Truman Recommends Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—For "the biggest job in the world," Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri last night recommended President Roosevelt as a man of experience and proven leadership.

In an address prepared for delivery on the Blue network, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee declared that "we wouldn't be fighting and winning the kind of war we are fighting and winning—if it weren't for Roosevelt's experience in big jobs." It is no accident that this has been the best managed war.

Without the quality of leadership, the senator asserted, no man is fitted for the world's biggest job—the presidency. Mr. Roosevelt showed his, he said, in choosing the right men for the right jobs—men like Gen. George C. Marshall, Adm. Ernest J. King and his war and navy secretaries.

Bricker Proposes 'Housecleaning'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, proposing a "thorough house cleaning" in Washington, asserted last night that the federal government payroll had been expanded under the present administration from 560,000 employees to "the staggering total of almost 3 1/2 million."

And, the Republican candidate for vice-president added in a prepared text released by his campaign staff, "no one knows to what peak it will climb by Nov. 7 but it seems likely that the level will be lifted still higher."

The Ohio governor, who came here from Bowling Green, Ky., on the first leg of a 9,250 mile western tour, remarked at Ryman auditorium: "Steadily as the tides, the number of bureaucrats has grown larger and larger, revealing a peculiar vigor during the months immediately preceding an election. It is a New Deal axiom that every individual added to the federal payroll is equivalent to four additional votes for the fourth term aspirations of Mr. Roosevelt."

In 1932, Bricker said, the Democrats promised to reduce drastically the number of federal employees but before the war increased personnel 65 percent. After asserting that "a thorough house cleaning is needed in Washington to clear out the excess and duplications," he suggested a five-point program of reform in the federal personnel.

Interpreting the War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Rolling forward behind a mighty air and field gun barrage, American First army troops have entered Germany at a new spot just north of Aachen. With its fall or complete investment, the First army would be in a position to resume its push toward Cologne on the Rhine or to swing northeastward to take the German trans-Rhine defense system all the way up to the Kleve-Emmerich southern portal of the Arnheim gateway.

The exact position and tactical purpose of the allied thrust is not yet clear. Field dispatches say it caught the enemy by surprise to gain an initial depth of two miles beyond the German frontier on a six mile front between Aachen and Sittard. The important secondary road hub, Geilenkirche, was described as a first allied objective.

It seems clear, however, that the First army drive is closely linked with expected British Second army renewal of the attempt to crack through the Arnheim-Emmerich gateway farther north. Success in cracking the Nazi front to any depth in the Geilenkirche area must unhinge the line north of that point. It probably would also force the foe to shift strong forces southward from the Arnheim-Emmerich gateway to the north German plain and ease the task of the British Second army when it renews the attack there.

Supreme Court Opens 1944-45 Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the court marshal pinch hitting as crier, the supreme court yesterday formally began its 1944-45 term from which may come many a far-reaching decision on wartime litigation.

The session, devoted only to admission of attorneys and a routine motion, lasted only a few minutes. Then the court recessed for a week during which the justices will decide whether it will review some of the more than 500 cases piled up during the summer.

Oklahoma Governor Refutes GOP Claim

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Gov. Robert S. Kerr charged last night it was "obstruction by Republican leadership" that left the nation unprepared for war before Pearl Harbor.

In an address written for statewide radio broadcast Kerr discussed major accusations of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's Oklahoma City speech Sept. 25 and flung back at him Dewey's assertion that President Roosevelt "did absolutely nothing to prepare the American people for war before Pearl Harbor. The record proves this condition existed because of the obstruction by Republican leadership, including Thomas E. Dewey, and not because of lack of warning and leadership on the part of Roosevelt."

Replying to Dewey's charge the administration would keep men in the army because of fear there would be insufficient post-war jobs, Kerr said the "only evidence he offered was an alleged quotation of the director of selective service."

"Everyone knows," he added, "that General Hershey (selective service director) is a long-time Republican; that he had neither the knowledge of, nor authority to declare the government's demobilization policy."

Edward Cohen, V-12 dental student, Hartford, Conn.: "Going My Way" I think is my choice. It is hard to say though, because there have been so many good pictures lately."

Ruth York, A4, Melrose, Mass.: "I liked 'Going My Way.' Six months, however, is a long time to remember which is best. Rise Stevens is a friend of mine, so I'll admit that I'm prejudiced."

Raymond A. Sloan, high school student, Sigourney: "I liked 'This Is the Army.' My favorite shows are musical comedies."

Harry McCann, A1, Milford, Conn.: "I liked 'The Uninvited.' It was a good mystery."

Nancy Jones, 613 Seventh avenue, junior high school student: "I liked 'Going My Way' because it was so different from every other show I've seen. And I like Bing Crosby."

Gloria Jones, 414 Seventh avenue, junior high school student: "Two Girls and a Sailor" was well. It had a lot of good music and it was funny. I liked Van Johnson and all the other big stars in it."

Paul Mallon Discusses—

The Siegfried Line Mystery

WASHINGTON—What fooled us on the Siegfried line and in Holland were the surprising results of the general mobilization Hitler undertook publicly more than a month ago.

That far back he apparently began planning his current fight. By his desperate drain of manpower for his home stand he was able to maintain his border front after the best of his armies in western Europe had been destroyed in France.

When our authorities ran into this unexpected show of strength, some of them threw up their hands in pessimism and started predicting no end of the war before spring.

This is the focal explanation of the perplexing fluctuation in reports from the battle line the past ten days.

Where he got so many troops is yet something of a mystery. Officers were taken out of administrative chairs. Soldiers were drawn from garrison and police duty. Even tradesmen and workers in key industries were called upon to fill home gaps left by the military going to the front.

To the vacated places of these workmen at home he forced more foreign workers. Boys 16 and younger were called to duty. The physically disqualified were fitted

Donna Smith, A1, Carson: "I think 'Mr. Skeffington' was an outstanding movie because both Claude Rains and Bette Davis played their parts so well. Too often a picture has a good plot with faulty action or a weak plot with good acting. 'Mr. Skeffington' had a combination of both."

Jerry Feniger, A1, Davenport: "Between Two Worlds" gets my vote for being a really good movie. This dramatization of Sutton Vane's 'Outward Bound' has the ideal combination of good plot and excellent acting. John Garfield and Sydney Greenstreet combine to make it one of the best pictures in a long time."

Enid Levantin, A3, New York: "Going My Way" is the picture I liked best. The acting was excellent and the picture had comedy, drama, pathos and warm human feeling."

Fay Rovner, 1212 W. State street, Marshalltown: "I liked 'A Guy Named Joe.' It had a very important message and yet was excellent entertainment."

Madelean Walls, A3, Mason City: "Gaslight" was one of my favorites because its new approach breaks the monotony of war films. Also, I like English pictures, especially with Charles Boyer in a different role."

Laurene Jones, A4, Des Moines: "I liked 'Jane Eyre.' The story was different and the acting was excellent."

Maabel Clifton, A2, Earlville: "I liked 'Going My Way' because Bing Crosby is still tops, and religion was brought down to an everyday level in this show."

Julia Hauth, A2, Hawkeye: "My favorite is 'A Guy Named Joe' because there were a couple of top-notch stars in it, and the portrayal of death was very different."

Doris Jackson, A2, Cedar Rapids: "White Cliffs of Dover" was my favorite movie. It was the finest movie to come out of this war."

Lillian DeGeus, A2, Oskaloosa: "Jane Eyre." I liked the acting of the leading characters. They were well-fitted for their roles."

Lieut. Ellis Johnson, Pre-Flight Base: "I liked 'Two Gals and a Sailor' for its entertainment value."

Famous SUI Alumnus—

Editor, Writer, Former Iowa Man

The headline of this story could be "Local Boy Makes Good." But it isn't. Because Irving Brant, editor, writer and former Iowa Citizen, rather dislikes having that trite phrase coupled with his name.

Former editorial writer for the St. Louis Star-Times and later for the Chicago Sun, Brant is the author of several books and magazine articles on public questions. His "Road to Peace and Freedom," published in the fall of 1943, has been on best seller lists as a stimulating and challenging book on how to obtain a lasting peace an obscure the principles of freedom.

Born in Walker, Jan. 17, 1885, Irving Newton Brant was the son of David Brant, editor, publisher and owner of the Iowa City Republican. Brant had his early journalistic experience with his father.

While working on the Republican, Brant attended the University of Iowa, graduating in 1909 from the college of liberal arts. Managing editor of the Republican from 1909 until 1914, Brant worked on the Clinton Herald for a year. Then followed three years as associate editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. He went to the St. Louis Star as editorial writer in 1918, becoming editor of the paper's editorial page until 1923.

There were times when only Brant thought Brant "had something" in the newspaper game. Jobs and money weren't too numerous. But he took advantage of the breaks that came his way.

He became a member of the editorial staff of the St. Louis Star-Times in 1930, staying with that paper for eight years as editor of the editorial page. During that time he held other positions of nationwide interest. In 1935 he was director of a national public housing conference in New York City. During that time, too, his first books were published. "Storm Over the Constitution," appearing in 1937, hit best seller lists.

Brant spent three years in Washington as consultant to the national government on conservation in the summer of 1939, he conducted a traveling inquiry into public housing in the chief cities of Europe. The trip was made under the auspices of the National Public Housing conference, of which Brant was vice-president.

Editorial writer for the Chicago Sun, from the Sun's Washington bureau, for a time, Brant has long been a close student of international affairs and has an amazing record of predicting accurately what will happen.

A modest, white-haired, quiet-voiced man, Brant is enthusiastic about his books. He writes only what he thinks and says he is "glad to find a surprising number of people who feel the same way."

Brant, whose home is now in Tennessee, is writing a second volume of the life of James Madison. The first of three volumes was published in 1941 under the title, "James Madison: The Virginia Revolutionist."

The examination requires no preparation. It will take two half-days. Each student will receive a full report and explanation of his record. Each department will receive a profile of its registered students and a complete file will be kept in the offices of the dean of the graduate college and the office of the registrar, and may be certified by the registrar to any institution to which the student may transfer.
The examination is free to graduate students now registered in the university and to any juniors or seniors who plan to enter this graduate college. All others must pay a nominal fee of $1.50 for the entire service.

Dr. Y. C. Yang to Present First All-University Lecture Tonight

President of Chinese University to Speak in Iowa Union at 8

Dr. Y. C. Yang—

Educator Discusses China

By GLORIA WEISER
Daily Iowan Campus Editor

Diminutive, but full of the "robust, healthy outlook" he attributes to Americans, Dr. Y. C. Yang, president of Szechow university in China, agrees "The sooner the war is over, the better," as he describes to American audiences his version of "China in the 20th century."

Having astonished his companion with a pertinent pun on the reporter's name, he sat back to assume a look of the less important individual in the interview, apparently aware of the "power of a smile."

"Since 1927," Dr. Yang began, "I have directed Szechow university in China by remote control." The university has moved about four or five times since its beginning and now is operating about a thousand miles from the original campus.

"Statistics show an enrollment of 1,300 students, of whom 440 are women. Women have attained a definite status in China, socially, politically and economically," the educator continued, "and their attainments are permanent."

"In 1930," he grinned, "the college was purely for men." It was that year that Dr. Yang influenced the college toward women enrollment. "Coeducational schools have a definite purpose and it is good for boys and girls to study together," Yang maintains, "and women have an important contribution to make in social reconstruction.

"In Szechow, women are most interested in sociology and social work," he pointed out. "Three-fourths of all students are enrolled in this field."

"The emergence of women in China is the most significant change that has taken place," he stated. "Women now have an equal share in privileges and responsibilities of the nation. It seems now that in China it has existed at all times."

With reference to the age of China, and time—Dr. Yang murmured philosophically, "While China changes slowly it changes thoroughly." This truism he expressed in several other references to the slow rhythm maintained by China through the ages. However, Dr. Yang predicts an acceleration in China during this year and 400 to come. "More changes have taken place even now than we are aware," he said softly.

Dr. Yang laughed as he recalled an incident on a train in which he inquired of a mother as to her baby's chance as a candidate for the White House. She quickly retorted, "No, he's going to be a football player."

Dr. Yang said the American football spirit is brought out in their fighting at the front and he added, "Although Chinese boys play football, the foot is used more frequently than the carrying tactics used by your boys. They kick in time of emergency," he affirmed.

Dr. Yang last visited the United States in 1941. Prior to that year he traveled here for the bishop's crusade and for the Christian New World Order movement. Since 1942 he has been a faculty adviser of the Association of American colleges.

Wisconsin was the first college attended by this diplomat and he received his M.A. degree from George Washington university in Washington, D. C., and two honorary degrees, "from the extreme south and extreme north," an LL.D. from Maine and H.L.D. in Lakeland, Fla.

Regarding the progress of China and her 400 million inhabitants, Dr. Yang said proudly, "China has always been a cultural unit but recently and through the years she has become a dynamic political unit."

After a smile for the inevitable camera, the man who describes himself as "the incorrigible optimist," concluded with renewed vigor his praise for American exuberance and his own philosophy, "Once you lose hope and faith you lose dynamic vitality to move forward." Dr. Y. C. Yang is a living example of this same "dynamic vitality."

o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union. His topic will be "China in the 20th Century."

Dr. Yang, for a long time active in educational activities and in religious movements to further Christian organizations, has visited America several times, but this visit will keep him in the United States for the duration of the war.

With respect to his topic for this evening Dr. Yang will speak on "changes that have taken place in China; progress that has been made and the direction she is heading in national unity and development."

Free tickets for faculty members and students are available at the information desk in Iowa Union. All tickets unclaimed by this group are available for the general public today.

Cardinals Return to St. Louis Full of Fight for World Series

Managers Won't Name Starters

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Full of fight and bristling with confidence, Manager Billy Southworth and his Cardinals returned to St. Louis last night with their third successive National League championship eager to battle their American league cousins, the astonishing St. Louis Browns, in the World's Series opening at Sportsman's park tomorrow.

It will be the seventh time in history that clubs from the same city have competed for baseball's highest honor.

Southworth said the series would be a "nice family party."

"I am delighted it turned out that way," Southworth added, voicing the sentiments of the entire team. "We won't have to catch any trains or worry about hotel reservations or baggage. What's more important, St. Louis can now show the world that it can put on a World's Series of its own."

This staid old Mississippi river city was confident on that, too.

Broad smiles wreathed the faces at the mention of the Browns, in possession of their first American league pennant in 43 years. Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, in a proclamation, joined in the spirit of the occasion by proclaiming the week Oct. 2 to 9 at "St. Louis baseball week."

The proclamation was a made "in recognition of the performances of the two clubs, which have brought this honor to St. Louis."

Public celebration of the event was short lived, but the spirit of the occasion still was prevalent in the back rooms of taverns which 40,000 arguments were started and never finished over the relative merits of the two teams.

Southworth said the Browns' victory had made no difference in the Cardinals' strategic plans for the series.

"The American league race was so close that we didn't do any planning against any particular team of batters," Southworth explained.

"We know the Browns from having played them in spring series. It will be just like any other series. We'll give them everything we have at all times and may the better team win."

Southworth was a bit downcast over the prospects of losing Danny Litwhiler, regular left fielder, in the series. Litwhiler recently was hit in the knee by a foul off his own bat. He remained in the game but pulled up lame against the New York Giants last Thursday and indicated that his knee was worse even after a day's rest.

Southworth is not ready to name his starting pitcher for the opening game. He said he would reveal his selection today or Wednesday morning. When he does break down and tell it is expected that he will name Morton Cooper, a seasoned veteran who has won 22 games this season. Southworth scarcely will sidetrack him for the freshman, Ted Wilks, or Harry Brecheen, a lefty.

Neither would Luke Sewell, manager of the jubilant Browns, reveal his pitching plans.

"This is the first day I've really SHOWING PLENTY of stuff on the ball against the Olathe team last Saturday, these officers will be on hand this week to bolster the Seahawks' attack against the strong Second Airforce team when the two squads meet in Lincoln, Neb., Saturday. been awake," Sewell said, with a grin. "I've been in a daze... I'm not worrying about tomorrow. I'm worrying about tomorrow... that's the important thing... tomorrow, the opener... I'm not making any predictions... We'll take those games one at a time. That's the way it should be, isn't it?"

PLENTY OF SEAHAWK POWER

Observers generally believe that Sewell's choice would be Nelson Potter, the teams leading pitcher with 19 victories against seven defeats, for the opening shot. Potter has won 13 of his last 15 games to record the best season of his career.

One thing is fairly certain, however, Myron "Red" Hayworth, 27-year-old catcher, will do the receiving. Sewell said he would stand pat on the line-up, except for the pitcher, that closed the season against the Yankees.

Sewell had his players right back at practice yesterday to keep them on the fine edge they had during their last home stand when they won 14 out of 17 games. The pitchers confined their efforts to light warm ups. Not much more could be done because the field was damp after an early morning rain.

Southworth and Sewell worked out plans whereby the Browns would practice at 11 a. m. today, with the Cardinals taking over at 2 p. m.

St. Louis (AP)—Twenty-nine full shares, three half-shares and six cash awards were voted by the St. Louis Browns in a club meeting yesterday on the split-up of their World Series pot. All the regular players, Manager Luke Sewell, Coaches Fred Hofmann and Zack Taylor, Trainer Bob Bauman and Secretary Charley Dewitt come for full shares.

Half-shares were voted to Steve Sundra, pitcher who left the club in the spring after winning two games; catcher Tom Turner, who

Navy, Lions Use New Football Rules

NEW YORK (AP)—North Carolina Pre-Flight, which spilled Navy's mighty eleven, and Columbia, which downed Union, were helped to their football triumphs last Saturday by the east's new fumble rule.

Both games were played under the Bushnell code in which either team may advance with a fumble, out of bounds, kickoffs are prohibited and penalties for illegal forward passes are lessened.

The Cloubusters moved in front of the highly favored Navy outfit at Annapolis Saturday after two minutes of the third period when center Joe Partington scooped up Jim Pettit's fumble and lumbered 45 yards for a touchdown.

The Fliers manufactured the days biggest upset by downing the joined in mid-season, and Tom Hafey, outfielder who was with the Browns early in the season and was traded to Washington. Hafey, disappointed at being dropped by the St. Louis club, refused to report to the Senators and went to his home in California.

Cash awards, the amounts of which were not revealed, were given to pitcher Willis Hudlin, who joined the squad for the last month; Orville Paul, batting practice pitcher; Tommy Brammel, part-time trainer; John Hanley, clubhouse property custodian; Bob Scanlon, batboy, and Darwin Zimmerman, Scanlon's assistant.

Midshipmen, 21 to 14.

Columbia didn't need its marker scored on the fumble rule, trimming the up-state New York school, 21 to 0. The fumble was set when George Bilbert, Lions end, tackled Union's Bob Brubaker so fiercely the ball squirted out of his hands and was retrieved by Stan Smith, guard, who also went 45 yards to score.

Bushnell, eastern intercollegiate football commissioner who sponsored the rules changes when the NCAA decided not to tamper with its code for the duration, said yesterday the five changes had met with general approval. And Yale's Albie Booth, now a coach at his alma mater as well as an official, asserted, "I think they are a step in the right direction. I believe it won't be long before every college team in the country will be using them."

A sixth change which would have permitted passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage also is being used in many eastern games.

Biggest drawback to the changes is their failure to be used universally. Mel Hein, former New York Giant player and now coach at Union, pointed out that his team had played under three different sets of rules on three Saturdays. The first contest was under the eastern rules but prohibited unrestricted passing, the second under the frozen NCAA code and the third under the eastern code but with passing permitted anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

Seahawks Prepare For Superbombers

Pre-Flighters to Meet No. 1 Army Contender At Lincoln Saturday

Back at work again today now that their outing with Olathe is over, the Seahawks, who ran up a 45-12 score against the Clippers Saturday, will be attempting to maintain their national service title of two years, when the Pre-Flighters travel to Lincoln, Neb., Saturday to meet the army's No. 1 contender in the Second Airforce team.

A collection of the football talent of all stations in the Second Airforce gives the Superbombers a team not to be taken lightly. In their five games to date the Second Airforce eleven has compiled 218 points, while their victory over Colorado (33-6), last week marked the first time they have been scored upon.

Seahawk mentor, Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher, seems to have been right in his prediction that the Seahawk eleven would be ready by Oct. 1 as the last two games have been out. The Minnesota victory and the Olathe slaughter gives Meagher confidence that the team will be able to dole out plenty of punishment in the remaining 11 games on the rugged schedule.

Saturday's game with Olathe was something like a practice session for the Seahawks. Forty-six players in all went in for the Seahawks as they rolled up a total of 413 yards rushing against Olathe. Had the first team remained in for the entire game the yardage might have been twice that much, since 313 yards were gained in the first half alone.

Little Hawks Look For Revenge Saturday

City High Gridmen Named Favorites Over Dubuque Rams

The bruised and battered Little Hawks came out on the practice field last night growling for revenge for their three defeats. The Hawklets mean to balance the books next Saturday night at the expense of Dubuque and everything points in their favor.

Dubuque has played three games—and lost three as have the Little Hawks. However the Dubuque scores were much higher than the Hawklets, their opponents having averaged 33 points a game.

Freeport defeated Dubuque 28 to 0; Rock Island 40 to 13; and East Waterloo 32 to 0, which makes it look like the odds will be on the Little Hawks' side come Saturday night.

The Rams have scored just as many touchdowns as the Little Hawks, but their defense appears to be much weaker than the Hawklets. Scouting reports seem to show that the Hawklets will outweigh their opponents for the first time this season, a fact that the Hawklets certainly won't kick about.

The Davenport game showed one thing to the fans and Coach Wally Schwank. The Hawklets are fighters to the end, even when the odds are all against them. With the Blue Devils way out in front, the Hawklets kept on fighting as if they only needed one touchdown to win.

Coach Schwank had nothing but praise for the Hawklet passing attack that rolled up so many first downs in the Davenport game, but expressed his displeasure at the short passes into the flat that impeded defensive men gathered in for several touchdowns.

The Hawklets will be spending the week perfecting their passing attack and running game along with a lot of work on defense, especially pass defense.

Although battered and bruised, the Hawklets went about practice as if they meant it, and from all indications, they do. They are out to change their percentage standings in the Mississippi Valley conference from the basement up to the second floor.

Still nursing injuries are Hawklets Bob Strub, who will probably be ready for the Dubuque game, and Bob Lee, who will probably be out for another ten days.

Wakefield Drafted

DETROIT (AP)—Dick Wakefield, the Detroit Tigers' hard-hitting outfielder, said last night he had received notice to report at selective service headquarters in Chicago Oct. 11 for induction into the armed forces.

Wakefield, who passed his physical examination several weeks ago, enrolled as a naval aviation cadet shortly after the close of the 1943 season and was discharged last July upon completion of his pre-flight course in a navy aviation program cutback.

three only four passes during the game, all but one was snagged by the alert Seahawk ends, while one went for a touchdown. With the Seahawks averaging 48 yards in their kickoffs, the only department in which the Seahawks seemed remiss was the matter of pass defense.

Since the Second Airforce eleven has two experts in the passing field, the Seahawks will spend a good bit of time this week drilling on pass defense.

Leading ground gainer against Olathe Saturday was fullback Bus Mertes, who, although he carried the ball only four times, picked up 107 yards rushing. Two touchdown trips of 56 and 40 yards respectively figured in this total, as Mertes raced into the clear on two separate occasions.

The Seahawk backs as a whole had a field day, as gains of at least 10 to 15 yards per play seemed to be the order of the day. Bob Smith, halfback, scored 87 yards in carrying the pigskin four times, while Art Guepe, who doffed the uniform of a coach for that of a player against Olathe, picked up 45 yards in two tries.

John Smith, who got his first starting assignment Saturday picked up 22 yards in his only rushing attempt, and Charley Woodward picked up 61 yards in three chances, including a 49-yard touchdown dash.

T. S. Ary's ability as a pass receiver makes just one more good end in the Seahawk ranks. Ends now available to Meagher include John Herriman, Raymond Swanke, Steve Horvath, Perry Schwartz and Jim Poole, any of whom will be able to play against the Superbombers.

Besides working on pass defense this week, the Seahawks will have to watch the backfield in motion tendency which cost them two touchdowns against Olathe. Also needed is a place kicker to kick the points after touchdown. While Lieut. Jim Lalanne, who booted two out of two Saturday, will be able to play against the Second Airforce and other service teams, a cadet specialist is needed for the remaining games with collegiate competition.

Middlewestern Teams Review Last Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State prepared for its Western conference opener with Iowa here Saturday by inspecting movies of the Bucks' 54-0 route of Missouri last Saturday, adding a new offense play, and working on a defense against the Hawklets.

Cecil Souders, veteran end from Bucyrus, Ohio, must report for induction Oct. 12. Coach Carroll Widdoes reported. Souders was a second-stringer to Bob Shaw on the Bucks' 1942 national champions and was regular end and punter last year.

Traian Dendiu of Campbell, Ohio, who will not be 18 until next May, is expected to inherit Souders' position in the starting lineup.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan first stringers, yesterday watched the reserves demonstrate Minnesota plays in the initial workout for the Wolverines' annual Little Brown Jug tussle with the Gophers Saturday at Minneapolis as Coach H. O. Crisler called for intensive drills this week on blocking and tackling, the two departments in which the Wolverines were weak against Indiana.

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—Lieut. (j.g.) Paul Brown's bruised Bluejackets lolled around their barracks yesterday, taking a day off before starting to work on Saturday's game with Northwestern. Six of them came up with minor injuries after last Saturday's game with Illinois, and in addition halfback Bill Mangold still is out with a fractured finger and center Bill Baughman is sidelined with a groin injury.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The quarterbacking department of the Northwestern Wildcats will be considerably strengthened for Saturday's game with Great Lakes with the return of Jack Doyle and Red Clawson, Coach Lynn Waldorf said yesterday. Clawson has been out three weeks with a dislocated elbow, and Doyle with a rib injury. Waldorf attributed last week's 7-6 defeat by Wisconsin to ineffective timing of plays at crucial moments. Despite a drizzle, the team settled down to a week of offensive drills yesterday.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers raced through a touch football drill yesterday as Coach Cecil Isbell concentrated on getting his athletes in shape for a speed test with Illinois at Champaign Saturday.

Isbell was concerned over the condition of left end Jack Morton, who suffered a bruised back muscle in the Marquette game Saturday and is a doubtful starter this week. Joe Collins, pass catching specialist, was groomed for the post.

BLOOMINGTON, (AP)—Indiana's first-string football players, victors over Michigan Saturday, were dismissed today after a brief workout.

John Tavener, veteran center.

'Bomber' Still Holds Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been pretty generally overlooked by the sports world, what with interest concentrated on baseball and one thing and another and the big guy's own easing from the spotlight in his comparatively anonymous role as an army sergeant, but Joe Louis for nearly two weeks now has held the distinction of having been world heavyweight champion longer than any other man.

The Bomber won the title from Jim Braddock June 22, 1937, and yesterday had held it seven years, three months and 10 days. The previous record holder was Jack Dempsey, who won the crown from Jess Willard July 4, 1919, and lost it to Gene Tunney Sept. 23, 1926, for a duration span of seven years, two months and 28 days.

The time elapsing before Louis eventually is relieved of his honors depends upon the duration of the war, although if the war lasted 10 years longer the champion probably could come out of it and still knock any rivals bowlegged, judging by the class of the gent who has been presented as top-flight heavyweights since Joe's departure.

That Louis would still be holding the title had the war not checked his ring work is taken generally for granted, although there are those who think that Billy Conn might have beaten him in a return match which most certainly would have been held by now, had conditions been normal.

As to the others, none can carry Louis' shoes when it comes to prize fighting, so there is no reason to say the champion has held office only through the grace of inactivity provided by his service in the army.

There never was a champion who was a greater credit to the game than Louis, or one more willing to take on all comers. His opponents always have been more or less just numbers to him, although some guys like Tony Galento and Conn aroused his curiosity by either their bombastic manner or cocky confidence.

Louis probably would have to sit down and ponder the question for some time before he could name all his opponents in championship fights. In fact, shortly after one of his meetings with Arthur Godoy he was met by Freddy Corcoran, the voice of the P. G. A., and the subject of Louis' most recent bout came up.

"That man, that..." Louis started snapping his fingers in perplexity, and had to give it up. He just couldn't recall Godoy's name.

Anyway, while Dempsey defended his title six times during his long stand at the top of the ladder, Louis put his on the line 21 times, and if some of the opponents were just setting-up exercises it was no fault of his.

Ireland May Get Position

At the moment looking ahead in the Hawkeye football picture is quite definitely not the way to spend a rainy day. Yesterday Coach Slip Madigan announced that five men who were possible starters in the Ohio State game this Saturday are "not being counted upon" for that contest.

Many football coaches have been known to make effusive use of the "crying towel" — with tongue in cheek. — But Madigan now has every right to wet the deck with none too salty tears. — Bob Liddy, star guard; Bill Barbour, end and place-kicker; Harry Frey, tackle; Clary Cross, also a tackle, and Forrest Masterson, giant center, are the men involved in the news.

Liddy, a naval medical trainee, is said to have failed to meet certain scholastic standings in his studies, and it is thought that he will be shifted to Great Lakes. Barbour and Frey are also medical students and they are weighing the news concerning Liddy with "considerable interest." Their status is also uncertain and they are likely to spend all their time on the books.

Cross has gotten himself involved in some kind of difficulty concerning registration technicalities which were not discovered until yesterday.

Masterson, the 1942 veteran, is the possessor of a badly pulled leg muscle, and he probably will not get in enough work to enable him to get into shape for the weekend's festivities.

The chances are that Liddy will be replaced by 196-pound Bob Ireland at the guard slot. He faces a good deal of work, as will the rest of the squad, this week. Madigan intends to spend much of the time on preparing a defense for the powerful Buckeyes.

Assistant Coach Maury Kent, returned from viewing the Ohio State slaughter of Missouri to the dirge of 41-0, brought back news which will not gladden the heart. The line is big and speedy with five seniors, and the backfield is made up of a group of fast and hard-running citizens.

State Examiner Audits City Records

An audit of city records for the past two years and up to March 31, 1944, was completed and submitted to the city clerk, George Dohrer, Saturday after two months' work by state examiner William Davidson. W. J. Lee, also an auditor, was in Iowa City from July 13 to Aug. 5 to assist with the audit which usually is made annually.

Because of a shortage of manpower no state audit was made in 1943.

The report, accepted by the city council last night, included the grand total balance of all city funds, $108,160.22.

General comment and recommendations of the records as audited by the inspectors were favorable.

Records of the following were included in the audit: city clerk and auditor; treasurer, engineer, community center maintenance fund, park board, library board, pension board, sewer rental office, police court, airport commission, weighmaster and the appropriation statement.

Venezuelan Studies Sanitary Engineering Under International Affairs Scholarship

Mr. and Mrs. Jose M. Soteldo

It was a precarious situation for a reporter to attempt to conduct an interview through an interpreter and a sketchy knowledge of Spanish. However, the friendly and gracious charm of Mr. and Mrs. Jose M. Soteldo of Caracas, Venezuela, turned what might have been an embarrassing conversation into a memorable visit.

Mr. Soteldo has begun his studies at the University of Iowa in the field of sanitary engineering on a scholarship sponsored by the United States government through the Institute of International Affairs. He explained the purpose of the sponsoring of these scholarships by the Institute as "an effort to bring about better understanding between the American nations, all of whom are united in the common ideal of democracy and liberty."

Several members of the university music department staff heard her performance of the Tchaikowsky concerto with the St. Louis symphony last spring and urged her engagement for a concert in Iowa City. She will appear Jan. 17. Artistically mature, Miss Travers has the appearance and manner of the school girl which she is at heart and in years.

Westminster Choir

Climaxing the local season will be the concert Feb. 14 of sacred and secular works by the Westminster choir under the leadership of the dean of American choral conductors, Dr. John Finley Williamson. A short tour has been assured for this season, however, and the University of Iowa has been able to secure a date en route.

Detailed information concerning the availability for tickets for the 1944-45 concert series will be released shortly. TO AMERICAN WOMEN ASKING—
"Will Defeat of Germany Lessen the Need for Saving Used Fats?"
—THE GOVERNMENT ANSWERS "NO!"
ON THE contrary, Mrs. America, the need for saving used cooking fats will be as great or greater than ever.
Victory over Germany still leaves the Japs in possession of the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and Malaya—countries from which we formerly imported about one billion pounds of fats and oils each year.
Even victory over Japan will not ease the situation immediately. Not for a year or more can these areas be brought back to pre-war production levels.
In the meantime, the need for your used fats will be as acute as ever for these reasons:
1 Even after European victory, we still have Japan to beat. Vast supplies of ammunition, medicines, parachutes, rubber boots, soap and other battlefield essentials must keep on going to our fighting men in a steady stream. These all require fats to make.
2 We must help in the rehabilitation of liberated countries, such as Greece, Norway and the Netherlands, with medicines, machinery, etc.
3 Many factories now producing for war will turn to manufacturing the civilian goods we need so urgently. These factories will consume vast quantities of industrial fats.
Need Greater Than Ever
Therefore, more than ever, salvaging used cooking fats is an important resource on which the country must continue to lean in order to tide us over.
Saving used fats is not a glamorous task. It takes effort. But it is one that only you, the American housewife, can perform for the country. We ask you to continue the wonderful job you are doing to help speed final Victory.
For every pound of used fat, your butcher will give you 4¢ and two free red points! Keep on saving every drop.
