ft. Dodge; James Roach, A4 of Rock Rapids; Mabel Rodger, A4 of Chicago; Marjorie Ross, A4 of Shenandoah; Carroll Satre, A4 of Webster City.

Former Students—Serving the Nation

—Former Iowa Citizens

Albert F. McMahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. McMahan, 516 S. Dodge street, has been commissioned an ensign in the United States navy.

Ensign McMahan, a 1937 graduate of the university's college of commerce, is on duty somewhere in the southwest Pacific.

Three former University of Iowa students, Maurice P. Roche of Riceville, Grendel E. McKimpson of Osceola and Noel J. Liechty of Ankeny, were commissioned second lieutenants at the medical administrative corps officer candidate school graduation at Camp Barkley, Tex.

Following a 10-day graduation leave, the new officers will assume non-medical duties with the medical corps, thus relieving doctors and dentists for professional services with the troops.

Hamilton Vasey, assistant instructor in the university college of education, has been commissioned an ensign in the United States naval reserve and will report April 28 at Ft. Schuyler, N. Y., for two months' indoctrination training as a deck officer.

Correction

The intensive Russian courses announced in yesterday's Daily Iowan as beginning April 26 begin tomorrow, April 19. Both advanced and beginning courses will be offered.

SOLOISTS REHEARSE FOR TODAY'S VESPER SERVICE

REHEARSING FOR THE presentation of "The Seven Last Words of Christ," which will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Iowa Union, are the soloists, Thomas Muir of the music department, tenor; Joan Joehn, A4 of Iowa City, soprano, and Jay Hasbrouck, C3 of Guthrie Center. Nine Iowa City churches, the University Chorus and the University Symphony orchestra will take part in presenting this oratorio by Dobois. Prof. Herald Stark of the Music department will direct the concert.

Meteorology Cadets Permitted 31 Hours Of Weekend Liberty

After a week of intensive academic schedules, the men at the Pre-Meteorology school are given liberty from 1 p. m. Saturday until 8 p. m. Sunday.

The same recreational facilities as have been open to the cadets of the Navy Pre-Flight school for the past year are open also to the Pre-Meteorologists. These include the weekly dances held in the Community building and Currier hall.

The Pre-Meteorologists hold activity cards equal in value to the university student identification cards which admit them to university activities such as athletic events, lectures and concerts.

CAMPUS CONSULTANTS

"THE CONSULTANTS KNOW WHERE TO GO"

Dolores Rielly
Marilyn Sutherland

Congratulations, all you graduatin' seniors! ... Good luck! ... Looks like another skool year is 'bout done for ... but another's all ready to begin ... Lots has happened in the last eight months—too many things to name right here—so we give you, this last week of Campus Consultants, and a few bits of gossip and a few hints on where to buy ...

Best of luck to the Class of '43 from the HUDDLE and the ROSE ROOM—Iowa City's smartest eating places. ... The HUDDLE and the ROSE ROOM have enjoyed serving you and your friends. ... Just as they will always be glad to serve Iowa students. ... Particular people choose the HUDDLE and the ROSE ROOM for its friendly, quiet atmosphere and efficient service. ... When you take friends out to dinner, you will be proud to escort them to one of the town's favorite eating spots. ... the HUDDLE and the ROSE ROOM. ...

SPRING DAYS are with us—the sun, the wind and rain may roughen our skin—makes us feel uncomfortable. We then need a soothing face and hand lotion or cream as you will find at DRUG SHOP. Ask EDWARD S. ROSE, Pharmacist, to supply these needs.

It was last Thursday nite that Darlene Richey, Eastlawn, passed the five-pound box of candy. ... And any coincidence between this and the fact that Joe Johnson is no longer wearing his Psi Omega pin is absolutely correct. ...

Martha Noland, Theta, received Larry Butler's Phi Psi pin as of Friday nite.

Are you looking for just the right thing to present your mother with on Easter Morning? Have you thought of a lamp? IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS & ELECTRIC CO. has everything in the line of attractive lamps. A nice reading lamp for the bedroom, or one of the new good-looking plastic models of floor lamps for the living room—or a cute kitchen lamp to match her kitchen color scheme. If it's anything in the line of fine lamps, come to IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS & ELECTRIC CO.; they have them in all types and prices.

Easter cards just seem to express the right wish for Easter morning. MOTT'S fine selection of different and beautiful cards will surely answer your Easter greeting problem. Cards for the man in service, sweethearts, and mothers range in price from ten to fifty cents. Be sure to stop in at MOTT'S for the correct thing in Happy Easter greetings!

And it was not so long ago that Betty Peterson, Currier, received a diamond from George Willhoite. ...

Barbara Mellquist, Alpha Chi, enjoyed the better part of Corporal Kenneth Hallman's furlough this week.

And its Mary Lou Borg and Bob Frost who've been seen together quite frequently—oh, quite—of late. ...

Going to summer school? ... Then you'll be wearing lots of pastel skirts 'n cotton dresses. ... And you'll need several pairs of anklets to match those summer outfits. ... You'll find a wonderful selection of fuzzy and plain socks in all the latest spring shades at H & H HOSIERY STORE. ...

That A T O pin that Mary Fran Zuercher, Delta Gamma, is wearing these days was given to her by John Stichnoth. ...

The Hamburger of your dreams! And we mean it, right from the bottom of our appetite! Whether it's for a picnic, an after-date snack, or a light lunch—the Hamburgers at the HAMBURG INN are good with a capital 'W E LIKE 'EM.' from all the campus folk. Don't hesitate when you're hungry—have the treat of your life at the HAMBURG INN.

Put on your Easter bonnet—but please, no spots upon it—and you'll be the envy of all in that Easter parade coming up next Sunday. BROWN'S UNIQUE CLEANERS will absolutely make your clothes look as smart as they did when they were new. This year we all may not have new clothes, but they at least can be clean and well pressed. Take them down to BROWN'S soon, and see what fine cleaning is!

Congratulations, seniors! ... Whether you attend the University of Iowa for one or four years, you'll recognize the name YELLOW CAB as the top favorite among taxis. ... Cheerful accommodations, quick-as-possible service and reasonable prices make YELLOW CAB the most popular in town. ... A convenience anyone can afford. ... Whenever a smart person wants a cab, he dials 7131—for a YELLOW CAB—He knows YELLOW CAB is the best in town!
