Reports Say Reds Crack Dnieper Defenses; Hull May Attend Anglo-U.S.-Russ Conference

Soviet Columns Found on Past Captured Smolensk

LONDON, Sunday (AP)—Soviet columns found on past captured Smolensk, the Red army's greatest 1943 victory, in pursuit of the fleeing Germans, Moscow dispatches said today, as some reports said Russian spearheads had cracked the great Dnieper river line at a half dozen points from Smolensk to Irtovsk Kiev.

An Associated Press dispatch from Moscow said Gen. Vassily Sokolovsky's troops which battered down the last German defenses of Smolensk and Roslav, 65 miles to the south, pressed on immediately along the Moscow-Minsk highway which Napoleon traveled in and out of Russia.

They were aiming now at Orsha, 65 miles beyond the fallen central front bastion, and also at Vitebsk on the highway to Latvia. At Smolensk the Germans have erected powerful defenses around the Vitebsk lakes.

Moscow shook with the thunder of 224 guns saluting the victory and crowds cheered the broadcast of Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin's order of the day calling Smolensk "the most important strategic center of German defenses in the western direction."

The Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said Sokolovsky's troops dislodged the Germans from the fortifications covering the approaches to Smolensk and then broke into the northern outskirts of the once vital Nazi stronghold on Friday.

"Fierce street fighting ensued. By the end of the day the whole northern part of the city had been cleared of the enemy. This morning (Saturday) the city was carried by assault.

"In this way Smolensk, the most important center of resistance, has been liberated from the Germans." The capture of Smolensk turned the northern flank of the Dnieper river line the Germans once expected to hold as an east wall deep in Russia.

No natural obstacles bar a Russian westward drive in the area and the Soviet army can continue its advance without risk of a Nazi counter-attack from there because the left flank will be protected by the Pripiet marshes.

Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, cabled that the highway leading west from Smolensk, the finest in the Soviet union, was reported littered with beaten German troops and broken machines.

The communiques also announced continuing Soviet advances northwest of Smolensk where 60 towns and villages were captured and over 600 Germans killed. A break in German morale in this area was indicated when 65 Germans came over to the Red army with their arms.

Meanwhile London newspapers, quoting Reuters dispatches from Moscow, said that Russian troops were fighting their way across the Dnieper at several points. They did not make clear, however, whether the west bank had been reached and held. The capture of Smolensk involved a crossing of the Dnieper at its headwaters where the stream was narrow and its strategic value as a barrier was less important than in the south.

Aussies Near Finschhafen

Less Than One Mile From Supply Base On New Guinea Isle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that Australian troops have fought their way against Japanese opposition across the Bumi river within three quarters of a mile of the enemy air and supply depot base of Finschhafen, New Guinea.

The south shore beachhead was firmly established and the Aussies drove steadily toward the town, which is on the Huon peninsula only 75 miles from Japan's strategic island of New Britain. Enemy resistance was bitter.

The Japanese airforce, which lost more than 40 planes last Wednesday trying to break up the Australians in their amphibious landings six miles north of Finschhafen, tried to hamper the drive but outnumbered Lightnings turned back a strong enemy formation.

"Our ground forces in the face of enemy opposition effected a crossing of the Bumi river and are driving south towards the town," today's communique said.

"Four fighters intercepted a force of nine enemy bombers covered by 30 fighters approaching to attack our ground troops. The enemy planes were forced to jettison their bombs harmlessly before reaching the target. One enemy fighter was shot down and another probably destroyed. We lost two fighters."

Associates Describe Secretary's Presence There as Imperative

By RICHARD MASSOCK WASHINGTON (AP)—High importance of the Moscow conference on American-British-Soviet war and post-war collaboration appeared increasingly likely last night to bring attendance of Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

While Hull informed reporters after a meeting with Ambassador William H. Standley and President Roosevelt that neither he nor the government had reached the question of whether he would go to Moscow, some of the secretary's associates termed his presence "imperative."

It also appeared possible that a new ambassador would accompany the American delegation, since Standley intends to resign his post without returning. Determined to get out of diplomacy, the admiral said goodbye to Foreign Commissar Molotov when he took leave of the Soviet capital a few days ago.

W. Averill Harriman, lend-lease expediter at London, is expected to succeed Standley. He attended the conference with Hull and Standley which the secretary interrupted to go to the White House.

Harriman and others have been mentioned for the leadership of the American conference delegation. Britain will be represented by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

An apparent Soviet desire to collaborate with the United States and Great Britain has been reported to the state department and high officials have expressed the view that the meeting calls for an American diplomat of cabinet rank on a par with that of Molotov and Eden.

The president's appointment of Edward R. Stettinius Jr., to succeed Sumner Welles as undersecretary of state immediately prompted speculation that the former lend-lease administrator might accompany Hull to the Moscow meeting. Stettinius, it was noted, previously visited the Russian capital on official lend-lease activities.

The Moscow conference was announced by Prime Minister Churchill as intended to clear the way for an agreement among the three nations on joint war efforts and collaboration after victory.

Roosevelt and Churchill are seeking a meeting with Stalin later this year to complete an accord.

Importance of the preliminary meeting was heightened by a report that Japan is trying to scare the Russians into a separate peace with Germany by implying that the Germans intend to make a stand on the Dnieper river and seek a separate peace with Russia. Otherwise, the report ran, they would try to negotiate one with the British and Americans.

Corsicans Battle Nazis For Homeland

ALGIERS (AP)—A German patrol of 50 men crept at night up to a flare-lighted field in the mountains of Corsica and saw a chilling sight—guns and ammunition descending by parachute into the eager hands of patriots.

The Germans opened fire. The patriots replied. In a few moments several Germans were killed. The others fled, and the patriots triumphantly carried away their arms to be hidden until the day came for a real battle.

Henri Maillot, 43-year-old Corsican road contractor who said he is a cousin of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, and who gave up his business nearly a year ago to devote all his energies to building up the underground organization in Corsica, told that story yesterday.

"We got Bren guns, machine-guns, light anti-tank guns, rifles, all dropped by parachute or smuggled ashore from submarines."

"Submarines would bring up 15 tons of guns," he said. "Then each group sent men with mules to run the guns through the enemy lines. We had to fight our way through frequently. That's how we trained boys of 15 and 16 years old to fight."

The patriots wore but an arm band with a skull and crossbones, old favorite Corsican symbol.

THESE TWO GENTLEMEN FAIL TO SEE EYE TO EYE

PROPOSED DEFERMENT of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers comes under the investigation of the combined house and senate military affairs committees in Washington. Sponsor of the measure to defer drafting of such fathers until after Jan. 1 is Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who is shown, right, above, talking to Bernard Baruch as the latter testifies before the committees. Baruch recommended that they "give General Marshall what he wants."

Nazi Propagandists Foster Peace Rumors

Campaign Aimed At Frightening Allies Over Nazi-Russ Peace

LONDON (AP)—While the breath of military disaster blew cold upon their necks in Russia today, the Germans went to work on another propaganda campaign featuring peace rumors from many quarters.

Highlighting the Nazi-inspired web of rumors was the report from neutral Spain that the satellite Rumanians had sent representatives to Turkey to negotiate an armistice with the allies.

The London Daily Express, under the heading "Goebbels starts new peace lie," reported that the Germans had begun to whisper in the Balkans that they were withdrawing from Russia by agreement with the Soviet government.

Having withdrawn to a short line between Russia and Poland—so ran this German story—Hitler would be in favorable position to talk peace with Premier Stalin and draw 2,000,000 men out of the east to confront the allies in the west and south.

This was described here as "sheer fantasy." There was not a single bit of information suggesting the existence of any genuine German peace proposal to anybody.

French Discuss War Minister

Many Inducted Dads Will Never See Action

ALGIERS (AP)—The French National committee discussed at length yesterday the appointment of a civilian war minister and a reliable informant said that action on the appointment—which involved a controversy within the committee over the Corsican campaign—was deferred until the next session on Monday.

It was predicted reliably that Monday's session will see a civilian appointment, the committee thus acceding to Gen. Charles De Gaulle's demand for civilian supremacy in the direction of the broad political aspects in the conduct of the war.

Some forecast the appointee would be Adrien Tixier, member for labor and social affairs, a one-armed veteran of World War I and though a strong DeGaulleite, highly regarded by General Henry Giraud.

U.S. Bombers Blast Nazi Airbase in France

LONDON (AP)—American Marauder bombers blasted the Longuenesse airfield at St. Omer in northern France yesterday and British planes attacked rail and water transport targets in northern France and Belgium and sank a medium sized supply vessel off Den Helder in north Holland, it was announced last night.

The St. Omer raid was accomplished without the loss of a plane by the attacking force.

Senator Wheeler Prepares Last-Ditch Fight for His Bill

Rich Military Prize

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forecasting the collapse of Germany within four months, Senator Downey (D., Calif.) predicted yesterday that many of the married men scheduled for induction this fall never will see combat.

He saw one possible exception—development by Hitler's ordnance experts of some new anti-aircraft weapon to thwart the allies' aerial blasting of the Reich.

Declaring enormous damage already has been dealt, German munitions works, refineries and synthetic rubber plants, Downey maintained it is a cold mathematical fact that Berlin and other Nazi cities could be leveled by our bombers.

Meanwhile, in the face of apparently insuperable opposition, Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) prepared for a last-ditch fight in the senate next week for his bill to defer the induction of pre-war fathers for the remainder of 1943.

The debate will start Tuesday only two days before Oct. 1 deadline set by the war manpower commission for beginning the general draft of married men with children. Opponents expected to send the bill back to committee by Thursday.

Livestock, Poultry, Grains, Potatoes Begin To Move to Market in Enormous Quantities

CHICAGO (AP)—A harvest moon is rising over the nation's farm areas—and there were indications yesterday that livestock, poultry, grains and potatoes were beginning to move to the markets in enormous quantities.

There were bad spots in the food picture, particularly in dairy products, but cattle started moving from western range states, where grass is drying up. Receipts at 12 principal slaughtering centers last Monday were the highest in 15 years.

Livestock experts cautioned that the movement may not mean any great immediate increase in beef supplies—and, strangely, it will be well if it doesn't. Many of the range cattle, livestock men hoped, will go into mid-western feed lots for fattening on grain and marketing during the winter.

The number of hogs on farms sets an all-time record. Last spring the hog population jumped 74,000,000 head. That spring pig crop will start moving to market in volume in October, with a seasonally increased run throughout the remainder of the year.

The important corn crop—essential for livestock and poultry feed this winter and next spring and summer—is within a week or 10 days of freedom from damage. That's the amount of frost-free weather needed to assure a production of nearly 3,000,000,000 bushels, second largest in 23 years. In the northwest, farmers are harvesting a spring wheat crop of 301,000,000 bushels, representing a gain of 23,000,000 bushels over last year and 114,000,000 bushels over the ten year (1932-41) average.

The largest poultry crop in history—birds raised during the summer—has already started to market. Which production is exceeding by 21 percent the record 1942 output. In some cities, the impact of marketings has sent prices below OPA ceilings.

A record potato crop is now providing a storage problem and government officials were urging housewives to buy potatoes—generally at less than ceiling prices—for storage in the basement.

Allied Airmen Cut Off Germans Fleeing From Corsica to Italy

German Prisoners Captured by American Fifth Since Landings at Salerno Now Total More Than Two Thousand

By NOLAND NORGAARD ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—American and British ground forces have smashed their way to the mountain tops guarding the smoke-filled plain of Naples, headquarters announced yesterday, as allied airmen took a growing toll of German troops attempting to flee by plane from Corsica to Italy.

The American Fifth army pressed its onslaught day and night against the strong German mountain defense line. The total of Nazi prisoners taken since Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces landed at Salerno rose to well over 2,000.

The going was slow for the allied attackers, who sweated up steep hillsides with mules carrying guns and ammunition where neither trucks nor tanks could travel.

But the soldiers who toiled on, routing out German strongholds as they went, had the satisfaction of looking down from the mountain tops yesterday on low country where the enemy will lose the defensive advantages he possesses.

Nineteen big Junkers-52 transport planes carrying German personnel from Corsica to the mainland were shot down Friday by allied fighter squadrons, which had downed at least seven such craft the previous day.

At least a dozen more of the heavily-laden transports were damaged in the last two days as RAF Beaufighters kept up a vigilant patrol over the route between Corsica and the mainland.

Nazi Trapped Trapped in the northwest corner of the island by French troops, patriots and American Rangers, the Germans were attempting to escape to the mainland, but were being blasted out of the air just as they were in similar attempts to evacuate Tunisia and Sicily.

A French communique said increasing numbers of French troops had landed on Corsica and were cooperating with the patriots and Americans in exerting heavy pressure on the entrapped Germans. "The combined action of allied bomber and naval forces is rendering their evacuation very precarious," the bulletin said.

The destruction of the transport planes was considered especially important because the Germans were believed to have filled them with highly trained technical personnel. A northwest African air force announcement said two of the destroyed transports were known to have contained a total of 100 men and the others were believed to have been equally heavily loaded.

Rich Military Prize One of the richest military prizes in southern Italy—the big chain of air fields around Foggia, where for a long time the enemy concentrated most of his bombers in the Mediterranean area—appeared much nearer the grasp of the allies after units of the British Eighth army surged up the Adriatic coast road to the outskirts of Molfetta, less than 60 miles from Foggia.

The Fifth army's advance, described officially as "several miles," put the allies in command of several crossroads north and northeast of Salerno.

A headquarters spokesman said allied troops who mounted the heights overlooking the Naples plain could watch "our air forces knocking hell out of enemy communications in the area below."

Nazis Alarmed (London dispatches quoted German broadcasts as saying the Nazis were putting out new alarms of imminent allied landings in Italy either on the Adriatic or Tyrrhenian coast. Berlin propagandists also renewed their campaign regarding allied casualties, which they declared were 20,000 in the Salerno landing alone.

(In Washington the war department announced that American casualties at Salerno up to and including Sept. 15 totaled 3,497 killed, wounded and missing. The war department noted that this period included "Sept. 14, the date of the German announcement that 8,000 to 10,000 American soldiers had been killed" and "an equal number captured."

E.R. Stettinius Will Succeed Sumner Welles

Lep T. Crowley, Herbert Lehman Get New Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a three-way move to bolster his foreign policy, and foreign economic administrations, last night named 42-year-old Chicago-born Edward R. Stettinius Jr., as undersecretary of state to succeed Sumner Welles, who resigned.

At the same time, he grouped all foreign economic activities of the government, except those under Nelson Rockefeller's office of inter-American affairs, under another midwesterner, 53-year-old Leo T. Crowley of Wisconsin.

The third step was the appointment of former governor Herbert Lehman of New York as special assistant to the president to perfect plans for the Nov. 9 meeting of united nations on relief. The president said Lehman will be urged by this government to become director of the international relief set-up.

In announcing Welles' resignation, which had been reported unofficially for several weeks, the president said Welles asked to be relieved because of his wife's health. Reports of differences between Welles and Hull, however, have been current.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed "sincere regret" at Welles' departure and said the New York-born diplomat's career man had served the state department and this government with "unfailing devotion" for many years. Welles was not mentioned for any new assignment.

Stettinius, as the new No. 2 man at the state department, moved over from the lend-lease administration where as administrator he has supervised the spending of billions for allied war aid.

Associates of James F. Byrnes, war mobilization chief, who was reported as having been a main-spring in the new administration shake-up, said the transfer of Stettinius to the state department was considered an elevation of a loyal administration worker who stands in well with congress and who can be expected to add new life to the department.

Report Pershing Asks Retaining Marshall As U. S. Chief of Staff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing has gone personally to President Roosevelt with a request that Gen. George C. Marshall be retained as chief of staff, the Post-Dispatch said yesterday in a story from Washington.

The paper gave as its source one close to both Marshall and Pershing and asserted Marshall's collaborators in the army and navy believe he will go overseas with his present title.

British officers were quoted as saying Field Marshal Sir John Dill, opposite Marshall on the combined chiefs of staff, probably will go to London with him if and when Marshall is transferred.

News Behind the News

Entire Nazi Winter Line Now Threatened
By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON — The steady, relentless Russian pressure has been lately inching its way forward to threaten the expected German winter line, at least on the southern tip. There, at the vital Nazi-held railroad running through Melitopol into the Crimea, the Nazis had prepared to make a desperate stand. In no other way could they hold their Black sea island fortress, as the railroad is the only means of transportation except by boat with which to supply the Crimea.

But this is the extent of the threat so far, to break through what popularly, but not very accurately, has been called the Dnieper river line. (Actually, the curving Dnieper river runs considerably behind the Melitopol line, and, of course, the river does not extend anywhere near the Baltic in the north.)

But if the Russians are able to force a withdrawal from the entire Crimea, they will have won an expected victory, although the Germans may still be in front of the Dnieper river at that point.

Unofficial guesses have been current in Washington lately that the Reds might be expected to crack through the prepared Dnieper position at Kiev or elsewhere generally and bring an early conclusion to the war on that front. Anyone's guess on that seems to be as good as another's. No one here, or anywhere else, has been very good at judging the real extent of Russian prospects in advance.

The absence of any mention of prisoners being taken on either side in the communiques has inspired some interpretation that the Russians are cutting the Germans to pieces, and those who hold that view expect an early conclusion. But the lack of prisoners may be due to the fact that the Nazis have not been trapped in large quantities of late, and have not been able to establish any forward movement of their own which would enable them to take Russians.

Neither side has signed the Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners, and thus neither has given any guarantee that the regular procedure of incarcerating them will be followed in preference to the merciless method of showing no quarter.

The Germans have complained frequently about "Russian barbarism and savagery" and this has led some interpreters to believe the Nazis might well prefer to welcome the British and American armies into Berlin before the Russians. But it is also true that Nazi methods are closer to the Russian methods than to those of the democracies, and their customary game is to play enemies against each other.

In the end, of course, wisdom should cause them to seek peace with us first, for the protection of their people. But they know we have a treaty with Russia which promises that none of the allies will make a separate peace.

The theory of an early collapse on the Russian front has even spread in congress where a high military official testified that the Germans "are retiring more or less behind the Dnieper line." What he apparently had in mind was the break on the Melitopol railroad front which would threaten the Crimea.

An obstacle to the Russian advance is the rainy season now starting. A slushy period, difficult for full scale action, will precede the freeze.

No symptoms of utter demoralization have been apparent in Nazi retreat. A very strong action was fought by the Germans in retiring from Kharkov toward the Dnieper, even at Kiev. In the north around Smolensk, they have been holding strong.

Some of our people have been impressed by the extreme youth of the Nazis captured in Italy and Sicily, accepting that as an indication that Hitler is dipping into his last store of manpower. True, the prisoners have been youths, but no official authority here is counting on Germany collapsing this winter, either on the Russian front or in western Europe, although they will be glad to hear any convincing evidence or news to that effect.

sympathies are with the men in the armed forces.

The sale of bonds is one of the means devised to finance the war, and their purchase is one of the obligations imposed upon those who remain at home. Considering the economic advantages offered, it is far from being an exacting obligation. It does not involve the element of sacrifice. In fact, it is a patriotic duty whose fulfillment produces substantial dividends.

Even though this element of profit were not present, every citizen should be obliged to buy as many bonds as he can. It is the one way open to every American to play a part in the winning of the war.

A Criticism of Contemporary Literature, And a Guide to Good Reading

JANE EYRE and WUTHERING HEIGHTS. By Charlotte and Emily Bronte. New York: Random House, $5. Reviewed by EDWIN SEAVER

Far more books have been written about the Bronte sisters than all the books they wrote themselves. Two of these latter—"Jane Eyre" and "Wuthering Heights"—rank among the greatest love stories in English literature, and the author of one of them, Emily Bronte, is considered by many to be the foremost of all English women writers. It is not the purpose of this note to tell again of the "miracle of Haworth" or to try to account for what is, after all, largely unaccountable—namely, genius. Let us, instead, review briefly how these two books came to be written.

In the autumn of 1845, Charlotte and Emily Bronte and their sister Anne, on the insistence of resolute Charlotte, decided to publish a volume of their poems. They selected pen names which left them with their own initials, but masked their sex, perhaps chiefly because Charlotte felt there was a prejudice against woman authors. Charlotte chose the name of Currier Bell; Emily, Ellis Bell; and Anne, Acton Bell. Finally a publisher was found who was willing to produce the book—at the authors' expense. "Poems" was published by Aylott and Jones in May, 1846, and within a year sold exactly two copies. "The book was printed," wrote Charlotte later, "it is scarcely known, and all of it that merits to be known are the poems of Ellis Bell." Posterity has confirmed her conviction that Emily, at least, was a poet by divine right.

Even before "Poems" made its appearance, in a very much unappreciated world, Charlotte had proposed that each of the three sisters write a novel. In any other family, such a proposal might be deemed rash indeed; at best a little naive. But these incredible daughters of the Rev. Patrick Bronte had been writing practically ever since they were infants; a whole series of their fanciful little books, written in minute script to simulate the printed page and carefully bound by childish hands, may still be seen today in the old Haworth parsonage, now a museum.

So, "Girls, let us each write a novel," Charlotte is reported to have said, and they did. "It success failed to crush us," she wrote later.

The mere effort to succeed had given a wonderful zest to existence. It must be pursued. And pursued it surely was. Charlotte wrote "The Professor"; Emily wrote "Wuthering Heights"; Anne wrote "Agnes Grey." The three novels were offered to a publisher as a triple decker.

When this combined operation met with rejection, Charlotte withdrew her entry and tried "The Professor" alone with the important publishing house of Smith, Edler & Company, at the same time stating in her letter that she was working on a longer novel. The publishers asked to see this, and shortly thereafter, at the end of August, 1847, they received the manuscript of "Jane Eyre." Within a month the book was accepted; another month, and copies were on sale, which is something of a record even for these days when publishers often seem to be running a race with the daily press. "Jane Eyre" was an immediate and sensational success. At 32 Charlotte Bronte—or rather Currier Bell—was famous.

Meanwhile, the manuscripts of "Wuthering Heights" and "Agnes Grey" were making the rounds of the publishers in vain, until ultimately they fell into the hands of one Thomas Cautley Newby who accepted them, Charlotte subsequently declared, "on terms somewhat impoverishing to the two authors." Now we have it on the authority of Mrs. Gaskell, Charlotte's biographer (See REVIEW, page 7)

NEW BOOKS

"In Time of Harvest." By John L. Sinclair. New York: Macmillan, $2.50.

About his recently published novel the author says: "It was written after 14 years of knowledge of the nester—that colorful character who drifts into the range country from his natural habitat in Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and points east—the man with work corns on his hands, hope in his heart and the philosophy that, no matter how many blessings and hardships come his way, he can point out his 640 acres and his ten-by-twelve claim shack and say to anyone there is to listen to him: 'What more can a man want!'"

"Early Opposition to the English Novel." By John Tinnon Taylor. New York: Columbia University Press, 148 pp. $2.00.

Mr. Taylor's study concerns the popular reaction from 1760 to 1830. One of the most fascinating chapters of the book is about circulating libraries during their heyday in the 18th century. The modern rental library is frequently combined with a business in greeting cards, stationery, gifts or cigars. In the early days, the most popular combinations were with millinery and patent medicines. In 1793 Hazard's Library at Bath advertised that it was well supplied with "Dr. Waite's celebrated Worm Medicine in the form of Gingerbread Nuts."

"None But the Lonely Heart." By Richard Llewellyn. New York: Macmillan, Sept. 28, $2.75.

To judge from the letters flooding in from people who have read advance copies of "None But the Lonely Heart," the new novel by R. Llewellyn, author of "How Green Was My Valley," Macmillan's tremendous enthusiasm and pride in this new novel is more than justified. "None But the Lonely Heart" is a truly great book, and we don't say that about a book very often. It also proves that Llewellyn is a truly great author, a phrase which we don't bandy about either. Tsk! Tsk!

2, 5, 10 Years Ago— From The Iowan Files

Sept. 26, 1941

The headline today: Repulse Nazi attack in Crimea. Editorial comment came on an article of Benjamin Fine's in the October issue of the American Mercury which said in part, "National defense has taken over the campus and it is there to stay until democracy is no longer endangered. For the duration the colleges will be an American workshop where the tools of freedom and democracy are forged by eager hands."

"The problems we face are of price and wages, of labor and capital, of priorities, of lend-lease, and of neighborly relations with other democracies," the editor went on to say. "And most unfortunate, those same problems are the key to what we in colleges and universities are able to do in forging those elusive 'tools of freedom.'"

A feature article commented that the most popular spot in Currier hall is the newly opened soda fountain. Edward F. Flynn, director of public relations for the Great Northern railroad, commented in a talk here that "American youth need not go to war for commercial reasons. He emphasized the great strides being made in the study of synthetics and said, 'If we can just keep out of the war and do not change our form of government we will have the greatest years of prosperity the world has ever known.'"

The members of the University of Iowa marching band were announced as Jean Hedlund of Des Moines, and James Burside of Shenandoah were chosen drum majors. Plans were being made for a demonstration at the game on the coming Saturday.

Sept. 26, 1938

Plans were being made by the Allied Czechoslovak society of Iowa City to have Vojta Benes, the brother of Edouard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia, speak before this group. Benes was here in America during the last war to study the democratic government firsthand and was instrumental in setting up the Czech republic after the armistice.

The Iowan of this morning bannered—Hitler implies Germany to fight—and tension increased noticeably throughout the world. John Mooney, in an editorial said that he believed that "it was time to stop talking platitudes Governmental Education?

Will the University of Iowa be subsidized by the federal government after the war? If so, will the government dictate the educational pattern, and also finance the schooling of ex-servicemen?

These questions are important because, if answered in the affirmative, such action would bring about vast—possibly destructive—changes in American education. So far, the government has given little or no indication that it plans to retain control over those universities whose facilities are now being used for army and navy programs, but it has made definite plans for aiding returning veterans who wish to continue with college.

In the last war returning servicemen, disabled and otherwise, met with difficulties in reestablishing themselves in society. The army and navy now have efficient placement bureaus for men being granted medical discharges. Official Washington, with the assistance of interested organizations, had organized a project within the bureau of education which aids disabled veterans.

The bureau of education not only strives to see that the returned veteran is placed where he will do the most good, but also strives to rehabilitate him. In many cases the disability incurred by the returning soldier or sailor is of such a nature as to preclude the possibility of his returning to his former occupation. In cases such as these the bureau of education provides for further education. The educational program is so constituted that a man can go to school at government expense for a period up to four years.

Such a program as this is to be commended, and it will, along with the University of Iowa's own Phoenix fund and other similar post-war programs, help a great many ex-servicemen to get an education who before the war were financially unable to attend college.

But how far does the government intend to go? Will our post-war students be made to conform to a set of rules drawn up in Washington?

Even this would be acceptable—if the rules were liberal, broad in scope, and were put into effect for the sincere and expressed purpose of turning out brighter, more well-rounded students. For, actually, it makes little difference who does the educating, just so it is done well.

The trouble is that the government has demonstrated—through various army programs and the like—that it cannot always do a good job of educating. Even on this campus some of the programs are being criticized as being too elementary, not broad enough, and too hard on the student. (Classes all day.) One thing is certain: That unless the governmental system of education (as we know it today) were radically changed, it would never work in the post-war world.

Governmental education in itself is not an evil. But bungled and regimented education is.

Duty and Opportunity

War bonds represent a real investment in social security. They are the best investment available to the average man, the safest place to put his money against that rainy day that comes to most lives.

These bonds are cash. They are money. They are the same as dollar bills because they have exactly the same Treasury backing. And at the end of a ten-year period the owner receives not only the amount paid for the bond but an increase of 83 per cent.

This is the materialistic and selfish side of the matter of having a share in this Third War Bond issue. There is another side, one which should have a far stronger appeal to the interest and the support of every American who loves his country and whose thoughts and

Iowa Coed Fashion on Campus Spotlights

Yes, it's fall! The calendar says officially it's fall; the coeds are wearing the customary sweaters and skirts; the weather has turned cool, and the army and navy men have changed to their winter uniforms. But best of all are the fall formal dances and the new formal dresses SU coeds will wear to them.

One of the really different looking fashions on campus belongs to CATHERINE NEUMANN, A1 of St. Louis. The bodice is fashioned with alternate bands of heavy silk in an egg shell color and gold sequins. The shoulder straps are also fashioned of gold sequins, while another band of sequins around the waist forms a bow, the ends extending to the hemline. The skirt has two layers of egg shell colored net over matching heavy silk. With this dress "Corky" wears a matching kerchief of net and sequins over her head.

Doris Scott, A3 of Sterling, Ill., wears a gown styled with a powder blue velvet bodice and a full white net skirt over a peach colored under skirt. Two matching rhinestone clips set off the sweetheart neckline.

Black seems to have come into its own this fall, judging from the number of black formal in coed wardrobes. GINNY SNELL, C3 of Ida Grove, has an unusual black net dress, with white lace on the pockets and across the shoulders accenting the cap sleeves and the extremely full skirt.

Rows of narrow white lace form the drop shoulders on the heavy black taffeta gown of ELKA EVANS, A1 of Chicago. The skirt is gathered to another band, made of rows of narrow white lace.

MARY JEANNE MORRIS, A3 of LeMars, combines black velvet with a skirt made from brightly colored satin and taffeta ribbons. A matching band of ribbons trims the sweetheart neckline.

Black Spanish lace over rose moire taffeta forms the bodice of a gown worn by LOANNA SCHOOR, A4 of Perry. A full gathered skirt and quaint drop shoulders spell black magic for prom nights. Miss Schoor wears a matching black Spanish lace kerchief on her head. The neckline is accented by an antique lavalliere.

If you should happen by Currier as ELOISE DAVIS, A4 of Birmingham, Ala., was leaving for a dance, you might see her wearing a cerise colored velvet cape. Her dress has a tight-fitting black silk jersey blouse with three-quarter length sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The white chiffon skirt is very full, and a huge cerise colored flower is fastened at the waist.

Lady in Red
DONNA POOLE, A1 of Sioux City, dances in red. The silk jersey top and net skirt are twin shades. Two narrow bands of gold sequins around the waist, short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline are featured in her costume.

White satin is the material from which the gown of LOU SCHROEDER, A3 of Webster City, is fashioned. Purple velvet ribbon accents the v-neckline and the wide skirt.

Nighttime Accessories
When it comes to accessories, JOYCE DAVIS, A1 of Peterson, leads the grand march with her cape and bag. The cape is waist length and made of black velvet. With it she carries a black velvet pouch with a draw-string. Her dress is pink taffeta with a pink net over skirt. Its black lace jacket has three-quarter length sleeves

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to contribute to war relief to attend this event.

Outing flannel or chambray robes and felt-soled slippers for convalescent soldiers will be made by the Red Cross group of Trinity Episcopal church at a meeting Tuesday in the parish house from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Anyone who has old felt hats which could be used for the soles of slippers is asked to turn them in and a sweetheart neckline. Matching rhinestone earrings and bracelet complete the ensemble.

Red silk jersey forms the fitted top of the dress of B. J. OXNER, A3 of Ft. Madison. Gathered cap sleeves and a sweetheart neckline, favorites of the fall fashion parade, do not distract from the belt made of twisted red jersey, while the skirt combine black, red, green and white in an attractive plaid. B. J. wears a rhinestone pin at the neckline.

Many other gay, feminine formal will swirl at university and military proms this season. Greek believers in the morale-building powers of evening gowns, coeds have outdone Vogue in proving that wartime restrictions are no bar to charm.

ATTENTION, PLEASE

This is the first announcement of the newly organized campus dating bureau. The bureau is sponsored by Wesley Foundation at 120 North Dubuque, and has the approval of the following student religious groups:

1. Hillel
2. Newman Club
3. Methodists and Congregational
4. Evangelical and Reformed

The committee of Student Affairs has heard of the plan for this bureau and agrees that there is a definite need for it. While the primary purpose of this bureau is to remedy the inability of the various military groups on the campus to meet girls whom they would like to date, membership among the fellows is by no means restricted to those in military divisions. The only qualifications for membership in this bureau are enrollment in the University or one of the military groups stationed here and the paltry sum of 10c.

Introductions will be provided by the dating bureau and will begin September 28-29 at Wesley Foundation (120 North Dubuque).

'Moves on World's Chessboard' To Be First Lecture of Season

Outstanding Authority On Asia, Pacific Basin To Speak Here Oct. 7

Upton Close, outstanding authority on Asia and the peoples of the Pacific basin, is to present "Moves on the World's Chessboard," Oct. 7, in the first of the university lecture series.

More than any other writer and public speaker, Upton Close predicted the inevitable clash of Japan and the United States. He has said, "Japan has one of the greatest military organizations in the world. She is about to become the first of all the great nations."

He added further that the Japanese imperialists have so made their plans that Japan would be successful at least in the first two years of the war. Stating that the United States "has been asleep," Close depicts Japan as an organism growing and reaching out in every direction to increase itself.

In his best-seller of eight years ago, "The Revolt of Asia," he said, "Why should Japan and America fight? They shouldn't. What have either Japan or America to gain by war? Nothing. Yet the same observer knows that their basic sense of values, ideas, sportsmanship, spiritual and material ambitions in life are so variant that the break must and will come."

After graduation from an eastern college, Close went to China, where he served as an intelligence officer for the United States government during World War I. In the years following, he became a familiar figure, covering the Chinese revolution.

Adviser to the Chinese student revolutionaries at Peking in 1919, and aide to War-Lors Wu Pei-Fu, editor of the oldest paper in the world, the Peking Leader, Close has traveled in all parts of China, Japan, Manchuria, and the south seas.

China Earthquake Intimately acquainted with leaders, dictators, premiers and presidents, Close returned to America in 1923 to write for the National Geographic magazine, "Where the Mountains Walked," the account of an earthquake in northeast China which took the lives of half a million Chinese.

Later professor of Asiatic culture at the University of Washington, he visited the far east every year as the leader of an oriental seminar of students, teachers and professional people. Between travels and lectures, he has written 10 books—adventure, history, romance and biography—and contributed more than a thousand articles to magazines and newspapers, both here and abroad. He is now a special writer for the Reader's Digest, and was getting ready to fly across the Pacific on a survey mission for the Digest and NBC four days before Pearl Harbor was bombed.

Today, more than ever before, Upton Close believes our job is in the Pacific and either our brightest future or the darkest destiny lies there, depending on how we handle it. He believes the Pacific era is here, and that an American monitored peace for all the peoples of the Pacific basin, Japan included, should be established. The total destruction of militarism in Japan or in any other part of the Pacific is part of his philosophy for the war and the peace.

It's inconspicuous and does the job. Scotch tape is also a wonder for mending cracked or split nails.

For those girls who use dial phones so disastrous to nails, try substituting your knuckle or the eraser end of your pencil for your overworked finger.

To those who may have forgotten, remember that the well-groomed student doesn't wear bright, flashy polish to classes—save it for your best weekend date. And chipped nail polish is definitely on the "don't" list.

By BETTY COHEN

Gen Slemmons took over the program for the "folks back home" last April when Connie Kay, originator of the program, was graduated. On each program Gen interviews a boy from the Johnson county region or one who has attended the University of Iowa. Phyl Willer of Tea Time fame, reads an interesting letter from a boy in service.

A letter from Sam Becker of Galesburg, Ill., formerly a student at the university and member of the WSUI staff, was read a few weeks ago. Sam writes: "We're pretty well settled on one of the Pacific islands now. This is really a paradise. Before we even set foot off the ship, we were struck by the beauty of the place—flowers, trees and mountains everywhere. The natives are quite friendly. Everywhere we go they return our waves with the two fingers held up to form the now familiar V."

"We weren't in camp an hour before at least eight or ten small native boys had gathered to look over the newcomers. It was easy to tell that we weren't the first soldiers they had seen. The first thing they wanted to know was if anyone was from Brooklyn or The Bronx. The final touch, though, was when one little barefoot native boy trudged in, bearing that familiar home-made box, yelling, "Shine, shoe shine." . . . echoes of Main street . . ."

Sam also wrote how glad he was to receive mail from those at home. "Everyone knows that letters are welcome things in anybody's mailbox . . . especially a soldier's, whether he is at a camp in the United States or overseas. Therefore, it is our job, on the home front to write the ones 'here' or 'over there' every day."

Many Iowa City boys have been interviewed over the air this fall. Among them are Capt. E. A. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McDonald; Lieut. Kay Rummels, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rummels Lieut. Don Ohl, former business manager of The Daily Iowan; Pvt. Jim Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Baron.

Pfc. Paul Clark, son of Fire Chief and Mrs. J. J. Clark; Lieut. Russ Bulechek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bulechek; Lieut. John Paleous, formerly on the university varsity tennis team, and Paul Bordwell, son of Prof. and Mrs. Percy Bordwell.

The location of local and university servicemen are announced along with the names of those who receive their commissions. All programs are checked by the public relations board.

Gen would be glad to hear from those people who know of a boy home on leave, or of an interesting letter from a boy in service. Just drop a card or phone Gen Slemmons, in care of WSUI.

Finger Nails
Give Them a Treat Now
Cream Them

During these busy college days, it's hard to find the time to spend on personal appearances, particularly the constant care to keep your hands—oh, so beautiful.

Many people judge a person by the appearance of his hands. With just a few minutes work each day, coeds can have hands and nails they needn't be ashamed of.

Here's a gentle hint, girls. A coat of polish won't cover up chipped and ragged nails nor will lacquer hide hangnails which insist upon showing themselves.

There's a new nail cream—spelled creme—on the market that's easy to use and from all reports, highly successful in correcting soft, thin and brittle nails. It's a speed demon which can be put right over the polish without doing a speck of harm.

Just brush the cream (a handy brush is attached) over your nails nightly—no cheating. The cream gets in its real work at the base of the nail around the cuticle.

But when you manure your nails, give them a special treat. Apply the new product after you've removed the polish, massage in the cream for a few minutes; then remove it with warm water and continue with your manure.

You'll probably find, too, that a few days' use will make your fingertips softer and will cut

Pen Pal?

Mayor Teeters Gets Note From India

"It's a letter from India," Mayor Wilber J. Teeters remarked calmly, fingering a piece of paper about four inches square and covered with what appeared to be hieroglyphics but in reality was the result of lithography.

The paper revealed what looked like kindergarten scribbling on both sides and around the edges. The letter came to the mayor's office in a slightly battered envelope which had obviously been used before, inverted and a new address placed on the outside of the envelope. The envelope bears the title: "His Honor, the Lord High Mayor of Iowa City."

The sender was Sardar Gakhale of Poona City, India, who had received this same envelope in 1941 and upon finding a need for stationery for his letter to the mayor used the old envelope as a last resort.

"The letter is one of many propaganda notes sent by one of the very lowly but very loyal subjects of the empire," said Prof. Sushindra Bose of the political science department. Professor Bose has received many requests for translations from persons who have received similar letters.

He believes this type of "hail to the king" propaganda very popular with the people in India, judging from their frequent "notes" to bewildered Iowans. A continuous flow of adjectives, all proclaiming the king and downing the Nazis was the content of the mayor's letter.

Confronted with the possibility that someone is eager to be a pen pal, Mayor Teeters is not sending a reply to his Indian correspondent.

No Reveille, But Cool Down Hike Aroused Soldiers

Bugles didn't sound reveille in the meteorology living quarters yesterday, but the weathermen didn't oversleep. Lieut. F. J. Havlicek and Lieut. W. F. Pott-hast personally aroused the men at 3 o'clock in the morning to take them on a 9-mile surprise hike.

The sky was black and the stars were out as the entire staff of officers and all the meteorology students tramped over the Coralville road, singing songs to stay awake. During the two 10-minute rest periods the students stretched out to catch 40 winks. They returned at 6 o'clock, in time for a very sleepy breakfast.

Frank Simpson Given Divorce From Wife

Frank E. Simpson was granted a divorce in default from his wife, Theresa F. Simpson, in district court yesterday.

A wedding permit was granted yesterday to Bruce Meier, 22, of Kansas City, Mo., and Marian Clappison, 20, of Eagle Grove, by R. Neilson Miller, clerk of the district court.

Interdenominational—

Little Chapel Becomes 'Haven' to Students

—A Place to Worship—

By GLORIA WEISER

A student need, a group of prayerful hearts and a number of eager persons who knew there was a way if there was a will, were the nucleus from which emerged the Little Chapel of the Congregational church.

"The Little Chapel is an interdenominational project, and it is intended that people of every race, every color, and every creed take advantage of this place for meditation," commented the Rev. James E. Waery of the Congregational church.

Tourists from all over the country have visited the miniature chapel, and frequently the Rev. Mr. Waery is aroused during the night by persons who wish to go there for prayer.

Memorial Windows The two stained glass windows in the Little Chapel are memorials. One, in memory of Marion DuBois Seashore, son of Dean and Mrs. C. E. Seashore, is inscribed, "He lived and died for others." The other window is in memory of Arnold Hagedorn, a law student in Iowa City in 1938, who was killed while enroute to church in order to keep a promise to the pastor that he would serve as usher that particular Sunday.

Since the day of dedication, more and more people have become aware of the tiny church of worship and the desire that it should be used by people of all faiths and creeds, has been fulfilled.

Each Sabbath, upon his visits to Iowa City, attends daily. Seventh Day Adventists often hold services there Saturdays, and student groups enjoy evening candle-light services in its sanctuary; communion table, and frequently Holy Baptism sacraments, are performed there. The Little Chapel has always been popular for wedding ceremonies. Although there are only 18 chairs, 30 persons have witnessed a wedding at one time.

Cooperation in Building The Rev. Llewelyn A. Owen was pastor of the Congregational church when it was suggested that a chapel be built. The local congregation, members of churches of all denominations, students and friends went together to secure means of building a chapel which could be used daily to provide a means for private or group meditation for people of all faiths.

It was then decided that the Little Chapel should belong to the students of the university for their individual or public use.

Several large gifts were received, including a $1,200 contribution with a desired loan of $700. In 1938 the building was completed and ready for formal dedication.

At the entrance to the Little Chapel is a place for registry, where all service men may sign their names. Thereafter, all persons who come and pray for one of these boys write their names also, and that boy, no matter where his station may be, receives a letter telling him, "Someone prayed for you today." Students, faculty members, groups, and individual church members frequently find a minute during the day to use the solitude and peaceful quiet of the Little Chapel, "a place to worship in spirit and in truth."

Reform Committee To Tour Iowa Institutions

State Senator LeRoy S. Mercer, 709 S. Summit street, said yesterday that the Iowa state reformation and reform committee will meet in Vinton tomorrow to inspect the school for the blind.

Tuesday, the committee plans to inspect the men's reformatory at Anamosa, and Wednesday, the state hospital for the insane is scheduled for examination.

This week's tour is the third trip made by the committee this year in an effort to examine each state institution once a year in order that they may recommend improvements or additions at the next sessions of the Iowa legislature.

Sometime in October, the University of Iowa will be investigated and examined by the reformation and reform committee.

Senate members of the committee, in addition to Mercer, are: G. R. Hill, Clarion, chairman; K. A. Evans, Emerson; Dewey Goode, Bloomfield; Robert C. Reilly, Dubuque. House members are: H. M. Knudson, Mason City, secretary; W. R. Fimmen, Bloomfield; John Knippling, Elma; Arch McFarlane, Waterloo, and William Tatum, Logan.

Mrs. Gertrude Funk Petitions for Divorce

Charging desertion, Mrs. Gertrude Funk filed a petition yesterday asking a divorce from her husband, Jack Head Funk.

Mr. and Mrs. Funk were married in 1924, and have two minor children. Mrs. Funk asks $100 a month alimony.

A HAVEN for prayer and meditation, the Little Chapel of the First Congregational church is frequented by persons of all races and creeds. Tourists from all over the country have visited it. Dedicated in 1938, the Little Chapel belongs to the students of the university for their private or public use.

Fellowship Group Goes To Lake for Retreat

Cabinet and committee members of the Roger Williams fellowship went to Lake Macbride yesterday for their fall retreat. The group was accompanied by the Baptist minister, the Rev. Elmer Dierks.

This retreat is held twice every year, in the fall and again before school is out in the spring. The purpose of the retreat is to give the leaders of the group an opportunity to discuss the basic issues involved in the planning of the year's program. The trip was made by interurban as far as North Liberty, and the students hiked from there to Lake Macbride. Albert Slater was in charge of general arrangements.

Hawks Go Down Fighting as Sailors Win

Great Lakes Takes Stiff Battle, 21 to 7

Barbour Receives Glasener's Passes For Hawk Score

By DAVE HOFF
GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—Iowa's green Hawkeyes gave Great Lakes' veteran and ponderous eleven unexpectedly stiff competition yesterday and the sailors were able to run up only a 21 to 7 triumph before 22,000 naval training station recruits.

Making their debut under the coaching of Edward (Slip) Madigan, the all-civilian Hawkeyes shut out the Bluejackets in the second and fourth periods but yielded a touchdown in the first and two more in the third.

Then to add to their satisfaction, the Hawks made a touchdown of their own midway in the final period to escape being shut out.

Great Lakes, getting back on the winning track after being stopped by Purdue a week ago, rolled up 13 first downs to the Iowans' five but had a more pronounced margin than that in total offense. In rushing alone the sailors made 272 yards to Iowa's 42. All of the Great Lakes touchdowns were on long runs or long pass plays. Steve Lach, former Chicago Cardinals professional, galloped 75 yards early in the first period and Dewey Proctor of Furman traveled 45 in the third period. Later in that same quarter Lach passed to Steve Juzwick of Notre Dame in a play covering 47 yards for the final Sailor touchdown.

Paul Rogers of East Texas State placekicked all the points after touchdown.

The Sailors were really hot in the fourth period and twice broke inside the Iowa ten-yard line only to be stopped. After the second one, the Hawkeyes went 97 yards in four plays for a touchdown, Paul Glasener's passes of 34 yards and 60 yards to Bill Barbour doing the bulk of the job. Barbour kicked the point after scoring the touchdown.

Ray Polezynski of Marquette put on a great passing show for Great Lakes in the final period, throwing one aerial of 18 yards to Sam Zatkoff of Hamtramck (Mich.) high school and another of 43 yards to Emil Sitko, former Notre Dame freshman. He also figured in the day's oddest play, catching his own pass for a two-yard loss after it had been batted into the air by an Iowa player.

Cornhuskers Hold Scrimmage Game

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—University of Nebraska first stringers scrimmaged to a 19 to 6 victory over Cornhusker seconds in a regulation time game yesterday afternoon, but their performance was not too encouraging as a preview of what can be expected against the Golden Gophers of Minnesota next week.

Save for a knee injury to end Zane Cole, however, there were no casualties. Bright spots included better ball handling and improvement in aerial phases.

Joe Kessler, Wayne grad, Jim Hansen of Omaha and veteran Clark Beaver, former Tekamah prep star, counted the three first-string touchdowns, while Gordon Erwin, former Omaha prepster, grabbed a pass for the B squad's scoring thrust.

Notre Dame Takes 41 to 0 Triumph Over Hapless Pitt

By WHITNEY MARTIN

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—They spelled football with two T's here yesterday afternoon, but one of the T's was silent. The result was a 41 to 0 victory for Notre Dame over the hapless Pittsburgh Panthers, with both teams using the popular T formation.

A record opening crowd of 60,000, lured by the magic name of Notre Dame and the debut of Clark Shaughnessy as Pitt coach, sat in on the kill and discovered that everything said about each team was true—that the Irish have a power-laden, smooth-functioning outfit predominantly veteran and that Pitt is, as Shaughnessy termed it, "a fine high school team."

Scoring twice in each of the first two quarters, and once each in the third and fourth, Notre Dame rolled up and down the field practically at will and stymied even the vague threats of the inexperienced Panthers. Only one did Pitt burrow into Notre Dame territory, and then only to the 32-yard line.

The Panthers, with five 17-year-old kids in their starting lineup, found that spirit could not cope with the sheer class and experience shown by Notre Dame.

The game was about 10 minutes old when Creighton Miller slashed through the Pitt line for four yards and a touchdown after the Irish had recovered a fumble on the Panther 34.

Miller also collected the second touchdown, traveling 40 yards without being touched. The third score was of the fluky variety, with Angelo Bertelli scooping up a teammate's fumble on the Pitt two and springing around his right end.

Bob Palladino and Julius Rykovich, who registered twice, accounted for the other scores as the game became a rout.

Frank Leahy, the Irish coach, used nearly all his players, but it seemed to make no difference as fleet backs, Palladino, Miller, Rykovich, Johnny Lujack, Bob Hanlon and Bertelli cruised relentlessly.

Notre Dame used comparatively few plays, and Bertelli obviously was under wraps. Only six times did the Irish pass. They completed three tosses. Pitt, with the passers smothered, made good only one toss out of 13.

Beahawks Meet Ottumwa Skyers

To Play Game Here Today; Free to Public

The Ottumwa Naval air station's Skyers, led by Lieut. Jimmy Kitts, former Rice Institute coach, will meet the Navy Pre-Flight school's Beahawks in the Hawkeye stadium here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

There will be no admission charge to the game and the public is invited. It is requested that all cars be parked outside of the pre-flight school area.

Although he will not start, Roy Kippe, fullback, formerly of Michigan, will probably see action in this afternoon's tilt. Kippe is the only member of the Beahawk squad who has had college experience.

The Ottumwa gridders, who include officers, cadets and enlisted men, are expected to give the Beahawks a good battle.

The pre-flight men are coached by Lieut. Elmer Holm, former mentor at Washburn college.

Larsen, quarterback for the Beahawks, and Nowaki, right tackle on the Ottumwa team, will captain their respective teams.

Camp Grant Takes Hard-Fought Win Over Wisconsin, 10-7

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Bob Orlando, right guard on the Camp Grant football team, booted a 30-yard field goal in the last five seconds of play to give the Warriors a 10 to 7 victory over a fighting University of Wisconsin eleven yesterday.

As the crowd of 11,000 watched breathlessly, Orlando, formerly of Colgate, stepped up to the 20-yard line where halfback Reino Nori held the ball. The 30-yard kick was high and straight, and brought three golden points to the hard pressed Warriors.

It was heart-breaking for the Badger fans hoping for at least a tie. Only a few minutes before the Badgers had tied the score at seven-all.

The Badgers were outclassed in almost every department except fight.

While their ground game picked up 225 yards from scrimmage, the Soldiers experienced considerable difficulty with their passing game. They tried nine aerials and completed three for 41 yards, most of which came on one play.

The Badgers gained 51 yards by rushing and completed five out of 16 passes for 66 yards.

Coach Charley Bachman's men scored a touchdown and an extra point late in the first half. Halfback Bill Reed passed from the Wisconsin 40 to Sam Goldman, who was thrown out on the six-yard line. Two plays later Bill Burghardt, who replaced Corvin Clatt at fullback, carried it into the end zone. Bob Orlando placekicked the extra point.

In the third period, Wisconsin played the Warriors on even terms, and in the fourth pushed over a touchdown.

Little Hawks Make Late Comeback

By JAMES STARR

When the game opened between the Little Hawks and the River Kings Friday night, on the Clinton field, City high had their sights set too high, but as the third quarter rolled past with the score 6-0 in Clinton's favor the Little Hawks realized that if they didn't start playing ball they would lose the game which marked the opening of the Mississippi Valley conference.

Although Clinton was overweighed by an average of 20 pounds in the line and 15 pounds in the backfield, the River Kings proved to be a tougher team to win over than the Little Hawks had expected.

Dean Burridge, left halfback, although only a sophomore, led Clinton to what seemed almost a certain victory as the third quarter ended with the scoreboard reading: Clinton 6, Iowa City 0.

The Little Hawks sprang into action, however, in the last quarter with surprising spirit. Instead of a team which had been fumbling, muffing passes, getting penalized for rule infraction, and doing all around poor ball playing for 45 minutes, the same team began looking like the kind of team City high was expected to be.

During the final stanza the Little Hawks surged forward to make two touchdowns and a conversion which made the final score, City high 13, Clinton 6.

Youthful Bucks Handcuffed

Ohio State Loses First Opening-Day Game Since 1894

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Iowa's classy Seahawks took advantage of Ohio State's inadequate pass defense yesterday to defeat the Bucks 28 to 13 before 23,498 fans in the first opening day setback Ohio has suffered since 1894.

The youthful Bucks, composed almost entirely of freshmen just three months out of high school, had a dozen first downs to 10 for the Hawks. Frank Maznicki, Chicago Bears back, made good on kicking all the placements.

The Bucks, handcuffed throughout the first half when they failed to get beyond the Seahawks' 40-yard line, broke loose in the third period, just after the final Pre-Flight touchdown. Dean Sensenbaur, speedy freshman from Uhrichsville, Ohio, took a punt on his 10 and raced to his 30. Eight plays later he romped 27 yards for a touchdown, after a neat 17-yard run in the same spurgle. John Stungis, subquarterback, booted the extra point.

With only 22 seconds to go, the Bucks struck again, substitute back Bob McQuade passing 13 yards to sub end Gene Clark in the end zone. Stungis missed the placekick.

Penn State Wins

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Flashy Jack Castiglione snared two touchdowns passes to give Penn State a 14-0 victory over Bucknell in the 33rd revival of Penn's oldest rivalry before 10,000 fans yesterday. Bucknell penetrated to State's 12 yard line three times only to be smothered.

rata of Iowa State Teachers plunged over from the two. The Wolverines had a 13 to 8 edge in first downs and went 301 yards by rushing to 38. Western had a passing edge of 111 yards to 89.

Wolverines Crush Western Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Mighty Michigan, operating with remarkable precision, scored two touchdowns a period yesterday to crush Western Michigan college, 57 to 6, in the Wolverine home football opener before a slim 18,000 crowd for its second 1943 victory.

With 43 players getting into the action, Michigan rolled up its biggest scoring total since Tommy Harmon and mates trounced hapless Chicago, 85 to 0, in 1939. Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch, a marine trainee from Wisconsin, and reserve halfback Bob Nussbaumer each scored twice.

Western Michigan, drawing its talent from 900 navy trainees at Kalamazoo, held off the Wolverine juggernaut for 11 minutes, but then Michigan broke through for two touchdowns by Hirsch and a safety in four minutes. Big Bill Daley presently rambled 65 yards for a second period touchdown, and others followed by Nussbaumer, Bob Wise, Wally Dreyer and Bill Culligan.

Mervin Pregulman, Michigan's handy man lineman, placekicked seven extra points.

Western Michigan pushed across its lone touchdown in the second period. Passes by Mike Milosevich, formerly of Southern Illinois Teachers, featured a 69-yard advance, and fullback Augie Cama-

Student Help Much Needed This Year

Student Placement Continuing Its Aid To SUI Students

Employing thousands of university students during its 14 years of service, the division of student placement is continuing its aid this year to a large percentage of university students.

Last year 51 percent of the men and women were working part time while attending school. An even greater demand for student workers this year has been caused by war conditions.

The division of student placement also handles applications for student aid, which include fee exemptions, scholarships and government loans. This type of student aid was given to 1,097 students last year.

Organized in 1929 as the student employment office, the service has had six directors. Ted Rehder, now in charge of university dining service, was its first director. The first office was located in Iowa Union, where Arthur Lentz and Benjamin Robinson were also directors.

In 1936 the office was moved to the old dental building, where Lee Kahn served as director. Leo Sweeney headed the employment office until August, 1942, when the present director, R. L. Ballantyne, took charge. The present office is located in the basement of Old Capitol.

The division of student placement was organized to accommodate needy students. Since 1929 there has been a tremendous flow of people seeking aid. The system used by the division includes complicated card systems and filing. Last year 2,898 people were employed through the service. The types of work have increased during the past year, and calls come in for almost every kind of employment.

Hick Hawks Swing Into Season At Women's Gym

Hick Hawks, square dancing club of the Women's Recreation association, is swinging into a full season with meetings in the women's gymnasium every Tuesday night at 7:30.

The group, headed by Albert Slater, A3 of Ft. Madison, is open to all students, faculty members, servicemen and Iowa Citizens. In addition to sponsoring several all-university square dances, the Hick Hawks last year had a picnic and a Christmas party for its members. The group also performs for various other organizations on campus and often leads them in square dancing.

Folk dancing, as well as square dancing, is practiced by the group. Beginners need not hesitate to join the Hick Hawks, for the fundamentals are well in mind and smoothly polished before the group advances to more intricate steps.

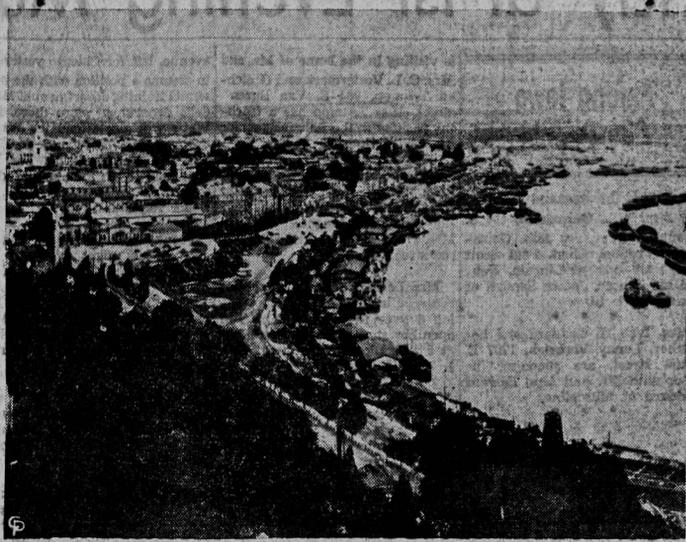

The only requirement for membership is that individuals attend the meetings with some regularity to prevent slowing down the entire group by the necessity of constant review.

Prof. Ella May Small is acting as faculty adviser to the group.

U.S. Salerno Toll 3,497

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The war department reported yesterday that American casualties at Salerno up to and including Sept. 15 totaled 3,497 killed, wounded and missing.

The announcement noted that this period includes "Sept. 14, the date of the German announcement that 8,000 to 10,000 American soldiers had been killed" and "an equal number captured."

The period covered by the report includes the time during which the Germans made their counterattacks on the allied beachheads.

On Sept. 16 allied forces took the initiative.

Missing was not broken down into parts.

Covering approximately a week, it compared with American losses of 7,445 killed, wounded and missing in the 38-day Sicilian campaign. President Roosevelt gave this figure in saying that the total American, British and Canadian casualties in Sicily were 31,156.

lotte's biographer, that Mr. Newby "did not stand well as a publisher," and Charlotte herself referred to him as "a shuffling scamp." However, at this distance in time, we can afford to be more charitable; after all, Mr. Newby was the first to publish "Wuthering Heights," even if, as Charlotte complained, the orthography and punctuation were "mortifying to a degree" and Emily's corrections in the proof sheets were blandly ignored.

ends with that prolific sonneteer, Merrill Moore. In a chapter on Stephen Benet the author sketches the parallels and contrasts between "John Brown's Body" and Hardy's "Dynasty." It is his view that Hardy depicted the ruling

Class better than Benet, but that Benet excelled him in depicting the people. "Benet's work richly fulfills its outspoken claim to native inspiration. Of the many poems during the present century composed on patriotic themes, none has thus far succeeded so fully in satisfying the national mind."

Well, time which cures so many things can also correct the judgments of reviewers. Even Charlotte's conditioning "immature," applied to Emily's matchless novel, today seems itself immature to us who know "Wuthering Heights" as one of the greatest stories ever written by man, woman or angel. Faculty String Quartet, Trio to Play at 1st Evening Music Hour

Program to Be In Iowa Union Sept. 29 at 8

The first of the Wednesday Evening Music hour broadcasts to be given in Iowa Union during the current year will be presented Wednesday at 8 p. m., featuring chamber music by the faculty string quartet and trio, it was announced yesterday by Prof. P. G. Clapp, head of the music department. The program will be broadcast over WSUI.

Compositions by Reger and Brahms will be heard on the broadcast, the third of the season. All university students and townspeople will be admitted without charge.

The complete program is as follows:

"Trio in D minor for violin, viola and violoncello, Opus 141b," by Max Reger; Allegro, Andante molto sostenuto con variazione and Vivace.

"Quartet for piano, violin, viola and violoncello, Opus 60," by Johannes Brahms; Allegro non troppo, Scherzo; Allegro, Andante and Finale; Allegro con moto.

Reger's trio for strings is one of the most original and charming compositions of the late 19th and early 20th century composer, who was also a pianist and organist of great ability. The piece, considered modern in style according to the views of 1900, show the influence of Bach and Brahms even though composed at a time when his contemporaries were copying Wagner with both hands.

Fame came slowly to Reger, who expressed himself chiefly in chamber music, songs, choral works and piano, violin and organ pieces, with but few orchestral compositions. Nevertheless, his bright and vigorous rhythms and lively melodic invention won him a large following, and, at the time of his sudden death in 1916, he was compared in importance to his contemporaries, Strauss and Mahler.

Brahm's Quartet
Brahm's quartet for strings and piano, the last of three compositions of this style by the composer, has been performed several times previously at the university and has been included on the program in response to many requests. The style of the composition is mostly fiery and dramatic, with a lyrical slow movement for contrast. Brahms' Opus 26, the second of the group of compositions, was broadcast by the faculty string quartet Sept. 15.

Varied programs by soloists and small vocal and instrumental groups will be presented during the year on the Wednesday Evening Music hour broadcasts at Studio E of WSUI. Longer programs by the University Symphony orchestra, Chorus and Concert band will be presented in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

BREEMERS

NEW UNIVERSITY RABBI, PRIEST

Rabbi Gilbert Klaperman

The former president of Mt. Saint Scholastica college, Atchison, Kan., and a "three-star captain" from Kingstown, Canada, have taken up their duties as new members in the school of religion. Rabbi Gilbert Klaperman, new director of Jewish activities on the Iowa campus, particularly enjoyed his work as a chaplain in the Canadian army because army chaplains in Canada have as part of their insignia the three stars which are evidence of a general's rating in the United States army, and occasionally some well-meaning American would address him as "General Klaperman."

Father Bonaventure Schwinn, the other new member of the faculty of the school of religion, finds work on the campus almost as new an experience as does Rabbi Klaperman, for he had never been in Iowa City until he became a member of the faculty here.

Canadian Captain
Rabbi Klaperman comes to Iowa City from Queen's university, Kingstown, Ontario, where last year he was director of the Hillel foundation. He also served the Jewish community in Kingstown and was a captain in the chaplain service of the Canadian army. Before his work in Canada, he had charge of a pulpit in a synagogue in Brooklyn, N. Y.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Yeshiva college in New York in 1940, and did graduate work there and at the College of the City of New York. He was valedictorian of his graduating class at Yeshiva.

Rabbi Klaperman has been in Iowa City since Aug. 30. He replaces Rabbi Maurice Kertzer, who is now in the United States army at Ft. Dix, N. J.

Two of the courses offered this year by the school of religion will be taught by Rabbi Klaperman. One is the course in Jewish history of literature, which includes an outline of the teachings of the Old Testament. The other course, Living Religions of Mankind, takes up the study of those contemporary world religions which have large numbers of living adherents.

Saint Benedict's Abbey
Father Schwinn has for the past 19 years been superior and master of clerics at Saint Benedict's Abbey, Atchison, Kan., and has for the same period been president of Mt. Saint Scholastica college, Atchison, where he conducted courses in religion and philosophy. He was also dean of St. Benedict's school of theology and professor of dogmatic theology. With the help of the theological students, he inaugurated the correspondence course in religion which is offered by Saint Benedict's.

Father Schwinn has been

Father Bonaventure Schwinn

chairman of the midwest regional unit of the National Catholic Education association since March 23, 1943.

His undergraduate work was done at Saint Benedict's and at Saint Vincent's college, Latrobe, Pa. He received the bachelor's degree at Saint Vincent's in 1912 and the master's degree in 1914. In 1916 he was ordained to the priesthood and did graduate work after his ordination at the University of Chicago and Columbia university. In 1921 he was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy by Saint Vincent's college.

Father Schwinn accepted the post at the University of Iowa at the request of the Most Rev. Henry P. Rohlfman, bishop of Davenport. He will teach two religion courses, one of which is the course in the Catholic church and civilization, the chief purpose of which is to explain essential Catholic teaching. The Catholic church and society, which will also be taught by Father Schwinn, is the study of current ethical and social issues from the Catholic point of view.

Direct Student Activities
Besides their teaching work at the university, Father Schwinn and Rabbi Klaperman will direct the activities of the students affiliated with their faiths from offices in the school of religion in Macbride hall.

Rabbi Klaperman is director of Hillel foundation, and is undertaking the supervision of the new program of Hillel activities, which stresses the needs of service men. He conducts religious services at the Hillel lounge, 24 1/2 S. Clinton, each Friday at 7:30 p. m. and Sundays at 11 a. m.

A class in Hebrew for men in service and students who are interested is planned by Rabbi Klaperman. He also supervises the open house programs held at Hillel lounge.

All Catholic students of the university have Father Schwinn as their chaplain. He will head the Catholic Student foundation, which is sponsored by Bishop Rohlfman with the cooperation of the National Council of Catholic Women and will act as adviser to the Newman club. He is living temporarily at Mercy hospital, where he is conducting a class in ethics for nurses.

Religious Broadcasts To Represent Three Faiths This Week

Morning chapel, the school of religion's daily devotional program, will observe religious education week with a series of broadcasts presented each morning at 8 over radio station WSUI. The broadcasts will be presented by student leaders of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

Monday Mrs. E. J. Montgomery, counselor of Wesley foundation will speak as a representative of the Methodist church. The hymns to be played Monday are "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "Creation Achieved Is the Glorious Work."

Louise Hilfman will represent the Jewish student group, Hillel foundation, on the Morning Chapel broadcast Tuesday. "Kol Nidrei" and Psalm 150 will be played in connection with the Jewish broadcast.

Wednesday's program will feature Mrs. B. N. Covert, assistant to Dr. Ilion T. Jones of the Presbyterian church. "God So Loved the World" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" will be the hymns played Wednesday.

Elizabeth Conroy, representative of the Canterbury club of the Episcopal church will speak Thursday. The hymns which will be played are "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Nunc Dimittis."

Mary Modesta Monnig will represent the Catholic Newman club Friday. "Ave Maria" and "A Prayer to Our Lady" are the Catholic hymns which will be a part of the broadcast.

Saturday's Morning Chapel will consist of a talk by Margaret Proehl, acting president of the Lutheran Student association, and the hymns, "A Mighty Fortress" and "Just for Today."

Combat Veterans Will Address Legion Post

The Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion will open its annual season of monthly "chows," or informal dinner meetings, at 8:30 tomorrow night in the Community building.

In addition to a program of official army and navy combat films taken in Tunisia, Sicily, Germany, Italy and the southwest Pacific area, three men who have returned from combat zones will speak to the Legionnaires.

They are: Sgt. Bernard Falk, who has seen action in the Aleutian islands and Guadalcanal; Pvt. Frederick Boarts of Iowa City, who was stationed with the marines at Guadalcanal, and Sgt. George Lillus of Williamsburg, who has flown on 76 occupational combat missions and has a total of 600 combat flying service hours to his credit. Sergeant Lillus has been awarded many honors in recognition of valor and service.
