Yanks Invade Manus Island In Admiralties

Land-Based Liberators Raid Truk for 1st Time

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific (AP)—American amphibious forces invaded Manus island, largest of the Admiralty group in the southwest Pacific, Wednesday, while land-based Liberators made their first raid on Truk presaging frequent bombings of Japan's greatest central Pacific stronghold.

Infantrymen splashed ashore on Manus under the cover of a heavy barrage from warships, planes and artillery, the latter firing from nearby islands, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today. The invaders suffered only minor losses as they pushed to within half a mile of Lorengau airfield, the only one in the Admiralty group that allied air forces aren't already using.

New air successes—over Truk, Wewak and Rabaul—were reported as a high ranking naval officer predicted the American fleet would be close enough to Tokyo in another year to blast the reluctant Japanese navy out of its harbors.

The Liberators rode in on Truk under cover of darkness to drop their bombs just before dawn on Dublon and Eten islands. Dublon is a major supply and ship repair base. Eten is an air field. They flank the anchorage where carrier-borne American planes surprised Japanese warships Feb. 16 in a two-day foray that cost the Japanese 23 ships and 201 airplanes.

Wednesday's raiders flew from recently captured air fields in the western Marshalls—either Eniwetok, 750 miles from Truk, or Kwajalein, about 1,000 miles distant.

The Truk strike was coordinated with attacks on three other eastern Caroline islands and two atolls in the eastern Marshalls. The blow at Truk is the most advanced action by land-based central Pacific forces.

"In another year we'll be pretty close to Tokyo," said Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, an aircraft carrier task force commander. "If the Japs won't come out and fight, we'll sink them in their own harbors with our carrier-borne planes."

Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt Files Divorce Suit Against F. D. R.'s Son

FT. WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The second wife of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, filed suit yesterday to end the marriage which climaxed a whirlwind courtship nearly 11 years ago.

Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt's petition for divorce charged the colonel, now on duty in the European war theater, with "unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct" before they separated about Oct. 1 last year. She asked for custody of their three children and for one-half of their community property.

Roosevelt and Miss Googins, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Googins of Ft. Worth, were married July 22, 1933, five days after he was divorced by his first wife, Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt.

R. K. Hanger, attorney who signed the petition filed yesterday, said waivers of contest would be sent to Colonel Roosevelt's APO address for his signature.

In asking custody of the children, Ruth Chandler, 9; Elliott Jr., 6, and David Boynton, 2, Mrs. Roosevelt said she possessed a substantial separate estate and income and was fully able and desirous of having them. She asked that their father "be permitted to see and visit said children at all reasonable times and hours."

'War Production Must Be Sacrificed'—Nelson

Army, Navy to Be Given Men Despite Industry Requirements

WASHINGTON (AP)—To build a young man's army, the high command has decided to sacrifice war production, the steel industry was informed yesterday by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board.

Military requirements call for the combat use of virtually every available able-bodied man in the country under 26, Nelson was quoted—by highly reliable sources—as telling a closed meeting of the steel industry advisory committee.

An official account of Nelson's message, released later, gave a rephrased version but quoted Nelson as declaring that the army and navy need men and "they must get the men, even if it means losing production."

The steelmen were informed, it was officially revealed that they must expect "severe manpower losses" in the next few months because of the draft.

Negro Infantrymen In Front Line Action

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, South Pacific (AP)—American Negro infantrymen are in front line action in the south Pacific for the first time, it was disclosed yesterday. An announcement said Tech. Sgt. Alonzo Douglas of Chicago was the first Negro infantryman to kill a Japanese in the Solomons.

He is a member of a combat patrol of the 24th Negro regiment which infiltrated several thousand yards behind enemy lines on Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville island. The patrol worked its way clear of an enemy ambush Sunday and returned to its own positions.

Navy Lieut. Thomas Lambert of Spokane, Wash., reported from Bougainville that a battalion of the 24th Negro regiment is holding a front line sector and three combat patrols of the regiment are operating behind Japanese lines. The 24th is led by white commissioned officers.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (Canadian Press)—First Lieut. Leon Crane, 24, of Philadelphia, reached this far northern town yesterday after 84 days in the sub-arctic wilds and brought with him first word of the fate of a United States bomber missing with five men aboard since Dec. 21.

The other four, still missing, are: Second Lieut. Harold E. Hoskins, pilot, Houlton, Me.; First Lieut. James B. Sibert, Norfolk, Va.; Master Sgt. Richard L. Pompeo, Mt. Holly Springs, Pa.,

Army Confirms Story Of Americans Shot By Own Anti-Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The loss of 410 American airborne infantrymen in 23 transport planes shot down by anti-aircraft fire from their own ground and naval forces during the invasion of Sicily was disclosed yesterday by the army after a sergeant broke the military censorship which kept the incident secret eight months.

Without explanation of the secrecy previously imposed, an official memorandum was issued describing the mistake which occurred as airborne reinforcements were being flown into the Gela sector the night of July 10-11, 1943.

Sergeant Jack Foisie, a correspondent of the army's overseas newspaper Stars and Stripes, made the first public announcement of the affair in a speech Wednesday to San Francisco's Commonwealth club. Foisie said "some of our planes went down" from allied anti-aircraft fire.

Asked about the sergeant's statement at his press conference yesterday, Secretary of War Stimson replied that incidents of that nature had occurred during the war, but that he was unable to give details of the particular case and "did not recognize the figures" used by Foisie.

Reports of the Sicilian incident had been current for several months, although official confirmation could not be obtained, and the war department, after requests were made for a more definite reply than the secretary's, made public several hours later the details of the action.

The operation was intended, the army said, to land 2,500 troops of the 82nd airborne division as reinforcements within the allied lines in the Gela area.

"This force, consisting of 170 aircraft, received anti-aircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from friendly naval and ground forces with losses of 23 aircraft and 410 personnel," the memorandum said.

16-Year-Old Youth 'Feels Real Terrible' About Girl's Death

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The defense of 16-year-old David Filgas, on trial for murder in connection with the lovers' lane death of Patricia Winters, 17, died yesterday with the boy's own testimony that he "had no reason to burn the car or to injure her."

David said he "felt real terrible" about Patricia's death the night of Dec. 10 in his father's burning automobile.

"I still do," he added. "I've felt so ever since."

Previously he had told of parking the car in a lonely roadside spot he said the girl had selected, of sharing two bottles of wine with her and of "necking."

U.S. Planes Blast South Germany; Allied Troops Now Occupy 75% Of Demolished Town of Cassino

Infantry, Tanks Handicapped

Attack Units Claw Way Up Monastery Hill Toward Abbey

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples (AP)—Allied troops had occupied three-fourths of strategic Cassino last night after Fifth army sappers blew a path through the demolished town, field dispatches said, and were mopping up pockets of Germans.

Some groups of Germans apparently had reentered the wreckage after the shattering of this town, which lies on the road to Rome, by Wednesday's 2,500-ton bomb assault.

Devastation wrought by the air and accompanying artillery bombardment handicapped the advance of allied infantry and tank units, which were forced to poke their way foot-by-foot through the wreckage.

In a dispatch dated "with the Fifth army at Cassino," Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press correspondent, said that while allied soldiers fought surviving Germans in the southern part of the town, other units were clawing their way up Monastery hill and seemed to be nearing their goal—the Nazi-occupied ruins of its Benedictine abbey.

Allied gunners poured hundreds of high explosives and smoke shells into the already battered abbey, he said, explaining that the smoke shells were aimed at cutting off German observation of allied activities in the valley before the town.

Though shaken by the deluge of steel from planes and guns, German parachute troops who survived the blasting clung desperately to the ghost town, seeking to delay as long as possible their retreat westward along the via Cassina toward Rome. From the surrounding hills German multi-barreled mortars poured a steady fire into the ruins of Cassino.

Allied officers doubted the enemy could hold out long in the few steel-and-concrete strongpoints that escaped destruction. With all the town's buildings flattened, these placements stood out starkly and were exposed to the direct fire of allied artillery. That even these were left standing probably was due to the fact that clouds closed down Wednesday afternoon just when allied fighter-bombers had started working in earnest on Cassino's southern edge.

Jimmy Cagney Surprised at Gasoline Hitler Sends Free

LONDON (AP)—The lines weren't in the script but Jimmy Cagney, Hollywood tough guy, told a soldier audience recently, "I think the general idea right now is to get the hell out here," and they did.

With a large crowd of soldiers and officers, Cagney moved to shelter from a theater somewhere in England seconds before a gasoline tank from a Nazi plane crashed through the roof.

"Back in the States," said Cagney, here on an entertainment tour of United States army camps, "I had to fight to get two gallons of gas a week. Over here Hitler sends me tankful—special delivery."

Miners Snowbound In Colorado Mountain

OURAY, Colo. (AP)—Sixty miners, with only 45 dozen eggs to eat, have been snowbound since Monday at the Treasury tunnel mine near Red Mountain pass in southwestern Colorado.

The heaviest snowfall in years blocked the road over which the men usually drive 12 miles to their homes in Ouray each night.

Adequate Time For— Iowa Soldiers to Vote

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa soldiers have been "amply provided for under state law" and have adequate time in which to vote, both in the state primaries and the general election, Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper asserted Wednesday night.

He informed that President Roosevelt was asking the governors for their opinion as to the effectiveness of the federal ballot bill in their respective states if the president should sign it into law, the governor said:

"We have a perfectly adequate absentee voter's law enabling soldiers to vote for all offices from township trustee through state offices to federal offices."

After receiving the president's message, Hickenlooper telegraphed his reply, in which he asserted that in his judgment use of a federal supplementary federal ballot is not now authorized by Iowa law.

The governor's reply to the president emphasized:

"Iowa, by special legislative session in January, has amply provided for absent voting by all members of the armed forces for all offices, state as well as national, and for primary as well as general elections. Provision for request for ballot is liberal and time for transmittal and receipt of ballot is 55 days. Any reasonable cooperation by federal authority in transmittal of ballot will enable all members of armed forces to vote for all offices."

Red Army Divides; Hurls Nazis Back

LONDON, Friday (AP)—The Red army has divided and hurled into retreat German troops defending the Rumanian border approaches by capturing Vapnyarka rail junction on the Odessa-Zhmerinka trunk line in the lower Ukraine, Moscow announced early today, while to the southeast Soviet tankmen rolled their huge machines over the last battling German remnants of three enemy divisions trapped near Nikolaev.

The big Black sea base of Nikolaev, now sealed off on three sides, was expected to fall shortly, and Russian troops also were reported to be less than two miles from the enemy stronghold of Vinitsa in the western Ukraine after wiping out two German battalions just outside the city.

Hundreds of Germans, "realizing the hopelessness of their situation, laid down their arms and surrendered" in the pocket northeast of Nikolaev, said a midnight Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor. The troops of one German column which made a final effort to break out of the ring were cut down by Soviet fire or crushed under Red army tanks, it said.

4th Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Charles Harwood of the Virgin Islands saw President Roosevelt yesterday and said he told the chief executive he was running into his fourth year there as the president was running into a fourth term and that Mr. Roosevelt said: "How's the rum down there?" Grinning, Harwood told reporters they could guess as well as he the meaning of the presidential reaction.

Gripsholm Repatriates Describe Nazism

'One Meal Daily, Food Very Bad,' Report Internees

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—From tortured Europe yesterday came bitter tales of starvation, inquisition, privation and of dogged hope that they day of an avenging invasion was near.

The stories were brought back by non-official repatriates on the Swedish diplomatic exchange liner Gripsholm, who were being disembarked slowly. But while the process dragged, they were patient in the knowledge that soon they would be free—many to see America for the first time.

By mid-afternoon about 400 of the 662 passengers had left the ship, but 310 of them were cleared Wednesday night with the official party of diplomatic attaches, Red Cross personnel, newspapermen and wounded servicemen. Navy officials said the task of clearance would last well into today.

In Vittell internment camp in France, the food was very bad, the internees there said—an endless procession of potatoes, parsnips, old carrots and more potatoes. In Tittmoning camp, Bavaria, there was one meal a day, a repatriate said, and that "a kind of soup with plenty of hot water and some potatoes."

In Greece there was starvation on all sides, another said. Athens Costa of Chicago, told of starved people being picked up in the streets of Athens in wagons formerly used by dog catchers.

Leaves Brazil

NATAL, BRAZIL, (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt left the great trans-oceanic airframe here yesterday after 40 busy hours of inspecting American and Brazilian military and naval facilities which brought from her the comment that she was convinced Brazil's cooperation had "immeasurably lightened the allies' burden."

Augsburg, Ulm U. S. Targets

American Fighters Only 7 Short Of All-Time Record

LONDON (AP)—American fliers attacking southern Germany in great strength fought one of the most spectacular aerial battles of the war yesterday in a smashing sequel to record RAF night raids on Stuttgart and other targets by more than 1,000 heavy bombers which dropped a staggering 3,360 tons of bombs.

The Germans threw up a powerful fighter force which for the first time used swift four-engined planes and fired rockets in mass, but the American fighters alone shot down 76 of the Nazis against a loss of 13. The German bag of American bombers was 22.

The American fighters in their 6-to-1 victory were only 7 short of their all-time one-day record of 83 German fighters downed in attacks on Berlin earlier this month.

The Brussels radio left the air late last night, indicating the RAF might be carrying the attack into another night.

Berlin said the American targets, bombed through clouds, were the aircraft city of Augsburg and the ancient garrison town of Ulm, which lies in southern Germany between Stuttgart and Munich, a secondary RAF target in Wednesday night's record raid. The first official American announcement said only that "industrial targets in southern Germany" were attacked.

Fighting for its very life, the German air force sent the defenders up in fleets of from 75 to 150. Diving American fighters broke these formations up only to have the enemy return in groups of five and ten.

One group of fliers reported seeing a whole new formation of four-engined, twin-finned fighters which were very speedy, and another group saw Junkers 88's firing rockets from their tails for the first time. These craft after firing two rockets from under their wings released a third from the tail as they pulled away.

The consensus of most of the American fliers was summed up by Sgt. Theodore Deyarn of San Jose avenue, Louisville, Ky., who said: "They threw the book at us. They were waiting for us."

9 Soldiers Drown During Maneuvers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Nine soldiers were drowned and two others are missing in a large lake five miles north of here after an accident during amphibious maneuvers last night in the second major tragedy to overtake the 66th division within the past week, the public relations office announced.

The drownings occurred in Lake No. 2, largest of a chain of seven artificial bodies of water in Lakeview, a sparsely settled residential development east of the Camp Robinson reservation. The public relations office said the accidents happened about 5 p. m. after completion of assault boat training and river crossing maneuvers.

"The maneuvers had been rehearsed several times," the camp announcement said. "The men were riding in two assault boats and were being taken to the opposite side of the river for food. The men were wearing light combat packs. Many men swam ashore and other boats were detailed to rescue work."

Files Petition

DES MOINES, (AP)—Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, was among those filing nominating petitions at the secretary of state's office this afternoon.

Completed filings totaled 223 last night, and Secretary of State Wayne Ropes said he did not anticipate that the number would reach the 365 total at closing time two years ago.

NAZIS FLEE KHERSON IN PANIC

LATEST GERMAN DEFEAT in Russia is the loss of the big axis Black sea base of Kherson at the mouth of the Dnieper river where panic-stricken Nazi troops fled before advancing Red army forces. Approximately 75,000 Germans were killed or captured.

Marching Home

I—HERE THEY COME

Joe Davis, Pfc., was 19 when this war started. He left school at the end of his second year; his "old man" wouldn't support him any longer. The "old man" was a soft coal miner but Joe couldn't see the mines so for two years he ran a delivery truck. Joe enlisted right after Pearl Harbor.

After six weeks of basic training in the Air Force they sent him to learn to be a mechanic. When part of his training was over there was a draft for ground crews overseas. So he was sent to North Ireland. And because he was a fair (but not a skilled) mechanic, there he stuck for the duration while his companions went on to other airfields. But he thought, "when this war is over I want me a new job. I have learned something about gas engines now."

II—THE PROBLEM

When the war ends there will be at least ten million men and women in the armed forces of the United States. And there will be more millions of men and women who will come home from civilian war jobs. To what? In the answer to that question lies the greatest challenge to American economy—business, labor, industry, government—that has arisen during our existence as a nation.

The Americans who will leave government service are human beings, each with personal, social and vocational adjustments. The American way of life puts a premium on the individual. After the war, what can be done to make this concept of individualism effective?

Personal adjustment after this will be a home process, a local process, a community process. The army, the navy, the machinery of government and that of industry will all marshal preliminary aids. But the actual task of adjustment falls on the veteran himself and the folks back home and on such local machinery as they are able to establish.

III—SOLUTION OF A CASE

Take Joe Davis. When Joe entered the army, he went through the prescribed orientation and classification procedures. It was a routine procedure, but after all the army did learn a good deal about him.

When Joe is shipped home to Watkinsville his discharge papers will include a card carrying the highlights of his military record, the scored results of his tests and some indication of the type of work he presumably is prepared to perform. He has some vague idea about possible educational and training opportunities available for demobilized men. Thus he arrives at the station an unsung hero, an ordinary good soldier. But what he thinks and does are mightily important to the future of his country.

Now, if Watkinsville is organized rightly (and if it isn't, it ought to set about the task immediately), Joe will meet one of the selective service board members, a genuinely sympathetic fellow citizen who really will be interested in hearing about his war experiences. So he tells Joe about the adjustment service for veterans they have just set up in the chamber of commerce offices and that the cost of such services is nothing. "It's worth a look-in," says Joe. At the chamber offices he is introduced to Dave Faraday, a former personnel official who ex-

DRAGON'S TEETH

News Behind the News

Mallon Claims Clique Controls REA SET-UP

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—Jonathan Daniels, one of the president's supposedly anonymous confidential assistants, who lost his anonymity in the REA fracas, testified that nothing more than a constitutional objection lay behind his original refusal to give any information to the senate committee investigating the political activities of REA.

Apparently, he convinced the president's most unrelenting critic in the senate, "Cotton Ed" Smith, chairman of the agriculture subcommittee conducting the hearings, that this was the whole story although Mr. Daniels still persisted in withholding his files. "Con expression" on a score dictates to "play with feeling," but in the five score the more picturesque "schmalzando" is taking its place. "Staccato" formerly instructed musicians to cut the notes short, but jivists translate it as "bite it off." "Tutti" to classical musicians means "all play together," but in the modern lingo this becomes "free wheeling."

IV—GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

Job placement is only one of the objectives. Social adjustments loom quite as large. Profound social changes have been taking place in the community. Joe Davis' eyes, too, have been opened to new concepts of what, in a better world, might constitute the good life. And what is the typical home community going to do about it? Will it organize for it and do it well, or does it let it go by default and run the risk of social disorders, even of riots?

Society can only meet this challenge through the agencies it has set up. Government—federal, state, and local—is one such agency. Public, tax-supported education, schools of all kinds are another. The great group work and social work organizations, many of them with branches and affiliates all over, are a third.

V—A LOCAL RESPONSIBILITY

It is in the community itself that the veteran will make contact with this program. It will be here that he receives his subsidy, here that he spends it for tuition, for subsistence, for books, for service. Here he will seek adjustment, guidance, education,—in short, all those services essential to his well-being and that of his family.

It will be the institutions and organizations available in his community that will have to supply these needs. But these almost without exception, are not equipped to handle the returning war veterans. So, logic again calls for training, and better training, of existing staffs to meet the new adult emphasis of their service loads.

The veteran or war worker will be adjusted to peacetime in the community which he regards as home. He will use in that community the institutions and organizations, the plants and equipment, that he finds there. He will talk over his problems with real people residing in that community—fellow residents with him. He will undertake his reeducation and his retraining in that community. The remote federal agency people, though important to him, he will never see.

BUT THE KIND OF LEADERS HE MEETS IN HIS OWN HOME COMMUNITY WILL SPELL TO HIM THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SUCCESSFUL ADJUSTMENT AND ONE THAT IS UNSUCCESSFUL.

(The foregoing is an abstract of a pamphlet issued by Teachers college, Columbia university, and written by Morse A. Cartwright.)

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Jazz Discards Long-Hair Talk

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I can't quite see it yet, but it could happen: Stokowski—or even Toscanini—bending from the podium to whisper to his orchestra: "Now, men, let's do this Beethoven Fifth with some real schmalz. Smear it, sock it, and ride. Hept!"

No, I guess it couldn't happen, at that. But it's happening in the so-called "lower" strata of music, where the jive boys are throwing away the time-honored Italian expressions on musical scores and developing their own—streamlined to the requirements of jazz and swing.

Benny Goodman says so. Benny is playing himself in "Sweet and Low-Down" and when directing rehearsals of his band, he doesn't give with the Italian. When he says, "Give 'em something to sit on," they know he means to "stress the melody—it's as clear as that to everybody, and no foreign talk needed."

Benny, who knows his classical music because that's how he started, translates the classical instructions "fortissimo" and "glissando" into the modern jive terms "schmalz" and "smear."

"Scherzo" is a word that pops up on the scores pretty often, but the jive way to say it is "medium bounce."

"Con expression" on a score dictates to "play with feeling," but in the jive score the more picturesque "schmalzando" is taking its place. "Staccato" formerly instructed musicians to cut the notes short, but jivists translate it as "bite it off." "Tutti" to classical musicians means "all play together," but in the modern lingo this becomes "free wheeling."

"Pianissimo"—play softly—is currently "whisper it" or "shush it." "Ad lib" in classical music told the soloist to interpret a passage in his own way. That's right they mark it down as "ride solo," or "go to town," or "jam," or "take off," or "go out of the world."

Be that as it may, the bobby-soxers in the Sinatra camp are sticking to at least one of the classical Italian expressions. Between squeals when they're listening to The Voice, they can be

Washington in Wartime

Wendell Willkie May Have Hurt Self With Big-Tax Talk

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Your capital show at the president's birthday banquet here in January, so did Bob Hope steal the show at the White House correspondents' annual dinner, which was attended by the president, as well as most of the other government and military officials.

Hope must have had reports on Skelton's success. He outdid himself. His definition of the military strategy discussed by Roosevelt and Churchill—"Where and when to strike the enemy and how to keep Eleanor out of the crossfire"—is already a Washington classic. Just about when the capital was convinced, too, that there couldn't possibly be another joke on Mrs. Roosevelt's travels.

Reports have it that the Ranspock house civil service committee investigators, working on the efficiency of government employees, are making a survey of the mid-morning and mid-afternoon "snackgrabbers"—the workers who slip out for a little between-meal coffee or soft drink.

Some agencies, scared stiff by the reports, already have closed down cafeterias and soft drink stands in many government buildings during hours when the "snackgrabbers" are most likely to indulge.

In many instances employees are hopping mad and in others personnel officials report the decline in morale more than offsets the time wasted. Just one more phase of the Washington investigation business. It's quite a business.

Rumor is that Robert Sherwood, the playwright, will be "kicked upstairs" when he finishes re-vamping the overseas branch of OWI. If the rumor is true, it's an upstairs boot that few would mind because he will go to the president's staff in the White House, where he'll help write the president's messages.

Chicago Newsman's Book Is Funny As Vera Vague

By JOHN SELBY I have you, a more devastating blast at the inanities of which the pitcher magazines are capable in their lesser moments than Mr. Yoder's great essay, by name "When Life Comes to the Door." And you would expect the piece called "My Day" to take off Mrs. Roosevelt, only it doesn't. It takes the hide off radio commercials and a few allied nuisances, expressing underneath some quivering flesh all ready for the high school biology class. It would be unfair if Mr. Yoder cut the ears off radio and magazines and the like, and did not do anything about his own field. He does something in a gorgeous little number entitled "Eat Strenuously," which gives the works to them as funny as any column has a right to be. Funny, and more. Mr. Yoder is expert, and knows that to be really funny a short piece of this kind must have a kernel (infinitesimal at times) of what we hopefully call truth. He has hung each of them on an adequate peg, and often the result has what the boys with thick glasses call "significance." But don't let that discourage you. I've never read, and neither

'America Young, Rich' Says Author At Information First

A small, unobtrusive British woman, Mrs. Rose Hildebrand, spoke to university women at Information First yesterday afternoon in Old Capitol.

Coming from a country which has spiritually and materially felt the pangs of war, Mrs. Hildebrand exhorted her listeners to realize the obligation Americans will have after the armistice toward the less fortunate peoples of other countries.

Thus far, America has been exceedingly generous materially, and other countries are trusting that she will be just as generous with her spiritual and cultural wealth after the war is over.

Yesterday's speaker won her audience with an unusual sense of humor. From an observation of the listeners, it appears that she had no trouble conveying one point which she particularly stressed—that British women are not entirely serious-minded.

The enthusiasm of American people has to an extent amazed the author, she admitted. In her sincere manner she showed an appreciation for what is termed as the American "way of life."

In answer to questions from her listeners the speaker described the types of strategic work British women are doing.

A profound realization and appreciation of American "opportunity" was the main theme of Mrs. Hildebrand's address—and her somewhat entranced audience did not fail to catch the emotion and straightforwardness in her voice.

New Officers Sought For Jobs in WAVES

Blarney Stone Hunt—

Engineers' 'King of Beards' Elected

—Mecca Candidates

DISCUSSING THE PROS and cons of beards with a great deal of pride are Sam Elleson, E1 of White Plains, N. Y.; George Parks, E3 of Council Bluffs, Nick Demetroulis, E3 of Sioux City, and Frank Mahan, E4 of Iowa City. Nick was crowned "King of Beards" and given a certificate for a free shave at first prize at the Mecca smoker last night in the river room of Iowa Union. Mecca week festivities will be climaxed tonight with the crowning of a queen at the annual Mecca Ball.

As Mecca week nears its close, engineers held their traditional smoker last night in the River room of Iowa Union, with George Gilligan, E3 of Dubuque, acting as master of ceremonies.

Highlighting the evening's entertainment was the search for the blarney stone, which was then presented by the president of the senior class to the president of the junior class; the election of the "King of Beards," and the presentation of the six queen candidates one of whom will be crowned Mecca queen at the ball tonight.

These girls were previously selected from a list of 20 by a committee consisting of George Gilligan, Edwin Fisch, E3 of Sigourney; Clair Thomas, E4 of Lorimor; Gerald Seiffert, E3 of Davenport; Robert Sulentli, E3 of Waterloo, and Charles Carnes, E4 of Iowa City. Candidates include Lynn Snyder, A4 of Toledo, Ohio, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Barbara Baker, A4 of Decatur, Alpha Chi Omega; Elaine Lossman, A1 of Chicago, Kappa Alpha Theta; Pat Kirby, A2 of Greenville, Currier; Betty Weaver, A2 of Tulsa, Okla., Pi Beta Phi, and Janice Tatum, A3 of Nora Springs, Delta Delta Delta.

The Mecca Ball, which will climax Mecca week tonight, will be held from 8 to 11 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union, with Paul Arthur and his Count 11 band furnishing music.

A black curtain decorated with a six-foot white sulerule will form the backdrop. The programs will feature a girl dancing with a slide rule, with the lettering in gold on a green background. The crowning of the queen will take place at 9:30.

Only a small proportion will be classified for general duty such as administration, business management, institutional management, accountability or personnel work.

To qualify for a commission, a woman must be a U. S. citizen in good health between 20 and 36 years of age with no dependents under 18. Women over 36 may be eligible if they have achieved outstanding reputations in definite fields and fulfill physical requirements.

Mud-Pie Soil, Especially Clay, Too Wet To Spade, Victory Gardeners Advised

When all the frost has been thawed out of the soil in the spring, prepare to spade the Victory garden plot; but first test it to be sure it is neither too wet nor too dry.

The most reliable test is a simple one—call it a mud-pie test. Pick up a handful of soil and pat it between your palms as you used to do in childhood. If it holds together and makes a nice mud-pie, then it is too wet to spade. Keep off soil when it is in this condition because you form clods which will prove troublesome all summer.

The more clay the soil contains, the more injury it will suffer if spaded when too wet. Yet clay soil should not be worked too dry; in fact, you can seldom spade it then, for it is too hard.

Know When Soil Is Ready There is a point between the two extremes when a handful of soil, patted between the palms, will crumble. It is not dry, but slightly moist, yet not wet enough to hold together in a mud-pie. At this point, even clay can be spaded easily and will break up without forming clods. This favorable condition prevails, do not delay spading, otherwise the soil may dry out unduly, and compel you to wait for heavy rains to restore the right degree of moisture.

Laying out the Victory garden should be a precision operation. Here the gardener should use careful measurements, for a little time spent in being exact may save hours of hard work later on.

'Lights Out in Europe' To Be Shown Today

"Lights out in Europe," a movie record of the pre-war days that led to the present world conflict, will be shown to journalism students today at 3 o'clock in the projection room of East Hall.

Photographed in England, in Danzig during the crucial weeks immediately preceding the war, in Poland during the early days of the Nazi invasion, and in France when the stalemate along the Maginot line was just beginning, the film portrays the first war moves.

Its object is to picture what happens to the man in the street or the man in the field when old-fashioned statesmanship fails, and modern warfare prevails. It presents inherently peaceful people bewildered by conflicting propaganda and caught in the web of economic forces leading to war.

Nazi brutality in Poland is seen from the viewpoint of the helpless civilian, interpreted by the observation of Herbert Kline and the commentary of James Hilton, spoken by Fredric March.

Music for the film was composed by Werner Jannsen.

Tickets for today's showing may be obtained from Loie Randall in the journalism office.

Prof. Norman Foerster Writes Army Text

"American Poetry and Prose" by Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, has been chosen by the United States Armed Forces institute as the text in correspondence study of American literature in the educational program for army and navy overseas.

First published in Boston in 1925 by the Houghton Mifflin company, the book was revised in 1934. A special edition is being prepared by the publishers, the first printing consisting of 25,000 copies.

The book was selected by means of a questionnaire sent to professors of English in American colleges and universities.

Russell Huffman Speaks To A. S. T. P., C. A. P. On WAC Recruiting

"The biggest difficulty in getting recruits for the WAC," Warrent Officer (j.g.) Russell I. Huffman told members of the army specialized training program and the civil air patrol last night, "is the fact that the men tell them to sit at home till they get back."

"That's the wrong angle," Officer Huffman believes, "because it's a woman's responsibility to serve her country as much as it is a man's."

Pointing out that although Iowa is first with the number of men in service, in respect to population, Officer Huffman said that Iowa was the 36th with respect to number of women in service.

A veteran of two and a half years overseas, Officer Huffman served as an aerial gunner in the Pacific and is credited with downing 19 Japanese Zeros.

The 24-year-old veteran wears four presidential citations for bravery over the Pacific, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart and Silver Star with Oak Leaf clusters, as well as ribbons for the battles of the Coral sea, Java, the Philippines and Macassar straits and 11 decorations for fortitude, bravery and knowledge of a job well done.

Officer Huffman's home is in Highwood, Mont.

Ex-Iowan Promoted To Assistant Chief In Building of Subway

Richard Van Gorp, formerly of Orange City and a graduate student in civil engineering at the university in 1926, has recently been promoted to the position of assistant chief subway engineer of Chicago, according to announcement received by Dean F. M. Dawson of the engineering college.

In his new position the ex-Iowan will have a prominent part in the further building of the subway, now only partly completed due to lack of critical materials.

Executors Named For Two Estates

An executor and executrix were appointed in district court yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney for the estates of John Kerf, who died March 2, and Mrs. Amelia Swanbeck, who died Jan. 20.

Executor for the Kerf estate is Kerf's nephew, Joseph, appointed without bond. T. M. Fairchild is the attorney in the case.

Sigme Goeken was appointed executrix without bond of the estate of her mother, Mrs. Swanbeck. The Messer, Hamilton and Cahill law firm handled the case.

In two years since it quit making automobiles, the automotive industry has delivered more than 14 billion dollars worth of war goods.

28 W. T. S. Cadets Arrive for Training

Twenty-eight naval aviation cadets arrived Wednesday to make up the new elementary class of the war training service school, which has its headquarters in the Burkley Hall.

The men have just completed their flight preparatory school training at De Pauw university, Greencastle, Ind. After their eight-weeks elementary course, they will be advanced into the four-weeks intermediate training course. The intermediate students enter navy pre-flight schools when openings arise.

No intermediate cadets have left the W. T. S. school this week, nor has the present class of elementary students been advanced into the intermediate phase, as usual, because bad weather has curtailed flying.

It is estimated that industry loses the equivalent of 1,000,000 employees' work every day because of illness and injury.

VIOLIN BUSY; BROOMS IDLE

Waterloo Tilts Marshalltown

Overtime Match Won When Dick Wagoner Scores Winning Tally

DES MOINES (AP)—Hampton, a dark horse contender, snapped Denver's 25-game winning streak to win, 35 to 20, as the second session of the boys' sub-state high school basketball tournament got under way at Cedar Falls last night.

At Ottumwa, Burlington's Greyhounds trounced Letts, 41 to 23, with big Bob Boecher firing in 12 points for the winners. Wayne Allen bagged 12 points for Letts.

West Waterloo upset Marshalltown, 34-32, in an overtime period on Richard Wagoner's basket in a first-round game in Cedar Falls.

Waterloo tied the score at 30-30 at the end of the regulation playing time on Wagoner's two gift tosses with 43 seconds left. The winners broke a 6-6 first-quarter tie to lead, 14-9, at the half, but fell behind in the third quarter when Marshalltown took over, 22-11. Wagoner, with 15 points, led Waterloo, while Hogeland, with eight tallies, topped the losers.

Rationing Diagonal to three field goals in the last half, Creston rode to a 41 to 28 triumph behind the 18-point pace of Gaylen Hagan at Creston. Diagonal seized the lead at the outset but relinquished it when Hagan found the range. The class B team once held a seven point lead early in the game.

Storm Lake, Lakes conference challenger, will be Hornick's foe tonight as a result of its 47 to 33 triumph over Laurens last night.

Reverend Whitworth, the English medical scholar who placed in four hurdle and jump events of the Big Ten meet last weekend, is one of the invited athletes for the hurdle series of 40, 50 and 60 yards.

Hawkeyes have been invited to the Chicago Daily News meet since its inception in 1937 and the 1939 team shared the meet record for three years. The affair is held on the board track in the Chicago stadium.

Eddie Ambrose Turns Interest From Track To Iron Horses

SCHEENECTADY, N. Y.—Racing fans will remember when Eddie Ambrose had an interest in live horses, but today the jockey has his attention focused on iron horses.

At the American Locomotive company plant here, where they turn out locomotives for invasion as well as for domestic war transportation, Ambrose has been a maintenance man for nearly two years.

From 1912 to 1930 Eddie piloted more winners past the finish line than he can remember. He rode for Harry Payne Whitney and E. B. McLean. In 1928 Ambrose's victories helped the McLean stable top the list of purse winners with $234,640.

He rode such horses as Toro, Bateau, Damask and War Eagle to rich victories.

Ambrose never won the Kentucky derby but he came mighty close on two occasions. He was third with McLean's Toro in 1928, the year Reigh Count beat out Misstep. In 1920 Ambrose was fourth with Whitney's Damask with whom he scored in the Louisiana derby.

In 1928 Ambrose piloted Toro home first in the American derby at Washington park, Chicago, and the following year he was astride Bateau when the filly beat the favored Petee-Wrack in the Suburban handicap at Belmont park.

It is estimated that more than one-third of all two-year old children have cavities in their teeth.

WATCH IT! THAT REACH IS TERRIFIC

THE LONG AND THE SHORT of it on the Seahawk Boxing squad are Heavyweight Bill Kritner, cadet from Cairo, Ill., and Yeoman Frank Levine, 127-pound battler. Both men will see action Saturday night against Wisconsin.

Lieut. Dominic Napolitano Seahawk Boxing Coach

Seahawks Set For Wisconsin

Pre-Flighters to Count On Huber, Kritner, In Heavy Division

The Seahawk varsity boxing team went through the most spirited and stiffest workout of its brief history Thursday in an effort to get itself in peak condition for the "revenge" match against the University of Wisconsin team Saturday night in the Iowa fieldhouse.

The excellent condition of the Badger teams have given them distinct advantages over a number of teams they have met recently, and Lieut. Dominic Napolitano's boys have no intention of giving Wisconsin that edge.

In the first meet between the two teams a month ago, at Madison, the Badgers won a close 4-3-3% decision. Lieutenant Napolitano pointed out to his team that as little as one solid punch could have turned the decision in more than one bout, and consequently changed the outcome of the match.

The Seahawks have been weakened by the loss of three of their heavyweights and sure point winners—Cadets Charley Hayes, Dick Bakowski and George Badalich. To replace them he has two men who have been on the base only a week. They are Julius Huber, of St. Louis, and Bill Kritner, Cairo, Ill.

Two bouts will be fought at the 155 pound class, because the Seahawks can supply no one to fight in the 121-pound class. The minimum weight for naval aviation cadets is 125 pounds.

Wisconsin is riding the crest of a 24-match winning streak, compiled over a four-year period. They also hold the national intercollegiate championship. The Seahawks still have two boxers who won decisions over their Badger opponents at Madison. They are Augie Szokolics, of South Bend, Ind., 145 pounds, and John Geary, Milwaukee, 165.

One match that will be strictly a revenge meet for the pre-flight fighter will be the battle between Cadet Giuseppe Cignale, Patterson, N. J., and the Badgers' Bill Nedderston at 155 pounds. Cignale lost a very close decision to Nedderston at Madison.

Cignale's style of fighting is a crowd-pleaser. He forgets any caution or feeling-out maneuvers, and wades in with his gloves flying for a give-and-take battle. The probable lineups for the bouts:

127 lbs.—Frank Levine, New York City (experience in Golden Gloves) vs. Dick Miyagawa (National A. A. U. champ).

135 lbs.—A. Mason Lewis, Protection, Kan. (no previous experience) vs. Bob Jirucha.

145 lbs.—Augie Szokolics, South Bend, Ind. (quarterfinalist in Chicago Golden Gloves 2 years ago) vs. Ed Marquardt.

155 lbs.—Giuseppe Cignale, Patterson, N. J. vs. Bill Nedderston.

155 lbs.—Mike Abernethy, Lombard, Ill. (no previous experience) or Eugene Reynolds, Oildale, Calif. (few amateur bouts) vs. Bob Hamal.

165 lbs.—John Geary, Milwaukee, Wis. (no previous experience) vs. Ted Kozuszek.

175 lbs.—Julius Huber, St. Louis, Mo. (boxed at St. Louis U.) vs. Bill Loftus.

Hwt.—Bill Kritner, Cairo, Ill. vs. Carl Kuluwinski.

CAREFUL, SOMETHING'S GOING TO DROP ON YOU RIGHT NOW

SEAHAWK BOXERS sharpen their aim on Tojo for the meet against the Wisconsin Badgers in the Iowa fieldhouse Saturday night. Cadets G. Cignale, 155-pounder, and Mason Lewis 135 pounder, put a little extra gusto into their punches at this target but are out for revenge against the Madison boys this weekend.

SUI Diamond Prospects Unsure; 1st Game With Chicago April 9

Coch Davis Praises Jim Hansen, Tom Hughes in Infield

With Iowa's opening baseball game with Chicago only three weeks away, Coach Waddy Davis and his 25-man squad, made up entirely of freshmen this year, may be seen any afternoon in the week practicing in the nets at the fieldhouse.

This year's baseball team will probably be the youngest team that has ever represented the Hawkeyes in the Big Ten baseball race. Hard at work now for about a month, the team will begin practice outside as soon as the weather breaks.

While Davis seems pretty well pleased with the work of his freshmen thus far, he has yet to see how they will react in a real game. With the clearing up of the weather, the Hawkeyes will play a number of practice games with nearby teams in preparation for their first conference tilt.

Now that basketball is definitely at an end, Iowa's stars of the court have come out for baseball. Reporting to Davis this week were Dave Danner, Dick Ives, and Jack Spencer. Both Spencer and Ives are trying for the pitching staff, while Ives is also a contender for the first base position. Danner is out for the second base slot, but will have some pretty tough competition with Tom Hughes of Omaha, Neb.

While a definite team has not been decided upon by Davis, and probably won't be for quite some time, the Hawkeye coach has been especially pleased with the work of Jim Hansen, catcher, and Tom Hughes, an infielder.

Herb Preul, who played American Legion baseball last year for Bancroft, as well as Allen McCord and Bob Gildae, both of whom played for Davenport high last year, are also hopefuls on the squad.

Keeping all of his fingers crossed, Davis hopes to keep his team intact throughout the short season without having any of the team called by the draft. Most of the members have either just registered or have not yet registered at all, and thus should be relatively safe for the rest of the season.

While as Davis said, "We have an awfully good young ball team," the Hawkeyes will be playing against teams which have the use of navy trainees. Chicago is the only exception.

Beginning with Chicago on April 7 and 8, the Iowa baseball team will play 10 conference games between the seventh and the 30th of April, a schedule which indicates little rest for the pitchers. The opening game will be played here at Iowa City.

Joe Glenn Signs With New York Yankees

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. ### Purdue Relays To Feature National Stars

LAFAYETTE, IND., (AP)—Big Ten indoor title winners who will appear in all four relays in the University division as well as the six open special events will add to the brilliance of the field that will compete in the second annual Purdue Relays to be held in the Bollermaker fieldhouse on Saturday, March 25.

Blue ribbon winners in every event in the conference championships will be forced to their best efforts by an all-star field that will be fortified by entries from Great Lakes and the Iowa Pre-Flight School as well as a host of non-conference institutions, including Notre Dame and Miami, defending champions in the University and College divisions, respectively.

Michigan's hope for supremacy in the relay races in the University division will rest in good part on three fleet-footed title holders, Bob and Ross Hume, and Bob Ufer. The Hume twins, who dominated the one-mile and two-mile runs at the conference meet, are expected to appear on Wolverine combinations in both the two-mile and distance medley relays, while Ufer, holder of the world indoor record for 440 yards, will probably be a key man on both the one-mile and sprint medley relay combinations.

Claude "Buddy" Young, sensational Illinois freshman who has twice tied the world record for the 60 yard dash, will be a favorite to repeat his Big Ten triumph in the sprint, and one of the keenest races of the meet is expected when he attempts to even matters with Elmer Swanson, of Michigan, in the 60 yard low hurdles.

Bob Kelley, Big Ten half-mile champion, will be one of the key men on the brilliant Illinois one-mile and two-mile relay combinations. In the one-mile, Illinois, victor at the Millrose games and Boston A. A. meet, will attempt to get back in winning stride after losing to the Ufer-anchored Wolverine combination in the Big Ten battle.

The field events will provide just as keen competition as the relays and special races. In the high jump, Bill Dale, of Michigan, and Armin Bauman, of Minnesota, who tied for Big Ten honors, will renew their duel for supremacy. The pole vault field will include Bob Phelps, Illinois, co-champion, headlines a strong entry list in his specialty.

Davis-Jacks Fight Tonight

Augusta Lad Favored In Madison Square $100,000, 10-Rounder

By FRITZ HOWELL NEW YORK (AP)—Abraham Davidoff and Sidney Walker, for their St. Patrick's day 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden, will attract some 17,000 fans and a $100,000 gate.

Which isn't odd, when you consider Abraham is better known as Al (Bummy) Davis, the Brooklyn boy with the lethal left, and Sidney is known to one and all as Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., the Garden's greatest drawing card, outside of the heavyweight ranks, for the last decade.

Only twice in recent years has the Garden drawn over $100,000 for a lightweight contest, and Beau was a principal in both, against Henry Armstrong and Bob Montgomery.

Two weeks ago Montgomery, of Philadelphia, outpointed the Beau to win the New York version of the lightweight crown. Two weeks before that, Davis handed Montgomery the first knockout of his career, in 63 seconds. Davis, boasting one of the most potent left hands in the business, disposed of Buster Beaupre in 98 seconds in his last outing before he blasted Montgomery, his kayo punch compressing 20 scheduled rounds into two minutes and 41 seconds.

Beau Jack never has been knocked out and he's a slight favorite to outbox Davis in the Shamrock dud spree. But the Jacobs' beach boys say the Beau has never been in there with anyone who punches as hard as the Brooklyn boy—and Davis says he will win by a kayo.

Beau Jack is expected to give away about five pounds, with Davis weighing around 142 to the Beau's 137.

Spring Training Starts

AMES (AP)—Spring football drill at Iowa State college this year is a regular part of the college physical education program.

About 50 men have enrolled and will receive college credit for participation.

Coach Mike Michalske, who had a record turnout of 53 men for spring drill last year, began work-out this week.

Michalske and Athletic Director George Yeenker expressed the opinion that an active program such as this is one of the best toughening methods there is to prepare men for active combat in the armed forces.

WHITING, Kan. (AP)—The spine-tingling mystery of the wolf in the iron mask finally has been solved.

The wolf was seen sneaking around the countryside with some sort of a mask over his head. Henry Beaman, Carol Monaghan and Bob Biddings decided to solve the mystery. They stalked and shot the masked marauder.

His disguise was a piece of stove pipe into which he had poked his head so far that one ear protruded from an opening in the pipe, making it impossible to extricate himself. How he avoided starvation is the mystery.

SPEARVILLE, Kan. (AP)—On July 13, 1925, Miss Frances Lonnberg of Spearville wrote a special delivery love letter to her sweetheart, Alex Kennedy, then in Detroit.

The letter stuck in Kennedy's mail box and just fell out the other day. It was sent back to Spearville and delivered to him 18 years later but it didn't cause any embarrassment.

That was because his wife, who handed the returned letter to him, was Miss Lonnberg. They were married 15 years ago.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A truck driver arrived in Topeka with a report that the town of Studley in Sheridan county was quarantined for scarlet fever and motorists were warned not to stop there.

The board of health had no news of the case but investigated. A state highway patrolman then reported that pranksters tacked a flashy scarlet fever quarantine card on the welcome sign at the town's welcome.

BRITISH GIRL TRUCK DRIVERS ASLEEP IN DESERT

IF THESE GIRL TRUCK DRIVERS of the British ATS should be dreaming of masterful sheiks galloping about on snow-white chargers, one can hardly blame them for they are bedded down for the night in front of their trucks out in a desert, somewhere in the Middle East. On another occasion Breen parachuted to safety after a midair collision which caused a Fortress to crash, killing eight members of the crew.

But riding a bicycle back to his quarters from the mess hall in a blackout recently, Breen collided with another bicyclist, fell to the ground and fractured his left arm.

SEATTLE (AP)—You can't fool Seattle passersby with the old wallet-on-the-street gag. When they saw a wallet lying near the police headquarters on Terrace street, they figured it was empty and left it there. A shipyard worker who dropped it, recovered it. It contained $450.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Rockwell, a war worker who took his work home with him, is receiving credit for developing a valuable time and labor saving device—a field repair kit for damaged aircraft radio loops.

The loop is housed in the tear-drop-shaped projection near the nose of most airplanes. Its function is that of direction finder.

But the loop is extremely vulnerable because of its exposed position, and Rockwell, an employe of the Bendix radio division, was impressed by the wholesale numbers of them returned to his plant for repairs.

So he set to work in his trailer home and devised a simple kit of just 13 tools by means of which the damaged instrument frequently could be repaired in the field.

It was so successful that Rockwell was placed in the plant's methods laboratory to spend full time working on other short cuts to victory.

U. S. BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN — In football everyone likes to carry the ball. In aerial warfare they'd rather run interference.

Many bomber crews finishing tours of duty and returning home want to come back as fighter pilots like those they have come to admire out there blocking Nazi fighters.

Pilots, navigators, bombardiers, gunners, share the same admiration for the fighters, and the same ambition.

Of eight crewmen at this base who finished their tour the same day, six wanted to become pilots of Thunderbolts or Lightnings.

Similar trends have been noted at nearly every other USAAF bomber base in England.

Reading Workshop To Study Choruses

A laboratory meeting of the choric reading workshop will be held this afternoon at 4:15 in the University theater lounge. The group will work with rhythmic selections at this afternoon's meeting.

Reading of choruses from Greek dramas is the goal of the chorus, according to its members. Those who are interested in choric reading may attend the meeting today.

Former Students— Serving the Nation —Former Iowa Citizens

John B. Opfell, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Opfell, rural route five, has enrolled in the navy V-12 unit at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. Entrance into this special training unit enables him to take a series of approved university courses as a student seaman. Upon satisfactory completion of the V-12 program, he will be sent to one of the navy midshipmen schools established for the training of reserve officers. He may then be commissioned as an ensign in the United States naval reserve.

John D. Rothlisberger, former student of the University of Iowa, is now in bombardier training with the army air forces at the Deming army air base, Deming, N. M.

Donald D. Voorhees, who attended the University of Iowa in 1942 and 1943, is stationed as an aviation cadet at St. Mary's Pre-Flight school, Calif. He will leave there soon to begin his primary flight training in one of the navy's aviation training bases. His brother, Lieut. Roy D. Voorhees, also a former student, is serving with the army air forces in England, and recently was awarded his first oak leaf cluster to accompany the air medal, which was presented for meritorious service in flight against the enemy.

Midshipman Donald L. Morrison, who is completing midshipman's training in Chicago, will soon be granted an ensign's commission in the United States navy upon successful completion of his course. Midshipman Morrison was a student at the University of Iowa until May, 1943. He received his V-12 training at St. Ambrose college, Davenport. While at the university he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Another member of Beta Theta Pi, Erling Larson of Davenport, is in training as a member of the V-12 unit at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio.

Members of the women's air force service pilot class graduated Saturday at Avenger field, Sweetwater, Tex., were two former students of the University of Iowa, Mildred W. Grossman of Indianapolis, Ind., and Jean P. Hascall of Richmond, Ind.

Another former student, Aviation Cadet Walter E. Woodrow of Newton, will soon be graduated from the army air forces pilot school at Stockton field, California. Before entering the final and advanced course at Stockton field, Cadet Woodrow completed 18

Match Folders, Milk Bottle Caps Saved Religiously by Paper-Conscious English

Salvage has become a grim and serious business in the 12 million shipping-conscious homes in England. Paper salvaged from homes since Britain went to war has saved enough shipping to transport 125,000 soldiers with all their equipment to distant fighting fronts.

The tonnage of paper salvaged in Britain continues to mount each month, still peaking 1943's 110 percent increase over 1942.

Everything in Great Britain goes into salvage heaps—magazines, books, old documents, wallpaper, Christmas decorations, milk bottle tops, cancelled checks and receipts, window displays, old jigsaw puzzles, sheet music, hymnals, blue prints and bus tickets.

An empty match folder thrown into the gutter means nothing less than a very stiff fine for violating the regulation against destroying paper. Although extreme violations of the regulations can also mean a long prison sentence, few prosecutions have been necessary because the people are so conscious of the important role of waste paper in military success and the final victory. Paper goes into the making of bombs, shells, cartridges, mines, aircraft, medical supplies and even airfield runways. Until the war, England imported two million tons of woodpulp and 1,250,000 tons of manufactured paper a year. With these supplies shut off, the island has gotten along with salvaged materials and economies.

Throughout the United Kingdom, local communities have organized permanent salvage machinery. Stewards operate in each neighborhood, establishing con-

Chaperons will be Lieut. and Mrs. C. W. Stoddart Jr., Lieut. (j. g.) and Mrs. C. J. Clinker and Ens. and Mrs. E. V. Topping.

To Talk in Illinois

Prof. Emil Witschi of the zoology department will address graduate students and staff members of the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago Tuesday and Wednesday.

A poster makes 50 cartridge wads. A newspaper makes three cups for 25-pound shells. A magazine makes two interior components for mines. Six old books make a mortarshell carrier. Sixty cigarette packs make a shell container. Twelve old letters make a box for rifle cartridges. Four milk bottle tops make a cartridge cup plug. Two railway timetables make a container for a six-pound shell. One breakfast food box makes a target for rifle practice.

The regulation requiring the salvage of waste paper forbids the destruction of paper except when necessary to prevent the spread of disease or to save property from immediate danger from fire. It also outlaws the mixing of waste paper with garbage. Use of scrap paper to start coal fires is permitted, but authorities urge that greasy paper, unsuitable for salvage, be put to this use.

Jury to Be Called

O. K. FOR THE ALPS BUT NOT FOR ME!

- ★ Allow foods to cool and cover cooked foods before storing.
- ★ Open refrigerator door as seldom as possible.
- ★ If refrigerator is noisy or operates more than ¼ of the time, call your appliance dealer.
