Mrs. Tillett Speaks At Convention

'This War Could Not Have Been Avoided!'

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Charles W. Tillett asserted last night that the hope of American women for an enduring peace would be fulfilled in the Democratic administration remains in office.

Speaking from the same platform where Republican representative Clare Boothe Luce recently raised the question whether U. S. statesmanship during President Roosevelt's tenure could have kept the nation out of the world conflict, she contended, "this war could not have been avoided."

Mrs. Tillett, head of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, told delegates to the party's nominating convention that we were winning the war abroad and producing on an unprecedented scale at home.

"At the center of the stupendous undertaking, directing, organizing, planning, winning," she said, "is our matchless leader, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

"The American woman knows that there never will be a peace that will last until we organize that peace," Mrs. Tillett asserted in a prepared speech. "This is the hope that will be fulfilled if the democratic administration remains in office."

"Organized world peace is a complex undertaking. The Democratic administration has already laid the base for it. I believe that the American woman will recoil with fear if the actual construction were suddenly placed in untrained, unpracticed hands."

Apparently taking issue with Mrs. Luce's remarks before last month's Republican convention, Mrs. Tillett said: "Our women know that on account of the rise to power of Hitler, Mussolini, and the insanely ambitious Japanese imperialists, and because of the events that followed, over which we had no control, this war could not have been avoided."

Mrs. Tillett contended the Republican platform failed to offer a solution for the problems of returning service men and women.

"True, they have set traps to catch votes," she added. "But I don't think the traps they've set will catch many women's votes. We women are not so ignorant in the realm of economics that we don't know that the Republican program—if translated into law—would bring down on these boys and girls a tragic post-war inflation that would mean for them more suffering, needless deprivation. The Democratic administration will see that these boys and girls have jobs."

Planes Take 7,000 Wounded out of France In First Three Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Airplanes evacuated over 7,000 allied casualties from France to England in the first three weeks following the invasion of the Normandy coast, Maj. Gen. David N. W. Grant reported last night in a broadcast address.

General Grant, an air surgeon of the army air forces, in citing the life-saving and morale building value of air evacuation said a quarter of a million casualties from allied forces had been carried out of battle areas by United States aircraft since Pearl Harbor.

DELAYING ACTION IN THE NORTH

CHICAGO STADIUM (AP)—Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma hailed the party of Franklin Roosevelt last night as the party of achievement and of power, and stormily assailed the Republicans and their youthful standard-bearer Thomas E. Dewey as untried and untested, broken by disunity, having "no program except to oppose."

Keynoting the Democratic national convention before cheering thousands in this great hall, the 245-pound, 6-foot, 3-inch oilman-governor drew back the curtains upon a preview of Democratic campaign arguments for the presidential race ahead.

The world, Kerr said, has a right to ask "where we stand." He declared: "Our aim is complete and speedy victory. Our goal is a just and abiding peace. Our promise to a world of peace is responsibility and cooperation."

"Our pledge to America at peace is a government responsible to the needs and hopes of every citizen, even the humblest; a government which will not shirk or fail, but will fulfill with gratitude and fidelity, our sacred obligation to our returning service men and women."

The towering Oklahoman defended Roosevelt administration leaders against 42-year-old Governor Dewey's charge that they are "fired, quarrelsome, old men." He asserted the Republicans are "incapable either of learning anything or of forgetting anything."

He accused G. O. P. leaders "after World War I" of having "sabotaged every effective vehicle for keeping peace" and of major opposition to preparedness for World War II.

Cried Kerr, as klieg lights burned out of the lofty distances of darkened balconies upon the bunting-festooned speakers' stand: "In this hall last month the Republicans nominated as their candidate for president the man selected for them four years ago by Herbert Hoover. As America looked on she saw the mantle of Herbert Hoover, not falling upon but being placed upon the shoulders of his cherished disciple, Thomas E. Dewey. What she did not see, but what will become more and more apparent, is that the mantle has become the shroud."

The G. O. P. convention, Kerr asserted, "snubbed and sidetracked Wendell Willkie," and thus "the last vestige of liberal leadership of the Republican party was buried under an avalanche of reactionary sentiment from which it cannot soon emerge."

The keynote speaker did not once use the term "New Deal." Instead, he employed the terms Roosevelt administration, the present administration, etc. He referred to President Roosevelt five times as commander-in-chief—three times in one paragraph.

Kerr, saying he was out to give a report of Democratic party stewardship, summed up: "The Democratic party has proved its worthiness of the people's continued confidence."

He contended the Democrats have done most for the farmer, for labor, for the needy aged, for sound banking, for small business, for the family home owner, for soil conservation—and it is, he added, the party under which the United States has become "the greatest naval power on earth."

On the other hand, in a broad arraignment, Kerr accused the Republicans of: "Having no program, except to oppose; disunity among themselves; playing partisan politics with the danger of inflation; stopping and sinking more of our fleet after First World War than was destroyed by the Japanese at Pearl Harbor."

Tracing what he said were Republican failures under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, recalling the depression, Kerr said these Republican administration years "created more suffering in this nation, destroyed more wealth, caused more poverty and left our nation in the most weakened and hopeless condition ever known."

Calm Voice Saves Pilots

Radio Helps Distressed Fliers When Tragedy Hits

(Editors Note: This is the second of two stories on ship-plane teamwork that helped U. S. airmen return home after wrecking a Japanese carrier task in the June 18-19 battle of the Marianas islands.)

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP OFF MARIANAS ISLANDS (AP)—Matter of fact farewells poured over the ship-to-plane radio from victorious pilots just before they pancaked into the sea, one after the other, all out of gas.

They were returning from a rout of the Japanese task force that cost the enemy two of its finest carriers. Many couldn't quite get back.

"I couldn't stand to listen any longer that night," said Lieut. James A. Seybert, 26-year-old veteran who has fought from Scotland, Malta and the Pacific. "I finally just shut my radio off."

What bothered him were scraps of conversation like this: "None of us have enough (gasoline) left to get back to our base and it's foolish to straggle along, going down one by one. We'd better all land together right here."

"Right here" was a dark section of the heaving ocean. Yet the bomber pilots who were talking so calmly realized their chances of rescue were much greater if they remained together. So down they went, in formation.

And everywhere were the calm voices of mother ships—reassuring, instructing, advising. So that in the end, spectacular rescue searches cut the list of missing airmen from 110 to 48.

Seybert, whose home is at 401 Chester ave., Ottumwa, made a beautiful night landing. When he climbed from his helmet fighter, he recalled, "some guy right up there on the flight deck greeted me like a long-lost brother. I kind of wondered about this."

"Then I got down our ready room, looking around for my wingman. All the guys there were shouting at me and greeting me like they hadn't seen me for years. Then I got it. I was the only one of our fighter pilots who had gotten back."

All but one were later rescued or returned from other carriers.

New Twist Rejected In Post-War Pretzel

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The board of directors of the National Pretzel Bakers' institute decided yesterday that the post-war pretzel will be a "petite" creation "with refinement in every motion."

But while disavowing any association between the pretzel and the beer hall, the directors verbally bent the pretzel to its same old shape.

"You can say," explained Executive Secretary Harold H. Moss, "that people will still be able to get a grip on the pretzel."

Slick Planning—Thanks for Tanks

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force (AP)—An isolated American air-borne unit which found itself bolstered by a great mass of tanks on D-Day, and marveled at the slick planning actually had an excited radio operator to thank.

Headquarters disclosed last night that the radio man sent a message reporting enemy strength at 150 tanks, instead of the actual 150 men. The high command immediately rushed a big block of armor into the area.

Oklahoma Governor Hails Party of F. D. R. As He Stormily Assails Dewey, Republicans

CHICAGO STADIUM (AP)—Gov. Robert S. Dewey as untried and untested, broken by disunity, having "no program except to oppose."

War-Time Manpower Drain

According to figures obtained from the United States census, the war-time manpower drain has drastically affected the ratio of men to women in this state. Naturally, the most serious shortage (for the women) exists in the 21 to 30-year-old group where the ratio is approximately 5 to 1. This means that there are five women to every eligible male. Of course in the older brackets, the male-drouth isn't quite so serious, as would naturally be expected.

Interpreting the War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The Bug river sector of the forces around the line's northern anchorage at Brest Litovsk. In between, on that 180 mile front, the Russians had crossed the Bug above and below Sokol and were menacing it east of Chelm along the direct road and rail route to Warsaw via Lublin.

The power and speed of the advance of Ukrainian forces south of Brest Litovsk surpassed even the rapidity with which the Russians in the north had lunged beyond Brest Litovsk to cut the rail connection with Bialystok. The first break-through drove into the high ground gap between the headwaters of the Polish Bug and that of the Dnestr, a sector guarded by the Lwow bastion. Fall of Lwow would invalidate the whole Bug line and compel a fast Nazi flight to the Vistula.

Meanwhile in Italy there are indications of a German lack of strength to hold off the allied investment of the Gothic line itself, keyed to the hills north of the Arno. With the big, deep water ports, Livorno and Ancona, now in allied hands at both ends of the line, supply problems for allied commanders will be simplified, while for the foe, particularly on the Adriatic flank, communications are becoming a desperate matter.

The fall of Ancona to Polish elements of the allied Eighth army almost certainly foreshadows a general German retreat on that flank.

Vice-Presidential Nomination

CHICAGO (AP)—The letter by President Roosevelt to Robert E. Hannegan, national Democratic chairman in regards to the vice-presidential nomination came at the suggestion of Henry A. Wallace, the vice-president told reporters at a brief press conference yesterday.

"He did exactly what I suggested that he do," Wallace declared in answer to a question whether he thought the letter which said Mr. Roosevelt would vote for Wallace if he were a delegate, was a "throwdown" or "an endorsement."

Wallace said he told the president that in justice to himself and Wallace "there shouldn't be anything in the nature of dictation."

He said he hadn't been in touch with the president since the talk about the convention.

He told more than 200 press and radio reporters jamming Wallace's headquarters that he came here "primarily as chairman of the Iowa delegation" and expected to attend last night's and today's session in that capacity.

Starving Jap Troops Surrender in India

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon (AP)—Battered Japanese troops fleeing southward through the Manipur hills after collapse of their invasion of eastern India have been overtaken by Hunger and, with some, at the "actual starvation point," are surrendering in increasing numbers, Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced yesterday.

"Of the enemy remnants trapped around Ukhrul, some have committed suicide when cornered, but the proportion of surrenders is rising."

The Expendables--

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY July 9 Delayed (AP)—This is the story of three expendables—three guys who didn't come back but who were awarded silver stars for what they did.

Their comrades have been officially notified now but perhaps they'd like to know the details: "It all happened long ago. . . Pfc Charles T. Miller of Philadelphia was a rifleman in an infantry platoon but he built his reputation on guts and hand grenades.

The Germans were stubbornly clinging to their position in a house. So Charley crouched and crawled 85 yards in front of his platoon and started heaving hand grenades.

F. D. R. 'Happy To Run With Either Truman, Douglas'

CHICAGO STADIUM (AP)—The long hand of President Roosevelt turned the switch on the strategy of this 29th Democratic convention yesterday, toppling his home front commander, James F. Byrnes, from top perch in the vice presidential race and elevating Senator Harry Truman to chief contender against Henry A. Wallace.

A telephoned message from the President, hastily typed out in a hotel room in the early hours of the morning, did the trick. It was shown to the right people by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, who always has had a hankering to see Truman. A fellow Missourian, on the 1944 ticket.

Some of those who saw the message related that it said merely that President Roosevelt would be glad to run either with Truman, the 60-year-old chairman of the senate's war investigating committee, or with 45-year-old William O. Douglas of the supreme court—in that order. The missive reportedly added that either would strengthen the ticket.

The withdrawal of Byrnes was attributed generally to opposition expressed to his candidacy by Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee; Edward Flynn, New York national committeeman, and Walter White of the association for the advancement of colored people.

Eleanor in San Diego
SAN DIEGO, CALIF., (AP)—Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, paid an unexpected visit to San Diego yesterday. The first lady visited the navy hospital here and spoke to wounded veterans of Pacific battles.

SUI to Honor Philip Greeley Clapp for 25 Years of Service

Concert to Be July 26

Anniversary Program Features Biography By E. E. Harper

By GLORIA WEISER
Daily Iowan Campus Editor

With recognition and tribute to a quarter century of educational service in the field of music, Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department at the State University of Iowa, will be honored next Wednesday, July 26, at the final concert of the fine arts festival in Iowa Union at 8 p. m.

The festival will be dedicated by the school of fine arts as an anniversary program for Professor Clapp upon the completion of his 25 years in the university.

In honor of the occasion, a special program has been printed for use on that night with a cover of blue, featuring a character line drawing of the conductor, drawn by Philip Guston, head of the art department, and containing 16 pages on the program of the evening. A story of the life and career of Professor Clapp as written by Prof. E. E. Harper, head of the school of fine arts and director of Iowa Union, is also contained therein. Five thousand copies of this program have been printed and will be sent to friends and associates and others interested in music and the musician.

The Oath of Allegiance—

Nurses Aides Receive Caps for Service

"I solemnly swear that I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same. That I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion. That I will well and faithfully discharge my duties as a member of the United States Civilian Defense corps, and that I do not advocate and have not advocated the overthrow of our government in the United States by force or violence."

With this oath of allegiance, administered by Irving B. Weber of the OCD, eight of a class of 11 nurses aides who have completed 80 hours of hospital service, were capped Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Red Cross rooms of the Community building.

The introduction to the ceremony was made by Mrs. C. W. Keyser, chairman of the volunteer nurses aide committee, and Dr. Andrew Woods, chairman of the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross, was guest speaker. Lois B. Corder, director of the school of nursing and chairman of the professional committee, presented the caps. The group will also receive certificates from the OCD and Red Cross.

Graduate on First Shuttle Bombing Trip to Russia

Lieut. John Hommel, former student at the University of Iowa, was on the first shuttle bombing trip to Russia. Lieutenant Hommel wrote that he was in Russia and told of his experience in the following words:

"I wouldn't have missed this for the world, believe me. What a wonderful country this is. It tops them all. It is beautiful where we are—green fields, woods and plains. The people are tall, strong and immensely proud. I am proud of them, too. They have done a superb job here and they have a perfect right to consider themselves the best soldiers in the world. They walk so straight, so proudly. They sing martial songs while they drill—men and women soldiers together.

"The language is difficult though and we have a rough time. 'We are making history and I'm not kidding! We are the first to come on Russian soil in this manner for 700 years. I'm happy and lucky to be a member of that unit!'"

SUI Graduate Reported Found Near Cherbourg

Lieut. Thomas R. Westrope, former university student, who was reported missing in action over France since June 6, has been reported found by advance American patrols penetrating into Cherbourg. He was discovered with three other United States airmen who had landed near the city on D-day and since had been hidden by French patriots.

The story was broadcast by a BBC announcer, Collin Willis, who related, "When an American patrol fought its way into Cherbourg Sunday, a Frenchman suddenly ran out from a gate toward them. He shouted, 'Friend' and then said, 'I have four Americans here.' 'Four more figures approached. These four Americans had been in Cherbourg through the attack by their countrymen.'

According to Willis, the American airmen revealed they were in a plane which dropped parachutists south of the Cherbourg peninsula on D-day. On their return journey they were caught by heavy flak and were forced down near Cherbourg.

The men said they set fire to the plane and most of their equipment and hid in a ditch until the next morning when they accosted a French maid and told her they were Americans.

The girl, Willis related, immediately left for help, brought food and wine and found a hiding place for the men in a haystack. After a few days members of the French underground took the men to a home in the city.

There, the correspondent said, for two and a half weeks while American forces were plugging their way up the peninsula the airmen remained hidden. "The French people were wonderful," the men were quoted as saying. "They risked their lives to save ours."

Send to Universities
One will be sent to each university and college president, heads of the schools of fine arts, schools of music and music departments, colleges of music and fine arts, all former music students, professional musicians and to several magazines and newspapers.

Included in the program are two pages written by Prof. Clapp as notations on the concert to be presented Wednesday night and a complete list of orchestra personnel.

In the biography of the man honored is included a list of over 32 of his own compositions and over 21 of his publications which have been used in magazines, music pamphlets and books.

Special Invitation
A special invitation is extended to every member of the faculty and student body and general public to attend the evening concert. The university theater performance "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be suspended on that night so all those desiring may attend the concert, in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The program includes a Symphony "Die Ideale" by Franz Liszt; "Concerto for Piano and Small Orchestra" by Dmitri Shostakovich, and the conductor's own composition presented for the first time, "Symphony No. 5 in D Major," with three variations in movement, Moderate, Not too fast and Lively, energetic.

Studied Violin
Professor Clapp studied violin

with Jacques Hoffman in 1895 and after that studied piano and theory with John P. Marshall. Entering Harvard in 1905 he obtained the highest degree in course, the Ph.D. in 1911.

From 1907 to 1909 he was the William Merrick scholar and conductor of the Pierian Sodality at Harvard university. Prof. Walter Raymond Spalding in his book "Music at Harvard" writes, "under the director, Philip G. Clapp, the orchestra showed marked improvement by reason of the ability and magnetic power of the conductor." It was also pointed out in this book the characteristic achievements of the man in as much as "Clapp is one of the most gifted and versatile musicians who has ever graduated from Harvard and has played an important part in the musical life of America."

First Composition
Professor Clapp wrote his first composition at the age of seven, a nocturne for piano, and since then the music master has added nine symphonies, two symphonic poems, string quartets, a sonatina and numerous songs.

In 1919 Dr. Clapp accepted the post of professor and head of the music department at the University of Iowa, where he has remained since. During the period, however, he has been granted leaves of absence to accept engagements as director of extension of Julliard school of music in 1927-28; guest lecturer at the University of California, 1926, and in 1929 at Berkeley. In 1927 he was summer lecturer at Los Angeles. He was also guest conductor of the American Orchestra society in New York for three months in 1929.

Develop Orchestra
Professor Clapp took over the conducting duties for the university here in 1936 and in two years had developed the orchestra to a point where a series of six symphony concerts were scheduled and performed annually.

From 1919-21 Dr. Clapp directed the university chorus and since that time various conductors have handled the music group with Prof. Herald Stark directing since 1934, aided by Dr. Thompson Stone, conductor of the Handel and Haydn society of Boston as artist guest conductor during summer sessions.

In all things he has attempted, Professor Clapp has achieved his ambition with honor—a greatness not "thrust upon him." It is with respect to the man and his service and abilities expressed so well in music in this quarter century that the school of fine arts is dedicating this special program. Those in charge of the anniversary program predict that a man of such brilliant past reputation promises great things in the future.

Members of the class Charlotte Koenig, Amanda Ruth McCloy, Frieda Sievers, Mary Alice Sharpe, Prof. Ella May Small, Mrs. Scott Swisher, Mrs. Robert Wiley, Mrs. William Yetter, Mrs. Clinton Anderson, Mrs. Philip Ball and Mrs. Chester W. Clark. The latter three were unable to be present for the ceremony.

Instructors of the group, which began training April 24, were Mrs. Mary Goldthwaite and Mrs. Donna Ayers Schmidt. Members attended classes from 7 until 10 p. m. three nights a week, and had 45 hours of actual service under supervision in the wards. They will now begin serving the 150 hours which they pledged upon entrance into the nurse aide corps.

Yankees Push Home 4 Runs to Whip Browns

Explode in 6th To Score 6-5

Sig Jakucki Held World Champs Hitless Until Third

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Exploding in the sixth inning with their old-time power, the New York Yankees defeated the St. Louis Browns 6 to 5 last night to close the gap on the league-leaders to two full games.

The Yankees pushed home four runs in their big inning three of them on Johnny Lindell's seventh homer of the season, to overcome a three run deficit.

Tiny Bonham was nicked for 12 hits but won his sixth game. Sig Jakucki held the world champions hitless until the third when they scored twice to gain an early tie.

Boston Braves Shake Chicago Cub Jinx; Defeat Visitors 6-1

BOSTON (AP)—Airtight pitching gave Nate Andrews his tenth triumph of the season yesterday and enabled the Boston Braves to shake the Chicago Cub jinx and defeat the visitors, 6 to 1, in the opener of a four-game series.

The lone Cub tally came in the sixth when Roy Hughes and Phil Cavaretta doubled in succession.

The Braves got off to a good start in the first when Chet Ross singled across two runs. In the sixth three more runs crossed the plate when Ab Wright and Ross singled and Dee Phillips walked. After Bill Wietelmann forced Wright at the plate, Andrews scored Ross with a single and Connie Ryan's double chased over two more. The Braves scored their final tally in the seventh.

Dodgers Beat Reds 10-5

Luis Olmo Breaks 5-5 Deadlock In Third Inning

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers pounded southpaw Arnold Carter and Clyde Shoun for five runs in the eighth inning last night and checked their losing spell with a 10-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds before a paid attendance of 12,539.

A pinch-hit double by Luis Olmo batted in the first run in the winning frame to break a 5 to 5 deadlock which had lasted since the third inning. Les Webber was returned the winner for his fourth success.

Both Bucky Walters and Rube Melton who started out as the opposing pitchers were batted off the mound, Walters going out in the third and Melton in the fourth. The Dodgers made 15 hits getting nine of them off Walters.

Detroit Tigers Top Washington Senators

DETROIT (AP)—Successive errors in the tenth inning by Rick Kuehl, George Myatt and Joe Ferrell gave the Detroit Tigers a 2 to 1 victory yesterday over the Washington Senators.

The only run off Frank Overmire, who gained his fifth victory, came on Rudy York's error in the third. Chuck Hosteler scored on a passed ball in the fifth to tie it up. The defensive crupnik in the tenth sent Dutch Leonard to his fifth defeat.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH, MANAGER OF THE RED HOT ST. LOUIS CARDINALS WITH RECORD IDEAS

Along Sports Trail—Night Baseball

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—There seems to be some fear that the lately-adopted policy of allowing major league teams to play practically as many night games as they want to play will be continued after the war, thus providing stay-out fans with the stock alibi: "Honest, I was sitting up with a sick ball club."

We don't share this apprehension and see in the present situation, brought about by the wartime emergency, the picture of a kid yelling for more ice cream, being turned loose behind a soda fountain and told to help himself. Before long he is filled down to his toes and is wondering why he ever liked 'the stuff in the first place.

That is, the clubs that clamored for more night games have a chance to eat all they want, figuratively speaking, and their appetites are liable to disappear abruptly.

Personally, we always did, and always will, think that baseball is a daylight game, and when we think of the sport we think of a blistering July day with the sun bouncing off the distant outfield in shimmering waves and shirt-sleeved fans guzzling ice cold pop and munching peanuts and hot dogs in lethargic comfort.

Possibly it's because we were brought up to that kind of baseball, and boyhood memories have a habit of lingering with something of a halo. At any rate, that's baseball as we like to see it, and night games just don't click.

BOSTON (AP)—After being bumped twice at the eight-pole, Mrs. Ed Mulrenan's game grey First Fiddle resumed his thrilling stretch drive and out-ran the Millbrook stable's Alex Barth by three-quarters of a length in the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap yesterday at Suffolk Downs.

Fifty Freshmen Likely to Seek Iowa Grid Jobs

The winning five-year-old son of Royal Minstrel, claimed for $2,500 as a juvenile, came all the way up from fifth in the backstretch while turning the mile and a furlong in 1:49 against his seven high-class rivals.

Madigan Anticipates Better Squad; Some Vote to Return

Alex Barth, second all the way, placed with a length to spare on A. C. Ernst's Alquest, the leader from the gate to the eight-pole, where Jockey Johnny Longden gave First Fiddle the whip.

The victor then went outside of Alex Barth and, despite the double dose of interference, had the race won at the 16th pole. Eddie Guerin, Alex Barth's rider, was fined $200 by the stewards as the crowd roared ovation.

Behind Alquest came Walter P. Chrysieh's Ramillies, the White Star stable's Dinner Party and Greenree stable's favored Four Freedoms who conquered First Fiddle by a nose and a neck in their last two starts. The stragglers were M. Marmorstein's Castleman and the Marsonia stable's Coronal.

While making First Fiddle second choice at 5-2, the crowd bet $243,167, a new single race record "handle" for New England.

While accounting for the winner's share of $41,850, which boosted his season's earnings $81,880, the Mulrenan star rewarded his many supporters with a payoff of $7.20, $4.00 and $3.20. Alex Barth, held at 9-1, returned $7.80 and $5.80 and Alquest, ridden by George (Ice Man) Wood, who had two winning mounts in this rich event, paid $5.00 to show. The eight-race "handle" was $1,388,457.

New Record

STOCKHOLM (AP)—When Arne Andersson hung up a new world record of 4:01.6 for the mile Tuesday he stepped off the first quarter in the amazing time of 56.8 seconds.

The 28-year-old school teacher ran the second quarter in 60.3 seconds, the third in 62.9 and finished up with a 61.4 last lap.

Restaurant Patrons Soon to Be Able To See Ceiling Prices

Iowa City restaurant patrons soon will be able to see and check the ceiling prices of the meals and food items they buy, R. J. Phelps, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing board, said yesterday.

In cooperation with the national restaurant advisory council, OPA has issued a restaurant ceiling price regulation which will become effective July 31, 1944, requiring every public eating and drinking establishment to post prominently the prices of 40 basic food items. The items will be selected by the OPA and the district restaurant advisory council. The posters for displaying the prices will be provided by the War Price and Rationing board. Each proprietor must list the 40 items selected in clearly legible lettering.

Posters must be displayed by Aug. 16, 1944, Phelps said, and three copies of the prices listed on the poster must be filed with the board by Aug. 23.

Establishments which do not serve all of the 40 selected items, must post the prices of those they do sell and add other commonly sold items until the posters are filed, Phelps explained.

Golf Stampede—$47.57 A Stroke

CHICAGO (AP)—George May yesterday unmercifully and with malice aforethought turned the pressure on the pros competing in his Tam O'Shanter golf stampede Aug. 24-27 by announcing that the winner will be paid off at the rate of about $47.57 per stroke, side bets not counting. Now this is enough moola to get even calm Jug McSpaden, the defending champion and leading war bond earner of the season, a little jittery when he eyes a five-foot putt.

Chinese Smash Hole In Jap Encirclement Of Strategic Hengyang

CHUNGKING (AP)—A strong Chinese force is driving against Hengshan, headquarters of the Japanese in Hunan province, after counter-attacking Chinese defenders 25 miles to the south smashed a hole in the ring of encirclement around the Canton-Hankow rail junction of Hengyang, the Chinese high command announced last night.

The battle for Hengyang was approaching a climax, a government spokesman said, with the Japanese bringing up strong reinforcements. Relief of some degree was believed in sight however for the reeling Chinese garrison within Hengyang itself, which for three weeks has withstood the incessant hammering of the enemy drive. The high command said the city's defenders could hear the guns of relief forces coming to their aid.

Last night's communique gave no elaboration of the report that the Chinese were headed toward Hengshan, to which the Japanese are reported to have shifted their Changsha headquarters. Evidently one force was successful in breaking through the Hengyang encirclement, but the situation around

Fat Collections

Iowa City housewives are reminded to have their fat collections ready this morning for the Girl Scouts who plan to canvass the city before noon. In the making of explosives and sulfur drugs, waste fats are essential. Nothing has been found to replace waste fats for this vital war need.

That the average housewife can save two pounds of waste fats per week has been proved in many communities.

Last night's communique gave no elaboration of the report that the Chinese were headed toward Hengshan, to which the Japanese are reported to have shifted their Changsha headquarters. Evidently one force was successful in breaking through the Hengyang encirclement, but the situation around

Navy Faces Tough Teams This Weekend

The Iowa baseball Seahawks face their toughest competition of the season this weekend when they meet two of the nation's top service nines—from Camp McCoy, Wis., Saturday, and from Camp Ellis Sunday, both games on the Iowa diamond. The Seahawks will be seeking their 20th straight victory.

Camp McCoy will be represented by such former major leaguers as Cecil Travis of the Senators, Carvel (Bama) Rowell of the Braves and Bob Samuels of the Browns. McCoy has lost only to Great Lakes, while Camp Ellis has been defeated by the Wisconsin and the Pre-Flight nine.

said had reached, or exceeded, their quota were Adair, Audubon, Benton, Carroll, Clarke, Davis, Grundy, Guthrie, Harrison, Humboldt, Jasper, Lucas, Lyon, Marshall, O'Brien, Osceola, Pocahontas, Story and Winnebago.

It was believed here that Chinese plans embraced not only the relief of Hengyang, but also decisive frustration of the Japanese attempt to conquer the 1,000-mile rail route from north to south China. The enemy still has 170 miles to go before this objective can be accomplished, and even if it should succeed, Chinese here believe the route could be rendered sufficiently insecure to nullify the value of the conquest.

19 Counties Reach Fifth War Loan Quota

DES MOINES (AP)—Nineteen Iowa counties have reached, or passed, their 1 bond quota in the Fifth war loan campaign, the state war finance committee announced yesterday.

Sales of E bonds in the state totaled $62,400,000 through Tuesday, only 84 percent of the goal. Counties which the committee

B. Iden Payne to Direct New York Play for Theater Guild

Guest Director To Leave SU

Ethyl Barrymore To Carry Lead In First Production

B. Iden Payne, eminent Shakespearean director and guest director of the University summer session theater, has accepted the position as director of the Theater Guild in New York and upon the completion of the summer session here will leave for his first production in New York.

The first play Payne will direct for the Guild is "Embezzled Heaven," a dramatization by Franz Werfel in which Ethyl Barrymore has the starring role. The production under the sponsorship of the Theater Guild and Lawrence Langer, manager, will open this fall.

Renowned today as director of the unique Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford-on-Avon, he has directed theatrical productions since he was 25 years old, when he directed the noted Abbey theater in Dublin.

As stage director for Charles Froman on Broadway he worked with such celebrities as Otis Skinner and the Barrymores. His interest in the oddity of a midwest drama movement brought him to Iowa and he has been visiting professor here since 1930.

B. Iden Payne brought a touch of Old England to the campus last November when he came especially to direct the student performance "Twelfth Night."

He is now rehearsing the final scenes and putting professional brush strokes on "Midsummer Night's Dream" which will open Monday night, July 24, in the University theater at 8 p. m.

The play will continue through July 29 after which time Payne will make preparations for the trip to New York where he will continue with the casting for the first production.

During the summer theater session here he has conducted a seminary in which he lectured on the production of Shakespearean plays.

August Pritzlaff Urges Continued Program Expansion

Stressing that in any long-term post-war planning it is necessary to first evaluate the pre-war and wartime programs in terms of future needs in physical education, August Pritzlaff, director of physical education in Chicago schools, yesterday urged continued expansion in the post-war period.

Pritzlaff, immediate past president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, declared that all physical education instructors are pioneers in their field and will be until fitness programs are raised to a par with other subject fields in a school program.

With the close of the war, one of the greatest motivations for a physical fitness program will be lost, and it is then that it will be necessary to develop in the individual a desire for rugged and vigorous health that can come only through participation in an active recreation or fitness program, according to the speaker.

Pritzlaff suggested that a much more fitting and vital memorial to war dead than statues could be made in the form of playgrounds and physical education facilities. This would help to develop a program of community recreation with which returning servicemen could assist the trained physical education worker.

Prof. David Armbruster, director of men's physical education, presided at the panel discussion following Pritzlaff's talk. Other members were Prof. Ella May Small and Prof. Gladys M. Scott of the women's physical education department.

Articles Stolen From Clair Miller

Clair E. Miller, 1221 Sheridan, reported yesterday to the sheriff's office the theft of a nearly new outboard motor and of a speedboat, 10 feet long, red, trimmed in grey. The boat and motor were stolen July 18, he said. The motor is valued at $125 and the boat was worth $90.

Johnson is vacationing at his summer camp on the Iowa river near Hills and the boat was stolen from a riverside cabin.

Money Stolen

Thirty-five dollars was reported stolen from a room in Currier hall yesterday, according to Iowa City police. The money, stolen from a second floor room, was taken from a small coin purse in a larger purse.

'SAWTOOTH SKYLINE'

PORTRAYING THE BEAUTY in the Teton mountains of Wyoming "Sawtooth Skyline," painted by Eve Van Ek, is one of the three oil paintings to be presented to the university Sunday, July 23, at 4 p. m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The paintings are a part of the work of artist Eve Van Ek who was the first graduate of the University of Iowa to get her master's degree in fine arts by using one of her own paintings as a partial fulfillment of the requirement. All friends of the artist and the general public are invited to the Sunday afternoon presentation.

Civilians, Servicemen—Red Cross Assistance

During June, 193 army, navy, ex-servicemen and civilians received assistance through the efforts of the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Lorna L. Mathes, executive secretary.

This information was part of a monthly survey which included reports from home nursing, first aid, disaster preparedness, war fund campaign and Junior Red Cross, all committees of the Johnson County Red Cross chapter.

Thirteen flood sufferers in Johnson county were registered with the local chapter, according to the reports. Six of the families stated they could recover without Red Cross assistance and seven families received emergency assistance only.

The following amount was spent for relief during June: rescue (rent of boats), $10; food, $2.79; household furnishings, $5; farm supplies (hay and feed), $47.10. In addition to the above relief, seeds were given to flood sufferers who were forced to replant their gardens.

The Red Cross helps disaster victims meet disaster needs when their resources are not sufficient. However, disaster relief is based on the needs of the family, and not the extent of loss.

Fifty-two persons have received their home nursing certificates since the last report was made. During June, there were 19 first aid standard course certificates and 11 first aid junior course certificates issued.

A new committee for Johnson County Camp and Hospital committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. J. F. Sproatt, church organizations; Mrs. Frank Humeston, fraternal organizations; Miss Katherine LaScheck, out-of-town organizations; Mrs. Bartholow Crawford, all other organizations; Mrs. Eulalia Seiler, publicity; and Mrs. J. P. Cady, Junior Red Cross chairman.

The above committee met June 29. One hundred twenty-nine letters explaining the purpose, organization and functions of the Red Cross Camp and Hospital service were mailed to organizations in Johnson county soliciting their support, according to the June report.

Fifty dollars were sent to the Schick hospital Red Cross office from the Johnson county Camp and Hospital fund.

The June report of the treasurer shows expenditures totaling $1,783.41 included in which is $70.89 for disaster and $62.77 for Camp and Hospital expenditures. The Junior Red Cross June report shows that 11 high schools and 127 elementary schools in this

Three Sets Of Twins Register As Volunteers

Three sets of twins have registered as Victory Farm Volunteers at the office of the county extension director, Emmett C. Gardner.

The twins will help detassel Johnson county corn with some 300 Victory Farm Volunteers from this area.

The twins are: Margaret and Milfor Fleig, Richard and Robert Duncan and Keith and Kenneth Fulton.

Also registered at the county extension office for Victory farm work are two Don E. Strubs. The boys, however, are registered as Don "A" Strub and Don "B" Strub. They claim it is less confusing that way and that they first became "A" and "B" when enrolled in the same classroom at school.

I. C. Girls Stage Amateur Show At USO Building

A large attendance of Iowa Citizens saw the recreational center amateur show at the Community building last night staged by a group of Iowa City girls and directed by Mrs. Harriet Walsh, special activities director of the playgrounds. Mrs. Marie Burger played the piano accompaniment for the performers.

Those participating with piano numbers were Joan Smith, Doris Sueppel, Carolyn Rose, Jo Ann Sajick, Janice Parizek and Corly White and Ruth Kline who presented a song and piano duet.

Tap dancers were Nancy Parizek, Betty Bragg and Rosemary Laughlin, a duet; Virginia Rose, song and tap dance, Ellen Swails, Joyce Sherman and Sara Wilson, a duo tap dance; Joyce Parizek and Patricia Rose, a duo song and tap dance; Donna Ebert and Leona Dron, duo tap number, Judy Hill and Mildred, duo tappers. A Russian dance was given by Judy Witt.

Nancy Meyers presented an acrobatic dance, and Darlene Cohour gave a clarinet solo.

Vocalists who performed in the amateur show last night were Rose Ann Nuechter, Sara Wilson, Janice Parizek, Jean K. O'Brien, "Paper Doll" was sung by the entire group at the close of the program.

Panel Discussion Scheduled Today

A round table discussion, "Geography in the Public School Curriculum," will be held this afternoon at 3:10 in room 301, University hall.

Members of the panel are Prof. E. R. Horn and Prof. L. A. Van Dyke of the college of education; J. E. Stonecipher, visiting lecturer in the college of education; Prof. E. C. Kollman of the history department; Prof. H. H. McCarty, Prof. F. K. Schaefer and Prof. W. R. Smith, all of the college of commerce, and L. E. Gibson, G of Iowa City.

Subjects to be under discussion by the panel will be "Importance of Geography in the World Today," "Should Geography Be Taught as a Subject?" "Should Geography Be Taught in High School?" "What Is the Place of Geography in European Schools?" "How Does Geography Relate to Other Social Sciences and Business Education?" "What Should Be the Standards for Teacher Certification?" and "What Equipment Is Essential?"

All present and prospective geography teachers are invited to attend the discussion and bring questions on the problem.

BRIDE-ELECT OF AUGUST

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE BERAN of Victor announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Agnes, to Edwin P. Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hogan, 714 Iowa avenue. The ceremony will take place the latter part of August in St. John's church at Victor. The bride-elect is a graduate of St. John's high school at Victor and is attending Brown's business college here. Mr. Hogan, a graduate of St. Patrick's high school, is a junior at the University of Iowa.

Jacquelyn Stoewer, Pfc. William Wolf Wed Wednesday

In a single ring ceremony, Jacquelyn G. Stoewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stoewer, 1001 Kirkwood avenue, became the bride of Pfc. William J. Wolf, son of Mrs. Margaret Wolf of Staceyville, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the rectory of St. Patrick's church. The Rev. George Snell read the service in the presence of the immediate families.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Lewis Lukosky, sister of the bridegroom. Technician fifth class Killian Kruse served as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a navy blue dress, princess style, which was trimmed with white braiding. She wore white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stoewer was attired in a black and white suit with black accessories.

A reception held at the home of the bride's parents from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, honored the couple.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa City high school and is now employed at Strub's department store. The bridegroom, a graduate of Visitation high school and Loras college in Dubuque, is now a senior in the college of medicine at the University of Iowa under the A.S.T.P.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jasper, Wally Zimmer and Frank Tennert, all of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kurt of Cedar Rapids.

Leaves for Washington

Prof. Robert R. Sears, director of the child welfare research station, has left for Washington, D. C., where he will act as special consultant in the office of psychological personnel of the National Research Council.

Professor Sears plans to be in Washington in this capacity for two or three weeks.

Chorus Follows—In Bach's Footsteps

By JAN ALLEN

Nearly a thousand people crowded the Iowa Union lounge last night to hear guest conductor Thompson Stone lead the University orchestra and chorus through a summernight's concert with commanding hands that brought pleasing results.

With a minimum of fanfare, Conductor Stone opened the program with a short instrumental piece, a senatina for orchestra alone, rising into Bach's elaborate cantata, "God's Time is the Best Time."

An aura of stained glass windows and eighteenth century traditional music pervaded the Union as the chorus followed Bach's firm footsteps leading to Prof. Herald Stark's tenor song of the brevity of human life. The usual mechanics of Bach numbers were lost in the lovely harmonies of the cantata.

Then the sombre "It is the old decree: man, thou are mortal," was interrupted by the sopranos joyously quiet, "Yea, come Lord Jesus." The passage was calm, but stirringly executed by both chorus and orchestra.

Then the sopranos proclaim the gospel of love and finer existence, vanquishing the idea of mortality, "Come, Lord Jesus, yea, come," is the victory of soul over death.

The cantata, one of the finest of its kind, was probably first sung in 1711, for the funeral of a famous Weimar rector. Alto Katherine LaScheck offered the miner, "Unto Thee I commend my spirit, for Thou hast redeemed me." Peacefulness is still the keynote in the final chorale, which praises the Godhead whose power gives victory over death. An exultant fugal allegro, "Through Jesus Christ, Amen," closes the cantata on a note of victory.

Otto Jelinek with the solo viola suite, "Flos Campi" of Ralph Vaughan Williams was greeted with thunderous applause. The score showed the composer's fondness for unusual combinations of voice and instrument, and many of the harmonic patterns resembled those of early Celtic music. The haunting clarion of the horns, the chorus crescendos, and the sustained tones of the music carried the performance to magnificent peaks and still valleys of impression. Brahms' "Song of Destiny" was followed by Cantata, "Gallia" by Charles Francis Gounod. Soprano Gladys Noteboom carried the solo part in a clear light voice, without effort. Her singing of "Jerusalem," was one of the high points of the evening's performance.

Adapted from the text of the Scriptures, Gounod's exhortations to the people to rise and smite the oppressor are symbolically addressed to the French, and the music is as appropriate today as in the tragic year of 1871.

A storm of applause brought Conductor Stone back to the podium three times and the evening's solists took many bows.

Dr. Thompson Stone, visiting lecturer in the music department and conductor of the Boston Handel and Haydn oratorio society, led the concert firmly and with little flourish. His conducting was sure and steady in quality, and audience response testified to the success of the evening's performance.

Infantry Instructor Killed in Plane Crash
