OPA Cuts Point Value of Soups, Frozen Foods

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of price administration last night ordered drastic cuts, effective Thursday morning, in the point values of canned and dried soups, all frozen fruits and vegetables, and removed black-eyed peas from the ration list.

The reduction in most cases cut the coupon cost of the affected items by half or more. They were designed specifically to encourage people to buy more of these items.

The popular 10 1/2 ounce can of tomato soup was cut from six to three points, and all other canned soups in the same size were cut from six to four points.

Most dried and dehydrated soups also were cut in half, with the popular 2 1/2 ounce package being reduced from two points to one point. This is the second time the point value of dehydrated soups has been halved.

The popular pound size of frozen fruits was trimmed from 13 to 6 points, and the pound package of frozen baked beans came down from 8 to 4 points.

All other frozen vegetables were reduced. The popular 12 ounce size, which has cost 6 to 10 points, will be at a new uniform cost of 4 points each.

Rommel: 'Where Do We Go From Here Boys?'

Speculation that Marshal Rommel may be able to stage a successful 'Dunkergue' in Tunisia now that Eisenhower and Montgomery have started the final squeeze is out. At least so many military observers both here and in north Africa have asserted. The axis lacks shipping—but more than that, it lacks adequate sea and air protection for a large scale evacuation.

At any rate, allied air and naval forces in the 90-mile strait between Tunisia and Sicily could do to a fleeing Nazi force what American planes did to a Jap convoy in the Bismarck sea. Of 15,000 men in the Jap convoy, five are estimated to have survived.

The new all-out offensive in Tunisia will result in pinning Rommel's forces either in the northern tip at Bizerte and Tunis or in dividing it and isolating the segments for mopping-up action.

Rommel faces the problem of getting out of this trap, and regardless of which way he turns he will become vulnerable to terrific attacks from all directions, especially from the air. The desert fox undoubtedly realizes that he is in a position where he will either have to "fight to the death," as his intuitive master in Berlin has ordered, or surrender. Regardless of which way he goes, the result will be the same. It is simply a matter of choosing which way he would rather be shuffled out of the picture.

Post-War Goal Everyone Wants

Stabilization Of The World's Money

WASHINGTON—One post-war goal that everyone wants to achieve is stabilization of international currencies.

This must be done to allow trade, settlement of debts, peaceful business. Yet the Keynes-White proposals to the British-American governments to achieve this result have set off so many sparks of criticism among the financial experts that it seems likely their plans cannot be carried out.

So far, the debate has been confined to the experts, but you had better start thinking about it, because all the fundamental clashes of theory concerning the future world are involved in these plans to handle the money. He who holds the money bag controls the world.

Both plans set up an international board of directors primarily to handle a fund of about $5,000,000,000. (British plan would have no limited figures). We would contribute $2,000,000,000, the rest of the world $3,000,000,000.

The contributions to the kitty would be 25 percent gold, 25 percent in currency (American dollars, British pounds, etc.) and 50 percent in government bonds of the various countries.

Not Gold Standard
Right here, you run into the fact that this is not the gold standard which Lord Keynes (vaguely) and Mr. White (directly) have professed it to be. It is merely a shadow of gold substance.

We have $22,500,000,000 of gold in the ground at Fort Knox, the rest of the world about $9,500,000,000. Yet only $500,000,000 would be our gold contribution to this fund, leaving us still holding the $22,000,000,000 sack.

The stability of the fund thus would depend not on the 25 percent gold in its larder, but the 75 percent of national currencies and government bonds.

What these currencies are to be worth is to be decided by the international board. The group could decide the dollar is too high in relation to the pound and order its devaluation.

Indeed, right now, the British financial writers are complaining that the pound is really worth (in what it can buy) $8 or $16 instead of the $4 which Americans now pay for the British pound under the current stabilization rate. If these British could control the international board, they would devalue our dollar 50 to 75 percent in relation to the pound.

The administration says the board must have this power over currencies because, after all, the real worth of a dollar, a pound, or a rouble, is not its gold backing, (See MALLON, page 5) government is using one of its most powerful methods of control.

It's a rather elusive device known as public opinion or "neighborliness." There are just enough Americans that violate the last of the Ten Commandments (Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's) to keep the rationing plan working. If any one person started to hoard or bought more than his share and his neighbors found out about it, as they undoubtedly would, he would be reported. He would be reported because his neighbors would immediately decide that he was getting more than his share and, more importantly, he was getting more than they were.

The government is actually depending on this trait of human nature to act as a sort of check and balance system toward the rationing of meat, sugar, canned goods and any other rationing that is to come. It is just as powerful a weapon as the strongest law enforcement agency.

The Privilege of Self-Denial—

The war moves in to the dining table, to the family car, and the family pocketbook, but all this is small price for victory. The dislocations of life in wartime may not be comfortable, but they are nothing compared to the disruption of all living that would result from our failure to pursue—and to win—an all-out war.

"Not all of us can have the privilege of fighting our enemies in distant parts of the world," President Roosevelt said in one of the most significant moments of his recent speech to the nation. "But there is one front and one battle where everyone in the United States—every man, woman and child—is in action, and will be privileged to remain in action throughout this war. That front is right here at home, in our daily lives as in our daily tasks."

The President's speech has brought home to every worker in the office, every student in the university, every producer in the industry, and every residence in the United States the fact that modern war makes no exceptions—that everyone is in the war. It is clear that higher taxes, rationing of scarce materials, and restricted buying would all figure in the average American's contribution to the war effort. This privilege of self-denial is something worth thinking about.

Office-Holders' Pay—

One of the things everybody believes is that office-holders get fat salaries. Like a good many other popular ideas, it isn't so. Whatever may be the case with a selected few department heads, it is not true of the average public employee.

This fact is made very definite by a new report of the United States bureau of the census. In the large cities ranging from 500,000 to 1,000,000 population, the average monthly wage of all the local employees is just $144. This is wealth in no man's language. For office-holders of all the states and their political sub-divisions the figure is even lower, coming only to $109 a month.

'Are Teachers Responsible For Socialism In Our Schools?'

As debated by

Mrs. Sara Holbrook, Executive Director, Youthbuilders, Inc.

L. Richard Guylay, Director, Citizens Public Education Survey of N. Y. State

MRS. HOLBROOK OPENS: American education is as far to the left as American business men have pushed it. The current attitude of young people toward competitive enterprise is the result, not of Communist indoctrination, but of the laziness and/or stupidity of industrial public relations experts.

For ten years, government has systematically explained what it does for the people; private industry has stubbornly repeated "How wonderful is industry!" That refrain gets boring. No enlightened group of industrialists has said to students "How wonderful is industry for you—here is why. We give you radio, so you can hear Charlie McCarthy. We give you movies, so you can see Mickey Rooney."

To teach effectively, teachers need illustrative, graphic materials. Industry has failed to supply teachers with positive classroom aids: the government has offered teachers rich resources about its services.

The industrialists sit in chromium and plush offices, surrounded by advertising experts who are supposed to know the only way to sell anything, whether it is a box of cereal or a way of life, is to show what the product will do for you. Yet, paradoxically, today it is government, which uses that "you" angle while business men bellow about "Communists in our schools."

MR. GUYLAY CHALLENGES: Competitive enterprise is too busy to subsidize textbooks or engage in propaganda extolling its virtues. Industry, admittedly, has done little in combating legislative and bureaucratic invasion of its rights. The tree is judged by the fruit and the fruits are there for any honest author to see. Any attempt by industry to interpret its virtues to students would backfire in a smear campaign. Industrial relations confines itself to customer relations. Industry does not make laws; it does its best to work under them. The American people, enjoying these unequalled fruits should see that their children understand the system which makes it possible.

MRS. HOLBROOK REPLIES: If competitive enterprise is too busy to engage in propaganda, and has no interest in penetrating schools anyhow—why did N.A.M. spend $10,000,000 investigating textbooks? No responsible business executive says—"I'm too busy to advertise." While he's at it, why not advertise the system which makes production possible—as well as his own product? And why not do it in a positive fashion? Good example—General Electric's current booklet on what electronics does for you! On the question of school children's attitudes—industry should put up or shut up!

MR. GUYLAY OPENS: It is an exaggeration to say that Socialism, as such, is being taught in our public schools. It is no exaggeration to say the principles underlying Socialism are very definitely being planted in the minds of American students.

While certain teachers may subscribe to Marxian principles, the textbooks they are directed to use in classrooms determine what they teach. The teacher may color the meaning in the textbook but the text will, eventually, decide what the pupil believes.

I don't know who sponsored the un-American textbooks, which now seem on the way out, but I do know that a great part of one American generation approaching voting age is horribly confused and bewildered in its political ethics.

There is a strata in the teaching profession deriving considerable influence from hard-to-trace quarters, popularly believed to center in the teachers' college of Columbia university. By consolidating three courses (geography, economics, sociology) into one course—social studies, they created an insidious educational weapon.

The blame belongs to: (1) the text-book authors; (2) those in high places who sponsor them; (3) school boards who approve them; (4) parents who neglect their children's education.

Interpreting THE WAR NEWS by Glenn Babb

Executive Jap Cabinet Shakeup

General Tojo has given his Japanese cabinet the most extensive shakeup since it was formed 18 months ago to lead the nation into war against the United States and Britain. A number of the entirely undistinguished bureaucrats who have been willing to serve as his subordinates have given way, in most cases, to others equally without prestige or influence.

An exception to the rule of mediocrity among the newcomers is the foreign minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, whose selection raises some interesting conjectures. His career has been an outstanding one in the Mikado's foreign service, including terms as pre-war minister to China, ambassador to Russia, ambassador to Britain and finally ambassador to the puppet "government of China" at Nanking. His Russian experience may have been a factor in his choice, since conciliation toward the Soviet Union seems to be Tokyo's policy for the moment. Shigemitsu had some success in Moscow, especially in settlement of the 1938 "vest pocket war" on the eastern Manchurian-Siberian border.

Otherwise the shakeup appears to be the climax of Tojo's long campaign to make himself, as representatives of the dominant military element, the sole repository of political power. He would hasten to add, of course that he holds such power entirely "by the grace of the divine emperor," being, as he told parliament, merely "the moon receiving light from the sun." This was during the debate on legislation, which parliament later passed dutifully, empowering the premier to take the place of any of his ministers in any matter affecting war production. This in effect gave him dictatorial control over the economic life of the nation.

Japan's political processes, mysterious even in peacetime, are even harder to understand when we can only see them dimly through the veil of wartime secrecy. But the shakeup and the discussions which preceded it indicate strongly that Tojo encountered opposition to his program of total mobilization for war and that he has taken strong measures to break it down.

A Movie Prop Man Would Make a Swell Wife for Any Woman

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A movie prop man would make a swell wife for any woman.

His job is to keep everything on a set neat and dusted. If an actor gets a spot on his clothes, he comes running with cleaning fluid. He makes furniture shine, windows glisten and pictures hang straight. He can build a fire, set a hen, lay a table, feed a cat, make friends with a dog, plant a garden, cook a meal.

Tommy Plevs is such a guy. And he would like the fact that he knows all these things kept from his wife. She might get ideas.

Tommy and his cohorts receive too little credit for their work on a picture. They are the ones who make film domiciles so attractive that your sisters and your aunts go home from the theater drooling with envy. Or, if the locale is not the upper classes, they know exactly what to leave off the set. Thus, any good housewife is immediately aware of the fictitious state of affairs.

Tommy also knows a few tricks that Mrs. Joseph Doakes wouldn't care about. How to catch 10,000 flies an hour. What will make a caterpillar wiggle. How to put bromo seltzer in cider to make it look like champagne. That isinglass can appear to be ice in a bucket. That cotton wool on a glass of ginger ale resembles beer.

These are all part of his racket. Most prop men are married. But there is an unwritten law among them: At home, they never lift a finger.

Seymour Felix, the man with the best telephone numbers in the world, has a unique method of choosing chorus girls for his dance sequences.

In the first place, he doesn't believe in lining up the damsels. Instead, he sits at a desk and asks each one to walk toward him, turn, smile, and walk away. And, though he looks interested in the first three steps of this routine, he only really puts the old brain in high when the girl has her back to him.

"The way they come toward me means nothing," he says. "For they all want to make a good impression. They need a job or they wouldn't be there. I do my observing, therefore, when they leave me, when they are at ease and the tension is gone."

This must be effective, for Felix has staged dances for Flo Ziegfeld and other legitimate producers, as well as winning an Oscar in pictures for his work in "The Great Ziegfeld."

And you can't say that the gals ain't purty!

Band to Give Two Concerts

Open-Air Appearances Planned to Celebrate SUI Commencement

The University Concert band, under the direction of Prof. C. B. Righter, will make its final appearances of the year in two open-air concerts scheduled for tomorrow evening at 8:15 and Friday evening at 7:30 on the campus south of Old Capitol.

For these concerts, which are a traditional part of the university's Commencement week activities, the band will include 80 men and women, many of whom will be playing in their last concert on the Iowa campus. Most of the men now in the band will leave for army service at the conclusion of this semester, but it is expected that their places will be filled by incoming freshmen and woman players.

A feature number in the two concerts will be the trumpet trio, "The Three Solitaires," played by musicians Donald M. Ropa, A1 of Stanwood; Francis F. Wilcox, A1 of Des Moines, and Edward F. Naramore, A1 of Downers Grove. Another highlight of the program will be the Gypsy Caprice, "Zingaresca," featuring the clarinetist and band president, Laverne Wintermeyer, A4 of Jefferson City, Mo.

Other numbers will include the ever-popular "Rhapsody in Rhumba" by Bennett, and "Headlines" by Colby, both in the modern idiom. Old favorites will be the overture "Zampa," selections from "The Chocolate Soldier," "Stradella" and the two song arrangements, "Calm as the Night" and "Songs My Mother Gave Me," featuring the clarinetist include a liberal portion of service songs and marches.

The concerts will be cancelled if the weather is unfavorable.

5th Fine Arts Festival Planned for Summer; Date Still Undecided

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts, has announced that the fifth annual Fine Arts festival will be held this summer, but as yet no date has been set.

This week-long celebration brings together in one festival concerts of the highest order, attractive exhibitions of painting and sculpture, dramatic productions staged under ideal conditions and lectures and discussions and demonstrations ranging through all the fields of fine arts.

During the summer session the school of fine arts adds to its regular faculty distinguished guest artists. Guest faculty members who will assist in preparations for the Fine Arts festival include Prof. Thompson Stone in the music department and Iden Payne in dramatic arts.

A junior unit of musicians, who will replace the all-state high chorus, will also take part in the festival.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

What the men in the armed forces are wearing will over shadow the importance of a new Eastern outfit as far as the women of America are concerned. Chered on by the slogan, "Outfitting the Outfit," housewives are asked to join in the second war loan drive for women, designed to sell enough bonds between April 12 and May 1 to buy warm coats, sturdy shoes and steel helmets for two million of the fighting men of the nation.

You think that clothing the forces is of secondary concern? A full outfit for a soldier costs $154.95, for a sailor, $96.40, and for a marine, $155.94. Multiply those by the millions of men in the service and you will see that Uncle Sam has quite a large family to take care of.

Just what can a busy homemaker do to take part in the April drive? Uncle Sam has an answer for that too—eight answers, in fact. Women can take bond instruction courses; for a saleswoman must know her product thoroughly before she can sell it. She can serve as a volunteer saleswoman in bond booths or as a house-to-house canvasser, selling bonds and stamps to housewives.

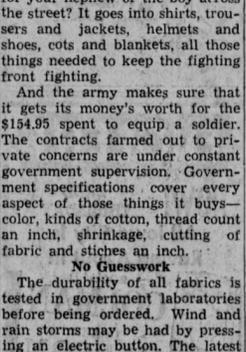

Minute Maid
The members of her bridge club or her church society are one of her more potential markets. The volunteer can serve as a Minute Maid in a mobile stamp-selling unit, covering restaurants, parades and ball games. She can spend a spare hour each afternoon making and selling attractive war stamp corsages. And finally, with just a smidge of talent and enthusiasm-plus, she can give speeches or take part in war savings plays.

Presidents of women's clubs in particular are being enlisted as aides in this drive. The treasury department asks them to set a goal for their organizations in terms of equipment for fighting men. If there are 100 members in the club, they might resolve to outfit 100 soldiers.

Summer Session Visual Education Program To Include Previews of Government Films

A varied program in visual education will be offered during the 1943 summer session by the bureau of visual instruction. The program will include a series of exhibits of classroom visual aids, art and photographic exhibits, projection equipment, instruction in operating equipment and demonstrations in the use of visual materials by faculty and staff members.

Persons in charge of school visual aids who wish to plan their programs during the summer months will be offered assistance. Government Films
A special feature of the summer program will be a series of preview showings of new government films released by the office of war information, the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs, the office of civilian defense, and the United States treasury.

Art and photographic exhibits distributed by the bureau of visual instruction will be available for viewing at the bureau, C-5 East hall. The series includes four art exhibits, three photographic exhibits and one dental health exhibit.

All film and slide projection equipment owned by the visual instruction bureau will be available for examination at the bureau, C-5 East hall. This equipment includes 16 mm. sound motion picture projectors, 16 mm. silent motion picture projectors, lantern projectors, film-strip projectors, slide projectors, film-strip projectors and projectors for showing opaque materials.

Instruction
Arrangements will be made for those who wish instruction and information concerning the operation and maintenance of motion picture projectors or cameras. There is no fee for this service. Several demonstrations of the use of visual aids will be scheduled during the summer session. University faculty and staff members will illustrate methods of using visual aids to supplement and vitalize classroom procedures.

New government films will be shown at weekly previews, open to the public. Films shown will be available for use by schools, clubs and civic organizations.

Staff members of the bureau of visual instruction will be available at all times to assist superintendents, principals or directors of visual instruction programs in planning visual aid projects to fit the requirements of individual schools or school systems. A projection studio maintained by the bureau will be available for previewing films.

Teaching Films
Although organized primarily as a visual aids lending library, the bureau of visual instruction has in recent years produced a considerable number of teaching films in cooperation with other departments of the university. Departments sponsoring teaching films include:

lightweight shirts of olive drab with long sleeves and high collars. In the south Pacific area, the gleam of an exposed arm makes a shining target for a Japanese sniper. The long sleeves also ward off insects.

Plastic Buttons
Plastic buttons have taken the place of the brass ones, so dear to the heart of the feminine spectator. The new buttons do not gleam in the sun, neither do they tarnish. Many housewives have been employed as inspectors to look for split seams, missing buttons and fabric weaknesses before outfits are put to use.

Yes, Uncle Sam certainly puts himself out to see that our boys get the best. A $5 nighttime shopping spree for gloves, hankies, stockings and a new lapel gadget could buy your soldier eight pairs of cotton socks and a pair of G. I. shoes. You can do without; he can't. So help "Outfit the Outfits" fighting for you.

But this, horrible as it seems to him who has no such worries at the moment, is skipped over lightly and he cheerfully checks another day off the calendar with a deft and lubricious touch.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Come on, Let's WIN this war!

If we should lose the war, life would not be worth living. "But we won't lose it," you may say. Listen, brother—in this world nothing's sure, unless you make it so.

This month it's up to us here at home to do our part, and then some, to make Victory sure—and quicker! To do it, we've got to lend Uncle Sam 13 billion extra dollars.

It isn't easy—but war isn't easy and Victory isn't cheap. It takes money—and more money—to buy planes, ships, tanks, guns and a million other things our boys must have to deliver that final, paralyzing knockout punch.

And it's a whole lot easier for us at home to lend our money than for our boys to fight through the hardships and dangers of deserts, swamps, jungles, ice-fields and sub-infested seas!

Just think! Every extra bond you buy will help provide the weapons to save the lives of many American boys! Isn't that alone worth every effort, every economy you can make? You bet it is!

There are 7 types of U. S. Government securities to meet the needs of every purse. They offer the finest investment in the world—liberal interest, plus security guaranteed by Uncle Sam himself.

A volunteer worker for the 2nd War Loan Drive may visit you soon. Welcome this unselfish patriot—and buy all the bonds you can. But don't wait for that call. Go—today—to your bank, investment dealer, broker, post office or bond booth and invest to your uttermost limit. Even if it hurts, it's nothing compared to the agonizing impact of a bayonet thrust, a flesh-tearing torpedo fragment or a bone-crushing bullet.

So dig deep, brother, and do it NOW!

Major Leagues Swing Into Full Action Today

Cardinal, Red Tilt Standout

160,000 Fans Expected At Eight Games; Yanks Defend American Title

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fans, given a peek at the major league season yesterday as the Philadelphia Athletics tangled with the Washington Senators in the capital, will get a full view of their favorites today when all 16 troupes in the big show swing into action.

The opening day program, which is expected to attract at least 160,000 customers into eight ball parks, will be:

National League
St. Louis at Cincinnati, New York at Brooklyn, Philadelphia at Boston and Pittsburgh at Chicago.

American League
Washington at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, Detroit at Cleveland and Chicago at St. Louis.

The debut of the world champion Cardinals at Cincinnati promises to be the day's outstanding contest with Big Mort Cooper, winner of 22 games last year, on the mound against Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds, the National league's strikeout king for two successive seasons.

With this rivalry as a lure in a city where the first day of the baseball season always is a civic occasion, Crosley field is expected to be packed to its capacity of 30,000.

The getaway of the Brooklyn Dodgers against their cross-town rivals, the New York Giants, is likely to attract a throng of 25,000 to Ebbets field. The Dodgers looked so good in spring training, among other achievements whipping the New York Yankees five times; that their followers feel sure they will retain the pennant they lost to the Cardinals on the final day of last season.

The top game in the American league will be at Yankee stadium, where a crowd of 30,000 is being counted upon to see Joe McCarthy's made-over champions collide with what appears to be a much improved Washington club. Ernie Donham, who won 21 games and was beaten five times in 1942, was named to oppose Early Wynn on the mound.

William Harridge, president of the American league, will officiate at the raising of the Yankees' 1942 championship pennant and Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia will throw out the first ball.

The prospective biggest crowd of the day was 35,000 expected at Cleveland for the Indians' opener with the Detroit Tigers.

Another American league encounter, bringing together the ambitious St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox at St. Louis, was to have Dennis Galehouse on the hill opposite lefty Edgar Smith, last year's hardluck hurler who lost 20 games for the Sox.

Paul Derringer, who has opened many campaigns for Cincinnati, was selected by Manager Jimmy Wilson to lead off for the Chicago Cubs, his new teammates, against Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Hawkeye Highlights

Batting in a "clean-up" position, Capt. Harold Lind, right fielder, has batted in 10 runs in six games . . . second among the Iowans in this department is Don Thompson, shortstop, with five . . . Lind also leads in extra-base hits with two doubles, a triple, and two homers.

Iowa now has won 81 and tied 2 in the last 100 baseball games . . . record includes games from 1939 through the first half of the 1943 season . . . in the last 21 home games, Hawkeyes won 19, lost 1, and tied 1.

Hawkeye pitchers will get a real workout from Friday through Tuesday . . . Roy Stille will pitch the first Wisconsin game here Friday and the opener with Minnesota at Minneapolis Monday . . . Jack (Red) Kenney is set for the Badgers Saturday and the Gophers Tuesday.

Roy Stille, Hawkeye right-hander, has the unusual record of never having been charged with a defeat in intercollegiate pitching . . . he has five victories . . . one in 1941, two in 1942, and wins over Michigan and Northwestern in 1943 to date.

From the engineering college to the plant of the Douglas Aircraft corporation in Santa Monica, Calif., will be the step of Jim Youel, fine Hawkeye punter of last fall . . . Youel graduates Sunday with the degree of bachelor of science in mechanical engineering and will report at Santa Monica May 15.

PATROL OUTFIELD FOR HAWKEYES

PICTURED ABOVE is the first string outfield for Iowa's baseball nine. They are Capt. Harold Lind, right field; Max Landes, left field, and Harry Rinkema, center field. Lind is the longest hitter on the squad, getting two doubles, a triple and two homers already this season. He has driven in 10 runs. Lindy is in the marine reserves and will report for active duty May 6. Landes won a minor league last year but is going great guns in left field this year. He is not a sensational ball player, but a steady one. Rinkema is a junior and is in Y-7. He was one of the team's leading batters at the start of the season but has gone down of late. This trio will be in the outer gardens this weekend against Wisconsin.

Seahawk Batterymen Begin Diamond Drill

Nine pitchers and five catchers answered Lieut. Wes Schulmerich's call yesterday for the opening drill of the Seahawks baseball team. Players other than the batterymen will report for the first time Saturday.

No schedule has been drawn up yet but the Seahawks plan to play neighboring teams around Iowa City.

More than 70 candidates are expected to turn out Saturday, with Cadet Bob Kennedy, former Chicago White Sox third baseman, heading the list. At present only cadets and enlisted men are eligible for the team.

Pitchers reporting were—Thomas Rowland, right hander; J. P. L. Alick, left hander; J. M. Webb, right hander; L. E. Allyn, left hander; E. P. Ruchala, left hander; N. V. Kummert, left hander; C. R. Denney, right hander; H. H. Sherman, right hander; and R. F. Hetzel, right hander.

Bill Welp, former Iowa baseball star, headed the catchers. Others were C. R. Belden, G. W. Hollenbeck, J. E. Ivy and A. S. Romp.

Browns Meet Chisox Today

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Coming to St. Louis to inaugurate the 1943 American league season, the Chicago White Sox will try to hand the Browns their first opening-day defeat in seven years today. An attendance of 5,000 is expected.

Edgar Smith, Chicago's hardluck southpaw, and Lefty Al Hollingsworth, are the likely pitchers. The Browns have not lost a getaway game since Donald Barnes and his associates acquired the club after the 1936 season.

Probable Lineups:
Chicago: Tucker cf, Appling ss, Kubel 1b, Solters if, Kolloway 2b, Moses rf, Grant 3b.
St. Louis: Gutteridge 2b, Clift 3b, Laabs 1b, Charkart rf, Stephens ss, McQuinn lf, Byrnes or Kreech cf, Ferrell c, Hollingsworth p.
Umpires: Pipgras, Rue and Weater.

Cochrane Confident As Bluejackets Await Opening of Season

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Lieut. Gordon S. (Mickey) Cochrane, baseball officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, smilingly awaits the opening of the 1943 season Sunday against the Colonels in Louisville, Ky., confident that another group of Bluejackets can be conveyed safely to the championship of the nation's armed forces.

At 40, Lieutenant Cochrane is enjoying the finest health of his life and his second year in service. Commissioned a lieutenant, senior grade, in March, 1942, Lieutenant Cochrane cruised through his indoctrination course, then spent the summer leading the Bluejackets to 63 victories in 77 games and the championship of America's service teams.

In the fall, Lieutenant Cochrane was appointed as a battalion commander in the recruit training division, but in his spare hours he served as an assistant to Lieut. Paul D. (Tony) Hinkle, coach of the Bluejacket football squad.

During the winter months he reached one of the highlights of his brief military career—promotion from battalion to regimental commander.

Lieutenant Cochrane watched the outstanding stars of the 1942 squad depart for other bases, but his first station wide call for baseball talent more than a month ago brought a large response from former major and minor league players. Pitchers Johnny Schmitz and Vern Olsen of the Chicago Cubs; Tom Ferrick of the Cleveland Indians; Bob Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Frank Biscan of the St. Louis Browns were among those who turned out for Bluejacket drills.

Mountain Creek Lads Show "Will to Win"

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The seventh grade boys of Mountain Creek school lacked experience, uniforms, and court and everything else but a will to win when they decided to play basketball this year.

But they pitched in, played—and won. Principal Jimmy Cade of the elementary school at the foot of nearby Signal mountain took the boys to see a basketball game early this year. It was their first, but they liked the game so much they decided they'd like to try it.

After school hours, they levelled off an outdoor court with picks and shovels and raised their homemade backdrops. Cade bought uniforms and equipment on credit and the boys raised the money to settle the bill by selling candy at school.

After a few practice sessions under Cade's tutelage, they began their season with boys of their own age from nearby schools. They lost the first game—"we were kinda green, then," they explain—but took the next six in a row.

The squad, it might be said, is synonymous with the grade. There are 18 boys in the class; 17 are players and the other is the manager.

★ Branch Rickey Talks ★ Of Dodgers' Chances, ★ Discusses Players

NEW YORK (AP)—Someone at the press conference asked Branch Rickey what he thought of his ball club. Mr. Rickey has been in print frequently since succeeding Larry MacPhail as head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, but it mostly had to do with his player transactions and other operational details.

On the eve of the opener, someone had thought to ask him just how good he thought his team is, and the question took him by surprise. He blinked rapidly, then pondered in silence for a minute. Then, dramatizing his words, he said:

"Gentlemen. At five minutes to eight this morning four men walked through that door. They were Leo Durocher, John Corriden, Clyde Sukeforth and Fred Fitzsimmons.

"We sat here an hour and a half trying to answer that question: What do we think of our ball club?"

"Well, I think we have a great team here. I think it is a better club than it was last fall. I think I have made one mistake from a publicity standpoint. That is, I have been too quick to give credit and praise to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I brought out just one point at the meeting. That is the danger that we might put ourselves to sleep. You know, there is nothing worse than what we call an anesthetic ball player; the one who dulls the team into the sense that there is nothing wrong here, and who has to wait until October to find out when something is wrong.

"I appreciate our shortcomings. There is Johnny Cooney, for example. Johnny steps as fast as he ever did, and he looks like he's going as fast. But I imagine it takes him five or six more steps to get to first base. His stride has shortened. Some players, such as Joe DiMaggio, give the impression of not moving fast when they are, because of their stride.

"The Cardinal ball club has that speed.

"The second point I'd like to call attention to is—the ball. A team that can hit hard has the advantage with a lively ball. A speedy team has the advantage with a slow ball. What is this new ball? The Cardinals would have the advantage if the ball is slow.

"Point three. Cooney, Camilli, Walker, Waner, Durocher, certainly Medwick, Herman and maybe two or three others are not men to be urged to gamble with their speed.

"Yes, I think it is a better club than it was last fall. But I think that trying to predict the outcome this year is a scramble in the field of prophecy. Chicago has power, and an experienced pitching staff. Cincinnati has pitching and defense. The government has had and will have much influence on the race. I think the Giants have been hurt very much.

"If our boys have left the flutter of speed I think they have. I think we have a chance to win the pennant. As the schedule is arranged the team that wins must win early. The first 30 days are the tell-tale days, and every game counts.

"The Phils, they say, are weak. But they have been tough for our team. And no matter how weak it may prove to be, a team starting the season is tough as it hasn't learned how weak it is, and goes out there expecting to win. Later, after it has taken its defeats, it may be defeated before it goes on the field. But at the start it is tough. And the team that beats the weak clubs wins the pennant."

Principal Jimmy Cade of the elementary school at the foot of nearby Signal mountain took the boys to see a basketball game early this year. It was their first, but they liked the game so much they decided they'd like to try it.

After school hours, they levelled off an outdoor court with picks and shovels and raised their homemade backdrops. Cade bought uniforms and equipment on credit and the boys raised the money to settle the bill by selling candy at school.

After a few practice sessions under Cade's tutelage, they began their season with boys of their own age from nearby schools. They lost the first game—"we were kinda green, then," they explain—but took the next six in a row.

The squad, it might be said, is synonymous with the grade. There are 18 boys in the class; 17 are players and the other is the manager.

Otterness Gets Team Ready For Relays

The jinx that follows the coaches of the Navy's Pre-Flight school athletic teams struck hard at Lieut. George Otterness this week as he prepared to send his Seahawk track team to the Drake Relays in Des Moines Friday and Saturday.

Two of the Seahawks' betterment, mainstays in the relay combinations that Lieutenant Otterness hopes will make their best showing at the Drake carnival, moved on this week at the conclusion of their three months of pre-flight training to flight bases.

The two were John Bolter, quarter miler from Portland, Ore., and Kendall McCallum, sprinter from Chicago. Both took three places last week as the Seahawks placed second to Iowa State in a triangular meet at Grinnell college.

They had been tabbed as members of the distance medley, half-mile and mile relays the Seahawks will enter in the Drake meet.

The Seahawk relay entries at Drake this week will be paced by Charlie Beatham, who won three of the Seahawks' six firsts in last week's triangular affair. Cadet standouts on the teams will include Earl Trager of Columbus, Ohio, C. A. De la Chappelle, of Kentwood, Ill., Walter Thompson of Gladstone, Mich., August Hennies of Louisville, Ky., and H. J. Jadrich of Cleveland, Marston (Bud) Flanders, from ship's company, will anchor the 800-yard team and enter the broad jump.

Entries in the "Commando Race," corresponding to the Pre-Flight school's famous obstacle course, probably will include James W. Reichert, of Wyoming, Pa., who recently won the regimental heavyweight wrestling championship, and John Quinn, of Upper Montclair, N. J., the regimental 60-yard hurdles champion.

Arthur Wall of Detroit, who tied for first in the high jump last week, will enter that event at Drake.

John Doolittle Carries Fight to Other Fellow As Famous Dad Did

WEST POINT (AP)—Both the army's Doolittles believe in carrying the fight to the other fellow.

Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle did just that as leader of the American bombing raid on Tokyo, and that's the way son Johnny fights on the U. S. Military academy's boxing team.

"He's a chip off the old block," said Lieut. Comdr. Jack Dempsey, of the coast guard, who, as referee, watched Johnny fight in the recent eastern intercollegiate championships at Syracuse.

"What I liked about him was the way he kept going after his opponents, taking everything they threw at him, but pressing the fight all the time," said the former world's heavyweight champ.

Until the semifinals of the intercollegiate, the rangy 155-pounder, who began his boxing at Culver Military academy, had gone through his first season of college competition without a loss, extending his winning streak to 55 scraps.

Making the Army team as a plebe, he had won four college bouts, two by knockouts, and was upset by Syracuse's Billy Byrne, whom he had defeated earlier in the season in a dual meet. He took the defeat with this comment: "I'm glad Byrne won the title. He gave me the only licking I ever took, but he's O.K. in my book."

Cage Champ Knowles Inducted Into Army

OMAHA (AP)—Don "Pinky" Knowles, Melrose, freshman guard on Eddie Hickey's Creighton university basketball team, has been inducted into the navy.

When Creighton accepted the bid to the Madison Square garden invitational tourney, Knowles wasn't certain until the last minute that he would be able to make the trip. His selective service papers finally were transferred from the Melrose board to Omaha.

Ariel Named Blue Ribbon Winner Twice

By JOHN HURT
GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn.—A keen nose, tireless muscles and strict obedience to commands brought five-year-old Ariel his second blue ribbon in the national field trials—bird dogdom's equivalent to the world series of baseball.

The triumph also establishes owner A. G. C. Sage, New York sportsman, and handler Clyde Morton of Alberta, Ala., as a combination hard to beat for it is their fifth title in twice as many years.

Son of National Champion
Blue blood flows through the veins of the white and liver pointer who first won the classic in 1941. He is a son of national champion Air Pilot's Sam; out of the celebrated bitch Lullabye. He, half-brother, Luminary, who also is out of Lullabye, took top honors last year.

A handler for 23 of his 46 years, Morton has both love and respect for his two-time champion. "He is a strong, hard and fast runner who reaches the limit in the open country," he explained. "He has a keen nose, lots of style on points and is very easy to handle."

Ariel was "weak and sickly in his early years but even with the handicap had the heart of a true champion. Morton said he received the care of a baby, competing only three or four times a year at the nation's major events.

In addition to the 1941 and 1943 nationals, Ariel has emerged triumphant in the open all-age stakes on both quail and prairie chicken, the American field quail futurity and the national futurity.

Has Earned $8,000
The Sage-Morton team, functioning for the last 17 years, has captured about $8,000 from Ariel's performances—the two national wins grossing $3,000. The money is awarded the owner but by custom among sportsmen goes to the handler. The owner, in turn, stands to reap thousands of dollars through breeding fees, but Ariel probably will be limited to the Sage kennels.

May 8 is the year's red letter day at Sage's 9,000-acre shooting preserve near Alberta. It is the birthday for Morton, the birthday for 1941 and 1943 champion Ariel and for 1942 champion Luminary.

Yanks Destroy Heavy Cargo Ship at Wewak

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Wednesday (AP)—A small but heavy hitting force of Flying Fortresses bombed Wewak, New Guinea, yesterday, destroying a 6,000-ton cargo ship and damaging a smaller boat.

Despite this latest in an accumulation of aerial blows dealt Japanese shipping, a spokesman at the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned the enemy has been reinforcing ground and air components rapidly in recent weeks.

(These served to point up other similar warnings sounded by Gen. Sir Thomas A. Blamey, commander in chief of allied ground forces in the southwest Pacific, that 200,000 first line Japanese troops are being moved into position on the approaches to Australia and enemy airfields expanded.)

"The question has been raised as to why, in view of the splendid success our forces have achieved here during the past year the situation is now becoming more menacing on the Australian front," the spokesman said.

"The answer is very simple. The enemy has been bringing forward heavy reinforcements of both ground and air components with great rapidity. It is our hope that our force will grow to match his. Our successes in the past are, unfortunately, not the compelling factor in the coming battle. This campaign, as is always the case in war, will be won in the future, not in the past."

The B-17s roared in at mast height over Wewak before dawn, dropping three 500-pound bombs directly on the 6,000-ton vessel and narrowly missing with six others.

or, in truth, anything else but what it will buy at the grocery store.

All the new deal manipulations in gold did not change the real value of the dollar, but the rising war prices truly devaluated it in the increased prices you pay. In terms of bread, lettuce and meat, your dollar has really gone down.

The rising opposition says the scheme gives away our right to control our own money—and there is no denying this. As in the case of the recent Luce "freedom of the air" exposure, the administration contemplates some surrender of its sovereignty over money to an international board upon which our national representation can be more than 25 percent (though our ante is 40 percent).

The administration feels this is a necessity. The congress is sure to think otherwise because the constitution gives it the power to fix the value of money, and it does not intend to surrender that power. The administration argues that all foreign nations will have to surrender the same power under this plan. No doubt, the British will want to if they can get a more favorable rate of exchange for the pound although Keynes' plan envisages complete British control of the board.

Will Joe Like It? But will Joe Stalin have any of this? Will he give an international board the power over the value of his rubles, the right to channelize his foreign trade, when he has never allowed any alien even to know the simplest facts of his financial situation or his trade position?

Before the war, we had a simple currency stabilization agreement with Britain and France. It worked very well without this sovereignty hocus-pocus. In fact, our treasury made money on it.

Certainly some kind of an agreement like the old one, or otherwise, will be necessary after the war to facilitate foreign trade, because most of the other nations will be bankrupt in both goods and money. They can be expected to buy so much more from us than they sell to us that some facility for short-term credit will have to be offered (this having nothing to do with lend-lease or the debts already owed us).

In the old days, when they owed us balances, they shipped us gold. Under these new schemes, they would go to the international authority and buy international chips, called "unitas" or "banco." Either way, we are likely to wind up with all the unitas or banco in the world, just as we wound up with all the gold.

But in financial truth, the new unitas or banco would merely represent what the gold now represents—an IOU to us.

Our gold is merely a metallic IOU, carried on treasury books at $35 an ounce, but worth very little in a free market, because no nation can buy it from us in goods, but must continue to owe us more and more as long as we sell them more than they can pay for in goods.

It is the first step toward in-

Republicans, Demos Agree on Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans and Democrats, meeting behind closed doors, reached a virtually complete agreement last night on a pay-as-you-go compromise, and indications were that the plan would provide for abatement of approximately 50 percent of one year's income tax obligations.

The near-compromise was understood to embrace a 20 percent withholding levy against the taxable portions of pay envelopes and salary checks effective July 1.

Members of the bi-partisan compromise group delayed announcement of their action until they report formally today to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts and Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts.

ternationalizing the world, and perhaps the most important. No compromise seems possible, at least not on the indispensable point of who controls the money.

It looks, therefore, as if the issue must be fought out to a decision for one side or the other.

INTERPRETING—

The appointment of Lieut. Gen. Kisaburo Ando, retired, as home minister, fits with this explanation. Ando is one of the outstanding Japanese military Fascists; vice-chairman of the imperial rule assistance association, a body through which the army tried to wipe out the last vestiges of democratic processes. The home minister controls the police, with broad powers over the population. Ando will be a willing instrument of the Tojo dictators.

Cow Jumps Over The Moonshine

MARION, N. C. (AP)—Bossy was a contented cow of exemplary bent with not even the slightest urge to jump over the moon.

But she went down a path—with a liquor still at the end of it. Bossy drank so much that she tried to jump over everything in sight and her sight was terrific!

But the moon was too far away. So she just lay down and died with a sheriff as a witness.

plants and sending her people to the United States to help work the farms.

But the Mexican president held out no concrete hope that his relatively small army might be able to take the field on foreign soil.

"Circumstances will determine for each one of us," he said, "the degree of direct participation in active combat. . . . But there is one thing which is in reach of all: the carrying on the fight immediately at home against those evils which offend and concern us in others. A campaign of such universal extension is not won alone in the trenches of the enemy."

The United States and Mexico, he said, are in a position of undeniable possibilities and obligations in contributing to the work of the post-war period.

Natural Bridge "Geography has made of us a natural bridge of conciliation between the Latin and Saxon cultures of the continent," he declared. "If there is any place where the thesis of the good neighborhood may be proved with efficacy, it is right here in the juxtaposition of these lands."

Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to Avila Camacho and to his foreign minister, saying they had appreciated the nature of the current world struggle at a time "when many nations much closer to the focus of infection were blind."

Asserting that he and Avila Camacho had been able to concert measure for common defense, Mr. Roosevelt said that "the harmony and mutual confidence which has prevailed between our armies and navies is beyond praise. Brotherhood in arms has been established."

Recognize Policy He said it was time every citizen in every American republic recognized "the good neighbor-policy means that harm to one republic means harm to every republic."

Both Mr. Roosevelt and the Mexican chief of state expressed a wish that they might meet again in the future.

"I am grateful to you, Mr. President," Mr. Roosevelt said, "and to the Mexican people for this opportunity to meet you on Mexican soil and—to call you friends."

Sweden Asks Explanation

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Unless Germany makes a satisfactory reply to a request for an explanation of the reported attack by a German merchantman on the Swedish submarine Draken, an authoritative source declared last night, the Swedish government may act to halt the use of the nation's territorial waters by Nazi ships.

The solution: proper parental pressure upon school boards! MRS. HOLBROOK CHALLENGES: It is impossible for textbooks to indoctrinate children along Socialistic or any other lines! Children do not read textbooks! One 12-year-old admitted to me, during a radio forum on "Are Textbooks Subversive?"

"I'm no authority. I haven't read a textbook in four years." Like most children, this boy read only enough paragraph headings to pass exams. Textbooks have no connection in children's minds with affairs outside school. Nor can children's prejudices toward competitive enterprise be corrected by parents—most parents think as the kids do! Proof is the new deal third term—a manifestation supported by Fortune polls showing increasing adult approval of government regulation over business.

MR. GUYLAY REPLIES: If Mrs. Holbrook feels that Mr. Roosevelt's third term election was proof the American public is prejudiced against competitive enterprise, she must wonder at the stinging setbacks suffered by the new deal at the last congressional election! By 1944 she should have no further apprehension on this score.

The American adult public never endorsed Communism or Socialism at the polls or anywhere else! The attempts of some teachers to force these philosophies on students is a misuse of their positions of trust and responsibility. Fortunately, this only postpones the inevitable day when the children will, of their own free observation, say, "Thank God I am an American and free to go as far as my efforts and ambitions will take me."

Hospital Night Children See Movie Every Tuesday

For almost four years, Tuesday night for Henry Ruff, D1 of South Amana, has been Children's hospital night.

With equipment and films supplied by the visual education department, Henry and one of his two helpers arrive at the hospital promptly at 6 p. m. and show movies to the children until 8 p. m.

a two-hour space in which they somehow manage to show a half-hour film individually to six wards. Sometimes the wards must be combined to keep the program on schedule.

Until this semester, the movies have been shown each week, but with the recent difficulty of obtaining repairs for the projectors, the films are now shown only on alternate Tuesdays. The program has included both silent and sound movies, in half-tone and technicolor.

The children vary in age from 3 to 15 years and show corresponding differences in taste, but as a group they enjoy sports films the most, Henry believes, followed by wild life, scenery and travel reels. Anything that can soothe or cheer is especially satisfying.

The committee has found that their audience enjoys the organization and setting up of equipment in preparation almost as much as the actual movie, particularly when the operators use different equipment and have difficulty in assembling it.

The project is sponsored by the social service committee of the Y. M. C. A., of which Henry has been chairman for two years.

Members of his committee, who will continue to work with him during the summer, are Sydney Maiden, A2 of Iowa City, and Richard Wooters, A1 of Des Moines.

American Planes Took Off From Aircraft Carrier USS Hornet in '42 Raid on Tokyo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department disclosed last night details of the American bombing raid on Tokyo April 18, 1942, saying that the planes took off from the aircraft carrier USS Hornet.

This carrier, which subsequently was lost in the battle of Santa Cruz on Oct. 26, 1942, carried fliers of the army airforce to within 800 miles of Tokyo, the war department said.

They bombed not only military objectives in Tokyo, but armament plants, dock yards, railroad yards and oil refineries in Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe and Osaka.

To Fly to China
The American planes, the war department disclosed, were under orders to fly to specified landing fields in China. However, they were unable to reach their assigned fields. One landed in Russian territory, the others made forced or crash landings in China or in water off the Chinese coast. All of the planes making the forced landings were wrecked.

The war department's disclosure of the raid details included information that of the 80 men on the carrier, five are interned in Russia, eight are prisoners or are presumed to be prisoners of Japan, two are missing, and one was killed. The other 64, many after long delays, made their way to camps of the Chinese army and then back to American territory. Seven who escaped were injured.

Prepare in January
Preparations for the raid, the department disclosed, first were started in January, 1942, four months before bombs fell on Japan. Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, now commander of the strategic air force, Mediterranean air command, in north Africa, personally selected the men to accompany him on the venture.

"All were volunteers who at first knew only that they were going on a mission whose importance was equalled only by the hazards involved," the department said.

White lines were drawn on the training field to permit experience in taking off in the shortest possible distance.

Each plane was given a definite factory, shipyard, arsenal or oil works to destroy.

At the beginning of the training period it was planned that the planes should fly low over Japan to escape observation and anti aircraft fire and assure greater accuracy in bombing.

In practice they swept in over American coastal cities in the same manner in which they intended to strike Japan. Exactly similar geographical distances were arranged to insure accuracy in reaching objectives in Japan.

loaded on the aircraft carrier Hornet at an undisclosed rendezvous port, and the carrier joined a task force commanded by Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., now commander of all American naval and army forces in the south Pacific area.

"There the planes were to be launched and their fate left to the hands of their crews and to Providence while the naval task force made its own precarious escape," the department disclosed.

Met Enemy
However, when the aircraft carrier was still some 800 miles from Tokyo, it ran into enemy forces. Having avoided one enemy patrol vessel and while attempting to avoid another, it met a third Japanese ship.

The ship was sent to the bottom but it was feared at the time that the enemy might have been able to send a hasty radio warning to Tokyo.

It was learned later that no warning was sent.

Took Off in Morning
The planes took off from the carrier on the morning of April 18, 10 hours ahead of schedule and 400 miles farther from their objectives than had been planned.

"The added distance to be flown naturally added greatly to the hazards of the mission," the department reported. "But there was not the slightest hesitation. General Doolittle and his men were eager to take off."

"Whatever the chance of arriving at the airfields in China, they had at least reached a point where Tokyo and other Japanese cities were within bombing distance."

Rough Weather
The weather was rough as they took off and they were forced to go into the air from a bobbing and slanting deck, approximately one-third the length of the runway such bombers customarily use.

Deny Attack On Petaín, Laval

One plane piloted by Lieut. Travis Hoover was thrown in such a way that it nearly fell off on a wing but Hoover's skillful piloting saved it.

Twelve hours later, at 9:20 p. m., the general bailed out over China, the last of the fliers to leave his plane.

"Much happened in the interval," the war department said.

Flying weather was good and the sun was bright as the fliers came in to the coast line only 15 or 20 feet above sea level and roared over Japan until they had almost reached their targets before being sighted.

3 Flights
Lieutenant Hoover took one flight of planes over the northern part of Tokyo, while Capt. David M. Jones led another group over the central part of the Japanese capital and Capt. Edward J. York and his fliers headed for the southern part of the city and Tokyo bay.

A fourth flight led by Maj. Charles R. Greening headed for Chesapeake, Yokohama City and the Yokosuka navy yard. Another flight went southward to bomb military installations at Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe.

Some attempt was made by Japanese fighter planes to interfere with the bombings and Major Greening had told of new type Japanese fighters which sought to attack him. He hugged the ground even flying under power lines in the hope that the enemy ships would crash into them. They did not but two were shot down by Major Greening's gunners.

Successful Hits
His plane reached its objective—a gasoline refinery and storage works—and made successful hits. Nearly 50 miles away they still could see flames and smoke from the refinery.

Inaccurate anti-aircraft fire was encountered by Lieut. Col. John A. Hilger, and other fliers raiding Nagoya but they flew through the ack-ack bombing and hit their objectives, an aircraft works, oil storage warehouse, arsenal and barracks.

"One by one, each objective of each plane was checked off," the department reported. "Now it was a tank factory, now a shipyard with a cruiser in it, now an airplane plant."

That Extra Something!
... You can spot it every time

THE lovely entertainer goes to Panama to cheer our troops. Soldiers want to enjoy a Coca-Cola with her and talk. A pretty girl and a Coke... just like home.

In Iceland, the news told how troops had a good-natured fight to get the first Cokes available. Such are the stories from our fighting men everywhere.

To mean so much, a drink must have something—in taste, in goodness and in true refreshing qualities. Just to sip ice-cold Coca-Cola is to find all those things. Yes, all the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink.

Maybe it's a make-shift dressing room, but Uncle Sam's soldiers have given it a homelike touch... fresh flowers and a frosty bottle of Coke. Who could ask for more?
