Rail Junction Falls to Reds

Allied Planes Hammer Mystery Targets; Shoot Down 19 Nazi Planes in Record Berlin Bombing

Russians Roll Back Nazi Line From Leningrad; Take Center

LONDON, Saturday (AP)—The Russians are rolling back the German line from Leningrad through one fortified place after another, Moscow announced early today, after the Red army yesterday captured the rail junction of Mga, 30 miles southeast of the great northern city, and thus freed a roundabout rail line to Moscow.

The Red army was in full offensive tide south, southwest and southeast of Leningrad, killing thousands of Germans as it battered through defensive areas the Germans had carefully fortified for two years.

Under continuous blows of Soviet troops the enemy is rolling back in a southerly direction and abandoning one fortified place after another, said the midnight Moscow communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

New 'Adolf Hitler' Line Being Rushed To Completion

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers (AP)—Battalions of forced Italian labor are rushing to completion a powerful new "Adolf Hitler" defense line 65 miles below Rome, Nazi prisoners reported yesterday, indicating that the enemy has scant hope of holding his own present "Gustav" line much longer against the onslaught of American, British and French troops.

The British firmly held the town of Minturno, two miles northwest of the Garigliano river, after allied planes and artillery smashed an incipient German counterattack on that west coast communications hub, and French forces north of Cassino captured the foot of Mt. Il Lago, a Nazi stronghold across the Rapido river from the village of Sant' Elia. The Gustav fortifications thus were being shredded fast.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army troops have been forced to batter their way through a succession of Nazi defense systems that extracted the last possible advantage from the rough Italian terrain. The name the enemy has bestowed upon his latest fortifications would indicate that he considered it the strongest of the lot.

According to German prisoners—some 300 of whom have been captured by the British since they opened their Garigliano offensive Monday night—the "Adolf Hitler" line extends from 1,700-foot Mt. Cairo, six miles northwest of Cassino, down across the Liri valley in the area of Pontecorvo to the Aurunci mountains near the coast. On an average, the line is about six miles nearer Rome than the enemy's present defenses.

The German high command communique admitted the British had made breaches in Nazi defenses across the river, but declared that one of these had been closed by an energetic counterattack.

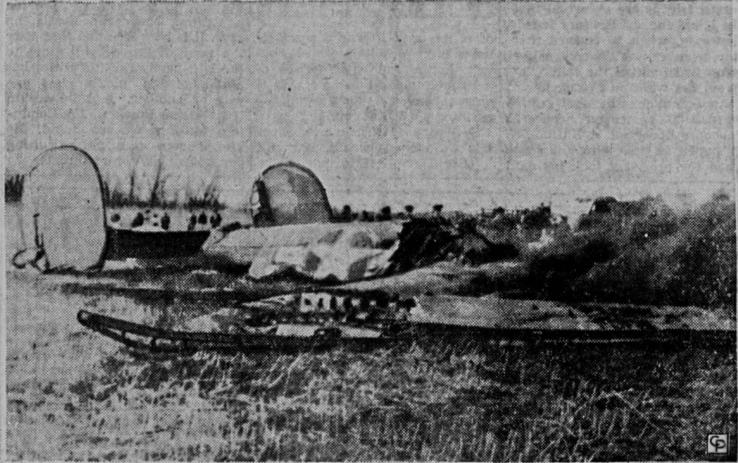

Partisans Storm Back

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslav partisan troops have stormed back into the mountain stronghold of Jajce in western Bosnia, former headquarters for Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), the Partisans announced in their communique yesterday.

Jajce has changed hands half a dozen times in bitter struggles and last fell to the Germans on Jan. 12. The bulletin also told of hard street fighting in the eastern Bosnian town of Tuzla.

Elsewhere in the river valleys and along rail lines new Yugoslav successes were reported as guerrilla armies continued to lash at German occupation divisions.

FIND SERGEANT'S CHARRED BODY IN BOMBER CRASH

THREE OFFICERS parachuted safely but a sergeant, whose identity was temporarily withheld, was killed in the crash of this Liberator bomber from Tarrant army air field, Ft. Worth, Tex. Crash, cause of which was unexplained, occurred near Hutchins, Tex.

Interpreting the War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

British elements of the Fifth army in Italy, pushing down the north slope of low Minturno ridge on the left flank, have set foot on something more immediately important to the allied march on Rome than the classical Apennine way route between Rome and Naples.

With capture of Minturno, they are moving on an indicated seven-mile front to clear the coastal sector of the Minturno-Cassino-Alina lateral highway. French units of Gen. Mark Clark's army are astride that road at the onshore end, and American forces in the center, are converging on Sassino.

Thus it seems clear that an allied triple squeeze is in progress aimed at clearing the whole width of the Liri valley. German expectation of the early fall of Cassino was indicated in the Berlin announcement of an evacuation of Minturno.

Further proof that the Nazis are prepared to give up another short but highly important step of the main military road to Rome comes from German prisoners. They report a secondary defense line six miles north of Cassino is in readiness. It probably is keyed to the next highway lateral—the Gaeta-Pico-Arce, Sora cross road.

The Apennine way comes down to the shore near Gaeta because of the solid hill mass still in Nazi hands north of the Garigliano and confronting British forces. It skirts those hills on a narrow coastal shelf to reach the southern end of the Pontine marshes at Terracina, then runs due northeast to Rome in a virtual straight line across the marshes.

A. S. T. P. 'Sound Off' Opens This Afternoon at 2:30

"Sound Off," the A. S. T. P. army show, opens this afternoon at 2:30 in University theater.

Other performances will be given at 8:30 tonight, 2:30 tomorrow afternoon and 8:30 tomorrow night. The show is being produced by soldiers who were radio and theatrical professionals in civil life.

Col. Luke D. Zech is sponsoring the show. Pfc. John R. Lewis, director and master of ceremonies, has written and arranged much of the original music. Before he was inducted, he had his own orchestra for eight years.

He is being assisted by Sergt. Larry Paulus, who played on Broadway in the Shubert Brothers' production, "The Desert Song."

Another soldier who brings professional experience to the army show is Sergt. Olaf A. Bolm. In 1940 he went to work for Paramount studios, did research work for Cecil B. DeMille and later became DeMille's "handy man" during the production of "Reap the Wild Wind."

Sergt. Robert McGill, director of the A. S. T. P. chorus, is a graduate of Crane Institute of Music and did graduate work at Syracuse university.

All A. S. T. P. companies on the post are represented, and the cast includes approximately 100 soldiers.

Detectives Have Clue That May Locate Mysterious Killer

CHICAGO (AP)—A clue that may put detectives on the trail of the mysterious woman in black who is hunted as the slayer of Mrs. Frank Starr Williams gave a fresh fillip to the investigation today.

Police Captain Frank Reynolds reported he had learned that a woman whose appearance corresponded to the general description of the killer entered an automobile near the Drake hotel Wednesday night shortly after Mrs. Williams was shot, and drove off at high speed.

He related that four of the seven numerals on the license plate were furnished to police who were sent out to trace the car and its driver.

At an inquest earlier, Stanley Cook, Chicago business man who was waiting for an elevator in the hotel near Mrs. Williams' apartment when she was attacked, testified that a short woman clad in a black coat, black hat and black skirt emerged from the victim's suite and brushed past him in the corridor. He related that she "appeared to be stuffing something into her purse."

Cook recalled that Mrs. Williams' daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, also appeared in the hall and screamed:

"Stop that woman. She's crazy. She shot my mother."

Cook said he didn't know where the woman in black went, but the revolver used in the slaying was found on the service stairs, indicating she followed them down in her flight.

The only other witness at the inquest before it was continued Feb. 8 was the victim's husband, an attaché of the state department in Washington. He was asked if he could provide any information, but he shook his head and replied: "No."

Investigators speculated that the slayer held a grudge against the diplomat's wife or was bent on burglary, but there were no developments to bear them out.

Pigeons Poisoned In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—An unknown person, spreading poison in the vicinity of famous St. Patrick's cathedral and in Central park was called the pigeon killer of New York City yesterday.

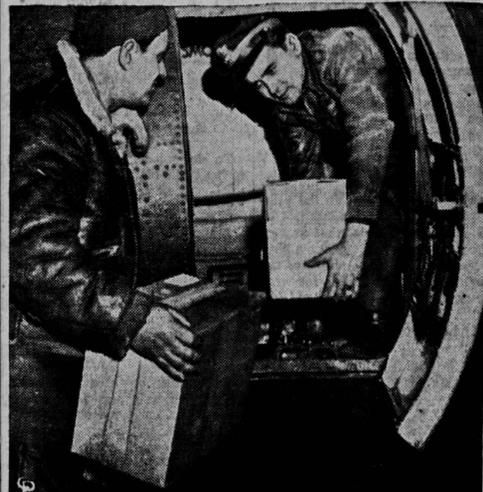

Police and civilians were asked to be on the lookout for anyone tossing small seeds, looking like wheat, about the streets and in parks after post-mortem examinations disclosed the dead pigeons had been poisoned.

Senate Passes— Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $2,275,600,000 tax increase bill, criticized by President Roosevelt as unrealistic and yielding hardly a fifth of the Treasury's goal, passed the senate unanimously last night and headed toward a conference with the house.

The senate completed its work by adopting a series of amendments which liberalize somewhat, from the standpoint of industry, the operations of the war contracts renegotiation law, although not so much as the finance committee once tentatively decided upon.

In modifying these previous proposals, the lawmakers drew the bill more in line with the recommendations of Mr. Roosevelt, who said in his recent budget message that he was disturbed by suggested changes which in his opinion would restrict if not destroy the effectiveness of the law under which the government recaptures war profits deemed excessive.

The senate, however, flatly declined to heed the president's admonition to send him a tax bill yielding the full $10,500,000,000 demanded by the treasury.

The finance committee estimated that its amendments added about $130,000,000 to the bill approved by the house, bringing total federal income to more than $43,500,000,000 a year.

Nearly half the extra revenue—$1,011,100,000—would be obtained from new and higher excise taxes on a long list of items, including liquor, cosmetics, furs, jewelry, admission charges and transportation tickets. Illustrative of the sharp boosts was the rise in the liquor tax rate from $6 to $9 per 100-proof gallon.

The bill proposes to pick up $664,900,000 more from individual income tax payers, chiefly through repeal of the earned income credit and disallowance of deductions for federal excise taxes paid.

Corporations would be hit for another $502,700,000 in excess profits tax while postal increases, including a boost in the air mail rate from 6 to 8 cents, would account for the remaining $96,900,000.

Democratic Leaders Meet at White House; Favor Fourth Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders yesterday presented a resolution to President Roosevelt favoring a fourth term nomination, but said they heard only a noncommittal "oh" in reply.

The resolution was adopted by a group of mid-western Democrats and its presentation to the president capped a round of activities preliminary to the Democratic national committee meeting today to elect Robert E. Hannegan of St. Louis as the new party chairman to succeed Frank C. Walker, who is ready to resign to devote all his time to the postmaster generalship. The group is expected to decide to hold the national nominating convention in Chicago in July.

A copy of the resolution was given Mr. Roosevelt at a reception at the White House at which the political leaders and their wives shook hands with him and Mrs. Roosevelt, had tea and sandwiches, and talked briefly in small groups and individually with the chief executive.

Minnesotans, on leaving the reception, reported they had received the president's blessing on a proposed merger of the Farmer-Labor and Democratic parties in their state, and Wisconsin members said Mr. Roosevelt told them he favored a similar coalition of Democrats and Progressives there.

Edward J. Flynn, New York committeeman and predecessor of Walker as national chairman, laughed when reporters asked him whether there was any talk of a fourth term at the reception.

"You fellows have been trying to get that out of him for a long time," he replied. "Who am I?"

The mid-western group's adoption of the fourth term resolution removed virtually all possibility of any disharmony at today's meeting since it also endorsed Hannegan for national chairman.

Grand Jury Hears Hopkins' Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weak with illness, Presidential Adviser Harry Hopkins shambled into a grand jury room to reiterate yesterday that his name was forged to the mystery letter about Wendell Willkie and he hinted that he named the man he believed forged it.

The 53-year-old Hopkins arose from a naval hospital bed to ask and receive permission to testify, was with the jury 10 minutes, then returned to the hospital to convalesce from a long attack of influenza.

"Obviously, I can't discuss what I told the grand jury," said Hopkins to reporters, but "this letter is a forgery. There is a forger in this picture. I think I know who the forger is."

The assumption was that Hopkins told the jury that, with details.

Hopkins is the nominal prosecutor in the "letter mystery" which had added a bizarre, new chapter in the adventures of the thin man who is closer politically to President Roosevelt than perhaps any other person.

Medicine In War-Time

Yesterday morning's "Opinion" column in The Iowan asked a question concerning the medical profession after the war. One of the persons interviewed expressed the opinion that war-time acceleration of medical training will lower efficiency.

As a matter of fact, medical students are working harder today than ever before. Instead of cutting their courses, the administration has curtailed their leisure time and their vacations. Acceleration has intensified, rather than simplified, training.

Doctors are constantly learning new techniques and discovering new drugs, and medical students must keep pace. So they really are covering more ground, even in their shorter training period, than before.

The medical profession is doing a remarkable, even a miraculous, job of rehabilitating the war-wrecked minds and bodies of American fighting men. Students in medical college face the responsibility of aiding that work. They are conscious of their responsibility, and they are preparing for it as wisely and as thoroughly as they are able.

Through the Roof

Civilians with war-inflated pocketbooks are spending money as they never spent it before. Income taxes and bond buying have barely touched the huge amounts of cash created for millions of individuals by government borrowing and spending. Anyone walking through shopping centers can hardly be blamed for concluding that at least one group is making a lot of money out of the war, and that group is retailers.

In fairness to the retail distribution industry, a few figures on chain store operations, compiled from a recent survey, should be brought to public attention. They show that new sales peaks have not meant new profit peaks. Chain store earnings—and the same is probably true of independent retailers—have felt the heavy hand of the tax collector and the pinch of rising costs. Eighteen representative chains cleared $131,000,000 in 1942, against $141,000,000 in 1941. The drop was brought about mainly by drastic increases in taxes. In fact, according to the survey, "Taxes went through the chain store roof." Ten variety store chains paid $75,000,000, against $17,000,000 in 1940. Two food chains paid $17,000,000, against $4,000,000.

The survey also showed that in the past few years the chains have fought a valiant battle to keep their prices steady in the face of rising costs all down the aisle. Profit margins have been cut drastically. Rising costs have been met by heavier sales volume and still greater operating efficiency.

The public is getting better service at less cost from the distribution system than would have been thought possible by the merchants themselves a comparatively short time ago. This is something to keep in mind the next time you see shoppers stacked six deep around the cash register of the neighborhood merchant.

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT THE RECORD!

News Behind the News

Russian Separate Peace Rumors Not Borne Out on Front

WASHINGTON—Currently expressed suspicions that Stalin is getting ready to make a separate peace—created almost deliberately by his aggressive, realistic, self-interested diplomacy—will find no substantiation in the concrete military situation on the Russian front.

The German lines have not been broken. Indeed, a fairly strong Nazi counter-attack was launched at the focal point of fighting (the Vinnitsa and Zhitomir sectors along the Warsaw-Odessa railroad). True, this is now failing and the Reds are likely to punch through there, but time has robbed even this victory of its immediate decisive possibilities.

The Nazis have been moving men from the vast trap of the endangered salient, running east to Krivoy-Rog. Of course, the Germans must hold around Vinnitsa to let the rest escape, but they seem fairly strong.

The Russians are pushing the fighting in two sectors (Poland and in the north) much harder than has been revealed in their communiqués. Yet the main communique battle certainly will be in the Vinnitsa area.

So, if peace is at hand, it is not yet apparent on the battlefield. Internally, German transportation may have broken down more than is evident, but there is nothing apparent here in that situation, beyond the obvious overall fact that the Nazi cause as a whole is lost, and has been for months.

You will have to look elsewhere for the background of these diplomatically planted peace reports, and it is no doubt lies in the field of diplomacy. The administration has blown up great gobs of resentful smoke, charging some people in this country with promoting suspicion of Russia, but Russia obviously is bent on promoting suspicion of herself—and deliberately.

If there are people in this country creating a harmful propaganda suspicion of Russia, they are of minor importance, compared with Russia's intent to make herself suspicious to the world—including this administration.

Stalin went home from the world-wide benevolence atmosphere of Teheran, signed a self-alone treaty with Czechoslovakia, attacked the world-wide Mr. Willkie, proclaimed his own Polish policy, then accused Britain of sneaking around seeking a separate peace.

To me, all this means final unmeasurable proof of what I have been reporting all along in the face of strong continuous criticism—namely Russia has a realistic self-interested foreign policy and propaganda line. We have not.

Our policy and line in the public speeches of our leaders is that we must love Russia, that anyone who does not love Russia is a Nazi or Fascist. Our leadership has not taught us to know Russia for what she actually is; to understand her realistically—which is our only real chance of getting along with her peacefully.

First thing we should know is she never necessarily means what she says. Her working basis is to do or say mystifying things to get you to guess what she is up to, to smoke you out, to see how you will act, what you will do. Her purpose is never apparent.

Stalin would consider it a weakness (and he might call it a profound democratic weakness) to reveal your purpose. To hate the Russian method or to criticize it will do little good.

Amusement In the News

Typographers' Errors Furnish Readers Many a Chuckle

It isn't in every profession that one can make a mistake and yet give to the public more amusement than the correct approach would have furnished. Such is the advantage of the fourth estate!

Some of the best jokes extant come merely from the slip of the printer's fingers. Recently in The Daily Iowan a feature head which should have read "Daily Guest Column," in its final form, was "Daily Guest Column." If ever such errors cease to be, with them goes that humor which only newspapers can give.

In the beginning of this century of journalistic endeavor, an American who had been on a world tour was quite annoyed at the newspaper report of his return, which read: "His numerous friends are surprised that he is unchanged." His fury faded, however, when he learned that the offender was the compositor who had omitted the letter "c" from the word "unchanged."

Another such incident which journalists remember concerns Theodore Roosevelt. A Buffalo, N. Y., paper, in describing the scene when the president took his oath

The Literary Guidepost

By JOHN SELBY

"THEY SHALL NOT SLEEP," by Leland Stowe (Knopf; $3). Leland Stowe's "They Shall Not Sleep" is one of the greatest jobs of reporting to come out of this war, reporting in the grand style as good and as useful as John Hersey's more particularized, small scale, work. Top rank reporting is much more than a mere matter of ascertaining pertinent fact and expressing it clearly. A good reporter gets through to the spirit of his subject, and expresses that as well. The word journalistic, as patronizingly applied by the T. S. Eliots of this world, should actually be the trademark of first grade, four dimensional, reporting. Mr. Stowe's book begins in China, and swings back to Russia through Burma and India—and some way stations. Its best parts, for me, are the sections on the Burma road, on the Burmese "campaign" if it could be called such, and his sober but surprisingly honest and shrewd chapters on Russia.

Stowe almost precipitated an international scandal when he wrote about the Burma road two years ago. He said it was a racket, but the censors stopped him before he could explain the entire matter. It was a simple matter—the Chinese either could not or would not properly police the road so that, he says, brigandage, smuggling, squeeze, and murder were rampant and enormous heaps of lend-lease and other material simply rotted on the Rangoon docks while cosmetics and other high-profit goods went through.

The Burmese campaign was like a joke so obscene that the hearer thereof promptly loses his lunch. Stowe makes the gravest charges of inefficiency and stupidity against Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, the governor. He says a dry rot began (remarkably) at the top and ran down through the governing set-up to the army command and lower.

It takes more than a conference at Teheran and an encouraging vote in the senate to provide a working basis with Russia, he says. It is his prediction that after the war, all Europe will move to the left, partly because Hitler has liquidated the middle class one way or another. And he argues if we blame Russia or the Comintern for this, we are stupid. He also believes we would be cutting our not so lily-white throats.

Washington in Wartime

Adventures of That Anonymous Gent, The 'Swedish Traveler'

By HOWARD FLEGGER: Swedish newspapers still have American must be constantly amazed at the wonderful adventures of that anonymous gent on his front page, the well-informed "Swedish traveler." Allied bombs rip up Berlin and—in a matter of hours—the Swedish traveler is home from Germany, telling his Stockholm friends all about it. With his motoring slowed to a walk and his train travel only a memory, the ex-American speedabout must marvel at the speed and ease with which the touring Swedes appear to shuttle between Berlin and Stockholm. The "Swedish traveler" has become the most interviewed man in the bombings of Berlin. He seems a most unaccountable fellow unless you happen to ask the Swedish legation about his comings and goings. There is an explanation. A legation spokesman explained that, although greatly restricted by the red tape of war, civilian travel still is possible between Berlin and Stockholm. The trip by air takes a little more than three hours. Of course, it takes months to get a visa, but once it is in hand the Swedish national is free to go on the first non-military plane out, if he can make it.

Homemaker Should Avoid Over-Fatigue May Adapt Methods Proved by Industry To Her Own Tasks

Who works harder, the homemaker or the woman employed in an office or industrial plant? There is no verified answer on record for that question, but there is little doubt that the average housewife is more nearly tired out at the end of her working day than is her employed sister. One reason is that employers have found it profitable to them to combat fatigue among their workers. The homemaker, too, can lessen the strain of her daily tasks, by adapting some of the industry-proven methods to her own routine. Here are some recommendations by noted health authorities. Plan your work in advance to distribute it evenly through the week. Break up the day with regular rest periods. Take the weight off your feet, sit down or lie down and read a book or listen to the radio. The important thing is to relax. Make as liberal use of labor-saving devices as possible. Learn the way to do each job with the minimum of strain; then do it the same way each time. Put your working conditions on an efficient basis. Arrange shelves so that there will be as little reaching and bending as possible. Have plenty of light where it is needed. Remember that getting plenty of sleep is the best safeguard against fatigue. A tendency to wilt before an ordinary day is over is often a sign of insufficient sleep. Make sure that mattress, bed-spring and pillows are in a condition to give good service. The actual number of hours spent in sleep, most authorities agree, is not as important as how much rest you get during the time you are asleep.

Former Greek Head Dies in Cambridge

Former university professor, Arthur Fairbanks, head of the Greek department at the University of Iowa from 1900-1906, died at the home of his daughter in Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 13, according to word received here yesterday. Professor Fairbanks was 79 years old. He became professor of Greek literature and archaeology at the university in 1900 and taught here until 1907. Famous as a philosopher and Greek historian, he worked on his manuscript "The Mythology of Greece and Rome" while here. The work was published in 1907, after he had left the university. He was editor of the Classical Journal while here and was a friend and professional associate of Prof. Franklin Potter of the classical language department. Professor Potter said that Fairbanks was "a scholar and one of the royal people of the earth. He was kindly and helpful and a man one likes to know, as well as being one of the most brilliant men in his field." Professor Potter last saw Fairbanks in Boston 20 years ago, but they have always continued their correspondence. Professor Fairbanks was born in Hanover, N. H., and was graduated from Dartmouth college. During his career as an educator he was an instructor at Yale, Cornell, the University of Iowa, the University of Michigan, and Dartmouth. After instructing at Michigan, he became director of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and held this position until 1925. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and was known throughout the country for his Greek and Roman literature as well as philosophy and religion.

3 Physics Graduates Write to Professor

Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department, has recently received letters from several graduates of the university describing their work in the field of physics. Donald O. Holland, who received his master of science degree in 1936, on leave of absence from the state geological survey, is now physicist in charge of the navy's magnetic range at Boston. Carl A. Frisbee, who received his doctor of philosophy degree here in 1932, has been made director of research at the Sperry Gyroscope company in New York, one of the largest industries of this kind in the United States. Roland M. Zabel, present general engineer manager of the Sylvania electrical products company in Salem, Mass., received his master of science degree in 1931 and his Ph.D. degree in 1932.

Extension Division Lends War Films

Government Movies Interpret Defense Effort; Used by Civic, Military Groups

JOHN R. HEDGES, acting director of the bureau of visual instruction, aids in the distribution of war films to the armed forces, industrial organizations, civic and church groups. The motion pictures, produced by the federal government, are loaned to interested groups throughout the country.

By MARY LOU LINK

"Every Iowan should make it his patriotic duty to see the war films produced by the government to inform the American people on the war effort," maintains Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division at the University of Iowa. Many of these films, some in color and with commentaries by such persons as Tyrone Power, Julian Bryan, Orson Welles, Joseph Cotten and Katharine Hepburn, are now being distributed by the university bureau of visual instruction. According to John R. Hedges, acting director of the bureau, there is a constant demand for these films for use by civic and service organizations throughout the country. The armed forces, as well as teachers, students, factory employees, clubs and church groups, are sending in requests for the talking motion pictures. Last year 3,607,200 persons saw educational and informational films distributed by the bureau in 36,072 showings. "It is a recognized fact that a larger proportion of our ideas are gained through visual sensations than through any other single factor," Hedges said. "The value of the motion picture for training in specific skills, as well as in the fundamentals, is now attested by every branch of our armed forces. Industry, too, has learned that motion pictures will give optimum training to maximum numbers in minimum time." Many of the films have only recently been released by the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs, office of war information, United States treasury department war savings staff and office of civilian defense. These agencies have designated the bureau of visual instruction as an official depository for the films. The charge for rental of a film by any service, civic or private group does not exceed 50 cents, and certain ones are loaned free of charge, according to Hedges. Especially popular of the most recent pictures produced are four color travelogues on Mexico—"A Town in Old Mexico," "Cuernavaca," "Patzcuaro," and "Tehuantepec"—which depict crafts and customs of our neighbor republic.

The group will meet regularly on Thursdays in the Recreation center, and high school and college students and men and women of the community may take the course. Anyone interested may enter the class Thursday when the topic for discussion is "The Play Interests of Children." Specific games for various groups will be taught.

U. W. A. Hostesses Given 2 New Rules

Two new regulations pertaining to all U. W. A. hostesses have been announced by Wanda Siebels, chairman of the central hostess committee. Each hostess will still be required to attend one Saturday afternoon tea dance at the Union a month, but her attendance will now be limited to not more than two dances a month. The second ruling concerns a time limit on attendance. No girls will be admitted after 4:15 p. m. In spite of the performance of "Sound Off," the regular tea dance will be held in the lounge of the Iowa Union from 3:30 to 5:30 this afternoon.

Storyland Adventures Aired Twice Weekly

"Adventures in Storyland," a program designed to stimulate more effective reading by grade school pupils, is broadcast over WSUI Monday and Thursday afternoons at 3 o'clock. The stories on Monday are for third and fourth grades and those on Thursday for fifth and sixth grade pupils. Mabel Snedaker of the University elementary school selects the stories from a list of the Iowa Pupils' Reading circle, which is based on the tabulated reaction of hundreds of children.

The Party Line...

—This Week End at Iowa

WHAT WOULD a wounded soldier think of you if he could hear you say: "I can't afford to buy an extra War Bond?" He might remind you that he couldn't "afford" to go to war! But he went, and now he's making more sacrifices... for you. No wonder he expects you to do something that will help him!

Especially when all you're asked to do is to buy an extra $100 War Bond this month. So check over your budget... see if you can't swing at least an extra $100... or $200... or $300... or even $500 for extra War Bonds. You'll find that you can... and it's no sacrifice, either, for War Bonds are the best investment in the world today!

Let's all BACK THE ATTACK!

Hawkeyes Outscore Fighting Illini, 56 to 51

Danner, Ives Lead Cage Kids to Victory

By WALLY STRINGHAM
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Behind a barrage of long shots from Danner and Ives, the Iowa Cage Kids defeated a strong Illini quintet 56 to 51. For the first 5 minutes, the Hawks looked as though they might have a rugged time with the Illini five, but as soon as the two star forwards started hitting, it was a game of follow the leader as to who could shoot the longest shot from the hardest angle on the fieldhouse floor.

Both squads put up a formidable defense, with neither team getting any close-under-the-basket shots. The game was not nearly as close as the score would indicate, as the Hawks used the last 9 minutes of the game to hold their lead, and keep the always dangerous Illini team from scoring as much as possible.

At the start of the second half, the visitors came out with a great deal of spark, looking as though they might narrow the half time score of 17 to 34 to a close battle. Their plan might have worked, but the Iowa lads continued to paste the basket from all angles. It is difficult to name an outstanding player on the Hawkeye squad, for they all worked as a unit in defeating a good Big Ten team.

Danner was highpoint man for the evening, with 21 points. Dick Ives, the boy who was everywhere on the floor, was close on Danner's heels, with 15 points. After the Hawks decided to stall near the end of the game, the Illini closed a 20 point margin to a dangerous 5 points. The Illini showed they were a foe of dangerous possibilities, and one the Hawks will have to watch, in tonight's game.

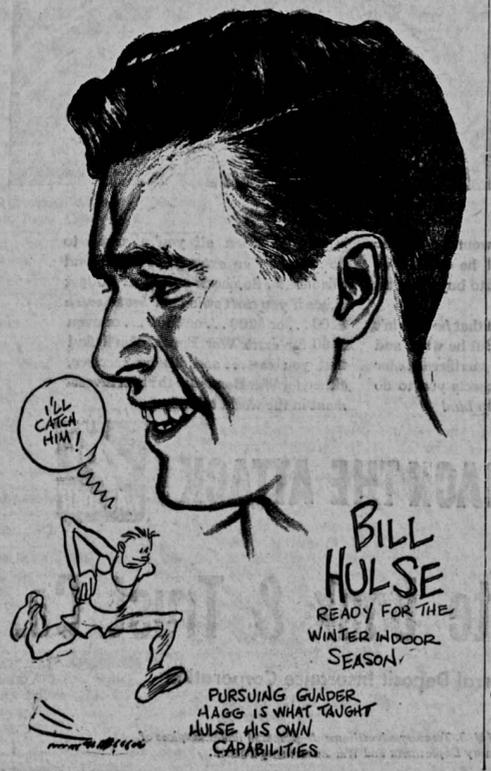

Patrick was high scorer for the losers, with 19 points, and turned in a fine floor game for the Illini. Illinois was very cold on most of its shots, probably due to the tight defense the Cage Kids were able to put up against the visitors. The last half displayed a strong cog in the Illini five, with the sharp shooting of Stabb, relief forward of the Illinois quintet, sinking the ball from various angles. He scored 12 points in the last half.

Iowa has now won 8 games in as many starts, with 3 of the games in the Big Ten. The Hawks made it plain last night they are a most worthy contenders for the Big Ten championship.

THAT OLD EYE WORKS

IT'S IVES AGAIN, as he drops one in from the side to add to his 15 point total as second high scorer last night. Dave Danner (10) was top man for the evening with 21 points. Stan Patrick (47), standing just under the basket scored 19 points for the visitors.

Bluehawks Slip Past Anamosa Quintet, 47-41

Led by forward Otto Graham, who scored 15 points for high point honors, Northwestern took the lead a few minutes after the opening whistle and led all the way except for a brief spurt by Notre Dame just after the second half opened. The Wildcats held a halftime lead of 26-22.

Bernie Rutledge, Notre Dame guard, made two field goals in quick succession shortly after the second half began to tie the count at 26 all.

Graham put the Cats ahead with a field goal but Carl Loyd sank another to tie it up again at 28-28. That was the closest the Irish came to stepping out in front.

U-high Bluehawks nosed out a battling Anamosa five here last night with a score of 47-41. From the very start the game was noticeably a rough, but fast moving one. Anamosa's Capt. Preston Meyers was high point man in the game with 0 points, while the Blue's Steve Nusser scored 18.

Although U-high got the initial tip-off, the Blue Raiders had scored four points before a foul on "Irish" O'Brien netted a free throw for Nusser. In the first quarter Nusser scored two field goals and two free throws, making him high point man for the Blues. He was matched by the Raiders' Meyers with three buckets. However Meyers was better supported than Nusser was, and his team forged ahead to a first quarter score of 14-11.

In the second quarter Meyers was still going strong, marking up eight more counters, while Capt. Don Wagner and Nusser were the high Rivermen with four points each. In this quarter the difference was about made up, for Jack Shay made two more points bringing his total to five, and Vander Zee dumped his first basket, while the Raiders only made two additional points. This brought the half-time score to 24-23 for the Raiders.

In the third quarter the Blues started scoring again, led by Bob Vander Zee who dropped in three more field goals. "Fritz" LeGrande, who came in after Wagner had acquired four of the allotted five fouls, closely followed with four points and Shay with three. At the end of the third quarter the Rivermen had an eight point lead of 39-31.

DICK IVES, FRESHMAN flash from Diagonal, in the above shot just misses the basket in one of his dashes, but scored later to aid in the 56 to 51 defeat handed to Illinois by the Hawkeyes. Also in the picture are Jack Spencer (20) guard, and Walton Kirk (25) Illinois defense man.

Clinton Drops Mar-Kell Considered Favorite in Hialeah Park Evening 'Cap'

City high's "jinx ridden" Little Hawk basketball team lost their first conference game in four starts last night, as they went down in defeat before a powerful Clinton five, 34-27.

High scorer for the evening was Burridge of Clinton who tossed in a total of 10 points. Copping the scoring honors for City high was Willie Orr, who swished in seven points. Orr, a sub player who has not seen much action on the court this year, seemed to be one of the few Hawket players who could hit the basket with any consistency.

While the Little Hawks led by a score of 6-5 at the end of the first quarter, the boys from Clinton led during most the rest of the game. Clinton wasn't so much better than any of the other teams that the Hawketts have conquered this season, but Iowa City just wasn't up to par last night. "Moose" Mellicker, star player of the Hawketts, was off form as he garnered only four points for himself. Coach Fran Merten said the night before that Mellicker probably would not be in top condition after his long trip to Kansas City to finish his V-5 exams.

The loss by the Hawketts will knock them down a notch or two in the league standings, while a victory would have put them only a half game behind the league leading Davenport five.

Now, with Mellicker, Don Farnsworth, and Bob Hein being ineligible for the rest of the season, the Hawketts will probably have a tough time with Davenport here next week.

Hawkeye Highlights

Floyd Magnusson, Iowa basketball forward, has passed examinations for the navy air corps. . . . he will report for training March 1. . . . The Ft. Dodge freshman athlete therefore will miss the Northwestern game, last of the Hawkeye schedule.

Hawkeye basketball players never especially enjoy playing at Indiana. . . . the squad goes to Bloomington for games next Friday and Saturday. . . . in 20 years, Iowa has won only one of 13 there. . . . that was in 1938.

Dick Ives and Dave Danner, Hawkeye forwards, like to kid each other, even over the radio. . . . in a recent interview, Ives was asked about Iowa's weak points. "Well, Danner is the worst one," he said. . . . Dave was too surprised to reply. . . . on the court their team play is exceptional, each feeding the other if he thinks a better shot will result.

A foot soldier in the Mediterranean area, Wendell Hill, Iowa graduate of 1942 who pitched low-hit baseball games and was one of the cleverest ball-handling forwards ever developed here, writes that news of Hawkeye sports is eagerly awaited.

son, the Hawketts will probably have a tough time with Davenport here next week.

when a prima donna became a screen star. The typographical error made the heading read: "Screen Star Was Once Singer." Less tragic, perhaps, but more embarrassing was the effect caused by a reporter who had been assigned to cover the outdoor portion of a fashionable church wedding. He described the throng of guests who had gathered to catch a glimpse of the bride as they emerged from the church to enter a waiting car. He recorded the results in the following words: "The comely bride was quickly swept from sight by the eager groom." But the merciless type set it thus: "The homely bride was quickly swept from sight by the eager groom."

To enter a conversation about operations, here is one you might use—as was found in the columns of an Oklahoma paper. "Mr. Blank, who was operated on for appendicitis," read an item in the paper, "is rapidly recovering. His many friends hope to see him cut again soon." The same paper later intended to state that the windows on a certain street in the town needed washing, and the "n" was omitted in "windows."

Commenting on the ability of a lady principal of a girls' school, a writer used this statement, "The reputation for teaching which she bears..." But the horrid typesetter omitted the word "which." A printer was responsible for a curious error on a ribbon for a wreath to mourn the death of a friend. "Please print 'Rest in Peace' on both sides," was the order to the printer. The ribbon, when finished, bore the inscription: "Rest in Peace on Both Sides."—Y. C.

later Metro called again. They needed a Russian type for a bit—$50 a day. He took it. Vidor and others seemed enchanted, built up his part. He earned $300. "But I was still hurt about the other role—until they told me it had been cut from the picture." On his $300 he went back to New York, visiting old friends who had told him he was a fool to try Hollywood. "Comrade X" made him a success. When he played the irascible mechanic in "Hold Back the Dawn" Paramount gave him a contract, and then he turned in a notable performance as Gypsy in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." "I haven't worked since the Bell, but maybe they're waiting for another gypsy role," he philosophizes.

Navy Funeral Rites for Capt. David Hanrahan Will Be Held Tomorrow in Iowa Fieldhouse

President Hancher, Air Commandant Pay Public Tribute

Navy funeral rites will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Iowa fieldhouse for Capt. David C. Hanrahan, commanding officer of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school, who died Thursday afternoon in University hospital. Funeral services will be open to the public.

Captain Hanrahan, whose death ended a 32-year navy career, was commended by Capt. Dixie Keifer, acting commandant of the naval air primary training command in Kansas City, Kan., as "an outstanding naval officer," Captain Keifer cited Captain Hanrahan's command of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school as an exceptional service.

A pioneer in many navy fields, Captain Hanrahan commanded a unit of the naval air corps in the infancy of that division of the navy, during World War I. His work with the northern naval air bombing group in France earned him the Distinguished Service medal.

In commissioning the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school as the first training institution of its kind, Captain Hanrahan opened another new phase in naval aviation, the physical hardening and conditioning of future pilots.

In the two years of his command here, Captain Hanrahan became well-known, not only on the naval base, but in university and city circles. President Virgil M. Hancher said yesterday of his death:

"The university community has been shocked by the sudden illness and tragic death of Captain Hanrahan. Coming less than two years ago to a community far from the sea, and unaccustomed to its ways, he first gained the respect of the community, then its admiration and then its affection as a gallant officer and gentleman. Leaving behind the dignity and ease of retirement, he returned gladly to the rigors of active duty in the service of his country.

"The recollection of his example will be an inspiration to the men under his command and to all who had an opportunity to know him."

President Hancher's tribute expresses well the feeling held toward Captain Hanrahan at the naval base. Known affectionately there as "the skipper," he was the personification of naval tradition. His stern but fair discipline earned for him the respect and admiration of officers, cadets and enlisted men stationed at the base, and his habit of roaming the base instead of directing its activities from behind his desk made him familiar with every detail of the station and well acquainted with the personnel.

The strict order maintained by Captain Hanrahan was relieved somewhat by his affection for "Blackbottom," the black mongrel dog who became the station mascot.

"Blackbottom's" antics often made the rigorous commands issued by the captain in inspection a subject of second interest to the men. "Blackbottom" once was the subject of an executive order banning other dogs from the base.

The pre-flight school's football team, the "Seahawks," constituted another special interest of the captain. He attended every football practice that was held last fall, and accompanied the team on most of its trips. At the close of the season he was chosen by the members of the team as "the admiral of the Seahawk task force."

Surviving relatives of Captain Hanrahan attending the funeral will be his wife, Mrs. Mary Hanrahan, of Iowa City and New York, and his brother, Dan Hanrahan, of Portland, Ore. Burial will be in New York City, where Captain and Mrs. Hanrahan maintained their home.

Boy Scout Council To Meet Tomorrow

The Iowa River Valley Boy Scout council will hold its annual meeting in the Hotel Jefferson dining room, tomorrow evening at 6:30, Charles Beckman, president of the local group, announced.

Guest speaker is Lieut. Comdr. R. M. Schwyhart, chaplain of the Navy Pre-Flight school. The program includes the annual report by Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel, the report of the nominating committee, election of officers and presentation of the 1944 program.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 all men in scouting activities will assemble at Girl Scout headquarters, 119 1/2 E. College street, for the opening of the planning meeting. Immediately afterwards the six committees will meet separately in Girl and Boy Scout headquarters to determine 1944 activities.

Committee chairmen are as follows: camping and activities, Steve Brody; advancement, Mayor Wilber J. Teeters; organization and extension, E. J. Hessel-schwerdt; health and safety, Charles Beckman; leadership training, Kurt Lewin, and finance, Albert Sidwell.

The nominating committee includes Elmer W. Hills, chairman; Mayor Teeters and Edward S. Rose, all of Iowa City; Henry Witte of Williamsburg; Peter Stuck of Amana; E. J. Hessel-schwerdt of Kalona, and Fred Downing of Washington.

Superintendent Gives Registration Schedule

A registration plan for kindergarten pupils beginning work Monday was announced yesterday by Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of Iowa City schools.

Children entering kindergarten for the first time will go to school to register as follows: Horace Mann and Henry Sabin, before 9 o'clock Monday morning, and Kirkwood, Roosevelt and Long-fellow, before 1:20 Monday afternoon.

Objectors to Take Tests

Ten conscientious objectors left for the induction center to take final examinations yesterday, according to Walter E. Shoquist of the selective service office.

Awarded Air Medal

Lieut. Ward S. Williams Jr.

For meritorious achievement while participating in aerial photographic flights over enemy territory in the Solomons, a former university student, First Lieut. Ward S. Williams Jr., was recently awarded the air medal. Now stationed in the south Pacific, the pilot was commended on his more than 25 combat photographic and reconnaissance missions, totalling over two hundred hours. Several of the flights were over two-thousand miles in length and made in the face of hazardous weather conditions, anti-aircraft fire, and occasional aerial opposition. His wife and parents reside in Waterloo.

Capt. Bill Hills, graduate in electrical engineering of the University of Iowa in 1941, is now in the ordnance section of the army in Egypt. He has just returned there from a month's assignment in Persia, where he spent Christmas. His first six months in the middle east were spent in Palestine.

Recently transferred to the army air base at Sioux City was Staff Sgt. John P. Red, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Red, 503 S. Capitol street. He was formerly stationed at Boise, Idaho, where he was a combination radioman and gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber. He is now flying with B-17 Flying Fortresses. A graduate of City high school, he has been in the air corps for 20 months.

His brother, James Red Jr., is a hospital apprentice second class in the navy. He is stationed at Farragut, Idaho, where he is working as a dental technician. A graduate of City high school, he has been in the navy since last spring.

Christian Education Convention to Meet

"Resources for Critical Days" will be the theme of the county church school convention of Christian education to be held at the Baptist church at 9:45 a. m. Thursday. Registration is under the direction of the Rev. Norman Hobbs, county secretary.

Deviations will be led by the Rev. Raymond Ludwignon of the First Christian church with the Rev. R. M. Hudson, county president, presiding. Reports will be given by church schools in the county about the most successful project during 1943.

A panel discussion, "Resource of Togetherness," will be presented at 10:20 a. m. The Rev. Mr. Hobbs will speak at 11:25 on "The Eternal in a Changing Pattern," after which the Rev. James E. Waery of the First Congregational church will conduct a worship service.

Luncheon and a fellowship hour will be succeeded by an election of officers. "Resources for Leadership Training," and "The New Approach," are the afternoon topics of discussion by the state worker. Group conferences will be led by Mrs. Delbert Miller and the Rev. M. Brent of North Liberty and Marcus Bach of the university school of religion.

War Chest 60 Firms Contribute At Year's End

A total of $44,285 in the War Chest campaign fund put Johnson county over the top, according to George W. Davis, city chairman, and E. F. Lenthe, rural chairman.

The county war chest campaign began Oct. 4, and although the fund was short at the end of 1943, contributions from more than 60 business firms in Iowa City brought the fund above its quota.

The war chest receives $25,483 from the fund, and the Iowa City community chest gets $17,947. The remaining $855 will be applied to next year's war chest campaign fund.

Solon Woman Kills Self With Revolver

Mrs. Sarah Jane Altman, 74, of Solon shot and killed herself with a .38 caliber revolver about 10:50 yesterday morning, according to Deputy Sheriff Albert Murphy.

Although she seemed to be in a good humor yesterday morning, it is thought her action was prompted by despondency. She killed herself when her son, Albert, who lived with his parents, was out of the house at the mailbox.

Her husband, Thomas, 77, who is in University hospital recovering from an operation, was to have been taken home yesterday.

Besides her husband and her son, Albert, Mrs. Altman is survived by another son, Reuben, stationed with the army in California, and two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Fuhrmeister of Ely and Mrs. Maylon Scharf of Solon.

Iowa Business Shows Comparative Increase

Iowa business for the period of January to November, 1943, has shown an increase as compared with the same span of months in 1942, according to the university business research bureau.

Among the increases are: industrial payrolls, 22 percent; life insurance sales, 20 percent; bank deposits, 17 percent; farm products prices, 13 percent, and employment, 6 percent. Building contracts were down 45 percent.

Opinion On and Off Campus

QUESTION: WILL RELIGIOUS ENTHUSIASM REMAIN DOMINANT IN THE POST-WAR PERIOD?

Alec Erdman of New York, stationed with the A. S. T. P.: "It depends on the economic and social structure of the post-war world. If desolation, misery and famine exist and people need spiritual assurance, the trend will be toward a greater enthusiasm for, and participation in, religion. On the other hand, it might have a contrary result. The non-satisfaction of spiritual assurance may tend to drive persons towards atheism."

Dr. L. L. Dunnington, minister: "That depends upon the conditions in the post-war period. In times of prosperity, people tend to forget God, while in times of calamity, they turn to Him. If after this war we go into a boom period, we will tend to turn away from God. If there is a depression, we will turn toward Him."

Bette Hill, AI of Clarion: "Yes, because the enthusiasm for religion, so deeply imbedded in the minds of the people during this period of turmoil, cannot be easily erased."

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion: "I question the prevalence of any great religious action at the present time except with a comparatively small percentage of people. However, I believe what exists today will remain so after the war."

Doris Jackson, AI of Cedar Rapids: "No. We can turn to history and see that in times of stress, people turn to religion. When the crisis has passed, the need is no longer felt for a spiritual uplift, and they fall back into their former attitude of indifference."

Allen McQuery, AI of Des Moines: "Yes, it will grow even greater because man is realizing through a process that has gone on for centuries in the past that the solution to the problem rests only in a more sincere and better understanding of his fellow men. His knowledge of the teachings of Jesus and religion in general will act as a source of information on which to base his understanding of mankind."

Christmas Seal Sales For County Increased 59 Percent in 1943

Iowa City residents purchased $4,647 worth of Christmas seals in 1943 for the National Tuberculosis association. With an increase of 59 percent over the 1942 sales, Iowa City is second only to Council Bluffs, which had a 60 percent increase in the class of cities of more than 10,000 population.

Iowa attained the eighth largest percentage gain in the nationwide drive, with a 36.4 percent increase over the 1942 sale. Total of Iowa sales was $105,973, compared to $82,733 in 1942.

Harold Schuppert served as Iowa City Christmas seal chairman.

The refusal of the United States to join the league of nations will be discussed.

Participants will be Pvt. Edward Crooker, Pvt. John Miller, Pvt. Joseph Neal, Pvt. John Stokes and Pvt. Alfred Solvie, all students in Pre-Meteorology-C.

The program was designed to let student soldiers express their opinion and the knowledge received while in training. The main purpose is to give the students an opportunity to show what they learn in an army course entitled Humanities, a combination of English, speech and history.

Five Fire Alarms Given in 7 Hours

Iowa City firemen answered five calls in seven hours yesterday afternoon.

The first, a grass fire in an empty lot at 4th and H streets, did little damage.

A basement fire caused by an oil furnace was the cause of the 3:10 alarm at the Mercer Printing company, 431 S. Capitol street. Damage was slight.

Another grass fire at the Joe Eisenhofer home, 419 S. Governor street, called the firemen out at 3:15.

At 6:40 last night, the department was called to the 100 block on North Clinton street to put out a motor fire in Catherine Wallen's car.

To wind up the day, firemen extinguished a chimney blaze at the Mary Showers home, 423 S. Dubuque street, shortly after 8:30.

Display Your Colors

Every patriotic home in America will want to put up this emblem!

This emblem is a symbol of your patriotism. It tells the world that you have done your full share in the 4th War Loan. Every true American will be proud to display it at home.

Our valiant fighting men . . . soldiers, sailors and marines . . . on every far-flung battlefield are on the attack . . . forging ahead steadily, relentlessly. Nothing on earth can stop them . . . IF WE BACK THEM UP!

Backing them up means throwing every dollar we can possibly spare into the fight RIGHT NOW . . . even if it takes sacrifice on our part.

That's the purpose of this 4th War Loan Drive.

To earn the right to display the 4th War Loan Emblem you must invest in at least one EXTRA hundred dollar Bond (at a cost of only $75) . . . over and above your regular War Bond subscription. But don't stop with ONE! Invest in all the extra Bonds you think that you can afford . . . then invest in some more!

Remember, every dollar you put into War Bonds does double duty. It helps to win the war . . . and at the same time it insures your own financial security.

Here, too, is a chance to help your company meet its quota in this 4th War Loan.

Maybe this will mean sacrifice on your part. Maybe it will mean doing without something you want. But don't forget . . . while you are only LENDING a few spare dollars . . . thousands of our gallant fighting men are GIVING their lives FOR YOU! Show that you're backing them up 100%. Invest in EXTRA War Bonds to the limit of your ability. And display the 4th War Loan Emblem at home!
