Heavy Forces of Allied Planes Pound Europe As U. S. Navy Describes Air Attack on Attu

LONDON (AP)—Heavy forces of allied planes pounded at axis Europe from the west yesterday amid accumulating evidence that inhabitants of the enemy's Mediterranean islands and the toe of the Italian boot were being rolled back by the terrific blows from American and British air units based in Africa. Mitchell medium bombers, with an escort of spitfires, again raked the oft-battered enemy airfield at Abbeville while separate fighter squadrons made supporting sweeps over other areas in northern France. Two bombers and two fighters were lost in the day's operations. The Britain-based bombers roared out across the channel by daylight for new attacks in the spring offensive which informed observers regard as a demonstration of power to break down Germany's war-making ability and give the poisoned ground forces of the allies clear roads toward Berlin. Last night's operations in western Europe were confined to small-scale intruder patrols over northern France by RAF fighters as British heavy bombers remained in their hangars following their unprecedented assault on Dortmund, which was pulverized Sunday night with more than 2,000 tons of bombs. In the Mediterranean, the Sardinian capital of Cagliari was reported being evacuated because of the devastating allied aerial attacks which gained force as more than 300 heavy and medium bombers battered nine important targets on that German-garrisoned island and Pantelleria—the first stepping stones to Europe from the south. Evacuation of the civil population of Cagliari was announced by the Rome radio, which broadcast an emergency decree placing all workers in war factories and military works in Sardinia and Sicily under military control. The broadcast was recorded here by Reuters, which also reported a Zurich dispatch saying refugees were streaming northward from many towns in Italy's toe and the Mediterranean islands to escape bombardment. Thousands of them already have reached Rome, the dispatch said. (Another Rome broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press in New York, quoted the newspaper Popolo di Roma as saying persons living in the center of Cagliari had fled to the suburbs to escape the bombings but that "these terrorist attacks fortify the love of the citizens for their martyred town." This broadcast said that "life goes on" in Cagliari "notwithstanding the barbarous attacks.")

From the fact that the RAF carried out the greatest raid in history against Dortmund Sunday night, after losing close to 750 planes since the first of the year, informed sources foresaw the ultimate strength of the frontline bomber force mounting so high this summer that the sheer weight of the attacks would cripple Germany's ability to defend herself and leave the skies clear for almost continuous assaults. Four great attacks this month against targets in the industrial Ruhr valley, which is known to be the most heavily defended area in the Reich, cost 145 planes. The total loss for the first four months of the year was 601 craft.

Churchill Advocates Nazi, Fascist Revolt
Prime Minister Tells Press Meeting Tide Has Turned for Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, optimistic over the turn in the tides of war, told President Roosevelt's press conference yesterday that the Italian people would be well advised to disown their intriguing Nazi and Fascist leaders and throw themselves on the justice of those they have so grievously offended. The pink-cheeked British war leader, making his second appearance before a White House news gathering of more than 100 men and women, also spoke of sound and good conclusions having been reached at his two weeks of conferences with President Roosevelt on plans for prosecuting the war in the Pacific with the greatest of vigor. He said the tide had turned indisputably in favor of the allies, that Japan is looking at Russia with opportunist eyes but that it was not for him to advise the Soviets on that score since they were doing such a wonderful job against the Germans, and that he still counted on a knockout blow rather than internal axis collapse for final victory. Sitting at ease at President Roosevelt's right, the prime minister, dressed in black coat and gray trousers and polka dot bow tie, chewed on a cigar and leaned far back in his chair to answer the rapid fire questions that covered every phase of the global war. He wore his siren suit shoes with the trick fasteners and at the conclusion of the nearly one hour of cross examination he jumped up on his chair, smiled and held high his fingers in the V-sign.

BULLETIN
DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Edsel Ford, 49-year-old president of the Ford Motor company, died this morning at his home at Grosse Pointe Shores following an illness of six weeks. Edsel, only son of Henry Ford, founder of the vast Ford industrial empire, died of conditions developing from a former stomach malady for which an operation was performed 16 months ago. Undulant fever also was present.

Bit-by-Bit Destruction Of Trapped Japanese Continues Steadily

Navy Report Discloses Nipponese Lost Twelve Planes in Raid Attempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Piece-meal destruction of entrapped Japanese troops still clinging to Attu island continued steadily yesterday, as new reports disclosed that an attempted enemy counterstroke by air had met almost complete disaster. A navy communique reported that 12 of 16 Japanese twin-engine bombers which attempted to raid American positions and ships were either definitely or probably destroyed. Previously the navy had said only that five were shot down in the Sunday encounter. Yesterday's war bulletin added seven additional bombers, probably wiped out and declared that the remaining four fled westward in the direction of their supposed base in the Kuriles islands, 630 nautical miles west of Attu. This havoc among the bombers was wrought by six Army Lightning fighters which intercepted them over the eastern part of Attu, far from the battle zone. When the fighter squadron was sighted by the enemy "the bombers unloaded their bombs but did not attack any of the U. S. positions," the navy said. Two United States planes were lost but one of the pilots was rescued.

15 Jap Bombers
Previously, on Saturday, 15 twin-engine Japanese bombers had unsuccessfully attacked two United States service vessels in the Attu area. Apparently they encountered no opposition and the Japanese command was led to expect successful operations the next day. The communique reported on operations ashore only through Sunday, saying that army forces were continuing their advance through the mountainous area at the northeastern tip of Attu where the enemy remnants still possessed a foothold on the island but that operations on that day had been handicapped by sleet, snow and rain.

Weather Problem
The weather has been a frequent problem in the two-week-old campaign to restore the island to American control. Conditions, in fact, appear to have been adverse not only to ground but also to aerial operations throughout the Aleutians area. The communique said that army planes, presumably operating from the American base on Amchitka island, had bombed the Japanese main camp area at Kiska Sunday. That was the first raid on Kiska since Friday when it was reported that "due to weather conditions, results were not observed." Word that the assured American victory on Attu has not yet been completed came from Secretary Knox, who told a press conference yesterday: "The fight is continuing."

But Jones told Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, he believes "we have the best government anywhere, and I've seen a lot of them," and said he and others are "fighting to keep it the

CIO Considers WLB Plea as— Strikes Invade Rubber Factories

Sailor Accuses Congress of Civil War 'Daze' As Anti-Poll Tax Bill Gets Approval, 265-110

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heck best government in the world and believe congress should do its part." Dr. Calver said the sailor had been released to return to his ship. The physician, a naval officer himself, expressed the opinion Jones was "just letting off a little steam." The legislation, adopted 265 to 110, goes to the senate, where filibusters have killed similar measures in the past. The 21-year-old sailor delivered an impromptu speech from the visitors' gallery, demanding: "Why does a man have to pay tribute for the right to vote?" The second class naval signalman later described himself as Evan Owens Jones Jr. of Los Angeles, and said he had served in the navy two years, having been in the Battle of Singapore. He climbed to the railing surrounding the gallery just as Rep. Whittington (D-Miss) rose to oppose the bill. "You don't have to pay to fight, why should you have to pay to vote?" he shouted. Taken to the Capitol police room, Jones said he came here on a 48-hour leave "to see what makes this country click." "And I'm disgusted," he told Kenneth Romney, sergeant-at-arms. "Those people in there (the house chamber) are fighting the Civil war all over again. They should spend their time fighting this war." Jones acknowledged he "spoke out of turn" but observed the legislators were "just wasting their time anyhow."

Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), a member of the conference, said "it was the general impression" among the conferees that the compromise bill will result in "freezing" of the present individual income tax rates, precluding any rise in rates this year. President Roosevelt last January asked congress to raise $16,000,000,000 in additional revenue and savings this year. Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee announced the compromise. He expressed hope both houses will accept it this week and that President Roosevelt forthwith will sign it into law. Knutson, who led the three unsuccessful battles in the house for the modified Ruml plan to cancel a complete tax year, declared the Ruml bill will not be brought up again. "The action of the conferees is final and the bill will pass," Knutson said, describing the compromise as "75 percent of the Ruml plan." The vote in the conference was announced at 11 for the compromise to 3 against it. Doughton (D., N. C.) said he voted for it and estimated the measure wipes out $6,000,000,000 of the approximately $10,000,000,000 tax liabilities on one year's income.

Employees of Largest Akron Companies Idle

WLB Asks 50,000 Strikers to Honor No-Strike Promise

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A war production stoppage at Akron's three largest rubber companies spread to a fourth concern yesterday as leaders of the CIO United Rubber Workers union moved to consider a war labor board plea that more than 50,000 idle employees "honor their no strike pledge to the nation" and end the walkout at once. General Tire & Rubber Co. workers, who left their jobs Saturday in a protest against a WLB wage decision and returned a day later, started to walk out again yesterday. E. B. Harper, president of the URW local at General, said the company's tire division was down and other operations curtailed. Neither union nor company made any immediate estimate of the idle at General, but agreed the number was above 1,000. The company's workers were not directly affected by the WLB decision but Harper, recalling the local had a similar case pending, said "We are afraid this move will be detrimental to our WLB hearing." He called a membership meeting for this morning. As the WLB issued its back-to-work plea, Sherman H. Dalrymple, the URW's international president, called a special session of the union's executive board here today after conferring in Washington with WLB officials and obtaining promise of a rehearing. The labor board warned it would not act on the union rehearing petition until work is resumed at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co. and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., which reported all production ceased yesterday.

Senate-House Group Okays Pay-as-Go Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ending four months of bitter strife, a senate-house conference committee approved last night a pay-as-go plan which is virtually certain of final passage by congress. This is the compromise measure. Wipes out a year's income tax for those whose total bill for the year amounts to $50 or less. Abates three-fourths of a year's obligations for all other taxpayers, the remaining fourth to be paid in two annual installments. Imposes a 20 percent withholding levy against the taxable portions of wages and salaries, effective July 1. Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), a member of the conference, said "it was the general impression" among the conferees that the compromise bill will result in "freezing" of the present individual income tax rates, precluding any rise in rates this year. President Roosevelt last January asked congress to raise $16,000,000,000 in additional revenue and savings this year. Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee announced the compromise. He expressed hope both houses will accept it this week and that President Roosevelt forthwith will sign it into law. Knutson, who led the three unsuccessful battles in the house for the modified Ruml plan to cancel a complete tax year, declared the Ruml bill will not be brought up again. "The action of the conferees is final and the bill will pass," Knutson said, describing the compromise as "75 percent of the Ruml plan." The vote in the conference was announced at 11 for the compromise to 3 against it. Doughton (D., N. C.) said he voted for it and estimated the measure wipes out $6,000,000,000 of the approximately $10,000,000,000 tax liabilities on one year's income.

Decision Opens Way for $1 Pay Increase, Directs Owners to Negotiate With Union On Other Concessions Meaning More Money

Umw Spokesmen Indicate Union Men, Operators Will Meet in Washington to Discuss Contract This Morning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war labor board late yesterday handed down a decision opening the way for wage increases of perhaps $1 a day or more for soft coal miners, and indications last night were that John L. Lewis would go along with the ruling. The board denied the requested $2-a-day pay increase, but directed that mine operators negotiate with the union on compensation for underground travel, and also ordered other concessions meaning more money for the miners. Altogether it appeared the way had been opened for present pay envelopes to be fattened by more than $1 a day although no hard and fast estimate could be made since the issue of portal-to-portal pay was subject to negotiation. Spokesmen for the United Mine Workers said union leaders and operators would meet here this morning to "negotiate a contract." The question immediately arising after the decision was whether Lewis, United Mine Workers leader, and the miners themselves would accept the board's decision, or halt work when a current 15-day truce expires. This question appeared answered, at least partially, when a UMW spokesman commented that the collective bargaining provisions of the order "are what the miners have been contending for all along." The union's district presidents, it was announced, will meet today to consider the decision. Lewis himself withheld comment. Heretofore, Lewis has refused to have any dealings with the board and has declared it is "malignant with prejudice" against the UMW. In addition to ordering negotiations on compensation for underground travel, the board made these principal concessions to the miners: 1. Ordered payments in lieu of vacations increased from $20 to $50. 2. Directed reclassification (to allow higher pay) of the occupation of greasers, trappers, flaggers, switch throwers and slate pickers, the lower-paid jobs in the mines. 3. Directed that the operators "stand the cost of all occupational charges for tools and equipment necessary for the mining of coal," but said the mine workers should pay for "special personal clothing equipment necessary for work done in the mines." WLB Chairman William H. Davis estimated the tool and equipment concession would mean a saving of 8 to 15 cents a day to the individual miner. The board recommended, too, creation of a "body of appointed experts, organized as a commission" to work with the administrator of solid fuels for war (Secretary Ickes) on various matters pertaining to coal mining, but outside the fields of labor disputes and wages.

Reds Hit Nazi Kharkov Lines

Soviet Artillery Pounds Troop Concentrations, Smashes Defense Units

Thundering Soviet artillery scattered German troop concentrations northwest of Kharkov and smashed Nazi defenses southeast of that enemy-held pivotal base Tuesday, the Russian midnight communique reported early today. At sea, Red navy men manning two patrol cutters in the Gulf of Finland outfought 13 enemy cutters, sinking two, heavily damaging a third and forcing the others to withdraw, said the war bulletin as recorded by the Soviet Monitor. The communique did not identify the enemy ships as Finnish or German, but said those remaining "quickly took cover behind a barrage of fire from Finnish coastal batteries." Both Soviet cutters returned to their bases, it added. About one battalion—approximately 800 men—of enemy infantry was dispersed and "partly annihilated" when Russian artillery pounded "concentrations of enemy troops and equipment" in the Sevsk area, northwest of Kharkov, the Russians said. The shelling also accounted for 20 enemy trucks, and blew up an ammunition dump, while a reconnaissance detachment in this sector "destroyed 30 loaded German carts and killed about 80 Hitlerites." Save for the artillery outbursts, the midnight communique pictured the Russian front as almost ominously quiet, in apparent preparation for the explosion of a new offensive. The communique said Soviet torpedo planes sank a 100,000-ton German transport in the Barents sea, and that a Russian ship sent down a German self-propelled barge in the Black sea.

Government Asks Summary Judgment Without Testimony in AP Anti-Trust Suit

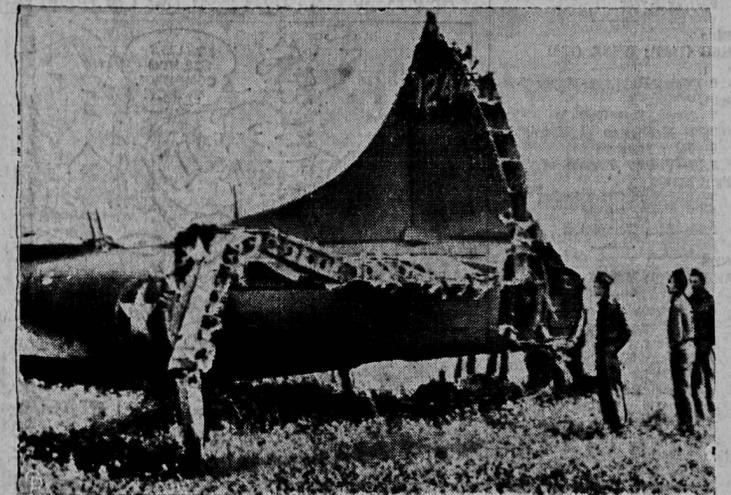

Justice Department Officials Say Move Never Used Before

NEW YORK (AP)—The government took the unprecedented action yesterday of asking a federal court to rule by summary judgment against The Associated Press in an anti-trust civil suit without the taking of testimony by witnesses in open court trial. Justice department officials said the move never before was employed in Sherman act cases. The government argued there was no general issue as to any material fact as a result of steps already taken in the suit and declared that the three-judge federal court already had all information needed to decide the legal points involved. Therefore, it contended, the court not only should direct the non-profit newsgathering organization to open its news and photo services to all papers able to pay their share of the cost but also bar the AP from entering into agreement with any press association under which the AP would agree "not to deliver its news reports to any other association, newspaper or individual in any particular territory, area or region." The government asked the court also to enjoin the AP from entering any agreements under which it would obtain the exclusive right to receive the news report of any association, newspaper or individual. The court was asked additionally to: Nullify the AP by-law which prohibits a member newspaper from furnishing to any one not a member the news which it is required to supply to the AP. Enjoin the AP or its agents and employees from carrying out by-laws should they be adjudged to be illegal. Nullify the acquisition by the AP of the stock of Wide World Photos, Inc., and require the AP to divest itself of all interest in Wide World Photos. Hedy Lamarr, John Loder Obtain Marriage License

Jap Forces Progress In Chinese Offensive

CHUNGKING (AP)—Japanese forces driving westward through western Hupoh province south of the Yangtze river have made new progress, the Chinese high command announced last night, and belief grew in Chinese quarters that this might be the initial stage of a drive on Chungking itself. The Chinese communique said one Japanese column captured Changyang, 18 miles south of Ichang, the main enemy base on the upper Yangtze, while other columns have been reported still farther west. Enemy forces in this area are within 275 airline miles of the capital although the routes which must be covered to reach Chungking are much longer, some 400 miles. One column was said to be approaching Wufeng, 50 miles southwest of Ichang.

Red Cross to Send Letters to Soldiers Only if Prisoners

In compliance with a request by the war department, the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross cannot accept messages to men in the armed forces missing in action unless official notification has been received that they are prisoners of war, it was announced yesterday.

This will not interfere with direct communication between persons officially listed as prisoners of war or as civilian internees and their relatives and friends.

The message procedure is changed because the Japanese are now reporting prisoners' names to the International Red Cross. Formerly, the Japanese government did not release the names of all prisoners.

The Red Cross will continue to investigate the whereabouts and welfare of men reported as missing, however, local chapter officials say.

U. S. Health Workers To Interview Students

Louisa Eskridge, staff worker of the United States public health service, will be in Iowa City tomorrow to interview any students interested in home economics, science or sociology who might be interested in further study in the field of health education.

The need for qualified health educators has been intensified by the demands of the war program, particularly in areas where the rapid expansion of industries and military establishments has taxed the facilities of the communities on health and related community problems.

This recognition has resulted in a nation-wide demand for more qualified workers far in excess of the available supply. Although the war emergency has served to focus attention upon this profession, rehabilitation and post-war problems will offer even more opportunity in this field.

Appointments for an interview with Miss Eskridge may be made in room 9, Old Capitol.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

One of the most acute problems facing housewives these days is stretching those ration points to obtain an adequate supply of butter. All of us have been accustomed to using as much butter as we desire on our bread and in cooking. Now we find that we must either cut down on its use or stretch it by new methods that have been devised.

One way to save your butter is by using margarine in your cooking as well as on your table. Margarine is made from vegetable oils that have been churned in a culture of skimmed milk to give it a flavor not unlike butter. Today a large percentage of margarine has vitamin A added. Such margarine is usually marked "fortified" or "vitaminized."

Butter Substitutes
Now that butter is scarce, keep it for table use. Use salad oil, vegetable shortening, vitaminized margarine, lard or drippings for frying foods. Add butter to hot vegetables after they are in the serving dish so that none of it will be left in the saucetpan to be wasted when the pan is washed. Use margarine, lard, oil or vegetable shortening in greasing pans.

A fourth of a pound of butter may be stretched into a half pound by two methods. The first method is to cut the butter into small pieces, soften it, add sour cream or evaporated milk and beat. After it is beaten, chill it in the refrigerator.

Another means of stretching butter is to add to the beaten butter gelatin mixed with evaporated or top milk. This is chilled also.

Avoid wasting butter by making the pats smaller. Mix it with mayonnaise, prepared mustard or peanut butter as spreads for sandwiches. Soften it to room temperature and spread it thinner on toast.

Crackers Stay for Dinner
Leave crackers on the table for the main course as well as for soups and salads. The crispness and flakiness of crackers make them taste-pleasing in themselves. They actually don't require any butter at all. By serving crackers throughout the meal, not only will points be saved, but

War Ends Athletic Exploits of Family Of Irish Grid Stars

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—War has ended, at least temporarily, the sports exploits of the Millers of Notre Dame.

Every few years since early this century there has been one or more Millers to lead the Irish to gridiron triumphs and victories in other sports. Two youngsters, Creighton Eugene and Tom Seay, carried on this school year—both sons of M. Harry (Red) Miller, who began the parade of Millers at Notre Dame.

Paced Win Over Michigan
Red, who played for the Irish in 1907-09, paced Notre Dame to the only football win it has scored over Michigan in his senior year.

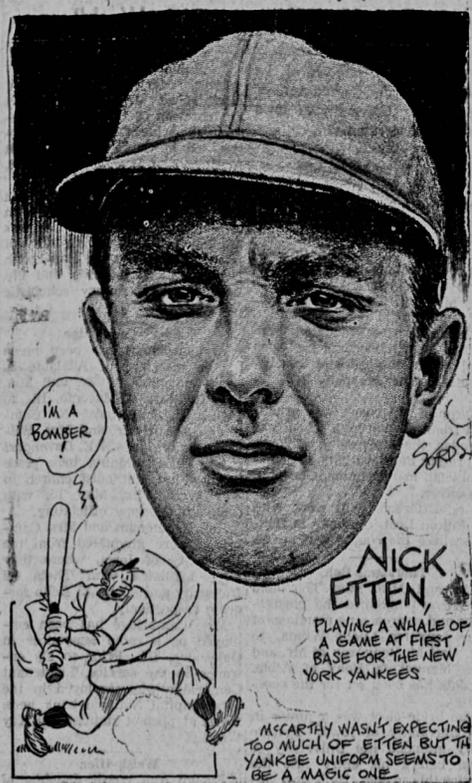

History almost repeated itself last fall as the proud Red watched offsprings Creighton and Tom play the game of their lives in a dying cause against the Wolverines. After leading Michigan at the half, the Irish saw their Ann Arbor rivals come back to win 32-20.

Red was only the first of four brothers who starred at Notre Dame. Brother Don teamed with Layden, Stuhldreder and Crowley to make up the famous Four Horsemen. Ray, second of the brothers, was an athlete, too, and Walter, light for a fullback, played in the backfield with George Gipp.

Another brother, Gerry, was here with Don and was tabbed by Rockne to become a bigger star than his elder brother, but injuries hampered him.

Two More Lawyers
Tom and Creighton plan to extend the string of lawyers already developed within the family. Don, who is the U. S. district attorney in the Cleveland area, and Gerry have both carried on in the legal

Gophers Take Doubleheader

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Minnesota scored in only two innings of a Big Ten baseball doubleheader yesterday, but both times the Gophers put together clusters of five runs which were enough to defeat Northwestern 5 to 2 in the first game and 5 to 0 in the second.

The double win gave Minnesota five conference triumphs in eight starts. Northwestern has one win in seven games.

profession; Ray was twice mayor of Cleveland and once prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga county, Ohio; Walter has an executive position with an oil company, and Harry is now legal counsel for a big company in Wilmington, Del.

The spring of 1940 found Tom receiving the Hering award as the best pass catcher. He was voted the most valuable player award for his play in the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech game. Brother Creighton received this same award for his performance in the Notre Dame-Michigan game. Creighton finished the 1942 season with a share of first place in individual scoring on the Notre Dame squad with 30 points.

The military status of the two brothers is still in doubt. Tom was a senior left halfback in 1942. Creighton, junior right halfback last fall, is a member of the army enlisted reserve corps. Both may be in the service before long and it may be many years before Notre Dame cheerleaders call for nine long rabs for Miller.

- ★Open League Dates
- ★Give Fans Chance
- ★To Size Up Races

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fans have had two whole days to ponder what in thunder goes on in the majors this year. The schedule makers must have had a hunch as to what might happen when they left those two consecutive open dates. The teams don't need that much rest. Just the fans.

Anyone would have been considered slightly tetchy in the hand had he said a year ago that late in May, 1943, the Phils and Braves would be battling for third place in the National league, that the Phils would draw 37,176 fans for a double header with the Pirates in Shibe park, that Cleveland would be leading the American league with Washington in third place only a breath behind the Yankees, and that the Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox would be locked in the cellars of their respective loops.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals so far are about the only clubs which have run almost entirely true to form, and for Dodger fans who already are figuring where they want to sit for the world series it might be pointed out that a year ago Durocher's darlings were five and a half games in front. Today it's only two and a half, and look what happened last year!

The Yankees are close enough to first place in the American league to give their backers comfort. The Yank figured to be up there somewhere, although it is a minor miracle that they are considering that Charley Keller and Joe Gordon were rated the gents who would be responsible, and Gordon has bagged only five hits in his last 43 times at bat. And batting cleanup, yet.

We'd say I told you so in the case of Cleveland and its top position were it not for the fact someone might mention the Cincinnati Reds in the National league, our annual disappointment. We picked the Indians and Reds for the world series.

Even the usually outstanding Red pitching has been faltering lately, and when the team does get a well-pitched game it loses anyway. It's on a diet when it comes to the plate, and Bill McKernie will have to start putting a keg of beer on third base to get the boys around. They're eight games out now, which shows how fast they go out.

Mel Ott of the New York Giants, whose low estate is a badge of honor in that they lost their team to the service, thinks the Cardinals have a little the edge on the Dodgers for the pennant, although his opinion might be prejudiced in that when he expressed it his team had just lost three in a row to the Red Birds, and you always remember your last lickings clearest.

Ott is the one bright spot in the Giant play and the way the fans would perk up last Sunday when he came to bat, then settle back to their pinochle games when eight other Giants batted until he came around again was something to see.

The race in both leagues probably will continue to be full of surprises, in that it doesn't look like there is a pushover in either league as there has been in recent years when the Phils, and usually the Athletics, were just open dates for most teams. This year any team can expect a battle from any other team.

Sure, some team has to be in last place in each league. Right now the Chicago Cubs are a very solid last in the National, 11 games back, but they don't figure to be that bad all season any more than the currently last-place Red Sox figure to be permanently in last place.

The whole campaign is topsy-turvy, and to make it just about perfect the Phils and A's should meet in the world series.

Distances on the Chanute field golf practice range are measured by a steel tap, not by the rubber-band measurement of yardage which often flatters golfers.

.356 Average Gives Herman Top Rating

Frey Returns to 2nd Place; Other Leaders Are Musial, Dahlgren

NEW YORK (AP)—In his 12 years in the National league a lot of recognition has come to William Jennings (Billy) Herman, but this season the star infielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers has a chance to top all his previous honors.

He is leading the league in batting with a .356 average, in runs batted in with 23 (seven more than his closest rival) and in doubles with 12. Besides this spectacular batting he has done a great defensive job at third base, a new position for him, and is one of the principal reasons the Dodgers are in first place.

Whether he can maintain his spring pace throughout the season remains to be seen, of course, and he is being closely pressed even now for his place on top of the percentages.

Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, who led the league in the early days of the campaign, surged back into second place last week with a .355 average.

Others in the select society of ten leading hitters, based on 60 or more times at bat, are Stan Musial, St. Louis .345; Babe Dahlgren, Philadelphia, .341; Whitey Kurovski, St. Louis, .340; Ed Stanky, Chicago, .318; Frank McCormick, Cincinnati, .313; Johnny McCarthy, Boston, .312; Arky Vaughan, Brooklyn, .311, and Stan Hack, Chicago, .308.

Ken O'Dea of St. Louis and Paul Waner of Brooklyn, who were one-two in the averages a week ago, dropped from the list because they have not been at bat enough times.

Kurovski is a newcomer to the batting leaders and has a current hitting streak of 22 consecutive games, the longest of the season.

Musial of the Cardinals, leads in total hits with 41, in triples with five and is tied with Dolph Camilli of Brooklyn for the most runs scored, 22.

Three players, Mel Ott and Buster Maynard of the New York Giants and Danny Litwiler of the Phillies, are tied for home run honors with four. The Giants as a team have hit 17 roundtrippers to lead both leagues.

Dan Murtaugh of the Phillies and Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh are tied for the most bases stolen with four.

The leading pitchers among hurriers with three or more decisions are Johnny Allen, who has won three without a defeat, and Bobo Newsom, who has won five and lost one. Both are Dodgers.

College Star Athlete Gets Fifth Letter -From Uncle Sam

DAVIDSON, N. C. — Tommy Peters, 20, Davidson college star athlete from Kingsport, Tenn., is about to get a new letter classification from his Uncle Sam—1-A—but within his one year of varsity competition on the Wildcats' sports roster he has made history for the institution by acquiring letters in the four major sports.

That he will be remembered for years as one of Davidson's greatest sports figures is certain, for this tall, genial blond has accomplished as a sophomore what no senior at the college ever has been able to do.

Jack Wagner is Peters' only predecessor to the title of four-letter man at Davidson. But one of the monographs he acquired was in a minor sport. Wagner, in 1933, was awarded letters in football, basketball, track and golf—the latter a so-called minor sport.

Peters substituted track for golf and thereby earned his unique place in the sun of Davidson sports.

Peters is six-foot-two, weighs 175, and is almost perfectly proportioned for an athlete. Remarkable coordination and an excellent competitive temperament make him a good man on any team at any time.

A glance at his year's record in sports shows that:

He halved the right end position with a veteran on the football team and snagged 23 of 57 completed passes.

In basketball, he averaged 18.8 points per game, to place second in interscholastic scoring in the country. He topped the Southern conference scorers in total points, was voted the most valuable player, and was elected to a position on the all-time Big Five club of North Carolina.

He played center field on the Wildcat nine, and Coach Norman Shephard calls him the best college center fielder in North Carolina in 25 years.

As a track man he captured four firsts in the shot put and added several points to his mates' score in the high jump.

Wilson Meets Prodigal Lou; Words Few

Novikoff Returned to Field; Lou Novikoff, Ex-Holdout Fly Chaser, Lou Novikoff, Yesterday in an Encounter Short on Ceremony and Equally Shy on Words.

CHICAGO (AP)—Cub Manager Jimmy Wilson, sitting in the empty stands at Wrigley field, met his long-errant, ex-holdout fly chaser, Lou Novikoff, yesterday in an encounter short on ceremony and equally shy on words.

Novikoff sauntered casually off the field, where he was working out with the injured Clyde McCullough and some 80 girl performers of the all-American softball league, and approached the box where Wilson sat discussing the last-place status of his well-regarded Cubs.

"Hello, James," sheepishly grinned Novikoff, dripping perspiration.

"Hello, Lou," said Wilson, warmly but without excitement.

"Are you in shape, Lou?" he asked.

Novikoff patted his streamlined stomach affirmatively, then hesitated. "Maybe need a little batting practice," he grunted.

"You heard about Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, didn't you?" Wilson demanded gruffly. "Got hit in the wrist during spring practice, couldn't lift a bat for days. But he's been leading the league, or darned close to it, all spring, hasn't he?"

Novikoff's face gleamed in a wide smile. He grabbed his glove, raced onto the field, and began a ferocious throwing drill with McCullough. Wilson grinned.

"He'll be in left field against the Giants tomorrow," he said. "What's more, one of these days our hitters will start to hit the same day our pitchers are pitching. We just haven't knit ourselves together as a ball club yet. I'm not alibing, understand, but look at how the flu hit our pitchers early in the season. We'll get rolling one of these days. This is a good outfit."

Any Club Can Win, Connie Mack Says

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The hottest American league race in years—one of the good old-fashioned kind with close games, underdog upsets and a finish drive calculated to make the hair tingle and the spine stand on end—was forecast yesterday by baseball's most reluctant prognosticator.

Connie Mack, who among all the moguls is least inclined to get himself out on a limb and saw reviewed the record of the first six weeks of the season, concluded that even his Athletics have clambered out of their decade-long doldrums and now have a pennant chance, and said:

"It looks like anybody's race to me. The teams are pretty well evenly matched and I would say that this will be the closest campaign we've had in years. Any club can win, or finish last.

Net Game Benefiting From Gas Shortage

NEW YORK (AP)—Tennis, as a game for ordinary players rather than tournament stars, actually is benefiting at the expense of golf from the current shortage of gasoline.

That's the opinion of Samuel Hardy, who, as a former Davis cup team captain and head of the tennis department of A. G. Spalding and company keeps in close touch with the situation.

"People can't drive out the country clubs to play golf, so they're turning to tennis for exercise," Hardy pointed out yesterday.

"They may not like the game better, but they're playing it anyway. Tennis clubs generally can be reached by street cars, and the public courts are going full blast even though we haven't had good weather for tennis."

Although tournament tennis this year likely will be a sketchy affair, Ward confidently forecasts a post-war boom. There has been one after every war, he said, and the U. S. L. T. A. policy of concentrating upon developing young players should result in heightened interest in the game. Service men, with courts in most camps, also are taking to the game, especially the fliers, who have found the reactions they get in tennis are just what they need.

Ward expects that most of the leading tournaments, including the national championships, will be held this year with women and boys from 15 to 18 years old furnishing the bulk of the competition.

Pinky Higgins Tops American League Batters

CHICAGO (AP)—Pinky Higgins has been patrolling third base in the majors for 11 seasons, but there was a time this spring when the board of strategy of the Detroit Tigers seriously considered sending him to the outfield.

The move was thought up as a means of making pleasant the baseball life of Mr. Higgins, who habitually complained of sore feet come summer months.

But "Pinky" had a hankering to stay at the hot corner—hot feet or not—and yesterday he and Vern Stephens, the St. Louis Browns shortstop, were the only infielders among the ten leading hitters in the American league. The rest were outfielders.

Higgins, who had a 295 lifetime major league batting average before the season began, collected seven blows in his last 15 trips to the plate to boost his year's average to .358.

Stephens, who sprained his left kneecap May 16 and has been unable to play since, still held the lead with .368 on the basis of having been at bat 60 or more times.

Tied for third and fourth behind Higgins in the averages computed through Sunday's games were Detroit's $52,000 rookie, Dick Wakefield, and the New York Yankees' transplanted pitcher, Johnny Lindell. Both had notched 319. They were followed by Oris Hockett of Cleveland with 317, Wally Moses of the Chicago White Sox with 308, veteran Jo Jo White of Philadelphia with 307, Mike Chartak of St. Louis with 300, Jeff Heath of Cleveland with 297 and Ray Radsliff of Detroit with 290.

Slugging Charley Keller of the Yankees claimed two important batting honors, leading in triples with 3 and home runs with 5.

Jim Bloodworth of Detroit, and Washington's Ellis Clary had punched nine doubles apiece; and Bloodworth also was tied with two other Senators, Stan Spence and Bob Johnson, with 18 runs batted in. Jo Jo White had the most hits, 35, and George Case of Washington had flied the most bases, 5.

The Senators also boasted the leading pitcher, Alex Carrasquel, who had won four with no losses. Detroit's speedballer, Virgil (Fire) Trucks, was tops in strikeouts with 28.

Army Post Ranges Build Golf Talent

Cpl. Bill Judy, conductor of the "Brawn Patrol" column in Chanute field (Ill.), "Wings," opines that training at army post golf driving ranges is going to produce some great post-war golf talent. At the field's range, air force men often hit drives 250 yards into the wind, and that's good distance for the hardest-hitting pro golfers.

The whole campaign is topsy-turvy, and to make it just about perfect the Phils and A's should meet in the world series.

Distances on the Chanute field golf practice range are measured by a steel tap, not by the rubber-band measurement of yardage which often flatters golfers.

OPA Changes Servicemen's Ration Issue

Service men are not to apply now for their third ration books, it was announced yesterday by R. J. Phelps, chairman of the Johnson county ration board. Information from the state office of price administration in Des Moines declares that before ration book three is put into use, another system of issuance will be announced for all persons in service.

Civilians are cautioned by the ration board to follow the instructions of the application form which they are now receiving through the mail. These applications are not to be mailed before June 1, but must be returned to the mailing center in Chicago before June 10. Any applications received after June 10 will not be acted upon until after Aug. 1.

It is necessary to affix postage to the application when it is returned.

Prof. Loraine Frost Leaves Post to Attend University of Buffalo

Prof. Loraine Frost of the women's physical education department will resign her position June 1 in order to begin the study of medicine.

She will attend the University of Buffalo, N. Y., this summer and will enter the Philadelphia Women's Medical college in September.

Professor Frost has been with the University of Iowa since 1930. She organized the Iowa chapter of the American Physiotherapy society about two years ago and became its president.

She has also been active in the State Physical Education association and the district and national Associations of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Math to Be Included in Frosh Schedule

Beginning freshmen who enter the college of liberal arts or engineering for the semester June 7 to Aug. 28, will receive thorough training in college algebra and plane trigonometry. Three of the five liberal arts programs include this work, which also has a prominent place in the engineering course.

The university, with its accelerated program, has recognized the importance of the study of mathematics by men who expect to enter certain branches of the armed forces. It was pointed out by Prof. Roscoe Woods, acting head of the mathematics department.

Professor Woods said, "There has been much publicity about the lack of training in mathematics on the part of men entering the service. Unfortunately, much time has been lost because of the long period required to be prepared for efficient service."

"Then entire program now is planned so that a student may profit greatly by work, even for a single semester. Since it takes time to acquire mathematical techniques, study of this subject should not be postponed."

"The course, applied mathematics, has been designed for men entering the air force or the navy, and reports from former students, now in the service, indicate its high value," Professor Woods declared.

Religion Professor, Presbyterian Minister To Attend Assembly

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion and a commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, will attend the annual meeting of the assembly in Detroit this week. Dr. Ilion T. Jones will also attend the meeting as a chairman of a special committee which has been studying the question of "Theological Education in the Presbyterian Church." This will be one of the most important business elements before the assembly, according to Professor Lampe.

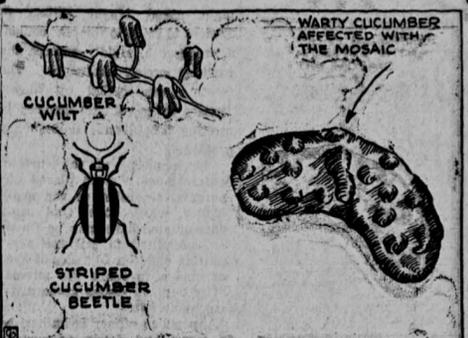

War conditions made it necessary to reduce the number of commissioners from 1,000 to 500 and the length of the meeting from seven to six days.

Helps and Hints For— Your Victory Gardens

—By Louise Zimmerman

If you are planting cucumbers in your Victory garden, remember that the cucumber is a tender plant and seed should not be sown until both the weather and the soil have become quite warm.

Cucumbers are planted much the same as squashes, either in hills or furrows. Space hills four feet apart each way, and mix a commercial fertilizer or well-rotted manure with the soil, as cucumbers require rich earth. Plant 8 or 10 seeds in each hill, about one half to one inch deep. When the plants have three or four leaves, thin them out to leave only three or four of the strongest plants.

Pick Early

The first fruits of the vine should be picked when they are but three to four inches long, for this practice permits the plant to reach a normal growth and produce a stronger crop than if its strength were used in maturing the first fruits. In fact, all cucumbers should be picked when of sufficient size to use, whether needed or not, to prevent the vine from going to seed.

Another thing to remember when growing cucumbers is to pinch off the ends of the shoots to keep the plant from running to spraying the plants with rotenone, pyrethrum or tobacco dust.

Mosaic or white pickle disease causes stunted cucumber vines and wrinkled or mottled foliage. The crop so affected will be smaller than normal and the fruits will often be crooked and covered with green warts, as illustrated, or the fruit may be nearly white in color. Mosaic disease lives through the winter on the seeds of wild cucumber, milkweed and pokeweed, and is carried to the cultivated cucumber vines by the striped beetle.

Louisiana is known as the Pelican state and the Creole state.

Patents seized by the U. S. alien property custodian and made available to public inspection occupy 75 feet of shelf space.

BOOKS

lish the last volume of his work in that year. His general title, and the title of Volume One, is "The Chicago Tribune: Its First Hundred Years."

Men who have disagreed with the Tribune's isolationist policies can, if they want, find their roots far back in the Tribune's history. The paper was, it is true, somewhat nondescript from 1847 to 1855, when Joseph Medill and Dr. Charles H. Ray took over. From that time on, it had a purpose and a direction, neither of which has ever been lost.

And the roots mentioned above are to be found first in Medill's character, a peculiar combination of acumen and piety. They show their strength in the War Between the States, when the Tribune took a very simple stand. The north must prevail because the north was right; the south must fail because the south was wrong. That was all there was to it. The Tribune taught that Lee was an average Virginia slaveholder, nothing more. It asserted over and over that Lincoln was sent by God to save the country, and when in the distance it saw Grant, it made the same assumption about him. The Tribune exerted itself to elect and support Lincoln, and stood behind Grant.

Mr. Kinsley's first installment close in 1865 after the assassination of President Lincoln, and his second will encompass the reconstruction period. But the book is a history of the newspaper business, a set of character sketches of the men who made the Tribune, and also a changing picture of newspaper technique as reflected in one of the largest papers in the world. In the background Chicago roars and rattles.

was predicted theoretically by modern Machiavellian writers, the most objective and scientific of all students of laws of social development. It has been proved in practice by the history of the past generation, in particular by what happened in Germany and Russia. "Totalitarianism" means, precisely, the centralization of all social life in the state.

It is true nothing we can do will bring back the loose, free, easy governments of the past century. Nevertheless, all who believe in political freedom are thereby committed to strengthen whatever centers of resistance there are to the necessarily totalitarian aims of the bureaucratized, unbridled, monstrous governments of our time.

The men who run governments, like other men, can be trusted to preserve freedom only when they do not have power to destroy it.

MR. ROBINSON CHALLENGES: Will Mr. Burnham stop pussy-footing and tell us what he means by "bureaucratized, unbridled, monstrous governments?" Is he sniping at the administration in Washington? Doesn't he realize much greater power is concentrated in the hands of a few industrial monopolists? The real threat to American liberty is not political centralization; it is the totalitarian design for power being formulated by great corporations for control of post-war America. If successful, these corporations will stamp out labor gains, wrench monopoly prices from consumers—and as I demonstrated in FANTASTIC INTERIM, will be the government of the U. S., as they were under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

MR. BURNHAM REPLIES: Of course I include, among "monstrous governments" of our time the government of this country. Not yet, happily, so all-embracing, so unbridled as the fully totalitarian governments already consolidated elsewhere, but moving steadily in that same freedom-stealing direction. By reviving the long-discredited theory that fascism is nothing but a plot of big business, Mr. Robinson helps undermine public resistance to the real totalitarian threat. We agree—a large measure of centralization has taken place. The difference is: he believes freedom will be reserved by centralization. I believe the problem of modern politics is to preserve freedom in spite of centralization.

The youth, who has been employed in the Tri-Cities, was believed by police to have sold some of the loot accumulated by Eugene Leency and Don Miller, the two Iowa City boys who yesterday confessed to a long series of local robberies. County Tin Can Drive Navy Discloses 23 Will Open Wednesday Among Iowa Marines Held Jap Prisoners

Trucks to Collect Cans From Curbs of All City Streets

A county-wide tin can drive to take place next Wednesday, June 2, was announced yesterday by Jack C. White chairman of the Johnson county salvage committee.

The committee is asking that all tin cans be prepared and stacked on curbs by 9 a. m. Wednesday. City employees using city trucks will pick up the cans in Iowa City. Every street in town will be canvassed by the collectors.

Tin cans only, not general rubbish, will be collected. Any cans which have not been properly prepared for collection will not be picked up. The cans collected here will be taken to the de-tinning processing plant in Cedar Rapids. Trucks from Cedar Rapids will come here to get them.

To prepare cans for collection, the label and both ends of each can should be removed and the can flattened.

Tons of cans, netting 2,800 pounds of tin, were collected in the last drive held here January 16.

Local Juvenile Authorities, Recreational Directors Ask Rigid Curfew for Local Youths

In response to demands of Iowa City residents, juvenile authorities and recreational directors last night asked Mayor Wilber J. Teeters to refer to the city council a proposal to rigidly enforce the existing curfew ordinance. The meeting was called by Mayor Teeters to coordinate agencies in meeting the juvenile delinquency problems.

The emphasis of the curfew enforcement will be placed on parents, according to the ordinance, which states that parents or guardians may be fined or committed to jail for permitting children 16 years of age or under to roam the streets after 9 p. m. unless accompanied by an adult.

Any police officer is authorized to arrest and detain in custody any juvenile offenders.

Time Limit Revision Revision of the 9 o'clock time limit because of daylight savings was suggested. It was also proposed that the names of parents whose children have violated the curfew law be published.

The curfew as a possible measure for curbing juvenile delinquency was discussed at a meeting of the city council Monday evening.

Mayor Teeters will refer the sentiments of these agencies to the council at its next meeting June 14.

The need for a more adequate recreational program has long been recognized, said J. E. Frame, head of the recreation center, but the problem of financing it faces the organizations. The present funds are not adequate to operate more than one park or to purchase the necessary equipment, Frame emphasized.

"The people must realize that delinquency isn't cheap either," responded Mrs. Mabel Evans. However, until the matter can be referred to the public at the next general election, some other means of adequate financial support must be devised.

Need Leaders The second problem mentioned by Frame in the establishment of recreational provisions is one of obtaining trained leaders, and it is hoped that Iowa City people will volunteer to meet the shortage.

Mayor Teeters informed the group that the police department has offered its assistance in recreational work within the community. It will take part in this program by assuming leadership in clubs and sponsoring baseball games and similar activities.

At last night's meeting, representatives of the archery club volunteered their aid.

"If we can keep the teen age group constructively busy at all times, it will partly solve the delinquency problems and engage the youngsters in a round of activities that will keep them off the street," Frame said.

Neighborhood organizations to provide clubs and social activities for adults and children is the primary aim. By this means, children in all parts of the city can be contacted and included in the recreation program.

Detention Home Upon the suggestion of Mrs. Evans, Mayor Teeters will also refer to the council the need for a place where children may be taken when found wandering the streets at a late hour.

"What's to be done about children who work late at night?" was the query of the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, pastor of the Baptist church. Although no definite solution was proposed, it was mentioned that according to the state law no children under 16 may be employed before 7 a. m. or after 6 p. m., with certain exceptions. It was generally agreed that enforcement of this law may aid in solving the delinquency problem.

In addition to the steps taken at the discussion last night, the agencies at a previous meeting established a more successful cooperation of the police force with the probation office and recreational organizations, as well as the coordination of various groups interested in child welfare work to solve delinquency problems.

DAYBREAK...

... heavy guns moving into position for action on the African Front... planes returning from a night "bombing party" over Axis territory. And, on the home front, loaded munition trains whistling shrill warnings as they approach slumber-wrapped towns in Kansas, Massachusetts, Texas—everywhere. It is WAR—war with its toil and tears, its heroism and sacrifices.

BUT SOME DAY WILL COME ANOTHER DAWN—a sunrise that will light up a world at peace. Then trains will speed across the nation carrying ration-free foods for America's pantries; materials for its home builders; tools and implements for its farms, factories and professions; and peace-time necessities for all!

Now we are engaged in war. America's railroads—all vital units in the transportation army—are performing a patriotic service. Theirs is the hauling job of the nation. And what a job they are doing—41,000,000 tons of army freight carried in '42—11,600,000 troops transported during the first year of the war!

ROCK ISLAND'S Program of Planned Progress, begun seven years ago, is being carried on even in the midst of the war. For when the new day dawns America will demand the best in rail transportation. While today it isn't possible to buy all of the equipment and materials required, we must have the revenue now for the great backlog of purchases that some day will be released. And think of the many jobs this will make available for our boys now in uniform!
