U.S. Aircraft Destroy Entire Japanese Convoy

Enemy Loses 90 Ships

68 Nip Planes Downed in Raids On Five Airfields

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—In a shattering sea-borne action against the Philippines, first of the war by the allies, a United States carrier force destroyed an entire enemy convoy of 92 vessels, blasted five airfields and wiped out 68 Japanese planes in widespread raids against Mindanao last Friday.

The blazing action marked an advance of approximately 500 miles beyond the westernmost previously reported positions of carrier-based aircraft, and was coupled with new heavy attacks on Paramushiro and the Volcano islands far to the north.

The overall total of ships sunk, probably sunk, damaged and set afire as announced in the navy's communique was 90. Many were small cargo ships and sampans.

The American force which swept into the heart of Japan's southwest Pacific holdings was part of the Third United States fleet, commanded by Admiral William S. Halsey Jr., and its attack on Mindanao was a crowning blow in wide-spread actions which for the last few days have struck at Yap and Palau islands to the east of the Philippines.

Barracks, warehouses and hangars were hit at the several air-dromes attacked. Enemy waterfront installations at Matina, Cagayan and Surigao were also bombed, the announcement said.

The hard-hitting units of the Third fleet found enemy shipping in other vulnerable spots and opened up. In attacks in Saragani bay, Davao gulf, near Surigao, 16 small ships, one medium cargo vessel, one patrol craft and many sampans were sunk or probably sunk. They set fire to two small cargo ships and at least 17 sampans.

"Our aircraft losses in the operations were very light," said the communique. "There was no damage to our surface ships."

Attacks on the Palau islands continued the next day, Saturday (United States time), with more than 80 tons of bombs falling there. Numerous rockets were fired also by carrier aircraft. Targets included anti-aircraft emplacements and other defense installations on Anguar, Peleiu and Koror islands in the Palau group.

The Mindanao raids covered most of the enemy's known positions on that southernmost of the Philippine islands.

Heavy bombers of the 11th air force bombed Paramushiro island in the Kuriles Saturday and Sunday, and runways and air facilities at two Jima and the Volcano islands were hit with 37 tons of bombs by Seventh air force Liberators the same day.

During the same exploding weekend of navy action, Ponape in the Carolines, Pagan and Rota in the Marianas and positions in the by-passed Marshalls were hit by wide-ranging land-based bombers and fighters.

All were in the pattern of softening up Japanese bastions guarding entrances to the Philippines.

Several of the Philippine bases hit by the navy previously have been bombed by land planes from the southwest Pacific—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command—where a lull has developed in the last few days, judging from MacArthur's communique.

Allied Planes Destroy 175 Nazi Aircraft

Battle Termed 'One Of Greatest Ever Fought Over Europe'

LONDON, Tuesday (AP)—United States Eighth air force fighters and heavy bombers trapped and beat the German air force yesterday, destroying 175 Nazi planes in one of the fiercest air battles ever fought over Europe.

It was the heaviest Luftwaffe loss in more than a year and one which dug deeply into the air reserves which the enemy has been carefully holding back until now for the final battle of Germany.

Of the Germans destroyed, American fighters shot down 116, the greatest number ever shot down by fighters alone in a single day, while the heavy bombers knocked down another 17 and 42 were destroyed on their airfields.

Indicating the extent of the opposition, 48 of the American heavy bombers and 29 fighters failed to return.

Early today the Germany radio said "enemy" planes were again over vast sections of the Reich, indicating that the non-stop allied air offensive was continuing in its fifth day.

"Without a question it was the greatest number of enemy planes ever shot down in combat by our fighters," supreme headquarters reported.

Intelligence officers, anticipating that the Luftwaffe would come out from its four months hiding, sent with the bombers the heaviest fighter escort of any time since July. There were more than 800 Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs on hand. For more than two hours fierce combats raged.

It was the fourth consecutive day in which 1,000 or more American bombers attacked Germany.

Yanks Hit Gothic Line, Approach Bologna

ROME (AP)—American troops, advancing swiftly north and northwest of Florence while the Germans were engaged in bloody, inconclusive fighting with the British Eighth army near Rimini on the Adriatic, have come squarely against the enemy's main Gothic line defenses, allied headquarters announced last night.

One Yank spearhead, stabbing almost due north from Florence, reached Usella, within 35 miles of the industrial metropolis of Bologna in the Po valley. Others of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces farther west cleared out the city of Prato and Pistoia and seized important high ground northeast of Pistoia.

Dewey Lashes Out At 'Incompetence' Of Administration

Alleges New Deal Failure to Cope With Farm Problems

DES MOINES (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey lashed out at what he called the Roosevelt administration's "incompetent" preparations for war and peace yesterday in the most caustic campaign attack he has made thus far on his fourth term-seeking opponent.

The Republican presidential nominee, arriving in the corn belt for a series of conferences with farm and political leaders, declared the present administration has failed to show itself able to cope with agricultural and industrial reconversion problems.

He also accused the new deal of having done "absolutely nothing" to prepare this country for war. Commenting at a news conference on Wendell L. Willkie's veiv, set forth in a current magazine article, that this country must yield some of its sovereignty to achieve collective world security, Dewey characterized the argument as a "Shibboleth."

Dewey disclosed that he had prepared a speech on farm problems but would not deliver it on the current trip, which takes him to the Pacific coast for four more major addresses there and one in Oklahoma City.

Declaring it is "absolutely imperative" that a good job be done for the farmers, he said "that's another reason why I am so profoundly convinced we need a change of government."

The nominee, who came here after an overnight stay at his boyhood home in Owosso, Mich., described the reconversion plan submitted to the president Saturday by war mobilization Director James F. Byrnes as "seven and a half months late."

Deemer Lee, publisher of the Estherville, Iowa, Daily News, asked Dewey if he thought Mr. Roosevelt should take an "ex-officio position in your cabinet," in view of the Democratic argument that his experience will be needed in solving the peac.

The New York governor grinned broadly and said: "I am not indulging in cabinet making at this time."

Dewey, met here by a brass band and a crowd estimated by the state highway patrol at 4,000, was driven in an open car through downtown streets to his hotel headquarters, where he conferred with leaders of labor, veterans', agriculture and business groups.

He was welcomed by Gov. Burke B. Hickenlooper, who boarded his special train at Ames, 30 miles away, and assured him this state would go Republican by the biggest majority in years. Willkie carried Iowa four years ago by more than 50,000.

Special Delivery Airmail MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (AP)—Sergt. William Berry, in charge of the Mountain Home airbase library, was walking toward the mess hall when he was nearly struck by a book falling from the sky.

Noting the volume was from his library, Berry checked his records, learned the man who last borrowed it was aloft in a bomber and waited until he landed.

As soon as the crewmen stepped out, Berry presented a statement of charges backed up by the battered book as evidence. The flier paid.

Churchill, Roosevelt Plan Pacific Strategy In Quebec Citadel

Stalin 'Too Busy' With New Offensives To Attend Conference

QUEBEC (AP)—Within the weathered stone ramparts of Quebec's ancient citadel, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain began forging last night the strategy for final victory over Japan.

Absent from their deliberations was that third leader of the united nations triumvirate, Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia—whose armies are not at war with Japan. Japan Not Assured

He had been invited to a conference which apparently had to concern itself primarily with the battle of the Pacific. But the fact that he sent back word that he was too busy directing offensives on multiple fronts to leave "the direction of the army for the shortest period" offered no great assurances to Japan.

Not since they concluded significant discussions last December, at Cairo and Teheran, had Roosevelt and Churchill met for one of their periodic war councils. Then, with Stalin's counsel, they had seated the plans for the powerful invasions which have driven Germany to the point of utter defeat.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early made it apparent that the emphasis here would be on those measures, even though China is not represented in the deliberations.

In consultations with their British opposite numbers were Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet and Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of army air forces.

Renew Acquaintances Seated in an open auto beside his train, Mr. Roosevelt watched, a smile of welcome lighting his face, as Churchill got off his own train four tracks away and walked over to renew acquaintances.

"Hello," the president called. "I'm glad to see you, Eleanor is here. Did you have a nice trip?" "Well," Churchill answered, talking through, around and over a chubby black cigar, "we had three beautiful days. But I was frightfully sick."

"I've lost some weight," Mr. Roosevelt informed him. "I've lost some color," Churchill responded.

Then, seriously, they switched their conversation to war and victory. "Victory," the prime minister declared, "is everywhere."

Maine Republicans Outrun Opponents

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—With more than half the vote counted, Republican candidates ran far ahead of CIO-supported Democrats last night in Maine's state election.

As was expected, Horace A. Hildreth, Republican president of the Maine senate, defeated the Democratic nominee, Paul J. Julien of Waterville, former state American Legion commander, Julien conceded Hildreth's victory before midnight.

United States Representative Robert Hale, Republican incumbent, was running far ahead in the first district, where the Maine united labor committee waged a lusty campaign for the Democratic nominee, Andrew A. Pettis.

Yank First Army Bursts Five Miles Into Germany

Red Patrols Invade Lower East Prussia, Cross From Lithuania

'Concentrated Assault' Pierces Nazi Lines In Warsaw Suburbs

LONDON, Tuesday (AP)—Russian troops in one of the fiercest struggles of the war yesterday drove to within two and one-half miles of Lomza, gateway to lower German East Prussia, and Moscow announced officially early today that Red army patrols had crossed from Lithuania into that imperilled Nazi province.

Berlin also announced that the Russians had penetrated German lines in a "concentrated assault" on Warsaw's eastern suburbs, 75 miles southwest of the Narew river stronghold of Lomza, and said in southern Poland other Soviet troops in a fresh offensive aimed at northern Hungary had captured the fortress town of Krosno.

Moscow said the patrols had crossed the Sesepe river border between Lithuania and East Prussia, "gathered valuable information" on German troop dispositions, and then returned safely.

In the flaming sector northeast of Warsaw the Russians were throwing in masses of men backed by swarms of tanks and covered by terrific artillery barrages and plane bombardments, Berlin said.

One German front reporter was quoted as saying the drive was launched "after such hellish artillery fire that it was a relief when Soviet infantry and tanks at last attacked." He added: "It cannot be described in words what German grenadiers endured here."

With the seizure of Petrosani the Russians had forced their way through another Transylvania Alps mountain route, the Vulcan pass, in their drive on imperilled Hungary.

Meanwhile Berlin said Hungary was threatened on the north by a fresh Soviet offensive which toppled Krosno, a highway and rail town in southern Poland only 17 miles from Slovakia, which at this point is only a 48-mile strip separating Poland from north Hungary.

Moscow did not mention either the Yugoslav frontier push or the latest status of Red army troops in capitulated Bulgaria, but a Berlin report said Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army units were within 25 miles north-west of Sofia, capital in western Bulgaria, after crossing the Balkan mountains.

Slovak partisans were fighting the Germans inside their country in the path of the advancing Russians.

Demand Information WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans voiced fresh demands in the house yesterday for full information on the Pearl Harbor disaster with Representative Harness, of Indiana, asking whether President Roosevelt knew of a warning from Australia, three days in advance of the attack, that a Japanese task force was headed for Hawaii.

The Indianan, asserting that "the commander in chief has concealed the truth," told the house there "appears to be an abundance of evidence" that there was such a warning from the Australian government, yet Washington, "I am informed," failed to notify the Pearl Harbor military and naval commanders.

Mexican Storms Take Toll of 100 Lives; Extensive Damage

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Probably 100 men dead, thousands homeless, and millions of dollars of property damage is the toll of storms in three widely separated sections of Mexico where rescue crews worked yesterday.

In Parral, northern Mexico mining town that was inundated when the Florida river overflowed, 60 bodies have been reported recovered, and between that point and Torreón, 150 miles to the southwest, destruction swept along a wide path.

In western Mexico, where torrential rains followed a Pacific ocean hurricane, the known death toll is 15. In this area, comprising principally the states of Jalisco and Nayarit, many more are reported missing and the death list may mount.

In eastern Mexico, damage was heavy. At Tuxpan, Vera Cruz, the customhouse was destroyed and the jail damaged.

State's Attorney W. K. Kidwell was checking state mental hospitals for any released patient who had apparent characteristics of the prowler.

Most of the prowler's visits have occurred in the better residential section in the northwest part of Mattoon.

She said her home was visited three times.

Miners May Challenge Autonomy Advocate

United Mine Workers Caucus Ends In Disorder

CINCINNATI (AP)—The caucus called by forces trying to expand district self-government in the united mine workers broke up in disorder yesterday when opponents walked into the room and shouted demands for recognition.

Two men were exchanging punches in the midst of a milling throng and shouting as Ray Edmondson, leader of the movement, declared "meeting adjourned" and hurried from the room without pausing to pick up his coat.

William Blizard of Charleston, W. Va., a sympathizer of UMW President John L. Lewis, took over the chair and the caucus was turned into an anti-Edmondson meeting.

Edmondson also faced the possibility last night of having neither voice nor vote when the miners' convention, opening today, reaches the controversy over autonomy. Challenges have been filed against his credentials and those of three other delegates from the same local union in Springfield, Ill.—Lewis' local union.

Challenged delegates have no voice or vote unless and until the challenges are heard and disposed of in their favor. By that time, the convention may have disposed of the hotly-debated subject of district self-government.

Two years ago, the convention dealt with the autonomy question on the third day.

Hitler Sends Seven Henchmen to Gallows

LONDON (AP)—Adolf Hitler, who recently hanged one of his field marshals, has ordered his No. 2 Jew-baiter, his former ambassador to Mussolini's Rome, and five other Germans to the gallows for the same offense—participation in the July 26 plot to kill him.

The new penalties were disclosed as the Germans stepped up total mobilization to defend the homeland.

Berlin radio announced that the seven men have been convicted by a people's court, and named them as: Dapper Count Wolf Hendrick von Helldorf, who ranked second only to Julius Streicher as a Jew-baiter during the heyday of Jewish persecution; Ulrich von Hassell, once Nazi ambassador to Rome; Dr. Karl F. Goerdeler, former mayor of Leipzig and former German minister of economics; Trott Zu Solz, one time secretary in the ministry of foreign affairs; Paul Lejeune-Jung, former deputy; Wilhelm Leuschner, former Hessian minister of the interior, and Josef Wirmer, an attorney.

Allies Seize Maginot Line

Blast Fortifications Inside Germany With Heavy Artillery

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Tuesday (AP)—The rampaging First United States army burst into Hitler's inner fortress of Germany yesterday and plowed ahead for five miles into the Reich, meeting the enemy on his home soil north of the frontier town of Trier—55 miles from the Rhine and the great industrial city of Coblenz.

An artillery barrage first chewed up the German positions and then in "reasonable strength"—that was the official language—the doughboys crossed over to strike the blow for which the united nations long had waited.

Through Siegfried Line The Americans probably were penetrating well into the Siegfried line defense system at this point. (The exact location of the Siegfried line, also known as the west-wall, never has been disclosed officially.)

It was a black day for German arms, for the Third United States army seized a great part of the old French Maginot line intact, and was breaking the last German line of defense on French soil—the Moselle river positions.

Elements of the First army already were fighting through the minefields of the Siegfried line south of the key city of Aachen, little more than eight miles from Germany's frontier, and were blasting fortifications inside the Reich with heavy artillery.

Not since the days of Napoleon has Germany been entered in strength and the doughboys who accomplished this modern feat had fought clear across the little duchy of Luxembourg in one day, freeing its capital of the same name en route.

Since this was no mere patrol entry into Germany, such as the tentative thrusts of the French in 1939 and the American raid of last week, it may well be the opening wedge in a series of full-scale attacks against Hitler's last prepared line of defense.

Capture Aumetz The Third army, driving over Lorraine's hills, captured with guns intact the fortress of Aumetz, the first city incorporated into the Reich by Hitler's decree to be liberated. Aumetz is 22 miles northwest of Metz.

The pressure was on, waves of bombers were blowing up stubborn enemy positions, and in the words of the officer directing the attack, somewhere shortly the Germans must give way.

Some 120 miles southwest of where the Americans are fighting around Nancy, Third army patrols met advance elements of the United States Seventh army—driving up from southern France—in the vicinity of Sombernon, 11 miles west of the road center of Dijon.

Thus for more than 300 miles, the sprawling lines of the allies were joined almost solidly—from Holland south through Belgium, Luxembourg and on into France—since the United States First army earlier met the British in northern Belgium. There remains only the small gap between the United States First and Third armies, probably no more than 15 miles.

Guns Unmoved Sweeping through the Maginot line positions, the Third army found the French 135-millimeter guns still pointing eastward, ready to fire except for ammunition, Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball reported from the front.

The British Second army, presumably accompanied by a Dutch brigade coming back home after four years of exile, crossed the Netherlands frontier 14 miles north of the broken Albert canal line in a drive apparently aimed at the road and rail center of Eindhoven, 12 miles ahead.

Only 38 miles northeast of Eindhoven is the German city of Kleve, standing at the northern extremity of the Siegfried line. An estimated 40 percent of Holland has been flooded by the Germans and only the action of Dutch patriots has prevented them from flooding more.

In Mattoon, Ill.—Gas-Spraying Prowler Evades Police

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—Mattoon's nocturnal, gas-spraying prowler remained as elusive and as versatile as the late John Dillinger last night as nervous residents watched for him beneath their bedroom windows.

At least 33 apparently legitimate reports of attacks have been received in the last 12 days and a dozen or so more—including two over the weekend—have been sifted and dubbed "nerves" by police and physicians.

The prowler, described by those who claim they saw his "tall and thin, with a black skull cap," sprays some sort of gas or anesthetic through bedroom windows or under doors. The motive is obscure. Many victims have been nauseated, some suffered mouth burns, and several have been hospitalized.

Thomas V. Wright, police commissioner, and Chief C. E. Cole, taking note of mounting hysteria, issued orders yesterday for all groups of amateur "vigilantes" to disband. These have been touring the streets at night, armed with shotguns, and the officers said they feared an innocent person might be shot.

"I wouldn't walk through anybody's back yard at night now for $10,000," Wright said.

State's Attorney W. K. Kidwell was checking state mental hospitals for any released patient who had apparent characteristics of the prowler.

Most of the prowler's visits have occurred in the better residential section in the northwest part of Mattoon.

Frances Smith, a school principal and one of the victims, said the gas "has the kind of an odor and gives you the kind of a sensation you get when you walk into a funeral home."

Hannegan Jumps GOP—

CHICAGO (AP) — Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, yesterday termed "absolutely untrue" a statement he attributed to Republican leadership that President Roosevelt during the national Democratic convention directed Hannegan to "clear everything with Sidney."

This was a reference to Sidney Hillman, director of the CIO political action committee.

Hannegan, reading a statement at a press conference, said the opposition's strategy was "the simple and outworn approach of raising false issues and repeating them often enough in the hope that they finally will be mistaken for facts."

He declared that Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican vice-presidential nominee, Saturday night "gave further currency to the whole false invention that when the president was passing through Chicago while the Democratic national convention was in progress he directed me in this language: 'Clear everything with Sidney.'"

"The fact is that President Roosevelt, with whom I conferred alone on that occasion, did not say that," Hannegan said. "Nor did he say anything else that could have been tortured to convey that meaning. That story is absolutely untrue. I don't know who invented it. I presume that Republican orators will keep repeating this favorite fiction, until election day in the forlorn hope that some people will believe it is true."

Elaborating on his prepared statement, Hannegan said he conferred with the president alone on that occasion. He said he (Hannegan) talked with Hillman only

Footnotes From French Fronts—

By KENNETH L. DIXON

EASTERN FRANCE, Sept. 9 (Delayed) (AP)—Footnotes from a fistful of French fronts:

Mayers who are campaigning for re-election back home now have a cinch compared to Jean Moyn, new prefect in the Riviera city of Nice, who has returned to the municipal administration business.

A career administrator, Moyn was prefect of the town of Troyes until the Vichy rascals turned him out in 1940. For the next four years he lived as best he could mostly working as an attorney's assistant in Paris. Four months ago that patriot's underground brought him a message from the National Liberation committee in Algiers saying he had been appointed future prefect of the entire Alpes maritime department along the Riviera.

Day of Liberation

He was supposed to take over on the "day of liberation," but the catch was he had to get there by his own means. Carrying an authorization paper—which was equivalent to an automatic death sentence if found on his person anytime—he reached Nice three months ahead of the doughboys and was kept hidden by the Maquis while he organized the city administration.

His intricate though dangerous plans paid dividends. One day after liberation, Nice had electricity, gas and water utilities despite German demolitions and most of the telephone facilities were functioning again.

Freedom of Press

French Maj. Paul Weil, former arisan attorney, favors freedom of the press—but with reservations as far as his present job is concerned.

The major's job is making erst-while illegal newspapers legal and vice versa. He is busily engaged in various liberated cities turning all available facilities over to former underground papers, at the same time former collaborationist papers are being gagged and the management—if foolish enough to hang around after the liberation deadline—is placed under arrest.

Already scores of newspapers are in operation throughout the liberated sector. "The biggest problem is paper shortage," the major said, "but we are meeting that as best as we can. In some cases several underground papers are merging so that all can still have a voice despite the shortage."

Not Part of Job

The erstwhile attorney, while stressing that it was not part of his job, said penalties for personnel of collaborationist newspapers were generally falling into three classes. So called "little guys" who just did jobs such as printing, typing or clerical work without

Peace Conference Members Especially Charming to Russians

However Some Russian Ideas Being Ignored

Py PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—The censorious air of the Dumbarton Oaks peace conference is filled with light tales of efforts to be charming to the Russians.

In the matter of seating for pictures, for instance, it was arranged so the Russian delegates would be on the right hand of the Americans. For many generations past, the British always have sat there or at the head of European peace conference tables.

Protocol practitioners of our state department sank into a dither when one newspaper caption on the picture erroneously identified the British as occupying the position of the Russians.

Indeed, one business analyst-reporter here was officially advised that his comments on the meeting were "not helpful to American-Soviet relations," as if the official attitude should control the press accounts.

Little Realism

Some may think a little realism might help relations a lot more, or make them more solid for the long run.

Investigation indicates the extreme deference to Russia, however, is not necessarily being carried to the extent of accepting entirely her wishes in the peace. The Moscow idea of an international airforce, for instance, appears to have been rejected.

The attitude seems due rather to a prevailing diplomatic impression that the Russians are sensitive and easily offended, which should put them in a good bargaining position. I wish all the people with whom I do business would consider me sensitive.

Un-Announced Conviction

Behind it also is the un-announced conviction high in Washington and London that there will be war with Russia within 15 years unless a mutually acceptable post-war peace understanding is reached now.

The British are especially afraid of Russia. They see her not only sitting at their usual place at this conference but in the Balkans as well, and indeed likely to sit there over all Europe.

For instance, there were four French underground movements, all separate, but the strongest of these was the Russian. In the temporary De Gaulle cabinet, these elements are acquiring posts of power.

The Balkan nations, formerly guided by British financial and political policy, are at least unsettled, and the same problem in Italy has reached the point of a clash, despite our efforts to postpone meeting the issue as long as possible.

Unavoidable

This is an unavoidable, apparent and dominant matter of the peace and to try to hold the public head in the sand will not solve the situation. The truth is Russia is establishing a new place for herself in the world, that any concrete agreement for post-war stabilization means stabilization protecting her new position as well as our own.

Formerly she was a revolutionary minority in the world, and therefore naturally antagonistic to the world status, but now she has acquired a status of great power and therefore needs a conservative world order. The Russians seem to me to be ultra-realists.

On the other hand, it is equally true that much of our peace proposal talk is following obsolete thought guided by past history instead of coming history. We think mainly of putting the screws upon Germany and Japan so they never can rise again, but they can easily be put down to minor military powers, and kept there as long as the world is afloat.

Forces Divided

The major military forces existing after this war will be divided between the United States and Russia, and the mutual relations between these two alone is apt to have more to do with the future peace of the world than whatever we do to Germany and Japan, or even what formula is adopted for an international organization.

But this is not the only invisible electricity in the air at Dumbarton Oaks. South Dakota's Senator Bushfield was right in his contention in the senate that the American security plan would give the president the power to declare war.

While the administration does not wish to admit this now, fearing the point may become involved in the campaign, it does not intend to change that recommendation.

Unanimous Vote

By unanimous vote of the big four nations on the proposed executive council (United States, Britain, Russia and China) military action could be taken (whether three may act if one objects is not yet clear).

Thus the president who naturally would dominate the American council, could send troops anywhere in the world without consent of congress.

The true administration position on this is hardly along the line Senator Connally offered to Bush-

From Track Coach to— Director of School of Religion

It's a far cry from track coach at Knox college in Galesburg, Ill., to director of the University of Iowa's school of religion, but Prof. M. Willard Lampe has successfully crossed the gap between the two professions.

When asked about the distinguishing features of the university's school of religion, Professor Lampe said, "There are two distinctive things about our school. It is inter-faith in character, providing for the participation of any religious group which so desires, and it is an inter-part of the university."

Prof. M. Willard Lampe

Only One in World

Other schools offer courses in religion and support religious activities off the campus, but in no other place in the world will one find the same set-up as at the University of Iowa, according to Professor Lampe.

In the fall of 1927 he arrived in Iowa City to assume his duties as head of the school. His contact with the project started in the spring of that year when he was national director of university work for the Presbyterian church and chairman of the university commission of all Protestant churches.

Long interested in inter-faith brotherhood, Professor Lampe was then a member of the North American committee for the study of religion in higher education, an inter-faith group.

Started in 1921

"It was logical that I come here and have a part in the founding of the school of religion," he said. "The idea for the school started in 1921 when religious leaders all over the United States discussed the possibilities of such a plan."

"The Story of an Idea," a booklet written by Professor Lampe, explains the growth of the school from the nucleus of 1921, six years before classes actually started, to the latest revision in 1941. Each three-year period in the development of the school is discussed.

The late Dean Emeritus George F. Kay was chairman of the board of trustees of the school of religion for the first 14 years of its existence. Other university faculty members influential in the founding of the school were Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department; Dean Carl Seashore of the graduate college, and Dean Chester A. Phillips of the college of commerce.

National Director

Professor Lampe has always served in educational work and has never held the pastorate of a church. After receiving his Ph.D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1912, he did religious work there for nine years. For seven years he was national director of the university work for the Presbyterian church. He has since been at the University of Iowa, where he also directs campus religious activities.

First Funeral

He preached on Sunday, and played tennis and baseball during the week. While "sky-pilot" in the camp, Professor Lampe performed his first wedding ceremony and received $20—the highest fee he has ever been paid for that service. He also conducted a funeral for the first time. The rites were held for a "saloon swamper" whose name was unknown even to his steady customers.

Professor Lampe is named in "Religious Leaders of America" and "Who's Who in the Central States," and considers himself fortunate to be a part of the most unusual experiment that became a very successful school of religion at the University of Iowa.

Opinions On and Off Campus—

Do You Think There Is a Superior Race?

Dick Blackman, A1 of Seymour: "It doesn't seem possible that any race should be classified as superior or inferior to another. All races have contributed highly toward civilization in their own realms of culture. My answer is definitely, no."

J. J. Johnston, E3, Estherville: "Yes, the white race because of their obvious cultural advancement and modern methods of scientific development. In time this differentiation shall fade and then only prejudiced views shall determine who is superior."

Mrs. John L. McCarty, Ames: "In years to come with future developments of travel, medicine and education, other races, the so-called inferior races, shall have the advantages to reach the peak of civilization of the whites."

Ann Shaw, A2 of Des Moines: "Fundamentally I don't think so. Culturally it would appear that the white race has far exceeded any other but in time, given the same opportunities, other races might equal or exceed the cultural achievements of the white race."

Jiame Leeny, 508 S. Clinton, student: "No. No race can be superior to another because individuals in each race are superior."

Prof. K. H. Porter, 301 N. Richards, head of political science: "No. Because in the first place, there is no pure race. It is impossible to define the word superior."

H. G. Hedges Jr., J3, Cedar Rapids: "Yes, not particularly be-

F. D. R., Churchill In Quebec Again

Battle Fronts Utterly Changed Since Last Time

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
AP War Analyst

QUEBEC—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and their military staffs are back in Quebec to carry on from where they left off last time they met to map war strategy—but with an utterly changed situation on the battle fronts of Europe. Their meeting certainly can give no comfort to Japan.

Reports from the European scene left the impression that an allied break-through into Germany was imminent. Expectation that it would come very soon and Germany would be forced to collapse, perhaps within weeks, probably had a great deal to do with the timing of the Quebec follow-through strategy conference. What has happened in Europe or may happen there even sooner than the best allied conjecture had thought possible only weeks ago could go far to determine just how soon the full weight of British war power can be thrown against Japan to match the American advance in the Pacific.

This conference being essentially a military get-together, there will of course be no disclosure of decisions taken or of the timing schedule agreed upon. There has been no official effort at any time to obscure the fact that what is to be worked out is the broad outline for the final crushing attack on Japan.

There is no question that the war in Europe has reached a point in the judgment of Anglo-American military advisers that is weeks if not months ahead of what had been thought possible of achievement only a few months ago. The result obviously is that here at Quebec is to be drawn up a new time schedule for combined action against Japan. Nor can Tokyo take any comfort from the fact that while there is no Russian representation so far as is known in Quebec, Marshal Stalin was invited and declined only on the ground that he was too closely engaged in pushing the attack on Germany in Poland and the Balkans to be able to leave Russia at this time.

The Stalin reply, as given out here, was very cordial in terms. The probable reason that Roosevelt-Churchill invitation message was not also made public was that it contained a specific statement of what was to be discussed in Quebec and that, by official statement, is the speeding up of the war against Japan with which country Russia is not at war.

In the light of that, Stalin's stated attitude of apparent cordial

War Department Restates Regulations For 38-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friends of the over-38 year-old army GI, hearing talk about demobilization plans, are inquiring about his chance of getting back into civilian life now, if he desires.

The war department replies that there is no change in regulations and policy—he can't get out merely because he has passed his 38th birthday.

Back in 1942 the army decided that men over 38, in general, were not physically fitted for combat duty and the drafting of that age group was halted. This was followed by an army decision to allow the over-age soldiers to apply for discharge, providing they could show employment in essential industry was awaiting them.

This practice was stopped in mid-1943. The army, however, does accept applications from officers who become "surplus," meaning those who have no jobs to do in the service.

The marine corps says it is continuing the policy of releasing men over 38, upon their application. The navy never has set a definite age for discharge, but it was learned recently that an "over-age" man may be given opportunity to return to civilian life if, among other things, he can obtain formal certification that the billet he holds can be abandoned without necessity of replacing him.

Women to Register For 'Double V'

To Enroll Today For Service Under 3 University Groups

When university women register today for activities under the "Double V" war services program, they will pledge their time and efforts to do the jobs for which they sign up.

From 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. the Y. W. C. A. rooms in Iowa Union will be open for the war services registration, so that Iowa coeds may check their preferences of the many activities offered by the campus women's organizations co-operating to sponsor the "Double V" plan.

Every university woman should be able to devote a few hours of her time each week to the "Double V" schedule of service and educational activities for war and peace. While no activity is compulsory, everyone has a certain responsibility to take an active part in campus war activities.

Information First

Women who register for information first will hear noted speakers discuss a series of post-war problems during the course of the school year. Beginning Oct. 5 with a talk by Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper on "The Basis of World Peace," the information first lectures will be heard every Thursday at 4 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

On the state of activities offered by the University Women's association, women may sign up for hospital ward work at University hospital, for hostessing at Iowa Union and the U. S. O., for working at the alumni, Red Cross and civilian defense offices and for making surgical dressings at the Iowa Union Red Cross center.

Two discussion groups are being planned by the Y. W. C. A. for the "Double V" — a war marriage group called "Major in Marriage" and a group for discussion of controversial issues in the current news. The latter is "The U. S. and You."

Other "Y" activities under the "Double V" include hostessing in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and acting as secretary in the Y. W. C. A. office, with both jobs combined in the "Y Works at Home," and hospital work at the Children's hospital.

Hospital Work

It is important that everyone understand the difference in signing up for hospital work under U. W. A. and Y. W. C. A. The U. W. A. directs ward work in the general hospital, while the Y. W. C. A. plans its work in the Children's hospital.

The Women's Recreation association offers university women an opportunity to become Girl Scout assistants or recreation leaders, to help with party salvage drives or to act as hostesses for the Saturday night open house programs at the women's gymnasium.

Hostessing for these open houses is a new "Double V" activity. Features of the Saturday night programs will be swimming, dancing, table tennis, bridge, roller skating and other recreational activities.

Two Drivers Fined

Jack C. White, police judge, fined two Iowa City taxi drivers yesterday morning in police court on charges of speeding.

Max Hiatt, cab driver and Alton Young, cab driver, each were fined $7.

Students to Sign Membership Pledges At 'Y' Registration

At the registration for Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. activities to be held tomorrow in the senate chamber of Old Capitol students will sign membership pledges for the year 1944-45.

The "Y" organization is inter-racial, inter-denominational and inter-faith in character. Any student enrolled in the university may join by signing a membership card either at the general meeting tomorrow or at future designated dates.

Three divisions, education, service and social, make up the "Y" program for this year. The educational phase includes such discussion groups as "Major in Marriage," "The U. S. and You," and "Worship Workshop." "Major in Marriage" is set up for women alone, while the other two groups are open to men and women.

Work at the Children's hospital makes up a large part of the service division. Personal visits, teaching Sunday school and special parties are some of the activities offered under this program. "The Y Works at Home" is a service group which includes office hostess work in the Y. W. rooms and entertaining service men in the Y. M. rooms.

The social side of "Y" is handled in the class groups, freshman, sophomore, and junior-senior, to which each "Y" member automatically belongs.

Although women may sign up for some of the activities through the "Double V" program, they must also join the Y. W. C. A. in order to participate in these activities.

Tea Introduces— Home Economics Club —To New Members

Over spiced tea and cookies the home economics club held its first meeting of the semester yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the dining room in Macbride hall. The meeting was a get-together for the new members, giving them a chance to become acquainted with the club, the staff and the other club members.

The home economics club was established on this campus at the time the home economics departments was founded. It is a part of the state and national home economics organization. The meetings are held once a month on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and last an hour. The girls are in complete charge of these meetings.

Three-Fold Purpose

The club has a three-fold purpose, education, society and service. Since the declaration of war they have merged with the U.W.A. to fulfill the purpose of service. The social and educational purposes are achieved within the group in the organization and preparation of their meetings and other activities.

Several traditional events are included in the club program each year. The annual Christmas dinner was the outstanding occasion of the year before the war. However, because of the difficulty in obtaining food this has been replaced by buffet suppers served in cooperation with the advanced foods classes. Picnics, the baked bean supper and a clothing clinic are a few of the other favored entertainments.

Regional Meeting

A regional meeting of home economics clubs of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa is to be held in Chicago in February.

Prof. Lula E. Smith of the home economics department is in charge of the club on this campus. The officers for the coming year are Betty Bevan, A4 of Burlington, president; Gloria Gray, A4 of Des Moines, vice-president; Gloria Kelly, A3 of Burlington, treasurer; Carolyn Porter, A2 of Iowa City, secretary; Ellen Thompson, A2 of Iowa City, membership chairman; Ann Moseley, A4 of Anamosa, program chairman, and Alice Mae Donham, A2 of Iowa City, and Lois Irwin, A2 of Iowa City, publicity co-chairmen.

Baptist Center Roger Williams House Offers Fun

Friends and fun characterize the Roger Williams house, home of the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks and family, which always is open to students of Baptist preference.

No one knocks at the house door before entering the comfortable parlor-lounge complete with piano, interesting books and many comfortable chairs. Here students meet, exchange ideas and generally enjoy the hospitality of "Daddy D" and "Mamma D" as the Dierks affectionately are known to all Baptist students.

A rustic pine rumpus room in the basement was built completely by students four years ago. Its outstanding feature is a huge stone fireplace built by students of rocks gathered from creek beds. Add to this a ping-pong table and facilities for many other games and you have the complete Roger Williams rumpus room. Adjoining is a kitchenette completely equipped, reserved especially for students.

The house, situated at 230 N. Clinton street, is sponsored by the board of education and publication of the Northern Baptist convention in cooperation with the Iowa Baptist convention and the local Baptist church.

One of the principle activities of the fellowship this year will be the Roger Williams Sunday school class which meets at the house Sunday mornings at 9:30. The life of Jesus will be the subject of study this year. A breakfast club may meet before this class.

The Sunday evening vesper service is held in the house at 4:30 so that Navy Pre-Flight cadets may attend. These meetings are led by students and are designed for worship and the discussion of topics relating to Christian life and the church.

Cincinnati Reds Take Opener From Chicago Team, 6 to 5

Mueller Makes Winning Run In Tenth

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds took a series opener from the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5 yesterday with Ray Mueller, the Reds' versatile catcher, scoring the edge marker in the 10th inning. Mueller had driven in four runs with a triple and double earlier in the game and got on base with a single in the 10th.

Clyde Shoun, who succeeded Tomas de la Cruz when the Cuban pulled a muscle in his arm in the seventh inning won his 12th game.

Coach Jimmy Wilson of the Reds, acting manager in the absence of Bill McKechnie, was banished from the field by umpire Jocko Conlan when he protested a strike called on Steve Mesner in the eighth inning.

Grid Season Begins In Middle West Area With Four Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—Football takes another hesitant step toward the center of the sports stage this weekend, offering the Iowa Seahawks vs. Michigan contest as its chief rival for athletic interest with the tight race in the American baseball league.

The Iowa sailors, second behind Notre Dame in the final 1943 Associated Press poll, and Michigan, in third place and sharing the Big Ten title with Purdue, did not meet last year. The Seahawks, however, banged out a 26 to 14 verdict in 1942.

Neither club looks as potentially great as its immediate predecessor—an ailment which is likely to be common among most of the country's teams in the coming campaign.

Shifting of grid talent from one campus to another under the navy program will continue this fall as it did in 1942 and 1943 but the talent is hardly of the same caliber.

This year Michigan, which inherited parts of the Wisconsin and Minnesota football teams a year ago starts out with three-fourths of a veteran backfield and a questionable line. The Seahawks also will be weaker because their officers will not be eligible.

Other games this Saturday put Illinois normal at Illinois, Ft. Knox at Indiana and Ft. Sheridan at Great Lakes.

The latter event, only one to defeat Notre Dame last year, is entirely new with Paul Brown, last year at Ohio State, the mentor. Ft. Sheridan was trampled by Western Reserve, 67 to 6, Saturday.

Actually the season has been under way for three weeks in some sectors and Coach Alonzo A. Stagg's College of Pacific, one of the country's best last year, already has lost one game. The Stagmen were defeated, 7 to 6, by the Fleet City Bluejackets last week and Friday night take on the army transport command.

Bucks Elect Captain
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gordon E. Appleby of Massillon, voted the Bucks' most valuable player last year, was elected captain of Ohio State university's football team yesterday.

Appleby was a substitute center of the 1942 Big Ten championship team, a regular at that position last year and is the No. 1 contender this season. Twenty-one-years old, he is classified 4-F in the draft because of impaired hearing.

Kapter, Strohmeyer Draw Assignments

McCullough Gains Quarterback Spot; Squad Leaves Friday

In the battle for first string positions on the Iowa Seahawks grid team, several players appear now to be certain of starting assignments against Michigan Saturday.

Alex Kapter, here in pre-flight school less than a week, will definitely be in the starting lineup at the left guard slot. Kapter was outstanding as captain of Northwestern's team last year, and was named as all-conference guard.

Although he played blocking back at Texas A. and M., George Strohmeyer, a 192-pounder, is being groomed carefully for the center position and will probably get the nod in that spot Saturday. Strohmeyer, who just returned from a leave, studied the different plays while he was home and should have no trouble on that score.

John McCullough, who lettered in football at Indiana State Teachers college has wrested the quarterback position from Lyle Downing of Missouri, while Don Waldron, a triple threat back who played as a freshman at Wisconsin, has beaten out John Smith of Marquette in the fight for the left halfback spot.

Both defense and offense against the Michigan type of play will be worked out in practice sessions this week in an attempt to whip the boys into shape.

Practices have been lighter this week, in order that the boys will be in good condition when they meet Michigan in the opener Saturday. The squad will leave Friday night, staying in Jackson, Mich., that night.

Firemen Extinguish Boxcar Blaze
Iowa City firemen answered a call yesterday afternoon at 2:10 to extinguish a blaze in a boxcar loaded with alfalfa meal at the Rock Island passenger station.

The boxcar, belonging to the Union Pacific railroad, was not damaged, according to the Rock Island officials. The meal was on fire when the boxcar came into the station at 2:00 p.m. and flames broke out three times later in the afternoon. Approximately 15 bags of the alfalfa meal were destroyed.

Occupy Wins Dekalb Race At Aqueduct

NEW YORK (AP)—John Marsch's Occupy, standout two-year-old of a year ago, yesterday won his first race since last fall's Belmont futurity by capturing the Dekalb handicap by four lengths at Aqueduct.

The bull dog colt, ridden by Jockey Otto Crohs and lugging top weight of 122 pounds, ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3/5 and paid $6.20 as the 2 to 1 choice. W. S. Jacobs' Boiling On took the place six lengths ahead of Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Step Across.

Smart Bet scored his fourth straight victory at Narragansett park by capturing the Swanswallow purse by 3 1/2 lengths over Clockie with Hopeville third. Smart Bet ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3/5 and paid $3.00.

Quillon, an 11 to 1 outsider, won the Allabasi handicap at Laurel park by a head over Hornbeam. Overlin took the show. The winner ran the six furlongs in 1:15 4/5 and paid $24.90.

Coming from behind in the stretch, Mrs. L. B. Muschel's Cherry Trifle, ridden by Steven Brooks, scored a neck triumph over Impenetrable in the Wacker drive purse at Hawthorne. Soverton was third before a ladies' day crowd of 16,721.

Cherry Trifle was timed in 1:46 1/5 for the mile and one sixteenth and paid $3.00.

Mabe Monday, a $3.60 favorite, won the Rheims allowance purse at the Detroit fairgrounds. Golden Man was second and Hard Pone third. The winner was timed in 1:11 2/5 for the six furlongs.

Huskers, Cyclones Shift First Stringers

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Coach A. J. Lewandowski yesterday shifted Bernie Kasdan, Yankton, S. D., from tackle to guard as the Nebraska Cornhuskers started their second week of football drill.

"There will be some more changes as we go along," Lewandowski commented. "We are definitely not ready to name a starting lineup yet, but want to give every boy a chance before we make up our minds."

AMES (AP)—Coach Mike Michalske stressed screen blocking and fast tackling at yesterday's practice session, the tenth this season for the Iowa State football squad.

A newcomer to the ISC backfield is Ken Keough, of the Iowa State naval electrical school, whom Michalske rated as among his more promising new prospects. The 190-pound half back played football for two years at Milwaukee State Teachers college.

Yesterday's Results National League Cincinnati 6; Chicago 5.

Wisconsin Practices For Wildcat Opener

120 Working Out With Stuhldreher; Positions Wide Open

MADISON, Wis.—With more than 100 candidates already on hand and an additional 20 more expected to report yesterday from the navy training school, Coach Harry Stuhldreher and his University of Wisconsin coaching aides are working at top speed already to whip into shape the new Badger varsity eleven that will open its season three weeks from Saturday against a powerful Northwestern eleven at Evanston.

Already the Badger varsity is starting to take shape for the first scrimmage of the year. This tough contact workout will give the coaching staff the opportunity to see most of the boys under fire, after which they will be forced to divide the squad into "A" and "B" units.

While it is yet too early to predict clearly what the Badgers starting front might be, Coach Stuhldreher in the initial lineup of a "first team" selected Don Cusack for the center post where he performed during the summer drills. Directly behind him must be rated Bob Fick who played considerable ball in the west and at a naval training post last fall. Allen Shafer will be very much in the running for this job, too, should the coaches care to use him there.

At the guards, Jim Kusa and John Davey played a good deal last fall and may get the nod although they will be hard pressed by Nick Collins, who to date has the No. 1 call, and Bob McKern. This quartet must also face the up and coming new boys who are certain to make strong bids for starting posts.

Clarence Esser is the lone hold-over tackle but to date Bruce Elliott and John Schwartz are in the lead. Del Hanke, Mike Coyne, Bob Fortune and Carl Kulawinski are others with some experience bidding strongly for positions.

At the ends, Pat Weber and Ed Bahlow got the first nod from the dynamic Badger mentor. The former played last year while Bahlow is a strong competitor and also a superb punter. Roger Laubeneimer, from last year, Russ Kleist, John Schwartz and John Mead are still very much in the running. Mead played for Coach Stuhldreher three years ago and was a most promising candidate for a varsity post at that time.

The backfield still reveals problems galore for the Badger coaches. It lacks a great fullback always so dominant under Stuhldreher-coached Wisconsin teams. At present the spot has gone to Jerry Thompson, a stocky, hard-hitting youngster who has some speed to help. Eric Kitzman, who was on the 1943 squad, is making a strong bid while Jordan Jung, also on the squad a year ago, will be in there trying. Other candidates are still to be heard from.

The quarterbacking job, which carries a heavy load under the fast-moving Wisconsin style of attack, finds three new hopefuls leading the pack. Nick Holmes has thus far led the pack but Allen Shafer has caught the attention of the coaches with his fine blocking and Bob Semrad is still in the running.

Boilermakers Face Ten-Game Schedule

Defending Champions Will Play Seahawks, Iowa During Season

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Both the old and the new appear on the strenuous ten game schedule that will be tackled by Purdue's defending Western conference co-champions this fall, ranging from the traditional rivalry with Indiana to the first meeting in history with Iowa Pre-Flight, which was generally ranked as the nation's No. 2 eleven last season.

As far as the schedule is concerned, the Boilermakers, who topped the nation's select list of undefeated, untied elevens with nine straight victories last fall, will start off the 1944 campaign in exactly the same manner that they spring-boarded to the national spotlight last season, meeting Great Lakes, Marquette and Illinois in order. The opening battle with the Bluejackets at the naval training center on Sept. 23 will find the Boilermakers striving to repeat their 23-13 victory of last year in the fourth game of a series in which the Sailors hold a 2-1 edge.

Marquette will appear on the Purdue gridiron for the first time the next Saturday as the Boilermakers attempt to duplicate the 21-0 triumph of last season, and then come the Western conference opener against Illinois at Champaign which provides the 29th game in a series renewed last year when Purdue finished on top, 40-21.

The schedule veers from the 1943 pattern for the first time on Oct. 14 when Iowa Pre-Flight will provide the Dad's day attraction here in the first meeting of the two rivals. Purdue takes to the road for the next two Saturdays, meeting Iowa for the 23rd time in a series in which the Boilermakers enjoy a slight edge, and then renewing relations with Michigan, last year's co-champions, for the first time since 1930. In the last meeting between the Boilermakers and Wolverines, the ninth in the series, Michigan eked out a 14-13 win for its seventh triumph.

Homecoming will find Wisconsin back on the Purdue gridiron in the 29th renewal of a closely contested series in which the Badgers enjoy a slight edge, having chalked up 13 victories as compared with 10 losses and five ties. The Boilermakers return to the Northwestern schedule after a lapse of one year when they journey to Evanston on Armistice day for the 27th renewal of a nip and tuck series. By virtue of Purdue victories in the last two meetings, 7-6 in 1942, and 3-0 in 1939, the Boilermakers hold a slight edge with 13 victories as compared with 12 losses and one tie.

Purdue's final road game against the Navy at Baltimore Nov. 18, which promises to be one of the intersectional highlights of the year, will mark the second meeting between the two rivals. The two teams first met in the opening game of the 1926 season when the Middies staged a dramatic rally in the closing minutes to score a 17-13 victory. From the Purdue opener, the Navy went on undefeated until the final tilt with Army which ended in a spectacular 21-21 tie.

Past performances mean little when Purdue and Indiana meet on the gridiron, but for the sake of the record, gridiron historians reveal that the season's finale here Nov. 25 will mark the 47th game in the series. The Boilermakers enjoy a substantial edge in the series with 25 victories as compared with 16 losses and five ties.

Bluejackets Prepare To Meet Ft. Sheridan

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—The Great Lakes football Bluejackets, the third such team of World War II, will open their 1944 season Saturday meeting Ft. Sheridan at Ross stadium here. This will mark the debut of Lieut. (j.g.) Paul E. Brown, former Ohio State mentor, as Bluejacket coach.

Some 38 Bluejackets have been contesting for positions on the team for several weeks. The team is using solely the T formation at the moment, because that was the system in vogue when Brown took over as head coach from Lieut. Comdr. Paul D. (Tony) Hinkle, the Great Lakes athletic officer, a few weeks ago.

"But pretty soon now," said Brown, "we'll start using the regular Ohio State offense."

The starting lineup against Ft. Sheridan isn't exactly set. In fact, Brown has made it plain to the squad that every position is open at all times.

At any rate, the so-called first eleven has been lining up as follows: Carmen Izzo of Western Reserve at center; Ernie Bauer, South Carolina, and Jesse Hahn, Murray college, guards; James Rees, Ohio State, and Harold Mullins, Duke, tackles; Ernie Plank, Ohio State, and George Young, Georgia, ends; Jim Youg, Iowa, quarterback; Bob Hanlon, Notre Dame, and Chuck Avery, Minnesota, halfbacks, and Jim Mello, Notre Dame, fullback.

Madigan Declares Open Season On Hawkeye Starting Positions

ON THE RISE

By Jack Sords

Top Clubs In American Have Lay Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Due to a slight case of nightmare in the schedule department, the hottest American league pennant race in years will cool its heels until Friday with only a Yanks/tomorrow night game in Philadelphia to break the monotony.

Counting on weather trouble in April and May, the chart makers provided a September calendar shot full of holes for postponed games but the torrid, dry summer failed to cooperate with washouts.

The result is that New York, St. Louis and Boston each will play 17 games and Detroit 18 in the next three weeks before the curtain drops Oct. 1.

Detroit, only a half game behind the Yanks, probably will gain the most by this enforced layoff as the Tigers have been leaning heavily on Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout with periodic relief from Rufe Gentry and Stubby Overmire. After a four-game weekend series in Cleveland, the Bengals will return to Briggs' stadium for the rest of the campaign.

Luke Sewell's Brownies, in and out of first all season, welcome additional rest to allow their battered pitching ranks to recover. Bob Mumcrief stepped back into a starting role in a well-pitched six-inning stint Friday but can use the four day layoff Sig Jakucki has failed to go the route in his last three outings.

New York's drive to the front may not find the mid-September "vacation" to its liking as Joe McCarthy has his pitching situation straightened out, rotating around four regular starters in Hank Borowy, Ernie Bonham, Walt Dubiel and Mel Queen. Boston stopped the Yankee's mad rush by dividing a weekend series and the champs fear they may lose their drive before the all-important final western tour.

A pennant will be the reward for the club with the best record in the final intersectional series, opening Sept. 19 as none of the contenders can pile up a safe lead in the intervening period.

In addition to Detroit's four games with Cleveland, St. Louis plays four with Chicago, New York three with Philadelphia and Boston three at Washington.

Who's Your 'Mr. Football'?

NEW YORK (AP)—They were talking about football in general, and someone referred to a play as "Mr. Football" at his school, thereby inspiring an endless argument as to which players might be considered "Mr. Football" at their respective schools.

It was an endless argument, as picking anything from a beauty queen to a necktie is largely a matter of personal opinion, and although the "Mr. Football" at some schools might be pretty generally agreed upon, there might be a dozen nominations at other schools.

When I think of Wisconsin I think of Keckie Moll, since I happened to live in that state as an impressionable kid when he was playing and to me he is "Mr. Football" there.

Here are some of the names that come to mind first when schools are mentioned:

Yale, Ted Coy; Harvard, Charley Brickley; Princeton, Arthur Poe; Illinois, Red Grange; Ohio State, Chick Harley; Michigan, Willie Heston; Nebraska, Ed Weir; Carlisle, Jim Thorpe; Stanford, Ernie Nevers; Minnesota, Bert Boston; Chicago, Walter Eckersall; Notre Dame, George Gipp; TCU, Sammy Baugh; Texas A&M, John Kimbrough; Purdue, Elmer Oliphant; Army, Red Cagle; Navy, Frank Wickhorst; Georgia, Frank Sinkwich; Iowa, Aubrey Devine; Missouri, Paul Christman.

Some people might associate Knute Rockne first with Notre Dame, but his association is prompted more by his fame as coach than player, although he is remembered there. Had he not subsequently become coach his fame as a player would have been overshadowed by fellows like Gipp.

Changes Line, Backfield Posts

Coach Slip Madigan, disappointed by the showing of some Hawkeyes in the Saturday scrimmage, has declared an open season for starting positions on the Iowa team.

Another fight looms at the tackle posts, with Jim Lagomarcino slated for promotion from the reserves. Current top-fighters named by Madigan are Don Winslow, Bill Benskin, Clarence Cross and Ralph Katz.

Russ McLaughlin leads the parade for the end positions with Ken Rose, Jack Kelson, Bob Mork and Don Camery close behind him. Only ones who seem sure of a starting berth are John Stewart, Jim Hansen, Woodard, Bob Liddy and Stan Mohrbacher.

Bob Snyder and Bob Carlson are touch-and-go at center, with Snyder on top in the defensive department and Carlson standing out as best passing center.

Madigan said that he will give the boys three scrimmages this week "if the men show they can stand them." The coach and his aides also will spend time on the line and will work on methods of protection for the punters.

Bob Liddy, veteran lineman, received a thigh bruise which put him out of the heavy Iowa scrimmage Saturday. "Those big 17-year-olds sure can be rough," he said.

Three Sergeants— Together Since Feb. 10, 1941

TALK ABOUT BUDDIES, these three smiling service men, home on temporary duty for 30 days, have been together through two and one-half years of overseas duty—in fact, ever since, as members of Co. G, 136th medical regiment of the national guard, they entered the federal army Feb. 10, 1941. They are Sergt. Ray Floerchinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olds, 632 S. Capitol street; Sergt. Raymond Adrian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Adrian, 1158 Hotz avenue, and Sergt. Virgil Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parker, 1829 F street.

By PAT MOORHEAD Daily Iowan Staff Writer

This is a story of three sergeants in the army of the United States of America. The thing that makes this story different from the story of any other three sergeants in the army of the United States is that these three men have been together since Feb. 10, 1941, a fact worth mentioning even if their experiences otherwise were not. It so happens their experiences are worth reporting.

Feb. 9, 1941, Sergeants Floerchinger, Adrian and Parker were members of the national guard in Iowa City—Co. G, 136th medical regiment. Feb. 10, 1941, they were members of the army of the United States of America, along with the other members of their national guard unit. They were sent to Camp Claiborne, La., for basic training, and then to Ft. Dix, N. J., where they were formed into overseas battalions.

Feb. 18, 1942, they watched the shores of America fade out of sight, and their next glimpse of land was March 2, when they reached the rocky coast of Ireland.

Train in Ireland After additional training in Ireland, the unit was placed in charge of a station hospital there, where they served for the next five months. Then came more training, and specific instruction in the operation of field hospitals and clearing stations behind the front lines.

During this training period the three sergeants were able to find time for a short trip to London, where they followed in the well-defined footsteps of hundreds of American soldiers before them and visited Piccadilly Circus, Westminster Abbey, an ancient Victorian opera house called "Covert Gardens" and countless other points of English historical interest.

Reach Africa As members of the famed 34th division, Sergeants Floerchinger, Adrian and Parker reached Africa in the early part of 1943, and helped to staff clearing stations in the Tunisian and Italian campaigns. Sergeant Floerchinger was first sergeant in charge of their company; Sergeant Adrian was surgical technician to the company surgeon; Sergeant Parker was assistant to the medical officer in the receiving tent. They were on the scene at the dearly-won Anzio beachhead. They were in the bloody trap at Cassino. And, still together, they "saw the sights" in Rome and other historical Italian localities.

"We were moving fast at the time," recalled Sergeant Floerchinger, "but we did visit Rome, and some of the fellows got to see the Pope. Erupting Vesuvius and the ancient ruins of Pompeii were on their list of 'laces we've been and sights we've seen.'"

"There was evidence of the ravages of war throughout the countryside on the way to Rome," declared the sergeant, "but Rome wasn't touched. I saw one house which had been partially demolished by bombs, but otherwise there was no outward sign of war's destruction in Rome."

Saw Plenty of Action These Iowa City men saw plenty of action before they were released for 30 days temporary duty in the United States. They don't talk about it too freely. But glad as they are to be home—welcome as is this short "breather"—they think about their buddies from the old national guard unit back in 1941, who entered service the same day they did and who are still "somewhere in Italy." "Until all these veterans are on their way home a fellow somehow just can't feel quite right about being home himself."

Sergeants Floerchinger, Adrian and Parker will report back for duty with their original unit, wherever it may be, at the conclusion of their 30 days. They arrived in Iowa City Thursday night, Sept. 7.
