Open Full-Scale Assault on Aachen; Extend Front

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEP, Friday (AP)—The American First army opened a full-scale assault on the great Siegfried line citadel of Aachen today, driving to within a mile of the city from the south, and poured tanks and infantry across the German frontier at a number of points in a general offensive extending southward more than 90 miles. Aachen, an important industrial city as well as a gateway to the Nazis' prized Ruhr and Rhineland regions, was already partially ringed from the west as well as the south as American armored power plowed through tank traps and pill boxes and rolled through half a dozen outlying villages to close in on the border bastion.

New Penetration

Southward 40 miles the Americans made a new penetration of Germany, driving into Nazi territory some eight miles at a point northwest of Prum. This is 30 miles above Trier, near where the first invasion of Germany was made.

Near Trier, at the lower end of the 90-mile invasion front, Yankee infantrymen and tanks fought into the Siegfried line for a depth of two miles and widened their breach to four miles through thinly-manned and lightly-armed fortifications.

American reconnaissance fliers reported sighting American vehicles 16 miles inside the German border at one point. The Germans made no effort to hide the success of the American attack, announcing that "with the largest array of forces" at Aachen the invaders had "succeeded in penetrating forward positions of the westwall at two points."

Burn Villages

Field dispatches described German opposition as still surprisingly light in the Aachen area, with some forts in the Siegfried line not even manned, but the thin Nazi forces opposing the invasion northwest of Trier fought like fanatics and had to be blasted to pieces, bunker by bunker and pillbox by pillbox. German villages were burned to the ground to route their suicide defenders.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army continued to slash east and north from its half-dozen firm bridgeheads across the Moselle river near Nancy in northern France, rolling the Nazis back under sledge-hammer blows of armor and artillery.

Cross Frontier

Headquarters announced a new crossing of the Dutch frontier near Maastricht, 15 miles north of Liege, but did not say whether it was by Canadian or American troops.

American troops fought into the streets of the besieged port of Brest on the Brittany peninsula, and heavy explosions heard within the city possibly were from German demolitions.

American and French forces of the Seventh army have cracked three strong outposts of German defenses guarding Belfort gap and are now 20 miles from Belfort, but the gap itself is still open for the movement of Nazi units north of the Doubs river and west of the Vosges mountains.

The closing stages of Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's campaign to destroy or drive out every German soldier in southern France have brought his divisions into the toughest fighting they have encountered so far.

Austrian Archduke Otto Arrives in Quebec

QUEBEC (AP)—Archduke Otto, pretender to the throne of Austria, arrived in Quebec yesterday from Washington. His trip was described by friends as one of his periodic visits to his mother, former Empress Zita, who lives here. Otto, however, expected to have personal talks with some of the statesmen at the Quebec conference.

Austria, formerly part of the Hapsburg empire, was assured post-war independence by Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin at the Teheran conference.

Lewis Crushes UMW Autonomy Campaign

Implies Leaders Of Movement May Face Expulsion

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cheering partisans of John L. Lewis crushed an autonomy campaign in the united mine workers of America convention yesterday.

The vote for a resolution opposing any change in the rules of district self-government at this time was overwhelming. Scarcely 100 of the more than 2,500 delegates appeared to be standing when the "no" vote was called, and they were booted.

The opposition needed 30 percent of the delegates to force a roll call. It did not seek one. Lewis himself capped the day's debate with a 45-minute talk in which he asserted that some coal operators were encouraging the autonomy movement to weaken the miners' union.

Ray Edmundson, former Illinois district president who led the movement, was not officially seated and could not participate in the debate.

Lewis said that three union members from Illinois had asked the United States attorney general "to arrest John Lewis for suppressing civil rights and to send him to the penitentiary." He then cited a section of the constitution which provides for the expulsion of a member who resorts to the courts to prosecute UMW officers without first using union procedure.

"I think in due time—and this is confidential—said Lewis, provoking laughter, "we will find out who these men were who asked the attorney general to send me to the penitentiary."

"... One of them while conferring with the attorney general was boarding in a suite of rooms in Washington's finest hotel paid for by the coal operators."

Nazis Increase Fight At Gothic Line

ROME (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring was officially reported throwing the combined weight of all his arms into battle last night in an effort to hold the Gothic line against the reinforced United States Fifth army and the British Eighth.

Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth army troops struck heavily at the great barrier before the Po valley and Italy's industrial heart. An undisclosed number of American divisions and several fresh British divisions trampled over Nazi outposts on a 25-mile front from Pistoia to Lucca, northwest of Florence.

Nazi resistance was officially described as "increasing tremendously" as concrete emplacements, mine fields, trenches, tank obstacles, partly buried tanks and "everything conceivable to make positions strong" loomed ahead of the allied forces.

24 Airforce Veterans Of Overseas Combat Killed in Train Crash

Soldiers' Coaches Hurtle From Tracks In Head-On Collision

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Twenty-four airforce veterans who had completed up to 50 missions in overseas combat were among 27 persons killed early yesterday in a head-on collision of two passenger trains on a single track three miles north of here. About 40 others, including several more airforce veterans, were injured.

The soldiers, who had just completed 30-day furloughs, were en route to a redistribution center in Florida. They occupied the first three Pullman cars of the 14-coach Chicago and Eastern Illinois Dixie Flyer, which crashed into an express and mail train bound from Florida to Chicago. The express carried no passengers.

Soldiers' Cars Hit

Ironically, the only coaches to hurtle from the tracks after the collision were those carrying the soldiers. Thirty-nine non-commissioned airforce officers occupied the first coach and 34 commissioned officers were in the two following Pullmans. Army authorities refused to release a full list of the dead and injured servicemen until the next of kin have been notified.

Lieut. Otto Lepic In Train Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lepic, 627 Center street, received a telegram yesterday morning from their son, Lieut. Otto Lepic Jr., stating that he was in the train wreck in Terre Haute, Ind., in which 24 airmen were killed, but was uninjured. Lieutenant Lepic was on his way to a camp in Florida after spending a leave here with his parents.

The first coach burst wide open, spewing torn bodies along the right of way. Air Medals and Purple Heart decorations were strewn among the wreckage. The other two Pullman cars, two baggage coaches, the locomotive and tender piled up along the tracks.

The trains crashed at 2:20 a. m. (CWT) in a heavy fog which enveloped the scene of death and destruction and hindered rescuers trying to locate the cries of the injured. Unhurt passengers helped volunteers pull the dead and injured from the wreckage. Three of the dead were members of the Dixie crew.

Medical Aid Arrives

Doctors and ambulances arrived from Terre Haute shortly after the crash. Red Cross workers set up a first aid station and members of the office of civilian defense joined city and state police searching for dead and injured.

C. & E. I. officials said the wreck was the first on its line involving passenger fatalities since 1905.

Atlantic Coast Hurricane—Wind-Lashed Waves Split Atlantic City Pier

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mountainous waves lashed by a hurricane have split Atlantic City's famous steel pier in half, the Philadelphia Record reported last night. Almost all of the Heintz pier has been washed away and parts of the million dollar pier have been destroyed, the Record said.

A watchman and two other men were isolated on the Heintz pier for nearly an hour until police and coast guard members formed a human chain and hauled them to safety.

One death was reported in the resort city, and property damage was expected to run into the millions. John di Cicco, an air raid warden, was killed when struck on the head by a piece of cornice torn from a building.

Soviet Troops Take Praga

Besiege Polish Capital; Shell Warsaw Positions

LONDON, Friday. (AP)—Russian and Polish troops yesterday captured Warsaw's industrial suburb of Praga on the east bank of the Vistula river, and immediately laid siege to the great Polish capital, taken by the Germans in the first month of the war five years ago, by shelling enemy positions on the 130-foot bluffs across the wide stream.

Poles Still Battle

Polish patriots fighting inside Warsaw could see the Russians and Poles coming to their aid. Thousands of Poles have lost their lives in the Warsaw struggle, but Moscow dispatches early today said the Poles still were battling the enemy, and attempting to secure west bank stretches of the river to aid a possible imminent Russian-Polish crossing from the Praga area.

The capture of Praga, 325 air-line miles from Berlin coincided with these important developments: Another Russian army was reported within 15 miles of lower East Prussia, fighting along the Narew river near captured Lomza, 75 miles northeast of Warsaw; in the south Red scouts were believed to have crossed from Poland into Slovakia; pro-allied Romanian detachments were fighting in western Romania within 135 miles of Budapest, Hungarian capital; Marshal Tito's partisans had made a junction with the Red army in Yugoslavia, and Berlin said other Soviet units had crossed into Greece from Bulgaria.

Early had "no comment" on a statement by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, that Gen. Douglas MacArthur "should be appointed allied over-all commander in the Pacific" or his suggestion that MacArthur has been suppressed in the past.

U. S. Indicts 174 German Aliens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indictment of 174 German aliens on charges of concealing their affiliation with the Nazi party was announced yesterday by the justice department.

Although individual members of the party have been indicted previously on various charges, the present indictments constitute the first legal action against the party as such.

Maximum penalties under the indictments are $10,000 fines and from two to ten years imprisonment.

All those indicted, the justice department said, were residents or former residents of the New York and New Jersey area.

Germans Display Increasing Panic

LONDON (AP)—Gestapo chief and home army leader Heinrich Himmler announced last night a strengthening of the Berlin police command only a few hours after broadcast of an unconfirmed French radio report that a small group of rebels had "routed an SS (elite guard) formation" in a peace riot and then fled into hiding before the arrival of reinforcements.

Unmistakable evidence of growing panic in Germany after the American army's crossing of the western Reich frontier came meanwhile from the Nazis themselves as well as from neutral border points.

Anthony Eden Arrives At Quebec Meeting

International Leaders Prepare to Discuss Russian-Polish Issue

QUEBEC (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arrived dramatically last night by plane from England to join in the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences which turned yesterday from the war in the Pacific to European political issues.

Flying through fog and rain, Eden landed unexpectedly at the Quebec airport after his plane had passed up a scheduled stop at Montreal.

Prime Minister Churchill, paying his respects to the Canadian parliament at the time, immediately hurried to the citadel to join his foreign secretary.

Flies in 17 Hours

Eden, who made the flight from London in 17½ hours, landed at 5 p. m. and his early arrival speeded up by six hours his meeting with Churchill and President Roosevelt, who still hope to complete their conference this weekend.

Whether Secretary of State Hull would follow him to Quebec, as he did a year ago, was uncertain. In any event, prolongation of the conference beyond the weekend was described as unlikely.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early told a late afternoon press conference that the question of the creation of a new, so-called super-command for the Pacific area "is not present here and won't be."

He said it was his understanding that the whole matter had been decided in advance of the Quebec war council but that he did not know whether the decision was for "a new command, a change in command or the status quo."

Dewey Attributes 11-Year-Depression To Roosevelt

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP)—Stepping up his direct attack on President Roosevelt, Thomas E. Dewey yesterday attributed to "one man" the "incredible accomplishment" of having prolonged the depression 11 years.

Terming his presidential campaign "the most serious endeavor I have ever found myself involved in" the New York governor said: "We have been going downward for 12 years. The first seven years of this New Deal were peacetime years in which, with 58 billion dollars to spend and more power than any previous administration in the United States, one man managed to make a depression last 11 years, an incredible accomplishment—twice as long as any other in the history of the country."

At a news conference, Dewey assailed the federal government's acquisition of western land by executive order as "characteristic of the deviousness of the New Deal's lack of respect for the rights and opinions of the people affected."

His net major speech is scheduled for Monday night in Seattle.

MacArthur Goes With Men On Morotai

New Beachhead 300 Miles From Philippines

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Friday (AP)—American forces, completely fooling the Japanese landed in strength today against light opposition on the southwest coast of little Morotai island within 300 miles—fighter plane range—of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's long sought objective, the Philippines.

General MacArthur went along with the amphibious force and landed with them. After deceiving the Japanese by weeks of heavy air attacks into madding ground defenses further south in the Halmahera group, MacArthur sent his invasion forces to the northernmost part of the Moluccas and put them ashore under heavy air and naval cover.

Ground losses in the landing were described as minor. There were no plane and warship losses. "The Halmahera-Philippines line now has been penetrated," General MacArthur said, "and enemy conquests to the south are imperiled by threat of envelopment."

"Rolling up of the remainder of this line would cut off and isolate garrisons in the East Indies estimated at 200,000 men of the 16th and 19th armies and would sever the vital supply to the Jap mainland of oil and other war essentials."

After going ashore with his men, MacArthur later told them, "You have done well. You now dominate the last stronghold which barred you from the Philippines. The enemy, as usual, was not in the right places at the right time."

The general told a group of officers, "We shall shortly have an air and light naval base here within 300 miles of the Philippines."

"The point of landing was unexpected," the special communicator said, "the enemy having anticipated it in the lower parts of the islands where he had accumulated very strong forces in heavily defended positions."

In bypassing these forces and landing further to the north, he was taken by surprise and his initial resistance is being rapidly overcome.

Swift establishment of air bases on Morotai would enable fighters to escort huge forces of land-based bombers in raids on the Philippines as deadly as the carrier-based attacks which in four days, Sept. 8, 11, 12 and 13, have knocked out 501 enemy planes and 173 surface craft there.

(Morotai-based planes also could isolate Japanese garrisons to the south on octopus-shaped Halmahera island without the necessity of invading it.)

Morotai is a 40-mile long island, with flatlands on the southwest side but largely mountainous, with the highest point more than 4,000 feet.

Adm. Chester Nimitz' mighty fleet units paved the way for the landing with crushing carrier force attacks on Mindanao, Cebu, Panay and Negros islands in the southern and central Philippines.

Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet ships and planes hit the mid-Philippines with such force that on the last day of the historic fight the Japanese airforce refused combat and ground gunners made only feeble attempts to drop the hard hitting American aircraft.

Japanese Attack Paoching, Chuansien

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese defenders have been fighting desperately to beat back Japanese attempts to storm Paoching, important Chinese stronghold 63 miles west of Hengyang, after enemy units Wednesday reached points about four miles from the city, the Chinese announced last night.

Union Members To Decide Issue Of No-Strike Pledge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)

The united automobile workers (CIO) national convention last night left the final decision on the union's wartime no-strike pledge to the organization's 1,200,000 members.

The 2,300 delegates, tired and worn after two days of stormy debate on the issue, earlier reaffirmed the pledge by a standing vote. Then a proposal to conduct a referendum vote among the rank and file apparently was approved by a standing vote; it was challenged from the floor, however, and President R. J. Thomas ordered a roll call.

The proposal for a referendum, which union officials said would be held within 90 days, was carried, according to Thomas, by at least a 2 to 1 margin. Official tabulation was incomplete. The proposal carried a stipulation that "international officers may not use international funds or facilities to propagandize their opinions."

The convention's fight over the pledge, involving, as it does, hundreds of thousands of war plant workers, had occasioned national interest. A scrapping of the pledge had been demanded by UAW-CIO groups which charged that certain managements had taken advantage of the promise never to strike.

All attempts at compromise had been fought by Thomas and CIO President Philip Murray, a convention visitor. One proposal had been to maintain the pledge in war plants until victory over Germany and Japan but to revoke it elsewhere.

Victor Reuther, who had championed that proposed compromise, also favored the referendum vote, declaring it the only means to "consolidate our union."

"The membership," he said, "will vote overwhelmingly in favor of the pledge if the war is still on. If the war with Germany is over and unemployment is rife, then they will turn it down."

Allied Planes Renew Assaults on Germany

LONDON, Friday (AP)—Allied heavy bombers roared over the continent during the night in a renewed assault on German targets after bad weather had restricted aerial warfare during the day yesterday.

Nazi radios sounded alerts and the Hungarian radio warned of an attack in the region of Pecs, near the Yugoslav frontier.

With low clouds and rain squalls keeping British-based heavy bombers grounded during daylight yesterday, medium bombers shouldered the brunt of the aerial offensive against the enemy—now rounding out a week of constant attack.

A 50-minute blasting was given the French port of Brest, where a German garrison still is holding out stubbornly.

Six separate formations of Mustangs and Havocs of the United States Ninth airforce dropped more than 250 tons of explosives on five enemy fortresses on the Crozon peninsula south of Brest.

In Kwangsi, another enemy attacking force converged on Chuansien from positions 12 miles northeast and north of this Hunan-Kwangsi railroad town, situated 75 miles northeast of Kweilin.

Interpreting the War News—

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
QUEBEC (AP)—The arrival of the British foreign minister to join the Quebec conference circle has stirred speculation as to whether there might have been developments in the European war theater calling for the instant attention of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

Until there is more official light on Eden's trip, its possible connection with an early collapse of organized German resistance cannot be ruled out.

Any estimate of the probable breaking point in Germany's will to resist must be modified by the strong-arm organizations the Nazis have perfected at home to guard against a "peace revolt." It must also be weighed in the light of the fact that any German move for an armistice, however received, would be referred to General Eisenhower, and would be met by the stern unconditional surrender answer provided by his directives from highest allied authority.

There have been internal convulsions in Germany, however, including the attempt on Hitler's life. Until Eden's visit to Quebec is otherwise explained, there will remain a question as to whether peace overtures from inside Germany, authoritative enough to warrant immediate consideration not only by Roosevelt and Churchill but by Stalin, have not come to hand through diplomatic channels.

The possibility that such a question could be dropped into the lap of the Quebec conferees to change the whole nature of this assembly cannot be dismissed. It will come sooner or later, although to date there has been no evidence whatever that

With the AEF in France—

By KENNETH L. DIXON
WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Sept. 8 (Delayed) (AP)—Despite the good cheer it must be bringing all around the world and despite its pleasant contrasts with some aspects of other campaigns, this swift Seventh army drive northward through France is not all flowers, fruit and kisses flung by lovely liberated lasses.

For one thing, we must have moved a million times the past month, and every time we move it rains. Ask any soldier two or three things and he will tell you 10-in-one rations instead of K-rations or C-rations for supper and the start of a slight drizzle.

For another thing, it is cold, bitterly, bone chillingly cold. But come along and see for yourself. Watch moving day—which is any day in this campaign.

It still is in the night hours before dawn when you are routed out. You sit in the middle of a wet bedroll, shivering, groping for boots and pants and wondering how wet they got during the night. Then you stumble through a steadily increasing downpour to the kitchen tent.

Ten-in-one rations, which only finally caught up last night, already have been packed for the next move so you gulp down a few cups of hot coffee, go back and roll up your boggy mess of blankets, pile on a truck or jeep and hit the road.

If you were dressed for it the rain wouldn't be so bad and the cold would seem only a pleasant fall chill high in the Alpine hills. But after all, you came ashore on this invasion in mid-August when even olive drab pants left you sweltering.

According to advertisements all jeeps and command cars come equipped with tops and some even with curtains, but that is F.O.B. Detroit. This is F.O.B. France after four campaigns. If you are lucky enough even to get a vehicle with a top, it inevitably leaks so badly that it is a question whether you get wetter with or without it. Curtains are unheard of.

By sunrise, which is strictly a designation of time because the sun never shows, every stitch of your clothes is thoroughly soaked. In order to get in the proper frame of mind to continue reading this you should stand fully clothed under a shower 10 minutes, then sit in a pool of cold dirty water. The only trouble is the backyard won't bounce.

Hannegan told a press conference that Republicans were referring repeatedly to Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee which is supporting President Roosevelt, as a "foreign-born labor leader."

By His Own Enthusiasm—

Professor Gives Life to History

Prof. H. J. Thornton gives life to history by his own enthusiasm just as surely as plasma gives life to the dying. To him and to his students, history is not merely a mass of names and dates. It is just as vivid and interesting as any story ever written.

For 15 years Professor Thornton has taught in the university's history department. "I may be prejudiced," said Professor Thornton, "but I think that Iowa's history department can stand up with any other in the country."

Interprets History
Besides teaching, Professor Thornton enjoys interpreting history for people who are sincerely interested. He lectures to groups and does weekly broadcasts over WSUI on the "United States in the 20th Century" program. He thinks that the reason so many students are skeptical about a history course is because many textbook writers do not have what he calls a "historical imagination."

The department publishes an annual paper called the "Yearly News-Letter," which shows what the faculty and students have done in the way of research. This paper was the first of its kind and has received much favorable comment from people all over the country.

Fitness of Body
Professor Thornton believes in fitness of body as well as alertness of mind. "I'm on the golf course as much as anyone, but I don't play golf," he said. "I put on a track suit and run. Sometimes I stop on the hill and look out over the city or the hospital. When I stand back from them, they take their own proportions. You can't see something clearly if you are standing in the midst of it." His philosophy is expressed in this single quotation. "See life steadily and see it whole."

A sergeant in the First World War, Professor Thornton served in France, first with the medical division and then in the artillery. His brother, Leslie, before his medical discharge served with Montgomery's Eighth army in the

Prof. H. J. Thornton

Egyptian campaign of our present war. During his period of service, Leslie Thornton was captured three times, and three times escaped. He also fought against the Italians in Ethiopia.

Born in Dakota
Although born in South Dakota, Professor Thornton spent three years in the South African gold field region where his father was a mining engineer. After his father's death he returned to the states, but his mother and brother remained in Africa, making their home in the Northern Transvaal region where they are engaged in fruit raising.

Besides traveling abroad, Professor Thornton has toured the east from Maine to Georgia. He told of an amusing incident that happened while he was in Philadelphia. He was looking for Benjamin Franklin's print shop that he heard was still standing somewhere in the vicinity. Unable to find it he asked the help of a policeman newly arrived from Ireland. "Well, sir," said the policeman, "I can't tell you where Benjamin Franklin's is, but if you're looking for a good print shop try Tim Murphy's down the street."

Attends Church
When Professor Thornton came here from graduate school, he was too busy preparing class lectures to attend church. After a while he realized that something was lacking in his life. Since then he has attended the Presbyterian church where he also teaches Sunday school classes.

Professor Thornton received his B.A. degree from Grinnell college, an M.A. from Grinnell and Harvard, and his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

Opinions On and Off Campus—

'Should We Voice Our Politics?'

James Aldous, Aldous flower shop: "One of my first rules is never mention politics with business. People very easily misconstrue what is said, are easily offended, and it makes for ill feeling."

Prof. Gilbert Houser, zoology department: "I never mention politics in my course. It has no bearing in science and I always keep it out."

Miriam Burke, A1, Des Moines student: "I believe that you should let people know your political views because they may form their opinions partly from what they hear other people say."

Mrs. Darrell Schumacher, Union desk clerk, Iowa City: "I believe it is up to individual, whether he cares to express political views, but if everyone did not, it would not be good for democracy."

Elaine Carson, A4, Boone: "If people don't want to give their opinion it's okay. I think it's part of democracy to be able to withhold our opinion if we want to."

Nellie Nelson, A3, Fairfield: "I think people should say what they think. Very often they really have something worth while to talk about."

Joy Tramp, A2, North Platte, Neb.: "Such a person has not 'thought out' the issues to any degree of certainty. One who has definite political views is bound to express them."

Joan Mumma, A1, Duluth, Minn.: "People are wise in not letting everyone know their political views but whether to broadcast such a statement is questionable."

Mickey Shuttleworth, A3 of New York: "I can see no reason for keeping it a secret. This is a free country and people should be allowed and encouraged to discuss their political beliefs."

Bill Venell of Des Moines: "Frankly I can't see why anyone would say a thing like that. People have the right to keep their politics to themselves, but I should think they would be willing to come out in the open and support their party."

John M. Peters, A1, DeWitt: "People should talk freely about politics. It is an advantage to the country for its citizens to learn about politics by discussion."

B. M. Ricketts, clothing merchant, 1602 Wilson avenue: "Most people have opinions on politics, but some don't express their preference. I would be willing to bet that 90 percent of those who don't express their opinions on politics just don't vote."

Paul Mallon Says—

Dewey Philosophy Apparent

By PAUL MALLON
WASHINGTON — The Dewey philosophy of government—the working program he is offering in contrast to Mr. Roosevelt's—is becoming apparent in his speeches.

It is a complete opposition theory. It holds that the expected depression and vast unemployment need not occur. To avoid it he would offer benevolent business-inspiring policies such as reduction of taxation and lessening of bureaucratic controls, a more judicial attitude toward the unions, a break-up of the federal robot octopus in favor of state leadership—in short, a non-political, objective, central government toward all quarreling class groups (CIO, AFL, farmers, white collar workers) to replace group codling, government doling of wages, hours, prices and similar group discriminations.

He thinks this would inspire enough business to restore the growth of the country. He is a young man who obviously believes he can do it, and is getting a lot of other people to believe he can do it.

This type of campaign caught the new dealers napping—or its unexpected popularity did. It was a daring program politically, when you consider the power of the radio-liberal-CIO over all political debate no less than a few months back, and Dewey's opportunity to sit tight or follow the Willie line holding government policies "half good" or just administered by the wrong people.

The Roosevelt campaign had been built since January on an opposite thesis, all the government economists and leaders contending without exception that the nation was facing a post-war catastrophe and implying, naturally, Mr. Roosevelt was the only one with experience to handle it.

It was this theory upon which the CIO political action committee chose to assume leadership, going before congress with a demand for vast unemployment compensation, demanding backlogs for new government spending in public works, etc.

But since the initial Dewey speeches, the Washington attitude has shown signs of abrupt change. Mr. Roosevelt's real vice-president for domestic affairs, James F. Byrnes, has come forward with a report largely accepting the Dewey theory, with just enough objections to avoid the appearance of a complete about-face.

Instead of official pessimism, Byrnes breathes the same optimism as Dewey, saying "fear of prolonged unemployment has been exaggerated" . . . "the pent-up demand for goods will come from a people who have the money with which to buy them."

And a bi-partisan house post-war committee estimates how much this amount of money in the hands of the people is—the amazing total of $150,000,000,000. The first demand in its report was the same as Dewey's favoring a reduction of taxes "intended to stimulate investment and production." (Signed by 10 Democratic congressmen and eight Republicans.)

Officially of the Byrnes report is darkened by the fact the CIO prevented him from being Mr. Roosevelt's running mate at Chicago, and it is being printed he will shortly resign. At any rate, he seems to be trying to get Mr. Roosevelt to shift the level of his campaign up to Dewey's from the old New Deal basis of catastrophe-and-want to be cured only by the federal government—which Dewey truly calls the theory of the dote.

Congress is going the same way, only more so, as all its latest actions, particularly in repudiation of the union labor compensation bill, will testify, and congress, of course, is controlled by the administration and the votes come from many men running on the same ticket this time with Mr. Roosevelt.

The conclusion, therefore, is inescapable that the Dewey campaign is so well grounded, Mr. Roosevelt himself may be induced to take it up and run on it instead of his own.

The administration discovered, apparently, that the facts of economic life today would not justify its usual type of campaign, but justified the Dewey philosophy of government, and is switching accordingly.

Such new factors as the wealth of the states (surpluses in the treasury from war taxes) support the theory of the states' ability to handle matters, including social security for industrial workers. Swollen savings accounts, the vast public holdings of government bonds, and the backlog of needed articles hardly justified what the New Dealers wanted to do.

Now the army is to do the feeding, with which UNRRA was supposed to draw the world into our way of life, and the administration world program has devolved into a comparatively mild league of nations led by Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt.

No one is saying this time the Republicans are running another Roosevelt.

Prof. A. K. Miller to Open Baconian Lecture Series Tonight

'Physical Sciences' To Be Discussed

Talk to Be Given In Senate Chamber, Will Be Broadcast

Prof. A. K. Miller of the geology department will open the Baconian lecture series tonight at 7:45 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol with his discussion of the "Physical Sciences." The lecture will be followed by a panel discussion and will be broadcast over station WSUL.

On campus Professor Miller teaches principles of geology to university students. Off campus he does research work and writes technical reports of his geologic studies.

Foreign Research

Professor Miller has traveled in several foreign countries while conducting research work. Among these are Mexico, Guatemala and much of Europe, including Soviet Russia. He spent seven weeks in Russia in 1937, while he was an official delegate of our government to an international geological congress. Part of his work in Russia was the studying of fossils and rocks in comparison with those of the southwestern United States and northern Mexico.

His interest in geology began when Professor Miller took the subject as an elective course while attending the University of Missouri. He earned his B.A. degree there in 1924, with a major in geology and a minor in economics. A year later he received his M.A. degree at the university, and in 1930 Yale university granted him a Ph.D. degree. Professor Miller taught two years at both the University of Missouri and Yale university before coming to the University of Iowa in 1931.

Subsidized Projects

When he is not occupied with academic duties, the geology professor does research work. He is working now on two projects which are subsidized by research grants. Professor Miller has written a number of technical papers on geologic subjects, several of which are the size of books. He is a member of geologic societies, and is a research associate in fossil invertebrates of the American Museum of Natural History. The "Instituto de Estudios Superiores" of Montevideo, Uruguay, has honored him as a corresponding member of the "seccion de investigaciones paleontologicas."

During his experimental work he has traveled by mule, train, plane and almost every other means of transportation. Since his geologic studies led him to visit several foreign countries, it became necessary that he learn enough of the language of the various countries to enable him to "get along." As a result Professor Miller has learned a few words in Russian, Spanish, German and French. When he corresponds with Uruguayans, they write to him in Spanish, and he answers in English.

Judiciary Board Explains Regulations For Sorority Heads

All sororities were informed of university regulations last night when the presidents and judiciary committee heads from each sorority met.

As the judiciary board members representing Women's Panhellenic association, Marilyn Nesper, A4 of Toledo, Ohio, presided. Other members of the judiciary board were introduced. They are Maddy, A4 of Great Bend, Kan., chairman; Helen Herrald, A3 of Webster City, representing town women; and L. Louise Smith, A2 of Elkader, Ill., representing dormitories. Margaret Phillips, panhellenic adviser, was also introduced.

That all women living in sorority annexes are responsible to the householder, not to the housemother, was stressed. It was announced that out-of-town and late permission slips must be signed by the housemother, not by the president of the sorority.

ORIENTATION TEA

Climaxing the freshman-transfer orientation program, a tea will take place at the home of President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, 102 E. Church street, Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 p. m. for all new university men and women.

Student Union Board Chooses Officers

An election of officers was held last night to organize sub-committees were made last night by members of the student Union Board at its first meeting with Prof. E. E. Harper, director of Iowa Union.

Officers elected for the year are: Russell Conking, A3 of Des Moines, president; Don Low, A3 of Sac City, vice-president; ... secretary, and Margaret Browning, A3 of Iowa City, treasurer.

The sub-committees to be formed for the year are: bridge, games, house, library, ... and campus night.

'Y' Women to Visit Children in Hospital, Each 'Adopting' One

Approximately 140 women were interviewed yesterday in the Y. W. C. A. rooms in regard to personal visits at the Children's hospital, a branch of the Y. W. C. A. "Hospital Service Unlimited" program.

Mrs. Jean McGuire, recreational director of the Children's hospital, talked to the women, explaining the activity. Each woman will be given the name of one child who will be her special project. She is expected to visit the "adopted" child twice a week, sometime between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m.

Using their own ingenuity, these "morale builders" teach the sick children games, read stories to them or talk to them. They cannot, however, bring the patients candy, gum, fruit or other food.

Instructions were given on signing in and out by means of a card file on Mrs. McGuire's desk in the hospital. If a patient leaves the hospital, another child will be assigned to the visiting student.

Assisting Mrs. McGuire were Margaret MacDonald, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A.-Y. M. C. A., and Beth Snyder, A3 of San Antonio, Tex.; Betty Denkmann, C4 of Davenport; Harriet Arnold, A2 of Valparaiso, Ind., and Marion MacEwen, A4 of Iowa City, all members of the hospital board.

Women who are interested in this work or in other projects of the Y. W. C. A. "Hospital Service Unlimited" program, such as crafts, Sunday school, evening entertainment and special parties, should go to the "Y" rooms in the Iowa Union where they may join the Y. W. C. A. and sign for these and other activities.

Jean Livingston of the WASPs is spending several days' leave with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross Livingston, 1025 Woodlawn street.

James Dooley, president; James Peters, vice-president; Barbara Nolan, secretary, and Kenneth Rummelhart, treasurer.

District Governor of Rotary Stresses Post-War Plans in Address to Social Club

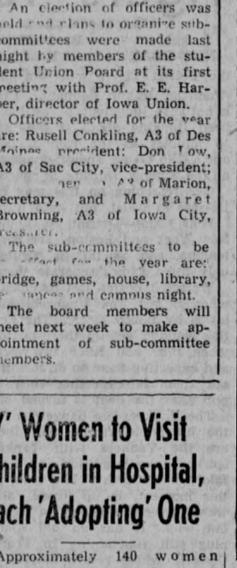

"When Hitler and Mussolini took over the occupied countries they abolished Rotary," stated Bernie Bernbrock of Waterloo, district governor of Rotary, who addressed the Iowa City club yesterday noon at Hotel Jefferson.

"Just as soon as the war is over we will go back," Bernbrock, who has traveled extensively both in the United States and abroad, said that he had visited clubs in Germany and found them good, active clubs. "I believe that Mr. Stalin will invite Rotary into Russia," he commented. "And there will be more clubs in Germany than ever before."

It was thought that Rotary International would decrease in membership because of the war, but figures show there has been an increase. More than 5,200 clubs are supported by 227,000 members.

Bernbrock told Rotarians about the school for district governors in Chicago, which was attended by Rotary leaders from Central and South America as well as the United States. "They are clamoring for help to establish clubs in Chile, Peru and Brazil," Bernbrock said. "The question which the Latin Americans I met asked most frequently was, 'Why don't you teach Spanish in your schools? We teach English from the third grade on because they retain it better than if they learn it when they reach high school age. The big business of the fu-

Cortimiglia's Flying Fingers USO Feature

By RUTH SCHULTZ Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The piano in the lounge room of the USO becomes the center of music and merriment when Leo Cortimiglia, C3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cortimiglia, 209 E. Bloomington street, takes over every Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Surrounded by cadets and hostesses, Leo beats out the boogie, accompanies their singing and has "one super good time" laughing and joking.

The pet phrase on these occasions is "Leo can you play—?" and Leo usually can, for 11 of his 19 years have been filled with the study of music.

Three years ago a Negro band came to Iowa City and the leader asked Leo, generally known as "Corky," to "sit-in." Since their line was "strictly jive," Leo swerved from the classics, but he still loves the work of the old masters.

Accomplished Accordionist Equally as skilled with the accordion as he is at the piano, it was this instrument that "played" him into first place at the "Rath's Kid-dies Review" and won him an audition with Gov. George Wilson in 1939.

According to "Corky" grade school and high school were one big musicale, yet it wasn't until his junior year that he really "got into it." That was when popular music came into his repertoire. Since then he has played for nearly every organization in Iowa City. Last year Leo Cortimiglia (pronounced Corti-mee) was a favorite feature of the Friday "Campus Nights" at Iowa Union and was spotlighted on the annual "Campus Capers."

From his father's side of the family, "Corky" has a long heritage of musical ancestry. His ancestors, who were pure Italians in Sicily, were concert artists, talented mostly in wind instruments or voice.

Music is not only a way of earning a college education to this young pianist, but fun, relaxation and occasionally a "blues chaser." One of his pet features is imitating popular artists for an audience which accepts it as a "recognition" quiz.

Prefers College Now Because he at present prefers college to a musical career, Leo has turned down several offers with big "name" bands. In spite of the fact that he spends most of his time practicing, he classes music as his side line. A junior in the college of commerce, "Corky" plans now for a future in the business world with music as his avocation.

He goes to school in the morning and is employed as a salesman in the afternoon.

For his own dancing pleasure, this wizard of synchopation prefers the slow jitterbug beat, the old "tom-tom" rhythm.

Fascinated by the music he heard in New York in 1928, Leo's pet dream is to return there as a business man. He loves activity and puts most of his into music, for when at the piano, his fingers are in constant motion, moving searchingly over the keys, his eyes express the music's every mood.

Identification Photo It Lowers Morale—But Quickly

What is that old-time song, "If anyone can ruin your morale, the passport photographer can?" If the groans and sighs and giggles are any indication, it would seem as though the modern version of that should be, "If anything can deflate your ego, the student identification photo can."

First there's the excitement of actually having your picture taken. Yes, you decided you must primp and be ready with your best "come-hither" smile. But what happens? Your number is called and you are off to the little booth, thinking, "Oh, well, it's the unspoken expression and natural look rather than the smooth, well-groomed appearance that makes a glamorous picture."

So, with that fresh, windblown, dewy-eyed, and drippy-haired look, you perch on the little chair and thrust your head into the square allowed for same. In less than five seconds you are once again out on the street marveling at the speed of this modern age and rationalizing: "Oh, well, I never did take good posed pictures anyway. This more candid style is likely to do wonders for me."

How true that statement was you did not realize until two days later when you smugly amble down to get your card. Ah, yes, there it is. But what seems to be the trouble? That hag with hair in her eyes, bags impressed half-way down her cheeks and a black eye cannot be you. But there it is—with your name on it, and the girl is wearing clothes like yours. Can it be that you actually look like that? No, it can't be. Anything but that. After much deliberation, you finally have the solution: It's this wartime film which is the cause of it all. That's what!

Independent Houses Elect New Officers

University women living in independent houses have announced their house officers for the 1944-45 school term.

Nadine Greetan, C4 of Victor, was named president of the Beta Theta Pi house this week. Other officers include Norma Lambert, A1 of South Bend, Ind., vice-president; Marcella Smith, A2 of Atlantic, treasurer, and Lois Easton, C4 of La Grange, Ill., secretary.

Martha Stealy, A4 of Shenandoah, was named chairman of the judiciary committee, and other representatives include Mary Knapp, C2 of Aurora and Marion Keeley, A1 of Desoria, Ill.

Betty Garwood, G of Macomb, Ill., has been named president of Clinton place. Other officers elected include Connie Block, A3 of Renwick, treasurer; Frances Siamis, A2 of Cedar Rapids and Helen Zimmerman, A2 of Cedar Falls, social chairmen, and Gladys Anthony, C4 of Putnam, Ill., house chairman.

Mrs. Arnold Small, Children Honored At Numerous Parties

A number of courtesies have taken place this week in honor of Mrs. Arnold Small and children, Betty Jo, Dickie and Frederic, who will leave today for La Jolla, Calif., to join Dr. Small. The family will reside at 5720 Beaumont street in La Jolla after Sept. 18.

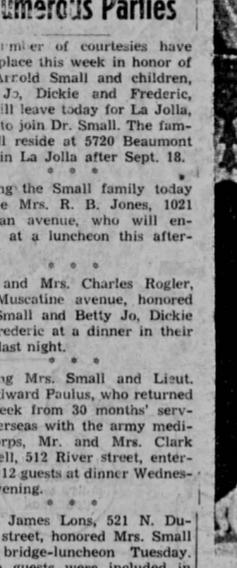

Feting the Small family today will be Mrs. R. B. Jones, 1021 Sheridan avenue, who will entertain at a luncheon this afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rogler, 1315 Muscatine avenue, honored Mrs. Small and Betty Jo, Dickie and Frederic at a dinner in their home last night.

Feting Mrs. Small and Lieut. Col. Edward Paulus, who returned last week from 30 months' service overseas with the army medical corps, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Caldwell, 512 River street, entertained 12 guests at dinner Wednesday evening.

Mrs. James Lons, 521 N. Du-buque street, honored Mrs. Small at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday. Twelve guests were included in the courtesy. Honors went to Mrs. Robert Jackson, high; Mrs. C. E. Loghry, second high, and Mrs. Harry Bean, consolation. A gift was also presented to the honoree.

Associate Justice Visits in Iowa City

WILEY B. RUTLEDGE, justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and formerly dean of the college of law at the University of Iowa from 1935 to 1939 arrived in Iowa City yesterday morning from Boulder, Col. After visiting friends here for several days, he will go to Washington, D. C.

Government Offers Four Insurance Plans To Help Families of Service Personnel

Over $100,000,000—half the amount of the national debt—has been subscribed to in the form of government life insurance policies by America's men and women in the service. Uncle Sam, world's largest life insurance agency, is taking care of the families of his fighting men who give their lives in the service of their country.

One of the most heartwarming stories to come from the war of a general's consideration for his men is told of Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright in his tunnel headquarters on the rock prison of Corregidor in the last days before its fall. As Americans and Filipinos were fighting and falling all about him he issued an order: "Clear all United States army remaining radio facilities in the Philippines for the exclusive transmission of life insurance applications to Washington!"

His men were to die they would at least be able to leave $10,000 worth of life insurance for their loved ones.

Col. Royal G. Jenks, Corregidor's finance officer, assumed the immense job of transmitting the approximately 30,000 names and serial numbers to Washington. He was then ordered from the rock with all his insurance files, the only army records to come from the tunnel of death.

Hundreds of monthly insurance benefits from the veterans' administration, silent testimonials to the foresight of one American general, are being received today by families of American soldiers who fell on Corregidor or who were taken captive and later died in Japanese prison camps.

Policies for Everyone Oct. 8, 1940, congress approved the national life insurance act of 1940, making available life insurance policies ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 for all persons in active service in the land or naval forces of the United States, including the coast guard, the nurse corps of army and navy, and the women's branches of the service.

Premiums, payable monthly in advance, are uniformly low, and are usually deducted from the serviceman's monthly pay check.

Overseas, 99% of the officers and 98.4% of enlisted men have taken the $10,000 policies, and of the men currently entering serv-

Government Offers Four Insurance Plans To Help Families of Service Personnel

99.9% are purchasing the full amount, according to reports from the reception centers. Many of these are men who would have carried little, if any, life insurance if it hadn't been for the special program. Practically all of them are expected to retain their insurance after leaving the service.

Choice of Four Plans

There are four distinct plans which the government offers its service men and women. The policy which is available upon entrance into the service is the five-year level premium term, which features the lowest rates and is not extendable beyond five years. After this policy has been in force for one year, it may be exchanged for the ordinary life, 20-payment life or 30-payment life plan, which carry slightly higher premiums.

Cadets in V-5, such as those at Iowa Pre-flight school, and all aviation men are required by the government to carry $10,000 policies. In such cases the premiums are paid by the government until the cadet receives his commission; then the payments are assumed by the individual.

The rules of the national service life insurance act state that Associate Justice Wiley B. Rutledge of the United States Supreme Court and former dean of the college of law of the University of Iowa, was an unexpected dinner guest at Rotary club yesterday.

Justice Rutledge plans to stay in Iowa City until Monday visiting friends. He stopped here on the way from Boulder, Col., where he spent his vacation, and is returning to Washington, D. C., to prepare for the convening of the supreme court in October.

Justice Rutledge, who was here a year ago, noticed little change in the Iowa campus, except that "there are not so many soldiers around." Since there has been little change in the enrollment of the college of law since last year, Justice Rutledge found the college very much the same. One of his first visits was to the office of the dean of law, where he spent some time in chatting with friends on the faculty of the university and with his former secretary.

after the elapse of 120 days following entrance into the service a physical examination is required before a policy will be granted.

The average enlisted man in the army overseas, according to the Institute of Life Insurance, is insured for $9,500, while the average officer insurance reaches $9,864.

Reds' Mueller Sets Endurance Record

Plays 135th Straight As Cincinnati Splits Twin Bill With Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Durable Ray Mueller caught his 135th consecutive game of the season for Cincinnati yesterday as his team lost the second game of a double-header to the Chicago Cubs 4 to 2 after winning the first 3 to 2 in 13 innings.

To celebrate his endurance record, Mueller also hit his 10th homer of the season in the first game. Roy Hughes' inside-the-park homer with two on in the fifth won the second game for the Cubs.

Ed Heusser, who went the route in the first game against four Cub hurlers for his 13th victory, opened the 13th inning with a double.

Earl Girard Continues As Frosh Stand Out In Scrimmage Drill

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Freshman Earl (Jug) Girard continued his flashy offensive fireworks yesterday as the University of Wisconsin football squad scrimmaged on a muddy field. Accounting for three of the five touchdowns made by the varsity against a reserve eleven, Girard passed for five scores and ran for another. Another standout was Jerry Thompson, pint-sized fullback, who stuffed the ball on two long touchdown dashes.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette university's game with the Iowa Seahawks Sunday, Oct. 29, has been designated as the 1944 Hilltop homecoming tilt. Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings announced yesterday. Meanwhile, the Hilltoppers continued to practice behind locked gates for the season's opener at Marquette Sept. 23 against the University of Michigan.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Carroll Widows yesterday announced the foundation of his scouting system for Ohio State university opponents this fall. Ernie Godfrey will be on the University High Team To Play Kalona Today

Coach Wedemeyer Pins Hope of Win On Doug Spear

Coach Ross Wedemeyer will pin his hopes on Doug Spear, youthful center, when he sends his University high football team against the Kalona eleven tonight.

The game will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. at the Kalona high stadium in Kalona.

Last year the University high team beat the Kalona team. The Iowa City team is quite confident of victory but Wedemeyer said with a shrug of his shoulders, "The Kalona team is probably much stronger than last year and we may run into trouble but if luck is with us we'll win."

The past week of practice has been devoted mostly to scrimmage and drill on plays. All through practice special emphasis was placed on backfield defense positions. Two boys, Wedemeyer said, had shown plenty of promise in two positions, guard and center, while Carl Yoder who just returned to practice from a recent illness is likely to be used a lot in the game tonight.

At right end Ray McDonald will start today. Doug Spear, the game captain, will start at the center position. Red Morris will be giving the signals at the quarterback spot while Steve Nusser will follow up in the fullback position. Jack Kennedy will be snagging passes from the backfield where Craig Harper and Jim Williams will be playing the right and left halfback positions. Joe Carlstrom at the right tackle spot spells trouble for the Kalona ball carrier whoever he might be. The right guard position belongs to John Miller who will be in there pitching with Ralph Donovan at left guard. Don Follet at the left tackle position means plenty of headache for the Kalona backfield.

road every Saturday, while Paul Bixler and Jack Graf will alternate on road trips. Homer Edington and Campbell Graf also will assist.

The Buckeyes spent two long drill sessions with the emphasis again on defensive work.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Lou Agase, Evanston end, and Henry Bennett, 6-foot 4-inch wing from Harvey, may not see action in the University of Illinois opener Saturday against Illinois Normal because of ineligibility.

Both freshmen, Agase and Bennett took special examinations yesterday and results will determine their eligibility. Agase was playing first string right end until early this week when Johnny Orr took over. Bennett is a third string flanker.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Coach Ad Lewandowski's end situation on the University of Nebraska football squad was eased yesterday when Bert Grissler, Osceola, Neb., said he would return to practice next Tuesday. Grissler is home helping his father harvest a bumper crop.

The armed forces dipped into the reserves for Ben Tyson, Aurora, Neb., center. Lewandowski has an intra-squad contest planned for Saturday afternoon.

Little Hawks To Meet Moline Tonight

The City high Little Hawks will leave this afternoon for Moline, where they will meet the Moline high school eleven tonight in their initial test of the season.

The Little Hawks went down in defeat last week at the hands of the Washington Demons in a practice game, but since then the entire squad has been revised and all of the injured players have returned to the active list. Bob Krall heads the list of returning cripples. Krall will probably be at a halfback slot in tonight's opener.

In a pep talk last night, Coach Wally Schwank warned the Hawks to be ready for any kind of offense and expressed his confidence in the line to be able to stop them. Although Moline uses a T-formation, according to newspaper reports, Schwank was rather doubtful that they would use one against the Little Hawks. The Hawks were fooled last year by early season reports on Moline, and as Schwank put it, "we are going to be ready for anything this year."

A squad of 24 will make the trip to Moline for what Coach Schwank hopes will be a successful start to a very successful season.

Boys that will probably see considerable action are: Krall, Sangster, Snider, Hirt, Bob Wilson, "Tug" Wilson, Housel, Volkers, Lee, Eakes, Fryhauf and Lacina.

Stuhldreher Says 1944 Badgers Have Long Way to Go

MADISON, Wis.—"Not too bad but we have a long way to go. We will be one of the lightest teams in the Big Ten but our small backs have speed and our line will improve."

These were the comments by Coach Harry Stuhldreher after watching his 1944 Badgers in their first scrimmage of the year. The Badger first team romped over a squad of reserves and piled up an impressive array of touchdowns and while the opposition was not too tough, the boys demonstrated that they could move and have the ability to get around.

Earl "Jug" Girard, the Marinette freshman, proved the sparkplug of the Badgers in their first contact drill when he passed for two touchdowns, scored four himself on running plays and displayed marked ability as a kicker. Little Joe Campbell at right half also showed plenty of fire and dash while squatty Jerry Thompson, the Badger's hope for the fullback spot, raced all over the field. Allen Shafer, a center converted to quarterback, also showed fine passing but has a lot of work cut out for himself before he wins the berth. Girard should give the Badgers true triple threat when he is in the tailback post.

Of the reserve runners, Bob Hecker, the former Ohio State back, won the praises of the Wisconsin coach, for his running while Eric Kitzman, John Fee and Larry Scott showed improvement.

Coach Stuhldreher admitted the backs were slightly ahead of the linemen in their work to date but hoped to speed up that part of the

Dodgers Beat Braves 5 to 4 in Opener Of Curtailed Double

BROOKLYN (AP)—A home run by Red Durrett, who fought with the marines on Guadalcanal, in the eighth tied the score and a single with the bases loaded in the ninth by Augie Galan gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves in the opener of a curtailed double header yesterday.

The second game was postponed by rain after an inning and a half had been completed.

Fred Wells, righthanded pitcher obtained from New Orleans several days ago, pitched the first seven innings for the Dodgers, and gave up all the Braves runs in his last inning.

Les Webber was the winner and Ira Hutchinson third of four Braves pitchers, was the loser.

Mickey Cochrane Leaves

drill quickly. He picked out the play especially of John Schwartz, a big tackle prospect, and Nick Collias, a newcomer at guard, as the best of the day. Pat Weber and Ed Bahlow at ends, showed plenty of ability to catch passes.

The Wisconsin coaches today announced the cutting of the squad into "A" and "B" groups for the remainder of the year. The cumbersome squad of over 100 candidates slowed the work of the coaching staff and brought about the selection of a varsity squad. Those named for the reserve squad will be given every opportunity to work their way back to the "A" group as their play improves throughout the season.

Despite Rain—Grand Circuit

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Despite rain and a muddy track, Grand Circuit racing got under way here yesterday afternoon.

But after a winner, Titanhanover, was uncovered in the Reading fair futurity two-year-old trot and two heats had been run off in the 2:23 trot and the Reading fair futurity two-year-old pace officials called off the program for the day as the track was too muddy to race.

NEW YORK (AP)—Although no hurricane had arrived at Aqueduct yesterday when the featured Belle Harbor purse was run, the form players felt something of the sort had struck them when Boiling On, backed down to odds of 13 to 20, ran last in the field of four.

Sirlette, a $9.50 for $2 choice, liked the muddy going and won photo finish from modest one, going the seven furlongs in 1:25 flat. Thread O'Gold was third.

Sickle Sun scored an easy win yesterday in the $1,800 Valley Falls purse of Narragansett park, taking the six-furlong dash in 1:13 2/5 over a muddy track to pay $8 for $2.

The winner was four lengths ahead of Float Me, and the favored Republican was another neck away.

At Laurel, Md., Milkstone won the featured Cohort, going the five and a half furlongs in 1:11 2/5 to pay $19.30 for $2. Milkstone hit the finish line two lengths ahead of Fortify with Sheltie third.

Notre Dame Loses Guard

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The Notre Dame football team lost another promising freshman line-man yesterday because of hernia rupture.

Mike Bogdiewicz, second string guard, dropped from the squad for the season. End Emil Kakyko quit Wednesday for the same reason.

Pat Filley, Notre Dame captain who had been recovering from operations on both knees, got the go-ahead signal from his doctors yesterday and took an active part in the practice.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Timing of intricate T-formation plays was studied yesterday by the Purdue football squad as Coach Cecil Isbell sent the Boiler-makers through an intensive drill.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana university's football team drilled on defense yesterday in the next to last practice session before the opening game with Ft. Knox (Ky.) here tomorrow.

Coach A. M. (Bo) McMillin worked on a flexible defense formation and bore down on blocking drill. Abe Addams, Louisville freshman was returned to his position as blocking back after several days in the line.

AMES (AP)—Ken Keough, who formerly played with Milwaukee State college, loomed as Iowa State college's chief backfield threat as the football squad completed its second week of practices yesterday. Keough has shown power and speed from the right half post, and his punting has been exceptionally good.

A new addition to the Cyclone backfield is Walter Haugo of Lake Mills, a member of last year's squad.

Whitney Martin Picks—Tigers for Pennant

NEW YORK (AP)—We think the Detroit Tigers will win the American league pennant. This is not snap judgment, as we have been thinking about it the last 15 minutes as the rain tapped out a "No Game Today" message on the window. In code, of course.

Our reasoning on this may be jigsaw as usual, but here it is: Four teams—Detroit, St. Louis, New York and Boston—are contenders, and as this is written only three games separate them.

We think Boston lost its chance when it lost Tex Hughson, followed by Bobby Doerr. The Red Sox couldn't get up there on top when they had those two men, and expecting them to do it without them is expecting corn to pop after the heat is turned off.

The Yankees are dangerous for the intangible reason that they are the Yankees with Yankee spirit, Yankee tradition and Buffalo Joe McCarthy. The club, at this moment, is up there, and we've given up trying to figure out why. It has an old spark plug still functioning in Frank Crosetti, whose return marked a change for the better in the team's fortunes. It has Snuffy Stirrweiss and Nick Etten, a couple of capable infielders, and a miscellaneous assortment of pitchers. But the Yankees just don't look like a championship club.

The Browns have been up there most of the season, and appreciating the fact a recent slump was responsible for the whittling of their lead by the other three clubs, this fact also remains: The Tigers had been playing better ball than the Browns for several weeks before the St. Louis slump.

In fact, Detroit has the best record of any team in the league over the past two months. They were creeping up on the Browns steadily, and the Brown slump only speeded up the crawling.

Dick Wakefield has been the Crossetti of the Tigers as far as influence on the team's fortunes is concerned. The Tiger upsurge dates back to his return around July 13. But the Tigers also have the heavy-handed Rudy York, the ancient but spry Roger Cramer, whose batting spurge has been a big factor in recent games, and Pinky Higgins and Jimmy Outlaw, two capable performers.

And they also have Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout. To some this may mean they have two overworked chuckers who are due to collapse at any moment, but we don't think so. They've come this far and there is no reason to believe they can't last a couple of weeks longer, pitching every other day if necessary.

The schedule, with all those home games, doesn't hurt the Tigers, either. The Browns' schedule of home games doesn't hurt them, either, but, as remarked, at home or away the Tigers have been traveling at a faster clip than the Browns for two months.

Dick Wakefield Given Pre-Flight School Batting Championship

Dick Wakefield, 23-year-old batting star of the Detroit Tigers now, received another baseball batting honor here this week in the Iowa Pre-Flight school official batting championship.

The former cadet outfielder captured the Seahawk batting title with a total of .448 at the time he received his honorable discharge from the navy on July 7. Wakefield is now leading the Tigers pennant dash with a batting average of .309.

Shorstop Lou Rochelli, who is currently playing with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was the cadet scoring runnerup honors. Rochelli's average with the Seahawks was .376 when he was honorably discharged from the navy.

Leading hitter of the team which finished the season was third baseman Charlie Heck, who, in garnering an average of .362, had the most official times at bat and the most hits.

Former White Sox star, Ed Weiland, was the king of the pitchers, winning nine games and losing only one close 10-inning decision to General Electric of Ft. Wayne, Ind. With 91 innings of play to his credit, he yielded 86 hits, struck out 54, and walked only seven.

A two-hit shutout over Bunker Hill naval air station was his best game of the season, while his mate Bob Ranszewski pitched a one-hitter in the opening game of the season.

During the season the team won 30 contests while only losing five and was considered to be one of the best service units in the country. At one time the Seahawks extended a winning streak to 24 straight games.

A. A. Kroeck's Juke Box accounted for the Palmer Square purse, featured event at Hawthorne. The winner went the mile and 70 yards in 1:45 over a muddy track, returning $19.80 for $2.

Cadets Hold Meeting To Send Off Team For Michigan Game

Boarding the 9:15 Rocket this morning, the Iowa Seahawk grid-ders will entrain for Ann Arbor, Mich., where they will clash with the Big Ten defending co-champions in what is scheduled to be one of the best games of the day.

With shouts, cheers and band music still in their ears, the Seahawks will be off to fight to retain the prestige which the name "Seahawk" has acquired in the last two years of grid competition.

Other speakers of the evening were the station commander, Capt. David Washburn, and director of athletics, Lieut. Comdr. Harvey Harman. The general tone of the speeches, with reference to the Wolverines, was "think it, and do it!" "Mash Michigan" was the order of the day.

Enthusiasm and interest in the team has run high among the cadets this week, as evidenced by the many placards at the base escorting the team to victory.

On arriving Friday night the squad will stay in Jackson, Mich., and will arrive in Ann Arbor Saturday in time for a short warm up.

Practice this week has been spent in polishing off the team's offense, as well as drilling on defense for the Michigan system of other years. Kicking and passing have been particularly stressed.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan football team started tapering off yesterday with a light drill in preparation for its opening game here Saturday against Iowa Pre-Flight.

Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler said his starting backfield against the Seahawks probably would be made up of quarterback Joe Ponsetto, halfbacks Bob Nussbaumer and Ralph Chubb and fullback Bob Wiese.

was a surprise and also a losing nomination for a World Series start against Cincinnati. Bob Newson, a 21-game winner and Schoolboy Rowe, who copped 16, were the mainstays along with the dependable Tommy Bridges. Johnny Gorsica was a seven-game winner.

The only other times New York did not win the title since 1933, when Joe Cronin's Washington club took the honors, was 1934 and 1935, two more Detroit years.

First Baconian Lecture to Be Broadcast

Prof. A. K. Miller of the geology department will discuss "Physical sciences" tonight at 7:45 o'clock at 7:45 o'clock as the first in the Baconian lecture series which will be broadcast each Friday night over WSUI from the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The theme for the 1944-45 series will be "Achievements in Research in the University of Iowa during the decade preceding Pearl Harbor."

Each lecture in the series of 10 to be given on consecutive Friday evenings, will be followed by a panel discussion and by general discussion from the audience.

Views and Interviews
The Rev. B. I. Anderson, of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, and who has spent 14 years in the Naga Hills district of Assam, India, where he worked among the Naga tribes, will be interviewed today at 12:45 on "Views and Interviews" by Helen Jongeward of the WSUI staff.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson has come in contact with tribes who until recently have been head-hunters and he will tell some of his experiences in this interesting Christian work.

University Student Forum
"How Shall the Allies Deal With Germany After Her Collapse?" is the question for discussion this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the WSUI program, "University Student Forum." Participants are members of the public discussion and debate classes under the direction of Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department.

This program is presented over WSUI weekly each Friday afternoon under the direction of Bob Ray, G of Davenport.

Elementary Spoken Portuguese
Dr. Jeronimo Mallo of the Romance language department will broadcast "Elementary Spoken Portuguese" for the first time over WSUI this afternoon at 4 o'clock when he will train listeners to speak simple Portuguese.

This program is another in the series of half-hour broadcasts over WSUI for those listeners who wish to learn or improve their knowledge of these foreign languages.

Chest Drive To Begin Oct., 2

The annual Community Chest drive is scheduled to begin Oct. 2 with the former R and S shoe store, 107 Washington street, as headquarters, according to Mrs. J. L. Records, secretary. No goal has been announced.

Dale Welt and I. J. Barron will serve as co-city directors for the drive.

Headquarters will be open every day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. during the drive.

SUI Hospital Treats 30 Polio Cases

Infantile paralysis cases in University hospital now number 30, including nine from Iowa City and surrounding communities.

Isolation cases from Iowa City are Lucie Giegengack, Lawrence Lemme and John Miller. Mary Lou Barth of Washington, Iowa, Joella Gerdes of Ainsworth, Elmer Hotz of Lone Tree, Kenneth Murdock of Riverside and Fred Penn of North English also are in isolation. Jim Webster, North English, now is a convalescent case.

Former Basketball Star Writes From Aboard Ship

Vic Siegel, Iowa basketball star and now chief boatswain's mate in the United States coast guard, has written a letter from somewhere in Europe. This letter, which was addressed to the service editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, is reprinted below.

"Dear John: In Europe I must be getting old when I stay aboard to write letters instead of going on liberty. However, this port is far from a sailor's delight. So I probably won't miss a thing.

"... Thus far my travels have carried me to North Africa, England and the beaches of France. Our liberty has been very good the last month and I have been to London several times. At present Chuck Kruse and I are trying to arrange a meeting. So far we have been unsuccessful. Saw Billy Conn a few weeks ago. He must go at least 200 pounds now. 'Incidentally, I just want to mention that this is a coast guard manned LST. Hope you are not of the opinion that the 'Coasties' are a home front service.

"Hate to think of missing a basketball season—afraid I'll get fat like my friend, Al Coupee. Last winter I enjoyed a full season with the Boston coast guard. Gave me a chance to view eastern basketball at the same time. Not as rough as midwest ball, and, consequently, it's a higher scoring game. Dartmouth was the best we met. They could hold their own in any league. Earl Brown, Dartmouth coach, has a great future. Also while in Boston I spent a good many nights at the Boston Garden and eventually became quite a hockey fan. Was fortunate enough to become well acquainted with 'King' Clancy, referee and former Toronto star, as well as several Boston players.

"Well, John, it's getting late and time to close, but not too late for a 'fisherman's liberty'.

Sincerely
Vic Siegel, CBM
c/o Fleet Postoffice
New York, N. Y."

Chief Siegel, who received his B.S. degree in physical education at the University of Iowa in 1942, was captain of Iowa's basketball team for two years, from 1940 to 1942 and was a member of A. F. I.

Lieut. Jack Gray

Lieut. Jack Gray, Pre-Flight Basketball Instructor, Describes Aircraft Carrier Life

By BERNADETTE LYON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

"Living on an aircraft carrier is like living in a floating city," was the description Lieut. Jack Gray, basketball instructor at Iowa Pre-Flight school, gave as he recalled a year of service on a carrier in the southern Pacific war area. As an athletic officer and as head of the ship's service, Lieutenant Gray had an opportunity to observe the actions and reactions of men who live, sometimes for weeks at a time, without sighting either land, planes or other ships.

WAC Recruit

GRETCHEN HAUTH of Hawkeye, a former University of Iowa student, is now in Ft. Des Moines taking her six weeks basic training in the women's army corps. Private Hauth, who joined the WAC in Iowa City, was graduated from the university last year, where she received her B.A. degree.

Car Owners Apply for Gas

With only five days remaining before the new "A" gas ration books become valid, the office of price administration urged car owners today to file applications immediately if they expect to use their new books Sept. 21.

Local war price and rationing board director, V. Ido Ceirer, said that only about 50 percent of Iowa City motorists had filed applications. Applications filed before Sept. 15 will be in the hands of owners before Sept. 20.

The board announced that several incomplete applications for "A" books had been sent to the office. These are held on file at the ration office and if applicants have not received their book by Sept. 20 they can call at the office to complete their application blanks.

The chief omissions include: no signature, failure to send in speedometer readings and neglecting to send in the cover to the last book.

than a few times become their confidante."

Lieutenant Gray received his indoctrination training at the United States navy academy at Annapolis, Md. Later he served for one year as physical athletic officer at Corpus Christi, Tex. The navy basketball team at Corpus Christi held a record of being the only undefeated service or college team at that time.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or heavy passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

How much does it cost to move a pin?

On a war map of the South Pacific, the little red-white-and-blue pins march steadily westward.

Tarawa... Makin... the Marshalls... Saipan... and each move brings the pins closer to Tokyo.

And each move is mighty expensive business. The cost is high in dollars... and the cost is high in men.

To plant the Stars and Stripes on Saipan cost the lives of more than 2000 American boys... plus some 12,000 wounded and missing. Naturally, these losses cannot be summed up in dollars and cents... there is not enough money in the world to bring back 2000 dead Americans.

But in guns, ammunition, and other equipment, it is estimated that Saipan cost us many millions of dollars. Each of the many steppingstones remaining between our forces and Tokyo may cost as much or more.

Where is the money coming from?

It's coming from you, and millions of Americans like you... from the taxes you pay, and from the War Bonds you buy.

And while it may pinch a little, buying those Bonds is the smartest thing you ever did.

For the dollars you put in Bonds not only help win the war. They come back to you later—and bring more dollars with them.

In this postwar world we're going to build, they'll be the most valuable dollars anybody ever owned.

Get all you can of them—now!
