'Administration Afraid Of Peace,' Dewey Says

Nominee Cites Election Issue

Opposes Maintenance Of Large Army After Victory

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared last night the Roosevelt administration had provided a basic issue for the national election by revealing plans to keep a large army after the war because it feared there would be no jobs for returning servicemen.

Delivering his first major campaign speech before a cheering, flag-waving crowd, the Republican nominee said the New Deal had failed to overcome the pre-war depression and added:

Jobs From War
"It took a world war to get jobs for the American people."

The New Dealers are "afraid of peace," he said in a nationwide broadcast. "They are afraid of a continuance of their own failures to get this country going again. They are afraid of America."

"I do not share that fear. I believe that our members of the armed forces should be transported home and released at the earliest practical moment after victory. I believe that the occupation of Germany and Japan should very soon be confined to those who voluntarily chose to remain in the army when peace comes."

"I am not afraid of the future of America—either immediate or distant. I am sure of our future, if we get a national administration which believes in our country."

"The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction is the only thing that saved it," he said in a prepared address. "They are dead afraid that they will go back to the resumption of their own failures. That is why they are afraid to let men out of the army. That is why they say it is cheaper to keep men in the army than to let them come home."

The Republican presidential nominee opened his speaking campaign in historic Philadelphia amid all the political fanfare that ordinarily characterizes a peacetime election year.

Beginning with a ticker-tape parade through downtown streets, Dewey and his retinue set out on a fast-paced round of conferences, meetings and receptions that wound up in Convention hall for the first of a series of major speeches to be delivered from both ends of the continent.

Addresses CIO
Labor's vote cannot be "delivered" to "the practitioners of the dole philosophy," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared yesterday at a CIO convention in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., that heard Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D. N.Y.) brand the Republican presidential nominee's party "childish naive" about post-war problems.

Those serving on the war and home fronts "will not turn back to doles and raking leaves," Dewey told the New York state industrial union council in a message read to its annual convention.

Dewey said "There are those who claim labor's votes can be thus delivered. Some who make that claim hold union offices which were created to advance labor's interests in higher wages, better conditions and job security. I say that those who seek to perpetuate a dole economy betray the aspirations of the American labor movement."

"To say that we will beat the Japs, no matter who is president, foolishly and dangerously misstates the issue. We must beat the Japs without delay and unnecessary loss of life—and we can't do that by changing the best commander-in-chief in the world."

Laval Dropped

LONDON (AP)—The Cairo radio said yesterday that Germany had dropped Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of government, and appointed Fernand de Brinon as chief of the French government in Belfort.

De Brinon was Vichy secretary of state in the foreign ministry. (The Swiss newspaper Der Bund reported earlier yesterday that Laval had reached the German island of Mainau in Lake Constance, five miles from the Swiss frontier.)

Captured Officer Says Nazis Have Lost War

Declares Rommel Definitely Alive; Von Kluge Dead

By JOHN F. CHESTER
A BRITISH ARMY HOSPITAL NEAR LONDON (AP)—The latest member of the German general staff in France to be brought to England says that Germany has lost the war.

There were indications that most of the other members of the German staff felt the same way after the breakfast surprise party given them by British-operated German tanks which reached Amiens ahead of schedule.

Lying on a stretcher on the floor of an ambulance which was taking five of us to a hospital ship, Col. Baron von Gleicher said "Our hope is that English and American troops reach Germany before the Russians to assume protective control."

During the four-hour ambulance journey, von Gleicher, until recently commander of a Panzer group, also said:

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel definitely is alive because he had a personal conference with him in a German hospital ten days before von Gleicher himself was wounded and captured at Amiens.

Field Marshal Gunther von Kluge died of a heart attack on a train near Metz after he had been relieved of his command because of the failure and subsequent destruction of his Tenth Army.

A good part of the German general staff in France was having a before-dawn breakfast in Amiens when the British armored column broke in upon them. Von Gleicher did not know the fate of the others, but believed at least one high general was captured.

"We knew the British were coming, but not how fast," he said. "We argued among ourselves as to whether to make an end-of-the-night or a start-of-the-morning departure. We decided on the latter. We made a mistake."

Secretary Hull Brands—

Argentina Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Hull yesterday branded Argentina as headquarters for Fascist movement in this hemisphere and a potential source of infection for the rest of the Americas.

His assertions, made at a news conference, in response to questions, apparently form part of the groundwork for a post-war policy of non-recognition of the present Argentine government. Thus far non-recognition has been based primarily on the wartime attitude toward Argentina as a "deserter" from the allied cause.

Reds Reach Demotika, In Greece; Outflank Warsaw on North

Allied Land Troops Invade Yugoslavia; Held for Junction

LONDON, Friday (AP)—The German radio said last night that Russian troops fanning out across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean sea had reached the area of Demotika, which is inside Greece on the Turkish frontier, while other Soviet forces had outflanked Warsaw on the north by hopping the Narew river at a point only 25 miles below East Prussia.

Moscow's communique did not even mention Bulgaria, which already has asked for an armistice after Russia declared war on her Tuesday, nor did it mention the Yugoslav front where a Rome dispatch said the Russians were flooding into that country after capturing Turnu-Severin at the foot of the Iron Gate rapids on the Danube.

But the Germans in the Balkans, estimated at 260,000 men, were clearly in a dangerous and almost hopeless position. The Yugoslav radio already had announced a junction with Marshal Tito's partisans and the Russians east of Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, and allied headquarters in Rome said allied land troops now were penetrating the country from the Adriatic sea in a drive to link up with the Red army.

The radio "flash" by DNB, German official news agency, quoted "news from a reliable source" that Soviet motorized forces had crossed into Bulgaria Tuesday at Ruse, opposite the Romanian Danube port of Giurgiu.

One Column, DNB said, struck toward Sofia, 156 miles to the southwest, and another headed for the Greek-Mediterranean coast line, reaching the Demotika sector which is 175 miles south of the Danube and only 42 miles from the Aegean sea.

DNB said "No resistance worth mentioning seems to have been put up in Bulgaria," and that the new government there "is said to have reached an agreement for leaving Bulgarian ground to the Soviets without fighting."

An announcement that Bulgaria had declared war against the Nazis came from various sources, and was acknowledged at first by Berlin. But later Berlin said the action was only a break in diplomatic relations.

Since Bulgaria's appeals to Russia for peace have not been answered, she technically was at odds with both the allies and Germany. However, there was no indication that Bulgarian troops actually were fighting anyone.

Nazi Radio Reports 30,000 U. S. Troops In Free China

LONDON (AP)—The Berlin radio broadcast a DNB Shanghai report yesterday that 30,000 American troops are now in free China and "at least three American divisions have taken up positions along the Hengyang front."

The broadcast said the Americans joined Chinese troops deployed on a 50-mile arc east, south and west of Hengyang, where Japanese attacks "are threatening American airfields as well as Chinese positions."

Even on the Adriatic end of the Gothic line, where veterans of the British Eighth army had punched through some of the enemy's strongest positions along a 20-mile front, the Germans hung on grimly. Gains reported there last night were measured in yards.

American troops methodically closed in on the Gothic line defenses between Florence and the Ligurian sea. Their patrols were reported operating near Montsummano, six miles southwest of Pistoia, which was in sight of advancing troops. The city of Pistoia, on the highway between Florence and Pistoia was occupied. Units which captured Lucca, 10 miles northeast of Pisa, pushed well beyond that road center.

Optical Company Charged With Giving Information to Nazis

Military Subcommittee Hears Testimony Against Bausch, Lomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—A detailed story that the Bausch and Lomb optical company of Rochester, N. Y., makers of gunfire control and other war instruments, gave "secret United States military information" to Germans before the war was related yesterday to a senate military subcommittee.

It came from Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, and immediately brought him into a long distance dispute with M. Herbert Eisenhart, president of Bausch and Lomb. Berge testified that under a cartel agreement Bausch and Lomb supplied Carl Zeiss of Jena, big German optical firm, with secret military information "not only before but after Hitler came into power."

In Rochester, Eisenhart replied with a statement saying his company's "contractual relations with Zeiss after the last war were made at the behest of the United States navy which, with the war department, desired to have us obtain the Zeiss technological developments and patent rights on military optical instruments for the United States."

Berge fired back with this statement: "The documents speak for themselves. There is nothing to show that the navy passed upon the transmission of information which Bausch and Lomb in 1933, after Hitler was in power, described as being sent in 'strictest confidence, secret' and 'confidential.'" And, the efforts of Bausch and Lomb not to divulge to the navy that it was earning a commission on a contract for a German Zeiss firm subsidiary in 1932 would not indicate that the navy was passing on the transactions of that period."

Italy Communication Center Falls to Yanks

ROME (AP)—American troops closed in last night on the big communications center of Pistoia and other outposts of the German Gothic line defenses north-west of Florence—still fighting a dogged foe on Italian soil a year after Italy quit the war.

Italy surrendered Sept. 8, 1943, and the following morning American and British troops of the fifth army landed at Salerno and began a toe-to-toe slugging march with the Nazi up the rugged peninsula.

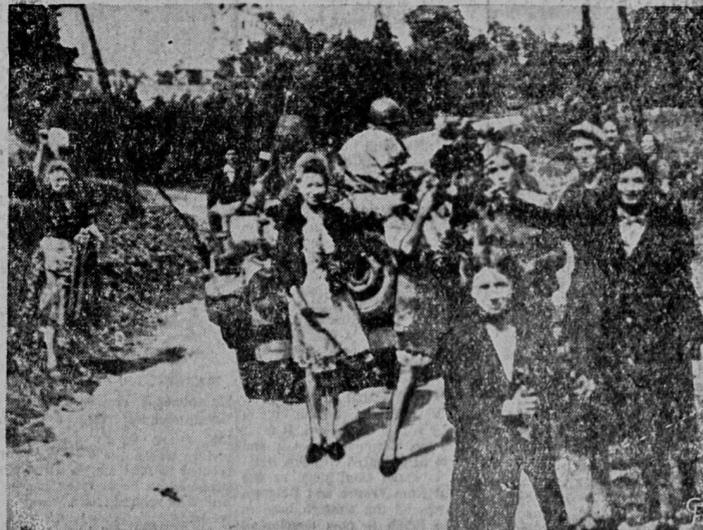

Today Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's veteran Yanks prepared to punch into the best of many defensive lines a resourceful enemy had constructed and lost in this campaign since Italy's capitulation. In the fortified strongholds of the northern Apennine mountains guarding the paths to the Po valley, Germans still fight with savage fury.

Even on the Adriatic end of the Gothic line, where veterans of the British Eighth army had punched through some of the enemy's strongest positions along a 20-mile front, the Germans hung on grimly. Gains reported there last night were measured in yards.

Security Conference Reports to Be Issued In Latin America

May Be First Step In Development Of Regional Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports on the progress of the Dumbarton Oaks security talks have been forwarded to American embassies in the western hemisphere, it was learned yesterday, to be sent on to all the Latin American governments.

This was believed to be the first step to keep the smaller nations informed on British, American and Russian plans for a world agency to keep peace, and it indicates that the three powers' representatives have reached agreement on all the main points.

Many Latin-American diplomats have expressed interest in the regional systems to be operated within the world organization, and have questioned how the pan-American system of consultation and hemisphere solidarity will fit in.

Similar problems arise in other parts of the world, and France has shown especial interest in having a regional group for Europe in which she could play a leading role.

Although the regional problems have received much less attention at Dumbarton Oaks than the general question of how to use force and the overall structure of the organization, it is known that both Britain and the United States included plans for regional groups in the documents they brought to the conference.

These may be both on political and military levels, responsible respectively to the organization's executive council and general staff board.

Polio Cases Number 26

Twenty-six infantile paralysis patients now are receiving treatment at University hospital, according to Robert E. Neff, administrator of General hospital.

John Miller, 14, an Iowa City boy who was stricken with polio Monday, is one of the patients. All are receiving the Kenny treatment.

Eighteen of the victims are in the acute isolation stage, said Neff, and eight are in the convalescent stage. Young Miller is one of 18 in acute isolation. His condition is "satisfactory."

Stimson Predicts— Early Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson believes that Germany has "insufficient strength for the task of prolonged defense" of the Reich.

He expressed this somewhat cautious prediction of early victory at a news conference yesterday in which he said that:

"The great bulk of the German army in western Europe has been destroyed or crippled."

"A great part of the German forces in France are 'bewildered and without much hope.'"

More than 300,000 German prisoners have been taken in France. Stimson attached a cautionary comment.

"German army discipline is holding up and we must still test out the product of the last desperate mobilization efforts of the Nazi government," he said.

Concerning American army casualties, Stimson said the total for the first three weeks of the fighting in France was 42,000, about half as many as had been expected.

Without giving figures, Stimson said that during July and August, when the American forces moved out from the peninsula beachheads into the mainland, casualties were "slightly less than the estimates."

Jap Prisoners Mutiny

LONDON, (Friday) (AP)—Two hundred and thirty one Japanese prisoners of war were killed and 108 wounded in a mutiny in an Australian camp Aug. 5, John Curtin, Australian prime minister, disclosed in a statement issued in London yesterday.

The Japanese, armed with mess knives and baseball bats, rose against their guards in the early hours of Aug. 5. All but a few who escaped were rounded up by nightfall.

Britain Informed—

Robot Ordeal Over

LONDON (AP)—War-worn Britain, after 80 days of punishment from Hitler's blindly destructive robot bombs, was told officially yesterday that the ordeal has ended and that the off-threatened V-2 reprisal assault was not likely to be serious.

"Except possibly for the last few shots, the battle of London is over," declared Lieut. Col. Edwin Duncan Sandys, who was in charge of the defense against the flying bombs.

Yanks Nearly Destroy Jap Sixth Airforce

Nippon Leaders Warn People Of Possible Invasion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared today the Japanese Sixth air division has been "practically annihilated" in its futile defense of western New Guinea.

In his Friday communique the general said Yank Liberators smashed 15 Japanese planes in another strike against Celebes, west of New Guinea, while a night-flying Catalina flying boat carried aerial warfare into a new section of the southern Philippines when it heavily damaged two Nippon naval auxiliary ships of Zimboanga.

As Japan's Emperor Hirohito and his military satellites warned their people yesterday to prepare themselves to meet the growing fury of allied military might, United States Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported Yank aerial strikes against major Nippon bases over a wide Pacific front.

The emperor, in full military attire, appeared before an extraordinary session of the imperial diet.

Premier Koiso warned the nation to consider the possibility of "an enemy landing on our home soil," frankly spoke of impending frequent American air raids on Japan—proper and declared the Nipponese, regardless of age and sex, must throw their all into the war effort.

Nimitz told of aerial attacks to the north, the south and southeast of Japan proper. He said fighter planes of a carrier task group swept in on the Palau islands last Monday to blast grounded aircraft, gun installations, warehouses, shipping and a supply dump.

Striking within 750 miles of Tokyo, other American airmen blasted Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands. Army bombers attacked Marcus island.

Will Master Situation'

LONDON (AP)—Denying as "absurd" a Brussels radio report that Germany had capitulated, DNB declared last night that "foreign news about reported German peace feelers or journeys undertaken by German ministers for that purpose are just as senseless as the reported capitulation."

"Our American allies have thrown themselves into the job of beating the bombs with as much energy and enthusiasm as though New York or Washington had been the victim of the attack."

But the pressure was on all along the 130-mile front of these two American armies bearing down on the Siegfried line. The First army crushed the last enemy resistance in Sedan—where the Germans split French forces in half in 1940 and won the battle of France.

One column of the First army planted its standard across the Moselle river just 16 miles short of the Belgian fortress of Liege, and 37 miles southwest of the German frontier, two miles beyond which lies the Siegfried line city of Aachen.

Southern France Forces Sweep Within 70 Miles Of Belfort Gap

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Friday (AP)—The United States First army struck down the high road to Berlin today, fighting to within 39 miles of the German gateway city of Aachen and plowing through the Ardennes forest against fierce resistance.

Third army comrades on the south battled into Metz—last French fortress standing between them and the Saar border 20 miles away—threw two bridgeheads across the Moselle river but lost a third, their first setback since the Normandy breakthrough.

But the pressure was on all along the 130-mile front of these two American armies bearing down on the Siegfried line. The First army crushed the last enemy resistance in Sedan—where the Germans split French forces in half in 1940 and won the battle of France.

One column of the First army planted its standard across the Moselle river just 16 miles short of the Belgian fortress of Liege, and 37 miles southwest of the German frontier, two miles beyond which lies the Siegfried line city of Aachen.

The bridgehead on the Meuse menacing Liege was established at the town of Huy, midway between the city and Namur, 32 miles southwest of Liege, Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from the front.

More than 100 miles to the southeast, near Font-en-Mousson, about midway between Metz and Nancy, American forces who crossed the Moselle under the muzzles of German artillery in the hills were forced back to the west bank in sanguinary fighting, and the Germans inflicted considerable losses as the battle rose in fury.

The British also ran into rough going in northern Belgium, and their push into the Netherlands was cloaked in secrecy.

British, Canadians and Poles to the south cut off the channel ports of Boulogne and Calais, fought into the outskirts of both and could see the cliffs of England gleaming across the strait.

While the Germans' morale was hard hit, it was not broken, a front dispatch said. The stand is considered an attempt to buy time while the Siegfried line is manned before the allies launch their great blows.

Powerful American armored forces from southern France swept up the Doubs valley east of Chalons-sur-Saone yesterday in a smash that carried within 70 miles of Belfort gap—the lone area along the entire lower German frontier where there are no mountains to protect Hitler's Reich.

(A border dispatch to the Lusanne, Switzerland, Gazette Thursday declared that American tanks had entered Montbelliard, only 10 miles southwest of the fortress city of Belfort and approximately 40 miles from the German frontier. There was no allied confirmation.)

Yesterday's allied communique told of only slight resistance from Nazi rearguards, and it appeared likely that the bulk of German forces in the Rhone valley had distanced their pursuers.

American destroyers shelled the Riviera region between Cape Martin and Monaco with results described as "very good." It is there that the allies are poised within a few miles of the Italian border.

"Germany doesn't think about peace feelers, nor even about peace," the German radio said. "She only believes she will master the situation under all circumstances."

A Kind Word for Uncle Sam—

The following article is taken from a lecture made recently by Bernard M. Baruch.

I should like to say a few kind words about a certain relative of mine—a relative of yours—the one who made me possible—the one who makes you possible—our Uncle Sam. We gaze on him with a sort of toleration and amusement, but he is a pretty sturdy soul. He is always on the side of right—sometimes a little slow getting there, but when he does arrive, he makes himself felt. He is better than we think; he is stronger than we know. Let me state a few of his claims to your respect.

There is a tendency among us to wonder whether he—let us say we—have done all we should have done in the world cataclysm. We search our souls for reassurances.

Perhaps we have not done as well as we should have done, or as we could have done. Nor yet will do. But even so, we do not have to hang our heads. Without us, could the Russians have held? Could the Japanese have been stopped? Could the valiant Chinese have done as well as they have? And what of the magnificent fight of the British? Were we not of help to them? Churchill has proclaimed his debt to us. Even Stalin has admitted the effect upon his battles of the war making power of America. Today the bloody Nazis and the Japs face a defeat that without us could not be.

We are fighting—and helping—not on limited fronts, but on the whole circumference of the globe, and from the North to the South poles. We feed the hungry and we clothe the naked. We build roads, airports, harbors and plants. We supply our allies all over the world with machines of death and supports of life, in food, medicine and shelter.

We are the most powerful nation in the world. Let us not forget that. By keeping it in our mind, we shall not ignore the obligation power carries with it—to use it justly and helpfully. And we shall be a force, perhaps the greatest, when the peace of the world is set.

When the war is over, no country will be able to improve the well-being of its people without our help. Peace will be almost meaningless without betterment of daily existence. In that crisis, Uncle Sam will show himself to be neither profligate nor parsimonious. He will be fair, and that means to himself as well as to others. I have no economic radar to penetrate the future, but we can make it what we will it to be, of that I am sure.

Atabrine Top Malaria Drug—

WASHINGTON (AP)—The control work would not continue to operate effectively. (Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States public health service said recently that malaria experts had estimated there would be a million malaria carriers among returning troops.)

"Malaria has always been present in the United States," McCoy declared, "especially in the southeast, but with few exceptions measures have proved adequate in protecting non-epidemic areas."

"Of course, it appears occasionally in northern states. Only last year there were 53 cases in Johnson City, Ill., and in recent years there have been outbreaks in Iowa, Minnesota, New Jersey and Ohio, all relatively small and quickly controlled."

The medical department rated atabrine in the No. 1 spot for these reasons:

1. In a "high percentage of cases," army doctors said, atabrine will actually cure cases of falciparum malaria, the type which causes most deaths. (A recent report by the National Research Council declared evidence of a curative effect of quinine on this type of malaria is "not conclusive.")

2. In the treatment of the more common type of malaria—benign tertian malaria, which rarely causes death—the army says atabrine "is just as effective and less toxic (poisonous) than quinine."

At the same time Major O. R. McCoy, chief of the tropical disease control division of the surgeon general's office, declared there is little danger of any serious epidemic of malaria in the continental United States traceable to soldiers returned from malarious battlefronts.

Some civilian authorities have indicated the return of malaria victims to the homeland may cause new epidemics or reestablish the disease in areas which have not known it for several generations.

Major McCoy said there was no reason to assume mosquito con-

Reds Push Deeper Into Critical Vistula-Bug Triangle

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The shape of the vast and powerful Russian-allied, nutcracker attack designed to crush Nazi Germany into submission before winter is becoming more clearly defined with every official bulletin although some sectors remain cloaked in secrecy for security reasons.

And the first official hint now comes of simultaneous Russian and allied drives toward a junction in the southeast to lop off the Balkan peninsula as Brittany was sheared away.

In the east, Russian forces capitalizing on gaps cut in the Germany defense front keyed to the Narw river, pushed deeper into the critical Vistula-Bug triangle above the confluence of the two major Polish streams northwest of Warsaw. The curving Bug front is the vital link of the German line defending the Danzig corridor approach to the Baltic or Berlin.

It is a formidable obstacle to Russian deployment into the rolling plains that lead northwestward to German frontiers but is already outflanked by Russian penetration of Nazi lines on the Narw above Serock. Red forces are reported now driving into the narrow Bug-Vistula triangle itself to complete the break-through. It would mean a return to fast maneuver operations in the east over terrain well suited to tanks and even deep raiding to the enemy rear by Russian Cossacks. It must mean, too, German retreat in the east to ill prepared German frontiers to stand final siege as the retreat from France and Belgium has exposed the western borders of the Reich to now developing allied frontal mass attacks.

Official reports confirm the creation by American armies of Moselle and Meuse bridgeheads striking distance of the Nazi "west wall" defense lines although the exact positions of most advanced elements is still a guarded matter for military reasons. There seems no doubt, however, that south of the indicated Moselle front between Metz and Nancy, American and French elements of the Mediterranean invasion army may already have linked arms with American Third Army comrades close to the upper Rhine.

Press reports from allied headquarters in France intimate some disappointment that Third Army supply lines failed to keep pace with forward elements that once stabbed into Germany itself. But in view of the German "west wall" fortifications now to be faced, General Patton is apt to need big, long range guns for the work ahead of him. It takes time to bring them up with their stores of ammunition, but it will save American lives if they are at hand to join allied air power in blasting open the roads to the Rhine and beyond.

It takes time to bring them up with their stores of ammunition, but it will save American lives if they are at hand to join allied air power in blasting open the roads to the Rhine and beyond.

Press reports from allied headquarters in France intimate some disappointment that Third Army supply lines failed to keep pace with forward elements that once stabbed into Germany itself. But in view of the German "west wall" fortifications now to be faced, General Patton is apt to need big, long range guns for the work ahead of him. Paul Mallon Says— UNRRA Is Thumbing Its Nose at Santa Claus

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—No one thumbs his nose at Santa Claus, eh?

You have not heard of UNRRA, the great government agency under ex-governor Lehman, created to feed a world that was supposed to be starving and expected to rehabilitate a world laid waste.

An especially tight censorship, imposed by the army, has prevented the accurate extent of UNRRA's predicament, failure or checkmate from becoming public knowledge. It may be that the army has accumulated great stores of food itself, far beyond any possible needs, and intends to perform itself whatever feeding is found necessary in Europe. Perhaps also Britain is overstocked.

A good Washington authority on the subject has estimated hundreds of millions of pounds of canned goods (meat, fish, fruit, milk, vegetables) in government-owned storage, and says the government does not know what to do with it all. He says the army alone can feed Europe for six months or more.

Maybe the army does not wish the extent of its overbuying to be known, but I suspect the truth is the army does not even itself know exactly what it has because its stores are scattered in so many places around the world under different ownership (transfers of service of titles.)

Certainly it is true both the army and State Secretary Hull have coughed in their sleeves whenever UNRRA is mentioned. They have always appeared to consider it a somewhat political or emotionally-inspired outfit, created by Mr. Roosevelt to satisfy those Wallace devotees who will insist on feeding the world whether or not it is hungry, and feeding it a quart of milk a day even if for generations it has spurned milk.

But no longer can this be entirely concealed. The European governments do not like UNRRA, do not want it, and we do not know or have not begun to know how much starvation there is in Europe or likely to be.

The governments which are beginning to take back their liberated countries want to run their own shows themselves and are telling us so. General De Gaulle, in his statement on the liberation of Paris, first praised the French for having liberated their own country, then, in the next paragraph said the united nations also did great work along that line. The Americans or British were not mentioned by name in the liberation statement.

These people look at themselves first, naturally, and they consider their countries their own, not ours. UNRRA proposed to go in and set up things for them, but it has not gone anywhere yet, and Italy, held now for some months, has been handled by the army and the civilian administration it prepared for that purpose. As matters now stand the army apparently intends to handle the rest of Europe the same way.

Through the censorship enough fragmentary light is developing in the press reports to raise a question whether the line our officials have been dining into us chiefly on the radio for months is even near the right month-feeding track.

Upon landing in Normandy, our troops found no destitution, but eggs, milk and vegetables (even wine) more plentiful than in the England they had just left. Paris reports, since the liberation, uniformly suggest the people look and claim to be in good health.

But this only proves we do not know, and not necessarily that feeding is unnecessary. An adult may live well on a cereal diet, but a check of the Parisian children hospitals might disclose a different result in tuberculosis.

For Italy, the North African wheat supply has been lost by failure of the crop, but thirty farmers in the mountainous regions there are reported to have buried their grain, concealing it from the Nazis during occupation. Indeed, the published reports attribute the Italian food shortage to administrative mismanagement and poor handling by our army people or civilian followers.

Denmark has been reported to have a larger dairy cattle population than before the war, but these reports seem questionable because Denmark relied entirely on imported protein feed from us, and no one can see where she could have received a war supply.

These reports lend some credibility to one inside government story that Mr. Roosevelt suspected this condition and gave Lehman the relief job mainly so he would not be out of work after leaving the governorship of New York.

The Spirit of France—

SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 26 (Delayed)—Expressed in a million little ways, the spirit of the French people is something the average doughboy is never going to forget.

He has watched men of the Maquis hurl themselves again and again into the teeth of heavy German gun positions, taking casualties which otherwise would have been listed on American army records. Every soldier you meet has some new Maquis story to tell—always in tones of respect. But the spirit of the French extends beyond the carrying of guns. Under the Germans, anyone possessing allied flags was immediately killed. Yet the first Americans entering a village always find hundreds of American, British and French flags flying.

The same penalty was exacted for possession of FBI armbands, but underground factories kept turning them out and they are seen everywhere.

The doughboys expected to be greeted gladly in the first villages, but were not prepared for the exuberance which has continued two weeks.

Here the two-fingered "V-for-victory" sign finally has come into its own. It showed up some in Africa and Italy, but not a great deal. Here it is a general signal of allied brotherhood.

Bi-Partisan Support Given Resolution For News Freedom
WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked yesterday to declare itself in favor of international agreements guaranteeing worldwide freedom of news exchange, and enthusiastic support came quickly from both Democrats and Republicans.

Rep. Fulbright (D., Ark.) proposed a resolution which would put the legislators on record as "believing that the unhindered interchange of independent news would promote a better understanding among nations and thus help prevent future wars."

Applauding, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, said, "I am for a free press and a free radio at all times. And I want to do everything I can to make sure that the United States sets a good example."

Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, commented, "I'm for that."

From others came comments indicating the resolution would have widespread bi-partisan backing when brought to the floor. All expressed their views informally in conversations with reporters after the resolution had been offered.

The 100-word resolution reads in part: "Fundamental to our conception of a decent world is the belief that all peoples must be free to select their own form of government and it is self evident that this cannot be done, effectively, in an atmosphere of restricted or distorted news and information," he continued.

Students to Report On Recent Convention

Six St. Patrick's high school students returned to Iowa City this week after attending a six-day conference of the Summer School of Catholic Action held last week at the Morrison hotel, Chicago.

Delegates to the convention were Don Joe Gatens, Virginia Neuzil, Irene Anne Gatens, Patty Droll, Jean Eisenhofer and Annabelle Rogers. The students will give a report of their experiences at the convention today at 11:30 a. m. before the school assembly.

The 3,000 delegates to the convention included students from Catholic high schools and colleges all over the United States.

Professor Meredith To Speak Tomorrow To Child Study Club

The Child Study club will open its 1944-45 program with a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:30 in Hotel Jefferson.

First speaker of the year's program will be Prof. Howard V. Meredith of the child welfare research station. Subject of his discussion will be "The Child's Changing Body."

Over the past several years, Dr. Meredith has had published three monographs and numerous articles relating to physical growth between infancy and adolescence. These studies have been made largely with well children enrolled in the infant and pre-school laboratories of the Iowa child welfare research station here and in Iowa City schools. They have covered a wide variety of factors which may modify the physical growth of individual children.

Tomorrow's meeting will be followed by a series of lectures each month which will cover the aspects of child development ranging from the child's physical growth to the psychopathology of childhood.

Speakers at these meetings will include Dr. M. L. Floyd of the pediatrics department; Ruth Chesmore of Longfellow school; Prof. Paul L. Sayre of the college of law; O. A. White, chief of police; Prof. H. W. Saunders of the sociology department; Dr. Marian Radke, research associate in child welfare, and Dr. J. S. Gottlieb of the psychiatry department.

Browns Tie Yanks by Beating Chisox; Tigers Shave Distance to Single Game

Brownies Rally In Ninth Inning To Win, 5-4

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, ousted from the American league lead Monday after more than three months' occupancy, fought their way back into a tie with the idle New York Yankees last night by rallying for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the White Sox, 5 to 4.

A single with the bases filled by Mike Chartak, outfielder subbing at first base for the slumping George McQuinn, drove home the two tying runs with one out in the ninth and moved Vern Stephens from first to third, from where he scored the winning run on Gene Moore's fly to left fielder Eddie Carnett.

Gordon Maltzberger, ace Chicago reliever, was the loser.

Two of the errors, fumbles by second baseman Don Gutteridge and catcher Frank Mancuso, sent the Sox into a 2-0 lead with the need of only a single by Ralph Hodgins and a stolen base by Wally Moses. A second fumble by Gutteridge, between singles by Hal Trosky and Jim Webb, figured in two more runs and the Sox took a 4-0 lead in the fourth. All scoring was off Denny Galehouse.

While Sam Zoldak and Al Shirley shut out the Chicagoans the rest of the way, the Browns closed in on Gutteridge's seventh inning triple, which drove in Zoldak, who singled, and then scored on Zarilla's fly, and then hammered home their sixth victory in 19 games in the ninth.

TO PITCH FINAL HOME GAME

ED WEILAND, former White Sox pitcher, will seek to preserve the Seabawks' perfect home record when he faces the Adel semi-pro team here tomorrow. The Seabawks will be after their 30th victory.

Baseball Seabawks Will Wind Up Season

Pre-Flights to Meet Adel Here Saturday, Ft. Madison Sunday

Playing their last two games of the season this weekend, the Iowa Seabawk baseball team will be striving to keep intact a perfect home season as well as to chalk up victory No. 30 for the year.

Hurling for the Seabawks Saturday will be Ed Weiland, former White Sox pitcher, who will take the mound against Adel. Cadet Bill McIntyre will get the pitching assignment against the prison nine from Ft. Madison penitentiary Sunday.

Weiland, who has nine victories and only one defeat on his record, will be trying to make up for a defeat the club suffered at the hands of the same team a week ago.

Although he only arrived a week ago, McIntyre, a left-hander from Detroit's Federation league, got a chance to play in last Saturday's contest, at which time he struck out four while yielding nine hits to his opponents.

With the Seabawks' No. 2 hitter, Charley Heck, departing on leave this week, the Seabawks will start Jay Cummins, a reserve infielder most of the season, in Heck's position.

The batting order will be changed considerably with George Rutenbar probably moving up to the second position, and Cummins fitting down close to the bottom. The probable batting order, with batting averages, will be: Don Yohe, ss (.309); George Rutenbar, cf (.338); Ned Harris, lf (.370); Bill Baker, c (.295); John Cameron, 1b (.125); Steve Horvath, 2b (.222); Simon, rf (.300); Cummins, 3b (.667); Weiland, p (.282); McIntyre, p (.500).

Capt. Ken Pettit Critically Injured

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Pettit of Logan that their son, Capt. Ken Pettit, has been injured critically. He is suffering from a lacerated right shoulder at the Norfolk, Va., hospital.

Captain Pettit was a member of the 1939 Ironmen squad at the University of Iowa. A pilot in the marine corps, he was serving as a flight instructor at the Edenton, N. C., base. He recently returned from 18 months of transport duty in the Pacific war area.

Unknown Reward, a 10 to 1 outsider owned by the Donna Ray stable, got up in the final stride to win the Natusk purse at Narragansett by a neck over Joan Beattie's White Hope.

Cards Rally For 3-2 Win Over Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A ninth inning error and a wild pitch gave the St. Louis Cardinals their 14th straight victory over the Chicago Cubs as the league leaders defeated the Bruins 3 to 2 last night.

Marty Marion, who had walked, was on third with two out when Don Johnson fumbled Augie Bergamo's grounder. Marion came in with the tying score. Johnny Hopp singled and Bergamo went to third, scoring the winning run on Bob Chipman's wild pitch.

Phil Cavarretta gave the Cubs a one-run lead in the sixth when he hit a homer to score behind Stan Hack.

Knights of Columbus Plan Golf Playoff

By Sunday afternoon four members of the Knights of Columbus will play off a final and semi-final game in their golf tournament at the Fairview golf course.

Bud Ehrlich will compete with Charlie Vedepo in the final game and Bruce Vedepo will be matched against Joe Glenn, who is chairman of the tournament committee, in the semi-final game. The winners of the two games will play for the championship sometime within the next three weeks.

So far the Knights of Columbus are sure of only one thing in this tournament. "Buzz" Graham will be awarded the medalist trophy.

Steve O'Neill Says Tigers May Win Flag

Hopes Cool Weather, Plenty of Rest Time To Help Detroit Nine

DETROIT (AP)—Steve O'Neill, soft-spoken manager of the spirit-driven Detroit Tigers, can offer up a heart-felt "thank you" to both the weather man and the schedulomarkers if the 1944 Bengals squeeze through to the American league pennant.

Assists from both have placed the Tigers in a position O'Neill termed yesterday as providing "a great chance" for the flag.

Washouts and postponements have been amazingly negligible for the Tigers at home this year, only two games at Briggs stadium having been postponed and only one—a tie game with Boston—remaining to be played.

As a result Detroit, only a short hop from the league lead, is favored by seven days of idleness out of the next 11 before opening its 14-game windup home stand against the eastern clubs.

"Rest is the big thing we need now," O'Neill said yesterday as the club remained for four games with Cleveland after grabbing six of eight from St. Louis and Chicago.

Hal Newhouser and Paul (Dizzy) Trout, the league's two top win-producing pitchers, have been working approximately every third day, either as starters or in relief, to grab 17 wins against three losses since Aug. 1 while the club was winning 24 of 34—a .706 clip.

"Cooler September weather, plus the additional rest, should keep them in shape to go the rest of the way with only two days between assignments," O'Neill said.

The Tiger pilot had nothing but praise for the 39-year-old Roger "Doc" Cramer, who discarded his "bottle" bat and smacked out a .528 hitting mark in the last eight games on the road.

Detroit plays 18 of its last 22 games at home, winding up with four against Washington which has taken only three of 18 from the Tigers this year.

While the Bengals are busy against the lowly Senators and Philadelphia Athletics, St. Louis winds up with seven "crucial" contests against Boston and New York.

"The pennant might well hinge on that last week," O'Neill predicted. "We've got a great chance."

Giants Wallop Braves
NEW YORK (AP)—Mel Ott's 26th home run with two aboard, and Ernie Lombardi's ninth with one on made it easy for Bill Voiselle to hand up his 19th victory yesterday as the New York Giants walloped the Boston Braves 9 to 3 in the final night game of the season at the polo grounds.

Detroit Beats Cleveland 3 to 0

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, making hay behind Paul (Dizzy) Trout's three-hit pitching, whitewashed the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 0, here yesterday to shave their distance back to the American league leading New York Yankees to a single game.

Trout had the Indians on his hip all afternoon in recording his sixth shutout this year and his 24th pitching victory against 10 defeats. He fanned Lou Boudreau and Roy Cullenbine for the last two putouts in the ninth, striking out five over the distance and walking three.

The St. Louis Browns, in second place a half step ahead of the Tigers, deadlocked the Yanks for first by beating Chicago tonight.

Tuning Up—Giant Gridders

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y. (AP)—If the game of football was played without a backfield and there was no need for reserves, Coach Steve Owen could sit back and feel quite content over the prospects of his New York Giants in the National football league this season.

But since a backfield is a very important part of the sport and the pro game calls for capable second stringers, stout Steve has his job cut out for him before the Giants open their 10-game league schedule against the Yanks at Boston Oct. 8.

Sixteen of the 43 men in camp were with the club last year while the rookies include many who never have played college ball.

"But this looks like a better crop of rookies than we had last year," said Steve as he snapped the squad through a scrimmage only four days after landing in camp.

Steve can field an all-veteran line consisting of O'Neale Adams and Frank Liebel at ends, Frank Cope and Vic Carroll at tackles, Charley Avedisian and Leh Younte at guards and Bill Piccolo at center. Back of them Steve has Sparky Adams, a veteran defensive end; Emmett Barret, a bespectacled center; Sol Marone and Larry Viscio, guards and Frank Umont, a hefty tackle.

But when it comes to the backfield, Owen can count the veterans on one hand. Heading the list is Leland Shaffer, the blocker who has been with the club 10 years; Karl Kinscherf, a second-year man; Joe Sulaitis, either an end or halfback and Hubeth Barker, playing his third year with the Giants.

Arnold Herber is on hand after 11 years with the Green Bay Packers and two years' absence from competition, but at 34 he'll be used strictly as a spot player.

Among the promising looking rookies are Keith Beebe, a divinity student at Princeton seminary; Howard Livingston, who has played sand lot ball since leaving Fullerton, Calif., high school; Roy Clay, of the Colorado Aggies, who was in the Giants' 1943 draft; Herbert Kane from East Central in Oklahoma and Elwood Hudson, a triple threat man from Georgia military academy.

Owen will have a chance to get a better line on his men in a four-game exhibition schedule that includes the Sampson naval base Sept. 13; the Chicago Bears at Buffalo, Sept. 17; the Lions at Detroit Sept. 23 and the Cards-Pitt at Pittsburgh, Oct. 1.

Washington Defeats City High in Practice

Little Hawks Weak In Line, Backfield Defense, Lose 12-0

A surprisingly strong Washington high eleven pounded out a 12 to 0 scrimmage victory over the City High Little Hawks last night at Schrader field.

Washington scored shortly after the first quarter and again in the third, both touchdowns coming on line plunges after they had been set up on pass plays.

The Little Hawks were apparently defensively weak in the line and the backfield. The Demons repeatedly opened large holes in the center of the City high line, which their backs made good use of for long gains.

The game was featured by poor kicking and fumbles by both teams. Fumbles, along with poor timing and weak blocking were largely responsible for the Little Hawks defeat. As the game went on, it will give Coach Schwank some time to correct the teams' faults before their opener Sept. 15 at Moline.

Tom Hirt and Ruben Snider were outstanding in the line for the Little Hawks, while Lacina and Dean Housel, who was subbing at left half in place of Bob Krall, who is injured, sparked the backfield attack.

Both teams substituted freely in an attempt to find the right scoring punch, but the right combination for the Little Hawks was definitely lacking. Jim Sangster, handling the passing for the Hawks did a fairly good job, although at times it was spotty. A long run of 45 yards in the last quarter by Dean Housel was the feature of the game.

Coach Schwank expressed his disappointment at the poor showing of the Little Hawks made, and said, "There will definitely be some improvements made."

The starting lineups for the game follow:

Washington
Charles Minick, LE
John Gamble, LT
Bill Peters, LG
Pete Cook, RG
Herman Doran, C
Warren Dare, RE

Bowers Rides Four Winners

NEW YORK (AP)—Apprentice jockey Leonard Bowers, who rode four winners on each of the opening two days of the meeting, did it again at Laurel racetrack yesterday.

The four winners, which boosted Bowers' number to 12 in four days, were Fair Ann $3.10 in the second race; Winsome Lad $12.80 in the third; Simling Lass $3.90 in the fifth and Ally Bal $6.10 in the sixth and featured race.

Ally Bal, owned by H. G. Bedwell, took a long lead at the start and staved off a closing rush by Howard Bruce's Jay Jay to win by three quarters of a length. A. C. Bostwick's Chief Mate was third. Ally Bal ran the six furlongs in 1:14 over a muddy track and paid $6.10.

Isidore Bieber's Ahmsk, well handled by jockey George Walker, won the Harbor Hill steeplechase handicap at Aqueduct by half a length over Mrs. Esther Dupont Weir's Burma Road. Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Invader was third.

Ahmsk, rated third for a mile and a half, closed fast at the end. He ran the two miles over 13 jumps in 3:50 4/5 to win $4,025 in purse money. He paid $9.70 for each $2 win ticket in the mutuels.

Get Down to Business—Illinois Gridders Drill

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Following ten days of drills in which chief attention has been given to fundamentals and conditioning, the 1944 University of Illinois football squad has turned to some serious preparation for the season's opener against Illinois Normal Sept. 16 in Memorial stadium.

Since fall drills began Aug. 28, Head Coach Ray Eliot has been sifting a group of approximately 85 candidates, giving the youngsters a chance at various spots and preparing them physically for the rigors of western conference football.

Now there'll be some all-out competition to select a starting lineup and to pick reserves for the Orange and Blue's first test against Normal's predominantly navy team.

The Illinois backfield will be small, as it was last season, but should make up for lack of power with speed. Don Greenwood, Chicago senior, stacks up as the No. 1 quarterback, with Bill Butkovich, St. David, and Clyde Perkins, St. Clair Shores, Mich., both sophomore lettermen, and Don Luke-tich, Roxana freshman, as probable reserves.

Candidates for left halfback include Eddie Bray, The Pony Express from Utica, Ed Jacobs, Chicago sophomore, John Martin, Champaign, and Billy Dickinson, Decatur, both freshmen. At right half, Claude "Buddy" Young, Chicago, Paul Patterson, Aurora, and Don Johnson, Chicago, are battling with Eddie McGovern, Terre Haute, Ind., letter winner last season, for the starting role.

Three freshmen are competing for the fullback spot, Stanley Sprague, V-12 trainee from Belleville, Ill., Jerry Cies, Carlinville, Ill., and Fred Green, Champaign.

The Illinois line should be improved over that of 1943. At the wing positions John Orr, Taylorville, Louis Agase, Evanston, Sam Zatkoff, Hamtramck, Mich., Bob Bachman, Buchanan, Mich., and Hendry Bennett, Harvey, are the chief contenders.

L. A. Bingaman, Gary, Ind., Chuck Smith, Elgin, Don Janssen, Taylorville, Les Joop, Peru, Walter Versen, East St. Louis, and Floyd Herzog, Forest Park, lead the tackle candidates. Joop won a letter last season, Herzog is a 1942 freshman numeral winner, but the rest, like the end candidates, are first-year men.

Larry Forst, Chicago, and Ralph Serpico, Maywood, both 1943 letter winners, are getting some stiff competition for guard positions from Art and Bob Demeter, Whiting, Ind., Frank Hurte, Taylorville, and Rudy Macchione, Elmwood Park.

George Bujan, junior letterman from Christopher, looms as Eliot's first-string center. Bujan played fullback last year, but was converted during spring practice. Emil Tomahek, Cicero, John McCormack, Chicago,

Prof. C. C. Wylie Quoted in Last Post

Prof. C. C. Wylie of the astronomy department is quoted in the Sept. 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. In connection with an article entitled, "When the Comet Struck," Professor Wylie is said to believe the Caroline bays were a result of an ancient meteor. C. Wylie Cooke, a member of the United States geological survey is quoted as saying he believes the bays are a result of geological formations.

Professor Wylie said the article, which was written by H. R. Sass, is misleading in that he does not claim to have enough information to pass a definite opinion on the subject.

Veterans on Campus Welcomed by Legion

The American Legion is eager to extend membership to campus veterans enrolled in the university, according to Commander Frank Lee. There are approximately 60 men now enrolled who would be eligible for membership, including 40 students enrolled at present under the GI bill of rights, and about 20 under the vocational rehabilitation program.

Commander Lee said he believed some of the veterans hold membership in other posts but the local post would be glad to have them attend meetings and use Legion facilities.

The first fall meeting is scheduled for Monday. The post meets the second and fourth Monday of each month.

Keepsakes of 1859 Sold at Morrison Auction Thursday

Glimpses of Iowa City's initial history were disclosed yesterday at the auction of household goods from the estate of Cora B. Morrison who died here Aug. 9.

A native of Iowa City, Miss Morrison made her home at 325 E. College street, with all the furniture, silver, china and keepsakes of the old Morrison family which settled here in 1859. Most of the stories and histories of the antiques died with her. They are all over 75 years old.

At the bark of the auctioneer, Haviland china, which might have come with the Morrisons from Baltimore to Burlington or from Burlington to Iowa City, sold at ten cents.

Much of the massive hand carved furniture was sold. A hand carved 18th century ebony living room suite was kept by the family. It contains a mirror extending from the ceiling to the floor set on an inlaid marble base.

For all the highboys, desks, bureaux, drawers and 17 trunks, Miss Morrison had saved at least one key. Many of the trunks had been used by Miss Morrison in her continental and European travels. A dollar bought the large brown, tooled leather trunk while the century-old one of English vintage was overlooked.

Churches to Observe Religious Orientation Day Sunday

In cooperation with the university orientation program, Iowa City churches are observing religious orientation day Sunday, when all churches will begin their full schedule of student activities.

By agreement in the ministerial association, the ministers are using the same morning sermon subject, "Religion Is Not an Elective." Announcement of this day was included in information sent out to students by the university in advance of registration.

All students are urged to attend the churches of their choice both Sunday morning and evening.

Professor Publishes Concert Arrangements

A Minneapolis publishing firm has announced the release of two new concert band arrangements by Prof. C. B. Righter, director of University bands. The titles of the new publications are "Canzonetta del Salvador Rosa" by Liszt and "Fughetta" by Sir John Stainer.

The new arrangements were given their first public performance Sept. 1 before the Minnesota Bandmasters conference under the direction of Dan Martino, acting director of the University of Minnesota bands.

A New York music publisher will release two other arrangements by Professor Righter in the near future.

Bishop Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., 79, whose long career in ecclesiastical and temperance work and brief excursion into the political arena earned him national attention, died Tuesday.

The Methodist clergyman, in Chicago to attend a meeting of the Anti-Saloon league, succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage in Wesley Memorial hospital.

White also imposed a $1 fine on Jean McCoy of Currier hall for parking on the wrong side of the street.

Fire Destroys 20,000 Feet Of Lumber

Serious work stoppage on essential Johnson county farm constructions will result from the destruction of the Virgil Bowers sawmill yesterday morning when fire swept the county's largest sawmill at Coralville.

Damages amounting to $6,000 and destroying 20,000 feet of lumber resulted from the fire of undetermined origin. It started at about 4:30 a.m. yesterday.

"The sawmill will be in operation within two weeks or a month, when further construction on vital Johnson county farm buildings may be continued," Bowers said.

Bowers held $2,500 fire insurance on the buildings, and he plans to begin repairs at once so the mill may get into operation as soon as possible.

In addition to the lumber destroyed, one tractor with four new tires, a power unit, a new furnace and sawing and planning equipment were demolished.

Bowers awakened to see flames completely engulfing the sawmill buildings. The mill had been in operation Wednesday and it was planned to continue work yesterday. The tar paper-covered building was 38 by 74 feet.

The blaze was extinguished by the Coralville fire department which answered the alarm shortly after 4:30 a.m.

Last year's lumber output at the Bower sawmill reached 335,000 board feet, when work was done for the LaPlante Choate company of Cedar Rapids. The mill has been in operation for 14 years and over two million feet of lumber have been turned out in that time.

High School Coaches Outline Grid Season To Rotary Members

"We are getting away from the idea that football is 'push and tug,'" Coach Wally Schwank of City high school told Rotary club members at their noon meeting yesterday at Hotel Jefferson. "Now the winning team must be more intelligent than its foe."

Coach Ross Wedemeyer of University high school and Coach Schwank, who spoke on "High School Football for 1944," outlined their programs for the fall season and named their game schedules which total seven competitions for University high and nine for the Little Hawks.

Chuck Uknes Helping

Chuck Uknes, former Hawkeye griddier, and Albert Hensleigh, principal of Horace Mann school, are helping with coaching at City high, according to Coach Schwank. Hensleigh works with freshman and sophomore members of the squad of 95.

Dope sheets distributed to every boy in the squad before each game were explained by Coach Schwank. "Thinking about football only during the practices from 3:30 to 6:30 o'clock is not enough," he stated. "He will think football from the material you give him."

Dope sheets are personal. They include names and numbers and tell about a particular man on the opponent's team. Offense, defense and various plays are stressed, along with a written pep talk.

Saved Dope Sheets

Don Winslow, former Little Hawk player who is now a line-man on Coach "Slip" Madigan's squad, saved all his dope sheets, according to his high school coach. Each squad member keeps a notebook which includes training rules and diagrams of plays which have been dictated by the coach or presented in chalk talks. To earn a letter this notebook must be completed.

"Football can train a boy and give him something he won't find any place else," Coach Schwank said. "He must have the spirit and the drive for the coordination of his mind and muscles."

Coach Wedemeyer told Rotarians that he has 10 lettermen returning, six of whom have played just enough to earn their letters.

Among the younger boys out for football at University high are Edward P. Madigan Jr., son of Coach "Slip" Madigan of the Iowa Hawkeyes, and Nick Anderson, son of Dr. Eddie Anderson, former football coach at the university.

U High Notebooks

Gridders at University high also keep notebooks recording defensive and offensive tactics and plays.

"Football has a real contribution to make to all boys in the school," according to Coach Wedemeyer. He told how varsity team members as well as other boys in school are enrolled in physical education classes where several teams of touch football have been organized.

Coach Wedemeyer, a native Iowan, is a graduate of Colorado State Teachers college at Greeley and taught in Artesia, N. M. This is his second year as coach at University high.

After attending high school in Davenport, Coach Schwank received his B. A. from Coe college

This is the first year a softball club has been organized.

Lieut. R. E. Huffman Tells Story of D-Day Landings in France

D-day, next to Dec. 7, 1941, the most historical day in the history of World War II, had almost as many stories of courage, tragedy, narrow escapes and miraculous achievements as there are war-hardened, determined American soldiers on foreign shores.

Lieut. Robert E. Huffman, a former Iowa City aircraft engineer, had one story to tell which gave a particularly vivid picture of the stamina of the allied soldiers.

Lieutenant Huffman's story is one of exploding mines, oil bombs, gun fire and finally the sinking of a ship in order to land in France on June 6. Lieutenant Huffman was one of the U. S. N. R. beachmasters in Normandy who directed the beaching of hundreds of United States heavy landing craft during the French invasion.

In command of a number of officers and men, Lieutenant Huffman went to France aboard a landing craft on a trip, which he said was "one of the longest short cruises" he has ever made.

"When we started toward the beach, Lieutenant Huffman recalled, 'we thought it was a cinch. No one was firing at us and we thought until almost the last minute that we would make it without an accident.'

"But then hell broke loose. Our ship hit a mine and a few seconds later the Germans opened up with everything from oil bombs to machine gun bullets."

The enemy fire was so terrific that the ship was soon pounded to pieces and forced Lieutenant Huffman and his men either to swim for shore or board small rafts and boats.

"Somehow," he continued, "all but one of my party got ashore, although several were slightly wounded. Another amazing thing was getting our equipment ashore. We still don't know how we did it."

Working under heavy and continuous fire the party succeeded in getting much of their valuable radio and signal equipment in operation by the afternoon of D-day. Virtually all of it was in operation by the evening of the day following.

Prior to his entrance into the navy, Lieutenant Huffman was an aircraft engineer at the Lockheed-Vega Aircraft company at Burbank, Calif. He and his wife, Mrs. Marion Huffman, live at 1030 Muscatine avenue in Iowa City.

University Student Hit By Lieutenant's Car

Jean Ronk, A3 of Oklahoma City, Okla., suffered superficial abrasions and severe bruises when she was hit late yesterday afternoon by a car driven by Lieut. (j.g.) John R. Kircheis, 904 E. Fairchild street.

Miss Ronk was crossing the street at Clinton and Burlington streets when she stepped from behind a moving car directly into the path of Lieutenant Kircheis' car. He said he was traveling at a rate of approximately five miles an hour at the time of the accident.

Informal Rushing

Everyone interested in informal rushing throughout the year should register with Margaret Phillips, Panhellenic adviser. Persons who did not go through formal rush week must pay a $2 fee when registering. Those who went through rush week this fall are not required to pay this fee again, but are requested to register.

Miss Phillips will be in her office in the basement of Old Capitol from 9 a. m. to 12 M. and from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday with the exception of from 2 to 3 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. She will also be there Saturday mornings.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Olin Hauth, chairman; Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, Mrs. Rose Wombacher, Mrs. Margaret Dostal and Mrs. Genevieve Tesar.

M. J. Glaser Receives Commendation For Part in Saving Strategic Supplies

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Glaser, 516 Bowery street, have received word of the official commendation awarded their son, M. J. Glaser, seaman second class, for his part in saving strategic supplies from destruction by fire at the business house of the Yow Brake Service company of Oklahoma City, Okla. The commendation was given for "prompt response in an emergency, over and above the call of official duty."

Seaman Glaser entered the navy in October, 1943, and received his boot training in Farragut, Idaho. He was assigned to active duty after completing a special course at Norman, Okla.

Lieut. Merlin Armbruster, son of Prof. and Mrs. D. A. Armbruster, 331 Melrose court, reported Sept. 1 to Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., where he is attending the adjutant general's school. He was previously stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Lieutenant Armbruster was graduated from the college of engineering at the University of Iowa in 1941. His wife, Dorothy Denham Armbruster, a 1941 graduate from the college of liberal arts, and their two children are with him at Ft. Sam Houston.

Lieut. Col. Ralph Houser, who has been hospitalized in the Hawaiian islands since July 23 because of injuries received on Guam, writes to his parents, Prof. and Mrs. G. L. Houser, 430 Iowa avenue, that he expects to return to his outfit soon. Colonel Houser has been serving with the Third battalion of the marine corps.

Professor and Mrs. Houser have also received word from another son, Mark, who is an engineer's mate with a submarine crew, that he is now at a rest base in the Pacific.

The Bronze Star has been awarded posthumously to Capt. Paul R. Carrigg of Iowa City, whose wife, Mrs. Phyllis Carrigg, lives at 122 Lowell street. The medal was in commendation of "meritorious achievement in action while serving with an engineer battalion on the Fifth army front in Italy."

Recently arrived in Hawaii to serve the armed forces as a Red Cross assistant field director is Justie E. Gist, 1942 graduate from the college of commerce at the University of Iowa. Gist was located in Chicago as superintendent and manager of the Sunshine Laundry company before his Red Cross appointment. He was formerly of Lake City.

Another University of Iowa student, Pvt. Carol Clark, has joined the women's army corps and is receiving her basic training at Camp Ogletheorpe, Ga. Private Clark, who completed her sophomore year in the college of liberal arts at the University of Iowa in the spring of this year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Clark of Wheaton, Ill.

Word has been received of the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to former University of Iowa engineering student Capt. Leonard K. Carson of Denver, Col., now attached to the Eighth fighter command in England.

The young P-51 Mustang pilot, a veteran at 21, was one of a group of 30 flyers in Col. Donald W. Graham's high-scoring group who received this honor.

The former University of Iowa student has destroyed five Nazi planes to become a leading pilot in Colonel Graham's group which destroyed 22 1/2 enemy aircraft in less than four months.

'Fraternity Girls' Dine in Iowa Union

Calling all female Phi Deltas, Betas and Sigma Nus! Faced with the problem of having to eat meals away from their houses, these university women have decided to combine food and fun at Iowa Union each noon.

They will meet on the sun porch and will be seated at long tables in mixed groups. Plans are also being made for other social activities among these girls who are now quartered in fraternity houses.

Corp. Jessie Castle To Recruit WACs

Corp. Jessie Castle, women's army corps, arrived in Iowa City yesterday afternoon. She will assist Lieut. Barbara Carmichael in the WAC recruiting office at the Iowa City postoffice.

Corporal Castle, who is from Lawrence, Mass., enlisted in the WAC in April, 1943. Before coming here she was stationed at Camp Hale, Col.

A. S. T. P. Companies Will Hold Formal Regimental Dance

The regimental dance of companies A and B, composed of army dentistry, engineering and pre-medical students, will take place Friday, Sept. 15, from 8:30 p. m. to 12 M. in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Matury Bruckmann and his orchestra of Davenport will play for the formal affair.

In charge of the event is Pfc. Bob Bickford, medic. Assisting him will be Pfc. Bill Buss, medic; Clinton P. Davis and Bruce Brammer, dentistry; and Joseph F. Cuba and Sam Gomelinsky, engineers.

Chaperones will be Col. T. W. Wrenn, Col. and Mrs. Douglas McEnery, Capt. and Mrs. Carl Christofferson, Lieut. Irving L. Smith and Lieut. Bernard Aginsky. No formal invitations have been issued, but the faculty is cordially invited to attend.

Included in the program will be a magician's act by Private Bickford. Guests will be presented with corsages.

Battalion 6C to Hold Graduation Formal

Battalion 6C of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school will hold its formal graduation dance tomorrow night from 8:30 to 11:30 in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The committee in charge includes Cadet J. R. McCullough, chairman; Cadet D. J. Carthew, Cadet F. E. Corcoran, Cadet F. J. Heis, Cadet H. S. Jefferson, Cadet R. M. Pattison, Cadet N. D. Puffer and Cadet J. W. Royer.

Chaperons for the affair will be Lieut. and Mrs. C. W. Stoddard Jr., Lieut. and Mrs. C. J. Clinker and Lieut. (j.g.) and Mrs. E. V. Topping.

Guests of Seashores

Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Cutler are guests this week at the home of Dean Carl E. Seashore. Lieutenant Cutler is on his way overseas on an assignment from the navy. Mrs. Cutler, the former End Ellison and a University of Iowa graduate, has enrolled in the graduate college as an art student.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
