Allies Score Hard-Won Advances in Normandy

German Tanks Counter-Attack

Constant Artillery Bombardment Forces Nazis to Surrender

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Tuesday (AP)—The British and American armies scored hard-won gains of two and one-half to six miles on both ends and in the center of the Normandy battlefield yesterday, slogging through rain-soaked mud and knocking out numerous counter-attacking German tanks.

The British second army hammered out and retained advances of better than 4,000 yards on a three-and-one-half-mile front southwest of captured Caen. Patrols reached the Orne river, a mile farther on, but had to withdraw as the Germans massed powerful opposition in a determined attempt to prevent a break in that natural defensive line, Supreme headquarters announced this morning.

Slashing past the villages of Elerville and Maltot, the British main body took a hill designated as 112 and held it against violent counter-attacks led by 20 to 30 German tanks.

Nazis Pull Back Other armored counter-attacks, were broken up a dozen miles to the west, below Tilly, while the Americans on the western anchor of the line knocked out a number of counter-attacking tanks and pressed down two miles south of La Haye du Puits toward Lessay. The Germans were dominated by American-captured heights.

Front-line dispatches said the Americans gained up to six miles south of St. Jean de Daye and Carentan in 24 hours of combat and that they were pressing along a 25-mile front behind one of the war's greatest sustained artillery barrages.

Enemy Pockets Cleaned Up A headquarters communique said that unspecified by-passed enemy strong points were cleaned up during the day. One small, stubborn enemy pocket remained at Louvigny, one and one-half miles south of Caen on the west side of the Orne river.

In disclosing that the Americans alone since June 6 had buried more than 5,000 dead Germans and had taken 46,809 prisoners, a spokesman said these figures could not be used to calculate enemy losses because the Germans undoubtedly had buried more than 5,000 of their own dead.

No Defensive Positions On the British side, Supreme Headquarters stated, "There is no sign that the enemy has any definite prepared defensive positions short of the Seine river," which roughly parallels the Orne about 65 miles to the east.

Headquarters suggested that the Germans probably would resort to a town-by-town method of strong-point defense, and emphasized that despite their reverses the Nazis "have not shown the slightest sign of disorganization nor of any large-scale disengagement."

On the contrary, they were hurling all immediately available reserves into a stubborn attempt to make the Orne river a defensive moat.

Eisenhower Warning The supreme allied commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, issued a warning against growing optimism in the allied world, and predicted a long, bitter struggle before final victory in Europe.

Fighting to break the bottleneck at the base of the Normandy peninsula, the Americans thrust southward from captured La Haye du Puits towards Lessay, four and one-half miles away.

German Surrender The Germans have the remains of 11 to 12 divisions in line against the Americans, but many stumbled out of their foxholes and surrendered in a daze from the shattering impact of the constant artillery barrage which the Americans were using to break through the Marshall barriers that make the peninsula a virtual island.

Desperate Opposition Halts Allies in Italy

Yank Doughboys Gain Positions Four Miles North of Volterra

ROME (AP)—Increased enemy resistance, marked by desperate counter-attacks and heavy use of artillery in forward positions, virtually has called a halt to allied advances along the bloody 150-mile fighting front in Italy.

(NEW YORK (AP)—German forces defending Arezzo, central Italian town guarding the southeastern approaches to Florence, have been reinforced 500 percent, the British radio said in a broadcast beamed to Europe and monitored by NBC last night.

Bulletin NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Sir Harold G. Alexander, allied commander in chief in Italy, has returned to his command after "a flying visit to England," the London radio said last night.

The broadcast reported General Alexander was received by King George and conferred with Prime Minister Churchill and high military authorities.

The most significant gain carved out in the past 24 hours was by American troops who rushed to a point four miles north of the captured stronghold of Volterra near the west coast where they penetrated toward Arno river outposts of the Gothic line.

Fifth army headquarters also reported gains of unspecified distances along the Tyrrhenian coast, where American troops were within some 10 miles of the big port of Livorno (Leghorn), which was reported in flames from enemy demolitions.

Eight miles inland Yank forces moved slowly toward Romaia, 14 miles southeast of Livorno, and further to the east another doughboy column threatened the town of Laatico.

Three-Way Squeeze—Nazis Shift Uneasily

LONDON (AP)—Russian thrusts by air and sea and the uneasy shifting of German troops in Norway and Denmark and the northern end of the eastern front emphasize how the present three-way squeeze on Germany from the west, south and east could become a pressure box with the lid clamped on from the north.

German garrisons in northern Norway—just at the time when they may have been weakened to reinforce Nazi lines in France or Russia—are particularly worried by greatly increased Russian air attacks against coastal convoys and towns in the far north, Norwegians in London report.

Air attacks have been made on Vardo, Berlevag, Vadsø, and Kirkenes, the latter the "Scandinavian Gibraltar." Underground reports say Kirkenes was very severely damaged.

American Navy Shells Jap Bases on Rota, Guam in Marianas

Fast Carrier Group Damages Nipponese Coastal Defenses

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, (AP)—With Saipan island securely in American hands, the navy turned its attention to Guam and Rota islands, Saipan's southern neighbors in the Marianas, and shelled and bombed Japanese positions there.

Bulletin CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland's 17th day of drought yesterday brought predictions of closed production lines at Fisher Body aircraft plant No. 2 which produces sub-assemblies for B-29 Superfortress and turns out complete new-type fighter planes.

A Pearl Harbor communique yesterday announced that light cruisers and destroyers bombarded Guam over the weekend while carrier planes attacked both Guam and Rota Sunday.

Defenses Damaged Anti-aircraft batteries, coastal guns and airstrip defense positions were damaged.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz gave no indication whether he planned to seize other islands in the Marianas group or would be content to keep all but Saipan neutralized, as has been done with many once-formidable atolls in the Marshalls group. Japanese bases in the Carolines also have been rendered useless by repeated bombing.

Reports General A Japanese defense positions and buildings on Guam were damaged in the shelling on Saturday, and several small craft along the beaches were hit.

The damage to Guam and Rota inflicted by planes of a fast carrier task group Sunday was listed only in general terms. Rockets and bombs struck a number of military objectives on both islands. Anti-aircraft fire ranged from moderate to intense.

Destroyers Rescue Airmen One carrier plane made a water landing. A destroyer rescued the crew.

Liberators of the Seventh army air force bombed Truk, in the Carolines, Saturday, and marine fighters and divebombers attacked Jaluit, Malleolap and Wotje in the Marshalls.

Chinese Launch Drive in Hupeh Province CHUNGKING (AP)—Resurgent Chinese forces have launched a big offensive in southern Hupeh province, and on the Yunnan front have fought to the walls of the big Japanese base of Tengchung which blocks the way to a junction with allied forces in Burma, the Chinese high command announced yesterday.

The Hupeh offensive was aimed at the upper part of the elongated Japanese leg thrust southward from the Yangtze and Tungting lake and along the Canton-Hankow railway through Changsha to Hengyang where their drive stalled in a grandiose scheme to split China in half.

Sanguinary fighting was in progress in the suburbs of the railroad city of Hengyang, and south of Liling, 75 miles northeast. The Chinese driving against the left flank of the enemy, killed several hundred Japanese.

American planes of the 14th air force, flying in support of the fighting in this area, bombed Japanese headquarters south of Liling.

A communique said the Chinese drove back the right wing of the Japanese column trying to advance north from Canton, but admitted the loss of Tsingyung, 40 miles northwest of Canton, to another force which was moving northward.

Gail Patrick to Wed Navy Lieutenant HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gail Patrick of the films advised her press representative, Helen Ferguson, yesterday that she will be married today at Jacksonville, Fla., to Lieut. Aornald Dean White, USN, of Circleville, Ohio.

Miss Ferguson said the actress and White met in New York, May 11, and have been corresponding since. Miss Patrick arrived in Jacksonville Saturday, on a bond-selling tour, and White flew there from Miami, where he is in the naval air transport service.

VFW Criticizes Action Against Men Home From Overseas

Forrestal Expected to Probe Complaints Against Navy Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars said last night it had relayed to the war and navy departments complaints that men returning from combat overseas are being "discriminated against" in the matter of furloughs, liberty and physical examinations.

Investigation Ordered Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative representative of the VFW, released correspondence indicating that Navy Secretary Forrestal had ordered an investigation of one specific complaint involving approximately 200 enlisted personnel at Camp Parks, Livermore Valley, Calif.

These men, Ketchum wrote Forrestal, have seen service in the Aleutian islands and in the southwest Pacific and "are complaining bitterly of the treatment being accorded them."

No Furloughs "The charge is made," he wrote, "that these men are being immediately shipped out for overseas duty, without the benefit of physical examination and many of them are in bad physical and mental condition. It is further charged that these men have been practically confined to this camp since their return from foreign service, and their liberty has been limited to short passes, rather than extended furloughs."

Forrestal invited specific instances, declaring he would be "pleased to undertake a thorough inquiry."

Economists Predict Defeat of Germany 'In 1945, If Not 1944'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Germany's war economy has so deteriorated under combined allied attacks that she faces "substantial certainty of defeat in 1945 if not in 1944," the Foreign Economic Administration asserted yesterday making public an analysis of enemy war economy.

Prepared by William T. Stone, director of FEA's special areas branch, the report says the Germans will be in a nearly hopeless position by the end of this year with prospective expenditure of war material exceeding their rate of production.

Full scale allied bomber offensives, ground attacks, and blockade actions have shorn the Nazis of war material to the extent that they now have, in use and reserve, only the equivalent of less than one year's production, the report asserted.

Thanks should go chiefly to Russia, the report says, for forcing the Germans to consume finished war supplies almost equalling total German production for the three years during which the two nations have been at war.

RAF Strikes Berlin In Nuisance Raids, Nazi Radio Reports

Allied Planes Blast German Southwest, Northwest Coastline

LONDON, Tuesday (AP)—RAF night raiders struck Berlin early today, the Nazi radio reported, while other allied planes swept over southwestern Germany and the northwestern coast.

First Berlin reports said only that "several nuisance raiders" were over the capital—usually meaning Mosquito bombers.

Weather Grounds Allies The night attack came after weather had held allied daylight aerial blows to a minimum with the principal activity shown by Normandy-based planes.

German troops pushed into the woods southeast of Caen by the British-Canadian forces which captured the city were smoked out yesterday by rocket-firing Typhoons and bomb-carrying Spitfires and Mustangs of the RAF Second tactical air force which set the woods afire and strafed the fleeing Nazis.

Meager Operation This was one of the most important of the day's meager operations by the weather-hampered allied air force. Despite the adverse conditions fighter bombers pressed their attacks against enemy reinforcements and by early evening the force had flown more than 300 sorties.

There were no reports of enemy fighter opposition up to late evening.

A possibility that RAF bombers were striking Berlin arose when the Cologne radio went off the air last night after announcing that allied raiders were over Magdeburg and Dessau, southwest of Berlin, and were headed toward the Brandenburg district which includes the German capital.

(A German home radio broadcast also reported raiders over German east Prussia and said they had flown eastward—an indication that Russian bombers were active in that area or that British-based allied planes were making another shuttle raid to Russia.

OPA Accountant Quits After Reports Charge Misuse of Gas Ration

DES MOINES (AP)—Rolla R. Morrow, Des Moines, accountant for the Des Moines district OPA office, resigned yesterday following reports that he allegedly used gasoline for other purposes than those for which the ration was granted.

Acting District Director Walter D. Kline said he asked for and received the resignation after receiving the records from Des Moines ration board No. 1.

Morrow is reported to have taken a trip to Michigan to see a son in an army camp there during his vacation, using some gasoline ration issued to him for occupational use, Kline said.

Wallace, just back from a trip to China, told reporters that the conference dealt solely with that country.

"Can we take it from that you mean the 1944 political situation was not mentioned?" a reporter asked.

U. S. Liberators Hit Vital Sorong Airfield

Jap Losses Heavy As Yanks Hammer New Guinea Bases

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Tuesday (AP)—Long-range American Liberators struck at Sorong on the tip of Dutch New Guinea Sunday and the same day roared far to the north to hit important Japanese island bases at Palau and Yap, headquarters announced today.

No Enemy Action Forty-three tons of bombs churned Jefman airdrome at Sorong. Returning pilots reported neither interception nor anti-aircraft fire from this last of the enemy's important New Guinea bases.

Ngebus airdrome at Palau, in the Carolines, was the target of a night attack. Many fires were started. Enemy planes were airborne but did not intercept.

When bombers loosed 33 tons of explosives on Yap airdrome, northeast of Palau, 13 planes rose to intercept. The Liberators damaged and probably shot down three.

Japs Bomb Noemfoor Skirmishes in the Sarmi-Maffin bay area of Dutch New Guinea, cost the Japanese 292 more dead, bringing total enemy casualties in that sector to 3,067. Forty-two prisoners have been taken.

Six Japanese planes dropped 55 tons of bombs on American positions on Noemfoor island in Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink bay, more than 250 miles west of Maffin bay. There were no casualties, but a fuel dump was set afire. Americans captured Noemfoor's three airdromes in a five-day "blitz" last week.

There were indications in British New Guinea of a Japanese attempt at a break-through at Aitape, about 250 miles east of Maffin bay.

Chat About China—Wallace, FDR Confer

Nazis Suffer Heavily As Russians Smash Through Baltic Front

LONDON, Tuesday (AP)—Russian troops poured into Lithuania and increased their menace to German east Prussia yesterday by a powerful thrust through the 100-mile front between Wilno and Daugavpils, Moscow announced, while to the south other Soviet forces forged closer to the big Polish cities of Brest-Litovsk and Bialystok.

The early morning supplement to the Russian communique reported a general surge forward all along the jagged battle line from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes and said the Germans were suffering "tremendous losses."

Reds Smash Ahead During the day Red troops smashed 28 miles northwestward across the highway between Krasnoyarsk, former capital of the Lithuanian republic, and Daugavpils (Dvinsk) in southern Latvia, probing within 120 miles of the Baltic seaport of Riga.

Slonim, big communications center 28 miles west of Baranovice on the railroad to Bialystok was captured along with Luniniec, and important railway junction in the Pripyat area, 30 miles east of Pinsk on the rail route to Brest-Litovsk.

Wilno Encircled Wilno (Vilna) was completely encircled and Moscow said Soviet troops were wiping out German forces left in the center of the city. Even as this bloody hand-to-hand fighting continued, other Soviet units by-passed the ancient city and rushed on, capturing the rail junction of Landwarow, 10 miles west.

The relentless Russian drive was reported in British dispatches to have reached within 60 miles of east Prussia. The Swedish newspaper Morgon Tidningen reported that east Prussia already had been declared a prime defense zone and that German authorities had ordered women and children to prepare for evacuation to southwest Germany.

Russians Mop Up Meanwhile the mopping-up of German remnants left to the rear as the battlefront sped westward continued and Moscow said 2,000 were killed and 3,500 captured yesterday in the area east of Minsk alone.

Premier Stalin personally announced the capture of Luniniec (Luninets) and Slonim in a special order of the day issued a few hours after the Germans themselves had announced the evacuation of Luniniec, a strategically important railway junction 30 miles east of Pinsk.

By the capture of Luniniec the Russians gained control of the crossing of the north-south railroad connecting Wilno and Rowne and the main east-west line between Brest-Litovsk and Gomel.

Stalin said the Dnepr river naval flotilla assisted in the capture, shelling Nazi troops on both banks of the Pripyat river south of Luniniec.

Riga, the Latvian capital and Baltic seaport, was less than 120 miles ahead of the advancing Russian forces, whose spearhead at Utena might stab either in that direction or due west against Memel in German east Prussia.

Possible New Drive A drive through to Memel would cut off more than 60,000 square miles of territory—an area larger than the state of Georgia—once garrisoned by forces estimated at about 40 division by London military observers.

A military spokesman in Berlin expressed fears of a new Soviet offensive at Iasi, on the Romanian front.

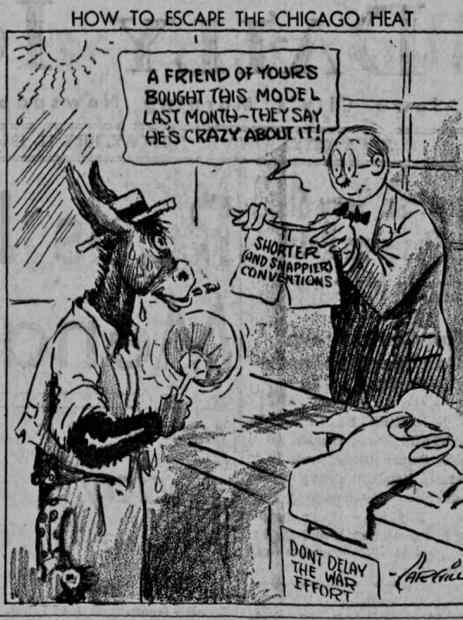

This view coincided with that of London military commentators who said the Second, Third and Fourth Ukrainian armies should be on the move soon.

German underground reports reaching here said the Germans had declared east Prussia "a rear area of operations" and were planning to evacuate all Estonia and most of Latvia. German forces in this area then would be for a defense of east Prussia, the cradle of German militarism, the home of the Junkers.

Dewey Mustache Worries Women Says Columnist

By HELEN ESSARY WASHINGTON — Not that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Gov. John W. Bricker nor even the Republican national committee is pining to hear a dash of advice from me. But there's no harm in my calling attention to a few little things about the Chicago convention that linger sharply in my thoughts. First, I liked Governor Dewey much better than I had expected I had made up my mind that I would not care for him at all—not that my opinion matters to the world one small bit—but I did find him intelligent, sincere and courageous. Before I go further to explain my new attitude, I want to say quickly that he would be a far more effective candidate for the White House if he would take himself to his favorite barber and shave off his mustache. I have heard dozens of women make the same criticism of the gentleman from New York. That mustache is the biggest handicap Tom Dewey has. It takes from the seriousness and strength of his face. Moreover it will not help with the woman vote. The governor has a handsome head, a cleanly chiseled nose, a decisive mouth. But when you look at him, unless you study his face long and closely, you see none of these photogenic assets. You see only the mustache. You remember only the mustache. Without it, Governor Dewey would look a million per cent more real as the proper man for the White House job he is after. Newsreels and posters could do a handsome work with the governor of New York as a smoothshaven personality. I had imagined that the governor was really a small man. He is not a giant but he is an inch taller than Winston Churchill. The Republican candidate's equipment for the radio is excellent. He has a warm, flexible speaking voice. His golden-tongued opponent may even have to brush up on his speech lessons if he is to successfully compete on the air with the Chicago nominee. The Dewey diction also is perfect. Perhaps a shade too perfect. However, it is soothing to the ear and does not shock the nervous system in the manner of several well-known candidates. His words are easily understood. He pitches his voice well and talks slowly. He has a nice flair for picking the right words. Dewey conducts himself well when questioned. This talent no doubt was first inherent and later grew when he became district attorney of New York. The penetrating questioning during the day-after-nomination press conference did not disturb the candidate. Dewey was casual and responded clearly to the journalistic inquisition. His mind works fast. Very fast. Incidentally, the sort of questions asked and the identity of the questioners proved the interest of the rest of the world in the coming presidential election. Journalists from Free France, Canada, Honolulu, London, Sweden, South America, China and Poland wanted to know the Republican nominee's attitude on matters that especially concerned their own countries. Hearing the strange voices and accents made me realize that this United States of ours belongs to the world. Or maybe the world belongs to her. Governor Bricker, the vice presidential nominee, will be useful, very useful in the coming campaign for the White House. He is a big, likeable fellow and will look well on any speaker's platform. And he does not have a mustache. Governor Bricker has a charming wife who will be an advantage to the Republican cause. She should go everywhere her husband goes, be about the place to rest the eyes on. The Republican ticket is lucky in the wives of its candidates. Mrs. Dewey is a darling. She is her husband's greatest asset. This is not just a pretty phrase I am turning. Mrs. Dewey is going to be

United States a Party to Nine Agreements for Sensational 'World Plan'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "world congress" about which there is so much talk is commonly envisaged as some international body that will emerge full grown this year or next. But actually the foundations are already in and part of the scaffolding is up. It can be said to have started at the Atlantic Charter meeting of Roosevelt and Churchill in August 1941. England, then, had just weathered the blitz. The United States was putting full steam behind war production. Russia was reeling under invasion. Now, three years later, the United States already is party to nine agreements to implement post-war policy. The new world set-up won't be the tight marriage among states which brought about the United States. It probably will more resemble cousins deciding on an interlocking directorate to run them so they all show a profit. The nations already are agreeing on how to meet special problems, such as relief, trade, money. Two agreements are signed by all of the 44 united and associated nations. One is signed only by the big four—the United States, the United Kingdom, Russia and China. Here they are in chronological order: Aug. 14, 1941: The Atlantic Charter, which said the U. S. and United Kingdom would endeavor to bring about "access on equal terms to trade and raw materials" for all nations; and that they desire collaboration to secure "improved labor standards, economic advancement, and social security." Jan. 1, 1942: The declaration of the United Nations, a mere war time agreement which tied 35 nations together and pledged that none of them would sign a separate peace. At that time many feared Russia might step out of the war when she reached her desired western more help in battling that fourth term business than miles of high sounding honest oratory. She conducted herself with skill and tact at her first Chicago press conference. She was thinking and acting in terms of her husband's career. She was not trying to sell herself as a brilliant, stinging personality. She was poised and thoughtful. I suspect she had no opinions of her own that would have made the headlines. But she subordinated those as dangerous to her husband's campaign. Instead she made her questioners think of the Dewey family—husband and wife—as good teammates working together for the success that so far has come quickly and may lead to the White House, the highest goal in American public life. April, 1944: The international labor conference at Philadelphia, with delegates from 43 nations who wrote a labor charter for the world, for presentation to their governments, agreeing that all must furnish jobs, wages adequate to decent living, and security against unemployment, sickness and death. July 1, 1944: The United Nations monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. H., to discuss actual machinery for world trade. There are also several regional plans under way: 1. The inter-American commissions for brisk trade between North and South America. 2. Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have worked out agreements which could spread to all Europe. They plan to hold their currencies at constant exchange

GOP Nominee Dewey Sticks to Desk Despite Campaign

WASHINGTON —Although Gov. Thomas E. Dewey made a fighting speech in accepting the presidential nomination at Chicago, veteran political observers in Washington expect the national campaigns for the presidency to get off to a late start. There are several reasons for this. Dewey has announced that he will not resign the governorship of New York. He is expected to stay in Albany awhile to put things in order before going on a speaking tour. Moreover, Dewey has no intention of beating the political drums until the Democrats have had their convention and the results of that convention have had a chance to sink in on the public consciousness. Then, Dewey advisers believe, his best chance for victory lies in a quiet campaign, one in which he will not have to express positive and specific views on burning issues, thereby alienating potential votes. Dewey strategy, according to present indications, will be to attack the New Deal administration in broad and general terms. All indications are that President Roosevelt—and his renomination is taken for granted by politicians—will forego an active campaign. So the campaigns of both aspirants may be largely of the "front porch" character. Among 1944 political developments, the one that probably has been underplayed is the split between the New Deal Democrats and the old-line southern Democrats. Two sectional Democratic factions have grown up in the senate, and the bitterness that exists between them is intense. More will be heard about them. Leader of the old-line southern Democrats is Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and their chief Democratic opponent, and the target of much of their criticism, is Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania. Byrd has already promised Guffey that Senator Josiah W. Bailey (D), of North Carolina will nail his "rhinoceros" hide to the wall for a speech in which Guffey attacked Bailey while the latter was recovering from an operation. Further evidence of the Democratic schism is the revolt of southern Democratic electors who are threatening to vote against President Roosevelt for a fourth term, regardless of the popular vote in their states. Usually, Democrats park their differences during an election year. But differences have arisen in 1944 too deep to be patched up. As the time for the Democratic convention approaches, more and more is being said about the opposition of Democratic political leaders to the renomination of Henry A. Wallace for the vice-presidency. One Democrat high in the councils of the party has said flatly in recent weeks that Wallace would be a liability as the presidents' running mate this year. The names of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, majority leader of the senate, and Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri have been suggested. The comment has been made that none of these men would be a liability. Whether Wallace is renominated, however, depends on one man—the president. against unemployment, sickness and death. July 1, 1944: The United Nations monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. H., to discuss actual machinery for world trade. There are also several regional plans under way: 1. The inter-American commissions for brisk trade between North and South America. 2. Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have worked out agreements which could spread to all Europe. Censorship to Armed Forces

The pros and cons of wartime censorship have been bandied about with vigor ever since our government began limiting certain kinds of news regarded as valuable to our enemies. Certainly, even today, no definite answer can be found to the question: Is the government justified in controlling news sources and outlets in time of great crises. However, in the past few months a new kind of censorship, stemming from entirely different reasons has made it self felt. We speak of the armed services censorship which prevents our fighters from being informed as to the political events which are taking place here in America. No wartime emergency this, it was mainly set up by worried congressmen who believed and still do believe that the administration would use their armed service news sources to "propagandize the soldiers and sailors" in a way which would be harmful to other political groups. They pointed to certain pamphlets and speeches which were widely circulated among members of the armed services, and declared that these were distributed mainly to influence the judgment of the men and women who are fighting for this country. Rather than permit such a thing to happen, they decided to ban all such material "pertinent to

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

Berlin Broadcasts Admit Dangerous Russian Stab Into Lithuania

By Kirke L. Simpson Associated Press War Analyst A dangerous Russian stab into the northeastern Lithuania threatening to cut off all German forces in Latvia and Estonia is admitted in Berlin broadcasts although otherwise unconfirmed. It lends some credibility to underground reports in London of impending Nazi flight from both Baltic states and most of Lithuania. The indicated new Russian puncture of the toppling German front between the Baltic and the Pripiet marshes is in the region of Tuena. The town lies 25 miles or so inside the Polish-Lithuanian border on the Daugavpils (Dvinsk)-Kaunas highway. If it is under Russian attack as Berlin indicated, it means that the last direct communication line has been cut between the Lithuanian capital and the Latvian-Estonian end of the eastern battle front. Moscow announcements show Russian forces farther south have already surged by Wilno less than 50 miles east of Kaunas, on both sides leaving the important rail hub city itself to mopping-up forces engaged in house-to-house battle with its rearguard Nazi garrison. Linked with the breakthrough to Utena, these two Russian thrusts into eastern Lithuania are being driven home at a point which renders any successful German stand north of Nemunas river or east of the Kaunas-Grodno-Bialystok-Brest Litovsk line improbable. The Russian breakthrough at Wilno and in the Utena area seems to doom the foe to surrender of all the Baltic states except the southwest corner of Lithuania

The 'Adjutant' of Death--

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, June 28 (Delayed) (AP) — The captain sipped his drink, slowly looking around the cocktail lounge in a Roman hotel. "Yes sir," he drawled, "this is mighty fine but in a way it's bad. First thing you know I'll be wanting to stay alive again. Good thing I've got the sergeant." The captain had a deep scar along his cheek. He wore a combat infantry man's badge, plus a purple heart ribbon and two clusters. A shiny remnant of a "railroad track" on his shirt collar hinted that recently he had been a lieutenant. The last units of his rifle company had just been pulled out of the lines, and he was resting in Rome. "How do you mean that Captain?" someone asked. "Well," began the captain, "it's this a-way." The ghost of a grin hid under his bushy mustache. "The way I see it, there's only one frame of mind for a line company soldier in this war. He's got to figure he's going to get killed. He's gotta make up his mind he's gonna die. Then, in case he does happen to live, he'll feel wonderful. By figuring that he was going to die, he's about ten times as good a soldier. He'll kill a helluva lot more Germans. "I never did kid the men in my outfit. I always told them right at the start—'You're gonna get killed,' I tell 'em 'No use figuring on anything else you guys are in a rifle company now,' I tell them, 'Mathematical chances on you comin' out alive are just about zero, so you might as well make up your mind you're gonna die.' "It was rough on them at first. But—it made it easier for them once they decided they wuz gonna die. That was the worst thing could happen. As long as they were still alive, they stayed pretty cheerful. Be sides that they all made up their minds that killing them was gonna cost a helluva lot of Germans. "It has too," the captain said staring into his glass. The grin was gone now. "Most of them are dead or wounded now but they killed and wounded a helluva lot of Germans." After a little silence, someone said, "But what about this sergeant? You said something about a sergeant." The grin returned. "Oh yes," he drawled, "there's only about a dozen of the original guys left in my old outfit. The sergeant is one of them. He's got a cluster on his purple heart too. We've been together a long time now, and he knows me pretty well. The sergeant tells me whenever he thinks I'm slipping. "Everytime I come back to the hospital, the sergeant would come in and say, 'Well, Captain, they didn't get you that time, did they? I suppose now you got the idea you're gonna live right on through the rest of the war. I suppose you've been looking at the pretty nurses and decided you want to stay alive right now. Is that right, Captain, sir?" and I'd admit I'd been entertaining a few such thoughts. "Then he really went to work on me. By the time he got through reminding me of all those things I'd been telling the men I again decided that I didn't have the chance of a snowball in hell of surviving the war. "The captain grinned, drained his glass and ordered a new round of drinks. He watched with speculative approval while two pretty girls walked the length of the room, passed the bar and went out the door. "Yes, sir," he said, "the sergeant's sure gonna have to do some tall talking this time."

Australia and New Zealand have agreed to be partners for defense, for control of aviation, and for participation in any final Pacific agreement. 4. There are a dozen or so plans to federate Europe. The most advanced would federate central Europe, from Danzig to Greece, to the extent of common currencies, no tariffs, and common laws on schooling, social security and working conditions. These hopes are somewhat dashed by Russia's seeming determination to take part of former Poland, and by the pact between Russia and Czechoslovakia. However, the plan would set up another free trade area, and brisk trade is the main objective of most of today's international planning. The United Nations will have to confer on several other subjects: aviation, world trade, cartels, a United Nations bank which would make loans to nations. Each agreement will result in some international committee to assist the nations in working together—and such committees (completely voluntary) constitute the "world congress" or "world state" in immediate prospect. J. L. Lingo Addresses Peace Officers

Lectures on Arrests; Report Writing Scheduled Today

"Is Police Work a Profession" was the subject of the lecture given by J. L. Lingo, director of the Public Safety Institute of Purdue, Ind., yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the river room of Iowa Union in the first class meeting of the peace officer's short course being held at the university through Friday.

He stressed the numerous duties of the police officer and the knowledge required in order to do a good job as a police officer. He stated that a police officer must have a common sense of law, medicine, first aid, journalism, physics, chemistry, psychology and home teaching.

The importance of public support of the police department and the lack of it in many cases was stressed in the lecture, and Lingo declared that the situation can be altered.

Professional Work He said that the job of a police officer must be a profession, and that amateurs in police work would tear down the standards.

The best example of advancement in police work is the establishment of police institute training, Lingo declared.

The requirements for comprehensive training for police officers, according to Lingo, are: definite pre-employment training for persons interested in entering the police service, provision for complete and continued training for police officers including police administrators and provision of specialized courses for more technical subjects.

Over Specialization He stated that the problem causing trouble in this country is that there is too much specialization. He said that more all-around police officers are needed, and that a better understanding between police officers should be strived for.

Police have been the home front protection, he concluded and the department is striving for a more professional standing.

Iowa Seahawks Shut Out Springfield, Camp Ellis

Simon Hurls Three-Hitter

Navy Takes All-Stars 5-0; Defeats Cardinals 7-0 in Sunday Games

By BOB BROOKS

Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Running their winning streak to 17 straight games, the Seahawks Sunday white-washed the Camp Ellis Cardinals 5 to 0, after shelacking the Springfield team 7 to 0, on Saturday night.

Pitching and defensive play brought the Seahawks their double victory, with Keith Simon hurling a three-hitter at the All-Stars and Ed Weiland, formerly of the White Sox, gave up six hits to the Camp Ellis army team. Sparking the defense play was the combination of Rochelli, Ratliff and Aries, who accounted for three double plays in the two games.

Against Springfield, first blood was drawn with a two run slurge in the second, when the pitcher, Wise, let go two wild pitches that brought in Wakefield, who had singled, and Aries, who had walked. This margin was enough to win, but the Seahawks gained one more run in the third, two tallies in the fourth and two in the seventh.

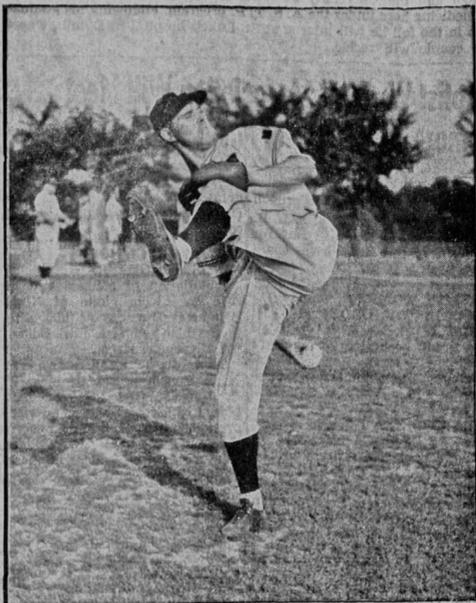

Dick Wakefield, who was playing his last game for the navy Saturday, provided the hitting punch, with two singles and a line drive double in five trips. Keith Simon was never in trouble as he allowed three hits and retired eleven batters.

Ed Weiland took the mound against Camp Ellis on Sunday, giving up six scattered hits, as his mates brought home the game with three markers in the initial frame.

Lou Rochelli and Charley Heck greeted Roy Peeler, Ellis pitcher, with sharp doubles, both right center. Singles by Baker and Harris and Price Brookfield's force place brought three runs across the plate. This outbreak gave the Seahawks their 18th win against one loss at the hands of the Iowa States Cyclones earlier in the season.

The Seahawks will put their winning streak on the block this weekend when they meet the Army Mayo team at Galesburg, Ill., Sunday.

Iowa Last Loop Team To Open Schedule

All of the other Western conference football teams will have played from one to three games before the University of Iowa opens its 1944 season.

That Oct. 7th game with Ohio State at Columbus represents the latest opening date for a Hawkeye football team since 1922.

But once under way, the Iowans will be occupied on eight consecutive Saturdays through Nov. 25,

Bears' Line Coach—Heartly Anderson

They called him Rockers when he was the toughest guard Notre Dame ever had. One look at his feet and you had the answer. They were so flat in the middle they turned up fore and aft. His creed as a player was to rock 'em and sock 'em. This spirit burns no less fiercely now that Heartly (Hunk) Anderson is a coach.

For four seasons, the big, powerful men in the Bears' line have been obeying his hoarse commands. Football always has been war to the powerful red-faced fellow who looks and acts like an army sergeant. There is nothing spurious about this resemblance. Anderson, scarcely out of his teens, was a sergeant in the last conflict.

The College All-Stars, on the night of Aug. 30, in Dyche stadium against the Bears will come up against husky professional forwards who have been taught in the Anderson manner. He showed his coaching skill last year, when, with such giants gone as Joe Stydahar, Ed Kolman, Lee Artoe, and Ed (Muscles) Bray, his line withstood the onslaughts of teams admittedly superior in manpower, such as the Green Bay Packers and the Washington Redskins.

We think that Anderson is one of sport's most misunderstood men. There's an impression among some who do not know him that he is on the uncouth side. But he appreciates the finer things. He has a beautiful home in a Detroit suburb and the nicest family you'd want to meet. In his house, old Heartly drops the hard-boiled front and is a smooth amiable host. Honest, he doesn't try to tackle you.

Hunk is generally recognized as six of the engagements being with conference opponents.

The longer period without contests will give Coach "Slip" Madigan a chance to get his green young players, well-grounded in his style of play before playing the first two games away from home.

On the other hand, Ohio State, first foe, will have had the experience of one game and the second opponent, Illinois, will have played four rivals before taking on the Hawkeyes.

Texas U's—

Dana Bible

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
(Pitch-hitting for Whitney Martin)

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—University of Texas football followers found their Bible a formula for success.

Dana Xenophon Bible will be starting his eighth season on a fabulous contract in September. He was brought to "the 40 acres" in 1937 to drag Texas out of the gridiron doldrums. The rest is bright history in the annals of the big state university.

Bible, happily situated at Nebraska, knew it was a tough row in the Southwest conference where you could win national fame in inter-sectional battles but finish in the cellar in your own loop.

Fabulous Contract

But a 10-year contract at the unheard of salary of $15,000 a year to be athletic director and coach wasn't to be passed up.

There was a flurry in the legislature where funds of the university, except for athletics, are administered. The legislators discovered the coach was making almost twice as much as the president. Well, nothing to do but raise the president's salary, which was hiked to $17,500.

Then Bible set out to rebuild Texas' football fortunes from the bottom of the barrel. He organized the state into districts. Alumni sought the football players, pointing out that they could get a mighty fine education at the university while playing on the team.

Slow but Sure

It was slow but sure and in 1942 Texas won its first championship in a dozen years. In 1943, it won again, smashing the jinx that said champions did not repeat.

When Bible arrived the athletic department was $70,000 in the red, the result of having paid considerable sums for permanent improvements, not connected with actual operating expenses. Today, all the deficit has been wiped out and there's a tidy sum in the treasury as the result of colorful football teams that have been drawing a quarter of a million fans each season. Meanwhile, the permanent plant has been kept up Hill hall, athletic dormitory, has been built and paid for.

First Bowl Game

Texas never had played in a Bowl game until Bible arrived. Now it has two Cotton Bowl appearances behind it at a profit of better than $50,000.

Bible's record at Texas is 40 victories, 24 losses and 3 ties. That brings his record of 32 years of coaching to 187 wins, 66 losses and 19 ties.

The 52-year-old Tennessee-born Bible is not the showman type coach. Dignified, gentlemanly, his psychology is to point out an incentive, appeal to the boys' finer natures in living up to that incentive for the school and for themselves—in other words, standard stuff that holds from year to year because it has a sound base.

Deadly Sarcasm

Bible never confirmed it, but there was one time when he reportedly used sarcasm. One of his players—that's when he was coach at Texas A & M—said Bible, instead of an expected hide-ripping tirade to a team taking a beating from an inferior outfit, asked pleasantly as they prepared to go out for the second half: "Shall we go, girls?" A & M won, naturally.

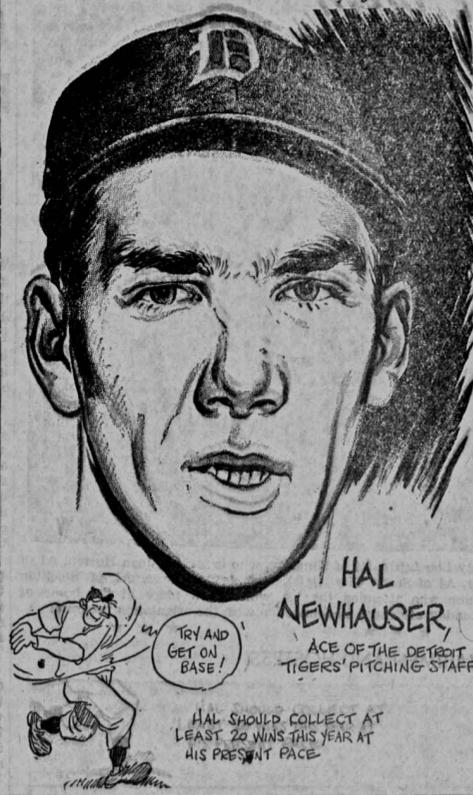

The guess here is that Bible will give up active coaching and become athletic director alone when his present contract runs out. At Texas that's a big enough job: directing eight branches of athletics in which Texas has won 42 championships and 3 ties out of a possible 63 titles since Bible came here.

guards and tackles had played up, hitting and floating a great deal. But against the six man setup, with backers up behind 'em, the line charged harder and didn't float as much. The primary job of the lineman was to make tackles.

"The change is the passing rule which eliminated the 5-yard penalty if two successive passes in a series of downs failed really brought on the six-man line. This opened up football and led to the five-man line, first noted in the Southwest as a counter move against the flying circus of Ray Morrison at Southern Methodist. Ray's teams threw 40 to 50 passes a game and it was only natural for the opposition to use a minimum of men on the line."

TIGER TERROR

By Jack Sords

Then, narrated Hunk, line play underwent another metamorphosis. The new strategy was a six-man line, all of the lads rooting in there to bust up running or passing plays. This caused consternation to the offensive team that the mousetrap was born. To this day it remains an important weapon for the offense and it's one which old Rockers has had a big hand in developing.

Mouse trapping first was noted by Hunk in the 20s when the late Judge Walter Steffen's Carnegie Tech team played Notre Dame. The defensive back was allowed to sift through the line, then was banged from the side just as he was about to tackle the ball carrier. For the first few years only the backs were mousetrapped. Then it spread to the linemen.

In 1930, the trick of trapping guards and tackles, both from inside and outside, appeared. The opposition linemen would politely step aside, thus inviting his opponent to come through. This individual would envision headlines until, from one side or the other, he was smacked into bolivion by another enemy, while the ball carrier blithely stepped through the hole.

Today the maneuver has been developed so that the offensive linemen trap defensive linemen. The modern linemen must be a hard charger, just like in the old days, but he also must know when not to barge in, else he will be trapped. The linemen must know what to do in diverse situation.

"But here," said Hunk, acting startled. "Maybe I'm giving away too many secrets. After all, we can't afford to spot those collegians anything."

Expect Madigan Today

Coch "Slip" Madigan and family, motoring the 2,200 miles from Oakland, Calif., left last Thursday, Director E. G. Schroeder, learned yesterday. Two additional days of delay in the leaving date were caused by hand and arm burns sustained by Mary Madigan. They are expected to arrive in Iowa City today.

Vote More 'OWI' Games

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Night baseball won another victory yesterday in the American league which voted all clubs permission to play more "owl" games but deferred action on the number of contests pending action of the joint meeting of the major leagues.

The National league also discussed the request of President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals for unlimited week night games but withheld announcement of its action until today's conclave with the junior circuit under the direction of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Indications were that all clubs so desiring would finish out their season schedules under the arc lights with the exception of Sundays and Labor day as in the case of Washington. Both Philadelphia clubs, the two St. Louis entries and the Chicago White Sox requested more night games.

Early renewal of the major league agreement under which the office of high commissioner was established in 1921 was urged by the American leaguers. Although the pact does not expire until Jan.

Walters to Pitch for Nationals In Twelfth All-Star Till Tonight

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Upon the powerful right arm of Bucky Walters, ace hurler of the Cincinnati Reds, will be placed the responsibility of breaking the American league's monopoly on the major leagues' all-star baseball game which will be played for the 12th time tonight under the lights of Forbes field.

Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National leaguers, was not hesitant yesterday in selecting the veteran, who has won 14 and lost three this season, as his starting pitcher. However, Marse Joe McCarthy, the Yankee pilot who'll head the American league squad for the seventh time in quest of the junior circuit's ninth victory and fourth straight, said he would not name his starting hurler until today. Neither manager will arrive until a few hours before game time.

Hank Borowy

Baseball experts, however, expected McCarthy to call on his own Hank Borowy, slim right hander who is pacing the Yankee mound staff with 11 victories and four defeats. Borowy has not hurled since blanking the Cleveland Indians on four hits last Thursday and appears to be the logical choice over Boston's Tex Hughson, who appeared in relief roles both last Saturday and Sunday, and Detroit's stellar southpaw, Hal Newhauser, who last Saturday hung up his 13th victory as compared to five setbacks. Hughson has a 14-3 record.

Both Hughson and Newhauser are expected to get a chance at one of the three-inning stretches with Buck Newsum of the Athletics, Dutch Leonard of the Senators and Bob Murnier of the most likely choices for relief roles.

To Follow Walters

Rip Sewell, blooper ball hurler of the host club, and either Nate Andrews, Al Javery or Jim Tobin, all of the Braves, figures to follow Walters on the mound for the Nationals.

With four players from each league in the starting lineups hitting over 300, the betting gentry said the game was a toss-up at 11 to 10 and take your pick. A capacity crowd of between 35,000 and 40,000 is expected to pour close to $100,000 into the major leagues' bat and ball fund.

The National league lost two of its starts within the last two days when Max Lanier, southpaw ace of the Cards, turned up with a sore arm and Eddie Miller, fiery Cincinnati shortstop, reported to Southworth he would be unable to play because of a sore shoulder. An effort was being made to get Bill Voiselle, Giants' right-hander, to replace Lanier. The loss of the Cardinal southpaw left Southworth with only one portside—Ken Raffensberger of the Phillies.

McCarthy also said he would not decide on his starting catcher until today but if Rollie Hemslay, veteran New York receiver, is in shape he is expected to get the call over Washington's Rick Ferrell, only member of the squad to play in the first all-star game, and Philadelphia's Frankie Hayes.

Byrnes Extends Offer To Settle Controversy Over Nelson Proposal

Promises Immediate Decision on Disputes With War Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian production controversy approached a climax last night with an offer by James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, to decide or compromise the differences between Donald M. Nelson and the armed services.

Byrnes said that the four orders sponsored by War Production Board Chairman Nelson—with the aim of starting limited manufacture of civilian goods where labor and materials are available and thus letting industry prepare for reconversion—had not yet reached him.

'Immediate Action'

"If any agency objects to them, the matter will come before me, and it will be given immediate attention," Byrnes told reporters.

Byrnes was described by an aide as feeling that Nelson and the military are not actually far apart, but if they fail to reach an early settlement and the question comes to him, he "will promptly decide the issues."

No Meeting Scheduled

A report circulated that Byrnes would meet at his White House offices this week with war department, navy, manpower and WPB officials, but the spokesman said he knew of no such scheduled conference.

Underlying army and navy opposition to the Nelson plan is a fear that the proposed modest steps toward consumer goods manufacture would burgeon into a reconversion stampede.

Nelson, despite the convalescence which confines him to bed and makes impossible his personal issuance of the orders, which he sponsored, is expected shortly to reply to the letter sent him Saturday by the joint army and navy chiefs of staff under signature of

Des Moines Director Says Manpower Plan Operates Smoothly

DES MOINES (AP)—The new manpower control plan which went into effect July 1 is working smoothly in the Des Moines area, E. Lee Keyser, area director for the War Manpower Commission here, said yesterday.

The great majority of job-seekers handled by the War Manpower Commission, Keyser reported, have been accepting referrals to industries which will be able to make greatest use of their skills.

Since July 1, 94 persons have taken jobs with out-of-state companies who have high priority manpower ratings, Keyser said. Of the total, the great majority were skilled male workers.

"We don't anticipate any difficulty under this new plan," Keyser said. "For the last eight months we have been clearing 92 percent of all essential workers and 60 percent of all non-essential workers in Des Moines."

Issue Ticket Material

Because the first home game will not be played until Oct. 21, some three weeks later than the usual home opener, University of Iowa football ticket application material will be mailed to some 20,000 persons Sept. 1.

Adm. William D. Leahy, the presiding officer.

Letter Contradictory

The letter said that the issuance at this time of orders "which will affect our ability to produce war materials is not consistent with the all-out prosecution of the war." The continuance of present lags in arms production "could prolong the war," the letter added.

WPB sources readily acknowledged lags in some weapons, notably aircraft, but said that tentative figures on June production appear to show only a one percent drop from May. Most of it is resubmitted, they said, from a six percent slump in aircraft production, and Executive Vice-Chairman Charles E. Wilson has emphatically denied that this lag was caused by a manpower shortage.

Dewey to Confer With Massachusetts Congressional Group

Vermont Republicans Pledge Full Support To GOP Nominee

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey prepared last night to confer with a Republican congressional delegation from Massachusetts after Sen. Warren R. Austin (R., Vt.), ardent advocate of international collaboration to maintain peace, pledged support of the GOP presidential nominee.

Dewey, who had luncheon with Austin, Sen. George D. Aiken and Rep. Charles A. Plumley, Vermont Republicans, was to meet the Bay state group at dinner. The 10-member delegation from Massachusetts is headed by house minority leader Joseph R. Martin Jr., Gov. Leverett Saltonstall and Sen. Sinclair Weeks, long-time supporter of Wendell Willkie.

Many Subjects Discussed

Speaking for the Vermont group, Austin said, "many subjects," including a "general, international organization for security and peace," were discussed with Dewey. The senator added: "I shall support Governor Dewey with enthusiasm, having in view both the domestic and foreign policies of this country as he has expressed it."

Describing the luncheon discussion as covering "those things which we think the people are interested in, the Vermonter said they included:

Victory Speeded

The speeding up of victory, getting American soldiers home and saving as many lives as possible, "arranging conditions in America so that our boys not only find jobs but will be encouraged to initiate enterprises of their own," governmental thrift and reconversion of industry "from the tremendous war development to a peace basis without unnecessary dislocation of the national economy."

Emphasizing that he was speaking only for himself and not for Dewey, Austin said the proposed international organization would take care of political and justiciable questions and the "necessity of maintaining sanctions of all kinds that appear necessary to prevent and repel military aggression."

Prof. M. E. Barnes Speaks to Officers On Health Problems

"Too many police officers, becoming cynical in their point of view after seeing so much human weakness, are likely to think that everybody is a crook," warned Prof. M. E. Barnes, head of the hygiene and preventive medicine department in the university college of medicine, who addressed the group on "The Peace Officer and His Health Problems."

To remedy this increasing tendency, every police officer should have thorough training in the principles of mental hygiene, in order that he may become a real judge of the emotions motivating human activity, Professor Barnes said.

Listing several typical patterns of human behavior with which every officer should be familiar, Barnes cited mental hygiene as only part of the training in public health that should be the equipment of all peace officers.

"Working with the public health department, the police should provide the persuasion, education and leadership towards better public health," Professor Barnes stated. "Only in the last resort should legal action be taken to improve a bad health situation. People will improve health conditions only when they are educated to want better public health."

Professor Barnes also discussed the actual health risks taken personally by the average peace officer, warning particularly against upper respiratory diseases and describing methods of effective disease prevention.

NHA Administrator Announces Closing Of Kansas City Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Appointment of new national housing agency regional representatives in San Francisco and Dallas and the closing of the Seventh regional office in Kansas City, Mo., was announced yesterday by NHA Administrator John B. Blandford Jr.

The Kansas City office covered the states of Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri and South Dakota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The Chicago regional office will assume jurisdiction over the states of Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. Colorado and Kansas were added to the Dallas region, Utah to the San Francisco region, and Wyoming to the Seattle, Wash., region.

Blandford estimated the closing of the Kansas City office would effect a yearly saving of about $50,000.

Aircraft Head Tells Of Hitler's 1940 Plan To Invade America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hitler in 1940 already had prepared detailed plans for invasion of the United States, "after he brought England to her knees," J. Carlton Ward Jr., president of the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft corporation, told a senate military committee yesterday.

Ward testified he was shown the plan "by diplomatic sources" while in Paris before France fell, that he reported to this government and found the state department already had complete information on Hitler's plan.

The manufacturer was head of a mission in France at the time advising on aircraft production. "After he brought England to her knees," Ward testified, "Hitler planned to attack the United States through Mexico with tanks and other armored equipment we did not have."

Ward voiced a plea for military preparedness in the post-war era, saying "The only way to maintain peace is to have the force to maintain it. Had we possessed an adequate army and navy before the war it is a question whether we would have ever been compelled to fight."

Gillette to Withdraw As 1944 Delegate, Opposes Fourth Term

Iowa Senator Feels FDR Will Refuse Party Renomination

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP)—Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Ia.) said last night that he was withdrawing as a delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago next week because "I couldn't conscientiously vote for the renomination of President Roosevelt."

Gillette, who opposed a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, and as a result also withdrew as a delegate to the 1940 convention—pointed out that the Iowa delegation was instructed to vote next week for the president's renomination. He added in an interview "For me to cast such a vote would be inconsistent with the position I've consistently taken. There's nothing personal about it, I'm just opposed to such a continuation of office."

12 Year Veteran

The senator, veteran of 12 years in congress and opposed for reelection in November by Republican Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper, said, however, that he would support Mr. Roosevelt after the latter's nomination but he said he didn't think the president would accept the nomination.

"I am one in probably 5,000,000 who believe he will not be a candidate" Gillette declared. He gave the reasons for that belief in an off-the-record discussion.

"However, if he is re-nominated," Gillette continued, "there will be no hesitancy on my part to support him for re-election for then it will be the case of backing the man whom the Democratic party wishes to be its candidate. But I don't feel that he should be the man."

"Serious Mistake" "I think it's a serious mistake as a matter of policy to build up a party machine through long tenure of power. Nevertheless I would support Mr. Roosevelt in preference to Gov. (Thomas E.) Dewey to be our leader during the war and post-war years. If I couldn't support him of course I would withdraw as a candidate for reelection."

"Mr. Roosevelt's experience and international recognition as an outstanding leader place him in a position to which no one else with the limited experience of Governor Dewey could approach."

"Dear Guy" Letter Gillette who survived the Democratic administration's purge attempts of 1938 was disinclined to stand for renomination in last month's primary, but yielded to the pleas of state party leaders. Shortly thereafter he received a "Dear Guy" letter from the president congratulating him on his decision to run. He easily defeated Ernest Seemann of Waterloo in the primary.

He said yesterday his campaign prior to the November election would be a limited one consisting only of a few radio talks and two or three platform speeches. He said he would not take advantage of the extra gasoline rations authorized for political candidates to stump the state.

Robert Smith, 19, Local House Painter, Severely Burned

Robert Smith, 19, 717 S. Capitol street, was taken to Mercy hospital yesterday afternoon suffering severe burns on both legs. While painting the C. Culberson house, 713 S. Capitol street, he dropped a lit match into a can of gasoline which burst into flame.

As Smith kicked over the container, gasoline splashed on his trousers and severely burned his legs.

Government Experts Propose Health Plan To Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian health program, starting with infants, and designed to wipe out causes responsible for 5,000,000 wartime 4-F cases, was recommended to a senate subcommittee yesterday by experts of four government agencies.

They suggested integration of health and educational programs. Capt. C. R. Wells, head of the selective service dental division and president of the American Dental association, declared: "We'd like to see credit for dental and physical fitness, just like a credit is given for algebra."

Vice-Adm. Ross T. McIntyre, navy surgeon general, asserted at hearing, conducted by Chairman Pepper (D., Fla.): "I believe we must come to some sort of pre-paid medical care."

He said this would have to be worked out in cooperation with medical organizations and that it need not mean socialization of medicine.

As the basis of a vast post-war health program, McIntyre proposed establishment of diagnostic clinics throughout the country which would be available to all

Minnesota Primary Election May Indicate Strength of Roosevelt

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—In a primary election scanned for a possible indication whether President Roosevelt, if he is a candidate, can carry the state four times in a row, Minnesota Republicans and Democratic-Farmer-Laborites chose nominees yesterday for the November election.

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor party appeared on the ballot for the first time, having been formed last April as a fusion of the once-powerful Farmer-Labor and the Democratic parties. In the last three presidential elections the two parties had working agreements based on support of Roosevelt.

physicians and all citizens of the various communities.

Col. Leonard Rountree, selective service medical director, described as "appalling" the extent of defects turned up in examining men for the draft. He said at least 5,000,000 were rejected or discharged because they were incapable of service. American youth, he said, were the victims of a situation rather responsible for it.

Only 18 to 35 percent of men examined before induction were completely free of defects, he said.

Iowa Radio Stations File Joint Applications To Change Ownership

WASHINGTON (AP)—The licenses of radio station WOL, Washington, and WMT, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, filed joint applications with the Federal Communications Commission yesterday calling for the exchange of ownership of the two stations.

Under the plan, the American Broadcasting company would give up station WOL Washington, and the station's ownership would pass to the Iowa Broadcasting company. Likewise, the Iowa company would give up station WMT Cedar Rapids, and that station would be owned by the American Broadcasting company.

The contract calling for the exchange is subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission. Approval normally is granted about 60 days after applications are filed.

William B. Dolph, executive vice-president of the American Broadcasting company, said yesterday that when his company takes over WMT Cedar Rapids, he contemplates no personnel changes. He said William B. Quarton, general manager of WMT and president of the Cedar

Masters Golf Meet Scheduled for July 29

AMES (AP)—The seventh annual Masters golf tournament at Iowa State college is scheduled for July 29 and 30, George F. Venker, Iowa State director of athletics, announced yesterday.

Venker said most of the damage to the golf course from spring floods had been repaired. After some of the fixed equipment, including a catwalk and a bridge, were washed out and the holes were covered with mud, it had been uncertain whether or not a 1944 tournament would be held.

The play this year will be confined to 36 holes to enable contestants to play the entire tournament in one day or 18 holes each day.

Rapids chamber of commerce, would continue in his present executive capacity. The station will continue to maintain supplemental studios in Waterloo.

Gardner Cowles, Jr., president of the Iowa Broadcasting company, announced that Comdr. T. A. M. Craven, who recently completed a seven-year term on the Federal Communications Commission and was named a vice-president of the Iowa company, would become the general manager of station WOL Washington.

Council Approves New Steam Line, Police Uniforms

Examine Bids For Stoker

J. W. Anderson Named To Complete Term Of R. E. Adams

Summer uniforms will soon be worn by Iowa City policemen in compliance with an addition to the rules and regulations of the local branch of the civil service commission. The plan was approved by city council members at the regular meeting last night.

The council, however, rejected a resolution to buy the new summer police caps, each of which would cost the city $6.50. The uniforms, as described in the plans submitted, will be grey and policemen plan to have the outfits within a few days.

From May 15 until Sept. 30 each year the summer uniform will be in order and, according to the new ruling, regular roll calls will be held with inspection of the uniform. Each member of the police force will have three grey shirts and three pair of grey trousers as the first issue of the uniform, together with black ties, belt and shoes.

The uniform will be financed by members of the police department. Steam Pipe

A resolution to approve the attachment of a new university steam pipe to the Burlington street bridge was also passed by city council last night. The pipe, which will be 18 inches in diameter will extend from the heating plant to the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school buildings south of the hospital group.

The resolution stated that until a tunnel can be built under the river to accommodate the pipe line, it will be necessary to attach it below the arch on the north side of the bridge.

J. W. Anderson Appointed
Other business at the meeting last night included the appointment of J. W. Anderson, 906 E. Burlington, to the board of adjustment and review. Anderson will fill the uncompleted term of R. E. Adams who resigned when he was called into the service.

Five bids for a stoker to be installed in the city hall this winter were reviewed at the meeting and referred to the buildings and grounds committee. The city engineer was designated with the power to act on this business.

Other business included the granting of two class B beer permit renewals and 12 cigarette permits. A request for $8,020 for the city park annual levy was approved.

Judge Defers V. F. W. Case

Settlement Awaiting Further Examination Of Similar Cases

The settlement of the case of the local V. F. W. vs. the mayor and the city council of Iowa City has been deferred pending examination of authorities according to Judge Harold D. Evans, who tried the case in district court.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars club charged the mayor and council with negligence in not renewing the club's license to sell beer, and claimed that Iowa statutes make it mandatory for a city to issue such a license once certain formal conditions had been complied with.

The city attorney contended that the council was entitled, through authority of another statute, to make further examination of clubs selling beer.

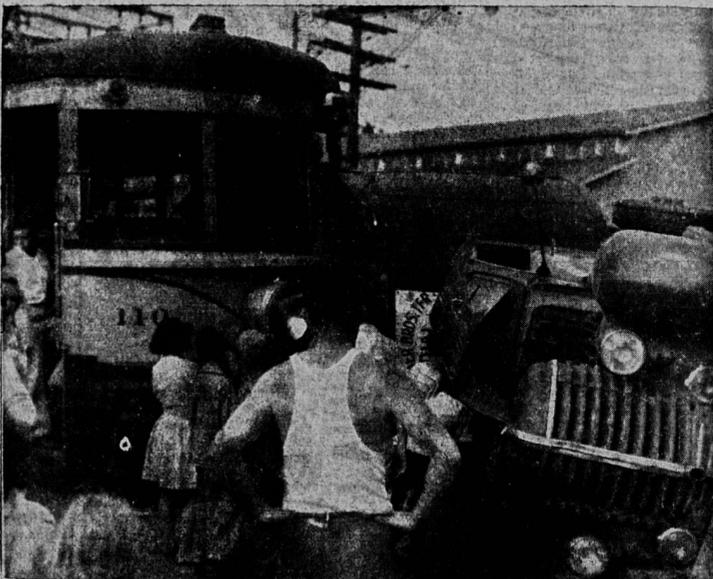

The court took the case under advisement, and was about to file a decision when Atty. Edward L. O'Connor asked and was allowed to present parallel cases (there are no direct precedents, it is believed) which, he asserted, bear on the question. Kenneth M. Dunlop, city attorney, is at present engaged in studying those cases. The court will, therefore, make no decision until the attorneys have been heard, Judge Evans said yesterday.

The part of the Iowa code in question directs local authorities to investigate the "applicant for a beer license. It is not immediately clear, Judge Evans believes, whether by "applicant" the legislature intended to designate merely individuals applying or also clubs applying.

The law specifically covering individuals asks for an investigation, while the law specifically covering clubs asks for none; yet, both may or may not be considered "applicants" in the part of the code which does not designate specifically either individuals or clubs, Judge Evans explained.

The Crimean peninsula is as large as Vermont.

COLLISION BETWEEN TRUCK, INTERURBAN

NO CHARGES HAVE BEEN FILED by the parties involved in the collision of the west-bound Maher semi-trailer, loaded with 15 cattle, and a car of the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City interurban line at the corner of Burlington and Front streets Sunday at 4:30 p. m. The south-bound interurban appeared on the crossing as the truck driver, Edward Organ, approached the tracks. In an attempt to avoid collision, the truck driver turned sharply to the left. The weight of the cattle swung the trailer over on its side, smashing into the trolley. The front windows of the interurban, which was driven by Fred Dever, were smashed. No one was injured. There was no damage to the cattle. The interurban, the second car running that hour, was detained an hour.

Medical WACs Help in Rehabilitating Returning Soldiers

Capt. Ivan W. Cahoon, commander of officer procurement at Kansas City, Mo. and Omaha, Nebr., was in Iowa City last week-end interviewing university women qualified for duty with the medical WACs.

"I believe the women will soon accept their full responsibility of service when they learn of the various departments in which they may serve in the medical WACs' rehabilitation program," he commented.

He said that trained women have jobs waiting for them in army hospitals everywhere as medical secretaries, psychiatric and social workers, lip reading technicians, instructors in pre-vocational training of the blind, educational reconduction technicians, pharmacist technicians, optometrist technicians and orthopedic technicians.

"Men are returning daily to the civilian life—wounded in mind and body," Captain Cahoon said. "They have given more than their lives for their country, because it is easier to die than to learn to adjust oneself to normal living. Rehabilitation will take months of patient guiding. Here is where women by their very nature are best qualified to serve."

He said that WACs will be trained as dental, medical laboratory and X-ray technicians at the army and navy general hospital in Hot Springs National Park. Women already skilled in these fields will not be selected for attendance as it is the army's desire to make this training avail-

'Pygmalion' Opens Tonight

The curtain rises tonight at 8:15 in the University theater on the first play of the summer season and the cast of "Pygmalion," directed by Prof. Vance M. Morton presents the opening night performance of the cockney production which will be performed each night through Saturday.

Student tickets for the production may be obtained at the theater office located in Schaeffer hall upon presentation of an identification card. Tickets for townpeople will be sold at the box office in the University theater.

Real Estate Case Now Being Tried In District Court

A decision is expected this morning in the case of Joe E. Kennard, plaintiff, vs. Frank Cerner and Charlie Cerner, being tried in the district court before Judge Harold D. Evans for recovery of commission on sale of real estate.

Kennard claims that the defendants listed with him 40 acres of land, for which he found a buyer, and that the defendants subsequently sold the property to that buyer without making Kennard their agent. He claims, as a result, commission on the sale.

State O. K.'s Purchase Of 'Everett Property' By University of Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—The state executive council has approved purchase for $8,000 of the "Everett property" in Iowa City to be used after the war in the state university's dormitory expansion program.

Iowa City's part in this buying amounted to $2,034,953. During the last two days of the campaign a bond buying spurge through Johnson county boosted total sales to $2,506,612.

Although "E" bond sales closed July 8, purchases during the remainder of this month will be credited to the Fifth war loan drive.

THERE'S A PLACE FOR YOU ON THIS TEAM!

The Blue Streak, a B-24 Liberator, was one of the greatest bombers that ever climbed into the sky.

She flew 110 missions... 300,000 miles... over Germany, Italy, Roumania, Greece, Austria, Africa, Sicily.

Her air combat crews sank a Nazi freighter off Crete... blew up a tanker at Candia... sent a destroyer to the bottom of Suda Bay.

They shot down 23 German and Italian fighters... dropped half-a-million pounds of bombs... won the Distinguished Unit Badge and countless individual decorations for gallantry in action.

Yet in all her battles in enemy skies, not a man in any of her crews was ever wounded!

Ask her pilot, Maj. Ralph P. Thompson, of Columbus, O., how she managed to roll up such a record, and he'll tell you: "Because there were no 'individual stars' on her crew. We flew her and fought her as a team... gunners, navigator, bombardier, and pilot, all working together to win."

"And that's the thing any young fellow—who wants to win his wings in the AAF—should keep uppermost in his mind..."

"You're on a team in the AAF... from your first day of training until you get up there in action. And it's a team that's never been stopped... that never will be stopped... the 'greatest team in the world!'"

Today, the AAF is writing history.

Liberators and Fortresses are blacking out the skies over Germany. Japan is already beginning to feel the awful power of the Superfortress. Swarms of heavy bombers, medium bombers, light bombers and fighters are spearheading the attack on every front.

Today—more than ever before—there's a place for you on this great AAF team.

If you are 17... if you want action, adventure... the finest, most thorough training any flying man ever had... an opportunity to make a career in aviation after the war...

Then go to your nearest AAF Examining Board and see if you can qualify for the Air Corps' Enlisted Reserve... with an opportunity to win your wings as gunner, navigator, bombardier or pilot in the AAF... the "greatest team in the world!"

MEN OF 17...

You can get ready now for your place on the "greatest team in the world"—the AAF. Go to your nearest AAF Examining Board... see if you can qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. If you qualify, you will receive this insignia... but will not be called for training until you are 18 or over.

When called, you will be given further tests to determine the type of training you will receive. If you are trained as a gunner or technician gunner, you will go into actual combat as a non-commissioned officer. If your aptitudes are outstandingly high, you will be trained as a bombardier, navigator or pilot, and upon successful completion of training, will be graduated as a Flight Officer or Second Lieutenant.

For pre-aviation training, see your local Civil Air Patrol officers. Also see your High School principal or adviser about recommended courses in the Air Service Division of the High School Victory Corps. Ask about the opportunities for college training through the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program.
