Russian Forces Reach Czecho-Slovak Border

Renew Drive On Warsaw

Tito Makes Contact With Red Army Forces, Captures Negotin

LONDON (AP)—The Red army reached the Czechoslovak border below Krosno in a flaring new offensive in southern Poland yesterday and conquered the stubborn fortress of Lomza in northern Poland in a powerhouse drive that carried within 15 miles of the East Prussian border on the south.

Simultaneously a ferocious onslaught was opened on Warsaw, with Soviet troops and the Russian-sponsored First Polish army fighting bitter engagements with the Germans in the suburban area of Praga on the right bank of the Vistula river.

Marshal Tito announced in a special communique early today that his Yugoslav partisan troops had made contact with the Red army.

The communique broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio contained only one sentence, saying:

"In their offensive to the north our units captured Negotin and with their left wing are in contact with troops of the Red army."

Negotin is a Yugoslav town ten miles from the Romanian border in the east and the same distance from the Bulgarian frontier on the southeast.

Moscow has not yet announced the entrance of Red army troops into Yugoslavia.

The drive to recover Hungarian-held Transylvania for Romania made progress, Russian and Romanian troops seizing more than 50 settlements deep in that mountainous area, principally the city and railway station of Odorhei.

Lomza, last major stronghold guarding the southern approaches to East Prussia, fell to the Russians after 11 days of battle that ranked with the bloodiest of the entire summer.

In their crushing drive to the Czechoslovak frontier the Russians announced they had captured more than 100 towns, including Krosno, 47 miles west of Przemyśl. The Germans Monday said they had evacuated Krosno.

In northern Romania Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's mountain troops were driving toward the Carpatho-Ukraine, another fragment of dismembered Czechoslovakia having taken the German-Hungarian stronghold of Campulung where the upper Moldava river has carved a pass through the crags.

The Ankara (Turkish) radio placed the Romanian army within a mile or two of the old Hungarian frontier, apparently in the Timisoara region of Transylvania, but Moscow was silent on this report.

Deeper in the Balkans, however, the Moscow radio quoted the Bulgarian radio as announcing that General Hresov, new commander of the Fifth Bulgarian army in Macedonia, had been instructed to make contact with the Macedonian army of liberation for joint operations against the Germans.

In disclosing the flare-up of the battle for Warsaw, which has been under siege 45 days, the Soviet communique placed the fighting in the area of Praga, big contiguous suburb of the Polish capital, but did not give exact locations.

Atlantic Hurricane Heads for Coast Of North Carolina

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A great Atlantic hurricane fraught with peril for life and property bore down upon the North Carolina coast last night, the weather bureau reported, and headed for the vicinity of Cherry Point.

Only a last-minute change of direction apparently could save the coastline from a raking by winds of a force which recalled the destructive New England hurricane of 1938.

Emphasizing the gravity of the situation, the weather bureau urged residents of the endangered areas to seek safety.

A warning said the center "should reach the North Carolina coast in the vicinity of Cherry Point early Thursday forenoon."

Fiery Debate Shakes UAW-CIO Convention

No-Strike Pledge May See Showdown In Additional Votes

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The national convention of the united automobile workers (UAW) last night rejected a proposal calling for outright revocation of labor's no-strike pledge.

The resolution defeated by a vote of 6,463 to 3,801, also provided for a referendum on the question the union's 1,200,000 members.

Delegates this morning will vote on a second proposal which would limit application of the pledge to war industries once Germany is defeated. That resolution provides for continuation of the pledge for war plants but revocation for workers employed in civilian manufacture after the defeat of the Nazis.

With one important exception, international officials of the union echoed the plea of CIO President Philip Murray, who urged reaffirmation of the pledge in a convention address and predicted upward revision, within a week, of the little steel wage formula.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice-president, stood alone among the high officers in urging modification of the pledge after victory in Europe. He argued that such action would mean fewer strikes instead of more of them, because he said the mere threat of authorizing stoppages would compel employers to accept collective bargaining.

John McGill, delegate from the Flint, Mich., Buick local, urged outright revocation of the pledge, describing it as a "sugar-coated pill from which the sugar has now dissolved and we can taste the poison."

Hull Proposes United Nations—Trade Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Hull, further unfolding state department plans for post-war world organization, yesterday projected a united nations trade conference at which one purpose will be to outlaw international cartels.

Hull disclosed the existence of his tentative plans in a letter to President Roosevelt. The latter had written Hull last week asking that he keep an eye on the whole subject of cartels. The president's letter was broad enough to include not only cartels which Nazi Germany used as weapons of economic warfare, but those which friendly nations such as Britain have used as instruments of commercial policy.

In a reply to Quebec where Mr. Roosevelt is conferring with Prime Minister Churchill, Hull said that "the tentative policy proposals" for controlling cartels in order to promote trade and peace would soon be defeated. Also, Hull said, plans have already been drawn up and are ready for the president's consideration "for discussions with other united nations in respect to the whole subject of commercial policy." Just as the president had done, Hull declared that elimination of restrictive cartel practices is a proper objective of this government's "liberal principles of international trade."

Allied High Strategy Nearing Completion At Quebec Council

Roosevelt Stresses Interrelation of Wars In Pacific, Europe

QUEBEC (AP)—The high strategy of the second Quebec war conference was all but complete last night—a result of "splendid progress" by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill on a formula for final victory over a reeling but still formidable axis.

Discussions will continue for three or four days in the guarded bastions of Quebec's citadel. But it became apparent that they will be devoted largely to filling gaps in war plans already drafted in broad outline.

The major decisions which confronted Roosevelt and Churchill on their second wartime excursion to this provincial capital now have been made.

May Announce Decisions
Probably the deliberations of the president and prime minister will adjourn this weekend with a joint pronouncement discussing those decisions in the most general terms. That has not been finally decided, but it has been the pattern of the past.

This year's Quebec conference has been billed officially as a "Beat Japan" assemblage. But developments during the day underscored the facts that the wars in the Pacific and in Europe are linked inseparably by problems of manpower, shipping, supply, overall strategy and timing.

Mr. Roosevelt himself asserted: "This is a conference to get the best we can out of the combined British and United States war efforts in the Pacific and in Europe. We are working in consonance with the situation in China, the Pacific and in Europe, coordinating our efforts with those of our allies, particularly the Chinese and the Russians."

More Leaders
The official announcement was that more allied leaders were coming to Quebec.

Assurances that Britain will toss her full power into the conquest of Japan came from Robin Cruikshank, of the British information service.

The government and people of England, he asserted, "are pledged heart and soul to see that their through to the end."

Early was asked whether he had any confirmation of published reports that a supreme allied commander would be selected for the Pacific. His answer was: "none."

Mary Livingston Denies Statement

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mary Livingston declared yesterday that the statement of Jack Benny, her husband, that she was an expectant mother came as a complete surprise to her.

"He must have been joking," she said. "I talked with Jack two days ago but the subject wasn't even mentioned. We had considered adopting another baby, but that was some time ago."

Benny told a navy audience at Honolulu Tuesday, where he concluded a Pacific tour that his wife had wanted to make the tour with him "but one of us had to stay home and have the baby."

6,000 Allied Planes Blast German Plane Factories, Oil Plants

Drop 10,000 Tons Of Bombs in Greatest Attack in History

LONDON (AP)—Overwhelming formations of between 5,000 and 6,000 allied planes ranged ahead of allied ground forces invading Germany, in the greatest concentrated air attack in history yesterday, dropping 10,000 tons of bombs between the Siegfried line and Berlin and destroying at least 53 more planes of the fading German air force.

The allied bombers peppered the attack area with an average of ten tons of bombs a minute, an efficient example of "carpet" bombing introduced in Africa by air chief marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, now Gen. Eisenhower's deputy commander. Tedder has intensified the assault method so it leaves almost nothing untouched in the area under attack.

33 Planes Destroyed
Thirty-three German planes were knocked out in the air and 20 destroyed on the ground.

The assault was continued at nightfall by medium bombers which attacked the causeway between Walcheren and South Beveland in Holland and strafed the roads and rail crossings on the south bank of the West Scheldt river. One squadron was a Dutch formation of Mitchells.

The United States Eighth air force lost 27 bombers and nine fighters. A force of 1,000 Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 300 fighters, attacked three synthetic oil plants, two motor transport factories and other military targets.

More than 500 heavy bombers based in Italy hit two synthetic oil plants along the Silesian border and another near the Polish frontier.

Ninth airforce Thunderbolts strafed trucks and trains hauling supplies to enemy forces in the vicinity of Nancy and cut railway tracks in five places near that city as well as destroying many gun emplacements near Metz.

Almost every type of plane was used. Night bombers raided in daylight, high-level bombers went in at low level, fighters shot up enemy transport in virtually non-stop sorties, and rocket-firing aircraft were everywhere.

Four Great Attacks
Between Tuesday midnight and last evening there were four great attacks on Germany on such a scale that the German radio was giving warnings of approaching planes every two minutes.

Pilots reported that there were clear signs now that the German air force at last has been to do everything possible to stop the great allied aerial onslaught, and that it has concentrated in central Germany all its remaining fighters, from the newest jet-propelled planes to the oldest Messerschmitt types.

Yanks in Philippines Destroy 200 Planes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Navy carrier planes let fly at the western central Philippine islands of Panay, Cebu and Negros Monday in a continuing attack that already has destroyed at least 200 enemy planes, several cargo ships and smaller craft.

This was the second carrier based raid on the Philippines in three days. The Japanese air force was giving stiff opposition. Fifty Japanese planes were shot down and more than 150 destroyed on the ground.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said that preliminary reports indicated the action was continuing. There was no mention of American plane losses.

Destruction of the planes on the ground probably means that the air fleet of Admiral William F. Halsey hit Capiz airfield on Panay, 210 miles from Manila. Halsey's powerful third fleet, three days ago, sank or damaged 89 Japanese cargo ships and destroyed 68 planes in widespread raids on Mindanao's five airfields and her iron and timberports.

Battle shattered southeast China saw Japanese forces fan down from recently captured Hengyang south and west toward Kwelin. Bitter fighting raged as the revived enemy drive on Hoisong (Luichow) peninsula was checked on the extreme southeast coast.

Dewey Raps OPA Beef Regulations

Praises MacArthur For Brilliant Gains In South Pacific

EN ROUTE TO SHERIDAN, WYO., With Dewey (AP)—Talks with Nebraska cattle raisers impelled Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday to assai what he called the "ignorantly conceived" OPA regulations which he said have led to a big surplus of rationed beef.

"As close as we are to the end of the war," the Republican nominee said, "it is time that we face the exceeding critical problem of having ten million head of cattle above normal requirements on the ranges."

OPA regulations, he declared, have driven feeders out of business with the result that there is a bottleneck between the range and the meat counters.

After driving from the nearby Valentine, Neb., ranch of former Gov. Sam R. McKelvie, where he and Mrs. Dewey spent the night, the nominee talked with reporters in the lounge car of his special train and then attended a rodeo before leaving for Sheridan and the west coast.

He called for greater scope and recognition of the "magnificent talents" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur but declined to name a choice for over-all commander in the Pacific war.

Told that this is one of the subjects reported under discussion between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec, the governor observed there are many international political considerations involved.

While refraining from nominating a commander, Dewey said: "Now that General MacArthur is no longer a political threat to Mr. Roosevelt, it would seem appropriate that his magnificent talents be given greater scope and recognition."

"I am not suggesting the name of the over-all commanding officer since so many political factors are involved in that choice, as well as military," Dewey explained, that he meant international, not domestic factors.

"I am suggesting," he went on, "that adequate recognition and supplies commensurate with General MacArthur's talents are long overdue."

"Would you combine military and naval operations?" he was asked.

"That is a technical problem to be decided by the chiefs of staff," Dewey replied.

Allies Reach Passes In Appennine Barrier

ROME (AP)—Allied forces driving for the core of the German Gothic line have reached the threshold of two main passes leading through the Appennine barrier guarding the approach to northern Italy and the rich Po river valley.

Pushing forward through steadily increasing rearguard action Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army troops thrust to a point within a mile of Futa pass after capturing Poggia Della Dogana, while another allied force was within less than a mile of another major pass northeast of Florence.

British troops engaged for more than a week before Rimini, eastern anchor of the Gothic line, continued to meet fierce enemy resistance. A breakthrough at Rimini would enable British armor to sweep into the Po valley behind the Gothic line. Both sides were reported suffering heavy casualties.

Dorsey Hearing Set

Romanians Remit $300,000,000 to Reds

Adhere to 1940 Frontier in Return For Transylvania

LONDON (AP)—Romania has pledged to fight on the allied side until final victory over Germany, to pay $300,000,000 worth of reparations to Russia, to restore all united nations property and to adhere to the 1940 frontier that gave Russia Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, the Soviet government announced last night in broadcasting the terms of the Romanian armistice.

In return, Romania is to get back the Transylvania territory which the Germans had handed to Hungary in 1940 and is to maintain her own civil administration in non-combat zones.

Commenting on the 20-point armistice formally signed yesterday, the chief Romanian negotiator in Moscow, Lucretiu Patrascanu, declared, "We don't have a right to be dissatisfied with the terms."

These first published armistice terms of the war were signed by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky on behalf of Russia, Britain and the United States, with Russia "acting in the interest of all the united nations," and by the Romanian delegation which has been dealing in Moscow while Romanian troops already were fighting under Red army direction against the Germans and Hungarians.

Italy was accorded the first armistice of this war from the united nations but its terms never have been made public. Terms for Bulgaria have been drafted by the European advisory commission but not yet signed.

As the great attack gathered momentum, General Eisenhower issued his second broadcast to Germany in two days, this time urging foreign workers in northwest, western and southern Germany to flee the Nazis' manhunt for soldiers and trench diggers and to leave the factories and go into hiding.

'A' Drivers Will Wait—Civilian Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP)—When more gasoline is available—some time after Germany's surrender—trucks, buses and the neediest "B" drivers will get it first, OWI said yesterday.

"A" drivers can't expect more fuel in the gas tank until every "B" driver who actually uses his car for work receives what he needs for essential business driving.

And even after that, "A" rations may not be increased for a while, said the office of war information in its petroleum report.

In making the last statement, OWI brought into view a possible future struggle among government officials over how fast to relax gasoline restrictions after the fuel begins to be more plentiful.

OWI put it this way: Any increase in "A" rations "might depend on the general state of the automotive system of transportation."

Enter Outskirts Of Aachen

Allied Troops Beset Core of Westwall In Three Sectors

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Thursday (AP)—American troops rolling through surprisingly light resistance yesterday drove into the outskirts of the important German border city of Aachen, one of the northern keystones of the Siegfried line, and struck close to the core of the Nazis' vaunted westwall in at least three other sectors along a 90-mile front.

The American captured the border village of Rotgen, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, the first German community to be reported taken in the all-out assault on Hitler's Reich, and stood 325 air-line miles from Berlin in their march on the Nazi capital.

As the American armored columns encountered only minor opposition in the Siegfried line outposts, indications were that the Germans were falling back toward the Rhine, 40 miles to the east in this sector.

To the south of these onrushing forces, which were part of the First army of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, two other columns were storming or preparing to storm major fortifications in the Siegfried system.

The first stood within gunshot of Germany east of the village of Clervaux, in the northern tip of Luxembourg, and the other farther to the south was in Germany northwest of the town of Trier, its exact position unreported since an initial penetration of at least five miles two days ago.

The Seventh, driving up from the south of France, closed in on the sentinel city of Belfort guarding the approach to southwestern Germany through the Burgundy state, while at the extreme northeast end of the allied line the British Second army was veering northeastward through Belgium and Holland in a smash which the Germans said was aimed at flanking the Siegfried line from the north.

Above Metz Patton's men captured heights dominating the strategic town of Thionville and cleared the Germans out of that part of the town on the west bank of the river. In addition a new crossing north of Metz was announced.

The German radio, in its first acknowledgment that American troops had invaded Nazi soil, reported that an "outpost" of the Siegfried line had been captured—apparently in reference to Rotgen.

Writing from Rotgen, William Smith White of The Associated Press said American troops "are now assaulting the hulking anti-tank obstacles and pillboxes just beyond this town." He said big American self-propelled guns were "howling amid the debris that surrounds them on German soil in support of this attack."

Capture of Rotgen occurred at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. The official allied blackout of spontaneous news of the fighting apparently delayed announcement of the city's fall.

As the great attack gathered momentum, General Eisenhower issued his second broadcast to Germany in two days, this time urging foreign workers in northwest, western and southern Germany to flee the Nazis' manhunt for soldiers and trench diggers and to leave the factories and go into hiding.

Yanks Mass Four Full Armies in France

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force (AP)—Four full American armies—two more than Gen. John J. Pershing had in the last month of the First World War—are on the western front, it was disclosed yesterday with an announcement that the United States Ninth army had taken a place beside the First, Third and Seventh.

Although it was not announced whether the Ninth, commanded by Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson, was actually in the fight or its sector of operations, it seemed likely that the army already was in the line.

Clothes May Still Be Rationed—

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of clothes rationing may continue to haunt the country for months ahead, government officials predicted yesterday.

Even an early collapse of Germany will not provide much relief from textile shortages, war production board sources said. WPB has been notified by the army that V-day in Europe will mean only a 10 percent drop in army textile purchasing, which it turn will mean only a one to three percent increase in total supplies for civilians.

One official said clothing rationing might have to be ordered within about four months unless deep cutbacks in aircraft, shipbuilding, munitions and other industries occur to release workers for textile mills, or unless other factors—such as a swift resumption of the disorganized European textile industry—occur.

Another expert acknowledged that textile producers have complained that WPB's program to increase low-cost clothing output have contributed little more than "some extra red tape for indus-

Roosevelt to Speak Oct. 5—

CHICAGO (AP)—President Roosevelt will make a campaign speech on the night of Oct. 5 in a broadcast directed to meetings of party workers gathered in every voting district of the country, Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan announced yesterday.

Hannegan, who billed the scheduled address as the president's "second nationwide campaign broadcast of 1944," said that listening audiences would be arranged in more than 125,000 voting areas, in the 48 states.

The party chairman said that under the plan one worker in each district would invite 10 neighbors to his home to listen to the president. After the broadcast, he continued, each of the persons will be given a list of registered voters and will be asked to get those voters to the polls election day.

The broadcast will begin at 9 p. m. (CWT).

Hannegan, who conferred here during the last three days with party officials from 23 midwestern, southern and border states and previously talked with the representatives of 15 eastern states, asserted at a press conference that "I have not the slightest doubt as to the outcome. Everywhere there is evidence that our state leaders are working aggressively, and there is a real spirit of optimism among them all."

Flaherty Says CIO Has Entered Politics

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Edward K. Flaherty, Washington, personal representative of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, said here yesterday the CIO has "left the ranks of labor and entered the ranks of politics" and declared the AFL "would not become a part of any movement to take over a political party and dictate to the president of the United States."

In a talk before the annual convention of the Nebraska state federation of labor, Flaherty said "We don't need any six million dollars and we don't want to 'buy' anybody. Our duty is to the working man, not to any political candidate."

Flaherty said most AFL union members will vote for President Roosevelt, "but after the election we will stand aloof." The CIO, he said, "has adopted" the Democratic party and after the election will have serious difficulties with a congress which will include many Republicans and in states where there are Republican governors.

The CIO is "almost completely under communist domination," Flaherty said. He described Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action committee as the "Pooh-Bah" of politics.

London Says WPB Sees End of War By Oct. 13

WASHINGTON (AP)—London reports that planners of the United States war effort had figured Oct. 31 as the "outside date" of German collapse brought from war production board officials last night the comment they were ready for the end of European hostilities—no matter how early victory occurs.

An Associated Press dispatch from London quoted a responsible non-British source as saying the Oct. 31 date had been pinpointed by the WPB after consultations with military sources in working out plans to make a partial change from war to civilian production.

J. A. Krug, acting chairman of WPB, declined to comment on the report but other officials of the agency said they were prepared to order promptly the lifting of most government controls on industry, in accordance with the general reconversion pattern announced last week.

Harvey Ingham Celebrates 86th Birthday

Harvey Ingham, editor-emeritus of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, had a birthday last Friday. He was 86 years old and he celebrated the day by going down to the office, where he joked with Register and Tribune newsmen about his age. He has often blamed his long life on a New England stomach that has prevented him from eating what wasn't good for him.

Born in Log Cabin
Born in a log cabin near Algona Sept. 8, 1858, Harvey Ingham has become one of the country's most distinguished editors. He has backed the cause of the underdog, often taking unpopular positions in the light of public opinion. He defended the rights of the quarter million German-Americans in Iowa in 1917. He advocated American participation in the League of Nations and the World Court when such an affirmative stand was strongly opposed.

Ingham's boyhood in Iowa was in reality the sort of adventurous life that youngsters dream about today. He and his mother used to hide in the bushes near a creek to avoid roving Indian bands. He even spent a year in a frontier fort while his father, Capt. William H. Ingham, and other frontiersmen were chasing Indians.

SUI Graduate
In 1880 Ingham graduated with an A. B. degree from the University of Iowa and completed work the following year for an LL. B. degree. For several years he edited Algona's weekly newspaper and during the four years before he left the paper in 1902 was also the town's postmaster.

Associated with the Register and Tribune for 41 years, Ingham edited the papers until 1943, when he took the title of editor emeritus. A great reader, perhaps Iowa's greatest book buyer, Ingham is said to read around a thousand books each year. "But," he says, "you can't find the answer to life in them."

Tribute to Ingham
Addison Parker, Des Moines attorney, once paid tribute to Ingham, describing him as being tolerant and liberal, a friend of all races. He added that Ingham has written and spoken always without malice, giving impetus to the cause of peace.

Ingham's writings have influenced the people of Iowa away from a provincial outlook in their thinking. Yet for many years Harvey Ingham has congratulated himself and other Iowans on living in the Hawkeye state, away from the darkest shadows of war and want.

The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst
QUEBEC — Anglo-American plans for throttling encirclement of Japan appear virtually complete in outline in a matter of hours, as compared to the more than two weeks it took the original Quebec conference to finish its job.

Conference spokesmen have forecast an end of deliberations by the week end, an indication sufficient of itself to show there was little or no disagreement as to the scope, nature or timing of the military measures being jointly planned against Japan.

Obviously only details of the staggering job involved — the logistical pattern for the movement of enormous forces over the vast distances of sea — remained to be worked out. They will be left to staff elements once the main decisions have been formally ratified.

While there is no official word as yet that a joint Roosevelt-Churchill statement of results is planned, it is to be expected, and the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin announcement that wove the pattern of German defeat will no doubt prove to be the model followed.

That Russian-aided declaration stressed an agreement on the "timing" of the coordinated blows planned against Germany. In this case, however, the timing of attacks of Japan naturally must be left more or less indefinite. Too much depends on the speed with which the European campaign can be finished off.

There is evidence aplenty on the war maps at the Chateau Frontenac headquarters, however, that the climax is approaching for Germany even more swiftly than probably had been thought possible at the time the Quebec meeting was agreed upon. That is another reason urging Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill to conclude their personal share of the important business here as quickly as possible.

It also possibly cut weeks or even months the time that might otherwise have been taken to put the Quebec decisions, certainly a projection beyond anything now in progress in or beyond the Pacific, into full effect.

Another matter could affect deeply the timing aspect against Japan. The allied military program now is unquestionably shaped without reference to possible ultimate Russian cooperation in the far east as well as in Europe. If that should come after Germany's collapse, it would mean some revision of Quebec plans but also a stepping up of the time element against Japan to a degree not foreseeable until the scope and nature of such potential Russian collaboration was known.

Japs Give Cable Privileges to Yank Prisoners of War
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Japanese government has agreed to permit all American prisoners of war in Japanese custody to send a 10-word cablegram to their next of kin at American government expense, the Red Cross reported last night.

The agreement is not expected to become operative for at least a month, a Red Cross spokesman said.

"It is unlikely that the prisoners will be allowed to give much information on their present circumstances but we feel the messages will be of tremendous value both to the sender and the receiver, the spokesman said.

The messages probably will be forwarded from prisoner areas to Tokyo where they will be censored, then sent to the international Red Cross at Geneva for relay to this country.

General Pershing Observes Birthday
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing, suffering from a slight cold but looking fit in the opinion of his few visitors, quietly observed his 83th birthday anniversary yesterday at his quarters in the army's Walter Reed hospital.

His visitors were limited largely to representatives of veterans organizations.

The army and navy union presented the general of the armies with a birthday card signed by 312 veterans who served under Pershing in five campaigns—the Indian wars, the Philippine expedition, Spanish-American war, Mexican occupation and the first World war.

Opinions On and Off Campus—

Will Russia Join the Allies Against Japan?

Prof. John E. Briggs of the political science department: "I don't see how anyone could possibly know. Russia has been extra careful in maintaining her non-aggression agreement with Japan. Russian and Japanese interests in the Far East are obviously in conflict. Therefore, if Japan is reduced to an inferior power it will be to Russia's advantage."

Mary Gross, A1 of Marion—"Yes, I believe Russia will join the other Allies against Japan because she is, in a sense, obligated for lend-lease aid. Japan is as much a threat to Russia as to the United States and Great Britain."

Jane Cretzmeier, G of Algona—"The important seaport of Vladivostok is threatened by proximity to Japan, and Russia must safeguard this port, so I believe she will enter the fight when Germany collapses."

Audrey Ross, A2, Des Moines: "Yes, because, even though the Russians have done a lot of hard fighting, they will help us in our fight for the common cause against the enemies of the world."

Earl English, instructor, school of journalism: "No, I don't think they will participate actively in our fight against Japan. They will probably try to hold the line they have now established but will not take the offensive."

Dean Lierle, Jr., A1, Iowa City: "Russia appears not to be fighting Japan so she may concentrate upon the western front. When that front is cleared, she will join the Eastern war so she may participate in postwar world affairs with her allies."

Hilda Chen-Apuy, G, San Jose, Costa Rica: "I think Russia has done and is doing very well, but I do not think she will join the allies against Japan right away. She still has not declared war on Japan." In the Chinese-Japanese war, Russia helped China, but only through indirect methods, and I think she will observe before joining the allies in the war against Japan. "I think that Russia feels she is alone and must keep reserves for anything which might happen after the war."

Perry Haist, D2, Burlington: "No, if Russia were going to enter the battle, she would have, sooner. She could have helped by giving us bases in Siberia. I don't think Russia feels that defeating Japan is her war."

Warren Johnson, A2 of Clinton: "I doubt very much if Russia will join the Allies because every alliance Russia has had with the Allies has been strictly for her own benefit. Russia has always been 'Russia for the Russians' and 'read only when tread upon'."

Shirley Anderson, A4, of Ottumwa: "Yes, I believe the Russians will join the allies in the defeat of Japan because of the vast allied help given them this year."

Gordon Johnson, A1, of Moline, Ill.: "The Russians have no particular indebtedness to us. After all, they were in there pitching before we were. I would be inclined to think that they would join us in fighting Japan for their own protection."

worth writing about?"
For "a minute nobody spoke. Flattened down against the jeep's hood, the windshield still carried three holes from the last time a machine pistol expert ambushed it. The aim had been bad, but not very bad.

"Well, said the captain suddenly, "every" took time to walk around every little corner, the whole army still would be back in the beachhead. What say we keep rolling?"

"Okay by me, sir," said the driver belligerently, as he shifted viciously into low gear. Wide open, the jeep hit the bend of the road at full speed, gambling that there were no mines or road blocks ahead. Nothing happened. No Smitzer's stuttering slaughter, no crack of a carbine bullet, no explosion of a mine—nothing slowed the jeep's careening speed. An hour later everybody was laughing and joking in a little French tavern in the next town. The Germans had been gone a couple of hours.

All over this sector of France the same scene is being enacted on countless road corners with different characters and slightly different endings.

And sometimes a slightly different ending.

Five-Bladed Propeller Gives New Spitfire Added Height
WASHINGTON (AP)—A fast and powerful new Spitfire, hurled through the air by a five-bladed propeller which gives it fighting strength at 40,000 feet and higher, came off the British air ministry's secret last night.

It's been cruising enemy territory for months looking for a fight, but the timid Luftwaffe has made it a lonesome job.

The new RAF fighter—officially designated the Spitfire Mark XIV—is powered by a new Rolls-Royce engine developing over 2,000 horsepower. The five-bladed propeller is to carry the extra engine power.

President Hancher To Address AAUW At Luncheon Sept. 23

President Virgil M. Hancher will address the American Association of University Women at a luncheon in the University club rooms of Iowa Union at 12:15 p. m., Sept. 23. His subject will be "Post-War Education."

For 55 years, the American Association of University Women, affiliated with the International Federation of University Women, has endeavored to unite the alumnae of American colleges and universities through a program which stresses education, social and economic problems and the arts. The aims for this year include using education as a force to build citizens who can meet the responsibilities of democracy, working for a stable world order, helping to meet the social and economic problems of the time, learning and building through the arts, promoting the fuller use of womanpower and encouraging the establishment of fellowships for gifted women.

The year's program for the local chapter will be carried on through monthly luncheons or teas. Speakers will address the general association, and members will form study groups in education, child study, social studies, international relations, economic and legal status of women, and in the arts.

Since locally and nationally A. A. U. W. is endeavoring to raise standards in all academic circles for undergraduate and graduate women, membership is limited to colleges which fulfill certain requirements. All local alumnae, all graduate women on the campus and wives of faculty members and of the navy are invited to affiliate with the local chapter. Eligibility may be checked with Prof. Luella M. Wright, room B3, University hall; Mrs. Fred Fehling, (3208), and Mrs. Homer Dill (5187), chairman of the membership committee.

Pirates Win Second Twin Bill From St. Louis Nine, 7-3; 10-5

Pound Card Pitchers For 19 Hits

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Pounding St. Louis pitching for 19 hits, the rampaging second-place Pittsburgh Pirates won their second doubleheader in two nights from the league-leading Cardinals. The scores were 7 to 3 and 10 to 5.

The double victory ran the Pirates' record to nine consecutive conquests over St. Louis and cut the Cardinals lead to 13 1/2 games.

Rip "Blooper" Sewell out-pitched three Cardinal hurlers to win his 17th game in the twilight contest. All three St. Louis runs came in the third inning when Johnny Hopp homered with one on and Ken O'Dea followed with another four base blow. Harry Brecheen was charged with his fourth loss against 13 victories.

In the light game, veteran Max Lanier was batted out for the fifth straight time as he lost his 10th game.

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—They really pamper those major league baseball players in the army, don't they: breakfast in bed, afternoon tea, orderlies to shove pillows under them every time they sit down and all that sort of stuff.

Take Kirby Higbe as an example of these cellophane-wrapped athletes. Kirby, a gent with a bazooka arm, used to pitch for the Brooklyn Dodgers before his induction into the army, infantry division, and he eventually wound up at Camp Livingston.

Naturally, being a man of some modest fame, he was treated with the greatest consideration, it being readily realized that his addition to the camp baseball team roster would be of considerable value.

Great pains were taken to see that the new squad member would be in fine condition for his debut on the mound. He must take it easy, of course, and not overdo, and his mind must be free from worry.

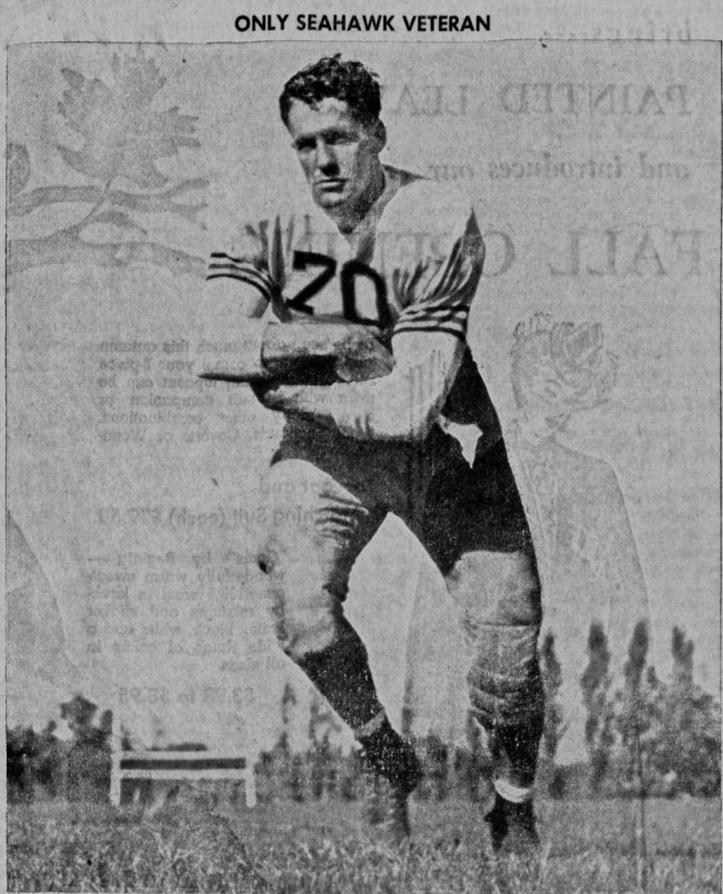

Consequently, the day before the game, a guard gently shook him at 5 a. m. to remind him of the top kick had him down for K. P. that day, and he'd better shake himself out of the hay in a hurry, or else.

Any GI can tell you the soothing routine which followed; how Kirby lay day long and far into the night kept his mind on the lofty spud, how he learned what happens when a scrub brush is applied to a mess hall floor with sufficient energy, and how pots and pans can be transformed into mirrors if a mess sergeant's dulcet voice lulls you with a constant: "Hey, do you call that clean? You're supposed to scrub them things, not pet 'em."

Private Higbe rolled into bed, or rather fell into bed, at 10 p. m., much refreshed from the day's light conditioning exercises. If he could pitch an inning the next day he felt he would be doing very well indeed, as the pampering was almost more than he could bear.

Bright and early the next morning Private Higbe responded to the ta-te-ta-ta-te-ta-ta-ta-ta of a misguided Harry James, and he decided that, refreshed by the night's sleep, he even might be able to go two innings.

Someone decided that, in that he was to pitch an important game that afternoon, he should take it easy. It was too late by then to bring him his breakfast in bed, so they compromised. They sent him on a 10-mile hike, and when he returned they gave him time to gulp down a bite of lunch, after which he was told to take a quick

ONLY SEAHAWK VETERAN

BUS MERTES, only veteran on the Seahawk squad, will be charging from the fullback position against last year's Big Ten defending co-champions when the Seahawks meet Michigan Saturday. Mertes played for the Iowa Hawkeyes before entering the service and has been a member of the pre-flight eleven for the past two years.

They Pamper—GI Pitchers

Two of the highest ranking football teams in the nation last year will be pitted against each other Saturday, when the Iowa Seahawks clash with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

In the 1943 grid season both the Seahawks and Michigan conquered all comers except the mighty Notre Dame team, which walked off with first place honors in the annual poll to pick the best team of the season.

The Seahawks lost a tough one to the Notre Dame eleven last year, losing out by only one point, 14-13. Michigan, having thoroughly demolished all other opponents, fell before the Notre Dame powerhouse, 35-12.

While the Seahawk team lacks the material it has had in former years, there are nevertheless a number of college stars on the eleven, along with many good but inexperienced players.

"Bus" Mertes, 24-year-old fullback who formerly played for the Hawkeyes, is the only veteran Seahawk on the squad with the majority of the team members players who have been here five weeks or less.

The Wolverines will have nine lettermen on their squad of 87. Twenty-four navy trainees supplement the civilian players on the team.

Stars returning to Michigan this year include Capt. Robert Wiese, fullback, and backs Don Lund and Bob Nussbaumer.

Bus Mertes Only Veteran On Seahawks

BROOKLYN (AP)—Brooklyn's National football league club, polished up with a new name and a new front office set-up, but boasting plenty of veteran field talent, goes into its 15th season Sunday with its highest hopes in years.

Tom S. Gallery, sports impresario from Los Angeles, is operating the club as vice-president and general manager while owner Capt. Dan Toppin is in the South Pacific with the marines. Gallery has changed the name of the club from the Dodgers to the Tigers (nickname of Topping's airwing) to avoid confusion with the baseball "Bums."

Pete Cawthon, formerly of Texas Tech, is back as head coach. In three exhibitions, since opening practice Aug. 6 at Abilene, Tex., the Tigers have won and lost two. They open league play Sunday against Green Bay at Milwaukee.

The Brooklyn starting 11 will be veterans of National league play. In it will be Andy Kowalski and Masterson (Redskins) at end; Bruiser Kinard and George Serjienko at tackles; Leon (Redskins) and Floyd Rhea (Chicago Cardinals) at guards; Smith (Redskins), Bill Brown, Cecil Johnson and Jug Manders, backs. ## Tom Gallery Changes Grid Dodgers' Name To Brooklyn Tigers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack thinks the Detroit Tigers are the best bet to win the American league pennant.

Speaking at a Shrine club luncheon yesterday, he said, "The Tigers have a real chance to win, being aided by their outstanding pitchers, Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser. If I were picking, I would give them the edge."

"The Browns, although slipping lately because of erratic pitching, play all their remaining games at home. There is no telling what they will do the rest of the way."

"Then you never can count the Yankees out. When we met them on Labor Day they were at their best and I believe they looked even stronger than the days when they still had DiMaggio, Dickey, Keller and others."

"You can count on one thing—the pennant winner won't be the A's."

Momo Flag captured the fifth endurance series handicap at Narragansett park, A. 3 to 10 favorite, the winner returned only $2.60 for running the mile and three quarters in 3:04 4/5. Second went to Scotch Abbott by three and a half lengths over Rest Awhile.

having decided not to play pro football, the outstanding college recruits on the roster are halfbacks Dub McGiboney of Arkansas State Teachers and Ken Fryer of West-Virginia.

Ft. Sheridan Drops Football for Year

Season to Terminate After Saturday Game With Great Lakes

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP)—Cancellation of all Ft. Sheridan football games after its game Saturday with Great Lakes was announced last night by Col. George H. Cushman, commanding officer. He said telegrams notifying the balance of the cancellation were dispatched last night.

Teams affected were: Northwestern, Sept. 22; Iowa Pre-Flight, Sept. 30; Lawrence college, Oct. 7; Bunker Hill navy, Peru, Ind., Oct. 14; Marquette university, Oct. 21 and Lincoln, Neb., army air base, Nov. 5.

The small original squad of 25 on the army post team suffered from major and minor injuries against Western Michigan at Kalamazoo last Saturday when Ft. Sheridan was defeated 67 to 6 in their first game. Since then, Cushman said, seven army players have been transferred to other assignments.

"I am convinced that it would be foolhardy and actually dangerous," Cushman declared, "for us to send the present squad of men on the field against the rest of our opponents. We regret the necessity for this action, but feel it would be better for our opponents to have an opportunity to secure other games."

Lieut. John Dunn, former University of Wisconsin player, is the coach of the Ft. Sheridan team.

Cushman, in announcing that the game this Saturday with Great Lakes would be played, said athletic officers at the naval training center had been notified of the soldier-squad conditions and were willing to accept the situation for sake of entertainment of men at the station.

Yanks Won Flag in 1922 By One Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Memories of New York's one-game pennant victory over St. Louis in 1922 were revived yesterday by the current Yankee surge—but the picture was only a blurred image of the original.

Twenty-two years ago, as Miller Huggins and Lee Fohl lead their teams down the stretch, the race was strictly a two-club affair. Detroit, third under Manager Ty Cobb, was 15 lengths back. Now four clubs are involved.

The Yankees of 1922 almost clinched the flag by knocking off St. Louis in a rousing final western tour, but almost "blew" it by losing three of four to Boston as they came home to finish the schedule. It took a day-before-the-end victory over Boston to clinch the bunting. This year the eastern clubs wind up in the west, and there are no more New York-Boston games.

St. Louis was the powerhouse in 1922 with a batting average of .313, and first baseman George Sisler's .420 was the individual "top."

The current Browns are seventh in team hitting, with an anemic .255.

Huggins' Yankees were criticized for "commercializing" the sport through Col. Jake Ruppert's star-buoying program that brought "Jumping Joe" Dugan down from Boston in July when Frank (Home Run) Baker started to slow down. "Sad Sam" Jones, Joe Bush and Everett Scott had been acquired from the Red Sox, and Whitey Witt from Philadelphia, during the winter. By contrast, the current Yanks are a collection of loose parts from the farm system, with a few of the 1943 champs.

Ames Needs Passer; Wingmen Plentiful

MICHALSKA'S ELEVEN MAY BE SURPRISE OF AUTUMN SEASON

AMES (AP)—The Iowa State Cyclone could turn into a full-blown tornado if Mike Michalska, head football coach, finds someone to pitch pigskins like Howard Tippee, his departed 1943 quarterback.

Mike is on record as rating his boys better than the 1943 edition at Iowa State which tied with Missouri for runner-up honors.

When and if the taciturn mentor finds his passer, he probably won't noise abroad his jubilation. But rumors already are floating around the Big Six circuit that Michalska's eleven may be the biggest surprise of autumn.

It will take Mike quite a while just to sift his squad to find that pass pitcher. He has 71 men reporting, including 10 who lettered last fall.

Reford Wagner, who gathered in Tippee-tossed aerials and Dick Howard, another speedy pass-grabbing halfback, also are waiting for someone to turn up who can get the ball to them downfield on those scoring plays. Harold Kornbaum, a 17-year-old freshman end, shows class and could use a battery-mate who aims the pig-skin true.

The navy Tuesday declared 13 of their "V" trainees ineligible for football because of poor grades but Michalska said ten could regain playing status if they made up their work. Only first string men involved were a pair of tackles and one back, none of whom is a letterman.

Charles Wright, all Big Six second team guard, is the star of a moderately heavy line which also lists Kenneth Trommler, 190-pound tackle, and Jack Fathauer, 185, guard as standouts.

Michalska says these boys "probably won't beat Oklahoma" but he figures they can hold their own with the rest of the league.

Cubs Return To Fourth

CHICAGO (AP)—A three-run homer by rookie Frank Secory gave the Chicago Cubs a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a double-header yesterday.

The win enabled the Chicagoans to return to fourth place after dropping temporarily into the second division when the Reds won the opener, 4 to 1, on a three-run rally in the ninth inning.

Continuous Rain Cuts Aqueduct Attendance As Brownie Wins

Joe W. Brown's Brownie took the rainy day's honors with a two length triumph in the $10,000 Bay Shore handicap, splashing over the seven furlongs in 1:24 flat under Eric Guerin. Brownie paid $6.60 in taking the measure of John Marshell's Occupation, hero of Belmont's 1942 Futurity, which took the place by two lengths over Gallant Bull.

The $7,500 Glendale steeplechase, richest and longest cross country event of the meeting, went to Isidore Bieber's Ahmsik by two lengths over Burma Road for a $12.70 ticket. The favorite, Redlands, was third.

Baby Dumpling, four-time winner at the recent Garden state meeting, found the muddy track to his liking in winning the $5,000 Glen Wild purse at Laurel.

The five-year-old winner was clocked at 1:14 4/5 for the six furlongs and returned a $7.40 mutuel. Three lengths back was Best Reward and Reztips was third.

Woolford farm's Cactus foot, only three-year-old in the field, scored an easy three and one half length triumph over the Brolite farm's Latent in a featured class D Allowance race at Hawthorne.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Fifty-four players were named to the University of Wisconsin varsity grid squad yesterday and approximately 50 others were selected to continue their workouts with the reserves as Coach Harry Stuhldreher pointed the way for more concentrated drills.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Coach H. O. Fritz Crisler put Michigan first stringers on the defensive in a workout yesterday against Iowa Pre-Flight plays. Using several combinations, Crisler shifted first team candidates consistently in preparation for the Wolverines' opener here Saturday against the Seahawks.

Illinois Coach Shifts Freshman to End Spot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—After seeing Johnny Orr, freshman from Taylorville, Ill., in a final defensive football scrimmage here yesterday, Coach Ray Elliot shifted him to first string right end position. He replaced Lou Agase of Evanston.

Orr showed up brilliantly on defense as the Illini worked against Illinois Normal plays. George Buan, center, twisted his right ankle again yesterday and probably will miss the Normal opener Saturday.

Lieut. Col. E. W. Paulus Tells Overseas Experiences With Army Medical Corps

After serving overseas with the army medical corps for two and a half years, Lieut. Col. E. W. Paulus, 1039 E. College street, is on leave from the medical battalion, which he commanded in Italy, to spend 30 days with Mrs. Paulus and their two children, Susan and Edward.

Colonel Paulus told about his experiences overseas to members of the Kiwanis club at their noon meeting Tuesday in Hotel Jefferson.

Colonel Paulus said, "I spent a lot of time visiting the ruins of Carthage, Pompeii and Rome. There are some Grecian ruins below Salerno in excellent preservation."

"Everywhere you go you find remnants of the Roman civilization. In Tunisia I saw aqueducts, used to keep the desert productive, still in pretty fair condition. There are quite a few remnants of the old Arab civilization in Morocco and Algeria, according to Colonel Paulus. There, walled cities, old churches and aqueducts are reminders of the Arab culture."

"Everywhere I went in Italy I saw reminders of ancient times. The small interior towns, which are walled, are perched on top of hills. The houses of stone, which gleam in the sunlight when you see them from a distance, are dirty at close inspection. The twisted, narrow streets are hardly wide enough for a jeep."

"Above Rome I visited the remnants of an even older civilization, that of the Etruscans. But Rome is the great place for the preservation of the antique. The churches in Rome are outstanding. The most beautiful one is St. Peter's."

When queried about the spirits of Americans after the Italian invasion, Colonel Paulus answered that there was excellent morale all the way through.

"I saw no WACs while in Italy, but a Red Cross unit was attached to our infantry division. Most of the workers were men, but some women workers were with the clubmobiles from which doughnuts and coffee were served. These machines are equipped with musical recordings."

We saw no movies during combat, only during rest periods. They would average about three a week, but most of the shows were "B" pictures. The film itself was not in good shape. It was a rare occasion when there weren't a dozen breaks in the film during one showing.

"The boys will really appreciate seeing a first class movie and sitting in comfort—seeing an entire show without having it stop many times."

"Occasionally we wished for soft beds with inner spring mattresses, dairy products and fresh eggs, but we put up with what was available."

"The ordinary army ration was satisfactory, but I did get tired of luncheon meat," Colonel Paulus observed. "I think it wasn't so much what we had to eat, but that it was prepared the same way every time. We had fresh fruit, vegetables and meat quite often. There were times when we got along on C and K rations."

Colonel Paulus graduated from the University of Iowa's college of medicine in 1932, and was affiliated with Alpha Kappa Kappa, medical fraternity. He practiced medicine in Iowa City from 1934 to 1941, when he entered the service.

Colonel Paulus is in command of a medical battalion which includes 20 men from Iowa City and a number of others from Cedar Rapids, Sibley, Ida Grove, Newton and Ft. Dodge. It was formerly a part of the Iowa national guard.

'Big Sisters' Honor New Currier Women At Informal Parties

Watchbirds are perched all over Currier hall. They are reminding big sisters to find their little sisters quick because it is time for the annual parties.

The big-little sister plan has existed in Currier for several years as a means of acquainting the old and the new girls. Each girl who has lived in the dormitory and is returning is sent the name of a new girl during the summer and this girl is her little sister. Usually the big and little sisters correspond before school starts. When they arrive on the campus, it is the job of the big sister to make her little sister feel at home and acquaint her with life in Currier.

The big-little sister party is the annual get-together for these girls. Because of the large number when there weren't a dozen breaks in the film during one showing.
