U.S. Troops Expand Beachhead on Saipan

Yanks Check Enemy Thrust

Nimitz Communique Reports American Ships Shell Guam

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—Battling determined Japanese resistance, United States marines and army troops have expanded the beachhead on southern Saipan to a maximum depth of two miles along a five and one-half mile front, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced last night in a communique.

In frenzied fighting through Thursday night and Friday assault forces made gains averaging 1,500 yards and captured the village of Himashisu, more than half way across the island from the beachhead.

Guam Bombarded These developments were reported shortly after it was disclosed that American warships had bombarded Guam for the first time since that former United States outpost in the Marianas was captured by the Japanese in December, 1941.

Before dawn Friday, Jap defenders of Saipan, numbering an estimated two divisions (30,000 men), launched a determined counter-attack.

The enemy thrust, supported by tanks, was hurled back. Enemy losses heavy.

Twenty-five Jap tanks were destroyed and the enemy cost in lives was heavy. The communique said the area now controlled by the American forces on the southwest side of Saipan extends from a point outside the key town of Garapan five and one half miles southward to Agigan, a village nearly halfway across Saipan's blunt southern end.

Before launching their counter-attack, the Japs maintained many steady mortar and artillery fires on American positions throughout the night.

U. S. Warship Counter American warships countered with shellings of enemy strong-points.

After repelling the Jap counter-thrusts, American assault troops launched the offensive which pushed forward for general advances of 1,500 yards.

The points of deepest penetration are two miles inland from Saipan's western shore and the fighting line now skirts the western edge of Aslito airfield which has a 3,600 foot fighter strip.

In the Friday push forward, American echelons drove into the naval air base at Aslito airfield but later had to be withdrawn under severe enemy fire.

Second Withdrawal This is the second officially announced withdrawal under enemy pressure and highlights the ferocity of the struggle with the strong defending Jap force.

Carrier bombers and fighters supported the Friday offensive with bombing and strafing attacks on Jap positions.

In a dramatic single ship exploit, a World War I destroyer, converted into an attack troop transport, caught five Jap coastal cargo ships Thursday and sank all of them.

Survivors Captured Twenty-nine survivors of the enemy ships were picked up and made prisoners. This makes the total of 201 survivors from Jap ships made prisoners since the battle of Saipan started a week ago in softening up carrier attacks.

A total of 21 Japanese ships of all types have been sunk. Capture of the village of Himashisu north of Aslito airfield put American forces nearest the east shore in their drive to sweep the Japs from Saipan's southern half which is rolling cane field country.

Himashisu is about in the center of the island's narrowest area and lies about two miles west of the steep shore of Magicienne bay.

American Successes Before Friday's forward push, American forces already had captured the sugar mill town of Charan-Kanoa and the small Charan-Kanoa airstrip along the western beach.

French Troops Land on Elba

'Detachment B' Wins Control of One-Fifth Of Island Off Italy

ROME (AP)—French troops landed yesterday on Elba, five miles west of the Italian mainland, and by nightfall had won control of one-fifth of that Napoleonic exile island against German resistance which allied headquarters described as strong at some places.

Pianosa Secured Near-by Pianosa was secured quickly without opposition, but the German garrison and coastal artillery were making a scrap for Elba's 85 square miles.

Conquest of Elba would keep the allied sea flank abreast of the advance on the mainland, where allied troops yesterday rolled steadily forward toward the Germans' Pisa-Florence-Rimini line.

Known as "detachment B," the French attacking Elba were commanded by Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny and transported and supported by American, British and French naval units. Allied air forces that included French squadrons, bombed the island.

Heavy Fighting Reported (The Berlin radio said the landings were made both at the south and north ends of the islands, one of them just west of its major city of Porto Ferrajo. A German communique told of heavy fighting "still going on" against a "weak German garrison" defending the island.

The island, about seven miles from the nearest mainland point is roughly opposite Grosseto, near the west Italian coast, which fell to swiftly advancing Fifth army troops Friday. The city, nearly 100 airline miles from Rome, is a road junction and site of German air fields.

British Eighth army troops drove 12 miles north of Orvieto and occupied Montelone, about 45 miles east of Grosseto. A bit farther east, armored elements pushing north from Todi reached a point 13 miles south of Perugia, reported held by the Germans in some strength.

"About 35 miles to the east of the Orvieto sector, other Eighth army troops surged through Spoleto, Trevi and Foligno on highway three. Montefalco was also reported to have fallen in this drive.

In the Adriatic sector, the British made contact with partisan forces already in possession of Teramo, 15 miles from the coast and 30 miles northwest of Pescara.

Nazis Move Troops A Stockholm dispatch quoting the Free Norwegian legation in the first report on the situation inside Norway since the invasion of France began said the Germans had moved out three regiments of 6,000 to 8,000 fully armed troops, transferring them to Denmark to bolster defenses there.

A Moscow broadcast said a state of siege had been proclaimed along the entire North sea coast of Germany. Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering was said to have toured the coast, accompanied by army and navy engineers.

Admiral W. F. Halsey Assigned New Job WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., yesterday was given the job he wants—a fighting command in the war against the Japanese.

The 61-year-old battler who drove the Japanese from the south Pacific and thereby worked himself out of an assignment as commander of the south Pacific forces, was designated officially as "commander of the third fleet."

That designation sounds like an administrative job, but it isn't. Actually it means that "Bull" Halsey will have a fleet of his own to lambast the Japanese whom he hates violently.

Halsey commanded naval forces throughout the long months of fighting that ended with elimination of the Japanese in the Solomon islands and complete naval control of the south Pacific area.

No One Injured—Tornadoes in Iowa DES MOINES (AP)—Resident of northwest Iowa yesterday were estimating the damage and clearing away the debris resulting from a series of tornadoes that virtually destroyed the small inland town of Lebanon and demolished buildings on nearly 50 farms.

Meanwhile flood waters continued to sweep through three other sections of the state.

No one was reported injured in the tornadoes but a 16-year-old girl drowned in Missouri river flood waters at Hamburg.

At Lebanon, an inland community 45 miles north of Sioux City, the 40 residents escaped injury late Friday by fleeing to their cellars or driving out of the path of the tornado in their automobiles.

The Christian Reformed church, which had a new $2,500 organ, and the town's only store, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hansen, were destroyed and the 10 houses were either demolished or damaged.

The Cedar river in the eastern section of the state was rising at Cedar Rapids and Muscatine, but had reached its crest and was receding at Waterloo. Lowlands were under water in all three cities.

Two state guard companies, one from Le Mars and one from Sheldon, were ordered to active duty in the tornado area, patrolling and preventing looting.

Allied Technicians Describe Robot Plane As Winged Rocket.

Ack-Ack Defenses Shifted to Counter Death-Dealing Aircraft

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday (AP)—More of the Germans' winged bombs, the so-called robot planes, came hurtling across the channel into southern England during the night as the Nazis' "counter-invasion attack" moved into its fourth consecutive day.

Simple Weapon The pilotless, jet-propelled planes were disclosed yesterday to be an astonishingly simple weapon—a death-dealing overgrown rocket equipped with wings and loaded with a ton of explosives.

In the newest attacks they came over the coast low and singly every few minutes. Several of the mifew through some of the heaviest anti-aircraft fire of the war as Britain shifter its ack-ack defenses to counter the devilish plane-bombs.

Damage was caused in various localities and a number of persons were killed or injured. One of the flying bombs was reported to have wiped out four houses.

German Claims (German radio commentators let their imagination run free in describing reports of the consternation caused in England by the robots.

(One Berlin broadcast credited a Stockholm dispatch as saying the British government had ordered the evacuation of London because air raid shelters failed to offer adequate protection. Another said "England is trembling and London is ablaze" and still another reported that Friday afternoon tremendous fires along the southern British coast had been observed from Rouen, France.

Rouen is approximately 100 miles from the English coast.)

These robot projectiles, fired off tracks in the Pas-de-Calais area 20 miles across the channel from England, are not radio-controlled and have not had the slightest effect on the flow of supplies to the allied front in Normandy.

A compass in the nose keeps the weapon on a rough course but it may fall miles from where it is aimed.

Limited Operation Stripping the "secrets" from this highly inaccurate weapon, allied technicians have discovered that it operates under definite limitations. Its tremendous potentialities are unlikely to be developed in this war.

The Germans themselves say it cannot be used on the Normandy front for fear of hitting German troops.

Britain's anti-aircraft defenses have been reorganized to combat the pilotless planes. New gun-sites have been chosen for some guns to obtain a maximum fire power against the robot planes before they reached populated areas. Guns of all calibre are being fired and at night are often used in conjunction with searchlights.

British Reject Planes F. G. Miles, British aircraft designer, said the British government as early as 1940 had rejected designs for a pilotless plane on the grounds that it was "an indiscriminate weapon" for waging war on civilians.

RAF planes during the night pounded the Pas-de-Calais area after yesterday's assault by American heavy bombers in an effort to destroy the launching grounds of these robot planes. But perhaps the only effective remedy would be an allied ground drive to clear the Germans off that coast.

Red Troops Capture Vital Railroad Towns

Finnish Front Widened to More Than 65 Miles

LONDON (AP)—The Russians smashed within 35 miles of Viipuri from two directions yesterday, capturing Perkiarvi on the main railway of the Karelian isthmus and Kuolemajarvi on the coastal rail line, Moscow announced last night, and the port of Viipuri itself was understood to be in the process of evacuation.

These two important railway towns on the most direct routes to Finland's second largest city were enveloped as Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's troops occupied more than 120 populated places in another day of fierce fighting, Moscow's broadcast communique disclosed.

Capture Raasuli Another wave of the Red army, sweeping up the eastern side of the isthmus despite the natural obstacles of lakes and marshes, captured Raasuli on still another railroad, Moscow said, indicating that the width of the Finnish front had been widened to more than 65 miles.

While the center of the Russian drive up the isthmus reached within 25 miles of Viipuri, advanced patrols and reconnaissance units probed even closer. The thunder of Soviet big guns could be plainly heard in the Finnish port.

Finland Censorship Censorship in Finland was said to have kept from the public the news of the United States action in ordering the Finnish minister Hjalmar Procopce and his aides to leave the U. S. but it was expected Finns would hear of the action through the Moscow radio and that the incident, even though not a complete American break with Finland, would have a psychological effect on the home front.

Ban Lifted on Cheese WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Price Administration yesterday announced that all rationed cheese except American cheddar cheese, cheddar products and other cheese in group one on the ration card will be point-free for the two weeks beginning 12:01 a. m., Sunday, June 18.

Japanese Threaten Lukow; Drive South CHUNGKING (AP)—With Changsha virtually isolated and all avenues of retreat closed to the defenders, the Hunan province fighting has shifted swiftly to the south, with the Japanese threatening Lukow and driving on the southern Hunan rail junction of Hengyang, the Chinese high command announced last night.

Apparently attempting to seize the junction of a railway from Kwangsi province with the north-south Canton-Hankow line, the Japanese by-passed besieged Changsha and drove to a point just north of Chuchow, 25 miles to the south and eight miles above Lukow. Here, the Chinese communique said, they were halted, and bitter fighting was in progress.

Fall of Hengyang could be even more serious to the Chinese than loss of thrice-defended Changsha.

Allies Bomb Sorong On Dutch New Guinea

Over 50 Jap Planes Bagged in Assault On Vital Jap Base

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Sunday (AP)—More than 50 Mitchell bombers, escorted by a large force of Lightnings, smacked Sorong, on the northwestern tip of Dutch New Guinea, and destroyed more than 50 planes on the ground and in the air, headquarters announced today.

'Complete Surprise' Sorong—which Gen. Douglas MacArthur termed "the enemy's last effective base in New Guinea"—was hit Friday in a raid by which headquarters said "complete tactical surprise was obtained."

A headquarters spokesman said several enemy warships were in the harbor during the attack. Fires and explosions from burning planes and dumps covered both the Samate and Jefman air-dromes.

Sorong is about 660 miles from Hollandia, recently-captured air-drome on Dutch New Guinea, and about 700 miles from Davao on Mindanao island in the southern Philippines.

Yanks Gain on Biak The American Sixth army Friday drove the Japanese from a key ridge 800 yards north of the Mokmer airstrip on Biak island, off northern Dutch New Guinea.

The Americans began this enveloping movement toward their second objective, Borokoe air-drome, after repulsing three tank-supported counter-attacks Thursday.

In aerial forays Thursday, 68 tons of bombs were dropped on Truk, naval base in the Caroline islands, and 100 tons blasted air-dromes at Rabaul, New Britain. The Truk raid, at midday, stirred aloft 15 interceptors. One was shot down. American planes also attacked Palau and Yap islands, key Nipponese bases southwest of the invaded Marianas.

Yank Strafing American airmen were strafing the German lines of retreat out of the area.

General Bradley indicated the Germans might try to make another Sevastopol out of Cherbourg, fighting desperately in the hope that German reinforcements could break through to them. He also disclosed that American army casualties in opening the French front were 3,283 killed and 12,600 wounded up to midnight Friday. This total of 15,883 was less than a third of what most military leaders had expected.

Special Communique In its first special communique on the situation inside France, allied headquarters announced that patriots had "delayed considerably the movement of German reserves to the combat zone" by smashing bridges and railways and fighting openly against the German conqueror.

Guerrilla operations against the enemy are in full swing and in some areas the army of the French forces of the interior are in full control," the bulletin said. The Maquis, a guerrilla body, has taken 300 German prisoners and wiped out Nazi garrisons in some towns and villages, it added.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that almost two-thirds of the bridges over the Seine, Oise and Loire rivers, German reinforcement routes into Normandy, had been knocked out by allied airmen.

Germans Flee Southward

Correspondent Says Yanks Reach West Side of Peninsula

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday (AP)—The United States Ninth division, which shattered the Germans at Bizerte in Tunisia, teamed up yesterday with the 82nd airborne division in a powerful break-through of German lines which put the Americans on high ground only four miles from the west coast and virtually cut in two the Cherbourg peninsula.

Thousands of German troops were on the verge of being trapped inside Cherbourg port, 18 miles north of the corridor driven west of captured St. Sauver, said a front dispatch from Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent. The west coast road was under American artillery bombardment.

Reported Break-Through (CBS correspondent Larry Le-seur broadcast from France that elements of the Ninth American division had reached the sea on the western side of the Cherbourg peninsula at two places, north and south of the Norman village of Barneville, 11 miles west of St. Sauver.)

Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, ground commander who led the Americans to their triumph of Bizerte in May, 1943, was directing the swift break-through which had rolled to within a mile of St. Lo-D'Orville on the west coast road—last possible German escape route out of Cherbourg.

Possible Evacuation Some front dispatches said the Germans were fleeing southward to escape the American trap, but General Bradley earlier had predicted a last-ditch German stand in Cherbourg, whose harbor is vital to the allies in order to hasten supplies and reinforcements.

German broadcasts last night, however, began minimizing Cherbourg's importance, which could mean Nazi resignation to its eventual isolation and capture. Civilian refugees said the Germans already were forcing civilians to evacuate the city.

Hand-to-Hand Fight American troops were fighting fierce hand-to-hand battles in the streets of Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Whitehead's dispatch disclosed the presence of the Ninth division in action for the first time in Normandy. The Ninth was the division which took Port Lyautey in the French Morocco landing in November, 1942, fought at El Guettar in southern Tunisia, and participated in the final encirclement of scores of thousands of Germans and Italians on Cap Bon.

North of St. Sauver, Whitehead said, the Yank infantrymen broke across the Douve river. They rode on tanks and fired machine-guns as the armored units plunged through shallow waters in the historic drive to seal off Cherbourg.

Main Jap Supply Base—

Kamaing Captured

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon (AP)—The Chinese 22nd army after a seven-day siege has captured Kamaing, the principal Japanese supply base in north Burma and the key enemy stronghold in the Mogaung valley. Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced yesterday.

South of Kamaing, which fell Friday, the Chinese seized the town of Parentu, while in the main north Burma bastion of Myitkyina, Chinese and American troops continued to make gains in the north and west sectors, the bulletin said.

The Japanese were reported to be reinforcing the area they hold in the Mogaung valley and around Myitkyina, but their railway lines were unusable, and the enemy was obliged to bring whatever fresh troops he could on foot, an official headquarters spokesman said. Operations over the whole Burma-India front are likely to continue right through the monsoon. Japanese strength in Burma now is twice that it was at the end of the last monsoon, and enemy reinforcements were observed in the India sectors south of Bishenpur, where a separate allied campaign was expected to attempt driving the enemy southward.

On the Imphal plain the situation was said to be reasonably satisfactory, with allied forces there steadily supplied, by air. Many Japanese battalions in the area have been cut to a fifth of their normal strength in recent fighting.

Communities May Sponsor Bomber—

The state war finance committee announced yesterday the treasury department had completed arrangements whereby Iowa communities could sponsor the purchase of one of the new B-29 Superfortresses through war bonds.

To sponsor a bomber like those that hit Japan this week, a community or county must conduct a campaign to sell $600,000 worth of extra bonds. If the goal is reached, an emblem bearing the name of the community is placed in the cockpit of one of the bombers and a copy of the emblem is sent to the sponsor.

Meanwhile the committee said that Fifth War Loan sales through Friday totaled $23,200,000 against a state goal of $202,000,000. Of that amount $15,900,000 had been sold to individuals, including $7,600,000 in series E bonds.

Johnson county war bond investments continued to lag yesterday even though the county's total in the first five days of the Fifth War Loan pushed near the half-million-dollar mark. Reports Friday revealed a total of $422,817.50.

Adair county reported the town of Bridgewater had gone over its quota $11,500. Greenfield, with a quota of $72,000, had signed up for $82,000.

Fontanelle, with a quota of $31,000, signed up for $44,000. The town of Adair had gone over its quota of $33,000 and Orient had sold $17,000 against a $16,000 quota. Three rural townships in that county had also gone over the top.

Hubbard had a quota of $18,790 and sales totaled $30,000. Beaman over subscribed its quota of $5,000 by 227 percent.

The all-soldier show at Burlington Thursday resulted in the sale of $210,000 worth of war bonds. Its appearance at Oskaloosa yesterday resulted in the sale of $100,000 worth of bonds.

The committee said it was not over optimistic on sales to date, but was hopeful that series E bonds would take a definite upward turn, and that better totals would be chalked up during the week ahead.

Sales of E bonds were running below the average for the first week of the Fourth War Loan campaign, while total sales are running above the average.

B-29 Provides Japs With Desperate New Incentive

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Japan will fight the B-29 this summer in the China-Burma-India theater—in fact is already moving into battle.

The Jap pincer movement along the Canton-Hankow railway has the obvious purpose of nipping off the southeast China bulge and a lot of advance air bases the Japs say we have there. But it may be only the beginning of vast land operations aimed at knocking out China's poorly equipped armies and putting Japanese air power within easier reach of larger bomber bases which the Japanese say Americans have in China.

The abortive Japanese campaign into northeast India is regarded as a curtain-raising attempt to cut supplies for such American air operations.

The coming of the B-29 provides the Japanese with a desperate incentive—if any were needed. Out-classed at sea, Nippon may be throwing her continental armies into battle to stop American air power this summer and autumn. After that, it may be too late.

Halsey talk—naval observers won't be surprised if there's a wholly new job for fighting Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., who has left his job in the southwest Pacific after driving the Jap south.

One possibility is that the no-necktie, open-collar, tough-talking Bill Halsey may be given a new separate command in the Pacific. One thing seems certain—Halsey won't be chained to a desk job if he can argue out of it. He promised his men: "We'll meet on the road to Tokyo."

Invasion harbor—Nazi demolition is likely to have little delaying effect on allied use of Cherbourg when that vital supply port is captured. The navy has its sectional pontoon docks for quick use, and the army learned at Naples how to build docks and piers out to deep, unobstructed water over the hulks of sunken vessels in the harbor.

Alcohol—The government is likely to feel new pressure to let beverage alcohol be made for a short period to replenish stocks. The raw material situation is better—it looks like there'll be a record wheat crop, and the prospect for corn and other grains is favorable. But war food administration officials say that war needs for alcohol may continue to use the entire output.

Refugees and headlines—Capitol Hill sponsors of a plan to create "free ports" in America, where European refugees could find haven, are irked with President Roosevelt. The day they started pushing their proposed legislation, FDR got headlines by announcing he already had created a haven. Next day he "notified" congress of his action.

Insurance fight—Backers of the bill which would exclude insurance from being classified as interstate commerce (voiding a recent supreme court decision) claim the house is lined up to put it across. They're not so sure about the senate. Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the senate judiciary committee is known to be against it. The house is supposed to take the measure up before recess, probably early the coming week.

Crop insurance—Is to be the bone of another congressional contention. The administration wants an even broader program, covering more crops, than the one killed by legislators last year. Opponents claim they can defeat it again.

Hemispheric farming—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard will go to Mexico City soon to help arrange for greater post-war agricultural collaboration among north and south American countries. He and Latin-American officials will make plans for an inter-American

News Behind the News

Spangler Friends Apparently Think He Should Not Retire

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—The headlines announced the "GOP faces battle to oust Spangler as national chairman," but it will not be the kind of warfare we are having in France.

Apparently, friends of Mr. Spangler have decided that, in recognition of his special harmony organization work at Mackinac and elsewhere, he should defy the custom of retiring at the end of his term. Ordinarily, the newly elected presidential candidate at every convention selects the national chairman as his campaign manager.

It has been assumed that Mr. Dewey will be the nominee, and will choose either Herbert Brownell, his manager in the New York state campaign, or Chairman Ed Jeacock, of the New York state committee.

Spangler is supposed to have strong support, but the choice eventually probably will rest with Mr. Dewey, or whoever is the nominee. The national committee men who will do the electing, represent political leaders in the various states, many of whom are not personally inclined toward Dewey, but are reservedly going along "uninstructed," as you might say, in view of the popular showing which has risen for him. The matter seems to be more in the nature of a chess game than a battle, and no one is carrying any knives.

Spangler and his public relations counsel, James P. Selvaige, already have started the post-convention campaign work. Last time, when Willie was nominated, it was six weeks before a national headquarters began functioning. Now posters, slogans and speaking material are ready for use the day the convention closes.

The same care has been shown in working out details for the Chicago meeting June 26. While confusing predictions have been made in the gossip columns, the distribution of convention leadership is fairly well settled.

Political calendar: June 19—Maine primaries to elect candidates for 3 U. S. representatives (by districts), governor (seat of Sumner Sewall, Republican). State elections are Sept. 11.

June 22—Georgia Democratic executive committee meets to name 26 delegates to national convention.

June 24—Democratic state convention to name 8 Nevada delegates to national convention.

Colorado state Democratic convention to choose 12 delegates to national convention.

Memories of Rome Call to Mind Peace, Romance

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—The Last Time I Saw Rome, the moon was fat and yellow over the Colosseum. The moon was also disinterested and cast a pale glance at our trio of tourists out sightseeing among the ancient ruins of the Imperial City. Poor old dear, the Moon! Luna herself had seen so many sights from ancient days on in that same Colosseum. Caesars and lions and Christian martyrs and yelling multitudes with thumbs turned down, triumphant heroes, cringing slaves, marble grandeur—

And now what did this arc of her orbit reflect? ... Some crumbling arches toppled down, weeds grown as high as bushes, three chilly American tourists in tan steamer coats and a tribe of alley cats, wild and wailing and half-starved with never a helpless Christian captive to gnaw on.

It occurred to me that the cats might take to gnawing on tourists. Especially American tourists. It was the custom of Italy and all other foreign countries to gnaw on American tourists. It still is the custom of all countries to gnaw on American tourists. Only now we call the habit "lend-lease."

Anyhow, my tourist friends of 10 years ago, and I, too, were afraid of the Colosseum. We thought they might be the ghosts of the poor creatures slaughtered to make those old-time Roman holidays. So we hurried out of the Colosseum to the bright city. Got us a cab as soon as we could hail one and bounced home behind a wobbly horse to the Hotel de Russie where we were staying.

The last time I saw Rome we went, of course, to the opera. Our hotel people got us a box. They said nothing was left but a box for this gala evening for the Great Duce would be a special guest.

Was it not the Name Dame of the mighty Mussolini? Ah, yes, it was, indeed so. The American ladies were most fortunate to be able to be there for such a celebration. This was why it would be necessary to charge so high a tariff—more than had at first been estimated. Ah, gratias, signoras.

The opera was "Faust." Naturally, the hero of the celebration was Il Duce. He was magnificent in glory then. Theatrical in manner. He smelled a red rose during 89 scenes and four intermissions. Somewhat in the nature of Ferdinand, the gentle bull, who loved to sniff flowers.

The two other American ladies and I introduced ourselves to the Great Man during one intermission. Such behavior was brash, of course. But I noticed that when we acted and talked "American" the super-signor smiled in his best pre-Hitler way.

Naturally we did the art galleries and we must have done a thousand churches the Last Time I Saw Rome.

I love churches, particularly when there aren't any people in them. I don't care for medium-sized churches, only cathedrals and chapels. Most of the churches of Rome were my kind of church, so I had a very happy time.

A helpful American Cardinal had got us an invitation to meet the Holy Father, Pope Pius. We were thrilled over this honor and carefully obeyed the Vatican audience rules for women—covered arms and neck, longish skirts and a black veil draped over the head.

Monks in long robes, held at the waist with cords clanking with heavy crosses, switched by on slippers feet. We clasped the rosaries we had bought to be blessed, in damp nervous fingers and waited our turn for the presentation.

I can't imagine the Holy City noise with tanks and bombers and bloody with hate and fear. Peace and romance lived there—the Last Time I Saw Rome.

U. S. War Machine Devises New Bomb

NEW YORK (AP)—With a preview of the flaming hell in store for German and Japanese cities comes disclosure of the infinite care with which the military-science-industry team that is America's war machine today is doing its job.

Filmy structures such as might be found in Tokyo are a mass of fire in seconds when penetrated by a new bomb that team has devised; heavier construction resists longer, about a minute.

The bomb, a homely hexagonal tube two feet long and weighing six and one-half pounds, splatters burning gasoline jelly as far as 100 yards. The gooey gobs of flame cling to and ignite any combustible material they hit.

Conservative military men call it "one of the most important of this type weapon" and emphasize that importance by pointing out bomb tests often run 60 percent incendiaries no, against 5 percent early in the war.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

German High Command Waging Seemingly Losing Battle

By KIRKE L. SIMSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The German high command is waging a seemingly losing battle against widening of the Anglo-American beachhead in France as the second invasion weekend pointed up striking events elsewhere on the global war front.

The appearance in Japanese home skies of the B-29 super bombers had a definite grand strategy bearing on allied hopes of cutting the struggle short against Japan as well as Germany.

The Yawata heart of Japan's steel industry was turned into a roaring inferno, according to eyewitness accounts which estimated that possibly 20 percent of total Nipponese steel making capacity had been knocked out.

Flying from bases in China, the 29's broke all bomber records for distance and speed as well as striking power. Just how far they flew to accomplish their first major war mission is undisclosed. But the attack left Tokyo in no doubt that the Japanese home front is now vulnerable to repeated and devastating assaults from the air.

Strike a 2,000 mile radius circle from Tokyo east, south and west on any map. It would extend far beyond Chungking, below the MacArthur threatened southern tip of Mindanao in the Philippines, to Guam and beyond in the central Pacific and east of the western end of the Aleutian chain. The foe can have no certainty that his home front cannot be hit from many points within that vast ring, nor that the 29's were let loose until all was ready for an intensified long-range air campaign.

Time alone can reveal its effect of Japanese war making capacity. It took months of concentrated night-and-day bombing

Physicians Report On Kenny Treatment

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CHICAGO—Seven physicians who in the last two years investigated the Kenny treatment for infantile paralysis reported today that so far as they could find in 740 cases examined, this treatment does not prevent or decrease the amount of paralysis resulting from the disease. They said 660 of the cases had received the Kenny treatment.

Miss Kenny, who was not present at the meeting, replied in an interview putting it up to the American people and the medical profession whether she should remain and continue her work, or go back to Australia where she originated her methods in the bush 35 years ago.

She quoted medical authorities in this country supporting her on one of the principal points in the controversy raised by today's committee report. Her claims of success are based on a concept of infantile paralysis different from that of the medical profession, and this concept is one issue.

She maintains that what goes on in the muscles themselves at the time of the sickness is largely responsible for the later paralysis. The medical concept is that this muscular disturbance is not so important, but that nerve destruction causes the paralysis.

The committee of seven physicians today denied the primary importance of the muscular reactions and reaffirmed the nerve idea, but conceded there are aspects of the muscular disturbances which are important and need further study.

Without crediting her directly, but attributing the result to the publicity which she inspired, the committee said it acknowledged the publicity "has stimulated the medical profession to reevaluate known methods of treatment in this disease and to treat it more effectively."

Over the Top at Monte Cave--

(This is the second of two columns describing the capture by American troops of an ancient stone castle in the drive on Rome.)

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, June 3 (Delayed) (AP)—Men of company G didn't particularly want to storm the castle of Monte Cave, high in the Alban hills, but when the 70-odd Germans inside still refused to surrender after an hour's mortar barrage there was nothing else to do. They had to protect the flanks of their comrades moving ahead on both sides and the castle stood in their way.

So Lieut. J. C. Williamson, 23, of Snyder, Tex., moved his platoon up to within a few yards of the only spot along the stone wall where there was a break in the barbed wire entanglement on top. His men were to lay down a base of protective fire for the platoon going over the top.

Lieut. Robert Epstein, 21, of Chicago (1129 Pratt boulevard), got his platoon ready to move up under the fire cover and go over. The wall was more than six feet high there and some of the men were to go over on their friend's shoulders while others found some old chairs to prop at the base of the wall and climb up on.

Three staff sergeants from Snyder, Tex., moved among the men they were to lead over the top and told them to fix bayonets and get ready to jump up and run like hell. They were Don Adams, 24, Henry D. Stokes, 22, and Jack L. Line, 23.

Adams had 32 men in his platoon. Stokes picked 12 veterans from his platoon; Line selected 12 from his all battle-tested fighting men and Staff Sgt. Archer, 21, only spot along the stone wall where there was a break in the barbed wire entanglement on top. His men were to lay down a base of protective fire for the platoon going over the top.

By KENNETH DIXON

"There was nothing but smoke and noise and flashes of gunfire when we got over the top," the Brooklyn boy said, "so we ran on into it, shooting all the way."

Fifteen minutes later the last charging shot and last blast of grenade died out inside the castle walls. Out of the smoke came the picked men of company G with about 30 prisoners. The rest had been killed. Half the captured were wounded.

They then counted noses and gasped in amazement; not a single man who scaled the walls had been even wounded.

"It's not possible," said the battalion commander. But he counted again and found it was. Among the German dead was the lieutenant who had yelled to them in perfect English that he was sorry, but they couldn't surrender because they'd been ordered to hold the castle until 9 o'clock that night and "you know the army."

Coeds Are—

In the Swim of Things

—With New Bathing Suits

BATHING BEAUTIES true to tradition are Gloria Harney, A4 of Aledo, Ill., and Jeanne Haroldson, A2 of Carbondale, Ill., who are contemplating a cool dip. Gloria is wearing a bright blue and white one-piece with a white panel down the front and leaf designs in alternating colors on the top and hipline. Jeanne's mid-riff suit is of the popular new velva-cloth in navy blue, trimmed with smart white rickrack.

Oh, but it's hot—and oh, but it feels nice to dive into the waters of Lake Macbride or the pools at West Liberty and Cedar Rapids—it's even worth the trip. The Iowa coed finds her bathing suit convenient for sunbathing, too, and all styles and varieties are being displayed on the roofs and lawns as well as the beaches.

An outfit with a double purpose is worn by MIDGE CORDS, A3 of Rudd, who owns a combination that can be used as either a bathing suit or shorts. It's of the popular cotton water-treated seersucker in a pale blue shade. The bottom of the flair skirt is trimmed in dark blue, and the straps and bow which trim the neckline of the mid-riff top are also in dark blue.

der, wears the coeds' favorite style in the season's favorite fabric when she dons her one piece velva-cloth suit. It's designed with a fitted skirt across the front in bright yellow, with two large brown tulips on the lower left corner. The low V-back is in a deep shade of brown and fastens with yellow shoulder straps and brown buttons.

The smoothie in a fitted one-piece of black satin is VAL STUMPF, A3 of Eagle Grove. Smart contrast is provided by the blue criss-cross straps which fasten to the low cut back and under the flared skirt.

PHIL PETERSON, A4 of Williamsburg, is nautically nifty these days in a blue bathing suit with a startling white panel down the front. The back is U-shaped with white shoulder straps, and decoration is furnished by three white elm leaves designed against the blue background at the top and three blue ones on the white background of the fitted skirt.

Turnning a cold shoulder to the heat wave is LEONA HASSELMANN, N1 of Rock Rapids, who dons a princess-style short-bathing suit combination in a print design consisting of rows of tiny red roses and bluebonnets on a lighter blue background. The shorts are of blue silk jersey, edged with ruffling of the same material as the suit. More ruffling provides the shoulder straps and trims the neckline and low cut U-back, which fastens with a row of light blue buttons. A clever touch is the way blue cording divides this ruffling into two sections.

Gifts were presented to the honoree in a basket fashioned of pink and blue crepe paper.

Also honoring Miss Glockler are Mrs. Franklin Knower and Mrs. George Coleman, who will entertain at a handkerchief shower and tea tomorrow afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock in the garden of the Knower residence at 925 Kirkwood avenue. Twenty-five guests will be included in the courtesy.

A gal who also coolly ignores the warm weather is LYNN JOHNSON, A2 of Rock Island, Ill. Lynn relaxes in a one-piece black bathing suit of black velva-cloth. It's designed one-piece with a flared skirt. White cotton ruffles attractively decorate the low-cut back, neckline, and the hemline of the skirt.

Whether you're going swimming or canoeing, or just gazing at the river while acquiring a brown, bathing suits are a must, and there are ever so many new materials and new ideas in design to put you in the swim of fashion this summer.

Smith college, in Northampton, Mass., won second place with a motion picture of the WAVES training program on the campus.

Red Cross Requests Workers to Prepare Surgical Dressings

With thousands of surgical dressings yet to be made by Johnson county and university women who are not already in vital war work, Red Cross officials yesterday sent out a plea for more workers.

Since the first request by the war department for the 30,000-000 bandage quota, a large part of which Johnson county must help fill, 12 more women of this community have reported to the surgical dressings rooms in City hall and at Iowa Union to help.

How these surgical dressings are a direct aid to prisoners of war is told in the following story.

A wounded flyer, lying injured in a prison camp in Germany or the Far East, is not as far from home as he may feel, due to the work of thousands of American women in Red Cross chapters in the United States. Through the surgical dressings they prepare, they are ministering as directly to him as they would if he were at home.

The Red Cross fleet which carries food and necessities to American prisoners in Europe also regularly transports surgical dressings for distribution through the International Committee of the Red Cross to injured prisoners of war in camps and hospitals.

The army alone has requested the American Red Cross to provide one million surgical dressings a month, a giant undertaking for which volunteers in chapters that have been assigned quotas are responsible.

Attending the bride was her sister, Carolyn Erikson, as maid of honor. Best man was Boatswain First Class L. P. Krueger of Chincoteague, Va. Joseph Callen, graduate student at the university, and Pfc. Pat Duffy and Pfc. John Sleeter, medical students here, ushered.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, selected a floor-length gown of white frosted marquisette with a sweetheart neckline, fitted torso bodice, and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of white tulle was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and her shower bouquet was of white gladioli. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was attired in a yellow taffeta floor-length gown touched with pink rosebuds. She wore a bonnet of matching material and carried a colonial bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Erikson selected a two-piece lavender crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Krabbenhoff wore a navy blue and white ensemble and also had a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 80 guests took place in the church parlors. Serving as hostesses were Mary Lou Elder, Mrs. John Sleeter, and Miss Allen, Ursil Harvey, roommate of the bride at the university, presided at the tea table.

Song by Member Of University Faculty To Be Broadcast

Tomorrow a recording of the song "Remember the Houston," with words written by Prof. Harrison Thornton of the history department, will be played over WSUI in commemoration of the christening of the cruiser "Houston," dedicated in Newport News, Va., a year ago.

Professor Thornton heard a broadcast last June from Houston, Tex., indicating that a drive to obtain money for the building of a new Houston was underway. At the same time about 1,500 men were sworn into the navy to avenge the sinking of the Houston predecessor which was downed in the Java sea. The broadcast inspired him to write the words to which Ruth Burr of Houston, composer, artist and teacher and a student of Julliard school of music responded with a fitting lyric.

Ens. William Shriner of Houston sang the song at the launching which has recently been cited for his heroism in the dramatic account of a Nazi plane shot down by an American gunner crew of which he was commander.

Attending the bride was her sister, Carolyn Erikson, as maid of honor. Best man was Boatswain First Class L. P. Krueger of Chincoteague, Va. Joseph Callen, graduate student at the university, and Pfc. Pat Duffy and Pfc. John Sleeter, medical students here, ushered.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, selected a floor-length gown of white frosted marquisette with a sweetheart neckline, fitted torso bodice, and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of white tulle was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and her shower bouquet was of white gladioli. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Maid of Honor

The maid of honor was attired in a yellow taffeta floor-length gown touched with pink rosebuds. She wore a bonnet of matching material and carried a colonial bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Erikson selected a two-piece lavender crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Krabbenhoff wore a navy blue and white ensemble and also had a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 80 guests took place in the church parlors. Serving as hostesses were Mary Lou Elder, Mrs. John Sleeter, and Miss Allen, Ursil Harvey, roommate of the bride at the university, presided at the tea table.

Iowa Pre-Flighters Win Ninth Straight Contest

Navy Downs Des Moines Team, 10-4

Lieut. Verne Thompson Allows Local Men Only Eleven Hits

By DICK YOAKAM

DES MOINES (Special to The Daily Iowan)—The Seahawks of the Iowa Pre-Flight school ran their victory string to nine straight games as they downed the Onthank Co. team 10-4 at League park.

Meeting a team braced with semi-pro players from throughout the Des Moines area, Lieut. Verne Thompson took the mound and allowed the locals 11 hits. However he was able to keep them well enough spaced so that the Onthankers scored only in the first and sixth innings.

The Seahawks were led in hitting by Dick Wakefield, former Detroit Tigers star, with a single and a home run in four trips to the plate. George Rutenbar, starting his first game as a varsity player, also got two hits as did Price Brookfield.

Their big innings came in the third and fifth frames when three runs were scored. In the third Rutenbar started the ball rolling, drawing a walk. Charlie Heck, new third sacker, got to first after being hit by one of Hal Manders' offerings and Wakefield cleared the bases with a home run to right.

In the fifth Rutenbar again started the fireworks on an error by Onthank's third baseman, Smith after Heck had flied out. Wakefield walked and Aires struck out. Brookfield then singled to right scoring Rutenbar and Ruffiff singled through second scoring Wakefield.

Hal Manders, former Detroit Tigers hurler and teammate of Wakefield's, was relieved by Bell in the 8th but was charged with the defeat.

Seahawks... 203 030 110-10 9 1 Onthank... 200 002 000-4 11 2 Thompson and Paskowski, Gates in the 8th; Manders, Bell and Martens.

Athletics Win 5-3 Over N. Y. Yankees; Earn Even Split

NEW YORK (AP)—A four run rally in the seventh inning, featured by Frank Hayes' triple with two on, gave the Athletics a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees in the second game of a double header yesterday, to earn them an even split. The Yankees beat Philadelphia 2-1 in the first.

The victory ended the Athletics losing streak of six games. After holding the Backmen scoreless for six innings, Bill Zuber blew a three-run lead and was replaced by Jim Turner.

Hayes greeted Turner with a triple to tie the score and Dick Gilbert followed with a long fly to score Hayes with the deciding run. The A's added another tally

Boston Red Sox Plaster Senators

Washington Walloped On Home Diamond In 11-4 Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox plastered the offerings of Roger Wolff, Alex Carrasquel and Bill Lefebvre for 15 hits last night to wallope the Washington Senators 11 to 4.

Joe Bowman gave up only five hits and held the Senators in check after the Sox broke loose in the third with a five-run splurge that put them ahead of the Senators.

War Bond Sales Total $422,817.50

War bond investments by Johnson county residents totalled $422,817.50 yesterday as the fifth day of sales during the Fifth War Loan drive drew to a close. The county, unless war bond investments are stepped up in the remaining three weeks of the drive, will lag behind in meeting its $2,045,000 loan quota.

Increased bond sales were reported at Iowa City theaters yesterday as tickets were sold for the war bond premier showing of the film "The Story of Dr. Wassel," starring Gary Cooper.

The movie will be shown at the Englert theater Thursday night.

Yesterday more than 50,000 votes had been cast in the contest for "Miss Johnson County." Although no reports have been received from the county banks, which will also be included in the contest, yesterday's standings in the race were as follows: Opal Kennard, who had two $5,000 purchases credited to her, led in first place; Mary Wilkinson, 6,800; Ikie Emmert, 6,325; Ann Scanlon, 6,050; Mary Verry, 4,925; Helen Zeller, 3,875; Bernice Lesney, 2,220; Kathleen Amish, 2,075; Helen Blaha, 2,050; Alma Bollei, 2,025; Marjorie Yoder, 1,925; Mary Belanski, 1,075; Mrs. Vernon Hostetter, 950; Veronica Clear, 900; Arlene Teefy, 775; and Donna Mae Scheetz, 500.

National Wesley Head Sees Demobilization As Peace Challenge

Addressing leaders of the Wesley Foundation in Iowa as well as ministerial and lay delegates to the annual session of the Upper Iowa conference of the Methodist church, Dr. Hell D. Bollinger, national director of the Wesley Foundation, last night discussed demobilization as a challenge to education.

Introduced by Dr. C. Woody Thompson, director of the office of student affairs at the university, Dr. Bollinger declared that men returning from active service would try to accomplish things in a forceful authoritarian way, and might easily succumb to moods of disillusionment.

Bollinger also warned against the formation of a military caste in the United States after the war, especially with the adoption of permanent peacetime conscription.

Bollinger cited as the three main problems to be faced by the nation after the war the necessity of establishing a strong economic system, of maintaining satisfactory international relations and of finding a solution to present inter-racial conflicts.

Lieut. Robert Ivie Stationed in Pacific With Marine Air Corps

Piloting a medium bomber somewhere in the south Pacific is First Lieut. Robert Ivie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ivie, 427 Melrose avenue. Lieutenant Ivie is with the marine air corps.

"My two roommates and I are living in a screened tent which has electric lights, Lieutenant Ivie recently wrote his parents.

"There's even a shower nearby and I must say it's better than the quonset hut where 15 of us were quartered."

He received his B.A. degree from the university in 1939 and attended Harvard law school for two years prior to his enlistment in July, 1942. He received his commission at Pensacola, Fla., in June, 1943 and took further training at Cherry Point, N. C. He has been overseas since February.

His wife, the former Mary Cutting, is a lieutenant (j. g.) in the WAVES and is working in an office in Washington, D. C.

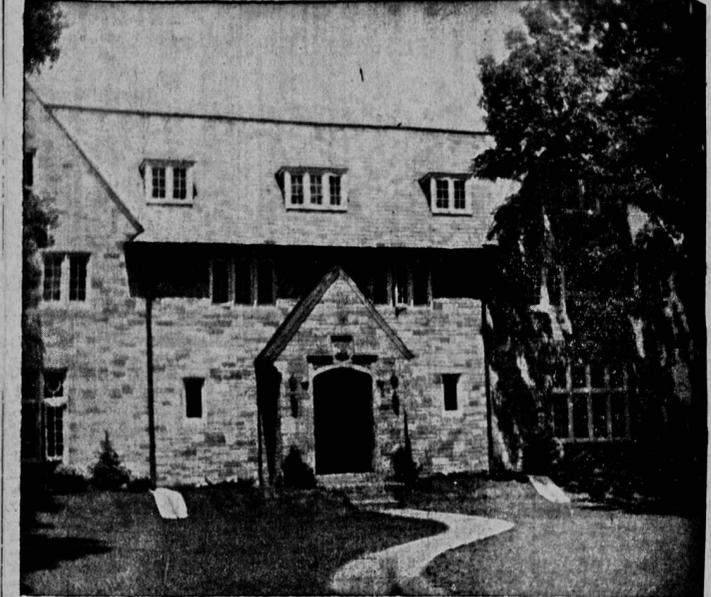

Newly Dedicated—Catholic Student Center Serves Students, Parish Members

THE REV. Leonard J. Brugman, head of the Catholic student center, was previously assistant pastor of the Church of the Holy Family in Davenport. He has been at the student center for several months acting as business manager.

BERNITA MULLER, A3 of Potosi, Wis., is one of the Catholic students at the university who enjoys the quietness of the reference library in the Catholic student center. The library adjoins the chapel and is used strictly for reference work with no attempt made to use it for modern volumes.

TRANSFORMED from the old Psi Omega house, 108 McLean street, is the new Catholic Student Center. Established to provide a place for Catholic youth activities, the house was formally dedicated May 7 and is available to all Catholic students. The house is under the direction of the Rev. Leonard J. Brugman.

In charge of pilot briefing and aircraft clearance with the ninth air force in England is Sergt. Patrick D. Manning, a former student at the university's college of law.

Sergeant Manning is a member of the service command transport group whose planes are carrying supplies to the advanced fighter and bomber bases.

Before attending the university, he was graduated from St. Ambrose college in 1940. He entered the army June 18, 1942. Having received his basic training at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., he was sent to army administration school at the University of Mississippi. He left the United States in December, 1943.

Staff Sergt. Donald Fred Pilcher, son of Mrs. G. B. Kinser of Anamosa, has been reported a prisoner of war of the German government.

Mrs. Kinser received a telegram earlier that her son was missing in action over Germany since May 7.

He was on his 25th mission over enemy territory, serving as a ball turret gunner on a B-17 bomber.

Sergeant Pilcher was a freshman at the university at the time he entered the armed services in November, 1942. He arrived overseas in November, 1943, and was based in England.

Louis Hill Jr., who has been attending a special Coast Guard instructional school at New London, Conn., since January, has been commissioned an ensign. Ensign Hill participated in the invasions of Africa, Sicily and Salerno on an LCI. He was then transferred to England where he received orders to report back to the United States for special instructions at New London.

Before enlisting in the coast guard he attended the University of Iowa.

He is spending a short leave at his home in Postville before reporting for active duty.

The arrival of all but a few pieces of the new furniture at 108 McLean street has completed the transformation of the old Psi Omega house into the Catholic student center.

The center, which was formally dedicated May 7, will include in its facilities, a chapel, library, reception room and recreation room and will serve as a residence for priests taking graduate work at the university.

Under the direction of the Rev. Leonard J. Brugman, the center has been established primarily to provide a place for religious and recreational activity among the Catholic students at the university.

In the chapel, built to accommodate approximately 100 persons, students and the public may attend mass daily at 7 or 8 a. m. and at 5:45, 8:30 or 10 a. m. on Sunday.

Adjoining the chapel is the library. Yet in its infancy, it already includes subscriptions to outstanding periodicals and reference material. The library, Father Brugman explained, is to be principally a reference library and will not endeavor to establish a collection of modern works unless they are particularly outstanding. Two large oak reading tables with matching chairs, gayly covered easy chairs and colorful drapes add to the quiet, but pleasant, atmosphere.

For the more active recreation calling for dancing or games, the recreation room in the basement solves the problem. Substantial oak chairs line the walls, and the bright tile floor will stand wear and tear. A piano and phonograph are available for music and final construction has begun on a kitchenette opening into the "rumpus" room.

Mrs. Agnes Casey serves as secretary at the center and is the "unofficial" hostess to all student visitors. The center will also serve as headquarters for the Newman club, Catholic students' organization, under the direction of Joe Phelan, president.

Since the Rev. Bonaventure Schwinn, O. S. B., first director of the Catholic student center, was recalled by his religious superior, the Rt. Rev. Cuthbert MacDonald,

O. S. B., abbot of St. Benedict's Abbey, Atchison, Kan., the Rev. J. Brugman, who has been stationed at the student center for several months as its manager, will assume the pastorate of St. Thomas More parish, which is served by the priests of the student center.

"Gas rationing is unnecessary in the Central States because gasoline is really plentiful"

Mark up your opinion—and then read what the
Petroleum Industry has to say about it

If ANYONE regrets the necessity of gasoline rationing, it's the Petroleum Industry. Companies in that industry would like to sell you all the gasoline you want—if they could. That's why you can be sure the following statement is no exaggeration:

There is not plenty of gasoline in the Central States.

The reasons are simple. Our military machine—mightiest in history—gets first call on the nation's gasoline, of course. You wouldn't have it otherwise. The needs are tremendous—and will become increasingly greater.

For example, to train a pilot requires enough gasoline to last the average automobile eighteen years—12,500 gallons; it takes three tons of gasoline (approximately 1000 gallons) to deliver a one-ton bomb; tanks of one armored division require 25,000 gallons to move one hundred miles.

After such tremendous military needs are met, there simply is not enough gasoline left to keep civilian cars running "as usual." In spite of the fact that the Central States are more fortunate than other parts of the nation in respect to nearby sources of petroleum, there still is not enough gasoline for normal motoring here—not by a whole lot!

The only way to make what is available go around is through rationing. Without rationing, somebody would be bound to go without any gasoline. That somebody could be you.

The importance of a gasoline rationing system that really works is going to be increasingly great as the military needs for gasoline grow greater. Unfortunately, we have to look that fact in the face. Rationing is no fun—but a failure of our present gasoline rationing would surely result in even more drastic measures of control over the gasoline supply. It is to your own selfish interest to do everything possible to make rationing succeed. That is the only way you can be sure of having any gasoline for your own use in the months to come.

Here's how you can help make gas rationing work: Don't apply for more gas than you really need. Get into a ride-sharing club and stick to it. Endorse all your gas coupons now—don't give any away. Don't take extra gas or coupons from anyone.
