Axis Armed Resistance Ceases in North Africa

Plan New Allied Strategy

Roosevelt, Churchill, Military Officials Map New Offensives

Presence of Heads of British Indian Land, Sea, Air Forces Indicates Blows at Japan As Well as European Axis

WASHINGTON (AP)—New blows against Japan, as well as the European axis partners, it was made clear yesterday, are being mapped by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in their momentous war talks.

Any question as to this was removed by disclosure that the military men here for the talks include the commanders of British land, sea and air forces in the India theater of operations. They are Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief in India; Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the eastern fleet based at Ceylon, and Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, air officer commanding in India.

Also in Washington are Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commanding American forces in China, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, commanding American air forces in China.

Although purely in the realm of speculation, there was a disposition among some military men to regard the conferences as having two principal purposes:

1. To make plans for decisive campaigns against Japan, and
2. To make a last-minute check up on plans already made for invasion of Hitler's European fortresses.

It was suggested in these quarters that the conferences of the president and prime minister are concerned usually with matters to

House Rejects Bill Allowing Congress Veto of Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house yesterday battered down, 163 to 110, a Republican effort to subject President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade pacts to congressional veto powers, which Democrats contended would have been a "kiss of death" on the whole reciprocity program.

The action came during consideration of a measure extending the trade act, but only after the Republicans tentatively had succeeded, 196 to 153, in limiting the extension to two years instead of three.

Final house action on the measure was delayed until tomorrow.

In a dramatic moment before voting began, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) entered the house well and admonished that failure of America to collaborate with other nations would lead to a third world war.

If the house approved "crippling" amendments to the trade act, Rayburn said, "our allies and our enemies are going to think that America is ready to withdraw from the councils of the world." He added that if such a policy continued in a quarter of a century "the prejudices and hates would send our young men back to another war."

Republicans contended that, which has been in force since 1934 and expires June 12, was unconstitutional because it delegated to the president the treaty and tariff powers of congress. Reciprocal trade pacts have been negotiated with 27 nations in the last nine years.

Senate Opponents Attack 'Skip-Year' Tax Plan as Inflationary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate heard the "skip a year" plan for current collection of revenues attacked yesterday as a possible move to "hop-skip-and-jump" into the depths of inflation and defended as a non-partisan effort to give equal tax abatement to all.

In the first of what administration leaders hoped would be only two days of debate, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) denounced a modified Ruml plan approved by the senate finance committee. This would abate 1942 or 1943 taxes, whichever is the lesser.

"Skipping a year's taxes may prove to be the crucial move of a hop-skip-and-jump into inflation," Connally shouted. "Santa Claus is here! He is supposed to arrive on Dec. 25 but under this committee bill he would come every day of 1942."

Defending the measure against what he called "external criticism" Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) one of the coalition majority which reported it out of the finance committee, asserted it was untrue that the proposed cancellation of a full year's tax to get on a current basis would prove a boon to the rich.

"These external critics of the bill are not to be blamed, because of the treasury's prejudicial, class-baiting arithmetic on this subject," the Michigan senator declared.

British Capture Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim, 11 Other Generals, 150,000 Enemy Troops In Speedy Clean Up of Cap Bon Peninsula

By EDWARD KENNEDY
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 12 (AP)—All organized axis resistance in Tunisia ceased at 8:15 p. m. last night after the capture of the German commander in chief, Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim, 11 other generals, and 150,000 enemy troops.

A special communique declared that isolated pockets of resistance still were active, but the battle officially was considered ended.

Captured today with von Arnim, 54-year-old tank expert who succeeded Marshal Erwin Rommel, were Maj. Gen. Graf von Sponeck, commander of the 19th light division, and Maj. Gen. P. Roich, commander of the 10th panzer division.

Von Arnim and most of his staff were taken by British armored units in a quick clean up of the Cap Bon peninsula.

"It is estimated that the total of prisoners captured since May 5 is about 150,000," said the special bulletin announcing von Arnim's seizure.

"Vast quantities of guns and war material of all kinds have been captured including guns and aircraft in a serviceable condition."

Thus six months and four days after the allied landing in north Africa, the battle of Tunisia has ended in a complete triumph—clearing the way for an allied invasion of Europe.

A nine-mile-wide circle of axis resistance was reported holding out in the Zaghouan mountains southwest of Cap Bon peninsula, but the enemy was in a hopeless spot there and was expected to surrender or be wiped out quickly.

Arnim and most of his staff were taken by British armored columns sweeping through Cap Bon peninsula.

The capture of 150,000 prisoners in the final eight days of the campaign brought to 400,000 the number of axis soldiers taken since the fighting began in Africa nearly three years ago.

This represents 11 German and 26 Italian divisions, and does not include dead and wounded.

In addition to von Arnim, von Sponeck and Roich, the French reported the capture today of two other German generals, one named Yelich, who had taken over command of the Italian Superba division and other Italian remnants, and the other named Pfeiffer, commanding a group bearing his own name.

The French captured 25,000 men in exacting an unconditional surrender of all German and Italian forces fighting between Zaghouan and Scaoua.

This was particularly sweet revenge to the French who remembered Hitler's little dance of joy in the Compeigne forest nearly three years ago when Marshal Petain's regime signed an armistice.

Major-General von Sponeck, the commander of the 90th light division, surrendered to Lieut.-Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, New Zealand commander, on the British Eighth army front north of Enfidaville today.

General Freyberg during the morning demanded the surrender of the 90th division, but von Sponeck refused and said his troops would follow his orders to fight until the last cartridge.

Later in the day, however, he proffered his unconditional surrender and his former Elite troops were put behind barbed wire cages, where thousands of their comrades had preceded them.

(The Italian First army leader, Gen. Giovanni Messe, apparently also is due for capture on this front. A Rome communique said earlier today that he had refused Freyberg's surrender demand, and chose to fight on.)

United States troops already had captured 37,998 prisoners, mostly Germans, in the Bizerte area which they and their supporting French elements conquered last week.

The British First army took 25,000 or more in the breakthrough to Tunis and rounded up tens of thousands in the swift clean-up of Cap Bon peninsula where they encountered von Arnim and his staff members at an inland camp.

Von Arnim and thousands of his men had fled to Cape Bon apparently in the hope of escaping to Sicily, but a deadly allied air-

British Release Totals On African Campaign

LONDON (AP)—The whole north African campaign was estimated here last night to have cost the Germans and Italians more than 600,000 men in killed, wounded or captured since the first axis thrust toward the Nile to the final debacle on Cap Bon.

The losses in the last stages probably will total more than 200,000—150,000 captured and at least 50,000 killed and wounded.

Previously enemy losses were reported at 426,000 in killed, wounded and captured. Of these, 284,000 were Italians, including some native troops; 106,000 Germans, and 36,000 unspecified.

CITIZENS' DEFENSE CORPS

In anticipation of a surprise blackout, it is important that everyone must be familiar with blackout signals. The first series of short blasts indicates partial blackout; following this, a longer, uninterrupted blast means total blackout. Return to partial blackout is indicated again by a series of short blasts. All clear is indicated only by the street lights going on.

Because numerous telephone calls must be made by the personnel of the defense corps during a blackout, it is urged that no non-essential phone calls be made at such a time, in order not to overload telephone facilities.

Smokers are warned not to smoke on the street during a blackout.

OUSTED FROM AFRICA, ANXIOUS AXIS AWAIT INVASION

THEIR SURRENDER IN AFRICA complete, axis leaders now are excitedly and blindly rushing work on fortifications at every spot along Europe's vast coastlines where there is even a remote chance that the allies might attempt an invasion. On the Mediterranean islands of Crete and Sicily, in Greece and the Balkans, along the Italian and French coasts and in the Low Countries and Scandinavia, the Germans, Italians and their satellites are hurrying the construction of pillboxes, forts and gun emplacements. Meanwhile, allied air forces are pounding constantly at these possible invasion points as indicated on this comprehensive map.

WLB Regains Partial Wage Fixing Right

Stabilization Director Restores Authority Limited by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes yesterday restored some of the war labor board's discretionary authority to make wage adjustments in addition to those permitted under the 15 percent little steel formula and the correction of "sub-standards."

The president's hold-the-line order of April 8 had limited the board's authority to these two categories and the board had complained that the order was "unworkable" unless clarified.

The board now may raise wages "to aid in the prosecution of the war or correct gross inequities," with the limitation that such adjustments must not cause price rises or stand in the way of price reductions.

Byrnes' policy directive permits the board to determine in each labor market or area what is the representative, tested range of rates for each occupation, or class of work. It may find in Detroit, for instance, that the tested range of rates for machinists is 90 cents to $1.10 an hour. These are not necessarily the extremes of the rates that are paid. There may be both higher and lower rates paid, but only those below 90 cents could be adjusted upward. They would be raised only to the 90-cent figure.

While restoring authority to eliminate "gross inequities" the Byrnes directive did not restore to the board the power to correct "inequities" which it had prior to April 8. Under the original executive order on wage stabilization issued last Oct. 3 these two categories were thrown together and no clear distinction between them ever was made.

Russian Thrust Repels Nazis

Soviet Radio Reveals Progress on Front Along Donets River

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—A new Red army thrust rolled back German armor Wednesday on the lower Donets front midway between Kharkov and Rostov, Moscow announced early today.

Heavy Russian guns thundered in the Caucasus meanwhile to wreck some of the last German defense lines northeast of Novorossik, said the midnight communique as recorded by the Soviet monitor. The big barrage was perhaps intended to pave the way for a Soviet drive to clean up the Kuban delta.

A special broadcast also told of continued Russian aerial blows heavily damaging 12 more communications centers behind the German lines, bringing total rail junction attacks to more than 50 in four consecutive days.

The Russians identified the sector of their new lower Donets front advance as near Lisichansk. This is the same sector as Slaviansk, where the German radio admitted that a concentrated Russian drive Wednesday had scored some initial gains.

There was no immediate indication whether this was the full-scale drive for which the Germans have said the Russians have been massing strong reserves.

More than 600 Germans were killed in the Lisichansk area fighting, said the Russian communique, as the Red army drove against Nazi tanks and motorized enemy and advanced to occupy "advantageous positions." Prisoners were taken in the thrust.

Another 400 or more Germans died in the Kuban fighting, the Soviets reported, with one company of the enemy wiped out by a Soviet tank crew northeast of Novorossik, and 200 more killed in fighting to the northwest of the city, the last big stronghold of the Nazis in the Caucasus.

Jury Convicts Donay On Treason Charge

DETROIT (AP)—Theodore Donay, 43-year-old German-born importer accused of failing his responsibilities as an American citizen by concealing an act harmful to his adopted country, heard a jury convict him of misprision of treason yesterday.

The verdict, confronting Donay with a possible maximum penalty of seven years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine, was returned by a federal court jury of nine women and three men after 54 minutes of deliberation.

Judge Frank A. Picard, who told the jury that its verdict was "the only conclusion you could have arrived at," fixed May 24 as the date for sentencing and remanded Donay to the county jail.

First Baseman Kuhel Drives in Both Runs For Chicago's Win

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees, after romping over most of their eastern foes in the American league, were ambushed yesterday in their first fracas in the west and beaten 2 to 1 in ten innings by the Chicago White Sox.

The mainsprings in Chicago's victory were Pitcher Johnny Humphries, who hurled six-hit ball, and First Baseman Joe Kuhel, who drove home both White Sox runs.

Ernie Bonham, winner of three games without a setback previously, did the twirling for the Yankees and his teammates gave him a 1 to 0 lead in the second inning when Nick Etten opened with a single, moved to second on a bunt by Bill Johnson and came in on a single by Johnny Lindell.

Wilson Says Cubs Held Back by Illness In Season's Start

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't start kicking them Cubs yet, pardner, they might get up and make you sorry.

Yes sir, the Chicago club currently is in seventh place in the National league, but Manager Jimmy Wilson is quite unperturbed.

"Bill Lee, Paul Derringer, Claude Passeau, Kewpie Barrett—all have been down at one time or another. And Clyde McCullough breaking his leg opening day didn't help us any, either.

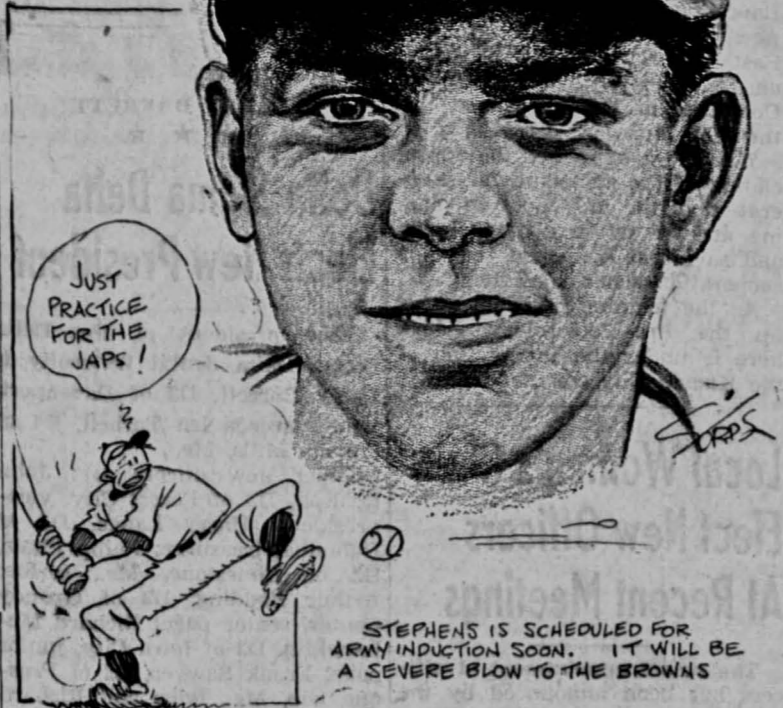

"Then, too, the club hasn't been hitting. We lost four of our first 10 games by shutouts. Barrett pitched a one-hitter against Pittsburgh and we lost, a guy got a walk, and Vince DiMaggio half-hit the ball and it went for a fluke double to score the runner."

Wilson dates the Cubs' troubles to the day, shortly before the season opened, when they played

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York State Racing commission, last night predicted the appointment of a national sports coordinator who would decide how sports can be handled without affecting the war effort.

Speaking at a dinner of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, Swope, who also is a consultant of the war department, said he would not be surprised if the appointment of such a co-ordinator is announced in Washington within a short time.

"I do not know who is going to get the job, but several men are being discussed," Swope said.

"Such a man in Washington would do sports a lot of good, if in no other way than that he would prevent mistakes being made."

White Sox Southpaw Finds Bone Trouble

CHICAGO (AP)—Thornton Lee, big White Sox southpaw whose sore arm last year cut his victory production from 22 in 1941 to two in 1942, discovered yesterday he not only had a bone chip in his two-year lame pitching arm but shoulder adhesions as well.

X-rays have revealed three chips of bone and a growth in the elbow. A physician, however, advised the hurler that by stretching the shoulder muscles, and breaking the adhesions he thought Lee might be able to pitch this season.

City Softball To Begin Soon

First Tilt May 24; This Year's Games To Be Held at Night

Iowa City softball fans will watch this year's City Softball league's games under the lights, according to an announcement by J. Edgar Frame, director of the recreation center.

Several new teams have indicated they will take part in the league's activities this year. In addition to last year's teams of Complete Auto, Bremers, George's Buffet and the Powerboys, three new teams have been added to the league roster.

Aside from the advantage the players will receive physically, the recreational director said the softball league hopes to provide entertainment for the community.

Browns Beat Boston In Series' Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Unable to match the Browns' hitting power, the Boston Red Sox were defeated yesterday, 6 to 4, to open their first western invasion of the season.

The Sox got only six hits and failed to take full advantage of eight walks doled out by a quartet of Browns' pitchers. They scored three runs in the first inning on two passes, two errors and a lone single by Bobby Doerr.

Chet Laabs put the Browns in front in the fifth inning by hitting a homer with two men on base to cap a 4-run rally. Vernon Stephens, the league's leading hitter, added to his margin by belting two doubles.

Mel Harder's Injury May Prove Handicap To Tribe Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—We picked the Cleveland Indians to win the American league pennant this year, and the least we expected was a little co-operation on the part of the Tribe.

Instead, what happens? Mel Harder, a sturdy member of the pitching staff, goes out and gets himself a cracked ankle and will be indisposed as far as chucking is concerned for a couple of months.

Not that Cleveland is the only club beset by misfortune. Thornton Lee, the White Sox dollar a year man, is nursing a chipped elbow, and other clubs have come up with cripples of varying degrees.

But with Cleveland it is different. The mathematical margin by which we figured they would win was so infinitesimal that an injury such as Harder's is liable to erase that margin.

We like to call our system of picking winners a mathematical system, as that sounds like the decision was reached scientifically, although we must admit there isn't much science to a pure guess or the flipping of a coin.

In the cases of the misfortunes befalling the other clubs we aren't so interested. The White Sox, for instance, we hadn't figured to go in the right direction anyway, and Lee wasn't figured in at all as he was of such little value last year that he was signed to the buck per annum contract until he could prove himself worth more.

Not that we have given up on the Tribe at this early date. The road is just a little rougher for them now, that's all. Harder is crowding 34 and is starting his 17th year of pro ball. His record last year was 13 wins against 14 losses, which isn't so hot. But he still has one of the best curve balls in the business, and had started out as if he might have had a pretty fair season.

The New York Yankees, the perennial people's choice, are in front as usual, but that doesn't mean anything unless it is the last day of the season. They were only two games ahead of Cleveland as this was written, and it is recalled that in another war year—1918—the New York Giants ended their first home stand with a record of 18 victories in 19 starts and a four and a half game lead on the field. They were in second place when the bobbed season ended.

This may sound like whistling in a haunted house, but that isn't it at all. We're merely getting our alibies lined up early just in case, although we still think that with any breaks, not including Harder's variety, the Indians can do it. Why do pitchers have to slide into bases, anyway?

The National league race shapes up as more of a scramble every day, with our Cincinnati Reds, a habit choice to win, right in there pitching. Or rather, with pitching, as with anything like ordinary pitching the Reds would be anything but a good baseball team.

The sudden unveiling of Lonnie Frey as a stout, consistent hitter enhances the Reds' chances. In picking them we figured they'd win their games on a walk, a sacrifice, an error and a fielder's choice, with the Red pitchers holding the opposition runless. Eddie Miller and

Seahawks Play Second Game

The Seahawks play their second game of the season Sunday when they meet the Muscatine Indians at Muscatine. Joseph Alix, left-hander from Lockport, N. As before, Bill Welp, former Hawkeye from Bancroft, will catch.

The Seahawks defeated the strong semi-pro Muscatine club twice last year and will attempt to continue the record Sunday.

The game is called for 2:30 p. m.

Baseball Given Plug By Paul V. McNutt

Manpower Boss Says Off-Hour Contests Especially Good Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Baseball in general, and off-hour contests in particular, received a strong plug yesterday from Paul V. McNutt, the nation's manpower boss.

Approving efforts to accommodate the swing-shift of America's "industrial army," McNutt said he had read of the recent National league morning game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

"I hope that these games at odd hours work out and draw the crowd that baseball deserves," he added, saying that such a program was in line with a policy which the war manpower commission has long stressed.

"It is important that community services, both public and private, reconsider their ordinary peacetime arrangements," McNutt said in a statement to The Associated Press. "They may find that they can make a large contribution to war adding to the efficiency and morale of America's industrial army."

McNutt, an ardent sports fan who once pitched for Indiana university, did not mention what he thought of the inroads on baseball due to players leaving to go into the armed forces and war industries.

The idea of morning games was something too strange for the major-league owners to digest in a hurry. But don't be too surprised, now it has McNutt's endorsement, if other teams tee off at each other while the dew still is on the infield.

Track Team To Go to Meel

Four Entries Certain; To Compete in High, Low Hurdles, Sprints

Iowa will be represented by three sophomores and one freshman in the Big Ten championship track and field meet to be held tomorrow and Saturday at Northwestern. The entries will be Harold Fiala who will enter the high jump, high hurdles and low hurdles; Hubert Cline, in the sprints events; Eugene Freels, who will enter the high jumps and low hurdles, and Tom Thorson, in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

It was learned definitely yesterday that Tom Thorson, sophomore sprinter from Newton, will be on the team. Bresnahan announced this yesterday after a telephone communication with Ray Gaylor, Newton high school coach and former Iowa track man, who has been supervising Thorson's workouts and who stated that the latter is in satisfactory physical condition for the competition.

Fiala is in Des Moines today taking the physical examinations necessary for enlistment in the navy V-12 program and it is hoped that he will finish them in time to compete in the preliminary events of the meet.

Freels suffered a bruised knee during Tuesday's workout and yesterday's and today's practices will determine how the knee has responded to treatment by Trainer Doyle Allsup, Bresnahan said. It now appears possible that the Iowa team may enter and compete in the one-mile relay.

Washington Officials Consider Using War Prisoners on Farms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans to use war prisoners for work on farms and possibly on road construction jobs are still under consideration, officials said yesterday, although many problems involved have not been solved.

These officials, who could not be named, estimated there are about 20,000 prisoners in this country now, but said that number probably will be swelled considerably by Italian and German soldiers captured in Tunisia.

Any use of enemy soldiers, they said, must conform to the terms of the Geneva convention, which permits such things as farm work but forbids use of prisoners in work aiding the war effort against their countries.

Under present plans, prisoners would be paid 80 cents a day for their work in addition to the 10 cents daily given them at prison camps for a purchase of small luxuries. Only prisoners of enlisted grades would be utilized. Officers, who may not be required to work outside the prison camps, are paid $20, $30 or $40 a month, depending on their rank, in addition to their keep.

LeRoy Madden Case Dismissed as Principal Enters Army Service

LeRoy Madden, who was recently arrested on charges of stealing from a gasoline transport truck and subsequently released on $500 bond, was inducted into the army yesterday morning. The case was dismissed.

Madden was picked up again Tuesday night and jailed for intoxication. When he attempted to hang himself with his necktie, his clothes were taken away from him.

Police officials said that Madden had made another attempt to kill himself several years ago by taking poison.

sea blockade prevented that attempt.

These once proud forces of von Arnim's melted rapidly before the surging British First army columns that swept up both sides of the peninsula. They gave up with hardly a struggle, leaving von Arnim an inevitable prey for the British.

Von Arnim succeeded Rommel as head of the Africa Corps in mid-March when it retreated into Tunisia from Libya, and when Rommel returned to Europe, Berlin had announced that Rommel had been relieved because of illness.

Von Arnim and the others were seized after the Americans already had grabbed a glittering collection of German generals on the Bizerte front. These included a ranking General Buelovius, Maj. Gen. Fritz Krause, Maj. Gen. Willibald Borowitz, and General von Vaerst.

The surrender of all these men and their various groups was made contingent on an immediate stoppage of destruction of axis equipment. In many cases front reports said this was not necessary since great quantities of intact armament and supplies were found.

been withheld heretofore for lack of shipping to supply them.

One such campaign might be the reopening of the Burma road which until closed by the Japanese was a supply life-line for the Chinese. If this were intended, major operations might be delayed until late summer or fall and the end of the period of monsoons, or heavy rains, in Burma.

Meantime, there might be stepped up air operations throughout the whole Pacific theater. Suggesting that this already is being done are recent dispatches from China disclosing addition of heavy bombers to Chennault's command.

In addition to the British military leaders in India, those accompanying Mr. Churchill here included Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the imperial general staff; Admiral of the Fleet Sir Dudley Pound, the first sea lord; Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, chief of the air staff; Lord Leathers, minister of war transport; Lord Cherwell, the prime minister's statistical officer; Lieut. Gen. Sir Hastings L. Ismay, chief staff officer to Mr. Churchill, and Brigadier E. I. C. Jacob, of the war cabinet.

Also here, although not as a member of the official party, is Lord Beaverbrook, London publisher, former minister of supply, and an adviser to the prime minister on production matters.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said the talks between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill and between the British military men and their American counterparts would be almost constant.

LIFE ON FARM HAS ITS ATTRACTIONS—TWO OF 'EM

OFFER OF THE Santa Fe railroad to permit folks to plant Victory gardens along its right-of-way finds Margaret Gramley and Patricia Twombly of Pueblo, Colo., out bright and early, tilling the soil. Admitting the girls add much to the scenic beauty as viewed from the windows of the streamliner thundering in the background, someone should advise gardeners Gramley and Twombly that high-heeled shoes are hardly appropriate footwear for the task of tending a Victory garden.

Gives Up Furlough To Buy War Bond

NORTH CAMP POLK, La. (AP)—First Sergeant Alfred V. Barsetti was getting ready for a furlough that was "going to be a humdinger," he says, but he got to thinking of some buddies in north Africa, gave up the furlough, bought a $1,000 war bond and started a $100 a month bond-buying program.

"I keep pretty busy and don't have time to spend money on anything but furloughs," he says. "Now I don't want a furlough until we get this job done."

His mother, Mrs. Lidonia Barsetti of Washington, D. C., is holding the bonds for him.

Soldiers Put On Gum Ration

NORTH CAMP POLK, La. (AP)—Rationing recently struck the army here, but it wasn't exactly a stinging blow. An order to the post exchange limited soldiers to two packages of chewing gum at a time; two bars of candy at a time; two candy rolls at a time; and six cigars at a time.

Nothing was said about how many times a day a soldier could visit the exchange. But the order admitted the rationed articles were great morale boosters and that the idea was to "help all soldiers obtain equal shares."

Negro Receives 30-Day Term for Intoxication

James O'Neil, 510 1/2 S. Linn street, was sentenced to serve 30 days in county jail yesterday by Police Judge Jack White.

O'Neil was arrested about 3 o'clock yesterday morning on charges of intoxication and disturbing the peace. White said that O'Neil, a Negro, was from Cedar Rapids originally and had been in jail repeatedly.

Admit Will to Probate

The will of Samuel R. Linniger was admitted to probate yesterday. His wife, Frankie, was appointed executrix without bond. Mr. Linniger died April 16.

INTERPRETING—

abandoned the beat-Hitler-first strategy. The Washington council doubtless will deal with the coming assaults on the European continent and the battle of the Atlantic. But perhaps it does mean that new factors make possible and wise the allotment of additional forces now, ahead of the original schedule, to deal with the enemy in southeast Asia.

These factors would seem to include the gravity of the Japanese threat to China, the advantages gained by opening the Mediterranean route to India, the completion of new military resources which may not be needed for the starting of Europe, chiefly naval.

Hitherto it has been widely assumed by this writer, among others—that there was little the allies, with most of their forces committed to the fight against Hitler, could do to aid China for months, perhaps for years. The Washington council is heartening evidence that the high commands believe otherwise.

It still does not seem likely that large-scale land operations can be begun against the Japanese in Burma before the monsoon ends next October, although new plans may call for bucking even the monsoon. But the growing naval power of the United States and Britain may make possible an early beginning of the naval phase. Both the American and British navies are coming into possession of a considerable number of capital ships and aircraft carriers probably not essential for the European war. Hence a campaign to sweep the Japanese from the Bay of Bengal and permit a landing in the Rangoon region is a possibility of the near future.

Here is one region where the Japanese would have to fight without the great advantage of distance which has been with them hitherto. Trincomalee, the British base on Ceylon, and Singapore, now a Japanese base, are almost equidistant from Rangoon. And Burma lies at the end of Japan's longest military supply line, 5,000 miles from her home islands.

The concentration of a formidable British-American naval force in the Bay of Bengal would challenge Japan to send some of her best units there. It might establish the western jaw of a gigantic pincers, with Admiral Nimitz' Pacific fleet forming the other, which would compel Japan to make a disastrous diversion of her sea forces. Or it might force her ultimately to withdraw her first line fighting ships either from the Indian ocean or the south Pacific. In either case a great strategic success would be won and the allies would be well on the way to China's rescue.

Fred Jones Named to Succeed W. E. Beck, City High Principal

Master Councilor

Fred L. Jones, head of the social science department and boys' adviser at City high school, was named to succeed W. E. Beck as principal of the high school at a meeting of the board of education last night in the junior high school building.

Beck, principal since 1918, will be 65 years old July 15, and according to the board's rules, is forced to retire. He will teach mathematics this summer to the pre-meteorology cadets.

The newly appointed principal has been associated with the high school for 12 years. A graduate of Kirksville State Teachers' college in Missouri, Jones received his M. A. degree from the University of Iowa. Before accepting a position with the local high school, he taught for eight years in a junior high school in Wallua, Hawaii, and for 20 months of that time, was principal.

Resignations were tendered by Mrs. Juanita M. Hess, primary instructor at Roosevelt school; Ruth Roberts, English and debate teacher in the senior high school; Mildred White, special room teacher at Horace Mann; Mrs. Cholene Vesley, third grade instructor at Longfellow school, and Wiletta German, mathematics teacher in the senior high school.

Five applicants for teaching positions were accepted by the board. Elizabeth Ann Niles of Anamosa has been approved to fill the kindergarten vacancy. She received her B. E. degree from the National College of Education in Evanston, Ill., and attended the University of Iowa. She is now teaching kindergarten in Normandy, Mo.

The new special room teacher at Horace Mann will be Esther Garwick of Des Moines who is attending Drake university. She has received a standard education certificate and has taught rural schools in Dallas county.

Nancy Pray of Ft. Dodge, who was graduated with a B. A. degree from the university here, will become the new high school mathematics instructor. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Miss Pray attended Ft. Dodge junior college before entering the university.

Adeline Miller, who has taught in Manson for the last two years, was appointed third grade instructor at Longfellow school. Miss Miller attended Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls.

To replace Jones as history instructor, Raymond J. Schlicher of Ft. Madison has been appointed. He is now teaching government and history in Ft. Madison. A graduate of Iowa Wesleyan college in Mt. Pleasant, Schlicher received an M. A. degree from the university with a major in history and minors in English and economics.

The appointment of Walter Schwank as football and track coach and assistant coach of basketball was officially approved by the board.

IT'S A CINCH THEY DON'T FEEL VERY CHEERFUL NOW

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, who now has abandoned the remnants of his Afrika Korps in Tunisia, is pictured, left above, with his fuhrer, Adolf Hitler, during one of their meetings in Berlin. But this apparently was before the axis forces in north Africa were smashed. They are not so cheerful now and are not likely to be so again. Photo was copied from a German magazine.

University Geography Instructor Reviews Importance of Tunisian Victory to Lions

Kurt Schaefer, instructor of political and economic geography in the college of commerce here, told members of the Lions club at their noon meeting yesterday that the greatest importance of the victory in Tunisia is the freeing of the Mediterranean for allied shipping and the opening of a direct approach to Europe for the coming invasion.

There are three possibilities which might be successful for gaining the mainland from the sea, he said. If we attempt to take over Italy, which the Germans are now fortifying, we would be at a serious disadvantage because of the topography of the land. The coast here is flat for the first 10 or 15 miles until it rises abruptly into dissected mountains which average 7,000 feet in elevation. Some of the peaks measure 10,000 feet. A comparatively small number of men could defend these coasts, since there would be little opportunity for mechanized warfare.

Rural School Group Journeys 70 Miles To See Iowa Campus

Forty students from the Buck Creek rural consolidated school at Hopkinton, a town nearly 70 miles from Iowa City, inspected the University of Iowa's campus yesterday.

Members of the junior and senior classes make an annual tour instead of holding a prom or similar social function, Harry H. Gault, superintendent of the school, said yesterday.

The students, who made the trip in six cars, visited Union Union, the art building, libraries, museums and other points of interest on the campus. The entire group had lunch at the cafeteria in Currier hall.

'Aid' Italians

"ASSISTANCE" for Italy, threatened with imminent allied invasion, is reported being given by Germany with the dispatch of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, top, and Heinrich Himmler, bottom, Nazi Gestapo chief, to Rome. Goering is to take charge of military defenses while Himmler is to try to "stabilize" the Italians' internal front.

Red and White Carnival to Begin Tomorrow On Grounds of City Junior High School

Girl Scout Troop 6 Plans Overnight Hike To Coralville Camp

Among the activities of the Girl Scouts this weekend will be an overnight hike by Girl Scout Troop No. 6 of St. Patrick's high school. Under the leadership of Mrs. John Mattes and Dorothy Hutchens, the scouts will start at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon for the Boy Scout camp west of Coralville. They will return late Saturday afternoon.

Plans for the hike include an evening camp fire, a cook-out breakfast and a fish-bake for lunch.

Girl Scouts and Brownies may still register for the day camp to be held in City park starting June 2. If the waiting list is too long, another unit will be formed.

Women 18 years and over who are interested in working on the camp staff are requested to file their applications in the Girl Scout office.

Iowa City talent will be featured in vaudeville shows at the Red and White carnival, an annual event sponsored by the music auxiliary, to be held tomorrow and Saturday on the grounds of the City junior high school at Johnson and Market streets.

The recently organized "weathermen's sextet" from the pre-meteorology school will present an act Saturday evening. Mrs. Ellis Crawford, chairman, announced yesterday. Beginning at 8 o'clock each evening, the show will be held in the auditorium with Atty. W. R. Hart as master of ceremonies.

Graduates May Apply For Public Relations Research Fellowships

Graduates may apply for public relations research fellowships recently established by Edward L. Bernays of New York, author of "Propaganda," "Crystallizing Public Opinion" and "Speak Up for Democracy."

A $500 fellowship at Western Reserve university in Cleveland, Ohio, will be awarded to a graduate student for the study of the public attitudes toward business since 1930 as reflected in the press, on the radio and in resolutions and actions of the different groups that make up our society. The methods by which business, education, government and the press have increased their use of public relations is an important part of the study.

A $1,000 fellowship at the Columbia university graduate school of journalism in New York City is available for research on the attitudes of United States businessmen in the past 50 years and the effects of these attitudes on public opinion and public action.

The third is for the study of changing attitudes towards public relations by the press and business in the past 25 years. It is a $1,000 fellowship to New York university in New York City.

Both Supervisors
In charge of the hot dog stand will be Mrs. R. D. Mott; A. E. Sidwell will supervise the cold refreshment stand; a novelty booth is under the direction of Mrs. William Gower and Mrs. E. T. Hubbard. Game booths have also been erected to test skill in pitching baseballs at milk bottles, throwing darts and to provide the customary carnival atmosphere.

A purchasing committee went directly to wholesale houses in Chicago to purchase balloons and merchandise for the novelty booth and "fish pond." The entire stock of several wholesale houses was completely bought out, and, according to Mrs. Hubbard, the selection of merchandise surpasses that of former years in variety and quality.

Patriotic Atmosphere
The entire atmosphere of the carnival has taken on a patriotic aspect. Lynn DeRue, chairman of the carnival, announced earlier this week that the entire proceeds will be invested in war stamps and bonds to be set aside for the future use of Iowa City school musicians.

The foods committee has been allotted more than 4,000 ration points for the serving of a cafeteria supper each evening at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Rose Vander Berg and Mrs. Milo Novy, co-chairmen of the committee, will be assisted by Mrs. S. O. Gratke.

The carnival grounds will be illuminated by giant flood lights provided each year by the Iowa-Indiana Gas and Electric company. Mr. and Mrs. Pearl L. West, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Ricketts and Helen Shideler are in charge of the continuous dance which will be held each evening in the school gymnasium.

Legion Auxiliary Plans
Whittacker Lilac Day
The Iowa City American Legion auxiliary will observe its annual Whittacker Lilac Day Friday. Lilacs will be distributed among all of the hospitals in Iowa City by the committee in charge.

Anyone having lilacs to contribute is asked to bring them to City hall by 9:30 Friday morning. They may be left inside the door there.

Whittacker day is observed in memory of the late Mrs. Lee Whittacker, a former member of this auxiliary, who first started the program.

Mrs. Charles Patterson is chairman of the committee, other members being Mrs. William Edwards, Mrs. Frank Novotny and Mrs. George Unash.

Child Welfare Group To Hold Emblem Sale

The annual emblem sale of the Iowa Children's Home society will be held in Iowa City Saturday, May 15, an organization spokesman has announced. The group, which tenders state-wide service to homeless children, is supported by the returns from emblem sales and by voluntary gifts from community chests, private and civic clubs.

Esther Reinking will be in charge of the sale, which is being sponsored by many prominent Iowa Citizens, including Mayor W. J. Teeters, Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, Mrs. Charles A. Bowman, Dr. and Mrs. Hlon T. Jones, Mrs. Clarence Van Epps, Rt. Rev. Msgr. P. J. O'Reilly, Mrs. George E. Johnson, and Mrs. Marjorie Yetter, director of the Johnson county welfare department. Headquarters for the sale will be in the Hotel Jefferson.

During the past 40 years nearly 9,000 dependent children have been placed in good homes by the society, 223 of this number coming from Johnson county. The organization has a daily average of 350 children under its care.
