Yanks Knock
59 Jap Planes
Out of Action*10 Grounded Bombers
Destroyed in Battle
Over Wewak Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Friday (AP)—Allied bombers and fighters shot 59 Japanese fighters out of action and destroyed at least 10 grounded bombers during a great air battle over the big enemy base at Wewak, New Guinea. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

At least 48 of the fighters were shot down. The remaining 11 were listed as probables.

Details of the smashing victory were contained in a communiqué which also told of the capture of Malahang anchorage near Malahang airfield two miles east of Lae.

The Wewak attack followed the recent neutralization of Dagua and But airfields there and was concentrated against the remaining two fields at Boram and Wewak. "Sixty-six tons of bombs were concentrated in the target area in less than 15 minutes, scoring heavily on runways and dispersal areas which contained from 20 to 40 parked aircraft," the communiqué said.

"Direct hits destroyed 10 enemy bombers and started many fires among the others. Two large fuel dumps were set afire.

"Some 60 to 70 fighters intercepted in an effort to halt our attack. For nearly an hour the enemy attacked viciously but failed to break our formations.

"In brilliant defense, our bombers shot down 39 of the enemy and probably destroyed 10 more. Our fighters accounted for nine definite and one probable.

"The total enemy loss thus aggregated 59 fighters shot out of action, in addition to heavy damage on the ground.

"Our losses in proportion were very light, some of the bombers being damaged, but all reached base. One fighter is missing and others sustained damage.

"Continuous air reinforcements are being brought up by the enemy in an attempt to redress his recent disastrous losses. His air strength in this theater now is larger than ever."

These new enemy plane losses raised to well over 400 the number of Japanese aircraft destroyed in the Wewak area in the past six weeks. Most of the planes have been caught parked, wing to wing, on the airfields.

At Lae, where American and Australian troops are converging from three sides, steady progress was reported.

A center of resistance at Edward's plantation on the Markham valley road west of Lae was overcome and heavy losses inflicted on the enemy. The plantation is less than five miles from Lae.

Swiss Radio Foresees Possible Nazi Occupation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Swiss Schwarzenburg radio said yesterday that German "encirclement" as a result of the Nazi's occupation of Italy had cut Switzerland off from all commerce with the outside world and added that occupation by axis forces must be foreseen as a possibility.

The broadcast, recorded by OWI, said the little Alpine country "has summoned a considerable number of troops to defend herself."

In House SpotlightT.R.'s Attempted Killer—
Schrank Dies

WAPUN, Wis. (AP)—John Flammang Schrank, 67, the former New York bartender who wrote poetry and tried to kill "Teddy" Roosevelt, died Wednesday night after nearly 31 years in the Central State hospital.

Adjudged insane after his attempted assassination of former President Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee on Oct. 14, 1912, Schrank was committed to the hospital Nov. 22, 1912.

During his 31 years of confinement, Schrank never had a visitor nor received a letter, according to Dr. R. A. Remley, superintendent of the hospital. He had no known relatives and had nothing to do with other inmates.

Born in Bavaria, Germany, Schrank came to the United States when he was 12 and lived in New York City. He worked as a bartender and spent nights composing poetry and studying politics, he said at his trial.

When Roosevelt began his third term campaign as a Bull Moose, Schrank brooded, he testified, and then decided to kill him. He followed Roosevelt to Milwaukee.

Schrank was among thousands waiting to see Roosevelt, when the former president trotted from a Milwaukee hotel to an automobile.

Roosevelt entered the open automobile and waved to the crowd. Schrank only a few feet away, shot him, using a .38 caliber pistol. The bullet struck Roosevelt in the chest and his knees buckled. He clutched the door of the car, but remained standing.

Roosevelt's bodyguard and police jumped onto Schrank as the crowd shouted "Kill him! Kill him!" but Roosevelt commanded, "Don't hurt him; bring me to me here."

After looking at Schrank for a moment Roosevelt ordered officers to see that no violence was done.

An examination revealed that the bullet had gone through Roosevelt's overcoat, a 50 page manuscript of his speech and his spectacle case before it entered his body. He delivered an 80-minute speech and then went to a hospital where the bullet was removed. A week later he resumed his unsuccessful campaign for a third term.

Ask Postponed
Father Draft*Senators Propose
Congressional Probe
Of Labor Hoarding'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal that the general draft of fathers be deferred pending a congressional investigation of "labor hoarding" by war plants was advanced with by-partisan backing yesterday at hearings of the Wheeler bill.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), sponsor of the bill to forbid induction of fathers, suggested it and promptly got support from Senator Holman (R-Ore.). Both contend that workmen, including single men eligible for the draft, are being employed in unnecessary numbers by some war plants.

Holman said a report on the subject by an investigator for the senate's Truman committee had "been buried."

Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) of the special war investigating committee, denied, however, that the report had been pigeon-holed.

17-Year-Olds

The question of drafting 17-year-olds, rather than fathers, also was raised but quickly passed over.

Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the senate military committee brought it up when Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, naval personnel chief, was in the witness chair. Reynolds said he was not advocating this step himself, but that some persons had and he would like to have Jacobs views.

Jacobs replied that the percentage of rejections among selectees would increase considerably if the draft age were lowered. While the navy takes some 17-year-old volunteers, he said, it rejects many because of their immaturity.

Yugoslav Guerrillas Capture Country's Most Vital Seaport

LONDON (AP)—Split, Yugoslavia's most important seaport, has fallen to guerrilla patriot armies after two days siege. Yugoslav communiqué said last night.

The communiqué, issued in the name of the Yugoslav army of liberation, said the axis garrison of the Adriatic seaport was believed to have surrendered in the last 24 hours.

The guerrillas were reported attacking Ogulin, 30 miles inland from the Adriatic in northern Yugoslavia. Guerrillas already hold a large part of the Susak-Zagreb railway in that region east of Fiume.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) of the special war investigating committee, denied, however, that the report had been pigeon-holed.

Finland Informally Notifies Germany of Desire For Peace—Official Affirms Earlier Statement

By JOHN COLBURN

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Finland in effect gave Germany official, though informal, notice yesterday that the Finns were tired of fighting alongside the Nazis and wanted peace.

Premier Edwin Linkomies provided the official warning by announcing that he was the anonymous Finnish spokesman who said Sept. 11 that Finland regretted being at war with England and desired peace with Russia if she could be assured of her pre-1939 independence and territorial status.

Linkomies' informal pronouncement of a definite turn in Finnish foreign policy caused astonishment in Finland, where the people generally have been barred by rigorous censorship from any information on the government's conduct of international affairs.

Nazi Views

There was no immediate news of German reaction to the Finnish notice, but doubts were expressed in Berlin only Wednesday, official Nazi advice said, of Sept. 11 statements regarding Finnish plans to withdraw from the war.

Linkomies' announcement clarified that point for the Germans, as well as for the Finnish people who have been fighting as co-belligerents of the Nazis against Russia since July, 1941.

Finland Warned

Thus, Linkomies had warned his country to be prepared in case Germany, in a reprisal move, should cut off Finland's food supply. In permitting the premier to make the declaration, the Finnish government apparently had felt also that there no longer was danger of the Nazis occupying Finland—a fear expressed less than a year ago.

Still in Finland, however, were 80,000 Nazi troops, most of them facing the Russians on the northern Finnish front.

Congress to Receive
F. R. Message Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress expects a special message from President Roosevelt today on the "progress of the war."

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), majority leader of the senate, has said the message will contain no legislative recommendations.

The significance of the Finnish political rebuff against Germany bore more significance in the light of the fact that Linkomies said Sept. 11 for the first time that Finland had but one year's food reserves. Previously, the government had insisted that the Nazis held an economic stranglehold on the Finns.

Linkomies' announcement clarified that point for the Germans, as well as for the Finnish people who have been fighting as co-belligerents of the Nazis against Russia since July, 1941.

Amid all these German reverses announced by Moscow, the Berlin radio sounded another warning to the homeland—warning of strong Russian attacks and "breakthroughs which later were cleared up" on the central front.

The broadcast recorded by The Associated Press said the Russians were using masses of tanks and infantry in an attempt to spearhead their way toward Smolensk and Roslavl, German bastions above Bryansk.

The situation at Bryansk itself was not clear. The Russians said their troops continued to advance, apparently encircling that hinge of the enemy's central and southern fronts.

Back the Attack!

Secretary Morgenthau made one of the most accurate statements of the entire war the other night when he said that the attack on Italy "is only the beginning of the war for the United States." In denouncing "foolish, childish over-optimism," he said that the conquest of Sicily, which is "merely an outpost of the fortress of Europe," cost the allies materiel losses ranging up to 54 percent.

We could probably win the war now regardless of how optimistic we became. It would take longer, and be much more costly—but that is always the price when you attempt to combine victory with complacent over-optimism. For over-optimism is the inevitable travelling companion of ease and false security—which are in turn the prerequisites for lags in production, as well as in the sale of bonds.

Because we are, in a military sense, just beginning to fight, the present war bond drive becomes at once more important than the two previous ones. We cannot coast to victory, as some people believe, now that we have gained the upper hand. We must drive all the harder—we must "BACK THE ATTACK!" in every possible way.

The best way to back the attack during the third war bond drive is to buy as many bonds as possible. Iowa Citians will have a chance to do just that tomorrow at 2 p.m. during the war bond auction to be held on Washington street in the center of town.

Remember Morgenthau's statement that "this is only the beginning of the war for the United States," and let "Back the Attack!" be our slogan for the day.

Short Memory

Public memory is generally short-lived. A public service well performed by either an individual or a company is soon forgotten—if, in fact, it is ever recognized.

For many years, candidates for political offices and elected public officials have made votes and popularity for themselves by attacking so-called big business. Many have even gone so far as to promote the substitute of government-owned enterprise (socialism) for private enterprise. And they have promoted, temporarily at least, by such appeals to an uninformed or misinformed public.

With his bridgehead secure, General Clark shifted at once from the defensive to the offensive yesterday in the dangerous center section of his line south of Mount Eboli. As was to be expected, his attack was aimed up the level lands between the Sele and Calore rivers, suitable for

It is therefore interesting to look at the record. Industries, such as railroads, oil, public utilities, fire insurance and chain stores, which have taken the worst lambasting at the hands of political prima donnas, stand today among the few enterprises in the nation whose prices or services have actually been reduced steadily, while inflation was at our throats, or their prices have not advanced, or unavoidable advances have been at the very minimum amount compared with other goods and services.

The question then arises, did constant political warfare against such industries over the past generation, tend to build strong and efficient companies that would withstand attack, or were these private enterprises established on such a sound basis at the beginning that they have been able to render the maximum service for a minimum cost, in spite of the attacks?

Look at it any way you want—the fact remains that big business, if you please—actually the biggest business in our country—is giving the people more for their money, dollar for dollar, than at any time in history.

Reflections on Post-War World--

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Here are some excerpt-thoughts from a talk I made yesterday to the New York State Newspaper Publishers' convention:

We are faced with world revolution as well as a World war. It will not be over when the war is over. We must plan our way. It is not a new revolution, not alone a political revolution, but a revolution of ethics and culture. It started unnoticed in the revolutionary philosophies of Nietzsche and Freud, as well as Marx.

While Marx is the glorified prophet of the anti-Democratic societies which have sprung into being in ever-widening scope since the last war, Nietzsche and Freud are the non-political re-socializers whose so-called enlightenment lured great masses of people away from their ethics and social ways and plunged them into this dazzling materialistic era in which we are now groping our way toward yet indiscernible solutions.

The Soviets first brought these revolutionary theories into practice in a way which aims at every foundation of our historic democratic way of life—not only toward the abolition of capitalism, but the uprooting of our conceptions of moral justice which were founded on the Ten Commandments and Christian teachings.

I say this now without criticism, but as pure statement of fact, for we must discard both criticism and prejudice if we are to see where we are now, or where we are going. Today, weighed truth is the rarest article yet unrationed—or has it been rationed by censorship?

The Communist experiment has now drifted into Socialism in Russia, but, on the way, it inspired such countering, imitating systems of single-headed materialism as Fascism in Italy and Nazism in Germany.

Fascism or Nazism will be stamped out or chased underground as a hunted minority. But Russia is apt to come out of this war the dominant nation of Europe and Asia, and, in my opinion, in the following years, she is apt to become the greatest nation on earth.

Russia would be the last nation on earth to be swayed in her politics by emotionalism, so we must look at these things as coldly and as straight as she does. And we must get our people to look at them the same way. Greatest Revolution—

This is the greatest revolution in the history of the world and its philosophies have encroached upon this hemisphere into your mind and mine. We have borrowed greatly from the totalitarianism this revolution preaches as its first commandment.

We have inched our democratic way closer and closer toward centralized federal government controls in various ways, even toward Socialism a little, and certainly we—by our new laws and federal actions—are far down the road toward establishing that the state is no longer the creature of man, but the man is the creature of the state.

To meet this revolution, the government seems to have primarily in mind some kind of a new social security and labor union democracy for post-war.

The cure for unemployment is employment—not insurance. The cure for old age is a good wage and stable country in which savings are protected—not a tax collection scheme which drains money out of pockets in a volatile economy where inflation and racing or falling prices make social security insecure.

The fundamentals of security are not in government tax reservoirs, but in economic stability which protects employment, wages, prices, leisure, private insurance.

This is a middle class country, unlike Europe and Asia where there are only two classes, the very rich and the masses of very poor. In this nation, our superior democratic way of life has lifted the average standard of living so that our average middle class person has an automobile, a radio, electric comforts, a home, etc., beyond the hopes of the average European or Asiatic.

This, I think, is the fundamental thing wrong in Washington. They have forgotten or abused the great middle class.

2 Groups Getting Rich—

There are only two organizations of people getting rich out of this war—the labor unions and the churches. This is because neither is subject to taxation. No other wealth possibly can spring up under the 90 percent excess profits tax.

I am not afraid of what this wealth will do to the churches, but what it will do to the force and power of the labor union leader is a problem to warrant the attention of all, including the union man.

There must be a new birth of liberalism, founded on justice in government for free average (middle class) man, and an international liberalism founded on the same principles of Christian and democratic justice.

The old professional liberals have gone over to totalitarianism. They like subjection of man to the state, just as long as they can run the state.

The New Deal is burrowing its head in the slums and its hand in the ballot box toward continuous re-elections. Where then is leadership for liberalism to spring, if not from the press?

You know your communities as perhaps no other citizen knows them. You deal with the public, with all business, with the workers, the politicians, the churches, the bankers.

Your business peculiarly fits you to understand the difference between a man-made state and a state-made man. You have only to compare your own newspaper with Pravda or the Voelki Sher-Beobachter or the Popolo Romano.

Good leadership can not be conservative or reactionary, or, in fact, bound by any labels in the revolution. It should be sympathetic to the interests of all groups, analytical of the propaganda causes of all and strive only to be just and sound in the interests alone of the great mass average.

Nazi Effort to Halt Or Delay Allies At Salerno Fails

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The Nazi effort to halt or long delay allied invasion of the Italian mainland via the Salerno bridgehead appears to have failed.

A hasty retreat of German forces confronting Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army on the south and central sectors is strongly indicated. Their escape routes are already threatened by the western spearhead of the British Eighth Army, surging up the coastal road from Cape Scalea.

With his bridgehead secure, General Clark shifted at once from the defensive to the offensive yesterday in the dangerous center section of his line south of Mount Eboli. As was to be expected, his attack was aimed up the level lands between the Sele and Calore rivers, suitable for

GOP Moves Toward Unity in '44

By JACK STINNETT

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich.—The Republican Postwar Advisory Council conference just held here probably made greater strides in uniting the party than any move since before the 1940 convention, but with several serious defections.

(1)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York walked out in a bit of a huff, not as nearly as I can find out, because the parley ignored his all-out postwar plan for a united nations military alliance, but Sen. Robert A. Taft's "home front committee" wouldn't take a more solid stand on several issues. Dewey was a member of the Taft committee and although his opposition views were said to have resulted in some modifications of the original report, the Taft-Dewey breach through which Wendell L. Willkie walked to the 1940 nomination apparently was as wide as ever.

(2)—Mr. Willkie, who garnered more popular votes for president than any Republican candidate ever has, wasn't on hand—and if about 95 percent of the "council of 49" has its way, never will be.

(3)—The explanation from the floor that the two clauses in the adopted Vandenberg report which would commit this nation to a policy of "peace and security (of the world)" ought to be ultimately established upon other sanctions than force" and "with organized justice in a free world" is open to the charge that the party has only now caught up with Woodrow Wilson and is merely seeking a revival of the League of Nations and the World Court.

(4)—That the Taft committee's "home front" report is too indefinite, except in its charges against the New Deal, and that in occasional positive statements, it merely bids for the vote of New

Local High Schools Open Grid Season Today

City High vs. Moline, U High Against Kalona; Both Here

City High—

When City high meets Moline tonight on Shrader field they will oppose one of the largest teams in the history of the Maroons. Moline's team, however, is lacking in experience, as only four lettermen are playing, and only one of these men was a regular last year.

The experienced players of the Maroons are: Wayne Wimmonson who played guard last year but who is likely to be used at right tackle in tonight's game, Ralph Havener will play center, Elwood Banker at end, and Malcolm Bosse at quarterback. The rest of the lineup will be made up of sophomores and juniors who have had little or no previous football training.

City high's starting lineup will be:

Don Trumpp	C
Tom Hirt	G
Rueban Snider	G
Don Winslow	T
Dick Lee	T
Bill Orr	E
Tug Wilson	QB
Bob Todd	RH
Don Lay	LH
George Ware	FB
Wayne Hopp	LB

Coach George Sennett expects his starting eleven to be fairly strong but is worried about a shortage of good reserve material to send into the game in case of injuries.

One of the chief assets of the Maroons is a strong defense. Also the men are fairly successful at gaining on ground plays.

Coach Wally Schwank, of City high, says that the Little Hawks will stress the power of its line in defense and running plays and also the use of aerial offensive, in their game against Moline.

Yankees Win Ninth Consecutive Game By Trouncing A's

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees won their ninth consecutive game yesterday by trouncing the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 1 and found that they may have a southpaw pitcher available for world series service after all.

Lefty Marius Russo, who has been bothered by a sore arm for two seasons, made a bid for a series pitching assignment by holding the Athletics to four hits, striking out one and walking only one. In addition he himself made two singles and scored two runs.

The Yankees' 11-hit assault on Luman Harris and Tony Ciola was topped by Charley (King Kong) Keller, who hit his 28th home run and second in two days with one on to climax a four-run seventh inning rally that clinched the game.

Hawkeyes to Hold Another Intra-Squad Game This Afternoon

Another regulation intra-squad game today, the second within a week, will help to prepare the Iowa Hawkeyes for their season's football opener at Great Lakes Sept. 25.

Coach "Slip" Madigan said that the squads would be divided into Blue and White groups. Last Saturday, the White squad, which included the present first team, defeated the Blues, 42-7.

While the coach scouts Great Lakes and Purdue at the naval training station near Chicago Saturday, the Hawkeye squad will have a dress rehearsal with the players outfitted in their game uniforms. Glenn Devine, backfield coach, will be in charge.

The Saturday workout will be fairly light, consisting mainly of signal work and polishing of plays, because the men will be weary from the Friday regulation game. Coach Madigan indicated.

Tom Hand, letterman who is serving as reserve center and guard, injured his knee slightly in Wednesday's practice but was back in action yesterday.

Service in the armed forces has taken two promising freshmen.

Jim Phillips of Webster City, halfback, expects to pass his final physical examination for the army air corps; while Ted Nelson, 245-pound lineman from Fairfield, has been inducted into the army.

Departure of Phillips was especially felt by the coaches, because he was developing as a passer and runner

Coach Madigan indicated.

seventh on a walk and two singles, but Manager Billy Southworth's boys became ruffled and added two more tallies on Whitley Kurowski's eleventh home run of the year with one man on base.

Michigan to Break Old Custom; to Open Grid Season Away

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Owning one of the nation's great football stadiums, the University of Michigan makes it a practice to play at home as often as possible, particularly on opening day of a new gridiron season.

The Wolverines, well advertised in advance notices as this year's "dream team," will depart from custom tomorrow by opening against Camp Grant in a high school stadium at Rockford, Ill.

For many reasons this is a worrisome proposition for Coach Fritz Crisler.

Of no particular balm to Crisler is the fact that Michigan's only previous away-from-home opener, designed largely as a chance to show off Tommy Harmon, resulted in a 41 to 0 conquest of California's Golden Bears at Berkeley in 1940.

This year's opener at Camp Grant was scheduled away from the vast Michigan stadium to give spectators a chance to see their own team in action.

Crisler, never one to underrate an opponent, became acutely alarmed this week when Camp Grant's 23 to 0 crushing of Illinois was followed by appointment of Charley Bachman as Camp Grant's civilian coach.

Prof. Louis C. Zopf Arranges Traditional Iowa Homecoming

Planned to fit the 1943 necessities for wartime economy, the University of Iowa's annual Homecoming will feature events traditional since the first Homecoming in 1912, but will sacrifice tradition where necessary, to meet the requirements for simplicity in conforming with the war effort.

A 14-member committee headed by Prof. L. C. Zopf of the college of pharmacy is now shaping plans for the events which will welcome back to the campus for the 32nd year those Hawkeyes who find it possible to negotiate trips without straining public transportation or violating gas rationing rules.

The program will begin Friday evening, Nov. 5, with the "Beat-Illinois" mass pep meeting, to be followed by the customary receptions. The reception for men will be held at the Triangle club, while that for university women alumnae will be at the University club.

The Homecoming dance, which is usually held Friday evening before the Homecoming game, this year will be Saturday night in Iowa Union. Plans are also being made for entertainment about the campus Saturday morning.

A noon luncheon for "I" men, winners of the letter in athletics, will be held Saturday, following the annual meeting of the alumni "I" club.

Iowa's famous corn monument will rise as usual this year, though its form may be so modified by war conditions that it will have to be fashioned from non-critical materials. The use of a substitute A. S. T. P. students, their guests and parents. These will be used in a one-hour program, "Voice of the People," which will be broadcast over WMT sometime later, Professor Harper said.

In addition to these informal interviews, WMT plans to make recordings of the Seawhawk band, which will be playing for the graduation dance of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school, and of the Sunday night sings, which are held in the main lounge of Iowa Union every Sunday night at 6 o'clock.

29th Battalion Dance To Be Held Tomorrow

The mouth of the bird known as chuck-will's-widow is so large it can swallow hummingbirds and sparrows whole.

The 29th battalion formal graduation dance will be held tomorrow night in the main lounge of Iowa Union from 8 until 11:30. Music will be furnished by the Seahawks, the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school's dance band.

Members of the cadet committee in charge of arrangements include Cadet J. E. Brown, Cadet S. J. Todryk, Cadet W. M. Taylor, Cadet T. Z. Machuderski, Cadet W. H. Beroth and Cadet G. Byers Jr.

Chaperons will be Lieut. and Mrs. G. H. Otterness, Lieut. (j.g.) and Mrs. W. H. Kirkham and Lieut. (j.g.) and Mrs. T. J. Craig.

Forum Will Be Held For Speech Students Over WSUI Today

University speech students will participate in the second student forum program over WSUI this afternoon at 3 o'clock which will speak on the question, "What Are the Factors in the Cooperation Between Russia and the United States in the Post-War World?"

The speakers will be Eloise Davis, A4 of Birmingham, Ala.; Rosemary Howe, A4 of Darlington, Wis.; Mary Langland, A4 of Nevada, Iowa; Jack Russell, A3 of Perry, and Eleanor Keagy, A4 of Ottumwa.

Writings of Mexican Journalist Published By Prof. E. Mapes

Prof. Erwin K. Mapes of the Romance language department has recently published a book containing the written works of the Mexican writer, Manuel Gutiérrez Nájera.

Professor Mapes had to do considerable research in order to compile this book, as Nájera was a journalist and used about 20 pseudonyms. He spent two summers in Mexico City, working on this research and related problems, turning pages of old newspaper files, (of which the Biblioteca Nacional has a practically complete collection), and photographing on microfilm everything that he found helpful.

Professor Mapes has also done a great amount of research on four or five other Spanish-American writers of the closing years of the 19th century, who were known as the Modernists. According to Professor Mapes, the work of the Modernist group was not only the most original in the history of Spanish American literature, but the best from the standpoint of literary technique.

Another volume of Nájera's writings, will shortly go to press. This second book will contain the writer's best poems, also collected by Professor Mapes.

Professor Mapes has prepared a paper on his research into the many pseudonyms of Manuel Gutiérrez Nájera, which he will deliver at the Research club in the near future.

Engineers Develop New Water Supply Standards

New standards, on air gaps and backflow preventers, developed with the assistance of University of Iowa engineers, will eliminate the pollution of water supply caused by faulty plumbing connections and fixtures.

These standards, which will be adopted universally, are described by Dean F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering and Prof. A. A. Kalinske in the magazine, "Industrial Standardization."

Five years ago the committee, of which Dean Dawson was a member, began work. It was necessary for them to evolve proper installation and design standards. The American Standards association approved the standard on air gaps in January, 1942, and on backflow preventers in June, 1943.

Dean Dawson hopes that these standards will be incorporated into the plumbing codes of states and cities and that they will become part of the working hours of plumbers and health officials.

He said: "So far as prevention of water pollution from faulty connections and plumbing fixtures is concerned, these standards, if enforced, will achieve the desired results. But it also is necessary that installation be correctly made by persons familiar with health hazards of back-siphonage."

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Public Health association sponsored the research on the standards.

Local Liquor Sales Increased to $18,753 In Month of August

The sale of liquor in Iowa City increased more than two thousand dollars during the month of August, with a total of $18,753.33 as compared with sales amounting to $16,492.31 in July. The state total for the month of August amounted to $1,342,369.60, an increase of $104,864.14 over liquor sales in July.

In contrast, the sale of war stamps and bonds sold by liquor stores dropped approximately three thousand dollars during August, with sales amounting to only $1,932.75 in Iowa City. The total amount of sales in the state was $240,750.77.

Duties Will Include Delivery of Posters, Vital War Information

Twenty-four Iowa City Boy Scouts have volunteered as dispatch bearers in answer to a recent message from President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Boy Scouts of America when he appointed them as official dispatch bearers for the duration.

"The fine work the Boy Scouts of America did in helping to win the last war," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "leads me to ask scouts and scouters to take on an important commission as government dispatch bearers for the office of war information."

As a dispatch bearer your tasks will be to carry to the people of your community vital information prepared by your government. It is information which our civilians must have as we fight on to a final victory.

"I know that the nation can count on you to perform this service willingly and faithfully," the president said.

Distribution of Posters

The dispatch bearers' duties involve the distribution of all war posters prepared by the OWI and sent to the local scout offices. Army and navy posters, and any other material vital to the prosecution of the war and the final victory, will be delivered by the Boy Scouts throughout the entire nation.

Prior to this appointment by the president, local scouts had already taken over the Iowa City district under the supervision of the chamber of commerce, and delivered posters relative to Christmas mail to service men and the sale of bonds for the third war loan drive.

As yet, only towns of more than 2,500 inhabitants have this dispatch service, but Owen B. Thiel, scout executive for the Iowa River Valley council, plans to have dispatch bearer service in all towns of the council where there are Boy Scouts as soon as the service is completely organized.

Identification Card

Upon "enlistment," each scout dispatch bearer is given a card which identifies him as an official messenger of the O. W. I. The card gives the scout's name and date of enlistment and bears the signatures of Elmer Davis, director of war information, Elbert T. Fretwell, chief scout executive, and the local scout executive and

Whalebone Presented to Museum By Curator

The university museum has received a collection of baleen or whalebone from H. T. Davies, curator of the state museum at Raleigh, N. C.

Baleen, more commonly known as whalebone, consists of the semi-circular bony plates which are suspended from the upper portion or crown of the whale's mouth. Varying in length from two to 12 feet, and with a width of approximately two feet, they form a fringe-like sieve for retaining the food in the whale's mouth.

Although baleen has no commercial value at present, many fortunes were made hunting it in former days when it was used for making women's corsets and buggy whips.

The new collection is on exhibit in mammal hall of the museum in Macbride hall.
