Nazis Repulsed At Stanislawow In Old Poland

Enemy Dislodged From Defense Centers Around Sevastopol

By TOM YARBROUGH LONDON (AP)—In an all-out drive to save their vital base at Lwow, the Germans have launched a large-scale attack near Stanislawow in the southeastern corner of old Poland, but have been repulsed, the Russians announced last night in a communique that for the first time in weeks failed to record some notable Red army advance. In the Crimea, the Russians said, the enemy was dislodged from several strongly-fortified defense centers around Sevastopol, but the battle for that prize Black sea port took on more and more the character of a siege, and was dismissed with a single sentence in the communique.

On the Bessarabian front the Russians reported continuing enlargements of their bridgeheads on the west bank of the Dnestr river in the Chisinau vicinity, and general improvement of their positions, but without giving details. These successes, however, were subordinated by the communique, which frankly began: "On April 19, east and south of the town of Stanislawow, our troops fought the enemy, repulsing attacks by large tank and infantry forces."

A news dispatch from Moscow said the offensive appeared to be a strong, well-organized and systematic attack by Germans and Hungarians designed to shove off a drive in the Lwow direction by troops of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's first Ukrainian army. A secondary purpose would be to try to keep the Russians from driving on through the Czechoslovak frontier passes that they reached April 8.

Lwow, 70 miles northwest of Stanislawow, is a railway junction and German base already under heavy attack by the Red air force. Last night's communique said long-range bombers made a mass raid overnight on Lwow, hitting concentrations of trains loaded with enemy troops and war materials and causing 40 large fires visible 100 miles away. In the drive towards Stanislawow, the Russians announced on March 29 they had captured Kolomyja, and immediately swept on to take Nadworna, 21 miles southwest of Stanislawow and Tysmienca, seven miles east.

Goebbels, Goering Appeal to Germans To Support Hitler

LONDON (AP)—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels addressed an unusual appeal to the German people last night to rally behind Adolf Hitler, who celebrates his 55th birthday today, reminding them that "even the greatest leaders of history will be faced with occasional setbacks and defeats."

In a more restrained order of the day to the German army on the occasion of the Hitler birthday, Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering called for steady loyalty to Hitler even though "a thousand dangers may lie ahead."

The Berlin radio broadcast more than 1,000 words of an address it said that Goebbels delivered on the eve of Hitler's birthday at the German state opera house in Berlin, dwelling throughout on the difficulty of the German position, the righteousness of Nazi war aims and the necessity for sticking together in the hour of trial. Of the damage caused by the allied air raids on Germany, Goebbels remarked that "ten years after the peace has been declared there will hardly be any signs left of the destruction caused by the enemy's terror raids."

"For us," Goebbels said, "the war aims are not only clearly defined but unalterable."

Farley Draws Laugh PHILADELPHIA (AP)—James A. Farley drew a hearty laugh, much to his own surprise, in a speech here yesterday.

Addressing 1,200 Rotarians and praising the aviation industry, Farley said, "Every town and village in the country has its airport."

Tank-supported force blasts Jap positions northeast of Imphal.

KANDY, Ceylon (AP)—A British relief expedition from Dimapur has cracked the Kohima siege lines and tank-supported British and Indian troops have blasted Japanese invasion forces from three positions northeast of Imphal, 60 miles south of Kohima, it was announced yesterday.

Breaking through a series of obstacles, British troops advancing southeastward from the railway line at Dimapur established contact with British and Indian troops who had been surrounded in the Kohima "cho" 30 miles inside India, and preparations for a final assault to relieve the garrison are almost complete, it was announced in dispatches from Calcutta.

Tanks and mountain guns manhandled into position on hills too steep for mules were used by the British. (The counter actions came as Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander in chief of the southeast Asia command, and Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer of the eastern air command settled in new headquarters far closer to the Burma front than their former establishments in New Delhi. Mountbatten moved this week to Ceylon, site of a major naval base. Stratemeyer and the U. S. army air force headquarters were established in Calcutta, 800 miles nearer than New Delhi to the fighting zones. Calcutta is separated from Burma by the sprawling Ganges delta. Both these moves were part of a long-standing plan for setting up an allied land, sea and air offensive to clear China's lower flank.)

Dispatches from two army observers, one inside Kohima and the other with the relieving force, reported the Kohima garrison had held on against a numerically superior Japanese force which attacked night and day.

Flood-Swollen River Reported Receding

OMAHA (AP)—Waters of the flood-swollen Missouri river were receding last night along the critical seven-mile stretch of levees on the Iowa side of the river, army engineers said. The river was reported dropping at major trouble spots, but patrols were being maintained and volunteer dike workers were continuing to strengthen levees at some points.

Fighting Man From Yale

A Colonel With AEF in Italy

By KENNETH L. DIXON WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, April 14 (Delayed) (AP)—The colonel cocked the helmet on his gray streaked head, wearing it like a crown. He buckled his pistol belt snugly around his waist then snapped erect, more than six feet of fifty-year-old soldier, still lean, flat-bellied and fit—a fine figure of the fighting man. "He's quite a guy," the sergeant driving the jeep had said with gentle sarcasm a few minutes before. "It's all a great game to him, salutes and silver stars and danger and tradition and comradeship. But you gotta admit he's a good officer in spite of all his GI nonsense."

Now now the colonel was coming out to the jeep ready to visit some of his units near the front. He wore a canteen, pistol, knife and first aid bag as though they were moulded to him. His combat boots shone and his words were as clipped as his mustache when he answered questions, driving along the shellmarked road. "Yes, I'm a Yale man," he admitted, "but I get along fine with the Harvard men. Fought right beside some of them in the last war. Fine men."

I hastily assured him I wasn't a Harvard man—product of teachers college myself. "Know some fine men from teachers colleges, too," said the colonel kindly. "It wouldn't make any difference if you were from Harvard, grinned the sergeant, "the colonel's very broad-minded about Harvard men. Considers them co-belligerents, so to speak. Says we're all in this together. Don't you, sir?" "Well you might put it that way, sergeant," smiled the colonel. Then turning to me he explained, "The sergeant likes to kid me about Yale. That reminds me—and this will interest you—when they shipped up across the channel from England in the last war it was on the "Harvard" and "Yale." Two boats from the old James river line. Unusual coincidence, I thought."

'Didn't Know Trial Started' —E. J. Smythe

Justice Orders Selection of Jury In Sedition Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Edward Eicher ordered an immediate start yesterday on selection of a jury for the trial of 30 persons charged with conspiring with the Nazis against American democracy, over defense objections that the panel had been subjected to "intimidating" investigation. The court issued the ruling after directing immediate arraignment of Edward James Smythe, the 30th defendant who was arrested Tuesday at Au Sable Forks, New York, and boosting Smythe's bond to $10,000.

Smythe's counsel, John J. Laughlin, had sought to delay the arraignment so he could confer with his client before Smythe entered a plea. He said he had not seen the defendant since he was retained as counsel. He also wanted Smythe's bond of $1,000 forfeited when the defendant failed to appear Monday, restored. The court's answer to that was the ten-fold boost.

On advice of counsel, Smythe, who testified he had not known the trial was to start this week, stood mute at arraignment and the court ordered a plea of innocent entered for him.

Another major engagement apparently still is to be fought before actual picking of jurymen can begin. Newsman starting back into the courtroom after the recess which followed Justice Eicher's denial of the motion to throw out the jury, were denied admission by deputy marshals who said they would be excluded while the jurors are examined.

Justice Eicher said later he had ordered the press be represented at all times, but added it might be necessary during selection of the jury to reduce the size of the representation due to the physical limitations of the courtroom.

He said it would be up to the press to decide who should be excluded and what representatives admitted. Defense attorneys had asserted that should the court select the newsmen it would amount to a "hand-picked press" and work against their clients.

Justice Eicher's refusal to throw out the jury panel and call a new venire was accompanied by a similar decision on various other motions of defense attorneys for a judicial inquiry into the investigation of prospective jurors by the department of justice.

Wards Stockholder Says Defiance Wrong

CHICAGO (AP)—A stockholder in Montgomery Ward and company told other shareholders yesterday that "our interests as citizens in the nation's victory" were "threatened by the management's inexcusable defiance of the national war labor board."

Frank W. McCullough, who said he owns 100 shares of the Ward's stock, declared in a letter to stockholders that the management's "defiance" was the "action which caused the stoppage" of work at Wards.

The CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employees union went on strike at Wards April 12.

Allies Hurl 6,000 Aircraft Against Hitler Europe, Drop 9,000 Tons of Bombs in 30 Record Hours' Air Invasion of Germany

Sweden Denies Allied Request

Government Refuses To Halt Ball Bearing Exports to Germany

STOCKHOLM, Thursday (AP)—The government has informed the Swedish parliament in secret session it would reject the U. S.-British request that it halt ball bearing exports to Germany, the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said yesterday.

The paper said the reply had not yet been transmitted to Washington and London, however. The Swedish parliament is reported to have approved unanimously the decision by the Swedish cabinet, the Swiss radio said in a broadcast recorded by CBS.

Refusal to halt the shipments apparently will be made on grounds of national security. In the Swedish view the risk of reprisals from Germany is involved, whereas the Anglo-American demarche was not of an ultimate character involving threat of countermeasures in the event Sweden failed to heed the request.

The Dagens Nyheter said parliament also was informed that the Swedish government intends to protest England's action restricting diplomatic mail, movement of personnel and safe-conduct air travel. The newspaper added, it was "most likely" there would be no countermeasures taken by Sweden. Parliament also was understood to have received an hour-long report on the Finnish-Russian peace question.

The Finnish radio said Dr. Paul Schmidt, press spokesman of the German foreign office, has been in Sweden several days conducting "negotiations of an informal character" with the German embassy in Stockholm. The broadcast, which suggests Nazi pressure, was recorded by U. S. government monitors.

Turkey Replies To Allied Notes

NEW YORK (AP)—Turkey has formally replied to British-American notes requesting a cessation of chrome shipments to Germany and the reply is believed to place the nation on the side of the allies "within the limits of Turkey's material possibilities," it was stated in an NBC broadcast from Ankara last night.

Still No 'Commando'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It was another restless day along narrow Shawano street. "Commando" Kelly didn't show. Most of the neighborhood was there to welcome him—just as Tuesday and the day before.

The big, city-wide celebration, too, again was postponed. It is being postponed day by day awaiting the arrival of the "one man army" who eliminated 40 Germans singlehandedly and won the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Bill Introduced To Cut Cabaret Tax From 30 to 10 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP)—A movement developed in congress yesterday to take some of the wartime tax load off of fun with Representative Knutson (R., Minn.) introducing a bill to cut the cabaret tax from 30 to 10 percent. Knutson declared that the stiff levy imposed April 1 was putting thousands of entertainers out of work and closing night clubs. By the "law of diminishing returns," he added, it also is causing a reduction in revenue. Before April 1 when war time levies became effective, the cabaret tax was 5 percent of the patron's bill.

The tax-writing house ways and means committee, meantime, tentatively approved a shifting of burdens on individual taxpayers—some up and some down—which the congressional staff of experts recommended as necessary to approach a basis for simplifying and "streamlining" the income tax statutes.

Chairman Daughton (D., N. C.) said that generally the increase or decrease in taxes, under the simplification plan, would not be large. The $1,200 a year married man without children would be hardest hit, his tax jumping from $21 to $61 a year. Some would have smaller increases, and others would have their burdens lightened.

AT LEAST two score persons were dead and upwards of 400 others injured in tornadoes which struck in Georgia and South Carolina. View above shows devastated farm land near Royston, Ga.

Army Reports Allies Down 10 Of Our Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second instance of American troop transport planes coming under fire from allied as well as enemy anti-aircraft guns—with 10 planes shot down and 44 officers and men missing—was reported last night by the war department.

Reporting on the incident which occurred at Catania, Sicily, last July 13-14, the department said it was estimated that 50 percent of the loss was due to "friendly" anti-aircraft fire.

The department did not say who manned the allied guns, but a navy spokesman emphasized that the fire did not come from United States naval vessels.

Recently, the department has acknowledged that 23 transport planes were shot down with the loss of 410 men on July 11 off Gela, on the southern Sicilian coast, when allied anti-aircraft gunners opened fire on them.

Yesterday's announcement, as did the first, followed previous publication of unofficial reports of such losses.

House Vote Extends Lend-Lease Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house voted yesterday, 334 to 21, to extend the $22,000,000,000 lend-lease program another year but warily wrote into the law a curb on the president's power to take on any post-war obligations for the nation.

Proponents, in the three-day debate, described the lend-lease idea as one of the most "magnificent weapons of warfare" devised by the United States in behalf of friendly countries.

A small segment attacked the handling of lend-lease, implying that Britain and other nations got all the benefits and Representative Elmer (R., Mo.) declared "there isn't a country in the world that won't cut our throats if it gets the chance." He also said "not a nickel" of lend-lease aid ever will come back to the United States.

There was no political division on the question, however, for the measure came unanimously from the foreign affairs committee and its most vocal supporters included Republicans as well as Democrats.

Held Without Bond

DETROIT (AP)—Justice John Mokersky ordered Richard Vincent, 23, held without bond yesterday for trial on murder charges resulting from the death of a 14-year-old schoolgirl, Joyce Raulston, on March 27, several days after she disappeared from her parents' home.

The girl's beaten body, partly disrobed and bearing stab wounds, was found on a municipal dump near the city limits.

AFL, CIO Seek Continued Price Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL and CIO got together long enough yesterday to demand jointly that price controls be continued intact and that wages and prices be brought back to their Sept. 15, 1942, relationship and tied there.

These two great factions of organized labor heretofore have joined forces on a major matter only in the instance of labor's no-strike pledge to the president.

William Green, president of the AFL, told the senate banking committee that "I am authorized to submit in behalf of the organizations named," these recommendations:

"That congress pass the pending OPA extension bill 'intact, with adequate funds for enforcement.'"

"That congress extend OPA's rationing 'of essential civilian goods and prevent extortionate profiteering which is precipitating the inflationary rise in living costs.'"

"That a restoration of the relationships between prices and wages, which existed Sept. 15, 1942, is absolutely essential to make the law work equitably and build the morale of American workers to the highest degree of efficiency." This last point was stressed Tuesday by CIO President Philip Murray.

Whereas Murray suggested that, on a one-year extension would be sufficient now, with consideration for further extension to come in ensuing months, Green came out for extension "without change for two years after the war."

Nazi Forces Driven to Earth

American Heavies Ferret Out Germany's Most Vital Targets

LONDON (AP)—American and British warplanes developed the greatest sustained aerial assault of the war yesterday, rounding out a 30-hour offensive against Germany and Nazi-occupied territories during which bombs were dropped almost continuously at the average rate of 300 tons an hour, or five tons a minute.

The allies in more than 6,000 flights between noon Tuesday and 6 p. m. yesterday poured 9,000 tons of bombs on selected German targets, the Americans capping the period with a blow by 2,000 heavy bombers and fighters against plane factories and parking fields near Kassel and Hamm in Germany and installations near Calais in France.

ADD NAZI FORCES nte--nseF's! The U. S. air forces communique referred to the offensive as "the air invasion of Germany." The more enthusiastic protagonists of air power in London began speaking of the possibility of breaking the power of the German air force in two or three weeks if the weather holds out.

The German air force apparently was driven to the earth yesterday. Although conditions were ideal for combat and the American heavies were ferreting out some of Germany's most vital targets, the Germans put up only a token resistance.

The British for their part dropped a record one-night total of 4,400 tons of bombs last night on railroad installations near Paris and elsewhere behind the Nazis' "Atlantic wall."

Aerial warfare never before has witnessed a bombardment of such sustained volume and violence, and the end is nowhere in sight. Those who have followed the European air war closely the last few months feel certain that the present pace of the attack can not only be maintained, but can be increased from British bases augmented further from the Italian theater.

All today's operations cost six bombers and two fighters, the American communique said.

Republicans Choose Gov. Earl Warren Convention Keynote

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republicans called on tall, handsome Gov. Earl Warren of California yesterday to sound the keynote for their June nominating convention in an apparent bid for west coast support in the November election.

Warren, 53-year-old veteran leader of the California Republican organization, was the unanimous choice of the party's 24-member arrangements committee for the temporary chairman and keynote.

House Minority Leader Joseph Martin of Massachusetts was recommended as permanent chairman, a post the convention itself officially fills. Backed by National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler and Walter Hallanan, chairman of the arrangements group, Warren was chosen after the names of a dozen other candidates had been brought before the committee's closed session.

These included several governors and senators as well as Representative Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut, for whom J. Kenneth Bradley, Connecticut national committeeman, made a personal campaign.

Defeat Employees

NEW YORK (AP)—Stockholders of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. yesterday defeated the efforts of a group of stockholder-employees to obtain admission to high company councils.

Perhaps 500 of the 651,711 stockholders attended the annual meeting, the longest within the memory of veteran employees.

Irish Plea to Germans, Allies That Rome Be Spared Ravages of War Ends Futilely

WASHINGTON (AP)—An effort by the Irish government to secure assurances from the Germans and the allies that Rome will be spared the ravages of war apparently ended futilely yesterday.

The attempt was disclosed with publication of an exchange of notes between Premier Eamon de Valera of Eire and President Roosevelt. De Valera's was a plea that the belligerents "seek through appropriate intermediary channels an agreement by which Rome may be saved." He said a similar note was sent to Berlin.

Mr. Roosevelt's reply was a reiteration of the allied position—that the allies are deeply concerned over the possibility that the Holy City may suffer, but its fate is up to the Germans.

"If the German forces were not entrenched in Rome, no question would arise concerning the city's preservation," Mr. Roosevelt told the Irish prime minister.

You're Telling Me!

Fame is, indeed, fleeting. For instance, what was the name of the last fellow to hold the national flag pole sitting championship... There are 50,000 varieties of insects as anyone may soon discover for himself simply by forgetting to put up the window screens.

Raccoons, according to Factographs, do most of their wandering about at night. Is that why they have those heavy circles around their eyes?

Someone, we read, has a goldfish which is 27 years old. Having survived that collegiate fish-swallowing craze, says Zadok Dumkopf, it should now live to a ripe old age.

We are most intelligent at the age of 16, says a report. Well, at least all 16-year-olds will believe that.

The longest time of the year, says Grandpappy Jenkins, is that period between the vanishing of strawberries from the market and the appearance of the first watermelon.

Washington in Wartime

Library of Congress Has Manpower Problem All Its Own

WASHINGTON—The Library of Congress has a manpower problem all its own, and all it wants is one man.

That man, however, will have to take the job of one of the world's great scholars, Dr. Israel Schapiro, head of the library's Semitic division. As a matter of fact, kindly, scholarly Doctor Schapiro is the Semitic division, for he came here to head it when it was started 31 years ago and has built it into a world renowned section of the library.

"We are looking for a man who is not merely a technician," he says. "The position requires a linguist familiar with Hebrew, Yiddish, Arabic, Aramaic, Syriac and all other languages of the Near East. An ideal applicant also would be a skilled bibliographer and a connoisseur of books. He would be well acquainted with the geography and ethnography of the entire Mediterranean area."

A practical knowledge of the history of that region from the earliest times likewise should be possessed. The candidate ought to be a writer, trained and experienced in the art of literature, and a methodical and exacting student of religion, philosophy and the human sciences. Of course, he should be a good administrator, prepared to deal with the business of the division in a proper manner. He should have the ability, too, to get along with people.

Well, that's all, folks. If there's any such young man hanging around your neighborhood, tell him you know where he can get a good lifetime job. Doctor Schapiro himself has been confidential adviser to cabinet officers, members of Congress, diplomatic and consular personnel and to numerous government heads.

He's not asking anything of his successor that he wasn't himself when he came to the library in 1914. Born in Sejn, Russia, 61 years ago, he was educated in Russian and Hebrew schools and at the universities of Berlin and Strassburg. While still in his twenties, he was professor of Jewish history and Hebrew literature at the Lehrer seminar in Jerusalem. He came to the United States in 1910.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Directors Meek, Mild and Omnivorous When Interviewing Chorus Men

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The chorus men, a fellow nobody ever saw before, though he was present on the screen, is garnering attention today because the draft boards have seen so many of his contemporaries.

He—or the lack of him—has become a major problem in the musicals, and all the studios are making musicals in response to the "escapist" trend. The old-time chorus, hundreds of girls, hundreds of men, is gone with such quaint sayings as "Fill 'er up" and "Are you sure that steak is tender?" Directors, when it comes to chorus men, are as meek as civilians asking "May I have three gallons?"

They used to have try-outs for chorus men. Candidates had to be fairly good-looking, tall and husky, light and tricky on their feet, hep to standard routines and quick to catch new ones. Now they just try to get chorus men—and few questions asked. Directors who used to ask the aspirants "Can you dance?" are now settling for "Can you stand up?" That's what the look in their eyes says, although they're far too tactful to put it in words.

Tim Whelan, not without a struggle, had corralled a group of 16 dancers for the Sinatra musical. Whelan, his producer, Bob Fellows, his dance directors, Ernst and Maria Matray, were looking over the assemblage the other day—and Tim was sighing. "We could dress them up in outlandish clothes," he ventured finally, "for that comedy number. Then—"

They went into a huddle. Upshot was that the few fairly husky and handsome members of the group were segregated. "These," said Tim, "can work in the straight pieces with the girls. These other fellows..." The idea was that these would contribute to the comedy routine. They included a skinny 15-year-old boy, an elderly gentleman

Directors Meek, Mild and Omnivorous When Interviewing Chorus Men

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The chorus men, a fellow nobody ever saw before, though he was present on the screen, is garnering attention today because the draft boards have seen so many of his contemporaries.

He—or the lack of him—has become a major problem in the musicals, and all the studios are making musicals in response to the "escapist" trend. The old-time chorus, hundreds of girls, hundreds of men, is gone with such quaint sayings as "Fill 'er up" and "Are you sure that steak is tender?" Directors, when it comes to chorus men, are as meek as civilians asking "May I have three gallons?"

They used to have try-outs for chorus men. Candidates had to be fairly good-looking, tall and husky, light and tricky on their feet, hep to standard routines and quick to catch new ones. Now they just try to get chorus men—and few questions asked. Directors who used to ask the aspirants "Can you dance?" are now settling for "Can you stand up?" That's what the look in their eyes says, although they're far too tactful to put it in words.

Tim Whelan, not without a struggle, had corralled a group of 16 dancers for the Sinatra musical. Whelan, his producer, Bob Fellows, his dance directors, Ernst and Maria Matray, were looking over the assemblage the other day—and Tim was sighing. "We could dress them up in outlandish clothes," he ventured finally, "for that comedy number. Then—"

They went into a huddle. Upshot was that the few fairly husky and handsome members of the group were segregated. "These," said Tim, "can work in the straight pieces with the girls. Undermining Post-War Jobs

A substantial part of the telephone service of the United States is furnished by thousands of small independent telephone companies. The rates which the public pays are established by public regulatory authorities. Telephone companies must live within those rates. Under the pressure of war-inflated costs and taxes, the struggle to keep alive has grown increasingly tough.

Efficient telephone service is so commonplace that it is difficult to contemplate the confusion that would result in a nation of three million square miles, if telephone communication fell measurably below present standards. And yet the telephone industry cannot be expected to do the impossible. It is in the position of other service industries, such as railroads and electric utilities, that find it impossible, under present tax regulations, to set aside funds to pay for maintenance work that would normally be done at the present time, but which has to be deferred because of material and labor shortages. "Maintenance funds" which should be accumulating for future use, are taxed as current earnings. Meanwhile, properties are deteriorating and when materials and labor are once again available after the war, the companies' surpluses for rehabilitation will have been taxed away, unless tax laws are changed.

Private industry must be the backbone of postwar jobs, or there will be no jobs. Government borrowing and spending cannot take the place of private industry. Too many authorities in high places are blind to this hard truth.

Air Travel Safe

The commercial airlines, despite the new tremendous burden of war transportation, are still doing the same meticulous job of observing mechanical and human safety rules.

Compared with other types of accidents, the air record is almost superlative. In 1943, for instance, while the commercial airlines were building up a record of millions of miles traveled at a cost of injury or death to perhaps a couple of dozen passengers, some 33,000 persons met death within the supposed safety of their homes. They fell off stepladders, tumbled down stairs, and did the innumerable foolish things which cause death within the home. Another 23,000 met death in traffic accidents.

The air safety record is largely the achievement of the commercial air industry itself, and in view of the relatively brief period of its existence, its achievements border on the extraordinary.

It isn't the safety of air travel but the seat priorities which worry the airlines. The safety is there. The priorities are not within their control.

News Behind the News

Spring Heightens Rumors About Grand Assault on Europe

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—Spring-leaving of the trees has heightened rumors and comments concerning the promised grand assault on Europe.

It should not be called a second front. This is an obsolete misnomer the Russians furnished more than a year ago. Since then, the Italian second front has been opened, and the third air front over Germany has become important.

While no one outside knows—or should know—the plans for the grand assault, the best unofficial military analysts naturally have made geographical surveys with the following interesting results:

The Russian drive into Romania plainly calls for an Anglo-American invasion of Yugoslavia to cut across the Balkans and meet the oncoming Russians. This would isolate Bulgaria, Greece and southern Yugoslavia if it could be launched in sufficient strength to bring success.

Second most strategic point for the grand assault would be a power drive through the Netherlands straight into Germany. An ideal plan would call for simultaneous invasions of northern France around LeHavre (aimed up the Seine at Paris) and invasion of the southern coast of France (Garonne and Rhone valleys).

With such a program the grand assault would be in a position to follow the successful Russian tactics and switch attacks from one front to another, thus straining out the German defense line to the utmost and preventing concentration of enemy effort.

The great difficulty with such a scheme however, is that these fronts are not contiguous and different routes of supplies and reserves would have to be maintained for each independently.

Four separate tremendous accumulations of power would be required. The Nazis are supposed to have 675,000 men in France.

In their current ruminations, nearly all the analysts have abandoned interest in the Norwegian and Danish avenues into Europe. Norway, after capture, would not bring military advantages commensurate with the effort of conquest, and Denmark is farther from the heart of Germany than the Netherlands.

These conclusions may not at all guide the military high command, which must be concerned with the problem of resources as much as ideal strategy. But they do represent the summation of discussions now current among authorities, particularly in military magazines.

Now, as to the actual condition on the present German fighting front, their defeat on the southern end of the Russian line has been more serious than the maps show. They have no more ground to sell. Also in their latest retreats, they have failed for the first time to gain enough time to prepare their positions.

The Nazis tried to dig in from Iasi to the Black sea on a fairly good line. But, as this was written, Iasi was half surrounded and in danger of falling. Nothing suggested an ability to hold it, yet less than 200 miles in the rear was of women's and children's wearing apparel at prices no higher than their top lines in March, 1942, when they can no longer stock their shelves at 1942 prices.

They are forced to see their old customers buy from competitors who were not in the low-priced apparel field two years ago and are therefore not subject to the March, 1942, highest price line limitation order, and can buy and sell at current prices.

No philosopher in OPA has yet explained this unexplainable ruling.

Opinion

On and Off Campus

QUESTION: WHAT TYPES OF SPEAKERS WOULD YOU LIKE IN THE NEXT INFORMATION FIRST SERIES?

Gloria Harney, A4 of Aledo, Ill.: "I think we hear the opinions of men on the campus enough. Therefore, we would appreciate more the opinions of outside specialists in any given field. I would like to hear representatives of foreign countries."

Marjorie Mansfield, A3 of Moline, Ill.: "I would like some lectures on world affairs and the place of women in the war. Speakers on foreign affairs would be interesting as would those on the radio."

Patricia Tobin, A2 of Vinton: "I think they had a good variety of speakers this year and should continue along the same line."

Jo Shields, A2 of Chillicothe, Mo.: "I would like to hear someone discuss what it will be like when the war is over, the jobs which will be available for the fellows returning and the fields which will be open for women after the war."

Ann Turock, A2 of Keosauqua: "I enjoyed the speakers who came from foreign countries this year. I should like to hear someone with a knowledge of nature. Dr. Musselman is reported to be good."

Mary Bob Knapp, A3 of Appleton, Wis.: "I think Information First programs should be primarily concerned with current events and have authoritative men who speak on specific instances in world events, such as journalists. Interesting, too, would be men and women chosen as representatives of their particular professions—even more outstanding personages than appear on Career Clinic."

Mary Jane Neville, A3 of Emmetsburg: "I prefer speakers on international affairs, Russia in particular. These are obviously of more lasting importance."

Margaret Shuttleworth, A2 of New York: "Information First is set up to provide information and not to entertain. Therefore, speakers who are well versed on their subjects should be obtained. As many out-of-Iowa speakers as possible should be secured, and if it is a controversial issue, the following week someone should be speaking on the other side of the subject."

During Those Last Hours of Battle for Port of Sevastopol

RUSSIA'S LIBERATION OF THE CRIMEA and the momentary fall of Sevastopol, the historic naval base for which the Germans battled 250 days in 1942 at a cost of 300,000 casualties, draws the attention of the world. Red Army troops, Soviet aircraft and the Russian Black sea fleet hammered relentlessly at enemy units trapped in

Sevastopol and at ships and barges aboard which the Germans sought to flee across the sea (1). Radiophoto at the top shows Red Army men using anti-tank guns and rifles as they advance on the Crimean peninsula. Below is a photo of Sevastopol harbor. No. 2 on map indicates Ovidopol, also taken by Reds. (International)

Opal Roper Weds Roger Lenz in Single Ring Church Service

Before an altar banked with bouquets of gladioli and lighted tapers Opal Roper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Roper of Auburn, became the bride of Roger C. Lenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lenz of Manson, in the First Christian church in Lake City, April 9. The Rev. Roy B. Weakland read the single ring service.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Short of Lake City played the traditional wedding marches on the organ.

The couple was attended by Ruth Severns of Ft. Dodge who served as maid of honor, and Arthur Torkelson of Goldfield, who was best man. Arnold Roper, brother of the bride, ushered.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess-style gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long bridal-point sleeves and a full senior-length train. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a cluster of ruffles made of the same material. Her only jewelry was a two strand pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white Easter lilies.

Miss Severns chose a light pink formal and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roper wore a black street-length dress, also using black accessories. The bridegroom's mother also selected black. Both wore shoulder corsages of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Lake City high school, and is at present a senior in the school of nursing at the University of Iowa.

The first J. C. Penney store in Kemmerer, Wyo., was called the "Golden Rule," a name which aptly describes the Penney way of doing business

YOUR GOOD NEIGHBOR For 42 Years

WHAT we like best to hear people say of us is "Penney's is a neighborly store." And that's what we do hear... often!

For at Penney's we have never outgrown the simple, friendly way of doing business that makes people feel welcome and at home.

We've never outgrown it—in all our 42 years. Back in April 1902, Mr. Penney opened his first store in Kemmerer, Wyoming—a store devoted to friendly service and thrifty prices. And the spirit of that first store has spread to every one of our stores, in over 1600 American communities.

The people who work here at Penney's are neighbors of yours and they try to act as good neighbors should. They sympathize with your likes and dislikes. They belong to this town!

And so does the store where they work! That's why shopping here is so easy, so pleasant!

In time of peace, each passing Penney anniversary was a time for celebration and ceremony.

But this year, upon our 42nd Anniversary, we celebrate simply with a reaffirmation of the Penney spirit—a determination to remain as homelike and neighborly as our many friends expect us to be.

5,705 Fans Watch Orval Grove Hold Tribe to Seven Hits

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox handed the Cleveland Indians a 3 to 1 trimming in the delayed season opener at Comiskey park yesterday before 5,705 fans as Orval Grove held the Tribe to seven hits.

Al Smith, Cleveland southpaw who whipped the Sox five times last year, was the losing hurler. The Sox attack was led by Guy Curtright and rookie Leroy Schalk, who had two hits apiece.

Cincinnati Reds Trim Chi

Series Now Even; Ray Mueller Stars During Fourth Inning

CINCINNATI (AP)—Backed up by Elmer Riddle's three-hit hurling, Cincinnati's Reds trimmed Chicago yesterday, 2-1, on the strength of Ray Mueller's fourth-inning double with two mates on base, and evened the series at one game each.

Don Johnson, a sparkplug in Tuesday's opening day Bruin triumph, doubled in the sixth for his team's only extra-base blow, advanced on Phil Cavarretta's fly to right and scored on Bill Nicholson's drive to Dain Clay in center.

From The Sidelines . . .

by Yoke
Don't say we didn't tell you so but we said that we'd have some good weather for the baseball season and here it is. Of course the fact that this column is written the night before the paper comes out might make me eat these words before the 24 hours is out, but then were willing to take that risk.

You know, someone said that this baseball season was a good deal like a Joe Louis fight—if you didn't get to your seat on time you were sure to miss the whole show. Well, be sure to get out to see the Hawkeys this weekend, because if you don't, there just isn't any more season.

It's just as simple as all that—just a simple little season—without any fuss and bother. It makes it so simple for the sports writers that some of them haven't bothered to turn out for the games at all.

And barring any little confusion yours truly will be on hand via the WSUI microphone to give you the picture of the thing from our little bird's nest atop the fieldhouse.

There is nothing like getting in a little plug for our favorite sports announcer once in a while.

The old adage that turn about is fair play is going to be given adequate proof this Saturday at the triangular meet with the Seahawks, Hawkeys and Gophers. It seems that one of the fellows coming down to represent Minnesota is named Bowden, and it also seems that this certain gent was formerly a cadet at the Pre-Flight school in the long forgotten days of the eighth or ninth bat. Anyway this northern gentleman is one of the mainstays of the Gopher team, having previously taken a second in the Chicago relays and a third in the Purdue relays.

He'll be in there after having received a medical discharge from the navy service at an advanced base.

This Dick Wakefield, rookie star for the Detroit Tigers last year, is quite a fellow. They have him running in the sprint in the track meet, putting the shoe to the wind with his work with the baseball line. Picture here of a bunch of coaches seated around a poker table shooting for the services of Mr. Wakefield.

Detroit Tigers Take Browns

DETROIT (AP)—The St. Louis Browns got three-hit pitching yesterday from the veteran Steve Sundra to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 1, for a 2 to 0 series edge. Rudy York homered for Detroit's lone run in the fourth. It was York's 1,000th major league hit.

Brooklyn Dodgers Tilt Philly Blue-Jays, 5-4; Chipman Top Pitcher

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Youth and old age worked hand-in-hand to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 decision over the Philadelphia Blue-Jays, yesterday.

Rookie hurler, Bob Chipman, relieving Curt Davis in the ninth inning for the Dodgers halted the Phillies after they had tied the score and hurled hitless ball in the 10th to gain credit for the victory.

Veteran Paul Waner, pinch hitting for Gene Mauch in the 10th inning lined a single to center for his 3,113th major league hit to score another rookie, Clancy Snyers with the winning run.

Sports Trail . . .

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Because a kid can jump the creek in his dad's pasture doesn't necessarily mean he can hop across a real river when he comes to it, so maybe it would be a mistake to expect too much from the rookies in the majors this year just because they were something extra as minor leaguers.

At that, they might do better than most rookies usually do, as for one thing, they'll get more chances to play, and for another thing major league ball this year isn't on the whole much better than they have been playing. That is, it's "A" or double "A" ball, or so we are told.

Anyway, there are enough really good rookies in the National league this year to indicate that, were they all concentrated on one team, that team might be a pretty stout pennant contender.

For catcher you could use Andy Seminick of the Phils, who batted .303 for Knoxville last year and drove in 83 runs. He was rated the fourth most valuable player in his league, and doubled as an outfielder.

There are a flock of good rookie pitchers. There is Charley Schanz or "Charley Chan," of the Phils

Broadened Viewpoint Characterizes Letter From Former A. S. T. P. Student in Africa

The worry of persons whose loved ones have gone to war is that they will come back changed. Perhaps, however, the change will be for the good. Perhaps it will be a broadening of viewpoints, a deeper love of America and home.

Such is the admitted case of Staff Sgt. Frank E. Leland, formerly stationed here in army specialized training program, who is now in Africa. He writes:

"As you remember, I used to be quite a traveler in my own country, but I certainly never thought my sojourn would set me off on this continent of Africa. At any rate I'm here, and along with my special mission I shall endeavor to add to my mediocre knowledge of global interests. Already some of my traits of narrow-mindedness, so to speak, concerning other nations and people are gradually disappearing and in their place a new perspective is taking root. However, I need not travel this distance to notice that even I am observed for my peculiarities and idiosyncrasies.

"When I was in college I always felt that a student from the south or east was a person having a character of his own and that in speech, dress and manners he was much different than we. To me they were unusual curiosities direct from some art shop. But when I went south to live for a year and into the New England states for several months, I soon discovered that I was the rare article, the object of interest and inquiry.

"It reminds me of the boy who boasted that his town had the biggest swimming pool and truly believed it until he went to a neighboring town and there saw one much larger.

"As soon as one becomes acquainted with a real face-to-face view of a new country, he begins to ask why this and that is so. For instance, why do some countries progress and advance and others seem never to move forward? Here is a continent with favorable climate and good soil, yet it is backward in many respects. The pioneer who broke the virgin soil in Iowa, using crude methods of agriculture, would be an asset to the methods in vogue here.

"Perhaps there are two reasons why the northern countries have had a quick and steady growth in industry and agriculture. The resources were there, such as coal, iron, lumber, water-power, steel and water transportation. These men soon learned to use in many ways.

"Second, the cold climate caused man to seek new methods of acquiring a living for his own comfort. In other words, necessity is the mother of invention. Say what you may, I am glad that I am an American and feel that we all should be grateful that we live in the U. S. A. So when you sing "America the Beautiful," give it all you have because we over here are fighting to keep it beautiful in every way possible."

Golfers' Association Maps Summer Plans

CHICAGO (AP)—The Professional Golfers association of America is mapping a 10-tournament summer program—the richest and probably the most cut-and-dried in the game's history.

War bond prizes estimated at $150,000 will be awarded during the three-month campaign starting with the $17,500 Philadelphia Invitational June 8-11. A combine of four players—Byron Nelson, Jug McSpaden, Craig Wood, and Sammy Byrd—threatens to monopolize the bonanzas. They are the only outstanding championship contenders remaining in circulation, and, among them, won seven of nine meets on the revived winter tour which paid off $100,000 in bonds. McSpaden took four of the titles.

Also on the golden summer trail will be such "name" boys as Willie Goggin, Johnny Revolta, the Texas open champion, Toney Penna, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Hines, Ed Dudley, Gene Sarazen and possibly even Walter Hagen.

Legislature Approves Absentee Mail Ballots

Under a new law passed by special session of the Iowa legislature, all service men and women are permitted to vote by absentee mail ballot anytime before the June primaries, according to Ed Sulek, county auditor.

A few Johnson county service men have applied for absentee voters' ballots, and servicemen in Iowa City during this period may vote with absentee ballot in person at the auditor's office.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Although the Japanese thrust in India toward communication lines of General Stilwell's Chinese-American forces has centered public attention here and in England on that sector, it is a fair guess that developments a thousand miles to the south are gravely troubling Tokio.

An American air raid on the Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal has been reported from Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's new headquarters in Kandy, Ceylon. The planes blasted at Japanese shipping in Port Blair harbor on the lower end of the south Andaman group.

That is the best harbor in the Andaman and Nicobar groups that lie off Burma, the Malay peninsula and Sumatra. They form a Japanese defensive arc nearly 800 miles long guarding Bay of Bengal approaches to the Straits of Malacca and Singapore. There is no doubt that they figured importantly in allied high strategy concepts underlying the creation of the allied southeastern Asia command and the assignment of Admiral Mountbatten to that post.

The jurisdiction of this outstanding British navy exponent of amphibian command operations extends also, apparently, to north-eastern India and northern Burma. His assignment left no reasonable doubt, however, that the main allied attack from the west on the Japanese-held Dutch Indies and the Malay peninsula will be an amphibian thrust from bases across the Bay of Bengal in southern India and Ceylon.

That is Mountbatten's offensive. His land forces and air power in Burma and India are primarily on the defensive. That distinction to military minds is sharply drawn. It probably accounts for the optimism with which both Mountbatten's headquarters and General Auchinleck, British commander in India, have viewed the Japanese incursions into India.

Mountbatten certainly did not shift his headquarters from New Delhi to Ceylon for any reason connected with the situation in northern Burma and Assam. The change clearly meant that preparations had been sufficiently advanced to make desirable his presence and that of his staff closer to the scene of action.

In effect, the bombing of Port

Blair can be viewed as the opening skirmish of that attack, distant as any actual invasion thrust into the Andamans or against southern Burma, the Malay peninsula or Sumatra still may be. Allied planes have flown over the Andamans before but they were merely scouting trips. The American heavies in their daylight raid on Port Blair were doing more than that. They were feeling out enemy defenses.

Victory Garden Head Concludes 1944 Plan For Fruit Tree Care

Prof. C. E. Cousins, head of the Victory garden division of the office of civilian defense, states that plans have been completed for the spraying of fruit trees during the 1944 season.

Letters with enclosed postcards have been mailed to all Iowa Citizens on last year's spraying list, and Professor Cousins requests that all persons receiving letters return cards to the OCD requesting spraying of fruit trees. Persons not on last year's list who want fruit trees sprayed may write the OCD stating name, address and phone number and kind of trees to be sprayed.

M. G. Viers and J. R. Streb will do the spraying at a cost of thirty cents per tree. Cherry trees will be sprayed twice, apple, pear, plum and peach trees four to six times. First spraying will begin before the blossoms open and will continue at intervals until the end of July.

'Little Hawk,' City High School Newspaper, Put Out Bi-Weekly By Journalism Students

Of the 500 or more noses counted in City high school, several of them can be classified in the "nose for news" category. Tomorrow the journalism staff puts out its sixth issue of the school paper, "Little Hawk."

The paper, printed every two weeks by a local printing service and written and edited by a regular staff of high school journalism students, was launched in its present form this semester and represents many hours of work.

Last year, some space was devoted to City high's activities in a local paper, but with the discontinuing of this page students began writing a mimeographed publication of six or eight pages. Publication of this "baby" newspaper required hours of news gathering, writing, typing and finally tedious hours of running it through the mimeograph machine by the time Friday came around.

With the initiation of the new "Little Hawk," four large sheets were printed at a 50 cent subscription rate. The paper reaches over 400 students, 70 percent of the school enrollment. Advertising was a new angle where the staff was concerned, however a large amount of advertising space now is filled by local retail stores.

"The student body as a whole is very pleased with the new publication," said Irah Miller, adviser to the student staff. Her class meets twice weekly for news assignments and beat coverage, writing stories and the completing job of winding up all copy for the printer to linotype. Writers for the inside sheets have the Friday preceding the publication date as their deadline while the printer holds front page for late news stories.

"Merchants have been quite cooperative, and the students enjoy the advertising a great deal," said Miss Miller.

The comparative simplicity involved in "putting the paper in the hands of a capable printer" rather than doing a mimeograph job has eliminated all lag in the journalists' enthusiasm.

Within the four page publication are found stories about clubs and personalities, a humor column, a fashion column, poems written by high school students, editorials, sports sidelights and a list of birthdays for the month, entitled "Ranking a Spanking."

A picture of a hawk will serve as a permanent name plate although the staff whistles proudly over the April 5 Easter issue which featured on the front page a large green rabbit created from a linoleum cut done by a student.

Although regular staff members usually edit the paper, they are now working on the Red and White, school yearbook. Assistants are fulfilling the head staff
