Allies Smash Nazi Defenses In Liri Valley

Recapture Terracina; First Canadian Corps Hits Fortress Towns

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples (AP)—Canadian tanks broke through the heart of the Hitler line yesterday and swept up the Liri valley to the Melfa river, 13 miles from Cassino; American troops recaptured Terracina on the coast, and a Yank armored advance burst from the Anzio beachhead and cut the Appian way barely 25 miles from Rome.

The Canadians, thrown into the Italian fighting as a separate army corps for the first time, smashed through the Hitler line at its strongest point and raced on five miles beyond Pontecorvo, threatening to trap German garrisons there and at Aquino, two of the most powerful fortress-towns in the enemy defense belt.

Supported by tanks, American troops fought their way back into Terracina after an hour and a half battle early yesterday, in which they crushed German defenses in a hillside cemetery before the coastal town, American patrols first entered Terracina last Sunday, only to retire when Nazi reserves were rushed against them.

Re-occupation of the town brought the Americans in the coastal sector to the southern tip of the Pontine plain, less than 30 miles down the Appian way from where bitter fighting raged for 10 days in the Anzio beachhead.

Senate Group Blocks Patton's Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an echo of the soldier-slapping incident which stirred a sharp controversy six months ago, the senate military affairs committee yesterday blocked "indefinitely" the promotion of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. to the permanent rank of major general.

The committee recommended senate confirmation of promotions for 13 other high-ranking officers but pigeon-holed Patton's advancement despite a subcommittee report favoring the promotion.

Committee members said that, in addition to opposition growing out of Patton's ousting of an enlisted soldier in a Sicilian hospital last year, some senators were critical of the recent London speech in which Patton said it was the destiny of the United States, Great Britain and Russia to "rule the world."

Patton had been nominated by President Roosevelt for a two-grade advancement from colonel of cavalry through the rank of brigadier general to major general.

50 Lumber Mills Close in Northwest

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Fifty lumber mills of the Pacific northwest were closed and another serious threat of a general shutdown of the entire billion-dollar vital war materials industry loomed last night.

Boom men-workers handling logs going to mills by water-walked off their jobs at Tacoma to join the estimated 15,000 mill employees who quit in protest against the War Labor board's denial of wage increases.

BOATHOUSES INUNDATED ON HIGHWAY NO. 218

THREE BOATHOUSES belonging to Jim Sitka, Fred Mahan Jr. and Les Sullivan, succumbed to the flood by the Butler bridge on Highway No. 218 north of the Mayflower Inn yesterday. To remove the motor from the boat in the center house, the roof was pried off and the motor taken from the small boat, which was then floated out. Some cottages in this vicinity have been uprooted by the flood and have turned completely about in position. A screen porch was ripped off the Mahan cottage by the force of the waters. The City park area was completely underwater last night, though the flood level was falling slowly.

River Reaches Crest At 18.1 Feet; Falls

Interurban Service Resumed Yesterday; 30 Homes Flooded

Its fury spent, the Iowa river began falling slowly yesterday afternoon, after cresting at 18.1 feet at 2 a. m. Wednesday morning, and interurban service between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids was resumed.

While the river level was at 17.5 at 9:30 last night, some eight and one-half feet above flood stage, nearly 30 families were unable to return to their homes and much of the lowland territory in Johnson county was under two to four feet of water.

At Coralville, swift currents still coursed through the streets and the power plant continued pumping there to combat water into the basement, though the water had dropped 11 inches in a period of five hours yesterday.

This power plant supplies the electricity for Iowa City and surrounding areas. Should the plant be put out of commission, however, Cedar Rapids could still supply power by means of the inter-connecting high voltage lines to Coralville.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A maze of legal debate yesterday bogged down the mass sedition conspiracy trial in United States district court.

Flood Waters At Ottumwa Still Rising

DES MOINES (AP)—The flood-swollen Des Moines river last night continued on the rampage from above Des Moines to Ottumwa, 90 miles to the southeast.

The greatest danger appeared to be at Ottumwa, where an estimated 500 persons were driven from their homes and a five-foot rise in the river was forecast by Friday.

In Des Moines, a levee break had sent flood waters over River-view park, the city's largest amusement park, over the old Western league baseball park and Birdland park.

Below Des Moines, farmers continued their round-the-clock battle to save a two-mile levee which protects thousands of acres of rich farm land. The river level stood 10 feet above the level of the land behind the levee.

Meanwhile, the tremendous cost of six days of tornadoes and floods in Iowa was emphasized by the estimate of a Red Cross representative who had surveyed part of the stricken area.

He estimated the damage to buildings in 15 northwest and central Iowa counties at $2,345,000, but that was only a part of the loss. It did not cover livestock losses, which are expected to be heavy in flood areas, or damage to property other than buildings.

Army Orders Increase In Arms Production

Program to Require Re-Opening of Plants Previously Closed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tremendous increase in the heavy artillery program has been ordered by the army on the eve of the invasion of Europe, officials disclosed last night.

For weapons of 155 millimeter and greater, ammunition requirements have been stepped up an average of 400 to 500 percent, with the increase for some sizes running as high as 1,000 percent above current schedules.

Some phases of the program already are underway and by mid-summer it will require the reopening of some of the TNT production lines, the powder plants and the bag-loading plants previously closed by the army or placed on a stand-by basis.

Already the revised program has sent army production officials scouring the country for additional forging, machine and heat-treating capacity in industry to make the shells and the various component parts, such as fuses.

The production changes reflect a significant shift from lighter to heavy artillery in the combat areas, particularly Italy, where the rate of fire has greatly exceeded expectations and battle tests have concentrated the attention of commanders of the larger guns.

Warren Asks Name Be Kept Off Ticket

Earl Warren asked California's 50 Republican national convention delegates yesterday not to present his name to the convention "for any position"—a move interpreted in Washington political circles as leaving Warren still subject to "draft" for second place on the ticket.

Churchill Discusses— Terms for Surrender

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared yesterday that Germany might have her home frontier reduced after the war if that should seem necessary for future peace and he advocated a post-war "world organization" armed with "overwhelming military power" to keep this peace.

Churchill specifically though diplomatically advised Spain and Turkey that an allied victory was coming with or without the support of new recruits and declaring that the war has been growing "less ideological in character," he said "there seems to be a great desire among the people of Britain and Russia to be friends."

Opening a foreign policy debate in the house of commons, Churchill spoke for an hour and 25 minutes, running the gamut of Britain's foreign relations. He said the British commonwealth and empire were ranged in complete unity with the allies. "To beat the enemy as soon as possible."

He mentioned only once the "western front" as it is commonly defined and then to observe jocularly that "all this talk" of invasion across the channel was keeping Hitler frantic. He gave no hint as to when or where the assault would be.

Japan as well as Germany were placed by Churchill beyond all hope of negotiation short of utter capitulation. "The principle of unconditional surrender will be adhered to as far as Nazi Germany and Japan are concerned."

Biddle Upholds Order Of FDR to Seize Chicago Ward Plant

Says Failure to Back WLB Would Result In Increased Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General Biddle declared yesterday that President Roosevelt would have "risks disaster" if he had not ordered the Montgomery Ward plant in Chicago seized and added that the use of troops to do it probably avoided violence.

Unless the action was taken to end a labor dispute, Biddle told a house committee, the government might as well have told all labor and industry that it did not intend to back up its own War Labor board. This might have led to widespread strikes which would have menaced the war effort, he contended.

Case Justified Steps Timidity might have avoided "criticism" for the president, Biddle asserted, but the character of the case, the size and nature of the business and the defiance of the company justified the steps.

Biddle said the decision to use troops came after Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Ward's refused to recognize the authority of United States marshals.

Invasion Chief Radios Duties To Patriots

LONDON (AP)—Allied invasion commander Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last night sought to turn Europe's restless millions into a vast espionage force to support the impending allied blow from the west, with the broadcast of new sets of concise spy instructions to the European underground.

In the third such broadcast via the allied radio a spokesman for the supreme commander called upon peoples of the occupied countries of western Europe to supply complete and accurate information on the enemy's movements when the invasion gets underway.

The broadcast stressed accuracy but warned the people, however, to do nothing active now. "Meanwhile, he (Eisenhower) urges you to act with the utmost caution, exercise patience, associate only with trusted patriots and, above all, maintain the discipline without which the enemy can destroy you," the speaker said.

A short form of the report, which the people were asked to memorize, included the essential headings of when, what and how many, where and in what direction and at what speed and anything special noted concerning the enemy's movements.

Meanwhile, German puzzlement over allied plans was seen clearly in conflicting dispatches from the Nazi-controlled press and radio. From the channel a German naval correspondent reported that while great pre-invasion air battles are raging "there is no sign of invasion by sea, particularly not in the channel, the Gulf of Biscay or the North sea."

New Guinea Yanks Push on Sarmi Base

U. S. Patrols Find 500 Jap Graves In North Solomons

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Thursday (AP)—United States Sixth army units battling toward the airfields of the Japanese near Sarmi, Dutch New Guinea, have crossed the Tor river, headquarters reported today.

Today's communique also reported a strike by southwest Pacific planes at Truk in the Carolines during which two of 40 enemy interceptors were shot down and 84 tons of bombs were dropped by attacking Liberators. On Bougainville in the northern Solomons, where Japanese garrisons have been without a supply line to Rabaul since February, headquarters reported the discovery of 70 abandoned enemy dead and the graves of 500 others.

A similar picture was given of the plight of the Japanese routed from Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea.

"Our patrols are beginning to find enemy dead of disease, starvation and privation," the communique said.

WFA Said to Hold Authority to Order Whiskey Rationing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate liquor shortage investigating committee made public yesterday a statement from Grover B. Hill, assistant War Food administrator, that the WFA has the power to order nation-wide rationing of whiskey.

While it probably could not require the release of present stocks from government warehouses, Hill asserted, it could direct that whiskey available for sale be allocated so as to result in "fair and equitable distribution" of a scarce commodity.

Knock Down 77 Nazi Ships

Count 32 Bombers, 16 Fighters, Lost In Daylight Attack

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—Berlin experienced an air raid alert today as RAF night bombers apparently followed-up a record American-led daylight assault of 7,000 sorties against fortress Europe.

A target of Flying Fortress bombs Wednesday, the German capital was warned by the Nazi radio of the approach of night raiders shortly after midnight. It was the 11th American raid on Berlin.

From the Atlantic wall to points deep in the Balkans more than 5,500 tons of explosives were dropped by British-based and Italy-based squadrons in the daylight attacks.

77 Germans Shot Down Seventy-seven German fighters were shot down in fierce sky battles along the route to Berlin, which was attacked by a strong force of Flying Fortresses from above a cloud cover, while from all British-based operations by Americans 32 bombers and 16 fighters were missing, the United States strategic air forces announced tonight.

A Liberator wing pounced on the Paris area, undefended by the over-matched Nazi air force, and hammered enemy airfields at Melun and Orly to the south and Creil to the northeast, making its bomb runs against light to moderate flak.

In a gigantic co-ordinated assault, allied bombers and fighters from bases in Italy flew 2,700 sorties, striking in the vicinity of Vienna, at rail links in northern Italy and at other targets in Austria and Yugoslavia.

Other fighter and fighter bombers in this sixth straight day of aerial invasion raked railroads and airfields behind channel fortifications in occupied France and Belgium. These, with the bigger raids on Berlin and Paris, added up to 3,800 sorties from Britain.

Red Broadcast Hints At New Offensive

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—Possibly signaling a big new offensive on the eastern front, the Moscow radio said in a broadcast to the Red army today: "Soon you will be called on to accomplish the liberation of Soviet territory and also to liberate other European nations from the German Fascist oppressor."

A Russian communique early today announced that four German attacks northwest of Tiraspol, on the lower Dnestr river, were repelled yesterday by Soviet artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire.

The assaults cost the Germans 400 dead, 20 tanks and four self-propelled guns, said the broadcast communique.

Army, Navy in the Postwar World—

Many of our leading statesmen and military strategists are advocating that America maintain a strong, powerful armed force in the post war world. Newly appointed Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal is only one among many who are frankly in favor of establishing a sea force second to none in the days after World War Two has been brought to its conclusion.

What about a huge army and navy after the war? Is that what peace loving Americans really want? The advocates of strong armed forces might say yes. They declare that we must get rid of our idealistic dreams of "peace for those who want it" and must now realize that only by protecting our interests from intruders can we hope to gain the end of lasting peace that has been set up as our major goal.

There is a certain amount of truth in this statement. Certainly as long as nations with riches such as ours are as completely unguarded and unprotected as we were, other states, less fortunate, are sure to pounce upon them in hopes of reversing the "have and have not" catalogues. Obviously, we must have some protection against such aggressor nations. No defense at all is sure to be fatal.

But, at the same time we must remember that we ourselves can never be powerful alone to ward off all future foes. Alliances and federations could be formed against us which would cause our armed forces plenty of trouble, not to speak of the effect economic pressure would have on our coveted high standard of living.

In other words, the only way to really insure our security—and peace too—is by working actively with other nations in the construction of the post war world. Certainly, we may sometime be drawn into a conflict against some aggressor nation. But, our chances of going to war are much slimmer than if we remain at home and concentrate merely on establishing a giant fighting force.

Then, too, think of the huge cost of maintaining a big army and navy. Look what we are paying today to develop and keep operating our powerful fighting forces. Do we want to keep paying this kind of bill each year, for something that is in itself no sure guarantee of lasting peace?

Finally, do we want to invest in something which is meant for war, something which goes stale if it is not used every so often. For, despite all the rationalizing by those who want a powerful military force in America, there is no getting away from the fact that such a force is in itself a strong incentive for going to war.

No nation has ever had a strong military force for any length of time and remained at peace.

And, we in America, hope to remain at peace. . . .

The New 'AA' Organization Now Has 130 Members in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—A politician who had been drinking daily for the last 15 years, a plumber still shaky from his last big "binge," two salesmen, and an attorney met last October in the attorney's office here to form the first Alcoholics Anonymous group in Iowa.

Since that quintet—all drunkards by admission—first met seven months ago, the Des Moines organization has grown to some 80 members and five new groups have sprung up in other Iowa cities.

An organization spokesman here estimated today that about 130 AA members are now scattered throughout the state.

National Organization
Alcoholics Anonymous, a national organization, has but one purpose—to lead back to a life of sobriety hard drinking men and women, who are willing to admit that their lives have become unmanageable through use of alcohol. It accomplishes its aims through a mixture of medicine, religion, and big doses of fraternal association.

"Members who slip after joining the club," a Des Moines member said, "are most often those who miss a couple of our weekly meetings."

15 Percent Slip
Figures as compiled by one of the original five of the state show "slip" after becoming AA members. Seventy-five percent of those joining Iowa clubs are "winners" (AA terms for those who never take another drink) from the start. Of the others, 15 percent slip but return to the winners. Ten percent are lost.

AA groups have been formed at Waterloo, Burlington, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, and Sioux City. All but Sioux City, which was organized through Omaha, have been started through the work of Des Moines members. Formation of a club at Davenport is under way.

After meeting at private homes, offices, and restaurants, the Des Moines group rented its own club rooms last March, taking over a former downtown restaurant. Here members gather for their weekly meetings, daily from two to 12 members drop in at noon or in the evening to prepare their own meals with equipment which the group has obtained through voluntary donations.

Rich Cross Section
An AA club provides a rich cross-section of life. There are lawyers and doctors, brick masons and plumbers; rich men and poor men; young men and old men. The Des Moines group has two women members.

A "get together" of club members from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, and Omaha is planned for late this summer, the leader of the Des Moines group said. Some 400 members and their wives are expected to attend.

"We can't call it a convention," this spokesman explained. "We have no officers to elect, no membership lists to check and expand, and we never hold formal meetings."

New members quickly learn two important things about the AA group they are joining. There are no membership charges or hidden fees, and no one is trying to sell any religion with which to battle alcoholism.

An AA program of 12 steps is presented to the new members, the first three of which are the hardest to master—admit he is powerless over alcohol, come to believe that a power greater than himself could restore him to sanity, and make a decision to turn his will and life over to the "care of God as he understands him."

"The toughest thing for an alcoholic to do is to admit he is an alcoholic," the Des Moines member said, "and the next to admit there's someone bigger than he. But when he can get to admit these things and attend a meeting, he invariably becomes a winner."

News Behind the News

Teachers Realize Progressive Education Theory Will Not Work

WASHINGTON—The Birmingham Teachers association poll showed, in a provable, specific instance, the condition of affairs inside the schools of the country—a condition confirmed by my mail from teachers in many cities. It helpfully points a direct way for improvement.

The teachers realize the progressive education theory will not work either with a big P or a little p. The high school teachers, seeing the pupils the grammar schools are sending up to them, ungrounded in fundamental figures-and-facts education, are almost unanimously against the progressive education theory in any of the varying degrees which the educational trust has imposed upon them.

So also are the top half of the elementary grades teachers. They see what the first, second, and third grades are sending up to them in the way of uneducatable children.

Among the teachers, only those in the first few grades like the idea of turning school into a kindergarten. There, then, is where the primary fault lies. There is where correction must start.

The fundamentals of education, leading up to both scholarship and discipline, must be restored to the lowest grades; otherwise, we will continue to turn out children who have developed only a fraction of their wits. Unless they are started right, the rest of their schooling is a waste of time.

But another part of the poll suggests how difficult that simple solution may be to accomplish. Among the principals polled—the administrators in charge of each Birmingham school—only one principal "agreed with Mr. Mallon" (as the BTA bulletin puts it), 10 disagreed, and three were on middle ground.

"There is certainly something significant in the almost unanimous opposition of the principals to Mr. Mallon's contentions, while such a high percentage of the classroom teachers agrees with the columnist," the BTA says, "and tells what it thinks this significance is:

"Progressive education has gone over big with the administrators, many believe, because it is showy; it can be pictured and advertised in the papers and magazines. A pupil who has made an elaborate scrap book will get more attention than one who has mastered the binomial theorem or learned that the underlying causes of civil war.

The scrap book goes over big at the PTA-fathers' night, state fairs, and educational conventions."

This is true, but I wonder if there is an additional explanation. The progressive educational group has attempted to break up my business of columning because I got into this question as a sideline public service. They have induced a few editors to quit; others to leave my column out when it

Campaigner Says Service Act Needed For Final Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—One woman has launched a drive to get millions of others to support a bill which would register women for Uncle Sam's service in wartime.

She is Ernesta Barlow of New York, chairman of the women's division of a citizen's committee for a national war service act.

The war service act now before the military affairs committees of the house and senate would give the president sweeping power in any job deemed necessary to victory. Under its provisions men from 18 to 65 and women from 18 to 50 (with certain exceptions) would be registered for service in factory, field and other places contributing to the nation's war effort.

Wife of Musician
Mrs. Barlow, dashing, dark-eyed, white-haired wife of Samuel Barlow, New York musician, is known to radio audiences as "Commando Mary," a commentator on women's war work. She became interested in industry's manpower problems, during her visits to more than 50 war plants made in the course of her work, and plunged into support of the national war service act. She called a New York meeting of 175 key women from New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New Jersey to mobilize woman power in support of the bill.

"The cut-backs and layoffs in some war industries in the last few months have confused a lot of people," Mrs. Barlow says. "They think industry has more help than it needs. That's a very mistaken idea. Manpower commissioner Paul McNutt has pointed out that many of these cut-backs are merely shifts, as factories retool for a new type of war machine."

Writes Grenville Barker
Obtaining the support of a number of women at the New York meeting, Mrs. Barlow wrote Grenville Barker, who founded the citizen's committee for a national war service act and suggested they work together. As a result Mrs. Barlow became head of the women's division of the committee which includes Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former U. S. ambassador to Norway; Mrs. Archibald McLeish, wife of the librarian of congress, and author Margaret Culkin Banning. Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. McLeish recently had talks with Secretary of War Stimson and the late Secretary of the Navy Knox.

Now the women's division plans to appoint 48 state chairmen who will in turn work with local committees through the channels of news, radio and public speeches to arouse women's support to the national war service act.

Iowa Takes Challenge For Paper Collection

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa has accepted Ohio's challenge for a waste paper collection contest to determine which state can increase their monthly per capita totals. Three organizations have joined to conduct the drive in the state, George Lloyd, state salvage chairman, has announced.

"Iowa has always done its share in any critical national program," he said, "and we're glad to accept this Ohio challenge."

Salvage chairmen throughout the state have been notified of this special paper salvage drive. Working together in the drive are Lloyd's salvage group, the Iowa industrial and defense commission represented by Bernard F. Nowack, state director, citizens' service group; and the salvage division of the WPB, of which Herbert C. Plagman is executive secretary.

"Our aim is to raise paper collections to five pounds per person per month," Lloyd said. "At present per capita collections have been three pounds."

The five-pound per capita goal would mean 6,000 tons of waste paper salvaged a month in the state.

On and Off Campus—Opinion—

WHAT PRECAUTIONS DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE TAKEN TO INSURE FLOOD CONTROL IN THE FUTURE?

Arthur Musack, maintenance mechanic of Coralville: "They were supposed to put in a government dam between North Liberty and Iowa City, but it never was done. They surveyed the project and then rejected it, so I don't know whether it would work or not. They should build a levee on the west bank of Coralville which would at least save houses from being flooded."

I. J. Justice, taxicab driver of Iowa City: "I think they should build higher levees especially in Coralville and they should have built the dam between North Liberty and Iowa City."

Al Dolezal, assistant fire chief: "We should have more equipment to work with, such as boats, ropes, sandbags, etc."

Ed Knoedel, fireman: "I think that if a dam were built north of Coralville the river here might be under better control."

Joe Deizel, policeman: "I don't think there is a way to control the floods unless it would help to dredge the river or set the levees back farther."

Pvt. Thomas Daniels of Louisville, Ken., stationed here with the A. S. T. R. P. "One thing we can do is build flood walls like they have on the banks of the Ohio. Another good idea would be to dredge the river so water would sink down instead of spreading out."

A sailor of Rhinelander, Wis., stationed in Iowa City: "I think that levees require too much money and territory, so the most practical method would be to have a series of dams upstream."

A farmer of Cedar County: "It wouldn't hurt to build higher levees in places where they are badly needed such as Coralville. Of course this flood is unusual and Iowa City seems more protected than other places around here."

T. W. Wendell, farmer, Iowa City: "It happens so seldom I don't suppose flood control is given much thought during low water times, but I would suggest more surveys by the geological survey people."

P. O. Olsen, farmer, Iowa City: "I would suggest dikes to protect the highways to insure travel even when there is high water."

John T. Logan, salesman, Grand Island, Neb.: "Dikes would be a great help if they wouldn't entail too much expense for the use they would be put to. Highways should be protected above all things."

Overseas Draft Issue Revived in Canada

QUEBEC (AP)—The conscription issue is alive again in Canada, with most of the country lined up against the French-Canadian one-third of the nation which steadfastly opposes drafting men for overseas duty.

Outsiders might think from surface facts that Canada is fighting with only two-thirds of her potential, but actually she is in an all-out effort and the practical effect of the French stand is easily overestimated.

While the opposition to the principle of overseas conscription is blunt, in practice the French Canadians are serving abroad in large numbers, perhaps more than two of every three eligible.

Several factors have combined to highlight the dispute again, but nothing is likely to be done immediately to change the compromise formula under which the government, with the legal right to introduce general conscription, has declined to invoke it, and in deference to French Canada conscripts only for western hemisphere duty. Yet 90 percent of her forces are overseas, through volunteering.

The issue seems likely to hinge on the progress of the allied invasion of Europe. If the invasion goes well the conscription issue probably will resolve itself; if it does not go well, the problem will be only one of a grave galaxy hanging over the allies.

Canada as a whole voted 2 to 1 to authorize overseas conscription, with the French solidly against it.

Against the rest of the French Canada's war effort there is no criticism. Quebec has developed many a war industry where no industry at all existed before. In the fifth victory loan the province bought $401,000,000 worth of bonds against a goal of $326,000,000.

The issue is alive again now because Canada, like other allied nations, is getting to the bottom of her manpower pool and because several provincial and federal elections are in the offing, tempting politicians to make the most of racial prejudices for campaign purposes.

port: "I would suggest organizing a council of engineers to make plans now to prevent any future occurrences."

Anna Marie Rider, A1 of Missoula, Mont.: "I would suggest a more adequate reforestation, soil conservation and crop rotation program enforced with a better system of dams."

Glimpses at the Front—

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, (AP) — Flashes from Europe's southern front:

When French forces battered bloody into tiny Castel Forte, General Clark congratulated them in a message which said they were on their way to "the ultimate liberation of France."

A French corporal who had led a squad through the thickest of the fighting heard the message, leaned against a shattered building, looked north and said: "Well, I can't see the Ifel tower yet, but we're making progress."

The bearded sergeant in the hospital collection company station was one of the walking wounded. A piece of shrapnel had hit the back of his neck, ripping loose his shirt and undershirt. His body was stained with mud and blood. It had been his first time in the lines.

As he started out the door for a field hospital farther back he turned around defiantly and said the sort of thing you read in novels and hear in movies but almost never hear along the battle front:

"Man for man," he said belligerently to no one in particular, "there isn't a German as good as me."

But men at the front say strange things at times. Pfc. Eugene Hill of Brainard, Minn., and Pvt. H. J. Trim of Palestine, Texas, came straggling over the hill with six German prisoners. Small arms fire chattered beyond the hilltop.

Men clustered around the tall broad-shouldered Trim wanting to know how they'd captured the prisoners. But the tired Texan was neither looking at the Germans nor thinking of them. He rested on his rifle, spoke almost to himself:

"One of the boys in my squad was killed right at first. He never even got a chance to fire a shot."

There was Pvt. Joseph Schechters, 30, from New York City, who fought steadily for about 12 hours in front of Santa Maria Infante. He saw a battalion aid station blown up. He thought he was a goner again and again.

But he had only one thing on his mind.

"Our men did the best job they could," he said feverishly. Nobody doubted it. The records showed it. But he repeated:

"They got their share of casualties, but they did the best job they could."

One of the most eerie sounds the night of the big offensive started was the shrill scream of a woman, repeated again and again. It echoed in wild high pitched tones of pain or fear across a valley on the front.

No one knew which side she was on or how she got up there, or what was the matter. And no one found out then or later. Pretty soon her screams stopped.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

Upper Pincer of Allied Trap Rolls Northeastward From Anzio

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The ponderous upper pincer of a deadly allied trap in Italy is rolling northeastward from the Anzio beachhead, threatening the reeling Germans with more than the loss of Rome. It is aimed at cutting off all Nazi troops south of Rome from direct escape northward or into the mountains that form the spine of the Italian peninsula.

The point of the main allied attack in the north apparently is Cisterna, road and rail junction of the Apennine way at the northeast corner of the Anzio beachhead. The town is also the indicated anchor point for the right wing of the last potential German defense front south of Rome.

A Fifth army breakthrough, to seize it and push beyond into the Sacco valley, would knife across the Via Cassilina, inshore main road between Rome and Naples, far in reach of Nazi forces battered by the Fifth and Eighth army more than 50 miles to the south in the lower Liri valley. It would leave the enemy no choice but a quick flight from the Terracina-Piedmonte front in the south. Berlin announcement of the Nazi evacuation of Pico on the Liri front indicates that the expected general German retreat already is in progress.

The fact that the allied drive in the north is being directed by General Mark Clark, Fifth army commander, indicates the importance of the lunge from the Anzio beachhead. Selection of the Cisterna corner for the main thrust tends to bear that out.

Cisterna in German hands balked the first allied attempt to the Anzio landings to cut across vital coastal and inshore communications of Sherman front in the south. It stands about midway of the low saddle between the Alban hills just below Rome and the Lepini mountains forming the south side of the Sacco valley.

The probable final line of Nazi resistance below Rome runs through that saddle from Palestrina or Genazzana in the mountains north of the Sacco, through Valmontone, Artena and Valletta to Cisterna. Fifth army capture of Cisterna would turn the right flank of that line even before the enemy could reach it from the south for a stand.

There is every indication that German power of resistance in central Italy is close to the breaking point. The prelude there to the combined Russian-allied east-west attack is close to its crisis and at the moment filled with disastrous portents for the German high command.

The decision of Hitler's commanders not to dissipate their strategic reserves to reinforce the Italian front in the face of impending Russian and allied blows elsewhere is being put to a stern test. A rushing defeat of the Nazi army in central Italy would provide a drain on enemy morale in the field and on the home front.

Four Hundred Talking Book Machines Now In Circulation in Iowa, Reports Commission

DES MOINES (AP)—Four hundred talking book machines which read aloud for blind persons are in circulation in Iowa, the state commission for the blind reported recently.

Books, poetry and readings are recorded by experienced readers, and the blind "play them back" for entertainment and education.

The commission reported that the talking books have become almost constant companions for many Iowa blind. Some ask to have another machine sent out while the regular one is being serviced, but the commission said this was not done.

"You know it's my best friend," one woman said in asking the commission to "please hurry" with repairs.

Fifteen to 20 minutes are required to play each record, the commission said, and the book-lengths vary. Poetry usually is recorded on one record or several short poems on one. The longest book on the circulation list is "Gone With the Wind"—80 records.

The machines, in portable cases, can be operated by blind persons.

A record, resembling an ordinary phonograph record, is used and volume regulated by dials similar to radio dials.

A majority of the machines are run by electricity, but the commission has "spring-driven" ones for persons living where electricity is not available.

Book records cover a wide range of subject matter, including anthropology, astronomy, biographies, travel, drama, religion, science, economics, history, philosophy, music, poetry and fiction. Most of them are recorded by the foundation for the blind.

The talking books are owned by the library of congress, but the state commission arranges for distribution in Iowa and pays for servicing them.

"The machines are intended solely for the use of blind persons," the commission said, "and each borrower is required to sign an agreement covering the loan. No charge is made to the borrower. The commission added that the blind could keep the talking books "as long as they make use of them."

Pirates Get 5 Runs In 1st, Tip Braves, 8-1

Neimans Homer in 8th Only Boston Score; Tobin Losing Pitcher

BOSTON (AP)—Five unearned runs in the first inning with the aid of two errors started the Pittsburgh Pirates off yesterday to an 8 to 1 victory over the Boston Braves.

Butch Nieman's homer in the eighth was the only Boston tally. The circuit drive sailed over the right field fence—a new barrier which makes the Braves' outfield one of the smallest in the major leagues.

From the five-run first inning to the seventh, big Jim Tobin held the Pirates hitless, but the damage was done and the big Boston pitcher got his fifth defeat by the Pirates in his mound career.

Tobin has beaten the Pirates 13 times.

Voiselle Has Hard Luck

NEW YORK (AP)—If you have a four-leaf clover or a rabbit's foot, you might send 'em to Bill Voiselle, hardluck hurler for the New York Giants.

The long, lean, lanky lad from Ninety-Six, N. C., made his big league debut with three straight wins—but then has dropped six in a row. But you can't blame Bill's pitching.

For the six consecutive setbacks the six-foot four-inch southerner has allowed only five earned runs for a .918 average, but 15 Giant errors have booted in a dozen unearned ones. And while his mates were donating the 12 markers to the opposition, they were scoring only seven for themselves.

Until Ducky Medwick belted home two runs in the third frame Tuesday night against Brooklyn, the Giants had failed to get a marker for Voiselle for 20 straight innings. The two runs were futile however, for Johnny Rucker dropped a fly ball with two out in the ninth to let two scamping Dodgers race across the platter for a 3 to 2 victory, after it looked as if Voiselle had a 2-1 conquest in his hip pocket.

The Browns jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning on two singles, an error and Mark Christman's double.

Emmett O'Neill who relieved Vic Johnson on the mound for the visitors in the third, walked four successive Brownies in the fifth and then wild pitched two of them home with a heave that landed in the grandstand. Clem Hausmann came to O'Neill's rescue, but four St. Louis runs had crossed the plate by the time the inning ended.

George Metkovich, Boston first baseman, hit his second home run of the year in the third inning with nobody on base.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jack Kramer won his sixth game of the season last night as the St. Louis Browns opened a long home stay with a 7 to 3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Each club made seven hits.

The Browns jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning on two singles, an error and Mark Christman's double.

Emmett O'Neill who relieved Vic Johnson on the mound for the visitors in the third, walked four successive Brownies in the fifth and then wild pitched two of them home with a heave that landed in the grandstand. Clem Hausmann came to O'Neill's rescue, but four St. Louis runs had crossed the plate by the time the inning ended.

George Metkovich, Boston first baseman, hit his second home run of the year in the third inning with nobody on base.

Smash Smith, Kleiman For Eleven Hits, Allie Reynolds Finishes

CLEVELAND (AP)—Washington batsmen leveled an 11-hit barrage against three Cleveland pitchers yesterday, winning the series opener 5 to 4 before 1,500 fans in League park.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard effectively scattered eight Indian hits, and did not issue a single base on balls. Overcoming a four-run first inning splurge by Cleveland, the nationals routed Lefty Al Smith after six innings, and rang up two runs and three hits against rookie Ed Klieman, who was charged with the loss although he pitched only one inning. Allie Reynolds completed the game.

From the Side Lines By Yoke

We received a letter from Dave Danner, who, as we reported before, is now flat on his back at Buckley Field Base hospital in Denver.

Dave said that he didn't suppose that he ever thought of him as being in the hospital but that he tripped over a blade of grass and is confined to his bed of pain without much entertainment.

He seems to think that he will be up and around soon but reported that he had been in the bed nine days as of May 19th.

But the part that got us was where he thanked us for all the nice things that we said about him in the paper during the year. He said that we gave him a lot more credit than he deserved and that we should remember that it took five men to make a basketball team.

And to quote him directly, "I don't think I ever liked playing with any other fellows more than those of last year. It was sure a wonderful feeling to be one of them."

All that from the guy that did more than anyone else to make that team great. We have seen Dave sit in the dressing room before the game and actually become physically sick from worrying about the outcome. He took each and every member of the team's troubles on his own shoulders and earned the name, "The Beaver" because he worried so much.

We might just point out some of his outstanding contributions. Few of you can forget that he was picked on the first team All-Conference and was mentioned for All-American honors on several polls.

And you will remember that in the Chicago game, which ended in a 193 to 31 debacle, Dave had 32 points when he was fouled out with plenty of time to go in the second half. No one can say to this day whether Danner would have gone on to break the Big Ten scoring championship as Ives did, had the positions been changed. There were few who doubted that he could.

But his greatest attribute in all of his playing was his extreme modesty and interest in the other players and, more important than that, the game.

Dave added one more bit of wisdom to his letter. In talking about the nurses he said that he didn't think much of the ones there.

Danner the sage said, "When they give women commissions—watch out."

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Meade, one of the country's foremost jockeys, ended his longest term on the ground yesterday when his suspension, in effect since Oct. 29, 1942, was lifted by the stewards of the Jockey club (New York).

The 31-year old South Dakota born rider was suspended 19 months ago on a charge of collusion with Herb Lindberg, another jockey, in a handicap race at Jamaica. Lindberg's suspension was lifted at the end of 1942 but Meade was denied a riding license in 1943 by the Jockey club stewards and then lost an appeal to the New York state racing commission.

Meade, the country's No. 1 rider in 1939 and '41 and winner of the Kentucky derby on E. R. Bradley's Brokers Tip in 1933, started riding on the big time tracks some 15 years ago.

In 1936 he was barred from riding in Florida for violation of rules of racing, and other states concurred in the action of the Florida state racing commission. He made several attempts to have his suspension lifted but it was not until Aug. 12, 1938 that the Florida racing body permitted him to again ply his trade. The following spring he was granted a license to ride on New York and Maryland tracks.

Blue Devils Go Into Finals

Davenport to Meet Colesburg Today; Mason City Nine Out

FT. DODGE, Iowa (AP)—Davenport advanced to the finals of the state high school baseball tournament yesterday afternoon, shutting out Mason City 3 to 0 in Dodge stadium.

The Blue Devils will meet Colesburg for the state championship this afternoon.

Rodriguez, Davenport hurler who held Ft. Dodge to two hits Tuesday, turned in an equally good performance against the Mohawks. He was touched for two singles, Mason City never threatening.

Davenport scored its first run in the third inning. When Schulz, first baseman singled to center, he stole second, went to third on an error, and came home on a balk by Kornbaum, Mohawk pitcher.

Davenport collected the last two runs in the sixth on four successive singles.

Score by innings: Mason City.....000 000 0-0 2 1 Davenport.....001 002 x-3 8 2 Batteries: Kornbaum and Nelson; Rodriguez and Paulsen.

Martin Dittmer faced only 22 batters as Colesburg defeated Roland 4 to 0 in the other semifinal game. A scratch hit in the seventh that rolled slowly out between first and second and which Dittmer had to go by himself robbed the Colesburg righthander of a perfect ball game.

Colesburg scored its four runs in a big fifth inning on two hits, two errors, and three stolen bases.

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn loses ball games, Leo Durocher blows his top but Dixie Walker yesterday continued to make the big noise in the National league with his .421 batting average.

Walker enjoys a 57-point bulge on runner Stan Musial of the Cardinals in the base hit derby with Tommy Holmes of Boston at .348 third, and Phil Weintraub and Joe Medwick of the Giants next at .340 rounding out the top five in averages including games of May 22.

Although the western teams hold three of the four first division spots, Musial is the only non-easterner in the first 10 hitters.

When Durocher loosened a public blast at his Dodgers he made Walker the exception. After sizzling the air with references to the rest of his club, Leo said of Walker, "There's one guy that isn't fooling me and play harder. If we had more like Dixie, we wouldn't be in seventh place."

Walker is tied with Holmes for most hits at 48 and teammate Frenchy Bordagaray's 25-run total is tops. Slugging honors remain in Howie Schatz' safe keeping. The Brooklyn first sacker drove in eight more runs during the past week, lifting his RBI mark to 33 and boosted his home run production to six. Holmes has most doubles, 13, and Johnny Barrett of Pittsburgh leads in triples with six. Boston's Max Macon is the stolen base pace-setter with six.

Max Lanier of St. Louis narrowly escaped having his win streak snapped but he has six in a row unless the suspended game with Philadelphia is com-

Madigan Looks Forward to '44

No slackening in enthusiasm and drive was apparent in Coach "Slip" Madigan when the University of Iowa football coach stopped off here before the Big Ten schedule meeting in Chicago Thursday and Friday.

He might be worrying about manpower but no one ever would know it, as the commuting California talked about the 1944 season, his second as Hawkeye coach.

"I feel sure we will have a fair-sized squad, mostly composed of boys not yet 18 years old and a number of athletes ranked 4-F. We have assurances from quite a number of such boys that they plan to enter the university and will report for summer drill in August," Coach Madigan said.

The Iowa coach will return to Oakland, Calif. after the Chicago session, when Big Ten schedules for 1945 and 1946 will be arranged. However, he reports again at Iowa City July 1 for the last six months of his contract.

Madigan finally has located a house in Iowa City and will bring his family.

Completed with a Card loss next trip around. Bucky Walters of Cincinnati also has six wins but dropped two for a 6-2 mark. Nick Strincevich of Pittsburgh has 4-0 and Ted Wilks of St. Louis and Ira Hutchinson of the Braves boast 3-0 slates.

Anyways, Mr. Clapp's system is just a varnished version of the corner lot game we used to play as kids, when you'd start in as an outfielder and work your way up to your turn to bat, which was the dessert of the game.

STRAND TODAY and FRIDAY 2 BIG HITS

Genitman AT HEART

Sports Trail...

By Whitney Martin
NEW YORK, (AP)—Joe McCarthy makes plenty of snap decisions as manager of the Yankees, but he never made a snapper one than he made while piloting the Louisville Colonels back in 1920. It was a decision marking probably the fastest player deal on record.

There was a double bill with Toledo scheduled for the day in question. Brad Kocher caught the first game for Louisville, then left to catch a train for home. Bill Meyer, now Newark manager, started behind the plate in the second game, but suffered a fractured collar bone in the fourth inning.

McCarthy didn't have another man who could catch. What to do, what to do? He and Manager Roger Bresnahan of the Mudhens went into a huddle. Bresnahan beckoned to Bernard (Mike) Kelly, who had been catching for Toledo.

A moment later Kelly disappeared through the Toledo dugout and presto, he emerged through the Louisville dugout a few minutes later wearing a Louisville uniform. He promptly donned the necessary armor and went behind the plate for the Colonels, becoming the only man in American association history to play for two opposing clubs in the same game.

This corner seems to be a happy dumping ground for schemes to change baseball into something vaguely resembling basketball. We think baseball is a pretty grand game as is, and wouldn't want it changed, but the revolutionary ideas always fascinate us, as witness attention to Ray Dumont's plot to have the base-runners scamper in any direction they happen to be facing.

The latest brainchild is that of Ralph Clapp of Los Angeles, who sees great merit in a rule change that would require each man on a team to shift positions each inning, so that in a nine-inning game each of the nine men would have played every position. That is, the catcher

Health Official Gives Warning

Advises Preventive Steps for Diseases Caused by Flood

Health warnings to residents living in flooded areas in the Iowa City vicinity have been issued by Walter L. Biering, state health commissioner, through George Dohrer, city clerk.

Five Point Program

1. Safeguard drinking water. Flood water carries disease germs. Use public water whenever possible, and boil any water which may be contaminated by flood waters for two minutes.
2. Protect against typhoid fever. Inoculate every member of the family. All individuals are warned to consult their physician or health officer regarding preventive measures.
3. Safeguard against contaminated food. All canned fruits, meats and vegetables stored in flooded basements should be treated as follows:
  - a. Throw away food containers which show signs of leakage.
  - b. Carefully wash all food containers with soap and hot water before opening.
  - c. After thorough washing, sterilize food containers by immersing in cold water, bringing water to a boil, and boiling for 15 minutes.
  - d. As an alternative method, protect food containers by immersing in a solution containing chlorinated lime (not quick lime or hydrated lime), Clorox, Hlox or similar commercial chlorine laundry bleaches. (The chlorine sterilizing solutions should contain one ounce of chlorinated lime per gallon of water, or one ounce of the laundry bleach to a gallon of water. Leave food containers in this solution for at least 15 minutes.)
  - e. Thoroughly cook all root vegetables or similar foods before eating.
  - f. Wash hands carefully with soap and water after handling contaminated articles.
4. Protect your basement. When the flood water has gone

City High Graduation Program Announced, To Be Held May 29

Principal speakers at City high school commencement exercises to be held May 29, will be Prof. E. T. Peterson, acting dean of the college of education, according to Fred L. Jones, principal. The Rev. Frederick W. Putnam, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, will give the baccalaureate address.

Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday in the high school auditorium and commencement exercises will be held at 8 p. m. Monday. The 127 seniors are the fifth class to be graduated from the new City high school.

The baccalaureate program will be opened with a processional played by Mrs. Herald Stark, followed by the invocation, to be given by the Rev. R. M. Krueger, pastor of the First English Lutheran church. The Rev. Mr. Putnam will give the scripture reading and prayer, and the high school chorus under the direction of Ansel C. Martin will sing "All Creatures of God Our King" (Chapman).

Following the address by the Rev. Mr. Putnam, the benediction will also be given by the Rev. Mr. Krueger and Mrs. Stark will play the recessional.

Monday evening the commencement exercises will open with a processional played by the high school orchestra. The Rev. A. C. Proehl, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, will give the invocation to be followed by "In the Silent Night" (Rachmaninoff) sung by the madrigal singers, also under the direction of Martin.

After the address by Professor Peterson, Carleton Martin will play a violin solo, "Adoration" (Borowski).

A message from Robert Tyndall, valedictorian, now serving in the army, will be read to the class, and a short address will be given by Mary Laschke, salutatorian.

Jones will present the class and diplomas will be awarded by Dan C. Dutcher, president of the school board, assisted by I. A. Opstad, superintendent of schools.

The Rev. Mr. Proehl will also give the benediction and the recessional will be played by the orchestra.

Council Approves $120,000 Pavement Improvements Plan

Plans for approximately $120,000 street improvements, presented last week to the post-war planning committee, by Fred Gartzke, city engineer, were approved yesterday by the city council in a special meeting.

The plans, which must also be approved by the state highway commission and federal committee, are suggestions for the first year's work under the appropriation bill now pending before congress. Approval by the council does not, however, make the plans binding. Changes may be made up to the time of construction, Gartzke explained, but plans must be presented at this time in order to be available if, and when, the bill is passed.

The improvements included in the plans are:

A 30-foot pavement on Court street from Seventh avenue east to the east side of Fourth avenue; 24-foot pavement on Fourth avenue from Court street south to Muscatine avenue and 24-foot pavement on West Benton street from the pavement west to the city limits.

Pavement would also be 30-feet wide on Kirkwood avenue from Dubuque street to Van Buren street and on south Linn street from Kirkwood avenue to south city limits. A new concrete bridge would be constructed over Ralston creek between Washington street and Iowa avenue, and the corner at the intersection of Woolf avenue and Newton road would be rounded.

COUNCIL SURVEYS SWIMMING POOL SITES

H. R. GREEN, architect of Cedar Rapids; H. S. Ivie, chairman of the swimming pool committee; Mayor Wilber J. Teeters; Charles Beckman, secretary of the park commission, and Dr. W. M. Rohrbacher, of the park board, met at City park yesterday to discuss locations for the $62,500 swimming pool.

Board Names Possible Sites For City Pool

Three possible locations for the new $62,500 Iowa City swimming pool were chosen late yesterday afternoon at City park when Mayor Wilber J. Teeters, the city council, the park board, the Iowa City planning committee and resident around the park conferred with H. R. Green, architect from Cedar Rapids.

The three feasible locations, according to a report by Mayor Teeters, are on the east side north of the pavilion; west of the swings, and another position farther north and west. The final decision will be made by engineers following a survey to determine the site which involves the least expense, and a study of geological conditions.

Council Approves Contract
The council approved the letting of the contract to Green for the drawing of the plans in a meeting immediately preceding the park conference.

A topographical map of the possible locations will be submitted to the swimming pool committee by Green within a few days. To prevent destruction of a great number of trees and to satisfy residents around the park, the position of the pool will be carefully chosen, Mayor Teeters said.

Engineer's Services
The contract let to Green will include services of a resident engineer to supervise construction with daily reports of progress to the city engineer. Upon completion of the construction work, instruction will also be given to the operator of the pool. The engineer's services will include the pool, bathhouse, re-circulation system, sewer and water connections, illumination equipment and accessories and landscaping.

During the meeting of the council, June 12, 1944, was set as the date for the hearing on the estimate of levy for the swimming pool tax to be used in paying for the bonds. This hearing will be held at 8 p. m. and grievances will be heard at that time.

Christian Council Plans Summer Work

Two new officers were elected for the summer at a meeting Monday night of the University Student Christian council.

The new vice-president is Vivian Beebe, A3, who will assume presidency next month when Edward Vorba, president, will enter the Chicago Theological seminary at the University of Chicago.

Helen Pitz, A2 of Amana, was elected treasurer of the council.

Other regular officers are Patricia Holland, A3 of Milton, secretary, and Prof. David C. Shipley, advisor.

Instead of holding vespers this summer, plans were made for a special project of orientation, including a conference and a party for incoming summer freshmen.

The purpose of the council is to coordinate the religious activity groups in the student organization. The party, featuring a "south of the border" theme in connection with the annual Inter-American Affairs conference on campus, will be held on Saturday evening, June 24, at the Methodist church.

General chairman for the affair will be Vivian Beebe. Members of her committee are Jean Shouquist, A3 of Iowa City, Helen Pitz, Patricia Holland, Catherine Covert, A4 of Iowa City, and Clifford Thomas, G of New Cambria, Mo.

"Passports" signed by the president of the council, will admit freshmen to the party, with "visas" admitting them to the various concessions.

Refreshments will carry out the South American theme.

French Lecturer Urges Collective Aid to Europe

"Europe must be dealt with collectively. To feed and finance one country and not the rest would not insure permanent rehabilitation of that continent," said Henri Barzun, visiting lecturer in the French department, at a Lion's club luncheon yesterday noon.

Aid must be given the whole of Europe or nothing, continued Barzun, and Germany itself must be one of the recipients. To help France and not any other country would be entirely wrong, and France would not accept aid under such terms, he said.

It will be a race between Russian and Anglo-American interests to gain the balance of trade in Europe, said Barzun. He declared that Russia is waiting for just one mistake by Americans to gain the upper hand in Europe and instill a communistic government throughout the continent. This should never be allowed to happen, asserted Barzun.

Mayor Wilber J. Teeters will buy the first poppy at his office at 8 a. m. Sales will be made by 19 junior members and about 100 senior members. Mrs. William J. White, president of the American Legion auxiliary, and Mrs. G. O. Kircher, treasurer, will be in charge of headquarters at Hotel Jefferson.

Three-fourths of the money collected from the poppy sales will be used to aid Iowa City war veterans and their families and the remaining one-fourth will be sent to the state department to be used for state-wide veteran welfare.
