

The Germ of Inflation

There has never been any argument about the fairness of rationing supplies so that all persons might get a share of scarce commodities. But no one has yet figured out how price ceilings, which discourage production, will increase supplies of scarce commodities.

About the Weather

Weather is funny stuff. Somebody (it wasn't Mark Twain, but who was it?) said everybody talks about it but nobody does anything about it.

DOCTOR'S GIFT TO UNIVERSITY

A CARVED FLOWER BOX of white Carrara marble has been presented to the university by Dr. James K. Sutherland, a graduate of the college of medicine, in memory of Dr. Zella White Stewart. Prof. Earl E. Harper, chairman of the university committee on acceptance of art objects, and committee members Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college and Prof. Everett W. Hall, head of the philosophy department, in voting to accept this gift, felt that the university was obtaining a valuable and beautiful art object.

The flower box, which weighs 830 pounds, is carved of a solid slab of marble, with figures on all four sides, and is supported by two heavy, carved pedestals.

"Zella White Stewart, M.D., 1878-1943. Her inspiring helpfulness and zeal for opportunity for deserving young men and women" is the inscription which Dr. Sutherland had placed upon the memorial plaque. Dr. Stewart was the wife of Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department.

The flower box will be placed in the women's lounge of Iowa Union and its permanent location will be decided upon later.

Student Nurses Will Present 'Cap's Caprice' Dance Tonight

"Cap's Caprice," the annual dance presented by the student nurses of the university, will be held this evening from 8:30 until 11:30 in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The Seahawks, navy Pre-Flight school dance band, will play for the affair.

The back-drop for the dance will be a silver replica of the tower of University hospital on a black background. The name of the dance will be lettered in black across the tower. Spotlights will accent the whole backdrop.

Chairman of the committee in charge of the dance is Lorraine Bell, N3 of Maywood, Ill. She will wear a blue net drop-shoulder gown trimmed with silver sequins. Her accessories are white. Miss Bell will be escorted by Cadet D. W. Conner.

Net and Lace Formal

Prof. Sybil Woodruff Discusses Problem Of Post-War Food

"The problems of persuading peoples in various parts of the world to adopt new modes of eating and better policies of food production will fall to education in the years of post-war adjustment," according to Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the home economics department.

Since food problems are worldwide in scope, Professor Woodruff believes that every citizen must understand them on this scale just as he must understand political aspects of peace settlements on a global basis.

Citing the three major problems of this educational plan, Professor Woodruff said that the United States, Canada and Argentina will have to carry about one-half the load of food relief to stricken countries.

She continued that certain nations must be made to buy their grains from those in which surpluses exist, thus freeing their own lands for the production of other needed foods, such as fruits, poultry and dairy products.

People must be diverted from one-sided habits of eating, and better nutrition education for the masses of people must be encouraged, according to Professor Woodruff.

"Countries producing only one crop often subsist on that crop alone and beri-beri and pellagra are good examples of the evils of the one-crop plan," she said.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

Keeping the family silver shining reflects the charm of an age-old tradition, and it's easy to do if you take advantage of modern methods.

The silverware you use regularly should be kept free of tarnish from day to day instead of waiting until many pieces need attention. If times of forks and bowls of spoons begin to show tarnish, clean them while you do your dishes.

Care for Silver

Don't let extra silver become dark with tarnish. Paper or cloth that is tarnish-resistant or a chest with a treated lining will keep your silver clean and bright, and it will be convenient to use when you need it in a hurry. Candlesticks, vases and trays can be protected with a bottled colorless liquid which must be applied each time the silver is washed. Such treatment will delay tarnishing for several weeks.

When applying silver polish, use a clean, soft cloth, preferably flannel. Rub silver lengthwise rather than crosswise, and never with a circular motion. On ornamented designs use a small brush to get at parts the polishing cloth cannot reach. Rinse silver in hot, soapy water and polish dry.

When you have lots of silver to clean and little time, try the electrolytic way. Use a large aluminum pan, enough water to cover every piece of silver, one teaspoonful of salt and one of baking soda to every quart of water. Put the pan on the stove and keep the water at the boiling point. Tarnish will disappear almost instantly when the pieces go into the water. Take them out, wash and dry. Do not use this method on oxidized or French-gray finish, or for candlesticks or other utensils that might be damaged by being immersed in water.

Polishing Removes Scratches

Don't be alarmed if the first time you polish your silver minute scratches appear. In time, polishing will impart the soft luster associated with old and cherished silver.

Handle your fine silver gently. When you wash and store silver, handle it separately, not with kitchen utensils. Similar pieces should always be arranged in piles in a chest or drawer.

There is no rainy season in Puerto Rico.

Company G To Give Dance In Elks Club

"The Slide Rule Stomp," quarterly dance of company G, A. S. T. P. advanced engineers' unit, will be held tonight from 7:30 until 11:30 in the Elks club. Music will be furnished by Paul Arthur and his Count 11 band.

Hawkeyes Meet Indiana Cagers Tonight

Audacious Hawkeyes Favorites To Win Over Indiana Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—For the first time in years, the Iowa Hawkeyes will be favored to beat Indiana when they open a two-game Big Ten series at the Hoosiers' home tonight under pressure of protecting one of the few perfect basketball records in the nation.

Seeking their 10th consecutive win of the season and their fifth in conference competition, Coach "Pops" Harrison's audacious youngsters are determined to continue their victory march which may bring Iowa its first share of a Big Ten championship since it was in on a four-way split for the crown in 1926.

Iowa, with such a small turnout of lads at the start of the season it was hard to hold scrimmage sessions, is geared to a pair of freshman forwards, Dave Danner and Dick Ives. They have donated 64 and 50 points, respectively, in four conference games and have a chance to better the all-time Big Ten scoring marks for Iowans—Tommy Chapman's 187 points in 15 games two years ago, and Ben Trickey's 161 in 12 games last season.

Hawkeyes have been tabbed as favorites on their strong showing against Illinois last week but Coach "Pops" Harrison has warned the players that any lapses from normal form would give the Hoosiers their upset chance.

In beating Minnesota and Illinois twice, Iowa averaged 45 3/4 points to opponents' 39 1/2. Indiana, on the other hand, lost its three conference games to Purdue and Ohio State, and has an average of 42 1/3 points to rivals' 69 1/3. Teams, however, have not met any mutual opponents.

The starting lineup of Dick Ives and Dave Danner, forwards and high scorers; Lloyd Herwig, center; and Ned Postels and Jack Spencer, guards, is in top shape. Workouts this week have stressed offense, especially fast cut-ins, and the team has clicked on shooting in startling style.

Indiana, with an all-freshman team, averages one inch per man shorter than the Hawkeyes and have had difficulty in keeping pace with fast-breaking attacks.

Iowa's next three starts, twice against Indiana, which has dropped all three of its Big Ten games thus far, and against Chicago, should be fairly easy tasks. But in their last five league games, the Hawks must face such contenders as Ohio State, Purdue and Northwestern. However, Northwestern may lose four starters—John Ward, George Felt, Jerry Carle and Ronnie Schumacher—in a shift of the school's marine training unit before March 1, just before meeting Iowa on March 3 and 4.

Also opening a two-game stand tonight will be Ohio State at Michigan. The Buckeyes, with three victories in four Big Ten games, will exhibit the most sensational scorer in the conference, Don Grate, who is averaging better than 21 points a game. Michigan, with only one win in six attempts, can counter with Tom King and Dave Strack, who have contributed 7 points apiece.

Saturday night, Purdue, unbeaten in six straight Big Ten games, meets powerful DePaul and Northwestern faces the Iowa Seahawks in a double bill at Chicago stadium. Iowa remains at Indiana and Ohio State at Michigan and Lawrence college invades nesota, Marquette meets Notre Dame at Milwaukee, Western Michigan travels to Central Michigan and Lawrence college invades Camp Grant.

Irish, Ramblers Will Meet Tonight For Annual Conflict

Heading this week's encounters of high school basketball games in Iowa City is the annual clash between St. Mary's Ramblers and the Irish of St. Patrick's, which is scheduled to start tonight at 8 o'clock on St. Patrick's floor.

The Irish will go into the game tonight with a slightly better season's record than St. Mary's, having rung up a total of 7 victories against two defeats. The Ramblers have broken even in their 12 contests this year, winning six and losing six.

This will be the 45th meeting of the two teams since their rivalry started in 1917. Each school has won 22 contests, but the Ramblers have dominated the series since 1935 with 14 straight victories over the Irish.

In games played this year with common rivals, St. Patrick's has the best record. The St. Marians were easily defeated by the immaculate Conception team of Cedar Rapids early this season while the Irish defeated the Parlor City five last week 26-25.

Sharon was overcome by St. Pat's but they defeated the Ramblers twice, and while St. Mary's won a close one from Oxford, the Irish had little trouble in defeating the same team.

The Kritt men have a decided height advantage, but as has been the case in past years, advantages and disadvantages have been cast aside to make the contests anybody's ball game.

Coach Francis Sueppel of St. Mary's will start Ed Colbert and Tom Stable at forwards, John O'Brien at center and John Lenoch at one guard position, with either Jack Shrader or Diehl taking over the other.

In the starting lineup for St. Patrick's, Coach Kritt plans to start Capt. Phil McLaughlin and Jim Hogan at the forward positions, Bob Connell at the pivot post and Jim Montgomery and Don Gatens at the guard spots. Gene Herdliska and Richard Michels will probably also see plenty of action.

'Swede' Hagberg New Navy Football Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—"Swede" Hagberg became yesterday the new Navy football coach in everything but official name, and thus the man expected to guide a 1944 midshipmen squad already called potentially one of the greatest in academy history.

The academy superintendent's office announced only that Comdr. Oscar Emil Hagberg of Pollansbee, W. Va., had been ordered to report at Annapolis for duty, assignment to follow. Those familiar with navy routine immediately asserted there was nothing more to it but writing out the assignment form.

The former sailor varsity full-back and end, lately a submarine commander in the Pacific, served as end coach for Navy in 1933 and 1934, then again in 1939 under Emory E. "Swede" Larson.

Hagberg is expected to have the makings of a mighty fine football team. The 1943 squad, beaten only by Notre Dame, was so described by Capt. John E. Whelchel, whom Hagberg succeeds.

Wisconsin, Minnesota Matmen to Grapple

MADISON, Wis. (Special)—The University of Wisconsin's inexperienced but willing wrestling team will meet the University of Minnesota's matmen at Minneapolis Saturday in the first of two home-and-home matches scheduled between the two teams for this season.

Coach Frank Jordan's Badger wrestlers lost their first match of the year to the powerful Iowa Seahawk grapplers, 27-3. With only two veterans from last year's squad available this season, Coach Jordan has a young, green squad which is showing some promise of developing into a stronger outfit as the season advances.

JUMPS INTO SPOTLIGHT - - By Sords

The Athlete and War

At the beginning of the war, when the question was raised whether or not college athletics should be continued, there were some who thought that, if a boy played football or basketball on a university or college team, somehow or other he was evading military service. Today, it has been established that the draft boards make the decisions, and the college boys, as well as others, follow the instructions of the war manpower commission as enforced by the local draft boards.

You may recall that, last fall, we reported that there were 504 men on the commonly designated A squads in the pine conference universities sponsoring football. Of this number 236 were men of the navy who had been sent to the different institutions for special instruction. For the most part, these were V-12 men. These men were given an hour of free time every afternoon. That meant they could engage in athletics, read, rest, or spend this time as they saw fit. These 236 men chose to play football.

There were also 268 civilians, all of whom were subject to the draft with the exception of those under 18 years of age. Some had been rejected by the draft boards for one reason or another and a few were deferred so that they might continue certain courses of study prescribed by the army or navy.

The army did not permit its A-12 men to practice or play football, basketball, tennis or any of the other intercollegiate sports with varsity teams. Practically no other restriction was placed upon these men in their hour-a-day free time. Someone in the army was responsible for forbidding our young men in the army who had been sent to the colleges under the ASTP program to toughen themselves by participating in the varsity sports.

The same participation conditions exist in the various schools of the Western Intercollegiate conference as regards basketball. A service-status study conducted in this office regarding members of the basketball squads shows that 206 men are playing basketball in the ten universities. Eighty-two of this number are navy and marine trainees; 13 have been deferred for special training in medicine, dentistry and engineering; 59 are under 18 or have just registered and not yet called to service; of the other 52 all are registered, some recently have been called for physicals, some have been rejected and some are waiting to be called.

Since the basketball season began, several navy men who started the season have been transferred, and some civilian players have received their orders to report at different times between now and March 1.

In the past week's play, four teams did not meet conference opponents, Wisconsin, Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota. By the change in the schedule of the Chicago-Ohio game from Jan. 21 to Jan. 24, Ohio will play three conference games this week.

Comdr. Gene Tunney Says American Youth Is 'Secret Weapon'

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Comdr. Gene Tunney, in charge of the Navy's physical fitness program, declared yesterday, "American youth is our secret weapon."

Back from a more than six months' tour of the south Pacific battle fronts, he presented an optimistic picture of the morale and the physical trim of service men during an official press conference. Tunney told of a 22-year-old marine who was recovering in a base hospital on Guadalcanal after a harrowing experience on Bougainville.

The doctor told me that any one of the first five wounds suffered by this boy would have been fatal to the average person. Tunney declared, "He had a bullet in his brain and bayonet wounds in his throat, lung, wrist and two in his abdomen. In spite of this and the loss of blood he crawled 300 yards before he was picked up by our side. He was given emergency treatment, flown to Guadalcanal, survived pneumonia and when I talked with him he was recovering and chafing to get back into the fight."

"He is a big, husky lad who could be a heavyweight boxing contender. For the time being he must remain anonymous." He said he thought it unnecessary to try to instill "killer instincts" in the fighting men. "War psychology takes care of that. When the boys get to the front and see what has been done to their comrades they fall into character immediately. American youth is simply magnificent."

SUI Swimming Team to Meet Meteorologists

Free Admission To 7:30 Show Saturday in Fieldhouse

First competition of the season will be given to the University of Iowa swimming team when it meets the Army Air Force Meteorologists in the field house pool Saturday at 7:30 p. m. Admission is free.

Eight men have been entered in the meet by Coach David Armbruster of Iowa and Lt. Frank Havlicek of the meteorologists. Because this is the first meet and men are not in top condition, coaches have agreed to stage the races over the high school distances, shorter than the regular intercollegiate races. The races will occur over the width of the pool.

This means that the breast stroke will be 100 instead of 200 yards and the back stroke 100 yards instead of 150. The medley relay will be 180 and the free style relay 160, in place of 300 and 400 yards, respectively. The short dash will be over the 40-yard route.

Hawkeyes entered are Walters, Meis, Norman, Thompson, Rigler, Gottsch, Thomas and Syverud. Meteorologists are J. Miller, Miller, Hiebee, Peterson, Greenberg, Maters, Dunnington, and Eskew.

Only varsity award winners of last season still on the Iowa squad are Hubert Norman, entered in four events; and Lee Meis, sprinter.

City High Five Meets Davenport Blue Devils Tonight

Coach Fran Merten's shattered City High Five will clash with the league leading Davenport Blue Devils tonight at 8:15 on the local court, in what should be an easy game for the power-packed Blue Devils.

Breaking into the lineup as a forward will be Bob Freeman, a player from the sophomore team who was advanced to the varsity this week. He will replace Gene Matthes, regular forward, who is once again fighting sickness.

This will be the first test for Merten's newly organized varsity, and it promises to be a tough one. With Mellicker, Hein and Farnsworth ineligible for the rest of the season, Merten has had to re-emp his team almost completely.

The Little Hawks, who lost to Davenport to the tune of 52-24 in the teams' first encounter, will have to show plenty of stuff in order to take the Blue Devils into camp.

Starting as forwards tonight for the Hawkelets will be Bob Freeman and Wayne Lacinia, Lacinia being a regular who has had bad luck with ill health all season. Freeman will be playing his first game in varsity competition tonight, as he gets a starting position with the most of cadet power, will face a newly organized Ottumwa naval training team in the fieldhouse at 8 o'clock tonight.

The cadets boast a former boxing star in their lineup in Cadet Charley Hays. Charley has fought both amateur and professional and once lost a close decision to Jake Lamotta, worthy contender for the middleweight crown. Hays fights in the 175-pound class, and has won 103 of his last 106 fights.

The Seahawk coach expects a tough game, as the Wildcats are now tied for first place honors with Purdue and Iowa for the Big Ten title. According to size, the Cats are a bigger team than the Seahawks, which will give the pre-flighters considerable trouble.

The "Gold Braids" of the pre-flight basketball team will try for their third win of the season Saturday night when they face a strong quintet at Omaha.

Lieut. Ed Hickey, former Creighton university coach, and officer coach until a few days ago, will be in Omaha for the tussle. The officers will play the game, honoring their former coach, and the money received at the gate will be used for navy relief.

Sammy Angott Meets Beau Jack Tonight For Non-Title Bout

NEW YORK, (AP)—Swarmin' Sammy Angott and Bouncing Beau Jack entertain the folks in Madison Square Garden tonight with two shows for the price of one—a ten-round break-busting scramble and an exhibition of magic like the like of which has rarely been seen before.

With nothing up their sleeves, mind you, they're going to bring two world lightweight championships into the ring with them at 9 p. m. (CWT) and before the very eyes of the 16,000 or more customers expected to chip in to a $65,000 gate, they will make both baubles disappear.

It is easy to understand that this trick is the high in mystic maneuvers but all Swarmin' Sammy and the Jumping Jack had to do to perform this neat little trick was to make their tussle a non-title affair.

The Bouncing Beau is recognized as head man of the 135 pounders in New York and Pennsylvania. Swarmin' Sammy has the national boxing association blessing as boss. Although it would have been about as easy as buttoning your vest to straighten the matter out by making today's party a title fight, that's not the way the lightweight pretzel has been twisted down through the years.

Although Angott hasn't been beaten since he started his comeback from his "temporary permanent" retirement last spring, while the Jumping Jack has been as in-and-out as the cuckoo in the clock in recent outings, the gambling gentlemen have installed the little Georgia Negro as a 5 to 7 favorite over Sammy for this waltz.

This corner tabs Angott to gallop home on his "ring savvy" alone. The New York commission, which sanctioned this one as a non-title tilt, is going to try to take steps to straighten the thing out after tonight's weigh-in by calling the managers of both brawlers, along with Frankie Thomas, pilot of Bob Montgomery, into a huddle.

Hawkelets. In recent sophomore games Freeman has proved to be a scoring sensation, garnering over 20 points for himself in each of the last two games.

Whether Freeman will stand up under varsity competition is not sure, but his record as a sophomore player is certainly worth giving him a try. Willie Orr, another comparatively new man in the lineup, will start at the center position left vacant by Mellicker.

At the guard positions Merten will start Don Trumpp, a steady player all year, and Dick Kallous, a hard playing guard who has looked very good in recent games. Davenport, which has not lost a conference game all season, will be as usual place a powerhouse team on the floor. Schultz, leading scorer for the Blue Devils, and Paulsen, Davenport's big center, will both provide plenty of trouble for the Little Hawks.

Both Schultz and Paulsen rank high on the list for individual honors in the league race. Other starters the Hawkelets will have to watch are McTaggart and Burda, who themselves can do plenty of scoring.

Schedule State Cage Tourney In Fieldhouse

March 24 and 25 are the dates set for the boys' state basketball tournament, which will be held in the Iowa fieldhouse in Iowa City, it was announced yesterday by the Iowa High School athletic association.

Because of cramped quarters and military personnel, the tournament will not be held in the Drake fieldhouse. The association announced that the tournament will in no way affect the training of the pre-flight school cadets, and that 8,000 seats will be available to high school fans.

The finals will be the same as last year, with the four final teams battling it out Saturday night for the championship and consolation prizes.

From March 1 to 4, the 64 sectional tournaments will be played off, with schools having less than 100 students, playing in the class B competition. Following the sectional meets, the class A and B schools will clash in the 8 district tournaments, to decide the teams worthy of going to the State tournament. Teams will play only teams of their class.

The teams winning out in the district, will then advance to the sub-state, March 16, 17, and 18, where the teams will lose their class rating, and play any team in the group.

Meet Will Not Affect Navy Training Program

IOWA CITY — When the state high school basketball championship final tournament is held in the University of Iowa fieldhouse March 24 and 25, it will mark the fifth time in the 18-year history of the huge structure that the preps have battled for the title on its court.

The finals last were held here in 1940 when Mason City defeated Ames in the final game. Other tournaments under the auspices of the Iowa High School Athletic association occurred in 1927, with Muscatine as champion; 1928, Ottumwa, and 1929, Davenport.

A fieldhouse capacity crowd of 13,000 watched the final game of the 1940 tournament. For the 1944 affair, about 9,500 seats will be available, the smaller total being due to inability to install all temporary bleachers formerly used, according to Charles Gailher, business manager of athletics.

Under current plans of the IHSA, the field of contenders will be reduced by elimination tournaments to four quintets for the final meet. Two semi-final games will be played Friday evening, March 24, and the championship final and the game for third place will be held Saturday evening, March 25.

Sports Trail . . .

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK (AP)—The announcer introduced "Willie Hoppe, the champion of champions, and Welker Cochran, an outstanding billiard artist," and you realized what the fellow meant when he wrote "me and my shadow."

It's one of those little gags you run into every now and then in sports, where one guy can hit a ball just as far as another, or call hogs just as loud, or tie his shoelaces just as tight, yet the other guy gets all the headlines and the publicity pats on the back.

Ruth had it over Gehrig, you remember. But the shadow the Babe threw over Lou was only the kind you cast on a rainy day compared to the headlines Hoppe has grabbed over Cochran in the 30 years the two boys wondrous of 47 and 56 have been tangling on that green felt in sports' most ancient rivalry.

The next time your'e leaning against the mahogany dipping into an ice cream soda, for instance, just turn to the fellow on your right and mention billiards. It's 1 to 50 he'll say, "Yeah, that Hoppe guy is hot."

Yet, ever since he first rode the calaboose of a cattle train out of Manson, Iowa, and started doing tricks with a cue, Welker has done just about everything Willie has—and a few stunts Hoppe couldn't match. Cochran holds more world billiard records than Hoppe ever hopes to. He captured the world three-cushion championship three times over one 15-year period, while Willie was trying—and missing. Yet, Willie is the fair-haired boy—and Welker can't figure out when you went up to him and said you'd like to chin a while to get a story, he directed you over to Willie.

"You don't want me," he insisted. "There's your man over there. That's Hoppe."

It has been 30 years since they first met, and they've been close pals ever since. That is, they're chums until the lights go on over that green felt and the shooting starts. Then it's every man for himself.

Welker has been a billiard expert so long he thinks he may have used a cue ball for a teething ring. He tells you about his kid days in school, when a Chicago paper gave him a big publicity spread.

His school teacher didn't like the idea much and used to ask him all the tough questions. When he couldn't answer them, he was sent to the principal for a bawling out. Only the teacher didn't know the principal was a "billiard nut." So instead of being chastised, Welker sat for an hour diagramming angle shots for him. "Nice work if you can get it," Cochran recalls.

Under current plans of the IHSA, the field of contenders will be reduced by elimination tournaments to four quintets for the final meet. Two semi-final games will be played Friday evening, March 24, and the championship final and the game for third place will be held Saturday evening, March 25.

Military Convocation Will Be Tomorrow Morning in Union

Plans are under way for the detachment of some members of the group of graduating army specialized training men from the army base here. Five hundred fifty-six A. S. T. P. trainees will be graduated tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the all-military convocation to be held in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Members of A. S. T. P. companies A, B, F and G will receive certificates indicating that they have completed their work here. Arrangements concerning the transferring of these men are as yet uncertain, army authorities said yesterday.

Furlough plans are especially indefinite, and it was announced that those who are being transferred from Iowa City will probably not obtain furlough from the headquarters here, but that those who will be reassigned here after Feb. 7 will probably receive furloughs of one week.

The regular three-month period, after which furloughs are generally issued, will have been completed at the close of this month and these furloughs will be issued according to established plan.

The students of companies A and B, who have finished 36 weeks work in the basic phase of specialized training, and those of company G, the advanced engineers unit, who have been in post-graduate engineering work here for 12 weeks, will receive their certificates in the graduation ceremony tomorrow.

Also receiving certificates will be members of company F, who have had 24 weeks of training in personnel psychology. Members of company F were interviewed yesterday by a representative from the adjutant general's office in Washington, D. C., concerning the type of work for which they are best fitted.

The graduation address will be delivered by President Virgil M. Hancher. Col. Luke D. Zech, commandant of the A. S. T. P. unit, will preside at the ceremony. The convocation will be open to the public.

POSTPONED

Because of transportation difficulties, Else Margrete Roed, Norwegian journalist, who was scheduled to speak at Information First last night, was unable to deliver her lecture.

Instead the group listened to Marjorie Holbert, who told of her experience in France in 1940 when Paris was occupied.

Miss Roed appeared before the group briefly and told of the manner in which Norway is fighting her battle.

"We are fighting in Norway all of us, without weapons, without uniforms; our only weapon is spirit," she said.

"The Germans can occupy our country, steal our food, burn our homes, imprison us, kill our people, but they can never kill the Norwegian spirit."

This Norwegian struggle for spiritual freedom, she said, would be the subject of her lecture this afternoon at 4 o'clock, which will also be delivered under the auspices of the Information First program. The lecture will be in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

other times, we were forced to shuffle along very slowly. The muscles of my legs began to draw and each step was an agony.

"Filipino civilians tried to help both Filipino and American soldiers by tossing us food and cigarettes from windows or from behind houses. Those who were caught were beaten. The Japanese had food stores along the roadside. A United States army colonel pointed to some of the cans of salmon and asked for food for his men. A Japanese officer picked up a can and hit the colonel in the face with it, cutting his cheek wide open. Another colonel and a brave Filipino picked up three American soldiers who had collapsed before the Japs could get to them. They placed them on a cart and started down the road toward San Fernando. The Japanese seized them as well as the soldiers, who were in a coma, and horse-whipped them fiercely.

Thirst-Crazed

"Along the road in the province of Pampanga there are many wells. Half-crazed with thirst, six Filipino soldiers made a dash for one of the wells. All six were killed. As we passed Lubao we were marched by a Filipino soldier gutted and hanging over a barbed-wire fence. Late that night of the 14th we were jammed into another bull pen at San Fernando with again no room to lie down. During the night Japanese soldiers with fixed bayonets charged into the compound to terrorize the prisoners.

"Before daylight on April 15 we were marched out and 115 of us were packed into a small narrow-gauge box car. The doors were closed and locked. Movement was impossible. Many of the prisoners were suffering from diarrhea and dysentery. The heat and stench were unbearable. We all wondered if we would get out of the box car alive. At Capiz Tarlac we were taken out and given the sun treatment for three hours. Then we were marched to Camp O'Donnell, a prison camp under construction, surrounded with barbed wire and high towers, with separate inner compounds of wire. On this last leg of the journey the Japanese permitted the stronger to carry the weaker.

Black Market

Colonel Dyess' diet for the entire 361 days he was a prisoner of the Japanese, with the exception of some American and British Red Cross food he received, was a sort of watery juice with a little paste and rice. Some Japanese operated a black market and sold those prisoners who had money a small can of fish for five dollars.

After the prisoners had been at Camp O'Donnell for one week, the death rate among American soldiers was 20 a day, and among Filipino soldiers 150 a day. After two weeks the death rate had increased to 50 a day among Amerians and 500 a day among Filipinos. To find men strong enough to dig graves was a problem. Shallow trenches were dug to hold ten bodies each.

"The actual conditions I find impossible to describe," Colonel Dyess' statement reads. "It is impossible from a description to visualize how horrible they really were."

Prison 'Hospital'

One dilapidated building was set aside and called a hospital. Hundreds of men lay naked on the bare floor without covering of any kind. There was no medicine of any kind. The doctors had not even water to wash human waste from their patients. Some afflicted with dysentery remained out in the weather near the latrines until they died.

Men shrank from 200 pounds to 90. They had no buttocks. They were human skeletons.

"It was plain and simple starvation," Colonel Dyess' statement reads. "It was difficult to look at a man lying still and determine whether he was dead or alive."

The Japanese promised medicines, but never produced them. Once the Japanese allowed the Red Cross at Manila to bring in quinine. How much, the prisoners never found out. The Japanese did not issue enough to cure ten cases of malaria and there were thousands.

Stand in Sun

The sick as well as those merely starving were forced into labor details by the Japanese. Many times men did not return from work. By May 1, 1942, only about 20 out of every company of 200 were able to go on work details. Many died in the barracks overnight. Frequently, for no apparent reason, the prisoners were forced to line up and stand in the sun for hours.

Around June 1, the American prisoners at Camp O'Donnell were separated from their Filipino comrades in arms and moved to Cabanatuan concentration camp in Luzon. There Colonel Dyess joined Colonel Mellnik and Commander McCoy.

Conditions at Cabanatuan were slightly improved—there was adequate drinking water and muddy seepage wells provided water for bathing. Japanese brutality continued, however:

"I had been at Cabanatuan one day," Colonel Dyess' statement reads, "when a Jap came through the barracks looting. He found a watch hidden in some equipment of a man not present. As I was sitting nearby, he punched me severely to show his feeling at the idea of a prisoner still having a watch."

Dr. Francis Godwin Speaks to Chemical Society on Argentina

Accompanying his lecture Dr. Godwin presented a color film, "Argentina, Land of Old and New," depicting the lives of the people, the customs and the landscape of the country.

Dr. Godwin went to Argentina in the spring of 1942 to conduct a survey of the chemical industry there.

"Argentina, more than one-third the area of the United States, lone head-out in the program of solidarity for the Americas, has plans for industrial self-sufficiency which may in time radically change both her internal economy and her peacetime international trade," said Dr. Francis Godwin, assistant director of the Armour research foundation in Chicago at last night's meeting of the Iowa branch of the American chemical society.

Dr. Godwin stated that Argentina has used the proceeds from meat, hides, wool and grains sold abroad to purchase automobiles, machinery, chemicals and manufactured goods of all kinds. "They have seen that complete dependence upon foreign markets has its drawbacks. They have also noted that leading nations today are industrial ones. Argentina aspires to this leadership in South America," he declared.

Capacity Crowd Attends Premier

Almost a full house witnessed the single showing of the war bond premier, "As Thousands Cheer," at the Englert theater last night.

Ticket holders who had purchased bonds of $100, $50 and $25 denominations watched the fast-moving showing of the film that took almost the entire Metro-Goldwyn Mayer lot to produce.

"I can say that the show was pleasing 100 percent," revealed theater war bond chairman Harold Lyons.

The premier was given by the theater industry in conjunction with the fourth war loan campaign being staged throughout the nation stressing the purchase of extra bonds. The theaters intended to sell a bond for every theater seat in the United States.

It applies to the marines, isn't it acute. The navy has long had a policy of giving men 30-day furloughs after a year at sea and insofar as it is possible, this still applies.

The air forces have undoubtedly the most generous furlough system, providing leaves for men who have flown missions (50 to 50, depending on the area and type of flight). Even in the air corps, it isn't always possible to send the men home—hence the rest camps and vacation centers here and abroad.

None of this applies to the seriously wounded. They are sent home as soon as their health permits.

"Before daylight the next morning, the eleventh, we were awakened and marched down the road. Japanese trucks speeded by. A Japanese soldier swung his rifle from one of them in passing, and knocked an American prisoner unconscious beside the road.

"Through the dust clouds and blistering heat, we marched that entire day without food. We were allowed to drink dirty water from a roadside stream at noon. Some time later three officers were taken from our marching column, thrown into an automobile and driven off. I never learned what became of them. They never arrived at any of the prison camps.

Fun Production To Be Given In City High

A night of music, melodrama, laughs and dancing creations with dramatic and witty recitations is the fun schedule to be presented by students of Iowa City high school in their vaudeville, "High Jinks," in the school auditorium Wednesday.

The production will be directed by students, assisted by Lola Hughes of the speech department. Members of the Paint and Patches dramatic society and the G. O. G. speech club will sponsor the annual affair. Acts will be presented by clubs and organizations in the school, aided by their student directors.

The athletic association will present "Fireman Save My Child," with Maybelle Miles in charge. In the cast are Don Lay, Carl Voelkers, Wayne Lacinia, Bob Oldis, Chester Miller, Harry Patterson and Dick Lee.

The stage crew stunt is under the direction of Bill Coder. A "Gay Nineties" novelty will be enacted by the Girl Reserves under the direction of Beth Wilson.

"The Daughters of Frankenstein," a senior girls' organization of eerie and exclusive reputation, will present, "Murder" or "I Dood It," directed by Helen Dot Newcomer.

A night club scene is scheduled by the dramatic club under the direction of Virginia Blackman, featuring "All's Swell That Ends Swell," and the swing and sway treat of the evening with low lights, to be fast jitterbug dancers and boogie woogie. Tap dancing, music and baton twirling are also part of this act.

A "Moon Magic" sequence will be given by the music group, with Elinor Browning in charge. "Old Sweetheart of Mine," a musical number, and "Paper Doll" are the problem children of Evelyn Whitebook and Mary Wareham. "The Stooges" is under the direction of Bill Rogers.

Music will provide continuous entertainment with special numbers by the music department. "Dream of Fair Women," "Alice Blue Gown," "Little Brown Laurie" and musical skits are included. "Four Freedoms," a patriotic novelty with soloist Carl Martin, is directed by Carol Cannon with narrator Jon Dunnington. "Rose Marie" will be sung by Harry Bannon.

The production is under the management of the business advisor, Bob Lightner, with Dean Crawford acting as master of ceremonies. Tickets are now on sale for 25 cents for "High Jinks."

Capt. Glenn R. Dixon Promoted to Major

Announcement has been made by the adjutant general's office in Washington, D. C., of the promotion of Capt. Glenn R. Dixon, executive officer of the University of Iowa army specialized training program unit, to the rank of major. Major Dixon was transferred to Iowa City in December, 1942, from Ft. Benning, Ga., where he had been on duty for two years. He assumed the position of executive officer of the A. S. T. P. in October, 1943.

QUESTION: DO YOU THINK GIRLS ENGAGED TO SERVICEMEN OVERSEAS SHOULD DATE?

Benna Bartells, N1 of Streator, Ill.: "As a general rule, no. If certain social obligations must be met in the company of an escort, it should be a friend of the family or an escort approved by the engaged man."

Elaine Hopp, secretary: "I think a girl could have as much fun with a mixed crowd. If her heart's in the right place, she'll limit it to that."

William Sangster, E2 of Iowa City: "It shouldn't be carried to extremes. A few dates are all right. The fellow she dates should know the situation."

Francis Slamis, A1 of Cedar Rapids: "Girls engaged to overseas men should be allowed to date occasionally. However, if one goes to extremes and makes it a habit, I believe she should not. She should be true to her fiance and tell him of her dating."

Mac Thorson, F4 of Akron: "Sure! Although they shouldn't date one fellow too steady."

Marjorie Youngstrom, N2 of Burlington: "I think an occasional date is all right if you can find an unattached man."

Corp. Wilford Peterson in A. S. T. P. personnel: "It is all right as long as the engaged boy knows about it, but nothing on the sly."

Gerald Chinn, A4 of Des Moines: "Of course, it all depends upon the attitude of the fellow and the girl involved. I wouldn't want the girl to whom I was engaged while off fighting the war dating other fellows. It's according to the circumstances."

JAP SNEAK ATTACK "HEROES" VISITED BY EMPRESS

JAPANESE EMPRESS KOGOO HEIKA observed the second anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor by visiting the "heroes" who were wounded in the sneak assault. The bed-ridden heroes are pictured in statue-like poses on their beds as the empress, decked out in European clothes, makes her rounds of a Jap war hospital. ### U. S. COAST GUARD DOG IS HERO

NORA, A GERMAN SHEPHERD DOG purchased by the U. S. Coast Guard for 50 cents, more than paid off her purchase price when she rescued Coast Guardsman Evans E. Mitchell, Chicago, right, while he was on a patrol duty along a lonely stretch of North Carolina beach. Mitchell fainted while on duty. Nora discovered him and summoned aid, which act was credited with saving him from probable death from exposure and cold. The dog is shown receiving the John P. Haines medal at the 78th annual meeting of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The presentation is being made by Sidney H. Colmen, executive vice president of the society. The dog was purchased from an Oregon Inlet, N. C., family for 50 cents by the Coast Guard station there. (International)

Professor of Botany Praises Agriculture In Rubber Shortage

"The rubber crisis existing today is being greatly relieved by agriculture," according to Prof. Walter F. Loehwing, head of the botany department. Agriculture has been vastly stimulated by the acute necessity for the discovery of new plants suitable for use in the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

Professor Loehwing stated that a good example of the current rise in production is the quantity of alcohol used in the manufacture of rubber substitutes. In the past year 68 percent of the grain alcohol came from cereals, potatoes and sugar beets, while in 1940 only 13 percent came from those sources.

Another encouraging factor is

Dermatologist to Speak

Dr. Ruben Nomland, head of the department of dermatology and syphilology, will discuss the more common skin lesions and present a lantern slide demonstration at a dinner meeting of the Johnson county medical society to be held at 6 p. m. Wednesday in Hotel Jefferson.

Iowa Stations to Air Navy Transcriptions

Transcribed performances by cadets of the Iowa Navy Pre-flight school are scheduled, for broadcasting over several Iowa radio stations.

The vocal chorus of the pre-flight school band now airs nightly by transcription over stations KRNT and KSO, Des Moines, in the stations' sign off features. The pre-flight chorus sings the navy's "Blue and Gold" and the "Star Spangled Banner" as these stations close their broadcasting day.

Over station WMT, Cedar Rapids and Waterloo, transcribed interviews with two pre-flight cadets are scheduled to feature the regular war bond shows over the stations.

The cadets, John Wade Timmons of Los Angeles, and Harold Defenbaugh of Peoria, Ill., are both holders of presidential citations for outstanding service as enlisted men in combat. They will be interviewed by Benny Alter.

Cadet Timmons was presented with the award and citation which he earned in combat by the late Capt. David C. Hanrahan as one of the last official acts performed by Captain Hanrahan before his death Jan. 20.

City High to Present Sophomore Comedy

The City high school sophomore play, "The Kid Makes Up His Mind," will be presented at a school assembly Wednesday, Feb. 16, under the direction of Dean Crawford.

The comedy cast includes Lois Miller, Betty Crow, Tom Taylor, Joe Baker, Jackie Gringer, Mary Hunter and Charles Colony.

Speaker at City High

Students of Iowa City high school will hear Else Margrete Roed, refugee from Norway, who will speak at a 9 o'clock assembly this morning which all students will attend. Miss Roed, speaker at the university information first program, will be in town through Saturday.

Afghanistan has an area of 251,000 miles.

"A SHELL SMASHED MY TYPEWRITER!"

Associated Press reporter Robert Eunson was 35 yards from the Arawe beach when the Japanese opened up just before dawn on the American Sixth Army invading New Britain.

Bullets riddled his boat and he scrambled out. Men were falling dead all around him. He tried to get his feet on the bottom but it was too deep. He dived under a barge to escape the murderous criss-cross of machine gun fire and nearly drowned. He came up and a shell smashed his typewriter.

Finally, his feet hit the coral and he made shore where he wrote one of the most graphic stories to come out of this war as the shelling continued.

AP men like Eunson are risking their lives to cover every phase of the growing Pacific offensive... the veteran C. Yates McDaniel, Murlin Spencer, William F. Boni, Asahel Bush and Dean Schedler, who were also at New Britain; William Hipple and William Worden who narrowly missed death at Tarawa; Rembert James, who like Boni, wears the Purple Heart for his wounds in the South Pacific, to name only a few.

Soldiers—without guns—these men are providing American readers with the greatest coverage of a war ever known!
