2 Jap Merchantmen, Destroyer In 11-Ship Convoy Sent to Bottom

Vessels Bombed, Torpedoed, Sunk By Big U.S. Planes

Fourth Large Ship Receives 2 Direct Hits, But Remains Afloat

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Saturday (AP)—American Liberator bombers sank two Japanese merchant ships and a destroyer, General MacArthur announced today, when the big planes surprised an 11-ship convoy believed attempting to sneak down to trapped Japanese forces at Vila on Kolombangara island in the New Georgia group.

A large cargo ship was hit with two bombs, capsized and sank. The second was destroyed by a large explosion which was followed by fires visible 20 miles. The destroyer exploded after four direct hits. It had thrown up heavy anti-aircraft fire against the attacking planes.

A fourth large vessel received two direct hits on its stern but was still afloat when the planes left.

While the destination of the convoy was not known definitely, it was heading in the general direction of Vila where reports from the south Pacific said the Japanese have been evacuating troops by large under cover of darkness. The Japanese had an estimated 10,000 troops there at one time.

The bombers, on reconnaissance, caught the convoy in Bougainville strait in the northern Solomons the night of Sept. 28 and morning of Sept. 29.

It was assumed in the absence of complete reports that the balance of the convoy scattered and failed to reach its destination. MacArthur's morning communique also announced that 90 Japanese were killed in an attempt to escape from Vella Lavella which American troops occupied shortly after the capture of Munda airfield on New Georgia.

The desperate Japanese, in an attempt to supply their forces at Vella Lavella, have turned to air-planes which are dropping supplies there.

U.S. Bombers Raid Munich, Attack Vienna Region From Airbases in Northern Africa

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Saturday (AP)—American heavy bombers smashed at Munich, cradle of Nazism, in southern Germany and also attacked the Vienna region of Austria yesterday in the first air attack undertaken against the Reich from northwest African bases, a special air communique announced today.

A few hours after allied forces marched victoriously into ravaged Naples, swarms of Flying Fortresses and Liberators, in a powerful demonstration of the closing aerial pincers, made their longest round trip—1,800 miles—to reach the German and Austrian targets.

Despite bad weather, the Fortresses crossed the Alps to attack the Munich region, while the Liberators blasted a factory at Wiener Neustadt, 25 miles southwest of Vienna, where air frames are manufactured for Messerschmitt fighting planes.

Heavy clouds obscured observation of the results of the bombing. Some enemy fighters were encountered.

Swiss Down Fortress (The Swiss announced last night that a Flying Fortress was shot down by Swiss anti-aircraft fire when American and German fighters engaged in a battle over eastern Switzerland. A German broadcast said five Flying Fortresses were shot down over the western part of the Alps and another nine were so heavily damaged they had to abandon formation.

A special air communique, issued at allied headquarters last night, did not mention any American losses.

Former Raids Wiener Neustadt was raided Aug. 13 by a heavy force of Liberator bombers from the United States Ninth air force based in the middle east which flew a round-trip of nearly 2,500 miles to drop nearly 350,000 pounds of explosives on the aircraft works. Munich has been raided before by the RAF from Britain.

Many bombers which recently came to the northwest African theater from the Eighth U. S. air force in Britain as well as from the Ninth airforce in the middle east participated in yesterday's attacks.

W. Averill Harriman New Envoy to Russia

Wealthy Industrialist, Lend-Lease Expediter Relieves W.H. Standley

WASHINGTON (AP)—W. Averill Harriman, wealthy 51-year-old industrialist and lend-lease "expediter" in London, was nominated yesterday to be ambassador to Moscow, thus completing United States preparations for the momentous conference impending with Britain and Russia.

Harriman, who inherited a great railroad fortune and became a successful business man in his own right, will take with him to Russia years of experience in dealing with big men and a friendship already established with Premier Joseph Stalin.

He succeeds the retiring 71-year-old Admiral William H. Standley who recently arrived here to assist in laying the foundation for the coming tripartite conference either in Moscow or London.

Harriman's appointment follows the selection of another young business man, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former U.S. Steel board chairman and lend-lease administrator, to be undersecretary of state. Stettinius, who will be 43 Oct. 22, was confirmed by the senate Thursday. There has been talk that he, too, will accompany Secretary of State Hull to the conferences with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Friends say that Hull, who will be 72 years old today, is going to Europe ready to lay all cards on the table in a frank discussion of war and post-war questions.

Reds Take Cherikov, Reach Pronya River; Naples Captured By Advancing American Fifth

Germans Hurry Northward For New Stand Near Rome

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Naples, the biggest city and most important port yet to fall to the allies, was captured yesterday by the American Fifth army as the bulk of its German defenders scurried northward for a new stand somewhere between the charred and looted metropolis and Rome.

(President Roosevelt said the allied objective was to free Rome, the Vatican and the pope, much in the manner of a crusade.)

A British armored column, accompanied by Americans, fought vigorous resistance along the road flanking the Gulf of Naples to the outskirts of the city Thursday night. The Germans moved out during the night and the allies entered the city through its eastern gate an hour after dawn yesterday morning. They picked up the arms and iron center of Torre Annunziata en route.

The allied drive along the coast was aided by a ten-mile advance by Americans forming Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's right wing to Avellino Thursday, which imperilled the German position in the whole Naples area.

The victory opened one of the Mediterranean's greatest ports to the allies and, when the harbor is cleared of extensive German demolitions and scuttled ships, will facilitate the allied supply problem. Authorities said the port would be able soon to unload cargoes from deep draft ships. The victory also put within allied grasp numerous excellent airfields 15 to 25 miles north of the city.

It still is uncertain where the Germans will make their next stand. It is obvious that they will attempt more delaying actions between Naples and Rome, 135 railway miles north.

In this area there are fewer mountains, but there are rivers. Twenty miles north of Naples is the Volturno and above that is the Gargliano and its tributaries, the Liri and Sacco. Battles on the banks of all these streams are likely as the allies push northward along the ancient Appian way to Rome.

There also is the question of whether the Germans will stand for battle at Rome. While the puppet Fascist government of Mussolini has reportedly declared Rome an open city, there has been no agreement by the allies. If the German attitude toward Rome is anything like their conduct toward the Neapolitans, the eternal city may have had bad days ahead.

The allies entered Naples, a city of 925,000, at 8 a. m. A terse communique from General Eisenhower said simply:

"Troops of the Fifth army have entered Naples and the city is reported clear of Germans."

Naples is in ruins and aflame. The bulk of the five German divisions forming its defenses got away, but many rearguard formations, including some of the enemy's finest troops, were annihilated by the allied avalanche.

For months Naples was dealt blasting blows by allied planes, especially Flying Fortresses, and shelled by warships.

Then the Germans proceeded with systematic demolitions, not only to deny anything of value to the onrushing allies but to inflict vengeance on the Italians for surrendering unconditionally and irreparably shattering the axis.

Freedom of Air Will Follow War—F.D.R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Freedom of the air should follow the winning of the war, President Roosevelt declared yesterday, and he said Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain shares this belief.

Saying that he thinks that everything will be all right with regard to the peacetime use of air bases being built abroad by American men and money in wartime, the president sketched roughly for his news conference a post-war aviation arrangement in which America would:

- (1) Control its own internal aviation.
- (2) Retain commercial and passenger routes in general in private hands.
- (3) Possibly subsidize American routes competing with lower-cost foreign lines and non-profitable routes to open new territory.
- (4) Permit foreign planes to fly over the United States and to refuel within our borders.

Senators back from a 40,000-mile world tour this week expressed fear that U. S.-built airports would revert to foreign countries six months after the war and, as Senator Brewster (R-Maine) put it, "leave us holding the bag."

Asked about this, Mr. Roosevelt said we've been working on it for six or eight months, that we've been getting along on it.

Germans Claim Major Victory In Southern Defensive Battle

LONDON, Saturday (AP)—Soviet troops battered through German defenses in White Russia to reach the Pronya river, 29 miles from Mogilev, Moscow announced today, while the Germans claimed a major defensive victory in the south after a bitter five-day battle.

Fall rains were drenching the White Russian battlefield as the Russians rolled through 460 more towns and hamlets, killed over 5,500 Germans and won the town of Cherikov in a new crossing of the Sozh river.

In a number of sectors the Russians reached the Pronya, which branches off from the Sozh river east of Mogilev, said the Moscow midnight bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

This marked an advance of 30 miles from captured Krichev and 17 miles beyond Cherikov.

The Germans retreated with heavy losses, abandoning guns and trucks, the Russians said.

Other drives in White Russia—the last Soviet republic before Poland—were aimed at Gomel and Vitebsk.

In the Gomel fighting German fortified defense lines with numerous blockhouses and pillboxes stalled off capture of the city. Soviet assault groups broke through some of the defended areas, however, killing a thousand Germans and seizing food and ammunition stores.

The Germans hurled an artillery barrage and several counterattacks against the advancing Russians, in the Vitebsk area but the Soviet troops kept attacking and in a determined smash took a stubbornly defended height, the Russians said.

The communique, for the second day, gave no details of fighting elsewhere on the 700-mile front.

German broadcasts, however, made much of a battle they said had ended with a Russian defeat in the southern Ukraine. The high command communique said the Russians lost 140 out of 250 tanks in a mass attack near Zaporoze on the Dnieper river bend.

There, where the Dnieper turns far to the east, the Russians were said to have attacked with more than 15 infantry divisions, six tank brigades and a large number of artillery formations along a 70-mile front.

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German radio commentator, called it "a major defensive success" but admitted that "despite heavy losses suffered by the enemy there seems little doubt that the Soviets will continue their attack."

The weather in the south remains dry longer than in the north, where the fall rains already have mired many of the roads, the Germans said.

ATTENTION STUDENT SUBSCRIBERS

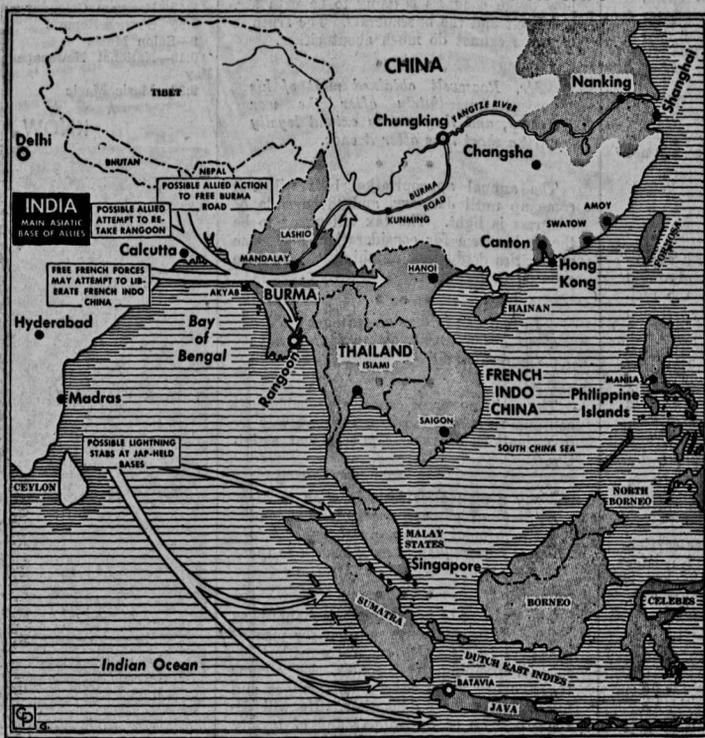

War-time conditions have placed drastic restrictions on all forms of delivery. To meet these circumstances and to render better service to its student subscribers, The Daily Iowan has established daily distributing centers at its entrance to the Business Office in University Hall, at the north (Journalism) entrance to East Hall and at Iowa Union.

Residential unit delivery by carrier will be continued as in the past to dormitories and to other student housing groups representing organizations with 25 or more students in residence.

At the three designated distribution centers, each morning of publication, The Daily Iowan will be available to all other students (those not included in groups defined in the preceding paragraph) upon the presentation of their University identification cards. This service will be continued until further notice.

The plan herein described does not apply to subscribers other than students. Hours: 8 to 10 A.M. Sunday distribution at Iowa Union only: 8 A.M. to 1 P.M.

WHERE ALLIES MAY STRIKE NEW BLOWS AT JAPS

NEW MAJOR OFFENSIVE against Japan from strategic allied bases in India and the southwest Pacific may be launched in the very near future, according to military observers in Washington. Map shows where allied blows may strike at the Japs, who are reported boosting their forces in Burma to 10 divisions and strengthening their air power, possibly to strike counter-blows.

On German Soil—

One of the reasons for the supremely confident and arrogant spirit of the Nazi leaders and the German people during the early years of the war was their belief that the soil of the Reich would never be touched by the foot of an invader. They had adequate reasons for their conviction that they were secure against invasion.

The Nazi armies dominated the continent of Europe and were deep in Russian territory and there seemed little prospect that this situation would be altered appreciably. In fact, the German people had the word of Goering—that whom, incidentally, little is heard these days—that a hostile plane would not be permitted to darken the fair skies above the Reich.

Time and the resources of the united nations, combined with brilliance of leadership and the courage of fighting men, have changed all of that. The German retreat in Russia, which for a time was carried on as an orderly retirement, has assumed the aspects of a rout. Now that the Nazis have been unable to hold a line along the Dnieper, there seems to be no place for them to attempt to make a stand short of the Polish border. The most significant aspect of the whole Russian operation lies in the increasing evidence that the German armies have lost both their will and their power to resist.

In Italy, too, the fortunes of war have turned definitely against the Nazis as the offensive by the Fifth army goes into high gear and Corsica is conquered, with the important practical result that all northern Italy and much of southern France will be brought within bombing range.

Impressive indications of the transformation in German morale in consequence of military reserves comes in the form of the formation of the "Union of German Officers," made up of captive high commanders now in Russia. These men, away from Hitler's control, presumably are free to declare themselves. They call upon their country to overthrow the fuhrer and establish a government "having the confidence of the people and strong enough to bring about peace."

This declaration constitutes a recognition of the inevitability of defeat by those leaders who are best qualified to appraise the prospects for the future. After four years they are convinced that they have engaged in a "senseless, futile war" which might "any day cause a national catastrophe." Is it not probable that the German people, observing the destruction of their greatest cities, the consistent retirement of their armies and the deepening danger to their own soil, share this conviction of disaster?

It is typically German, of course, that what these specimens worry about is "national catastrophe." The international catastrophe of which they are guilty seems not to worry them at all.

Share and Spare—

The car had been standing through an unseasonably cool September night, and would not start. The nearest garage in the residential suburb was two miles away. When the service car answered the telephoned call for help, it was not recognized at first, because it was labeled "Blank Meat Market." The garage and market had been cooperating to save gas, and swapped trucks back and forth.

More could be done along this line, and before long will have to be.

Little Merchants—

Most of the tributes to newspaper carrier-salesmen on National Newspaper Boy day will rightly stress the fact that the boy is engaging in a complete business experience. He is buying a useful article at wholesale, selling and delivering it, collecting the pay for it and keeping his profit.

He has plenty of expert help and guidance, but his relations with his patrons are up to him. This is a beneficial as well as a profitable experience. Thousands of successful business men have testified that their experience as newspaper merchants was one of the most helpful phases of their business training.

News Behind the News

History's Most Unusual Propaganda War

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—This is the most unusual war of history as far as propaganda is concerned.

If you take the official statements of our side for instance, you will believe Japan cannot be conquered for six years. The admirals say so. The navy secretary, Mr. Knox, holds press conferences at which such views are advertised.

The army officials give out statements that the second front cannot be launched for a long time, and that it will be a long, hard war. This theme is pursued by Elmer Davis' office of war information, which seems to be determined to kill any optimism.

In all previous wars that I ever heard of, the official propaganda idea was to keep everyone optimistic. In the World war, the Civil war, and even back beyond, the official inspiration always was to encourage people to victory and urge them on to their labors. Only in this one have the government philosophers practiced discouragement as an incentive.

They seem to think that such tactics will inspire greater energy among the people to do their war work, but I wonder if these tactics are successful. It would seem to me that if the admirals think Japan cannot be conquered for six years, in view of the superior position which we hold, we need some new admirals.

I may be wrong, but it occurs to me Secretary Knox should bring into his office for press conferences those naval authorities who believe Japan can be crushed.

What I would like to read is some official pronouncement from the navy saying that this war can be won fast if the energy of the people is devoted swiftly to the task. At least, that would inspire me more than these constant statements that things look bad, that our trials and tribulations are to be extended indefinitely.

I wonder where the government philosophers got the idea that people can be pressed to work only by discouraging official statements. It seems to me the notion traces right back to Hitlerism. It sounds to me like the Goebbels technique.

As far as I know, it was the Nazis who first developed the policy of making their people work harder by adopting a long official face. They had a struggle on their hands to arise from the subservient position in which their nation was placed and they thought they managed to get the utmost energy from their people by impressing upon them constantly the discouraging aspects of their position.

The same publicity propaganda was practiced in England where Dunkirk and the blitz bombing raids naturally caused Mr. Churchill to take that tone.

The facts of the situation today, as I read them, are nowhere near comparable to either of these previous conditions, that is the previous conditions of Germany or Britain in their struggles.

We are bound to win, and we know it. I cannot see why we do not proudly proclaim the fact and dim it into the ears of our enemies every second of the day. I think that would encourage people more, and discourage our enemies.

Congress Can't Do Much About F.D.R.—There is much current discussion about how tough congress is going to be with Mr. Roosevelt and the bureaucrats. The truth is congress cannot do much about either.

Mr. Roosevelt obtained most of his powers immediately after the war started, and they are to extend legally until a short time after it ends.

The annual appropriation bills will not come up until January, and the agenda of congress is light. The tax bill seems to be the major item for consideration, and some authorities doubt that anything will be done even on that subject.

In fact, the leaders already are talking about adjournment, although they have not agreed on a date.

The main power of congress probably will continue to be exerted in a negative way by investigations of various government activities.

Many a man owes his education to his earnings as a newspaper salesman, and the additional income thus brought into homes has frequently meant much to the whole family.

The training of newspaper merchants is so beneficial that it is not unusual for men of considerable means to cooperate with their sons in obtaining paper routes. They know that the boy will conserve his earnings and put a new value on his time. He will develop a sense of dutifulness and of loyalty to his business and his customers.

It is not of record that any man who spent part of his boyhood as a newspaper salesman ever mentioned the fact with anything but pride.

The Iowa-Illinois game to be played at Champaign on Nov. 8 was chosen as the student trip for this year. The special train which was to be routed by way of Chicago was to leave here at 12:15 p. m. Friday and would arrive in Chicago about 5 p. m. Hotel accommodations were guaranteed to everyone and another special train would leave Chicago at 8:30 a. m. the following morning, arriving in Champaign about 11:30 a. m. The University band of 120 pieces under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, and the Scottish highlanders, directed by Pipe Major William Adamson, was to form the nucleus of the group while students, faculty, and towns people would fill out the entourage.

The opening action in tax appeal cases for 21 university fraternity and sorority organizations was confined to the questioning of William Seifert, witness of the fraternity groups. Through a comparison of figures, representatives of the fraternal groups alleged that assessments on fraternity and sorority houses were too high for their relative other expenditures.

Dean E. W. Jacobson, dean of the school of education at the University of Pittsburgh, contended that "fitting boys and girls for living in the society which they will face on leaving school is the main job of modern education." Dean Jacobson addressed the supervision and administration conference being held here.

The annual Homecoming badge sale was to begin on the next day with the Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Chi Omega sororities entering a competitive sale contest for the sale of badges to University students.

"A badge for every student and for every member of every family in Iowa City" was the slogan for campaign. The designer of the badge for this year was Richard F. Gates, G of Iowa City.

An editorial quoted Hitler as saying that the Sudeten was the last territorial demand that he would make in Europe, and then commented: "We recall that in May of 1933 Hitler said that he regarded the countries around Germany as established facts. No, we cannot place much credence in the promises of the man we heard shouting hate from Berlin on Monday. Neither can we agree to war."

Seventeen speakers, including men and women acquainted with all parts of the world were chosen as leaders for religious emphasis week to be held here Oct. 28 to Nov. 4. Among these speakers was T. Z. Koo, international student worker from China.

An article in the front page of this morning's paper told of the benefits that would be received by the government if the liquor repeal bill was passed. Some seven hundred million dollars would be diverted into government coffers upon approval of the bill.

Iowans were still gloating this morning as they said, "Iowa's football team, doormat of the Big Ten for fifteen years, came to Soldiers Field and made Iowa Day at the Century of Progress a real success by scoring a sensational 7-0 victory over the Northwestern Wildcats." This was Iowa's first conference win since 1929.

Washington in Wartime—

F.D.R.'s Swing to the Right

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Whatever else may be said about the appointment of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as undersecretary of state (and much may be said, none of it bad) Washington political observers saw it as just one more step in the president's long swing to the right and another bit of setting the Democratic administration house in order before the 1944 elections.
In view of the swing and the state department vacancy, it's surprising that none of us here saw the Stettinius appointment coming.
Stettinius is not only a scion of, but a success in, big business. His father was a Morgan partner and young Edward was born to wealth. For some years after his graduation from the University of Virginia, he was known by the very dubiously complimentary title of "Crown Prince of Steel." He lived, or rather worked it down. Coming up the hard way, through the General Motors shops, he became the $100,000-a-year chairman of the board of G.M. before he was 40 and quit the job to take a $1-a-year assignment in the war effort three years ago.
In spite of that capitalistic background, if there is any delicacy of relationships with Russia, as has been hinted, Stettinius should be one of their first choices for a man in the state department to deal with. As administrator of lend-lease, in which job it's generally conceded that he has been one of the greatest successes in Washington, he battled long and hard to fulfill Russian demands when they needed help most.
Regardless of that, however, observers here see as most significant the fact that Stettinius is one more of the president's moves to gouge out the political sore spots and plug them with conservatives. They consider it as part of the whole cloth that was started on the loom when Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox were brought in to be secretaries of war and navy; when the parade of production officials ended with Donald Nelson, as chief of WPB, and Charles L. Wilson as his right-hand man; when OPA was shaken up to make way for Prentiss Brown and then reshaken to put in Chester Bowles as virtual business manager of the price control agency.
The elevation of Leo T. Crowley to foreign economic coordinator; the appointment of Herbert H. Lehman to the president's personal staff, presumably for a stop-gap period, until he can be given possibly a world relief job; the naming of James F. Byrnes as war mobilization chief; Fred M. Vinson, as economic stabilizer, and Marvin Jones as war food administrator, are all part of the same tapestry.
Also considered part of it were the public spankings administered Vice-President Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, though it is becoming apparent that the latter was whopped much more gently than the vice-president. The presumably forced resignation of Sumner Welles, when Stettinius succeeds, also fits in.
The extent to which these moves are political is subject for debate that could well make the air blue over the cracker barrels throughout the country for months to come. It already has caused plenty of chin-waggings here; but political or not, the consensus on both sides of the aisle is that we are getting on with the war effort at home better than at any time since Pearl Harbor.

University Women to Hear Gardner Cowles Thursday

'Double V' To Sponsor Lecture Series

"Information First," a new phase of the "Double V" program of the University of Iowa, will begin with a lecture by Gardner Cowles, prominent publisher who accompanied Wendell Willkie on his recent world tour, Thursday at 4 p. m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

This will be the first of a series of lectures which are being presented as an aid in keeping the women of the university informed on current subjects. Each lecture will consist of a 45-minute address by an authority on some particular topic of interest to university women, to be followed by a 15-minute period of questions and discussion of the topic.

Three Phases
The "Double V" program of the university, which is devoted to helping students of the university do their part in achieving victory in war and victory in peace, is divided into the three general phases of health, service and education. "Information First" covers the educational phase by keeping students informed along four main lines.

The first main topic which will be covered in the "Information First" lectures is vocations. Speakers will discuss with students not only the opportunities that are open now in various fields of work, but the opportunities which will be available after the war. Discussion of vocations will be limited to those of interest to women.

The war and the peace will be discussed in the light of historical, geographical, political and economic conditions by authorities on each particular subject.

Contemporary questions will constitute the third phase of the "Information First" program. The more important points of current news events will be covered by expert news commentators and analysts, and an attempt will be made to instruct the university women how to evaluate, interpret and analyze news for themselves. The fourth main phase of the program will be composed of topics dealing with psychological and religious matters. Effects which the war is likely to have upon both men and women, and the best ways of meeting such effects, will be described.

The lectures will continue from Thursday through April, and are open to all university women. No charge will be made for admission.

Authorities
Some of the authorities who have been obtained to speak in connection with the program include: Lieut. Col. Andrew J. Boe of the Schick hospital at Clinton, who will speak on the effects of World War II on men. The topic of his talk will be "Psychological Kickback."

Bob Burlingame, WHO radio news commentator and Herb Plambeck, WHO farm editor, recently returned from England where he studied agricultural and military conditions. Both of these men will speak on "News and Views."

The tentative list of "Information First" speakers includes other authorities on news, employment and personal adjustment to war conditions. William Henry Chamberlain will talk on "Russia Now and After the War."

A central committee, under the chairmanship of Edna Herbst, has been working since last spring on arrangements for "Information First."

Central Committee
The committee includes: Janet Lowell, general publicity; Barbara Wheeler, program; Freda Mikulasek, hostess; Jean Newland, student leaders; Jane Randolph, posters; Eleanor Keagy, radio, and Marilyn Fontaine, telephone contact.

The four sub-committees in charge of general publicity are headed by: Mary A. Miller, blackboards; Roberta Wheelan, newspaper; Rosemary Howe, campus speakers; and Jeanne Franklin, Currier.

Kay Katchkowski, Delta Delta Delta; Dorothy Herrick, Delta Gamma; Barbara Reed, Fairchild House; Barbara Larner, Gamma Phi Beta; Jacque Sidney, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mary A. Dorr, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jean Daniels, Phi Beta Phi; Mary Ford, Russell House; Joellen Margolin, Sigma Delta Tau, and Margaret Bolser, Zeta Tau Alpha.

The program leader is assisted by Louis Hillman, who is in charge of program releases.

The hostess committee varies from month to month, with the

MRS. JACK D. DUNN

Before an altar banked with candelabra and tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons, Katherine Lucille Reeds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Reeds, 519 Jefferson street, became the bride of Technical Sgt. Jack D. Dunn, son of Mrs. Ruth Uhlhom of Salem, Ore., yesterday evening at 5 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

Dr. L. L. Dunnington read the double ring service. Marshall Barnes at the organ played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" (Wagner), "Wedding March" (Mendelssohn), "Andante Cantabile" (Tschalkovsky), "Bridal Chorus" from the "Rustic Wedding Symphony" (Goldmark) and "Kashmiri Song" (Woodford-Finder). He also accompanied Prof. Herald I. Stark, who sang "I Love Thee" (Greig) and "Morning" (Straus).

Bridal Attendants
Attending the bride as maid of honor was Helen Rose. John Nelson Reeds, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushering were Laurance Goodwin and Kenneth Reeds.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt and long sleeves preceding from a yoke of chantilly lace. Her fingertip-length veil of ivory tulle was caught by a Dutch cap of chantilly lace. For her jewelry she wore a strand of pearls and a cameo and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis.

Prof. Luella M. Wright Author of Book Recently Published by Historical Society

While searching for material on the Cedar Falls Parlor Reading circle, Prof. Luella M. Wright of the English department chanced upon the minutes of the town's earliest horticultural and literary society.

Reading this material casually, Professor Wright suddenly found herself intensely interested in the life and achievements of one Peter Melendy.

From this data, a brief manuscript autobiography and several scrapbooks, Professor Wright began writing various articles about Melendy. Out of these articles a book began to take form. That book is "Peter Melendy; The Mind and the Soil," which the State Historical Society of Iowa has just published.

Peter Melendy, as Professor Wright depicts him, is typical of many builders of Iowa towns and communities. "Men like Peter Melendy brought to Iowa its first level of culture and a vision for placing agriculture upon a scientific basis," she said.

What Grinnell owed and owes to its pattern maker, J. B. Grinnell; what Pella owes to Dominie Henry P. Scholte, and Fairfield to Dr. Joshua M. Shaffer, Cedar Falls owes to Melendy.

Melendy became a vital part of that community in 1857. Then 33 years old, he had already received state-wide recognition in Ohio for his practical experiments in progressive farming and for his articles in farm journals. Two years before, his own farm had been honored by the State Agricultural society of Ohio as the prize-winning model farm of the entire state.

With more agricultural experience and more money than the average pioneer, Melendy looked upon the young state of Iowa, approximately a decade old, as an agricultural experiment on a grand scale.

Enthusiastically he interested himself in many projects—the raising of bees, the breeding of stallions and the importation of damask roses, and in a public spirited manner promoted farm journals, lyceums and libraries. Cedar Falls was then a village exception of two permanent members, Ann Verdin and Helen Kuttler.

Jean Newland, student leader, is assisted by Mary Osborne, Marjory Swanson and Gloria Weiser.

Silk, Nylon Stockings Collected in Salvage Drive to Be Shipped

Silk and nylon hose in hundred pound lots will be shipped out of Iowa City Monday, according to Mrs. V. W. Bales, 430 S. Dodge street, chairman of the stocking salvage drive which officially closed Thursday.

Salvage committees will be busy all day today collecting the discarded hose from local stores. Boxes for the purpose of collecting hose have been in prominence in all stores which sell hose.

The total number of pounds salvaged has not been calculated as yet, but will be announced as soon as the stockings have been packed and weighed. Mrs. Bales asks that all town chairmen from Johnson county turn in their salvage to her today. Seven small towns near Iowa City have participated in this drive.

Look into Your Heart before you give me your Answer!

My name isn't important. I'm just one of the millions of fellows over here fighting for America. I'd like to speak for these fellows—to you folks back home.

You see, I think I know what's in their minds, because we often talk things over among ourselves. Mostly we talk about home—about the places we came from and the things we plan to do when we get back. Right now, especially, we're thinking a lot about home, for we're in the bloodiest battles of history—and we know that some of us will not come back. Some of us will never see again the ones we love.

But—we've got a job to do and we're going to do it. What I want to say to you folks back home is this: we'd like to think that you are with us in this bitter struggle of invasion. It would help a lot to know that you are really behind us, backing us up 100 per cent. It's going to take a heap of ammunition—and ships and planes, tanks and guns to beat the Axis. That's what the 3rd War Loan is for; it's for INVASION. We've got to depend on you. Don't fail us, will you?

Yes, it's to you this boy is looking in this critical hour. Today America calls upon you to do your part in the 3rd War Loan. And your part is at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond during the drive. AT LEAST $100. That's in addition to your regular War Bond subscriptions. Some of you must invest thousands in order to reach our national quota. Invest out of your income—invest out of your idle or accumulated funds.

Sacrifice today—you will be richer for it tomorrow. Back the invasion with extra bonds.

Your Answer is Either "Yes" or "No" in this Roll Call of the Nation—

YES I will honestly do my best to invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond during the 3rd War Loan Drive. I will lend my Government this money gladly to back up our fighting men.

NO I am not lending any of my money to my country, I'm spending it. Sure, I know the boys who are fighting for me need support, but let somebody else make the sacrifices.

Your answer will be given in the number of EXTRA War Bonds you invest in during September.

Iowa Opens Home Season Today

Plays Host To Badgers

Bill Barbour Is Field Captain for Hawks In Today's Game

Coach Slip Madigan put his Hawkeyes through a short warm-up drill yesterday as a last workout before the Iowans play host to the Wisconsin Badgers this afternoon. Today's Dad's Day game is the Big Ten opener as well as the season's first home tilt for the Hawks.

Field captain for Iowa this afternoon will be Co-Captain Bill Barbour, right end. Starting in the backfield will be John Stewart, at quarterback; Dale Thompson, at left half; Bill Gallagher, fullback, and Roger Stephens, at right half.

For the Badgers, Robert Clarke, Clarence Self, Don Kindt and Len Calligaro will be the backfield starters.

For more than half of Iowa's starting team, this afternoon's contest is their first major college game, and included in the Wisconsin players are six civilians and five naval trainees with limited football experience.

Aside from the fact that Wisconsin is one-up on Iowa as far as game experience is concerned, the two teams are quite evenly matched in weight and ability. Both lines average 190 pounds per man, but the Badger backfield has a margin of seven pounds.

Although the Hawks came through with some fine defense last week against the power-laden Bluejackets, they do not intend to rely upon the same tactics to overpower this afternoon's foe. During the past week the Iowans have been working on new tactics, designed to halt the runs and passes of Coach Harry Stuhldreher's men. With both coaches from Notre Dame, the teams have similar attacks.

Michigan Considers Northwestern Real Challenge Today

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Michigan's supercharged V-12 football machine, with Northwestern on its schedule today and Notre Dame a week away, is ready to find out just how it rates as one of the nation's greatest teams.

Winner in its first two games by ridiculously easy scores, Michigan plays another V-12 school, Northwestern, today in Dwyer stadium with the prospects of a crowd as large as 50,000 because of the excellent transportation available in the Chicago area.

If Coach Fritz Crisler's boys can forget that three of their former nemeses from Minnesota will be starting for the Wildcats, they should be able to win by a fairly handy margin and go against the Irish next Saturday still unbeaten.

But there remains the fact that the ex-Gophers now in Northwestern uniforms never have known what it means to lose to Michigan. Herb Hein will be at left end, Jerry Carle at quarterback and Herman Frickey at right halfback for the Wildcats, with another former Minnesotan, Larry Hallenkamp, due for work at right end.

And of course Northwestern has its great passer, Otto Graham, who doesn't scare at the sight of a

U High Scorers Ride Over Opponents In Easy Manner

By BOB BOYD

U high took West Liberty in an easy stride yesterday afternoon, 26 to 0, with the combined efforts of Jack Shay, Jim Williams, Bill Helm and Steve Nusser. Helm scored the other two points with two dropkicks, bringing his score to ten kicks out of thirteen attempts.

In the first quarter Helm kicked off and the West Liberty man was downed on his own 20. However, West Liberty had had a man off-side, so U high kicked again, this time from the 45-yard line. For the rest of the first quarter the ball was battered back and forth, but no points were scored.

At the first part of the second quarter West Liberty ran to their 28 and on their fourth down kicked the ball out on the 50. Wagner and Shay then took turns carrying the ball to the three-yard line. There on a third down Don Wagner tried an end run, but ran into the whole opposing team. He was forced back to the eight-yard marker. On the fourth down Shay passed, but it was intercepted and taken to the 23.

West Liberty then tried two runs which turned out unsuccessful, so they kicked the ball to U high's twenty where Wagner scooped it up and returned it to the 38. Shay then took the ball and ran to their 33 and Williams took it five more yards. Shay then received the ball and took it from the 28-yard marker across the goal. Helm's drop kick was good, making the score 7-0.

The two teams fought it back and forth until the West Liberty team kicked it outside on our 48-yard line. Williams then tried a center plunge which was good for ten yards. U high was then forced back to their opponent's 49-yard line where Williams took the ball on a third down and ran it over the goal. Helm's drop kick was no good. The score then stood: U high 13, West Liberty 0.

After battling back and forth a West Liberty kick was returned by Wagner to the 26. After a time out period for U high, Helm caught a pass which he carried to the 13. On the first down Shay plunged the ball to the 8-yard marker. The whistle then blew announcing the fourth quarter.

When they resumed playing U high was put back five yards for being offside. Wagner then took the ball to the 4. Shay then tried a center plunge but met a solid wall on the two where he was knocked flat. Helm then took the ball over center for the third touchdown. His kick following was no good.

West Liberty then tried three plays that proved unsuccessful before kicking the ball outside on the 31. The following two plays the Bluehawks tried also fell through, so they kicked the ball back to West Liberty's 38. On the foe's second down, Wagner intercepted a pass on the 43 where he was stopped. Helm then passed to Nusser who took it to the 28-yard marker.

The ball was then run five more yards. On the third down Helm took a pass from Charles Morris to the 8-yard line. Helm then ran the ball to the 3. In the next huddle U high took too much time, so was penalized five yards. On the following play U high was offside, so was put back five more yards. In the second down Morris ran the ball to the 8-yard line. In the next play Wagner ran the ball to the three yard line, but the backfield was in motion, so the ball was put back on the thirteen. Morris then passed to Nusser over the goal making the score 25-0. Bill Helm's following drop kick was good, giving the Bluehawks another point.

At this point Coach Paul Brechler sent in his second team. A Bluehawk lineman was offside at the kickoff, so the kick was taken over and West Liberty returned it to the 43, only to be forced back to the 36 just before U high substituted its third team. The third stringers then took a kick on their 45 and returned it to the 38-yard line just before the gun was fired signifying the end of the game, 26 to 0 for U high.

Little Hawks Smother Golden Bears of Cedar Rapids, 28-0

By CHARLOTTE FERRIS

The Iowa City Little Hawks played a bang-up game of football all the way last night to conquer the McKinley Golden Bears of Cedar Rapids by a score of 28-0.

City high's backs ripped off gains through the McKinley line with ease, as they constantly forced their way down the field towards the McKinley goal. Wayne Hopp at fullback led the play of the backs, as he plowed through the line time after time to pick up substantial gains. Hopp was also able to pick up a good deal of yardage on reverse plays around end.

Bob Todd, captain in last night's game, and Don Lay turned in excellent jobs at the halfback posts. Both Lay and Todd carried the ball for plenty of distance on the ground, while Todd also did plenty of passing.

The Little Hawk line didn't give much ground, as the McKinley team never got inside the Iowa City 25-yard line. Tom Hirt at right guard didn't give the McKinley backs a chance to get through him, while Snider at the other guard slot played his position well.

The first touchdown came in the first quarter after City high marched down the field right from the kickoff to the McKinley goal. Lay Todd, and Hopp carried the ball on running plays, until a long pass from Todd to Bill Orr put the ball on the one-yard line. Hopp took the ball through the center of the line for the touchdown. City high added the extra point as Hopp again plunged through the center and over the goal.

McKinley missed their chance to score the second time the ball was in their possession. A poor kick by Iowa City gave the Golden Bears the ball on the Iowa City 30-yard line. On the second play Madlock passed to Blakely over the goal, but Blakely let it dribble off the end of his fingers. Iowa City took the ball on downs, thus cutting off the only scoring threat of McKinley during the game.

The second Iowa City touchdown came as a result of a bad center pass by McKinley in punt formation. McKinley's punter couldn't get the kick off and he was forced to run with the ball, being stopped on his own 24-yard line. From there Ware, Hopp, and Lay carried the ball, with Hopp going over from the eight for the touchdown. Hopp hit the center again for the point after touchdown, making the score read 14-0, City high.

The fourth quarter saw Iowa City surge on to score two more touchdowns. Starting from about mid-field Iowa City broke through the McKinley line for consistent gains until they hit pay dirt. A long run by Ware put the ball on the 22-yard line, where Hopp took it on a reverse to pick up about three yards. Lay then broke through to the 11-yard line, and Hopp on two plays brought it to the four. Here City high suffered a bad break when a 15 yard penalty set them back. Gains by Ware and Hopp and a McKinley penalty put the ball on the six, where Todd passed to Lay for the touchdown. For the third time in a row, Hopp crashed the center of the line for the extra point.

The fourth and final touchdown came after Krall of City high intercepted a pass thrown by Madlock on the Iowa City 45-yard line. Here Cathcart and Brack sparked the play in the drive to the goal, while Todd also figured in the plays. After Todd had set the ball on the 14-yard line, Brack gained five yards to put it on the nine. Cathcart went to the six, and on a reverse Brack went over for the touchdown. In the exact same play Brack went over for the point, giving the Iowa City Little Hawks their third win of the season, by defeating McKinley 28-0.

Coach Wally Schwank was well pleased with the exhibition his boys put on, as they showed a definite improvement over last week's performance at Clinton.

Musial Injured
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry Gumbert reported ready for world series pitching work yesterday by serving up a six-hitter to give the Cardinals a 7 to 1 win over the New York Giants, but more important to the Cards was a strained ankle Stan Musial suffered during the game.

Boilermakers Open Conference Schedule Against Illini Today

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's mighty Boilermakers, victors over two powerful non-conference foes, will make their 1943 Big Ten and home debut here today against a weak but willing University of Illinois eleven.

The game, which will be the 28th between the rivals, dating back to 1890, will find no less than six members of Illinois' 1942 varsity or freshman squads in the Purdue lineup. In fact, two former Illini stars, tackle John Genis and guard Alex Agase, will serve as co-captains for Purdue.

The former Illinois players were transferred here under the navy V-12 and marine training programs.

The Purdue starting lineup, for the most part, will be the same as that which rolled over Great Lakes and Marquette in previous starts. Illinois, without a navy or marine training program, will present an array of freshmen and 4-F's with Eddie McGovern of Terre Haute, Ind., the nation's leading scorer in 1942, as the principal touchdown threat.

A crowd of 15,000 is expected.

The probable starting lineups:
Illinois
Srednicki ..... LE ..... Buscemi
Forst ..... LT ..... Kasap
Palmer ..... LG ..... Barwegen
Curry ..... C ..... DeFillippo
Gerometta ..... RT ..... Agase
Kane ..... RG ..... Genis
Hazelett ..... RE ..... Bauman
Greenwood ..... QB ..... Vacanti
Bray ..... LH ..... Stuart
McGovern ..... RH ..... Dimancheff
Grider ..... FB ..... Butkovich

Kickoff 2:30 p. m. (central war time).

High School Runners To Compete Here

High school distance runners will compete in the one mile race here Oct. 9 to decide state titles in three classes.

The event is being conducted by the university department of athletics under the auspices of the Iowa High School Athletic association. The team champions of last year were East Des Moines, class A; Sigourney, class B; and Mechanicsville in class C.

All-Cadet Team Is Favored Over Cyclones

Primed for a third win, the Navy Pre-Flight Seahawks' all-cadet team will battle it out with Iowa State's Cyclones at Ames this afternoon.

Although slated as favorites in today's game, the pre-flighters' offense will be minus one of its greatest powerhouses, Dick Todd, who blasted through the Illinois and Ohio State defenses to aid in piling up a touchdown total of 55 points in two games. Absent also will be the granite defensive play of such commissioned officers as Center Vince Bononis, Tackle Jack Brennan and Guard Bernie McGarry.

Despite the absence of the Seahawk officer stars, however, the navy team that will start at Iowa State today will include several cadets who figured largely in the triumphs of the past two weeks. The fast, hard-running backfield that will buck the Cyclones will include Frank Maznicki at right half; Bus Mertes, aviation metal-smith and the only 1942 Seahawk on the squad at fullback; Len Heinz, at left half, and Jimmie Smith, former Illinois star, at quarter. Smith peeled off 13 yards in 10 runs against the Buckeyes last Saturday.

Substitutions will see the debut of other pre-flight cadets who have recently reported for training at the school here and have impressed Lieutenant Faurot with their work on the practice field. They are Dick Kieppe, former Michigan State left halfback, Charlie O'Connor of Chicago, an end, and Ed Boissy of Aurora, Ill., a tackle.

Seahawk drills this week were marked by intensive tackle practice and observation of a new group of football candidates made available by the entry of a new battalion last week. For two of the cadet players, the Iowa State game is the last for them as pre-flighters. Magel, who has captained the team so far this season and Jim Clafey, left tackle, are scheduled to leave next week for flight training.

First Track Meet Held Here Oct. 8

The first Iowa track meet will be held here Oct. 8 with the Pre-meteorology cadets.

Coach George T. Bresnahan said that the race will be run over a two mile course and, due to the inability of the cadets to obtain spiked shoes, all contestants will wear basketball shoes.

The Hawkeyes have two minor "P" men, who have returned from last year's track team. The men are Albert Slatof of Ft. Madison and Richard Lord of Evanston, Ill. Others who are out for track this year are Robert Bentz, Chariton; Nicholas Demetroulis, Sioux City; Jack Murray, Spencer; Snyder Maiden, Council Bluffs; and Roy McCreery, Hedrick.

SPORTS TRAIL...

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—

Sergt. Joe Smith, Somewhere, U. S. Army

Dear Joe: So you're a sergeant now, Joe! I always said you'd rise fast if you went into aviation. Get it? Rise, aviation? Still the card, ain't I Joe. Corn fresh off the cob 24 hours a day. Anyway, I'm glad you got promoted. Now maybe you can send me that two bucks you owe me.

I'll try to catch up a little on what's been going on and what's going to go on in the sports world. You probably know by the date that the football season is on, as it must be Oct. 1 where you are too, although maybe they change that too. I know the time is different.

I'll save you waiting a couple of weeks for the report by telling you how some of the games will come out tomorrow. Notre Dame will beat Georgia Tech, Army will beat Colgate, Navy will beat Cornell, Duke will beat North Carolina Navy and Southwestern will beat Texas. Maybe you never heard of Southwestern. It's the football branch of the University of Texas. Anyway, it's where they moved the Texas football players.

It looks like an interesting season, anyway, with the teams that don't have the navy and marine guys pretty well out of luck. I hear Mel Hein is coming back to play center for the Giants. You remember him. I think your father played against him.

Baseball is practically all world series now. It starts here next Tuesday and I'll save you time on those results too by telling you the Cardinals will plaster the Yankees, four games to two. If you read anything else later it's a misprint.

An all-star team from each league has been chosen to go and play for you guys, if you're in the Pacific area. If you're not, your morale will just have to suffer, as those guys ain't twins and can't go in two directions at once, although I've seen some of them Dodgers try it. They are real good teams, with the big names you have been reading about.

Joe Cronin will manage the American leaguers and Frankie Frisch the Nationals, and they're even taking umpires along. Frisch must have insisted on that, as you know he can't get along without them, although they lots of times decide they can get along without him.

Leo Durocher got his walking papers from Branch Rickey, although it was the funniest way of firing a guy I ever saw. As I get it he is through as player-manager of the Dodgers, but can apply for the job of managing them if he wants to. That's like kicking a dog and then whistling for it, ain't it?

Maybe I told you about Joe Beggs wanting to start games for Cincinnati instead of just finish them. Well, he's started three games now, gone the limit each time, and allowed a total of two runs. He lost to St. Louis, 2-1, which ain't no disgrace, and blanked the Braves and Phils. I guess he knew what he was talking about. I suppose if he ever did need relief he'd have to run out to the bullpen and run back to relieve himself.

Well, that's about all for now, Joe. I'll fill you in on the scores of those football games and the world series later. Meanwhile, if you're a stomach gunner on one of them bombers, keep your diet down to Zeros. Your pal, Whitney

Little Series Postponed
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The opening game of the little world series scheduled for 8:15 EWT. between the American association Red Birds and the International league Syracuse Chiefs was postponed yesterday because of weather conditions.

ON IOWA

CHORUS:

On, Iowa, Proudly at the fore,
On, Iowa, on forevermore.
Ev'ry loyal son will give a rousing toast to you,
Ev'ry loyal daughter loves you true.
On, Iowa, with your wealth untold,
A heritage to us you did unfold,
Love of family, love of friend,
Love of country too, makes us proud for what you stand,
Our dear Old Gold.

Democracy Can't Procrastinate And Survive—Prof. Anderson

"A democracy cannot survive following a policy of 'don't do today what can be put off until tomorrow.'" Prof. Troyer Anderson of the history department declared last night in the first Baconian lecture of the year.

Professor Anderson stated further that because of the democracies' usual unwillingness to act upon a prediction, he thought it "quite probable that democracy originated in Mis-sum!"

"Our government must learn to act and think in the future or it will be replaced by a government which does," he said. "Living dangerously is the only way we can live at all."

He then pointed out that it is the far-sighted realism of Russia which has saved us up to the present time. Professor Anderson stated that although Communism may not be an ideal system, it should be given credit because it looks to the future. "The critical needs of a democracy are social scientists who make sweeping predictions and citizens who will act upon them."

"A social scientist must profess or his findings become an obsolete analytical study before they can be put into effect and he himself is an historian," Professor Anderson stated.

"According to him, there exists a greater gap between what we've already accomplished in the field of social science and adequacy than in any other field."

Professor Anderson regarded as a mistake the tendency of the intellectual classes to wait to be certain of the outcome before attempting any project. "This is too late," he said.

Prof. C. Addison Hickman of the college of commerce, a member of the panel participating in a discussion following the lecture, in rebutting Professor Anderson's statement that the social sciences are too static, dealing more with the processes of social development than with future changes, established four functions of social science.

These he outlined as a need to ascertain and limit the values and the goals of various groups of society. Although this would not be simple, he advocated such an analysis of issues to prevent contradictory goals. "When this has been accomplished, the social scientist can then turn to introducing a means of fulfilling the desired ends," he said.

Professor Hickman agreed with Professor Anderson in stating that "the social sciences are immature and still have a long way to go. They should be looked upon as a basis for prediction, not for prophecy."

A.S.T.P. Sergeant Proves Accuracy Of Jap Gunners

Sergt. Bernard E. Falk, member of the area and language department of A. S. T. P., caused some real hero worship in the University high school Thursday as he described his experiences on various fighting fronts. Sergeant Falk, winner of the Purple Heart award, fought with the marines in Guadalcanal and brought the stories to an assembly of awed teen-agers, an assembly of awed.

The sergeant, who weighs 286 lbs., is not fox-hole size and his girth seemed to mystify the boys who know only football team agility or who realize how hard it is for Chubb of the "gang" to get through the baseball fence on big-game days. One boy was so perturbed by the dimensions of the soldier that he raised his hand to question just why, during his experiences, if all reports were true about the expert aim of the Japanese gunner, the sergeant had not been hit?

The good natured Falk captured admiration when he calmly but deliberately pulled up his trouser leg to expose the healed wound he received while wearing a Japanese officer's uniform, Dec. 1, 1942. After this demonstration every student seemed more pleased than Sergeant Falk himself that Japanese trajectory is not better.

The marine corps women's reserve is open to high school graduates between the age of 20 and 35, who can pass the physical requirements. Enlistees take basic training for six weeks at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C. After four months of active duty, those qualified apply for officer's training.

Among the fields in which opportunities are available for women in the marines are photography, aerography, aviation, motor transport, music, telephone and teletype.

The marines are campaigning in an effort to recruit 18,000 women by June 30, 1944, to relieve men for combat duty.

Rev. Moll to Speak At Lutheran Church

The Rev. Edwin Moll, D.D., general secretary of the United Lutheran church in America, having just returned from a survey trip of the mission field in British Guiana, will speak at the 10:45 morning service of the English Lutheran church tomorrow on the theme, "Missionary Passion of the Church."

The Rev. Mr. Moll will also address the Lutheran Student association meeting tomorrow evening. His topic there will be, "The Church and Peace."

Appointed to the mission board of the United Lutheran church of America about four years ago, the Rev. Mr. Moll made a world survey of the Lutheran missions just before the war broke out in Europe. He returned from India shortly before the United States entered the war.

A native of Australia, he fought in the Australian army and British air force during the first World War. He was stationed in Egypt and fought through the Holy lands, in Asia, Africa and Europe.

At the conclusion of the war he ranked as a major.

Entering the ministry after the war, the Rev. Mr. Moll has served in California, Illinois and Wisconsin. He attended Concordia Theological seminary in St. Louis, Mo.

While he is here, the Rev. Mr. Moll will visit his son, Pvt. Robert Moll, who is stationed with the army airforce pre-meteorology school. The minister arrived in Iowa City Friday evening and will remain until Monday. He is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Riecke, 308 S. Johnson street.

X, Y, Z Meat Stamps, A, B Fat Stamps Will Expire Today

Natural Scientist Tells of Capturing One-Ton Sea Lion

Museums may be regarded as rather quiet places, but collecting museum specimens is one of the most adventurous tasks in the field of natural science, as was proved by Prof. Homer R. Dill at the Masonic luncheon yesterday, where he related the capture of a one-ton sea lion.

Shortly after the first World War, Professor Dill, with a group of other naturalists, took a boat from Seattle into a peninsula in the northwest wilds of America to acquire a sea lion for the museum. The party was ferried from the peninsula across Lake Crescent to the last outpost of civilization, an Indian village. The colony of sea lions was situated about seven miles off the coast from this village on a rocky island which jutted 150 feet out of the water. The group started out with several Indian guides, towing a canoe behind their launch.

As they approached the island they could see a mass of huge rocks sloping in a dust pan shape towards the water on one side. It was covered with hundreds of sea lions. The sea lions have poor eyesight but a rather sharp sense of hearing, so it was necessary to approach with caution.

The naturalists anchored the launch on one side of the island and canoed to shore, where they were able to climb up on the rocks and take pictures of the animals from above. Next they chose several of the larger animals to shoot for specimens. As the naturalists fired, Professor Dill said there was the biggest uproar he had ever heard. The lions made for the water, bellowing and howling. Eight dead were left behind.

The ensuing operation was perhaps the most difficult, for the animals had to be measured and skinned, and impressions taken for mounting. "This was not a particularly enjoyable task," said Professor Dill. "The rocks were unusually slippery and four or five inches of blubber ran out in the form of oil as we went into each animal. The sea lion has one of the most pungent odors I have ever detected."

The largest sea lion, which weighed well over a ton, was then tied to the back of the boat for the beginning of a long journey which ended in the University museum.

Information Booth Established for Marine Corps Women's Reserve

Sergt. Joann Rae and Sergt. Marcella Greene of the marine corps recruiting office in Des Moines will maintain a booth outside Yetters' store between 9 and 12 o'clock this morning to provide information to women interested in the marine corps women's reserve.

The two marines will flank the color guard of the University band at the football game this afternoon.

The marine corps women's reserve is open to high school graduates between the age of 20 and 35, who can pass the physical requirements. Enlistees take basic training for six weeks at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C. After four months of active duty, those qualified apply for officer's training.

SUI Women Highlanders to Entertain at Half in Today's Game

Iowa Dads To See Group For 1st Time

It'll be a bonnie women's day at Iowa stadium today when the Scottish Highlander drum and bagpipe unit of the university take over the field for their half-time exhibition.

For the first time in its history, there'll be no men in the ranks of the kilted organization, for the women have taken over all positions, from the stately drum major's post to the pompous bass drum.

Pipe Major William L. Adamson, director of the group, explained the unique situation by the fact that all but six of last year's male members are now in the service. After but a month's intensive practicing and rehearsals, the women have mastered the peculiar art of blowing the bagpipes and playing the drums, and will be ready with their first performance of the season.

The 61 pipers and drummers will be led by two sophomore drum majors, Dorothy Warye of Nashua and Edna Price of Jefferson, who will alternate in leading the group during the pre-game and half-time ceremonies. Six majorettes will also appear with the Highlanders, presenting exhibitions of fancy twirling.

One of world's largest and most completely equipped Scottish bagpipe bands, the University Highlanders have appeared at all Iowa home football games and numerous other occasions in the midwest for the past six years. This year's group, exclusive of dancing lassies, represents an increase of one-third over last year's membership.

Appearing in their red and green Stewart kilts, blue and crimson doublets, and Highland feathered bonnets and busbys, the group will be one of the most colorful on the field. The two drum majors will appear in white dress Stewart kilts and plaids with busbys and white doublets. The majorettes will wear blue doublets and hunting Stewart trousers (the trousers worn by officers of several Scottish regiments) and glengarries, which are similar to the overseas cap of the army.

The Highlander unit is sponsored by the university military department.

Pipers who will appear with the group are: Jean Wilson, Traer; Elaine Merriam, Iowa City; Rhea Hynik, Rock Island, Ill.; Bonnie Gochrie, Osceola; Pearl Griepenberg, Remsen; Harriet Schlachter, Rockwell City; Flora Whiting, Mapleton; Joy Deans Arkin, Akron; Eleanor Belle Nissen, Walnut; Margaret Lynch, Sigourney; Margaret Burdick, Iowa City; Roberta Henderson, Bismarck, N. D.; Sheila Jolliffe, Humboldt; Mary Louise Smith, Algona; Rosemary Joanne Howe, Darlington, Wis.; Jane Wilson, Iowa City; Mary Baldrige, Washington; Mildred Cords, Rudd; Shirley Margaret Hartz, Sheffield, Ill.; Anabel Murchison, Sidney; Maxine Bowman, Marshalltown; Betty Finney, Cedar Rapids; Marian Jeanette Owens, Des Moines; Ellen Myers, Cedar Rapids.

Snare drums: Ruth Joanne Merrill, Geneseo, Ill.; Dorothy Jo Bean, Pella; Betty Silverberg, Storm Lake; Helen M. Michaelson, Hubbard; Dorothy Magill, Atlantic; Eileen Doerres, Lone Tree; Eleanor Kathryn Mitter, Cedar Rapids; Donna Nelson, Humboldt; Ruth Norman, Iowa City; Gayle Fisher, Clinton; Margaret L. Green, Louisiana, Mo.; Emma Lou Heston, Fairfield; Helen Louise Libal, Cedar Rapids; Louise Boyer, Davenport; Marilyn Schrimper, Cedar Rapids; Darlene Peterson, Des Moines; Mary Lamar McCune, Sarasota, Fla.; Catherine Harmeier, Iowa City; Dorothy Snook, Newton; Margaret Ann Rivers, Topeka, Kan.; Wilma Seemuth, Milwaukee, Wis.; Jacky Fromm, Iowa City; Lorraine Meyer, Ackley; Twyla Gettert, Davenport.

Tenor or bass drums: Rachel Udegraff, Sigourney; Jeanne Franklin, El Reno, Okla.; Jeanne Baker, Milwaukee, Wis.; Patricia Hardinger, Allua; Rosemary Van Gorden, Emmetsburg; Phyllis Nissen, Walnut. Majorettes: Bettye Neal, Pierre, S. D.; Gwenn Buster, Grandview; Jacqueline Stoewer, Iowa City; Maureen Harter, Sioux City; Nancy Scofield, and Shirley Ewing, Onawa.

Art Guild Schedules Picnic for Tomorrow

Members of the Art Guild will meet tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock for a picnic. They will meet at the art building and from there go to the country home of Mrs. Louis Pelzer.

Food will be furnished, but only those who signed up will be allowed to go. Each member is asked to bring materials for sketching.

UNIVERSITY HIGHLANDER POSTS TAKEN OVER BY WOMEN

SCOTCH LASSIES WILL PERFORM FOR IOWA DADS TODAY

SHOWN IN COMPANY FRONT FORMATION, the Scottish Highlander drum and bagpipe unit of the university will present pre-game and half-time performances today at the Iowa-Wisconsin football game in the Iowa stadium.

A barn owl is able to eat its own weight in food. Crows are considered the most intelligent of birds. Anilin makes possible exact timing of explosives.

'PLAY-BY-PLAY' BROADCAST TODAY

SHOWN AT THE MIKE are Dick Yoakam and Lieut. Henry Luecht, who will broadcast over WSUI a play-by-play description of Iowa's game here this afternoon with the Wisconsin Badgers.

Dick Yoakam, J2 of Pittsburgh, in collaboration with Lieut. Henry Luecht of the athletic department of the Navy Pre-Flight school, will broadcast a play-by-play description of each Iowa home game over station WSUI, beginning this afternoon at 1:45 when Iowa meets Wisconsin.

Yoakam has been the sports-caster for WSUI for the past six months with his program, Sports-time, presented nightly at 7:30.

UNIVERSITY LECTURE
Tickets for the first all-university lecture, Thursday at 8 p. m., which will present Upton Close, world-famous news correspondent and analyst, will be available to student and faculty members tomorrow morning, Oct. 3, at 8 o'clock at the main desk, Iowa Union. Any remaining tickets will be distributed to the general public Wednesday.

Universal Communion To Be Tomorrow

Christians all over the world will participate tomorrow in the World Wide Communion service, a special reminder of unbreakable fellowship to calm wartime anxieties. This communion observance of the Lord's supper is intended to break through prejudice barriers of race, color, and creed. In connection with the nationwide observance, the Congregational church of Iowa City is having a reception of new members. Numerous churches are celebrating communion, either as their usual ritual or in accordance with the worldwide event. Some rally day services will be held and special collections for diminishing building debts will be taken in several churches.

Congregational Youth Entertain Servicemen At Afternoon Parties

The Pilgrim Youth fellowship of the Congregational church will sponsor open house for military men at the Congregational church this afternoon at 4 o'clock, initiating a series of such programs which will be furnished by the fellowship for men in military service.

Members of the fellowship will take part in a social hour tonight with members of Wesley foundation.

Committees which are making plans for the open house and party tonight will remain the same for the entire year. They are as follows: Carol Ohman and Irene Baldwin, co-chairmen, food committee; Bonnie Sewick and Margaret Gates, co-chairmen, open house, and Joan Davies and Mary Ellen Jones, hostesses on the military committee.

Psychology Division Chooses New Head

From Montreal, Canada, comes Dr. Katherine Banham, who has been appointed acting director of the division of psychological services with the board of control of state institutions, and research associate with the child welfare station. Dr. Banham is replacing Dr. Janet Smith, who for the past year has been acting director in the absence of Dr. Harold Skeels, now Captain Skeels of the army air corps.

A native of Sheffield, England, Dr. Banham received her B.S.C. degree and her diploma in education from Manchester university in Lancashire. She took post-graduate work at Cambridge, and in 1921 went to Toronto, Canada, where she received her M.A. degree and lectured in psychology at the University of Toronto.

From Toronto Dr. Banham went to Montreal, where she served in the research division in the Canadian national committee for mental hygiene and was psychologist at McGill university nursery school.

From 1930 to 1936 Dr. Banham was assistant professor of abnormal psychology at the University of Montreal. She received her Ph.D. there in 1934.

Dr. Banham has returned to England once since she came to this continent. In 1936 she accepted a position as senior psychologist in charge of the School of Psychological Services, Leicester, England, where she remained for six years. In October, 1942, she returned to Montreal, where she has been until she came to Iowa this week.

Mrs. W. R. James Appointed New Head Of Union Hostesses

Mrs. W. Robert James, assistant hostess at Iowa Union, yesterday replaced Mrs. Catherine Skelly as chief hostess. Mrs. Skelly has been hostess for the past year and had previously served as clerk at the main desk.

Mrs. Margaret Dierks, formerly on the hostess staff, will again act as hostess. Prof. Earl E. Harper, director, announced.
