U.S. Army Takes Over City's Transportation

Strikers Hold To Decision

Insist on 'Written Guarantee' Before Returning to Work

PHILADELPHIA, Friday (AP)—An apparent misunderstanding over settlement of the racial issue involved in Philadelphia's transportation tie-up raised the possibility early today that walkout participants would reverse their decision to return to work on government-seized trolleys, buses and subway trains.

The back-to-work edict of the "general emergency committee" representing the walkout participants was only a few hours old when James McMenamin, committee head, returned to the scene of a mass meeting where the decision was made.

About 1,000 of the 4,000 workers who had attended the mass meeting still were present.

McMenamin shouted: "This thing has been settled in a democratic way. We have previously been misinformed by some newspaper clippings and varying advice which we received in our previous meetings.

"The order is not a demand to return to work. It is a request. Until such time as we get a written guarantee that there will be no further hiring of colored operators and no further instruction of operators now in training, we will stay out."

Meanwhile, in the first disorders in the city's Negro sections since Wednesday midnight, a 13-year-old Negro boy, identified as Franklin Howard, was hit in the chest by a bullet fired from an automobile which police said contained two white men.

At the PTC employes' first meeting cheers greeted soldiers who posted a notice of the seizure and the workers saluted as the flag of the United States was raised over the premises.

The day's events had included action by several local draft boards to revoke occupational deferments of walkout participants.

Upgrading of eight Negroes to operating positions precipitated the walkout.

Truman Gives Up Chairmanship of War Investigating Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman gave up the chairmanship of the senate war investigating committee yesterday in order to free himself for a vigorous campaign as President Roosevelt's fourth term running mate.

Senator James M. Mead (D., N.Y.) is expected to be elected his successor today.

Democrats and Republicans alike sought to persuade Truman to continue as head of the committee over which he has presided for three and a half years, but he told them "it wouldn't be fair."

"Anything I might say or do as a member of the committee would be construed as political," he said. "It is best for me to leave it entirely."

In the end, they agreed to respect his wishes. They offered the chairmanship to Senator Connally (D., Tex.) but he had to decline because of his heavy duties as chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Every one agreed it would be Mead, the next ranking member, on the first ballot today.

Fulton to Return
Hugh Fulton will be asked at today's meeting to return as chief counsel. He offered his resignation yesterday in order to free the new chairman to make his own appointment.

Truman's last meeting with the committee which has investigated every phase of the war and defense production and supply program in hearings throughout the nation was crowded into a busy day for the bespectacled senator.

19 Jap Warships Believed Destroyed

Same Pilots Also Demolish 200 Enemy Planes

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, (AP)—Carrier air group two of the Pacific fleet probably destroyed or damaged 19 Japanese warships, including two large carriers, in a record fortnight of destruction from June 11 to 24, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday.

The same pilots, from a flattop of the Essex class, also destroyed or damaged 200 enemy planes in that period.

(This report on enemy plane destruction was carried in an exclusive story July 2 by Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent in the Pacific.)

Since June 24 the air group, commanded by youthful, black-haired Comdr. William (Wild Bill) Dean of Coronado, Calif., has shot down more than 33 Japanese planes in aerial combat.

That brought the group's bag of enemy planes destroyed in the air to more than 200, which Nimitz said is "an all-time record for naval warfare."

Accused of Monopoly
WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate liquor shortage investigating committee accused four big distillery groups yesterday of moving to monopolize the production of all alcoholic beverages, including whisky, wine and beer.

The report, made public by chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said that together, the National Distillers Products Corp., Schenley Distillers Corp., Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, and Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, "have in their possession today about 70 percent of the nation's supply of whisky."

French Underground—
Fighting Behind Lines
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force (AP)—The French underground army is now fighting pitched battles with the Germans and has compelled them to divert large forces supported by artillery and aircraft to keep their grip on southern and southwest France, General Eisenhower's headquarters announced last night.

A special communique disclosed many new outbreaks of the Maquis behind the German lines, already shattered by the big allied offensive, including one battle in Languedoc in which more than 1,000 Germans with bombers and big guns fought the patriots for 12 hours.

The Nazis suffered substantial casualties. French authorities in London, amplifying the communique, said

August Air Offensive Mounts in Fury

RAF Heavies Make Two Strikes At Robot Bases

LONDON, Friday (AP)—Powerful allied air fleets totaling around 5,500 bombers and fighters smashed at flying bomb bases in northern France and aircraft plants and communications targets in Germany Thursday as the August air offensive mounted in fury with widespread operations from both Britain and Italy.

RAF heavy bombers, ordinarily used chiefly at night, made two strikes during the day at robot supply bases in the biggest British daylight bombing attack of the war.

American Flying Fortresses and Liberators also slashed across the channel twice during the afternoon and late evening, hammering at transport and military targets in their first operation and later hitting robot launching platforms and other objectives in northern France and the Paris and Brussels areas.

Approximately 750 heavy bombers and 500 escorting fighters of the U. S. Fifteenth air force in Italy battered the German aircraft center of Friedrichshafen and communications in northern Italy.

These assaults, supplemented by a series of raids by lighter bombers and fighters as weather cleared during the afternoon, showered an estimated 9,000 tons of explosives on Nazi targets.

All of the heavies were given fighter cover and in some cases encountered enemy opposition. The United States Eighth air force announced in a communique early yesterday that more than 1,000 heavy bombers participated in its twin operations and that seven bombers and six fighters were missing.

American Jungle Fighters Throw Back Jap Suicide Attacks

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Friday (AP)—Veteran American jungle fighters have thrown back four more Japanese suicide attacks in the Aitape area of British New Guinea, after 11 hours of fierce fighting which left the battlefield littered with enemy dead, headquarters announced today.

In desperate attempts to break the American ring, the Japanese Wednesday hurled wave after wave of men in the Aitape sector, on the left flank of the Driunior river line, some 17 miles east of Aitape. Aitape is a few miles inland.

The Americans buried 602 additional enemy dead and the entire battle area was dotted with abandoned and uncounted Japanese bodies.

A total of 3,870 Nipponese dead have been counted in the jungle battle zone since elements of the trapped 18th Imperial army began their attempts to break encirclement July 12. Unquestionably, there are many more.

Then they pushed forward in a typical "Bananzai" charge. The American troops, who had encountered these assaults before, sat tight until the Japanese were within close range. Then they opened up with everything they had.

that resistance forces had stepped up their activities in Brittany in conjunction with the battering drive of Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's First American army.

They reported that since D-day the French forces of the interior had killed more than 3,000 Germans in Brittany alone.

Yank Tank Columns Seize Brittany's Capital of Rennes

All But Cut Off Immense Peninsula With Prize Ports

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force (AP)—Thundering U. S. tank columns seized Brittany's capital of Rennes yesterday in a 40-mile smash that all but cut off the whole immense peninsula with its prize ports of Brest and St. Nazaire, through which a tide of allied might can pour for the show-down battles of Europe.

With the way apparently wide open before them, Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's forces hammered on south of Rennes toward St. Nazaire, the Nazi U-boat base less than 60 miles away, in an effort to slam the door on what remains of the German garrisons on the Brest peninsula.

Speed Into Dinan
To the northwest, another speeding column pounded into Dinan, 100 miles from Brest, the major American landing point in the first World war, and were engaged in bitter fighting.

As the enemy defenses in Brittany wilted in the storm of fire, and as the British hammered out a 17-mile salient before the Germans based below Caumont, one allied officer declared: "If this isn't the blow-up, it certainly looks like a reasonable facsimile."

Hitting 'Good Crack'
Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery soberly declared "we are hitting the Hun a good crack" and jokingly asked a roadside press conference: "When will the war end?"

With losses in prisoners rocketing toward the 100,000 mark, with confusion and indecision spreading, and with a thin garrison to oppose the armored American juggernaut in Brittany, the enemy admitted his position was critical.

Only slightly slower was a second tank force which struck out south and west of Avranches and in a 35-mile push that overran dozens of towns stormed across the Rance river and into Dinan in the face of heavy fire.

40-Mile Breach
Thus a breach 40 miles wide and 35 miles deep had been torn in the Breton peninsula, which is an even greater military prize than the hard fought one of Normandy.

The best unofficial estimate here was that the peninsula might fall by the weekend, with nothing more than a desperate last-ditch defense of Brest, with the enemy organizing for a stand along the south bank of the Loire river, 60 miles or so south of Rennes.

The enemy's front appeared to be collapsing all the way to Caen, and another trap was forming for two Nazi armored divisions trying to hold back the storm northeast of Avranches.

Make Desperate Stand
On the other end of the Italian front the enemy showed determination to make a desperate stand along the Arno river, and on both sides of the besieged city of Pisa strong German patrols of up to 200 men slashed into American positions on the south bank of the river, other field dispatches said.

Heinzerling, who is with the Eighth army, said New Zealand troops were firmly established on the last commanding ridge south of Florence and that the enemy was steadily withdrawing from all sectors below the city.

Their departure was being hastened by columns of dust-covered Sherman tanks, Heinzerling wrote, and advance units already had probed German strength less than three miles south of Florence.

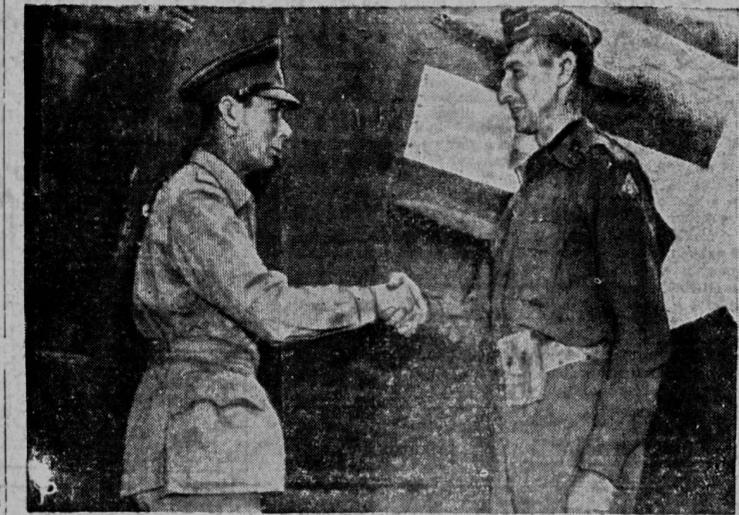

Defenses Give Way
German defenses began giving away during the night and by morning it was observed that the enemy definitely was pulling out, presumably to avoid further loss in manpower trying to hold their lines on the ridges. Effective work by allied dive bombers helped convince the Germans it was time to fall back.

All civilians have been cleared from the north bank of the Arno on both sides of Florence, which the Germans have declared to be an open city, or neutral territory, in deference to its art treasures.

Nazis Pull Back Behind Greve River

British Eighth Army Within Three Miles Of Historic Florence

ROME (AP)—German troops are pulling back behind the Greve river preparatory to a withdrawal from Florence and advance units of the British Eighth army have stabbed within three miles of the historic city, field dispatches said last night.

Loosening up of German defenses became apparent overnight and it was believed the enemy would pull into a tight pocket behind the Greve where it flows below the southwestern edge of the city, in an attempt to hold until Nazi troops can be moved through Florence, Associated Press correspondent Lynn Heinzerling wrote from the front.

Col. Edmund Starling Dies in New York
NEW YORK (AP)—Col. Edmund W. Starling, 69, retired head of the White House detail of the U. S. secret service, died yesterday at St. Luke's hospital where he had been under treatment for pneumonia since July 14. He had guarded five presidents.

He died at 4:30 p. m., eastern war time.
Colonel Starling retired last November. After leaving his post in Washington he and his wife made their home in Miami Beach, Fla. Starling was charged with protecting the lives of five presidents—Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt during upset and nervous periods of war, and Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover. During the 25 years he was a member of the White House detail, not a single assassination attempt was directed at the president, although many were nipped in the bud.

"It is mostly—I would say 100 percent—preventive work," Starling said before his retirement.

14-Hour Bombing—

Heaviest Robot Attack

LONDON (AP)—A 14-hour robot bomb attack on southern England and London—the longest and heaviest yet—eased off late yesterday after a blanket of low clouds lifted from Dover strait and gave anti-aircraft gunners better shooting at the missiles.

The gunners, including some Americans, were busy from midnight on and got many robots on the wing, but many got through. Just how many can best be told by the fact that 10 hospitals were hit. Ten patients were killed in one of them.

Before the clutter could be cleared up by extremely efficient civilian defense workers, new patients were being admitted. At another hospital two babies were born just as a bomb fell.

In the midst of the record attack Home Secretary Herbert Morrison broke the cheerless news that the government had decided to continue the blackout.

In giving official figures on civilian air raid casualties from the beginning of the war through the first half of 1944, Morrison revealed that the robot bombs have been killing more persons than ordinary aerial bombs did at their worst.

The worst year for ordinary raids was 1940, when 23,747 persons were killed, whereas nearly 300 have been killed each week by the robots, a rate of nearly 36,000 a year.

Wednesday night and yesterday the robots came over in waves, with the intervals between waves shorter than before. In some areas one could hear a distinct "thump"—or something louder—every few minutes.

Chinese Forces Break Into Tengchung

Bitter Fighting Continues in Vital Hunan Province

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese forces in Yunnan province, striving to join Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's troops in Burma and open a land supply route from India into blocked China, have broken into Tengchung, largest city west of the Salween, the Chinese high command announced last night.

The Chinese entered the city Wednesday and a battle with the enemy garrison is in progress, said the communique. Tengchung is a principal objective in the Chinese Salween river offensive.

Bitter fighting continued in Hunan province, where encircled Hengyang has resisted Japanese attacks for five weeks. The high command reported Chinese relief columns were trying to knife their way through the Japanese lines to aid the battered defenders.

In other sectors of the Hunan battlefield fortunes varied. The high command admitted loss of Ningsiang, west of Changsha, with the entire Chinese garrison wiped out. On the other hand the Chinese broke through into strategically important Pingsiang, about 100 miles northeast of Hengyang, a keypoint in the screen the Japanese established to safeguard their communications in Hunan.

Nazi Atrocities

MOSCOW (AP)—A grim story of patients being starved to death and killed by diseases spread intentionally at a German hospital in Slavuta during the two years of Nazi occupation was told yesterday by the Ukraine state atrocities committee.

The committee, which included medical experts, said 150,000 patients died and that only 525 were alive in the hospital when Slavuta, 160 miles west of Kiev, was retaken by the Russians.

Stockholm dispatches said Russian trucks laden with speedboats, torpedoes and mines were running up this corridor to the Baltic in an attempt to destroy or hamper any German sea evacuation through the gulf of Riga. The Russians were less than 25 miles from the Latvian capital of Riga, and had sealed off most of that country and all of Estonia.

Finnish President Also Foreign Minister

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim probably will act as his own foreign minister as well as defense minister when he officially becomes president of Finland today, the newspaper Aftonbladet predicted yesterday.

The newspaper said Mannerheim's close friend, Defense Minister Rudolf Walden, would become prime minister, with Eero Vuori, leader of the peace forces, taking some other position in the cabinet.

Establish New Bridgehead

Reds Only 60 Miles From Krakow

LONDON, Friday (AP)—Red army troops shattered the axis Vistula river line in Poland yesterday, smashing 15 miles beyond that last natural defense barrier short of the "holy soil" of Germany in a broad flank of men and tanks that flanked burning Warsaw and sped toward German Silesia, only 100 miles away.

The Vistula, which a desperate enemy had attempted to hold with reinforcements sent from central German reservoirs, was crossed 110 miles south of besieged Warsaw on a front nearly 19 miles wide between Koprzywnia and Poland.

German broadcasts also said that another strong bridgehead was established on the west bank near Warka, only 30 miles southeast of Warsaw, where Polish patriots were fighting the Germans in the streets, but Moscow did not confirm that enemy announcement. The Russians were only 60 miles northeast of Krakow, Poland's fifth largest city.

Russian troops were reported even nearer ancient German soil in western Lithuania, attacking toward east East Prussia on a broad front. Moscow dispatches said these units were only three miles from East Prussia, fighting near Virbalis and Wiaziny and preparing to leap the Oder after an intensive shelling of Nazi concentrations across the border. The Soviet bulletin said 200 more localities had been taken by the Russians west and northwest of Kaunas, fallen former Lithuanian capital.

On a 70-mile front in the North German plain, the Third White Russian army was threatening momentarily to break into the soil of East Prussia proper and for the first time in the war carry a real fight into the German homeland.

Moscow dispatches said Russian troops were within three miles of East Prussia, fighting near Virbalis, in western Lithuania, and at Wiaziny, in the Suwalki triangle of former Polish territory which the Reich annexed to East Prussia in 1939.

Soviet artillery was softening up German defenses across the East Prussian border, and German radio commentators acknowledged a Russian break-through in the Augustow area of northern Poland.

Col. Ernst von Hammer, German radio spokesman, said the Russians had brought up seven rifle formations and two tank corps on the front which extends from Augustow, on the southern side of the Suwalki triangle, to a point above the Kaunas-Konigsberg highway. Long truck supply columns camouflaged with birch branches rolled along behind Red army tanks, motorized infantry and big guns.

In Latvia other Russian troops had established a broad steel corridor from northern Lithuania to the Gulf of Riga, cutting off the land escape routes of a Nazi force estimated by Prime Minister Churchill at 20 or 30 divisions—up to 300,000 men.

Stockholm dispatches said Russian trucks laden with speedboats, torpedoes and mines were running up this corridor to the Baltic in an attempt to destroy or hamper any German sea evacuation through the gulf of Riga. The Russians were less than 25 miles from the Latvian capital of Riga, and had sealed off most of that country and all of Estonia.

The Trial of a Brute Beast—

A Chicago newspaper reports the recent release of a parrot sentenced to two years of confinement. There is this point—we citizens would just as sanely elect as judge a fox terrier, pigeon, or mole as a man who would soberly turn over his court to the trial of a brute beast.

when they speak so brilliantly? It is all very well to possess such subtlety and such rhetoric. Why are the untortured left alone to protest the mockery made—not only of the law courts—but indeed also of human intelligence itself, when an animal is brought to trial?

Friends Believe Wallace Will Get Important Post

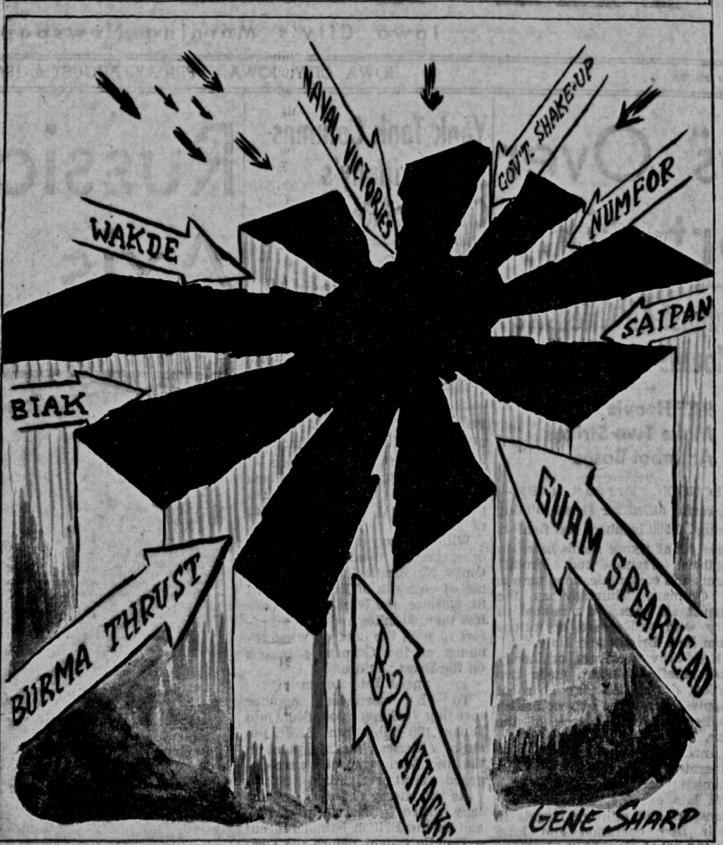

WASHINGTON—Henry Agard Wallace may have been dumped as President Roosevelt's running mate for the fourth term, but his friends are predicting he will turn up smiling in an important government post if the Democrats are victorious again in November.

Despite Roosevelt's failure to give strong support to Wallace at the Democratic national convention, the vice president's supporters are certain that the shaggy-haired, idealistic Iowan is still a White House favorite and would command much attention in the assignment of an important wartime or post-war diplomatic post.

Observers recall that Wallace has been virtually hound dog faithful to the president even in the face of biting White House criticism of some of his statements and they also remember that Roosevelt has given Wallace a double endorsement in recent months.

THE POSSIBILITY of a sudden German defeat has left many Washington observers wondering whether the Allies have a full-fledged plan for occupation and control of Germany in the wake of unconditional surrender terms.

Convocation At 8 Tonight

Two-hundred sixty degrees and certificates will be awarded to candidates at the Convocation ceremony tonight at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union, concluding the university's summer session teaching term.

Reflecting the loss of men to the armed service, women outnumber men for the first time in an Iowa Convocation. Representatives from 20 Iowa counties, 29 states, two territories and three foreign countries will be present in accordance with the usual geographical distribution.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe will ask tonight's invocation while Harry G. Barnes, registrar, will officiate as master of ceremonies introducing the evening's lecturer, Dr. Thompson Stone of Boston, Mass., visiting member of the music department from the Handel and Haydn choral society in Boston.

President Virgil M. Hancher will confer the degrees concluding the tenth wartime Convocation.

Dr. Stone's subject is "Get on the Road and Get Going—Stay on the Road and Keep Going."

Republican Governors Hold Three-Hour Politics Discussion

Hickenlooper Describes St. Louis Meeting As 'Most Magnificent'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The country's 26 Republican governors, hammering together the second half of a policy declaration on public affairs, were described yesterday by Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa as engaged in the "most magnificent political meeting that's been held in generations."

Under the leadership of their presidential nominee, Thomas E. Dewey of New York, they started winding up their two-day conference by getting together with national Republican chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr. in a three-hour discussion of politics and nothing else.

Campaign Promotion
They sat in a parlor of a downtown hotel, exchanging views, looking closely into party chances in every state represented, and figuring out ways to promote the campaign of Dewey and his vice presidential running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Hickenlooper told an informal news conference afterward that the state chiefs achieved "complete understanding of thought and complete determination on the part of the 24 governors to support the other two in the national election."

"We talked a lot of politics," the Iowa governor said.

"It is safe to say," he added, "that every Republican governor will serve in this campaign in whatever capacity he is determined to be most effective."

Asked About Chances
Asked whether, in the appraisal of GOP chances in the various states there were any discouraging reports, Hickenlooper replied: "Not a one."

"Not even California?" a reporter inquired.

The Iowa said he would let Gov. Earl Warren of that state speak for himself but that Warren had voiced confidence.

Taking his cue, Warren told reporters that "we have a nip and tuck battle in California but we are organizing to put up a great fight."

'Iowa Republican'
As for Iowa, the governor predicted it would go republican in November by the biggest margin in 15 to 18 years. Two years ago, he said, the margin was some 200,000 votes.

While ordinarily he just keeps in touch with the political situation in his own state, Hickenlooper said he had gathered since he came to St. Louis that the chances were "very, very bright" that Missouri also would enter the Republican column this fall.

Praises Dewey
Hickenlooper loudly sang the praises of Governor Dewey, declaring: "He has displayed the most marvelous ability to accept suggestions, seek advice and coordinate it with ideas of his own or of any man I've ever seen in contact with in public life. He has one of the greatest abilities to express clearly his ideas, in understanding form, of anybody I've come in contact with."

The governor, he said, did not try to impress his own views on the governors' conference but merely submitted them for consideration and told his colleagues to boil them down.

Gillette's Statement
Informed that Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) had said in Washington that Dewey had "failed to click in the midwest," Hickenlooper commented that if Gillette said that, "I don't believe he's in touch with the real sentiment of the midwest or reflects it at all."

Dewey, he asserted, is very popular in the midwest because of his "vigor, ability, experience, youth and vision."

Professor Develops— Commercial Clay Paint

—For Production

SHOWN IN THE LABORATORY at work on his experiments with making paint from clay found in northern Mississippi. Prof. G. O. Caldwell, graduate student in the college of pharmacy, here prepares to try out another formula for the paint. In the background can be seen some of the more than 200 samples he has prepared from the various formulas.

Another George Washington Carver has come out of Missouri to Iowa. He is Prof. G. O. Caldwell, head of the chemistry department at a Negro college in Mississippi, who has been doing graduate work in the college of pharmacy at the university this summer.

Professor Caldwell is developing a fine white clay found in the region around Rust college, Holly Springs, Miss., for commercial purposes. His first project in this field has been the development of a fine, durable, inexpensive paint, chiefly for factories, walls and basements, which he expects to be put into production at a plant in Holly Springs. He has tried more than 200 formulas in getting a paint that meets all requirements.

Space Available
Professor Caldwell says the floor space is already available for manufacturing the paint, and the owner is planning to employ some of the women students at Rust college as part-time workers.

In 1906 Professor Caldwell was supported from Fisk university, Nashville, Tenn., and was graduated from the college of pharmacy this year and Hickenlooper was asked whether the state would elect a Republican senator this year.

"I certainly hope so," he replied and added "I believe so."

To an inquiry whether Vice-President Wallace, also an Iowan, would have any influence in the fall balloting, Hickenlooper said he thought the people answered that four years ago. He did not amplify the point.

Wallace was replaced by Senator Harry Truman of Missouri as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee this year.

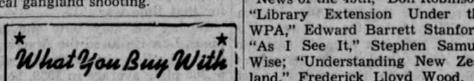

The Republican governors earlier in the day had produced a campaign dossier charging the new deal with courting "national disaster" in the handling of reconstruction plans.

Chaplain Says Soldiers Want Home Support In 'American Way'

CHICAGO (AP)—Service men at the front are not interested in politics, and "they are depending on the home folks to carry on in the American way for which they are fighting," Capt. Albert J. Hoffmann of Dubuque, Iowa, said yesterday.

Capt. Hoffmann, Catholic chaplain, addressed the closing session of the Catholic Order of Foresters. Holder of the Silver Star, Distinguished Service Cross and Purple Heart, he suffered loss of a leg Nov. 7 under fire at Santa Maria Olivetta, Italy. He served previously in Tunisia.

"Fighting men look with bitterness on reports of strikes in war plants and wonder if these enemies at home realize the harm they are doing," he said.

"The American soldier wants no relaxation in the work of providing munitions and the accoutrements of war."

The soldier's religion is his personal affair, no matter what his denomination, Capt. Hoffmann declared. "He can pray on the battlefields and in the streets without being ridiculed."

Senator Suggests Plan For 'Padlocking' Surplus War Goods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Johnson (D-Col.) proposed yesterday that the government impound billions of dollars worth of durable surplus war goods for five years after the war to give private industry full access to civilian markets.

Johnson, who laid the plan before the senate military committee said that to dump vast stocks of government-owned goods on post-war markets would retard industrial reconversion and might disrupt the entire civilian economy.

Durable Goods
In general, he said, the "padlocking" plan would apply to all durable goods, including wool and cotton products, but allow the sale of "perishables" such as foodstuffs.

Johnson gave these as other main points in his proposed bill: War plants costing more than $5,000,000 could not be sold without congressional approval, but could be leased to private operators pending sale. Smaller plants could be leased or sold under general rules laid down by congress.

Machinery and equipment usable for civilian production could be sold or leased with the plants themselves, the "obsolete" machinery to be junked. The government would be barred from operating any plant itself.

Ships and planes could not be sold by the government either to other countries or to private operators.

To Subcommittee
The military group referred the proposal to a subcommittee which arranged to open hearings on it Monday.

"The object of the plan is to speed industrial reconversion," Johnson told reporters. "It would mean a loss to the government to padlock these goods, but the government would have to take the same loss anyway if it dumped its surpluses and demoralized industry."

In a two-hour closed morning session, the military committee decided to consider a surplus property disposal separately from other reconversion legislation.

It met again yesterday afternoon to act on a bill by Senators Murray (D., Mont.) and Truman (D., Mo.) which would set up an office of war mobilization and adjustment with wide authority to supervise the war-to-peace transition.

Eric Kollman—

Austrian Educator, Lecturer

By DORIS CAMPBELL
Daily Iowan Managing Editor

Typical of the attitude which Eric Kollman, Austrian instructor in the history department, has toward the United States is the fact that he and Mrs. Kollman attended a class in English in New York City exactly eight hours after they had arrived from Vienna in March, 1939.

The Kollmans succeeded in leaving Austria only after a full year's effort. Dr. Kollman explained that the Nazis made emigration extremely difficult and resorted to such ruses as not announcing when the passport office would be open, which resulted in a prospective emigrant arriving at the former Palais de Rothschild which housed the office, at 6 o'clock in the morning, only to be prodded and hunted by the SS troops or else he would arrive at 8 to find that he was entirely too late to carry out his business.

In the same way, one of the many documents necessary to leave the country would expire before the last could be obtained, causing still further delay.

Living Under Hitler
Remarking that living under Hitler "was an interesting experience for a social scientist only it was much too dangerous," Dr. Kollman pointed out that soon after his emigration it became almost impossible to leave Austria.

Believing as the average Austrian that Americans are rich and always in a hurry as well as usually being impolite, Dr. Kollman noted that these European ideas were quickly dissolved when he found Americans could take time if they wanted to, "were more polite than Europeans and had a poor class too."

Outstanding among his memories of experiences on the trip to America, Dr. Kollman remarked that he took the term, "You're welcome" quite literally—which made him even more firmly convinced of the friendliness of the American people.

America's Friendliness
That friendliness is the thing that first impressed this European educator about America, even more than the vastness of these United States, the abundance of food and the enjoyment of freedom. Suggesting perhaps that "one has almost to lose liberty to really appreciate it," Dr. Kollman pointed out that Americans, until the war, "took these blessings too much for granted."

Summarizing his first and continuing impression of this country as "wonderful," he expressed his feeling by quoting the saying that now a knock on the door in the morning means milk, not the Gestapo.

'Government by the People'
Another example would be the fact that every desk and every window in a government office carefully displays the name of the person in charge. "One doesn't experience the ominous presence of the state," he added. "If you do not like the way in which your business is handled, you can complain because you know to whom to complain and about whom you should complain. This he stressed.

as another symbol of the government serving the people, not the people being subordinate to the government.

Dr. Kollman attended the University of Vienna, receiving the degree of doctor of philosophy in 1927. He taught in Vienna high schools and junior colleges and organized and directed summer camps for high school students. Devoting a great deal of time to corrective work with problem children, Dr. Kollman also organized and founded the joint council for comparative education of Vienna.

Modern History Lecturer
A lecturer on modern history and international affairs at various adult education institutions in Vienna, he was associated too with the public library organization of that city, acting as educational advisor and organizing several high school libraries.

When he first came to the United States, Dr. Kollman had already decided not to stay in New York City because he felt that would deprive him of getting a true picture of the United States.

Camp Director
He acted as a director in the University of Michigan fresh air camp near Detroit his first summer here and quickly found added proof of his idea that people all over the world are not so different if their environment is similar.

The children from the Detroit slums who attended the camp were quite like Vienna's slum children and "I very often expected them to burst out with Viennese dialect instead of their Detroit slang" he declared.

First Permanent Job
Dr. Kollman's first permanent job in the United States was at Parsons college in Fairfield, from which he has been on leave of absence since 1943. He pointed out the advantages of his position there and of living in a small mid-western town by explaining that he had to teach several subjects, which placed him under pressure to learn English quickly and he also gained a more rapid insight into some phases of the American educational system by starting his teaching in a small institution.

Progressive Attitude
"While not all the problems are solved in this type of school, our progressive spirit and the friendly atmosphere in the classroom will do a lot to adjust the high school to the needs of the post-war world," he stated.

Dr. Kollman came to Fairfield when the war was one week old and thus in teaching and in his activities as a lecturer before widely varying audiences in Iowa and adjacent states, he could see the changing attitude of the people as the war progressed. "In my work, I witnessed Americans becoming aware of the war, and above all, for the first time taking things less and less for granted," he reported.

ASTP Instructor
An instructor on the campus since June, 1943, Dr. Kollman taught first in the army specialized training program, in the German and French divisions of the foreign area study. This summer he is teaching a freshman course in history as well as an upper-class survey of factors in the development of modern Europe.

He will be connected with Cornell college in Mt. Vernon in the fall and winter academic term where he will teach in the navy's program, 250 students recent world history with emphasis on the background of World War II. It will be his responsibility—and he considers this quite a challenge—not only to make these students conscious of what this country is fighting for but also to prepare them for "the shape of things to come."

Plan Picnic
The Wesley foundation and Plymouth fellowship groups will leave the Methodist student center Sunday at 4:30 for a picnic vesper. Robert Miller will lead the discussion, "Tomorrow's Doctors, Dentists and Nurses."

Helen Ladwig will have charge of the vesper service and Alice Mahany will arrange for food. The supper is 25 cents. Each guest is asked to bring interurban fare.

ODT Approves Plan
OMAHA (AP)—A joint action plan, involving the operations of one Nebraska and four Iowa trucking firms, was approved yesterday by V. J. Hons, Omaha district manager of the office of defense transportation. The plan of coordinated operations, effective today, is expected to save 25,000 truck miles and 2,080 man hours annually.

Accelerated Work Will Continue In College of Law
The college of law for the academic year 1944-45 will continue an accelerated program, according to Prof. Percy Bordwell, dean of the college of law.

The year is divided into three sessions, fall, winter and summer, with each approximating a full semester. Six of these sessions constitute three years of law study.

Each session is divided into two terms of eight weeks each. The former semester courses have been changed into term courses and former year courses into session courses by doubling the number of class hours per week.

Beginning students may enter at the commencement of any session, Bordwell said, and advanced students at the commencement of any term. For the 1944-45 session beginning Sept. 4, 1944 and Jan. 3, 1945; second terms, Oct. 30, 1944 and Feb. 26, 1945.

Cubs Move Into Fourth Place; Defeat Dodgers Twice, 6-2, 7-1

Bill Nicholson Hits Homers In Both Tilts

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Chicago Cubs moved into fourth place in the National League, their highest standing of the season, when they swept a doubleheader from the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-2 and 7-1 yesterday, stretching their winning streak to nine in a row, their longest of the year.

Bill Nicholson homered in each game to take over the leadership in that department with 23. He drove in two teammates in each game to raise his total to 74 tying Ray Sanders of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bob Chipman was credited with the first game victory, his third over his former teammates since he was traded to the Cubs. In the second game Claude Passeau scattered 10 Dodger blows for his seventh victory. Augie Galan's third inning homer saved the Dodgers from a shutout. Tommy Warren was tagged for 11 blows to suffer his fourth defeat.

Tommy Brown, 16-year-old shortstop from Newport News of the Piedmont league, made his major league appearance getting a hit in each game and handling three out of four chances cleanly.

FOOTBALL TIME COMES ROUND

Over behind the west stands of the Iowa stadium, every day at 4:15 p. m. a passerby may hear the thud of footballs and the crack of shoulder pads, for this year's edition of the football Seahawks has been holding daily grid drills for the past three weeks.

With about 60 candidates, none of whom have had much experience, Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher has described his team as a "good high school team."

Lem Franklin Dies Of Fight Injuries

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Dr. Harrison S. Martland, chief medical examiner of Essex county, said yesterday an autopsy showed that the death of Lem Franklin, 28-year-old Chicago Negro heavyweight boxer, resulted from "a type of injury where surgery offered no hope."

Franklin died earlier in the day in City hospital where he had been under treatment for injuries received on July 24 when he was knocked out by Larry Lane, Trenton Negro, in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round main event at Meadowbrook bowl.

The medical examiner asserted that Franklin had been struck in the middle of the forehead and multiple concussion hemorrhages of the brain resulted, but he added, it could not be determined whether the injury was caused by a blow or by the subsequent fall. Usually, Martland said, subdural clots form and an operation may save the injured person's life. Born in Mobile, Ala., Franklin won the International Amateur Heavyweight crown and fought his way to the finals in the Chicago Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. in his amateur days. He turned professional in 1937 and had been considered one of the top-flight heavies in the country. Franklin's death was the first among heavyweight top-notchers since that of Ernie Schaaf after his fight with Primo Carnera in February, 1933.

signals and generally the fundamentals of the game. One factor in Meagher's favor is that the boys who reported were all in excellent physical condition due to the rigorous navy program. Some dummy scrimmage, and much signal drill has been the order of the day behind the stadium where the Seahawks are giving a preview of what to expect in football this season.

Commander Meagher's task has been complicated by the fact that a complete turnover of personnel will take place two or three times during the season.

Transformer Wins Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—The going was muddy for the mounts and far from favorable for the favorite players at Belmont yesterday. In the four-horse feature, the Campfire handicap, the crowd of 19,939 put the "favorite" tag on the Havahome stable entry of Strategic and Eye for Eye, but they finished third and fourth respectively, as Vera S. Bragg's Transformer, the outside, nosed out W. P. Wetherall's Lord Calvert.

Transformer paid $9.60 for $2, and raced the mile and a half in 2:32 4/5. Bill Sickle, winner of the seventh race, was the only favorite to come through on the eight-card race, as the crowd poured $1,858,500 through the mutual windows.

Relious, racing for Eddie De Camillas, drove to a length and a quarter victory over Miss R. McLanaghan's Hartford in the featured Georgetown purse at Garden state park. The winner raced the mile and sixteenth in 1:48 1/5 to pay $12.80 for $2, with Tommy Luther up. The featured $1,900 Loudon allowance purse at Rockingham went to Momo Flag, owned by A. Lamoureux, the victor negotiating the mile and sixteenth in 1:47.4 to pay $6.20 for $2. Scotch Abbot, a Merry stable entry, was second, and H. Barnett's Ragoon third. Australia is spending about one-half its national income on war.

Chicago White Sox Take Twin Victory

Continue Superiority Over Cleveland Nine By Winning, 3-2, 5-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox continued their season-long superiority over the Cleveland Indians yesterday by taking a doubleheader, 3 to 2 and 5 to 1, before 8,167. The twin victory, made it 11 out of 14 with the Tribe this year, upped the Sox to a spot just a half-game out of the first division.

Bill Dietrich, earning his 13th victory, and Orval Grove, getting his 11th with the help of Gordon Maltzberger, supplied the pitching that shaded Al Smith and Allie Reynolds, who were hampered by frequent outfield shortcomings.

The Chicagoans won the opener in the ninth. With the score tied at 2-all, Johnny Dickshot led off with a triple and, after two intentional passes filled the bases, Hal Trosky hit a dinky single through First Baseman Mickey Rocco, scoring Thurman Tucker, a pinch runner for Dickshot. Doubles by Trosky and Pinch Hitter Guy Curtright, sandwiched around a pair of passes, scored three runs off Reynolds in the seventh inning of the nightcap, just after singles by Manager Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner had given Cleveland a 1-0 lead. The Sox added two more off Joe Heving in the eighth.

voted to put into effect a gentleman's agreement that teams should kick off in bounds but this was not construed as a real rule change.

"If this trend of sectional rules starts now, I am afraid it will increase in tempo after the war. Certain rules may need changing but the national committee has 'frozen' them for the duration and later changes should be made only through regular channels on a national basis to insure uniformity," declared Coach Madigan.

Four-Letter Man From Kentucky—

Lieut. Ellis Johnson

Lieut. Ellis Johnson

Lieut. Ellis Johnson, Seahawk baseball coach, is a native Kentuckian and was graduated from the University of Kentucky where he won major letters in football, basketball and track.

After his college days, Johnson coached football, baseball and track; his football team had a record of only five losses in as many years and had four players named on little All-American teams. So Lieutenant Johnson was well qualified to come as a coach to the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school.

After his indoctrination at Chapel Hill, N. C., Johnson came to the base here. He has been stationed here about a year. His regular duties, aside from baseball, include track and a physical fitness program.

During a regular Seahawk game, Lieutenant Johnson will be found in the first base coaching box telling the boys, in his southern drawl, what to do.

When asked about the Seahawks' string of 23 victories, Johnson said, "It's a victory for the team as a whole, and when everybody on the team pulls together you can't lose." As for the players Johnson replied, "They are the greatest boys in the world and the finest kids to work with."

But at least some of the credit for the Seahawk victories should go to Lieutenant Johnson and the other coaches who have given their time and effort to make the Seahawks the successful team that it is.

146 Boilermakers Report for Practice

Cecil Isbell Wants Grid Team as Tough As Football Schedule

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—It requires only a casual glance at Purdue's football schedule for this fall to reveal the fact that Cecil Isbell, colorful new director of Boilermaker gridiron destinies, is due for a rugged initiation in his debut as a head football coach.

"If we have a team as tough as our schedule, it will be a great year," commented Isbell with a smile and a shudder as he glanced over the ambitious 10-game card which includes six conference encounters along with assignments against Great Lakes, Navy, Iowa Pre-Flight and Marquette.

Complicating Isbell's schedule worries is the fact that he has more enthusiasm than experience on the record-breaking squad of 146 candidates that has reported for summer drill. Frank Bauman, rugged right end, one of the greatest wingmen in the game, and Boris "Babe" Dimancheff, race horse right halfback, one of the nation's leading ground gainers last season, are the only holdover all-season regulars from last fall's conference co-championship squad which topped the nation's select list of undefeated, untied teams, although there are 11 other major lettermen available who saw considerable action during the latter part of the campaign.

Ten major games in as many Saturdays provide the assignment for the reconstructed Boilermakers, who will operate from Isbell's version of the T formation, which places the emphasis on speed and deception. The Boilermakers will receive the acid test in their first start of the season as they attempt to duplicate last season's triumph over Great Lakes, the nation's No. 1 service eleven and conqueror of Notre Dame, at the naval training center on Sept. 23.

An unusually attractive four-game home schedule will be launched on Sept. 30 against Marquette, which according to midsummer reports has unusually promising prospects. The Boilermakers then open defense of their conference co-championship against Illinois at Champaign Oct. 7 before returning to the Ross-Ade stadium on Oct. 14 for the second home stand against Iowa Pre-Flight, named as the nation's No. 2 eleven last fall in a poll of sports writers. The first half of the card will be wound up on the road in a renewal of the Iowa series.

One of the highlights of the season will undoubtedly be provided on Oct. 28 when the Boilermakers journey to Ann Arbor to settle matters with the Michigan eleven that shared the conference title tie with Purdue last fall.

November will be a particularly rigorous month. Wisconsin's Badgers invade the Ross-Ade stadium on Nov. 4 for the renewal of a series that has been famous for its upsets, and the Boilermakers then take to the road to meet Northwestern's Wildcats on Armistice day and Navy's powerful combination at Baltimore on Nov. 18.

The usual climax will be provided in the Ross-Ade stadium on Nov. 25 as the Boilermakers attempt to add another "P" link to the ever-lengthening chain on the Old Oaken Bucket in the 47th renewal of the Hoosier gridiron classic with Indiana.

Cards Throw Pirates, 15-2 In Playoff

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals rode merrily on toward their third straight National league pennant yesterday, increasing their lead to 17 games by squelching the third-place Pittsburgh Pirates, 15 to 2.

It was victory number 10 for rookie Ted Wilks who has lost but one game. He gave up six safeties while his mates collected 18 off three Pirate moundsmen, Preacher Roe, Art Cucurullo and Xavier Rescigno.

The game was a playoff of a 5-5 tie of June 25.

Lew Fonseca, director of promotion for the American league, will head a staff of baseball experts at the Iowa High School Athletic Association's Coaching school, Aug. 15 to 19 at Boone.

Fonseca jumped from the sandlots of San Francisco to the Cincinnati Reds back in 1921. During his stay with the Indians, Lew captured the American league batting championship with a .369 plate average in 1929, being named the league

Navy V-12 Trainee Killed in Brawl in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Omer A. Kelly, 27, of (202 S. Wooster street) Algona, a navy V-12 trainee stationed at Purdue university, was shot to death by a relief bartender last night during a brawl in a south side saloon, Police Capt. Leo Hardy said.

Kelly, on leave for 10 days in Chicago, was wounded three times in the abdomen and twice in the right arm. He died at Gardner general hospital a few hours after the altercation.

With Kelly at the time of the shooting was his brother, Joseph, 28, a student at the Northern Illinois College of Optometry. He said he was struck on the head and did not see the shooting.

Police held the relief bartender and six witnesses pending an inquest today.

Joseph Kelly's roommate, John Ellery, told police the victim formerly played football while a student at Notre Dame university. He added that Kelly, a chief petty officer, also was an athletic instructor at Purdue and played as a lineman on the Great Lakes football team last fall.

Two Plants Close In Aluminum Production Paring

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new cut back in aluminum production, involving the closure of two plants and curtailment of a third, last night followed a war production board announcement that 48 percent of the entire 1944 armament program was completed at mid-year.

The new paring of aluminum output, which came within a week after announced reductions in submarine, magnesium and aircraft production, was attributed by WPB to "an increasing surplus" of ingot aluminum. Other slashes in aluminum production were made earlier in the year.

The three plants, all government-owned, but operated by the Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA), are at Riverbank, Calif., and Burlington, N. J., both going out of production entirely, and that at Los Angeles, trimmed by one-third.

WPB said comparatively few workers would be laid off—an estimated 300 at Burlington, 130 at Los Angeles and 275 at Riverbank. In each case, work opportunities are plentiful nearby, WPB said. At the same time, Alcoa notified WPB it is voluntarily closing one production line at Alcoa, Tenn., but releasing no workers.

Glaesner Wins Prize

Fined for Violation

DES MOINES (AP)—George Ladue, 51, former manager of the Wagona club, pleaded guilty to violating the Iowa child labor act yesterday and was fined $25 by Municipal Judge Ralph Powers.

Judge Powers said that after reading the statements of witnesses he did not believe that the evidence was strong enough to send the case to the grand jury.

In an acridly worded indictment, they also accused the present federal government of "threatening seriously the very existence of many of our states," by the acquisition of public and private lands.

New Deal

Inviting national disaster when either the Pacific or European war ends, the governors said, the New Deal has displayed "listlessness, negligence, and lack of leadership" in the field of reconversion and post-war jobs.

"The national administration," the state chiefs declared, "is now standing squarely in the path of the future employment of our returning veterans and millions of displaced war workers."

"Comprehensive and immediate action by the federal government is imperative to provide for prompt contract termination and plant clearance. Facilities for the resumption of peacetime production must be released and the way cleared instantly as war demands come to an end."

From an after-midnight session at which they quaffed milk to keep up their stamina, the governors brought out a fractional six-fourteenths of a document that had the appearance of another party platform erected alongside the one adopted at the Republican national convention.

McCrackin Sentenced

William F. McCrackin withdrew an old plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to charges of cheating on false pretenses when he appeared in district court yesterday before Judge Harold D. Evans.

He was sentenced to seven years at hard labor at the penitentiary at Ft. Madison and fined $500 and costs, a total of $917.35. Ingalls Swisher represented the defendant.

Sheriff Preston Koser plans to take McCrackin to Ft. Madison today.

The bondsmen, James Ponzalo and George Radcliffe, paid the fine and costs. Bond for the trial was claimed officially forfeited March 6 this year since it never was paid.

McCrackin was charged three years ago with obtaining $5,000 through false pretenses from Mrs. Anna Schick of Cedar Rapids.

Mrs. Schick gave McCrackin, who was accompanied by two other men, $5,000 at Hotel Jefferson. The men told her she would win money playing the races with their help. The men left with the money and she did not see them again.

McCrackin was released on bond July 14, 1943, after he pleaded not guilty and the trial was set for September. McCrackin did not appear.

Federal bureau of investigation officials apprehended McCrackin in Detroit last week and notified Sheriff Preston Koser, who immediately went to Detroit to get the prisoner.

Sunny Skies Refuse To Yield Relief

Slightly overcast skies cleared yesterday afternoon to squelch hopes that a shower was in the offing.

With the temperature at 92 at 2 p. m. yesterday, Iowa Citizens witnessed one of the warmest days this summer.

The Iowa river was at a summer low of 2.0 feet and still dropping, according to L. C. Crawford of the United States geological survey. This level is much in contrast to the 18.1 high during May this year.

Children Give Benefit Show for Red Cross

The Red Cross is $22 richer today because of the efforts of 19 patriotic Iowa City boys and girls who presented a show Wednesday night to approximately 100 parents and neighbors in a local garage.

For two weeks the sign posted on the George Brown garage at 1103 N. Summit street read "Keep Out" while the play, which was co-directed by 14 and 15-year-old Betty Veveral and Celeste Parrott, was being rehearsed. Opening night doors swung open to an audience even the smallest actor hadn't anticipated. Over 100 persons attended.

Everything was on the program from twin hula dancers, tap dancers, group singing, a mock wedding, a beauty parlor scene, "Rosie the Riveter" and her hen-pecked husband to a style show in their mothers' best clothes. The evening was climaxed with the entire group singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The price of admission was set at three cents, although the receipts showed that everyone gave more than that. Three cases of pop and popcorn were donated, with profits going to the Red Cross.

The amateur actors, whose ages ranged from 5 to 15 were: Harriet Towell, Kay Moore, Nancy Mat-Ursula Parrott, Melvin Masbruch, Marlis Brown, Shirley and Bobby Goss, Marjorie Hedges, Betty and Beverly Graef and Chuckie and Dean Michel.
