Yanks Press Toward Cologne

Siegfried Line Buckles At Three Points

First Army Smashes Westwall Near Aachen, At Strongest Point

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEP, Saturday (AP)—The United States First army smashed the Siegfried line at its strongest point east of the German gateway bastion of Aachen yesterday and in a mighty sweep hurled down the last 30 miles toward the great industrial city of Cologne and the Rhine.

Climaxing a grand assault that began Thursday, Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' infantry battered through the main belt of pill boxes and dragon teeth, concrete tank barriers on which Hitler relied to keep invaders from his source of military strength in the Rhine.

While Hitler's homeland defenses crashed, his last stand in northern France was broken by the fall of Nancy—once Nazi headquarters in France—to Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army tanks, which race don 10 to 15 miles eastward as the enemy reeled in retreat back to the Rhine on a 30-mile front.

Hitler's westwall buckled at two other points as American forces, redoubling their blows, drove ten miles into Germany north of the fortress of Trier, and plowed into the heart of the Siegfried line south of Aachen at Prum.

On the north, the important Dutch city of Maastricht, through which the Germans swept four years ago on their way to conquer France, fell to American units and patriots who shattered a die-hard defense by Dutch Nazis to the west of the city.

To their surprise, the hard-hitting doughboys found some of the famed main defenses weakly manned, and some were only fakes, said Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead in reporting the long-awaited breakthrough.

Armed with flame-throwers and dynamite, engineers teamed with infantry both in the breakthrough area and to the south at Prum to clear a path for tanks and self-propelled artillery supporting covering fire.

To Adjourn—Quebec Meeting

Hurricane Sweeps Into North Atlantic

QUEBEC (AP)—A joint news conference at noon today will draw the curtain on the eighth and perhaps final "war" conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and clear the way for future and probably imminent deliberations cracking German economic and political power.

The military phases of the Quebec conference already are over. Plans have been approved and sealed for capitalizing on unexpectedly quick and decisive victories in the Pacific and for grinding Japan into submission.

While the war chiefs of Britain and the United States may keep on talking details, presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters yesterday: "The conferences in Quebec between the president and prime minister will be concluded by tomorrow noon."

Vocal stress which he gave the words "in Quebec" and the fact that he declined to say whether Roosevelt and Churchill might continue personal talks elsewhere pointed to a probability they would do just that.

Anthony Eden's 3,300-mile flight to Quebec, it can be said, has no connection with plans for pulverizing Japan.

Instead, his decision to fly to Quebec was understood yesterday to be motivated by his desire to see President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill exercise a stronger hand and reach a clearer understanding with Russia at a moment when elements of discord are reported to have crept into British-Soviet relations.

A reliable informant reported that the lack of complete understanding stemmed from the Polish-Soviet dispute, uncertainty over Soviet war aims in Europe, and some military problems on which Britain and Russia do not see eye to eye.

Secretary Ickes—
WASHINGTON (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes said last night that Thomas E. Dewey "in his beagle-like snuffing about for votes" has any criticism of the Jackson Hole national monument in Wyoming, he should direct it at Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Enlarged Command

Allies Take Ridge At San Savino-Coriano

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was entrusted yesterday with the greatest command ever given an American—command of all western front forces to which the United States Seventh army driving up from the Mediterranean has now been added.

British and Canadian troops reached within a mile of the Rimini airfield and within four of Rimini, Adriatic doorway to the Po valley and the industrial heart of Italy.

Canadian infantrymen and tanks stormed across the Marano river. The nearby town of Coriano was captured. Airforces of the Mediterranean command gave strong support to the ground troops, hammering enemy front-line positions.

Vengeful Greek and French troops joined the general assault with the Greeks blasting at the defenses of San Lorenzo, about five miles south of Rimini. Heavy counterattacks were repulsed with severe losses of men and tanks for the Germans.

"All that this administration did was to carry out, in good faith, the obligation entered into by Presidents Coolidge and Hoover," the secretary declared.

"One trouble with Mr. Dewey is that he apparently knows so little about the west. He could listen to Herbert Hoover about the west, instead of international affairs, and he would not be making the egregious blunders that he has chalked up to his credit to date."

an enlargement of the national park system. He added that then "Mr. Dewey's political godfather," Hoover, encouraged Rockefeller to continue to buy these lands, and that Rockefeller had already bought all of the land the Republican presidents had persuaded him to buy when President Roosevelt came in.

U. S. Marines in Palau Islands; Allied Forces Control Morotai

Troops Build Airdrome

Maintain Constant Cover Over Landing Forces Against Assault

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Saturday (AP)—Allied forces seized all their objectives on Morotai island within a few hours after storming ashore, and army engineers already are at work rebuilding an airdrome, headquarters revealed today.

Amphibious assault forces landed yesterday on Morotai, northeast of Halmahera island and within 300 miles of the Philippines.

United States navy carrier-borne planes and land-based aircraft maintained a constant and unchallenged cover over the landing forces, as they began at once to prepare bases for intensifying the assault against the Philippines.

The engineers were at work rebuilding the Pitoe airdrome, on the southwest coast of Morotai. The island is 375 miles from Davao, main city on Mindanao island.

Infantry units drove to their objectives under cover of ground and naval gunfire. Up to nightfall yesterday, there had been no reports of any organized or even casual Japanese resistance, as the Americans overran Pitoe airdrome and a narrow five-mile-long peninsula which form the island's southwestern tip.

The attacks were maintained despite what the communique reported as "extremely bad weather" which hampered air operations over Celebes.

The landing operation "has progressed according to plan" the communique added.

In a surprise amphibious strike that caught the Japanese flat-footed, the Yanks swept ashore yesterday morning on Morotai island, northernmost of the Moluccas and within 300 miles of the southern Philippines.

Ordnance Depot Blast At Hastings, Neb.

Kills 3, Injures 56

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—An explosion which threw broken boxcars 150 feet into the air and was felt 125 miles away killed three servicemen and injured 56 persons at the Hastings naval ordnance depot yesterday.

It was the third fatal blast this year in the sprawling 48,000-acre installation.

Besides the 56 persons officially reported injured in the depot area, three high school seniors were cut by flying glass at nearby Glenvil, and at Harvard 16 miles away a school principal and ten pupils were injured when the concussion caved in a roof over a hallway.

The three killed were two Negro sailors and a coast guardsman. The coast guardsman had rushed to the depot when he heard of the fire which preceded the explosion.

Navy Gunner L. C. Anderson, officer in charge of the transfer station 22 miles southeast of here where the blast occurred, said he and W. B. McQuaid, a civilian employe, at first tried to extinguish a fire which broke out in some high explosive ammunition being loaded into a box car.

Railroad cars were thrown over the high earth embankment and ground along the area was scorched and littered with twisted steel, concrete blocks and remnants of smashed buildings.

The time lapse between ignition of the first piece of explosive and the subsequent destructive blast was sufficient to give most of the employes in the immediate area opportunity to escape.

The ten children and principal injured at Harvard were reported not in serious condition, but authorities said classes would be dismissed until repairs had been made on the building damaged by the blast.

John L. Lewis Assails Roosevelt

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED MINE WORKERS of America, John L. Lewis is pictured above at UMW convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he criticized the Roosevelt administration in his opening speech. Lewis did not ask for an outright endorsement of Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, but he told the delegates that Roosevelt has "publicly kicked every coal miner in the face" and said that "if he is re-elected you'll get some more of it next April" when wage negotiations are reopened.

Bricker Urges—Full Output

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—John W. Bricker declared last night the country's one great post-war problem was providing jobs, and that the New Deal had been unable to do this in peace time.

The Republican candidate for vice-president, helping to open a campaign pointed at swinging West Virginia back into the GOP national column for the first time since the 1928 election, asserted: "You'll know that the New Deal was never able to provide jobs in peace time. It took a war to put men to work—and that for that war we would still be in the midst of the Roosevelt depression."

America is just beginning to grow and the prospects of full private employment are great, the Ohio governor added in a prepared speech released by his headquarters. But, a "climate of opportunity" must be created to help industry, he said.

Bricker asserted "The trouble with the new deal was that it had lost faith in the future of American faith in the future of America."

The governor asserted there was only one way to provide jobs—through full production.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's nomination of Lieut. Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley for the permanent rank of major general was confirmed yesterday by the senate.

The present rank of Bradley, commander of the Twelfth army group, is temporary. He was promoted from his permanent rank of brigadier general on the recommendation of War Secretary Stimson for "outstanding accomplishments" in northern France.

515 Miles From Davao

Yanks Establish Mile and One Half Long Beachhead

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—American marines of the First division, heroes of Guadalcanal, have established a beachhead a mile and one half long on the southwestern shore of Peleliu island in the Palau group, 515 miles from Davao, headquarters announced yesterday.

The Marines, throwing back several Japanese counterattacks, closed in upon Peleliu airport, the principal airfield in the Palau group.

Peleliu is only six miles long and is defended by an estimated 8,000 Japanese of the possibly 40,000 stationed in the Palau area.

In carrier-plane attacks on Peleliu immediately preceding the landings, one plane and four flight personnel were lost.

Double Threat Double invasions posed a double pronged threat to the Philippines, which previously had been under attack four days by carrier-borne typhoons that demolished 501 Nipponese planes and 173 surface vessels.

First communique announcing the invasions, issued by MacArthur and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, indicated operations were proceeding satisfactorily.

Carrier aircraft and warships of Admiral William F. Halsey's Third fleet, which had been battering Palau for days, supported the landing operation there. The pre-invasion attacks made it possible for the combat vessels, including the most modern American battle wagons, to shell their targets at close range.

In a broadcast from the Palau battle area William Ewing, representing the combined American radio networks, said thick woods shielded Japanese from the bombardment preceding the Peleliu invasion but that United States marines established a beachhead in hard fighting.

"Terrific Bombardment" (The marines, he said in a broadcast recorded by CBS, "landed after a terrific sea and air bombardment which rocked the island from end to end—but which left many of the defenders alive and ready to fight.")

"Tonight the marines have established a beachhead along the southern rim of the island. They must realize, as we all do, that this is going to be a tough campaign. The Japs are fighting hard and they are strongly entrenched."

The amphibious operations were directed by Vice Admiral T. S. Wilkinson, the landing spots were not disclosed but the Tokyo radio broadcast that the invasion hit Peleliu island, near the southern end of the Palau. The Tokyo broadcast said the assault had been repulsed.

In strong contrast, Nimitz reported "landings are continuing" although against tough ground opposition.

Nimitz' failure to mention air opposition apparently indicated the pre-invasion attacks had knocked out Japanese airfields. The aerial softening of the islands had failed to stir up enemy interceptors for many weeks.

Finland, Germany Near Renewal Of Hostilities

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Finland found itself virtually at war with Germany yesterday as Nazi troops invaded the Finns' strategic and well-fortified island of Suursaari (Hogland) and German troops moved to close the Finnish-Swedish frontier in the north.

It appeared doubtful, if not impossible, that German troops would be out of Finland by midnight, the deadline for their withdrawal under terms of the Finnish-Russian armistice agreement and reports circulated here that Germany might attempt to blockade Finland both by sea and air.

Wool Reserves At—'Ridiculous Extreme'

EN ROUTE TO COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, With Dewey (AP)—Told by sheepmen that the government had piled up wool reserves to a "ridiculous extreme," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared yesterday that the evidence indicated there is enough on hand now to last civilians four years even if production stops entirely.

"On the basis of their figures," he said after a conference with the growers, "it appears that the accumulating of wool stockpiles has gone very much too far."

He was informed, the Republican presidential nominee said, that there are 1,900,000,000 pounds on hand, including 600,000,000 pounds of British-owned Australian wool. "Yet despite this colossal stockpile," he declared, "we can't buy anything made of wool that we need. Mrs. Dewey hasn't been able to buy a wool sweater for either of my two sons for over a year. She is getting dressed."

At a lengthy news conference before his train left Billings, Mont., the candidate expressed hope that the allocation of supplies to Gen. Douglas MacArthur is "now being determined" by the chiefs of staff.

"If you had been president would you have made a different allocation of supplies?" asked Charles Van Devanter of the New York Post.

"I am not crying over any spilled milk," Dewey replied.

"Governor, do you mean the milk has been spilled or has been used?" he was asked.

"My answer speaks for itself."

AP Copy Reflects Foreign Policy Shift

Oh, America, how fickle thou art!

Such was the decision reached by a member of Earl English's news editing class when she came across the following news item in a stack of 1940 copy.

"New York, July 31 (AP)—The American freighter Bienville sailed for Japan Wednesday with a cargo of scrap iron, beating by a few hours the deadline set by a presidential order banning such exports without a federal license."

In the same stack of old copy was the latest list of army recruits.

Wednesday, 8 p. m. Bungalow class will resume their monthly parties in Fellowship hall.
Thursday, 7:45 p. m. Pai Yu Lan meeting in Fellowship hall.
