WASHINGTON—The great political movement of the hour is for the New Deal. The national achievement is the New Deal. It is the New Deal that the people are demanding. It is the New Deal that the people are supporting. It is the New Deal that is bringing about the change we need.

The New Deal is a great achievement. It is a great solution to the problems we face. It is a great improvement to our lives. It is a great hope for the future.

Fire Warden's Job is Lonely One
But Exa Arrington Loves the Life

The Iowa City P.T.A. Will Meet Friday Afternoon at One

OFF TO WORK—Mrs. Arrington puts forth by her oar, fully equipped to cope with any trouble she may find along the Henryetta trail.

Hazard of Victory Gardens Prevails

The bulb of Victory gardens is on fire in the University of Iowa home, reports the campus garden club, indicating that a fire has broken out in the greenhouse, where the extra rows of vegetables are being grown. The fire has been reduced to a low heat, but in order to prevent further damage, it is necessary to act quickly. The club, therefore, requests all members to come to the greenhouse immediately to assist in extinguishing the flames.

Iowa City Clubs

In the quiet of her home in the garden district of Iowa City, a woman is busy planting seeds and tending to the needs of the Victory gardens. She is the proud owner of a large greenhouse, filled with a variety of vegetables and flowers. As the sun begins to set, she takes a moment to reflect on the progress of her garden, knowing that her hard work will soon bear fruit.

Life is also in store for Mrs. Arrington. She will spend her hours volunteering at the local hospital, assisting in the care of the sick and injured. Her dedication to her community is unwavering, and she takes pride in knowing that her efforts are making a difference in the lives of others.

Iowa City P.T.A. Meeting

City Hall, 2:30 P.M.

The Iowa City P.T.A. will meet Friday afternoon at one o'clock in City Hall. All members are requested to attend. The meeting will be preceded by the arrival of the choir, who will sing a selection of songs.

Student Lamps Still Available at Old Prices

We still have some pre-World War II lamps available for a limited time. The lamps are in excellent condition and will be priced at $3.95 each, including choice of 100-watt or 150-watt bulbs.

These lamps are the perfect addition to any student's living space. The glass, which is in excellent condition, is scratch-free and has a warm, inviting glow. The lamps are available in both 100-watt and 150-watt options, allowing students to choose the perfect lighting for their needs.

Registering Complete, SUI Opens Tomorrow

Student Body Diverse, 1,650 Freshmen Enroll for Instruction

Dedicated more than ever to the war effort, the University of Iowa Thursday morning opened its doors to a diverse student body. The University's 1944-1945 enrollment included 1,650 freshmen, representing a wide range of backgrounds and interests.

Not only is the opening exciting for the students, but for the University, as well. Young women and men from all walks of life are enrolling in the University, bringing a unique mix of perspectives and experiences to the campus.

The meeting was held in the French capital and was attended by representatives of several nations. The talks were aimed at strengthening the alliance and ensuring the defense of the Western Front.

The meeting was part of a series of conferences held by the Allies to discuss the strategies for the upcoming invasion of Nazi-occupied France. The discussions centered around the coordination of forces, the planning of operations, and the provision of resources to support the military effort.

The meeting was also an opportunity for the Allies to coordinate their efforts and to align their strategies. The talks were focused on the necessity of maintaining a strong and unified front against the Axis powers.

The meeting was a significant step in the buildup to the invasion of France, which eventually took place on June 6, 1944, as part of Operation Overlord. The successful invasion would play a crucial role in the eventual defeat of Nazi Germany and the Allied victory in World War II.

GOOD HUMOR.—The notion on the farm of these chaffy workman making fun for tips for dally round their point, is a unique feature of the farm work of the Hickey farm near Philadelphia, Pa. Foren are ready to give it up as a failure and quit, but the Hickey’s farm boys have a different idea. They make fun for tips.

And Fell figured out the basis of these workmen’s notion by observing the expressive manner of the various workmen. It was not long before the Fell figured out how he could make the boys work for him. Now he is in his industry. His ambitions and promotions are high-water marks of his farm and the Fell boys are the most promising boys that have ever been employed.

Helen Miller Leaves For Work Overseas

Helen Miller, 38, of Washington, showed a remarkable spirit of patriotism by leaving her home to work in the war effort.

A former nurse, Ms. Miller has been working at St. Vincent’s Hospital in Washington, D.C., since she returned from overseas duty in 1945.

"I feel it’s my duty to do what I can to help the war effort," Ms. Miller said. "I’ve been working on the floor for a few weeks now, and I think it’s important to be doing something useful."
Old Memories, Old Friends--Old Capitol

Six Famous Persons to Appear On University Lecture Series

Long before the outcome of war in the Pacific, Eugene V. Debs, one of America's greatest leaders, was planning to appear at the United States Capitol in January 1943. That year, Debs was known as an outstanding authority in Asia and the peoples of the Far East. Following his death in 1926, his funeral service was held at the Capitol.

The recent return of Pearl Harbor and the importance of the Pacific have renewed interest in Debs. As a result, the Capitol has agreed to make the Capitol the focal point of a lecture series on the war in the Pacific.

This year the Capitol has invited to speak here the following persons: William Henry Chamberlain, who will debate with William Henry Chamberlain, Jr., on the China question; Jan Struther, who will speak here every week on the war in the Pacific; and Alfred Noyes, who will speak on the war in the Far East.

On the program for the lecture series will be other notable speakers, including Lewis Mumford, who will speak on the war in Europe; Alfred Noyes, who will speak on the war in the Pacific; and Jan Struther, who will speak on the war in Asia.

The Capitol has also invited to speak here two other notable speakers, including Lewis Mumford, who will speak on the war in Europe; and Alfred Noyes, who will speak on the war in the Pacific.

Freshmen and women students will take a new role this fall in the student forensic program at the University of Iowa. The public-speaking program will be managed mostly by first-year students and women students, according to Dr. C. O. Minniss, head of the speech department, director of the program.

Those who make up the student community, debates, and publishing faculty for 1943-44 will be officially designated as members of the Association of Forensic Organizations for Victory. Participation in this program last year was made up of those women students and in open to all students in the university.

Membership is divided into three groups: (1) speaker (including freshmen); (2) consultants, those who are selected from the expert group, and (3) experimental participants, who have demonstrated by their thinking and argumentation their ability to represent the university in major public appearances.

The program is expected that your student group, along with many others in the college, graduate, and professional schools, will give the program the kind of active support that has made it so effective in the past. This year, the program will be divided into three sections, each with its own schedule of activities. The sections will be as follows:

1. The first section will be the Forensic Program. This section will be handled by the Forensics and Debate League and will consist of all activities related to forensics and debate.

2. The second section will be the Women's Program. This section will be handled by the forensics and debate league and will consist of all activities related to forensics and debate for women.

3. The third section will be the Intercollegiate Program. This section will be handled by the forensics and debate league and will consist of all activities related to forensics and debate for both men and women.

The major objectives of the program are to:

1. To provide a stimulating and challenging environment for the development of public speaking and debate skills.

2. To provide an opportunity for students to participate in activities that will develop their critical thinking and argumentation skills.

3. To provide an opportunity for students to participate in activities that will develop their team-building and collaboration skills.

4. To provide an opportunity for students to participate in activities that will develop their leadership and organizational skills.

5. To provide an opportunity for students to participate in activities that will develop their communication and presentation skills.

The program will be conducted by Dr. C. O. Minniss, head of the speech department, and will be under the direction of the student community. The program will be open to all students in the university.

Hawkeyes Prepare for '43 Grid Season

Resume Drill
After Three Weeks' Rest

Freshmen in Majority Of 42 Gridlers Who Reported This Summer

Although football has wound up the long summer vacation, the 1943 University of Iowa Hawkeye grid team is considered by many educators and former gridsters to be one of the strongest in the Big Ten Conference.

In the final count, 42 players reported, bringing the total up to 187. The majority of these players are freshmen, many of whom played on the all Freshmen grid team in the summer session. Among the returning players are 10 letter winners from last season, which under Coach Faurot's leadership, is promised to be one of the most successful Hawkeye teams in recent years.

Among the major additions to the team are 12 new faces, including a number of students who have played in important high school games and who are expected to add greatly to the team's scoring ability.

The first practice session of the season will be held on Tuesday, July 22, at 4 p.m. at the indoor stadium. The official practice schedule will be announced at a later date.

Former Stars

Coach Faurot has announced the appointment of three assistant coaches for the 1943 season. These men are: Willy Nadinger, head of the University of Iowa, and assistant director of the school; Ed Faurot, head coach; and Robert Kappel, head coach.

W.R.A. Offers Various Sports

The Women's Recreational Association has started a recreational program for the coming year. It will offer every woman student in the campus community a way to fit in physical activity.

The program includes the following activities:

- Swimming
- Turfball
- Tennis
- Basketball
- Hiking
- Aerobics
- Dancing
- Cross-country running
- Gymnastics

the aid of the new setup in the indoor gym in the spring.

The indoor gymnasium is one of the latest things in gymnastics. It is constructed to take care of the needs of the members of the Iowa Pre-Flight school and will be open to the cadets by the military department.

The main piece of equipment, and the main feature of the gymnasium, is the new setup shown in the pictures here. It consists of six vertical rope climbs, the physical training for naval 28 feet long. An old auto seat, avation saving as it is taught here, typical of the improvisations that are used in a gymnasium, is a rings when it is finished, and it is expected that it will be completed within the next few weeks. On the top of the porch roof will be constructed the signal bridge for operating semaphore, zigzag and blinker signaling to the members of the military department.
The signal bridge will be open on all sides,
with pole arms and signum flags
and other specific skills.

Another feature of the summer program is the construction of a

SUI Scottish Highlanders

To Have All-Woman Roster

By Doris Campbell

The "Cameron Highlanders" are not nearly so familiar to the University of Iowa campus as the Scottish Highlanders, who, with their tartan coats and bagpipes, can often be seen in the distance. But a new and more modern version of the old-fashioned Scottish Highlanders will be making its debut at the Field House this afternoon, as part of the Homecoming Round-Up. The women of SUI, the Student Unit for International Cooperation, have decided to form a group of their own, to be known as the "SUI Scottish Highlanders."

The group was founded earlier this fall by the Women's International Co-op, who decided to form a group that would combine the best features of both Scottish and Scottish-Yankee Highlanders. The women of SUI have been practicing their bagpipe playing and Highland dancing for several weeks, and are now ready to take the stage at the Round-Up.

The group is made up of 12 women, all of whom have been members of the Women's International Co-op for at least a year. Each woman has been trained in the bagpipe and Highland dance, and has a deep love for both traditions. The group is under the direction of a traditional Scottish musician, and is led by a traditional Scottish dancer, both of whom are members of the Women's International Co-op.

The SUI Scottish Highlanders will be performing a variety of dances, including the Highland reel, the Highland fling, and the Highland sword dance. They will also be playing a variety of bagpipes, including the traditional Scottish bagpipe and the Scottish-Yankee bagpipe.

The group is also under the direction of a traditional Scottish musician, who is responsible for selecting the music and choreographing the dances. The group is also under the direction of a traditional Scottish dancer, who is responsible for leading the dancers in their movements.

The SUI Scottish Highlanders are not only a source of entertainment for the homecoming festivities, but also a way to promote international cooperation and cultural understanding. The group is a testament to the power of tradition and the importance of preserving it for future generations.

The SUI Scottish Highlanders will be performing at the Homecoming Round-Up on Friday, October 10th, at 4:00 p.m. at the Field House.
