Soviets Hurl Enemy Back In Tank Battle Near Kiev

General Clark's Troops Meet Stiff Resistance in Italy Fighting

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers (AP)—Driven from the crests of a chain of mountain ridges which formed the hard outer wall of their carefully prepared defenses before Rome, the Germans with their backs to the upper Garigliano river fought back savagely yesterday against the unrelenting pressure of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army.

On the Adriatic end of the Italian front the Nazis waged an equally desperate battle to hold the line guarding the important port of Pescara and the inland city of Chieti, throwing squadrons of tanks into a particularly heavy battle raging around the town of Orsogna, 10 miles from the sea.

An allied communique referred cautiously to "several inconclusive counterattacks" launched by the enemy against the Fifth army, but there was no official indication whether they cost Clark's forces any of the ground they won in the past week's hard fighting.

Bulgarian Activities May Mean Nazi Loss Of Balkan Satellite

Dispatches Describe Peace Demonstrations In Sofia, Capital City

LONDON (AP)—German troops engaged by Yugoslav partisans in a fight for the approaches to the interior communication lines covering the whole length of the Balkan peninsula—were confronted last night with maneuverings in Bulgaria, suggesting the possibility of Hitler's early loss of that ally.

As the Yugoslav partisans of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) fought stubbornly to check Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's new offensive in Bosnia, dispatches to neutral countries told of peace demonstrations in Sofia which were broken up after hundreds of arrests were made.

These accounts also spoke of heavy desertions among Bulgarian troops to Greek and Yugoslav guerrilla forces and of German troops moving up to positions along the Turkish frontier on both the Bulgarian and Grecian sides.

The Bulgarian government, shaken badly by Turkey's new association with the allies, was reported by the Hungarian radio to have held a secret session to discuss "important problems in the field of domestic and foreign policy."

An allied invasion of the Balkans remained the main topic of speculation, but the possibility was raised of a quick, savage German thrust into Turkey itself in an effort to win militarily what was lost diplomatically to the allies.

Afield in Yugoslavia, Rommel called in still more reinforcements as he flung German and satellite divisions with a prodigious hand against the implacable Yugoslav irregulars.

This battle—a battle in its significance if not in the numbers of troops involved—centered in the Bosnian-Slovenian coastal areas.

London from three tons to four, and permitting the bomb bay to carry a greater number of destructive incendiaries which are light but take up space.

Range and speed of the Fortresses necessarily are cut with the greater bomb load, but the external 150-pound steel racks which can be bolted across the wings between the engines in a half hour make the planes a much more potent weapon for shorter pre-invasion attacks.

Release Methods The bombs in the new racks can be released electrically or manually, and in sequence or salvo.

This bombardment increase also suggests the possibility that the Fortresses may join the RAF in mass night saturation raids where sacrifices of speed and ammunition load could be made.

The German radio recently has referred to night raids by "British-American bombers," but there has been no official statement here to support the Berlin assertions that the Americans already are attacking by night.

U. S. NAVY PLANES SMASH JAP SHIPS, INSTALLATIONS AT RABAU

SPECTACULAR AND SUCCESSFUL was this U. S. raid on the Jap bastion at Rabaul, New Guinea, hit many times by united nations planes. Carrier-based U. S. Navy Grumman Avengers swoop into Rabaul harbor to score hits on Jap warships. In the raid on Nov. 11 three Jap warships were sunk and 12 others damaged. Sixty-four out of 70 Jap planes which took to the sky were shot down. In the picture, flames leap from a Jap cruiser at the right, black smoke and tongues of fire billow out from another at the left and smaller ships scuttle from the harbor for the open sea during the raid. This is an official U. S. Navy photograph. (International)

Turkey Keeps Nazis Guessing As Allies Wage Nerve War

LONDON (AP)—Turkey's utterances on just how and when emerging from the Cairo conference as a full-fledged participant in the allied war of nerves, kept the Germans guessing yesterday with poker-faced, semi-official and where she will shift to a more active collaboration. Turkish Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioğlu told a press conference in Ankara, from which axis newsmen significantly were excluded, that the Cairo parley was "one of the most important events in this phase of the war," that "we reached a thorough understanding" and that "our alliance with Britain emerged considerably strengthened."

Policy Unchanged To the question of whether Turkey was closer to war Menemencioğlu replied cryptically that Turkish foreign policy was unchanged and, maintaining a poker-face, he agreed with correspondents who suggested that Turkey could be said to have entered the allied camp. "But without being a belligerent," he added.

Treasury Wages War Against Illegal Liquor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treasury department reported yesterday that its nation-wide drive against "black markets" in alcoholic beverages had uncovered improper and falsified sales records by some wholesalers and a sharp increase in moonshining.

A senate judiciary subcommittee will open an inquiry today into the current shortage of whisky. The treasury campaign has been directed principally, officials said, to tracing large liquor sales which might indicate a diversion into black market channels.

4-F Frankie Gals Rate Him 1-A, Army Disagrees

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Frankie Sinatra, classified 1-A by thousands of women and girls who consider his crooning ability strictly super, was rated 4-F for military service yesterday and sent back to the microphones.

"I'm unhappy about it," said The Voice as he left the selective service induction station here after his physical examination, "because I've been bragging to friends that I'd get through."

Feminine admirers have gone so far as to swoon on hearing Sinatra's crooning notes, but the army doctors found he could not hear too well himself.

"I've got a hole in my left ear drum," he explained after the examination. Sinatra also told inquiring that the doctors found a "couple of other things wrong," including a need for "more sleep and rest."

U-Boat Drive Gets Results

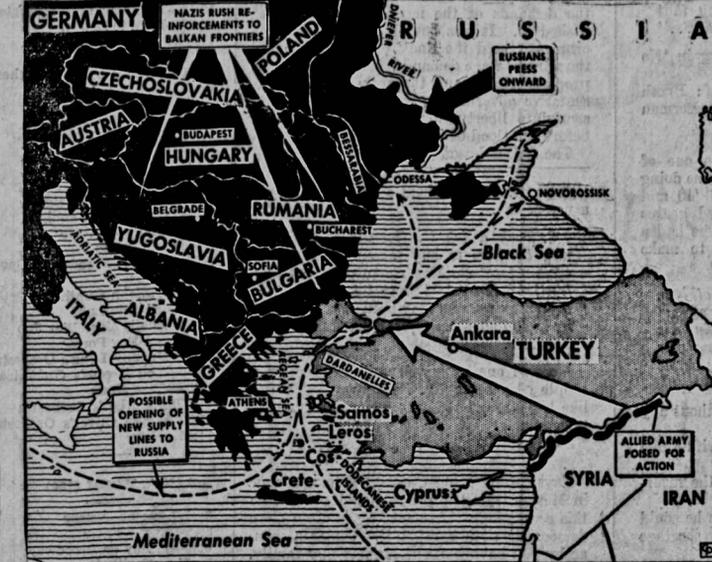

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allied merchant ship losses in November were the lowest of any month since May, 1940, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill said last night, adding that the number of U-boats destroyed exceeded the number of ships lost as was the case in the three preceding months.

Their joint statement, issued here and in London, said use of bases in the Azores, allowed by Portugal under an ancient treaty with Britain, contributed greatly to the month's success in the anti-submarine war.

They called the success "notable" because the Germans had exerted "great effort" and had employed long-range aircraft to spot convoys and aid in concentrating U-boats against them.

"In spite of this, our escort and counter-attack has been effective," it was added.

TURKISH-ALLIED CONFERENCE MAY BRING NEW MOVES

IMPORTANT NEW POSSIBILITIES in the developing allied assault on the European fortress of the Nazis are seen in the conference of President Ismet Inonu of Turkey in Cairo with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Moves and possible moves are shown on this map. (International)

LONDON, Friday (AP)—Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's army beat down mass German attacks yesterday west of Kiev where one of the epic tank battles of the war is raging, while another Soviet army plunged on five miles inside the Dnieper bend to within 18 miles of the enemy's citadel at Kirovograd.

A midnight Moscow communique said General Vatutin's army, which had given up ground for two days, knocked out 75 more German tanks in the area northeast of Chernyakhov, 80 miles west of Kiev, and inflicted "very heavy losses" on the enemy's manpower.

Although the Russians have wrecked 350 German tanks and cut down more than 5,000 out of the waves of attacking enemy infantrymen in four days, the axis still was making ceaseless efforts to break through toward Kiev.

"The enemy, despite enormous losses, brought new tanks and infantry units into the fighting," said the bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor. These were smashed, it added.

A dispatch from Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press Moscow bureau chief, filed just before midnight said the persistent German attacks west of Kiev apparently had failed to tie up any considerable Russian force, or divert the Soviet high command from making its own offensives elsewhere.

Inside the Dnieper bend the Russians captured 15 more localities, including the rail station of Mederovo, on the already-cut Znamenka-Nikolaev railway. That represented a five-mile gain from Sharovka and put Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's troops on the edge of a highway leading 18 miles westward to Kirovograd.

Mederovo is 10 miles south of the rail hub prize of Znamenka, where defending German troops are threatened increasingly with encirclement. Other Russian units are six miles north of Znamenka, 10 miles to the east, and 12 miles to the northwest. Hence the junction is almost surrounded.

The seizure of Mederovo narrowed to 20 miles the Nazi escape corridor from Znamenka to Kirovograd. Soviet troops already are only four or five miles from cutting a railway linking the two strongholds—the last out of Znamenka—after sweeping around Znamenka on the northwest Wednesday to take Elisavetgradka, 20 miles due north of Kirovograd.

Completion of this loop probably would trap huge enemy forces, and have repercussions throughout the Dnieper bend. The Russians already are dangerously close to linking their forces in the area with those in the Smela sector, 50 miles northwest of Znamenka.

Chinese Forces Retake Changteh From Japs CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese forces under Gen. Yu Cheng-Wan, the "hero of Changteh," recaptured that stricken city in particularly bloody fighting early yesterday morning and moved on to push the Japanese invaders back from China's vital "Rice bowl" region.

After affecting the capture at 10 a. m. Wednesday, the Aussies pressed on northward and by 9 p. m. had reestablished contact with the rearward of the retreating Japs. Other elements pushed westward to seize a secondary enemy post.

At Cape Gloucester, the Japanese air base on New Britain's western tip nearest to the peninsula ground front, allied planes attacked through the tenth straight day.

Senate Okays Rail Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urged on by the Democratic majority leader, the senate overwhelmingly approved a proposed 8-cents-an-hour wage increase for non-operating railroad workers yesterday despite protests from the administration's top hold-the-line officials that it would be a wedge for inflation.

Editorially Speaking...

By Jim Zabel

People—

A friend of mine in New York tells this one... an old buddy of his came into town one day last spring and the two of them started to make the rounds of Broadway's better night spots...

My friend said, "I know some people who have a place not far from here who'll be glad to feed us... a doctor and his wife... I might as well tell you now that she is a kind of flighty thing and has an obsession that particularly worries her husband..."

The obsession: A dewy-eyed passion for John Steinbeck... she read, and wept over, everything he had written, and spent a great deal of her time day and night dreaming about him...

The two of them tiptoed into the apartment and rapped on the bedroom door... getting no answer, they opened the door and stole softly over to the bed... they then discovered that it was the wife's bedroom...

Not being daunted by this, they both peered at the sleeping woman for a moment and then my friend tapped her gently on the shoulder and said, "How about some ham and eggs?"

The woman jumped up in surprise and through the hazy semi-darkness tried to make out who it was... she recognized my friend's voice, and then stared directly into his buddy's face to discover who he was... their faces were about a foot apart, when my friend introduced them... the woman collapsed...

Buddy's name: John Steinbeck...

If you attended the show at the Pastime this week you saw the father of one of our better local actors in action... the father (stage name Leon Ames) played the lead part of the doctor in this somewhat lamentable production entitled "No Greater Sin"...

Bob Keahey, this actor's son (now playing Orsino in the local production of "Twelfth Night"), reports that the picture, made a number of years ago, is a kind of blot upon the family escutcheon and is forever popping up at the wrong time...

"During the time my father was starring in 'The Male Animal' on Broadway, there was another theater, a second rate movie house, about a block away that had his name in even bigger lights..."

The lights: "Leon Ames Starring in 'No Greater Sin'..." Picture's blunt message in brief: Brush your teeth regularly and take a Wasserman at least once a year...

I wonder whatever happened to one of my favorite student characters who was doing big things on the campus back in '40 and '41... he was a kind of combined genius and "progressive" business man, who had a strong lower middle class desire to make money...

A brilliant student, superb athlete, and accomplished pianist, he seldom went to class, spent his time getting his finger into as many money-making pies as possible... during that school year, he did the following things...

- 1. Started a taxi-cab company without any cabs.
2. Opened an insurance office with three telephones and no furniture.
3. Sold one faculty member all the insurance in the book for $6 a year.
4. Bought up all the car batteries he could find when he thought a national shortage was threatening.
5. Wore a racoon coat, horn-rimmed glasses without lenses, and sometimes carried a cane.
6. Occasionally carried a revolver.
7. Won nearly every inter-fraternity ath-

Skepticism Remains After Teheran Conference
By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON — The congressional cheering over the Teheran announcements ran little beyond the number decibels to be expected at such events—a fact which is all revealing of the common inner interpretation accepted here.

As all have been saying, the announcements present a picture of a friendly family agreement on all questions between Roosevelt, Stalin, and Churchill, which marks great progress and raises great hopes. True also, a number of question-marks in the Hull Moscow agreements were erased.

Mr. Roosevelt got in a mention of freedom from fear and want, which previously had been missing, and heavier emphasis was laid at last upon the Atlantic charter ideals of democracy with free choice of governments by all peoples.

All the principles, therefore, are now agreed in words, at least. But, as the congressmen and all studious, unprejudiced observers of diplomacy here could see, not even the slightest mention of how these principles are going to be obtained in action was evident in the announcements. Skepticism remains.

There are some who believe Mr. Roosevelt has really worked out a common understanding on the most troublesome questions such as Poland, Finland, conflicts of ideology, and that he will return to run for a fourth term on that platform. No congressional authorities had any private information to substantiate this conclusion—or any to disprove it either.

Consequently, the common interpretation merely hopefully accepted the promises as excellent allied propaganda to strike fear in Germany, promote hope at home, and particularly among the smaller exiled governments which have been left out in the cold of all publicity lately.

Food Subsidy Fight Cooling—

The food subsidy fight seems to be cooling. The alternates offered are both undesirable. The idea of paying secret price increases out of the treasury of the United States in order to conceal them from the public is a policy which the administration has attempted to justify only on the grounds of necessity of avoiding a greater evil—wage increases and more direct price inflation. Some commentators have attempted to describe it as tax on "economic business," but it is far more than that. It is a levy against all people who pay taxes.

The opposition wants higher prices, which is likewise an undesirable goal for the great majority of the people who pay them.

But, of course, the truth is you are going to get higher prices anyway with or without subsidies, because of a dominant controlling inner economic situation pressing toward that conclusion (the current pending bill involves only the few commodities on which subsidies are already being paid.)

The administration has not shown strong interest in compromising the matter, even though a congressional majority is obviously against subsidy continuance. War Mobilizer Byrnes went on the air in defense of the administration program even in the face of coming defeat.

They all know very well that Mr. Roosevelt will veto the bill, that it cannot be passed over a veto, and that Mr. Roosevelt will get his subsidies anyway by plucking the money from the bottomless bag of revolving funds under the custody of the New Deal's extra-curricular banker, Jesse Jones.

Preview—

During the past few months, the forces of inflation have given a preview of the way American freedom can be destroyed from within. Rising prices led to inexorable pressure from organized labor for higher wages in the coal industry. The coal industry, as a private enterprise, could not meet the demands of the miners even if it had wished to. It was bound by the same government "hold the line" orders that bound the miners' wage demands. Thus, at a stroke, property rights, and the authority of representative government, both of which are essential to liberty, were trampled underfoot before the flood of inflation.

The object lesson is inescapable.

2, 5, 10 Years Ago—

From The Iowan Files

Dec. 10, 1941...

The Japanese had improved their strength on northern Luzon but "the situation remained unchanged materially" the U. S. army stated in a communique issued early that day.

The army said it had received an unconfirmed report that a small enemy force had landed at Legaspi airport on the southeastern coast of Luzon.

A thrust by Nipponese paratroopers was cited as the only attack to carry successfully that day and army spokesmen here were confident that these troops could be isolated.

Charles H. Grahl, adjutant general of Iowa, lauded the spirit of the students of the State University of Iowa for standing behind the war action but recommended that they remain in school until called by the selective service.

"I sincerely believe," said the general, "that at the present time students should continue their work in the regular and normal manner."

Dec. 10, 1938... The rising anger of Lithuanian soldiery caused fears of an armed clash in Memel between the garrison and Nazis jubilantly celebrating their victory in the recent Memel diet elections.

Colonel Andrusianus, commanding officer of the Lithuanian soldier garrison in Memel said he would not be responsible for the conduct of his troops if the Nazis continued to insult Lithuanians.

Memel, Lithuania's recalcitrant stepchild given her by the terms of the 1918 pact with Germany, moved closer to the mother Reich through the Hitler controlled diet election.

Leon Trotsky, speaking for an interviewer in Mexico City, predicted a revolution in America because, "the new deal was doing nothing to get at the cause of American economic disorder—Capitalism."

The recreation center Community chorus was to present its annual mid-winter concert on the coming Sunday.

Dec. 10, 1933... One hundred and five Johnson county women were to be put to work today and tomorrow at a cost of $15,500 on CWS projects. A minimum wage of 30 cents an hour was to be paid.

Sixty of the women, who must have been unemployed and in the need of relief were to go to work that morning in tax supported institutions. A 30 hour week was prescribed by the new program.

Iowa Union was to be the scene of one of the largest gatherings ever to assemble in Iowa to honor a coach and his football team, with more than 1,000 students, alumni and guests planning to attend the colorful banquet sponsored by the junior and senior chambers of commerce.

Maj. John I. Griffith, western conference commissioner, was to head the list of speakers which was to include Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff, chairman of the Iowa Athletic board, Coach Ossie Solem, Mayor Harry Breene, Tom Moore, captain of the 1933 team and Russ Fisher, captain of the 1934 team.

John Selby Reviews New Books— Scanning the World Of Current Reading

By JOHN SELBY
"THOSE WERE THE DAYS," by Edward R. Hewitt (Duell, Sloan & Pearce; $3)

Edward R. Hewitt's "Those Were The Days" is certainly the year's best book of reminiscences for this reader. Mr. Hewitt is 77 years old, and as he remarks at one point, his own life and that of his grandfather, Peter Cooper, span the entire history of the United States as an independent nation. You get the idea from reading "Those Were The Days" that these two gentlemen and their relatives were the United States, and in a sense they were.

There is no book by an American, to my knowledge, so full of incident. There are at least a thousand short stories imbedded in the book—a competent practitioner could mine it for a lifetime. And still have material left over. And some of the material is so good that it is hard to believe that it is as if he were talking. They sound like a peppery old gentleman talking informally with his grandchildren, seining up from the past the thousand and one things that add up, in the end, to himself.

There is Peter Cooper, risking his future on the Atlantic cable, making the best glue in America, setting a strange grocer up in business after a fire, founding the Cooper Union. And Grandmother Cooper inventing a pickpocket-catcher, an arrangement of fish-hooks in her pocket that caught the hand of the thief so she could walk him to the police station. And Father Hewitt as mayor of New York, borrowing some suspicious checks made out to the governor in order to force that worthy to sign a park bill. And Mr. Hewitt's wife caring for Buffalo Bill, drunk at a ladies' dinner-party.

There is Mr. Hewitt himself working with Hiram Maxim on a flying machine years before the Wrights or Langley, eating a dinner in Turkey at which the natives came down with verdigris poisoning, hanging a skeleton at Princeton so that the authorities could not reach it, being piped in to dinner at Skibo castle, going broke as a manufacturer of motor cars in England, hearing Andrew Carnegie wait to himself because he could have got another hundred million for his business.

'Worst of War Yet to Come' Shelley Declares in Lecture

The belief that the worst of the war is yet to come was expressed yesterday afternoon by Jack Shelley, news manager of radio station WHO, in his address to the Information First audience of university women and faculty members.

"The worst of any war is loss of life," declared Shelley. He stated that the expected three-way attack settled upon in the Teheran and Cairo conferences cannot help but involve great loss of American troops.

Shelley spoke of the two recent conferences as a bright spot in the progress of the war, and declared that the most important thing about them was the very fact that they could be held, that allied nations have at last reached the point where they can discuss their problems over the conference table and settle any differences there. He called the most promising event of the war the indication that the allies are not struggling against each other while fighting a common enemy.

The Iowa newscaster emphasized the danger of laxity on the home front, and of acceptance of victories as final. He stressed the skill of the German army in managing to retreat from the many pincer movements in which it has been trapped with so little loss of life, and the changed situation on our air front which decreases our margin over German losses.

Further evidence of the seriousness of the situation yet to come was described by Shelley in his warning that the Japanese will constitute a formidable enemy even when Germany is defeated.

"The behavior of those on the home front," he stated, is in inverse ratio to conditions on the home front." At the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, he continued, all differences between ourselves were forgotten, and we were in complete unity against the enemy. "But as we weathered the first hard days of the war and began to gain victories, petty differences again arose and are now entirely out of proportion to their importance as compared with that of the war effort."

Shelley also spoke of the necessity of securing and insuring a lasting peace and recommended as the best method in doing that complete avoidance of isolationist tendencies.

Reversion to that policy, he said, will eventually mean that those who give up their lives in this war will have died in vain.

New Book Describes Iowa City Landmarks

A description of 12 of Iowa City's historical markers is given in a publication, "Some Historic Markers in Iowa," which is being circulated by the State Historical society.

Mrs. Susie Webb Wright of Des Moines, a member of the society whose hobby is examining historic markers, has compiled the publication. Ruth A. Gallaher is associate editor of the issue.

Some of the Iowa City markers which are described are Old Capitol, the stone shaft on Summit street, city hall and city park.

These "Campus Nights," inaugurated to provide recreation and entertainment for university students and servicemen on campus, are held every Friday night from 9 o'clock to 12.

Dancing to the nickelodeon in the river room, and pingpong have been a regular part of the activities open to students at the Union.

Gamma Phi Betas Present Canteen Unit, $2,000 to War Effort

Gamma Phi Beta sorority has presented a fully equipped mobile canteen to our allies as part of the group's national war effort. In addition, its members have donated approximately $2,000 to American and Canadian Red Cross and several thousand dollars in addition to the army and navy emergency relief funds.

An alumna of Rho chapter located at the University of Iowa, Mrs. Robert B. Gibson, is national chairman of the committee to collect contributions for the relief funds.

During the first World War, Gamma Phi Beta contributed $11,500 to relief abroad. Of this amount $10,000 was distributed in Belgium to care for Belgian babies.

Before 1915 each chapter supported its own local philanthropy. In addition to contributing to the international philanthropies which have been organized since that year, many chapters continue to support local projects.

Sponsor Graduate Study
The first fellowship for graduate study in social work was granted by the organization in 1916. It amounts to $1,000 and is awarded biennially through the American Association of University Women.

A vacation home for children came into existence in the early 1920's. Since then three additional camps have been put into operation. In all, more than 4,000 girls between the ages of 8 and 12 have enjoyed two weeks at the seashore or in the mountains at the expense of the sorority. Because of transportation difficulties the Gamma Phi Beta camps will be closed for the duration.

In addition to the children cared for in Gamma Phi Beta's central camps, "campships" to various other camps over the country have been awarded each year. The funds usually appropriated for the purpose are still used for "campships" where possible and for other services to underprivileged children.

Local Campships Given
For the past five years Rho chapter has given "campships" to local children to attend the Girl Scout camps near Iowa City. Gamma Phi Beta sorority was founded Nov. 11, 1874, at the University of Syracuse in Syracuse.

Hawks Open Cage Season Tonight at 8

Will Meet Nebraska Five

Nebraskans Given Defensive Edge But Matched in Size, Age

The Iowa Hawkeyes open their 1943-1944 cage schedule when they meet the Nebraska Cornhuskers on the Iowa floor at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Hawk basketballers have been showing increasing power from time to time throughout the pre-season practice scrimmages and are predicted to show some stiff competition for an equally young Husker outfit. There is one letterman from last year on the Nebraska and none on the Iowa team, but both quintets include players that made outstanding high school records.

Although they are capable of coming through with some good offense, the Hawkeye team, which will average six feet, two inches tall, has not yet indicated what defensive powers it might have. The Cornhuskers are believed to be defensively stronger than the Iowans and will match Coach Pops Harrison's players in height.

Two experienced players are listed in the Hawkeye starting lineup. They are Ned Postels, a member of the South Dakota state varsity team for two years and Lloyd Herwig, a four-year man from Luther college.

Probable starting lineups:
IOWA POS NEB.
Ives F Artman
Danner F Dvorak
Herwig C Barry
Postels G Eger
Spencer G Sherman
Starting time: 8 p. m.

HAWKEYE FORWARD

DAVE DANNER, former Iowa City all-state player, will be at a forward position when the Hawkeyes open their basketball season here tonight. Danner, an outstanding one-handed shot, was regular left end on the Iowa football team this fall.

Ramblers to Meet Cedar Rapids Five

Immaculate Conception Expected to Be Tough Foe for St. Mary's

With only a two-day rest after their 48-44 defeat by St. Joseph's of Rock Island, St. Mary's Ramblers will meet Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids tonight at 8 o'clock on the Cedar Rapids floor.

The Cedar Rapids five, which has two veterans back from last year's strong team, is expected to furnish the toughest competition the Ramblers will meet this season. Coach Francis Suplee of St. Mary's sent his second and third teams through a scrimmage yesterday, but dismissed the first stringers after a light workout. Starting lineups:

St. Mary's		Immaculate Conception
O'Brien	F	Rozek	F
Stable	F	Grady	F
Hetrick	C	Russell	C
Lenoch	G	Clem	G
Toohy	G	Thomas	G

Hawkeye Highlights

Game uniforms have been issued to 17 Iowa basketball players. 14 of them are freshmen and 13 are under 19 years old. Jersey numbers of some of the better men are 10 Dave Danner, 7 Dick Ives, 11 Lloyd Herwig, 12 Ned Postels, 20 Jack Spencer, 19 Floyd Magnusson, and 23 Glen Kremer.

Before Coach "Slip" Madigan left for his Oakland, Calif., home, he spoke before more than 2,000 persons during his four week tour to six cities. Largest crowd was 800 at Dowling high school in Des Moines.

Another good example of athlete-scholar: Bill Kridelbaugh of Chariton, captain of Iowa's 1942 gymnastic team, who recently was announced as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity. Kridelbaugh now is a navy trainee in the medical college.

No change has been made in admission prices to Iowa's home basketball games. . . for the six Big Ten games reserved seats are 75 cents. . . general admission 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. . . general admission tickets only, at 50 and 25 cents, will be sold for the non-conference games. . . all contests will begin at 8 p. m. and the capacity of the fieldhouse is about 11,200, since no bleachers will be erected around the sides of the court as was the case when the capacity was 14,000.

Six of the 17 Iowa basketball players are studying engineering. . . they are Dick Ives, Ned Postels, Tom Hughes, Don Walter, John Leeper, and Jimmie Grafton.

Giants Out to Whip Redskins Sunday In Season's Last Game

NEW YORK (AP)—It's something like a man climbing a barbed wire fence just to stick his nose in front of a buzz saw, but the New York football Giants are out to whip the Washington Redskins again Sunday in the final game of the national football league season.

If the Giants succeed in repeating last Sunday's 14-0 upset, the teams will have to meet a third time to break a tie for the eastern division championship. The ultimate winner then will have to assume whatever risks go with playing the Chicago Bears for the league title on a Windy City gridiron the day after Christmas. If the Redskins win, the league playoff will take place Dec. 19.

The Giants, however, persist in going ahead with their plans for what Coach Steve Owen calls the "second half of a two-hour game." And if reports of numerous injuries to the Redskins are true, they figure they have a better-than-fair chance of winning. The New York squad not only came through last Sunday's tussle in good shape, but they expect to have Will Walls, veteran end, ready to do some running and pass catching.

has been called by his draft board for his first physical examination but he said he didn't expect final induction until "late in January or February." He expects to go into the navy.

Seahawks Set For Gophers

Meet ASTP Cagers Sunday at 4:30; Matmen Oppose Illini

A brace of weekend games faces the varsity basketball squad of the Navy Pre-Flight school here. Nosed out of a victory by the Iowa State Cyclones at Ames last Saturday, 31-29, to mark the introduction of varsity basketball at the pre-flight school, the Seahawk cagers have spent the current week under the hand of Head Coach Lieut. O. M. Nordly polishing up their offense for a speedy Gopher outfit which the pre-flighters will meet in Minneapolis Saturday in their second game of the new season.

Sunday afternoon the Seahawks will open their home season when they take on the cage team of the ASTP unit here in the Iowa fieldhouse at 4:30 p. m.

Brothers will vie for victory tomorrow night as Lieutenant Nordly seeks to rack up the first Seahawk win against the Minnesota Gophers five coached by Carl Nordly. Conceding superior speed to his brother's quintet, Lieutenant Nordly, however, will field a squad of cadets he believes can take the measure of the other Nordly products.

He announced Al Shirley of Flora, Ill., center; Paul Murphy of Madison, Wis., and Dick Lehr of Belmont, Ill., forwards; and Bob Fletcher of Newcastle, Ind., and Dick Burt of Minneapolis, guards, as his starting team against the Gophers and possibly against the army Sunday. Burk returns to his hometown to play against the Gophers for the second time within a month. The cadet, as an end on the Seahawk football team, saw action in the Seahawk-Minnesota grid clash on Nov. 27. Two other Seahawk gridders—Jimmie Smith and Chuck Chesbro—are striving for regular berths on the Seahawk cage squad.

Rounding out the heavy basketball weekend for the pre-flight school will be a varsity wrestling match Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. in the fieldhouse. Seasoned by two easy victories this season, the Seahawk wrestlers will collide with big-time opposition by tussling with Illinois in a match which Wrestling Coach Lieut. Dave Bartelma expects to be "the toughest test of the season for the Seahawks." Illinois will bring a squad of last year's lettermen, outstanding freshman and navy trainees. The Seahawks, led by Cadet "Germ" Leeman, have taken Davenport Y. M. C. A. and Wheaton college. The Seahawks have added two more meets on the post-holiday schedule, meeting Northwestern and Wisconsin.

While no competition is planned for the Seahawks gymnastic team, the pre-flight varsity tumblers will make many public appearances this winter in exhibitions. Acrobatic and trampoline programs by the navy gymnasts will feature between-the-halves programs at Seahawk and Big Ten basketball games and the pre-flight school's regimental championships, and at other naval stations.

Leahy States Reasons for Liking 'T' Shift; Points Out Why Bernie Bierman Might Not

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—except on the football field but he pointed out that there might be a reason why Bierman, the former coach of Minnesota and the Iowa Seahawks, might not like T with his football.

In the fall of 1942 the Bierman coached Seahawks came to South Bend unbeaten and untied. They met up with the Notre Dame T and returned to Iowa City on the short end of a 28 to 0 score.

Bierman made his remarks about the T formation this week while at Memphis, Tenn., where he was inspecting the athletic setups of the Memphis naval center.

"George Halas and Clark Shaughnessy can answer that," said Leahy. "They've forgotten more about the T by accident than I'll ever remember on purpose."

Halas used the T-formation successfully with his Chicago Bears several years before the war and Shaughnessy, using it while coaching at Stanford, won the Pacific Coast title and a Rose bowl game. Leahy expressed reluctance to carry on an argument with Bierman or any other coach any place

Hawklets Meet Bears Here

Flu Hurts City High's Chances Before Tilt With McKinley Five

City high's Little Hawk cagers, hit hard this week by an epidemic of flu among members of the squad, will play their first conference game of the season tomorrow night when they meet the McKinley quintet from Cedar Rapids here.

Practice this week by the Hawklets has been hampered greatly by the loss of a good many players to the flu. Monday about half a dozen players were out sick, while Tuesday night and Wednesday night 10 or more were missing.

The two forwards which Coach Fran Merten planned on starting in tomorrow's game have both been sick this week, and it is doubtful if they will be able to start. Scheduled to get the starting nods were Wayne Lacinia and Gene Matthes. If these two are unable to play, the forward posts will be a tossup between a number of players.

Don Farnsworth, high scorer last week against Muscatine, and one of the few members of the squad not to have the flu, may start at one forward position. Don Lay and Curly Brack, both of whom have fairly well recovered, are possible starters at forward.

Sure starters for City high will be Don Trumm and Bob Hein at the guard positions and "Moose" Mellicker at center.

In spite of being seriously handicapped by illness this week, the Little Hawk cagers have showed a definite improvement at practice sessions. Their ball handling and shooting has been polished off to a considerable extent.

In their one conference game to date the Golden Bears of McKinley lost to Dubuque 22-20, but they have a good team built up around reserves from last year. Outstanding this year on the McKinley squad is Roy Les, Negro letterman from last year.

Iowa's New Cagers Aim at Old Records

New Iowa basketball players will aim at some Hawkeye records this season—and they don't think some of the marks are out of their reach in this era of offense emphasis.

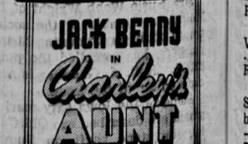

Among the team records are highest single-game score—75 points—against Monmouth three years ago, and the Big Ten high score of 64 points against Chicago in 1942.

Individual marks include season's total of 245, made in 20 games of 1941-42 by Tom Chapman; single-game total of 29, also made by Chapman, 1943; Big Ten single-game total, 27, by Ben Trickey, 1942; and Big Ten 12-game season's high total, 161, Trickey, in 1943.

Fritzie Zivic Has No Idea of Quitting

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fritzie, last of the five fighting Zivic brothers, told the boxing world yesterday he hasn't the "slightest idea" about retiring now and would keep right on fighting in 1944—"although most of it may be for Uncle Sam's navy."

The 30-year-old former welterweight champ, who tackles tough Ossie Harris in the 179th bout of his career here Monday, announced he would begin his 14th year in the ring by meeting Jake LaMotta for the fourth time Jan. 14, in Detroit.

Zivic, who started making money with his fists in 1931, has won once and lost twice to LaMotta. All the decisions, however, were tighter than a drum.

RIGHT INTO WITHERING JAP FIRE, thousands of U. S. Marines charged on Tarawa Island in the Gilberts. They accomplished their objective, wiping out the enemy garrison. But 1,026 Americans paid the highest price for their victory in the bloodiest battle of Marine Corps history. The three excellent action pictures above, taken under heavy fire, show just how the leathernecks did their job. They await the signal to charge, top, and one Marine draws back his arm, center photo, to hurl a grenade at a Jap position. Then it's over the top, lower photo, as the leathernecks plunge forward in an attack. These pictures were taken at great risk by Marine photographers. (International Soundphotos)

School Board Will Probe Bus Problem

A committee composed of Dan Dutcher and Jack Kelly was chosen last night at the monthly meeting of the school board to meet with the city council in considering the present over-capacity loading of buses going to City high school each morning.

Chairman Earl Sangster will sit in on the meeting as well as Joseph Negus, superintendent of the Iowa City Coach company. The meeting time will be designated by Mayor Wilber J. Teeters.

It was decided that the only recourse would be to have this joint meeting for the purpose of discussing the problem and requesting the passing of an ordinance to limit buses to a certain passenger quota.

The bus lines now take off one bus from Melrose avenue and one from the north Dodge run to meet with the student passenger demand each morning at 8 o'clock.

Negus stated previously that had he known of the condition present he would certainly have obtained an increase in equipment. The office of defense transportation informed bus lines that it would be impossible to replace equipment for the duration.

Dec. 18 will begin the holidays for Iowa City public schools and they will reopen January 3.

Third SUI Symphony Concert December 15

Iowa Union Schedules University Orchestra Wednesday Evening

The University Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Prof. P. G. Clapp, head of the music department, will present its third concert of the current season Wednesday evening in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Included on the program will be extracts from the opera "Messidor" by Alfred Bruneau; a concerto for two pianos with orchestra, by Professor Clapp; and Tschaiakowsky's "Suite no. 1 in D, opus 43."

The opera "Messidor," which was first performed in Paris in 1897, was one of nine operas written by Bruneau which had very successful runs between the years 1887 and 1921. Bruneau, a pupil of Massenet, was also a contemporary of d'Indy, Chausson and Debussy. The text of "Messidor" was written by Emile Zola.

Wednesday's performance of Professor Clapp's "Concerto for Two Pianos" will be the first public presentation of the number. First written as a concerto for one piano, the piece was arranged for two pianos in 1941. Soloists for the performance will be Norma Cross and Marshall Barnes.

Tschaiakowsky's "Suite in D" is one of four concert suites written for orchestra, excluding those for his ballets. The number was offered as a feature number of several tours by Tschaiakowsky as composer-conductor, and was heard for the first time in America at the dedication of Carnegie hall in 1892, when Tschaiakowsky conducted Walter Damrosch's orchestra, as guest.

Tickets for Wednesday's concert will be available to all beginning Monday at the information desk of Iowa Union.

Ballad Singers Present Concert Of Varied Native Folk Music

Native American music, sung by the American Ballad Singers, delighted an attentive audience of 750 persons in a concert presented in the main lounge of Iowa Union last night.

Seated informally around a table, Helen Yorke, Ruth Fremont, soprano; Rebekah Crawford, contralto; Lester Germain, tenor; Dolf Swing, baritone; and Earl Waldo, bass, proved themselves versatile vocal artists.

Outstanding was the portion of the program devoted to three American legends set to music by Siegmeyer. The first of these was a spirited song about the boisterous lumberjack of the old northwest, Paul Bunyan. Second, and the high spot of the evening, was the haunting melody, "Anne Rutledge," telling of the inner strength as well as the despair and melancholy which the death of Anne Rutledge caused in Abraham Lincoln. Last in this group was the "Ballad of Douglas MacArthur," a rousing tribute to a contemporary American hero.

"The Melting Pot" was also an exceptional group of folk songs of the many peoples who have built America. This section included the soothing Spanish mission chant, "Alabado"; "Cooper o'Fife," sung in a minor key with Scotch dialect; the soft Pennsylvania Dutch lullaby, "Schlof Bobbel," presented by a trio of two sopranos and one contralto, and the Catskill roadmaker's tune, "Last Winter Was a Hard One."

A favorite of the program was "Deaf Woman's Courtship," the tale of a woman who hears no questions until she quickly jumps to answer a marriage proposal.

With a definite modern color was the "Brooklyn Strawberry Peddlers," part of a "Street Cries"

Prof. A. C. Baird Publishes New Book

The sixth volume of "Representative American Speeches" selected by Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department has recently been published.

This volume, edited in the midst of World War II, contains war speeches of 1942-1943. It is divided into eight sections entitled "Progress of the War," "War Aims," "America and the Postwar World," "Inside Warring Europe," "The Home Front," "The American Democratic Traditions," "Education and the War," and "Religion and the War."

It includes speeches of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Henry A. Wallace, Wendell L. Willkie, and many others.

The six volumes that have appeared in this series include some 164 addresses by different speakers. All have given repeated demonstration of their speaking ability before certain types of listeners. Almost all of these speeches and speakers have stirred more than local or regional attention; they have presumably affected, at least in slight degree, the national current,
