Invading Russians Take Hungarian Rail Junction

Push 11 Miles Into Hungary

Moscow Announces Sept. 24 Invasion Of Axis Satellite

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops invading tottering Hungary on a broad front yesterday captured the big rail junction town of Bekesaba, 100 miles from Budapest, and also toppled Mako, only 15 miles from Szeged, Hungary's second city, a Moscow communique announced last night.

Rolling across rich farmlands which offer the Germans and Hungarians little natural defense lines, the Red army seized more than 100 towns and hamlets on a 75-mile front in a determined effort to knock out the last big axis satellite nation.

In addition to the key towns of Mako and Bekesaba, the Russians seized Gyula and Battonya, also road and rail towns of importance, the bulletin disclosed.

This invasion of southeastern Hungary, which the Germans said has been under way since Sept. 24 but just now has been announced by Moscow, was coupled with steady Russian outflanking movements in Yugoslavia south of the pre-war Hungarian frontier.

In the Yugoslav theater the units under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky were deployed along the north bank of the Danube river opposite Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, and during the day also reached the Tisza river at a point 33 miles south of the Hungarian frontier with the capture of Novi Bece.

South of the Danube in the converging attack on the Belgrade capital the Russians, operating with Marshal Tito's partisans, also seized more than 15 localities.

Marshal Tito's headquarters, in a two-day-old communique, said his troops were battling in the Petrova area, 54 miles southeast of Belgrade, cutting German escape routes into the capital and also were striking along the Valjevo-Belgrade railway toward Obrenovac, only 16 miles southwest of the capital.

Girl Friend's Face Restores GI's Memory

ATLANTA (AP)—Tech. Sergt. Carlton Griffin, injured in a plane crash over Belgium and held prisoner for nine months by the Germans, forgot everything but the face of the girl he left behind.

His serious injuries had wiped out all memory since January, 1943, when he arrived in England.

Three days ago the girl, Patricia Ann Moore of Madison, S. D., and Mrs. Griffin saw Carlton for the first time. The soldier remembered Patricia but not their marriage plans. So he started a new courtship under the eyes of envious fellow patients. Yesterday the marriage was performed.

Ashes of Humorist To Be Buried Today

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—The ashes of Irvin S. Cobb, famous writer and humorist who died last March 10 in New York will be buried in Oak Grove cemetery here today at 3 p. m. and probably it will be the strangest funeral ever conducted in Paducah, Cobb's home town.

But, with one or two minor exceptions, it will follow in detail the wishes of Cobb, who outlined his ideas on funerals in a letter sent to friends here and opened after his death.

Cobb's ashes will be sprinkled around the roots of a newly-planted dogwood tree in the center of a half-acre lot in the cemetery which figures in several of his stories.

Reds Join Tito
RUSSIAN TROOPS have linked up with units of the Yugoslav 14th partisan corps in a converging drive on Belgrade. Struggling against fierce Nazi resistance and the imminence of heavy autumn rains, the combined forces under Marshals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Tito are threatening the reconquest of big German-worked copper and coal mines in a 40-mile area between Donji Milanovac and Zajecar.

General Marshall, Byrnes Fly to Paris

Army Chief of Staff, WMB Head Confer With Eisenhower

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall arrived in Paris yesterday after a non-stop flight from the United States and conferred immediately with General Eisenhower and his staff.

There was no explanation for the unheralded visit of the army chief of staff, nor for the presence of James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, in his party. They arrived, however, in the midst of increasing reports that the allies are preparing for a winter of war on the western front.

As he stepped from the plane, the general was met by Eisenhower, Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the United States 12th army group, and Lieut. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Eisenhower's chief of staff.

The plane which brought them to France was a specially-fitted C-54 transport which the army operates to carry top-ranking American and allied officials, civilian as well as military, on important missions.

Congressmen Engage In New Argument Over Free Mailing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans and Democrats in congress launched into fresh argument yesterday over who is doing the most free mailing, after the White House announced that President Roosevelt has erred in stating that Republicans had 3,000,000 copies of a speech printed at government expense.

Rep. Taber (R, N.Y.), listed by Chairman Anderson (D, N.M.) of the house campaign expenditures committee as having franked 310,000 of the 3,000,000 copies of the speech, declared "The number of speeches sent out under frank by the Democrats exceeds the number sent out by the Republicans 3 to 1."

Anderson promptly challenged Taber to present figures showing any Democrat had mailed at government expense "anything like 3,000,000 copies of one speech—or even 1,000,000 copies."

The speech in question, by Rep. Busby (R, Ill.), referred to "the red spectre of Communism stalking our country."

Report 'Violations' Willkie in Hospital With Throat Infection

NEW YORK (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, in a hospital suffering from a throat infection and slight lung congestion, was "doing very well" late yesterday, his physician, Dr. Benjamin Salzer, announced.

Dr. Salzer said the 1940 Republican presidential candidate, who is 52, had a temperature of 102, but added, "I'm not concerned about that."

British Seize Rion; Seal Gulf of Corinth In Greek Advance

Germans Abandon Most of Peloponnesus Under Bombardment

ROME (AP)—British invasion forces in Greece advanced yesterday toward the Isthmus of Corinth, gateway to Athens, and it appeared that the Germans already had abandoned most of the Peloponnesus getting out of all of Greece as rapidly as they could.

Seizure of the fortified town of Rion, seven miles east of the captured port of Patrai, sealed off the Gulf of Corinth at its narrow mouth.

Up the Adriatic coast, British guns on the Dalmatian islands shelled enemy traffic along the coastal road. British planes on a raid near Salonika destroyed three enemy transport planes and shot up a dozen retreating Nazi motor vehicles.

Deserted by their German masters, "security battalions" of collaborating Greeks were reported surrendering without a fight at many points in the Peloponnesus.

At Rion, the British turned captured enemy guns "with good results" on the Germans attempting to reach the north shore of the Gulf of Corinth, it was announced. Dozens of small craft, discovered loaded with fleeing Germans along the south shore of the gulf, were attacked by rocket-firing Hurricanes of the Balkan air force. The enemy's guns at Andirion, opposite Rion, were silent yesterday.

Patrai was captured after several days of fighting when the surrender of 1,500 troops of the security battalions made the German garrison's position untenable.

In Albania, the small British force which went ashore 11 days ago found its operations hampered by bad weather. There was some skirmishing between patrols, and artillery continued to shell the enemy garrison still holding out in the small port of Sarande, supply funnel for the German troops on Corfu.

Capture of the Aegean island of Samos was announced in a communique issued by Greek headquarters in Cairo, British and Greek troops overcame the Fascist Italian garrison in a short engagement and without allied casualties. German troops already had withdrawn from the island.

Utah Jury Convicts 31 Fundamentalists

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Thirty-one "fundamentalist" cult members—20 men and 11 women—were convicted by a district court jury yesterday of conspiring to preach and practice polygamy.

The eight male jurors returned the verdict after an hour and 57 minutes' deliberation. Defense attorneys said they would appeal to the state supreme court and if necessary would carry the case to the United States supreme court.

Defense attorneys contended the cult was engaged only in religious worship, following the original doctrine of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church.

However, the church, which outlawed polygamy as part of its doctrine in 1890, has aided federal and state authorities in prosecution of the movement and has communicated all church members who joined the cult.

As Browder Declines Answer—Dewey, Brownell Comment on FDR's Speech

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A few hours after President Roosevelt's disavowal of Communist support, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asserted yesterday the president "would like softly to deny the means by which he seeks election" and that "I shall be compelled to discuss it quite openly tonight" at Charleston, W. Va.

Although the Republican presidential candidate did not say specifically that he referred to the president's statement Thursday night that he does "not welcome the support of any person or group committed to Communism

Yanks Capture Loiano In Drive on Bologna

ROME (AP)—Pushing forward up to the three miles through rain and mud against stout resistance by crack Nazi reinforcements, the American Fifth army won positions 13 miles southeast of Bologna Thursday and drove to within nine miles of the strategic Bologna-Rimini highway, allied headquarters announced yesterday.

The Americans captured the large town of Loiano on the highway from Florence 14 miles below Bologna, the greatest communication center in that part of Italy.

The Fifth army Yanks made their principal advance by driving over snow-covered mountains to a point 2,000 yards south of Montezenzio.

Newspaperboy Day

Today is "National Newspaperboy day" all over America. It is a salute to the carrier salesmen who are playing an important part in bringing battle and home-front news to the homes of readers. Newspaperboys are a familiar sight on the American scene. They are like young merchants, operating their routes, buying at wholesale and selling to readers at retail. They are fully responsible for service in all kinds of weather. Today, on "his day," the newspaperboy is receiving recognition from America for the service he has been giving.

Poles Announce Claim On German Territory To Oder River

MOSCOW (AP)—A claim to German territory as far as the Oder river was announced in Polish circles yesterday, the first specific indication of the land compensation expected by the pro-Soviet Polish committee of national liberation in return for eastern Polish territories claimed by Russia.

The pro-Soviet Polish news agency said the committee's proposal to annex this area, plus the port of Stettin on the west bank of the Oder, "will not be an act of revenge, but one of historic justice."

Announce Nearest Approach to Japan By Aleutian Planes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS American bombers punched at Kita island in the Kuriles, Tokyo radio said yesterday in the closest approach to the Japanese homeland yet made by Aleutian-based planes.

"A fierce air battle," in which two of 12 attacking Liberators were shot down in the thrust Thursday to within 310 miles of Hokkaido, northernmost of Japan's main islands, was reported in the broadcast, heard by the federal communications commission.

There was no American confirmation of this raid report, nor of another one in which Tokyo said 50 United States medium bombers probably operating from an airfield on captured Peleliu, bombed Babelthup, largest of the Palau Islands. Nine islands of the Palau group, including Peleliu, are under American control.

In China, a high command communique giving a gloomy picture of the fighting, said that reinforced Japanese troops had reached the northwestern suburbs of Fochow, last Chinese-held major port on the east coast.

A Japanese Domei news broadcast recorded by the FCC reported that the cabinet had been rebuked by Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso for failure of efficient execution of some "decisive wartime measures" which had been agreed upon in cabinet meetings.

As Browder Declines Answer—Dewey, Brownell Comment on FDR's Speech

Browder, Jr., Republican national chairman, said he hoped the president would "clarify his statement," adding: "Action speaks louder than words. American citizens feel that the Communist influences are centered in the activities of Sidney Hillman and the political action committee. I hope the president will... let us know if he repudiates the support of the Communist-controlled PAC..."

In Boston, Browder declined comment last night on President Roosevelt's rejection of Communist aid.

Browder, here to speak before a sell out symphony hall audience for the controversial musical revue "F. D. R. Victory Bandwagon," added that his prepared remarks included no reference to Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that Communist help was not welcomed.

FDR's Speech Cited As—Cause for Mistrial

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's reference to the Silver Shirts in Thursday night's campaign speech was cited by defense attorneys in the mass sedition trial yesterday as cause for a mistrial.

Judge Edward C. Eicher directed that written motions be filed over the weekend and said he would hear them Monday.

William Dudley Pelley, one of the 26 defendants accused of conspiracy to undermine morale of the armed forces, formerly was leader of the Silver Shirts. President Roosevelt, saying the administration would sell out American democracy to the Communists, added in his speech: "This form of fear propaganda is not new among rabble rousers and fomenters of class hatred who seek to destroy democracy itself. It has been used before in this country by the Silver Shirts and others on the lunatic fringe."

Supreme Headquarters, AEF (AP)—The United States First army dealt a great surprise blow at the Siegfried line south of the German fortress of Aachen yesterday, driving through the evergreen forest of Hurtgen to within 26 miles of Cologne and the Rhine behind the drumfire of massed artillery and swarms of warplanes.

Police Find Clue In Snood Slaying

Discover Man's Belt Near Body Of Strangled Girl

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man's belt furnished a possible clue last night in the slaying of Dorothy Berrum, 17-year-old war department clerk from Chippewa Falls, Wis., who was found strangled with her own snood early yesterday on Potomac park golf course.

Police said the belt was lying about 50 feet from the girl's body, was new, and had been exposed to the elements only a few hours. It had no identification marks but detectives counted it as an important find.

Two park employees came across Miss Berrum's body while cleaning up park debris.

Nearby were bloodstains and signs of a terrific struggle. Her face was bruised and scratched. Coroner A. Magruder McDonald said she had been raped.

Identification was established through a Chippewa Falls high school ring initialed "D. B." Detective Chief Robert J. Barrett said he talked with her father in Chippewa Falls and learned the girl came here last June after graduating from high school and began work for the ordnance division of the war department.

Delegates to Finish Peace Plan Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—American, British and Chinese delegates put final touches on a proposed framework for a world peace organization yesterday, planning to wind up seven weeks of conferences today.

It was ascertained that the Chinese, who entered the talks after the Russian conversations were concluded, were able to complete their work in a single week because they found that their main ideas were covered in the Anglo-American-Russian draft, at least by implication.

The blueprint for a world peace agency is expected to be placed before the public early next week, with obstacles to the administration's plans for it appearing in advance of formal publication.

"We have been told that the main purpose of the organization being considered at Dumbarton Oaks is to provide for peaceful change within an ordered and peaceful society when, as a matter of fact, we are being driven into a state of war," Senator Wherry (R, Neb) said in a statement yesterday.

The Nebraska, senate Republican whip, said the American people "are now being herded down the road of uncritical and unprincipled appeasement both of Russia and Great Britain."

Netherlands Fear German Demolition

LONDON (AP)—Holland's exile government accused Germany last night of "malicious and ruthless" preparations for demolition of the seawalls guarding the reclaimed lowlands, an action which would mean the flooding of approximately 46 percent of the country and disaster to nearly 65 percent of its population.

Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy, his usual solemn stoicism shattered by the desperate plight he pictured confronting his homeland, told a press conference that "famine, floods, cold and darkness in a matter of weeks threaten to engulf the densely-populated provinces of the Netherlands in the greatest disaster of their history."

First Army Launches Surprise Offensive South of Aachen

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF (AP)—The United States First army dealt a great surprise blow at the Siegfried line south of the German fortress of Aachen yesterday, driving through the evergreen forest of Hurtgen to within 26 miles of Cologne and the Rhine behind the drumfire of massed artillery and swarms of warplanes.

This new assault was uncocked as the Germans, sucked 16 miles north to defend a breach torn in the line by a First army drive now five days old, hurled in all available reserves and 30 tanks and drove the Americans temporarily from Beggenorf, at the tip of a salient menacing the Ruhr valley.

Then the doughboys, reinforced by tanks, swept back into Beggenorf and the German town was reported firmly in their grasp.

It was too early to tell whether the savage new onslaught, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, caught the enemy off balance, but a front dispatch said Lieut. Gen. Courtney Hodges' assault units advanced nearly a mile in an hour and a half and were within six miles of Duren, 20 miles from Cologne.

The Siegfried breach here now is seven miles wide at the base, is three miles deep and little more than two miles wide at the eastern apex.

(The German news agency DNB reported heavy fighting in this area north of Aachen and declared that the British and Americans were believed musing for a great autumn offensive.)

On the south the U. S. Third army clung to its foothold in the northwest corner of Ft. Driant, one of a belt of fortresses guarding Metz, and beat off tanks and infantry charging out of the fog from the north.

Explosions Interrupt Musical Premiere

BOSTON (AP)—Several sharp explosions, as of large firecrackers, caused a flurry of excitement at Symphony hall last night during the intermission of the sell-out premiere of the controversial musical revue, "F. D. R. Victory Bandwagon."

The first act was ended; Earl Browder, American Communist leader, had just finished a speech to the audience.

There were eight or ten sharp explosions from the lobby, just outside the auditorium of the hall. Several persons ran for the door. Police swung down the aisles and into the corridor.

There was no panic, however, and order was quickly restored.

11-Month-Old Baby Travels Alone

CHICAGO (AP)—An 11-month-old baby boy completed a 451 mile train trip yesterday without the benefit of parental care.

The Odysseus began late Thursday night in Kansas City. The father, James Michael Rojachich Sr., who was taking his son and namesake from California to Minnesota, stepped off the Santa Fe's California Limited there to get some cigarettes. When he returned, the train was gone.

Telegrams were sent ahead calling attention to the blond, blue-eyed infant ensconced in a berth. The crew attended to the care and feeding. The dad boarded a later train and he and the youngster were reunited in Chicago.

Child Prodigy

TRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Three-year-old Shields Fair is something of a prodigy when it comes to taking apart light fixtures, door handles and telephones. He accompanied his father to the bank the other day and wandered off to amuse himself. When his father missed him, the banker assured him that a boy of that age could do no harm in a bank. "Yes?" the father exclaimed, pointing to the boy. Shields had removed the handles from the night safe, a job for experienced hands.

Crawford Gives Baconian Lecture—

Reporting on research conducted at the University of Iowa during the decade preceding Pearl Harbor in the four language departments—classical languages, German, Romance languages and American literature, Prof. B. V. Crawford of the English department presented the fourth Baconian lecture last night.

Professor Crawford spoke as follows: "The task which confronts me this evening is a formidable one. No one of you realizes so vividly as I the virtual impossibility of treating with adequacy the activities of four departments concerned with six or seven languages in the time at my disposal. What shall I say to those whose work is denied deserved attention? Only this. My job is as much to chart trends as to record individual achievement. What is mentioned will often be included for illustrative purposes; not to confer any accolade.

"How does it happen that these four departments are grouped for treatment by one speaker? Upon every language is superimposed a literature; and literatures are the possession of many men who have not mastered the languages in which they are written. All modern literatures owe an immeasurable debt to the classics; just as England, France, Germany, Italy and Spain have an interdependence which war can only interrupt. As departments our techniques and methods of approach are similar. Basic skills in the proof that even in English a foundation of grammar, vocabulary, idiom, structure must be laid. In short, we have common aims. We understand one another's difficulties.

Peace, War Writers
"Because I shall consider the departments separately, I turn first to the oldest. The works of Horace were examined for the status of women. Other studies of a broader character involved examinations of the attitude of selected writers toward peace and war. During the period ten dissertations have been completed; and of these all but one have been printed.

"The Classical journal has had its editorial home on the campus. The late head, for the first four years of the decade its editor-in-chief, and for the remaining six its associate editor, contributed every year shorter articles, reviews and editorials.

German Department
"Up to 1935, the German department had, with but two exceptions, given only the master's degree. Between 1935 and 1940 five Ph.D. degrees were conferred, and in the decade 18 masters received degrees. Of the dissertations three fall within the field of literary criticism, one dealt with the background of literary culture, and one with linguistics. The masters' theses were concerned exclusively with literary history and criticism.

"Publications of the staff have reflected individual interests. The present head, interested in classical German literature, has published chiefly in that field. Another member now on leave, previously known for experiments carried on under Dean Carl E. Seashore into 'Pitch and Intensity Characteristics of Stage Speech,' in 1938 joined the department.

He was actively interested in the phonetics laboratory, and, with the head produced that year a set of German phonograph records for teaching purposes. His recent work as secretary-treasurer of the Linguistic Society, director of the intensive language courses of the American Council of Learned Societies and as advisor for the foreign language courses of the army, has brought credit to the department and to the university.

Graduate Study Uncommon
"Graduate study in Romance languages was uncommon in the middle west before the First World War. Chicago and Wisconsin offered graduate work in Romance languages. After the war, the increase in enrollment gave advanced students teaching positions and the possibility of earning graduate degrees. In the twenties, especially after the arrival of Prof. Ralph E. House, graduate study was seriously undertaken in the University of Iowa.

"But the Romance languages department has also attracted wide attention by its interest in the technique of teaching. Under the head of the department, it developed what was at first denomi-

Senator O'Mahoney Questions Dewey Campaign System

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) said last night that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey should not be permitted to take the peace issue out of the campaign "until he tells the country how he is dealing with Republican isolationists in the senate whose whispers will rise to a roar after the election is over."

In a speech prepared for delivery over NBC, the senate Democratic campaign committee chairman asserted the Republican presidential nominee "undertakes to create the illusion that questions of war and peace have been lifted from the campaign."
Dewey's plan, O'Mahoney said, is to sidetrack the international issue "so as to bring back to the party fold those Republicans who place peace above partisanship."

Opinion On and Off the Campus— How Significant Is the Difference Between Nazis and Germans?

Bill Dalton, A2, Moline, Ill.
"There should be an earnest attempt to distinguish between Nazis and Germans. We should try to recognize the difference between those who firmly believe in the Nazi doctrines and those who are forced by circumstances to abide by them. The difference should be known so that punishment of war criminals will be just."

Prof. F. L. Fehling, of the German department. "Many Germans are not Nazis. If we do not make a distinction, we will be unfair to many of the German people."

Prof. George F. Robeson, of the political science department. "It will make a great deal of difference in the peace if we recognize a difference between Nazis and Germans. To maintain that there is no difference is to assume that the German people were unconsciously when they elected the Nazi party to power. It appears that all the Germans are Nazified and that there is no distinct difference between Nazis and Germans."

Mrs. Walter DeLong, visitor from South Bend, Ind. "It is significant in this respect. There are many more Germans than Nazis. The United Nations have to conquer only the Nazis, not the Germans."

Rose Marie Essley, A3 of New Boston, Ill. "There is a great difference. Germans still have their good principles. Only a certain percentage of the people really have changed their viewpoints to that of the Nazis."

Ruth Roundbush, A1, Brooklyn, Iowa. "The Nazis are the political leaders and the members of the party that have overrun Germany and those Germans who believe and support the theories of government which they teach. The Germans might not all adhere to the teachings of the Nazi party."

Jean Kuehl, A2 of Waukeet. "I think the main difference is that the Nazi party, as a good political faction, feels it is superior. On the other hand, the German people themselves feel inferior and will follow leaders like Hitler who promise them world recognition and dominance."

Wanda Siebels, A3, Amber. "The Nazi party has as its characteristics, the militaristic air brought about by the clever propaganda and spirit of Adolf Hitler. Its environment has been entirely fashioned by his fanatical hand and thus it represents a people hated by almost everyone. The German people, in reality, are good, and proper training will prove this."

D. L. Darling, high school government teacher, Des Moines. "The Nazi party has tried to make itself the religion of the German people. They have been fairly successful because they have instilled fear in the German people."

Betty Mueller, G, Dyersville. "At the beginning of the war, more of the German people were under the influence of the Nazi party as shown by the increase of the German underground activities, whereas all German people are militaristic and like to be led; they resent the tyranny of dictatorship."

Leonard Kraushaar, ASTP, Long Island, N. Y. "A person does not necessarily have to be a German to be a Nazi and a Nazi isn't necessarily a German."

Helen Oltman, A3, Oak Park, Ill. "I think that as long as the German people have leaders they will follow them because they would rather be led than have to think for themselves. At the present time the Nazi party is dominating the German people."

Polly Mudge, A3, Slippery Rock, Pa. "I think that the majority of German people have been so thoroughly indoctrinated with the belief that the Nazi cause is a just one that they will support Nazism until it is defeated. They are not, however, inherent aggressors and could be taught to be peace-lovers. The power-mad Nazi leaders never will give up their ambitions."

Jean Horak, A3, Cedar Rapids. "I don't think there is any difference anymore because German youth is being forced into the ideas and teachings of the Nazi organization. At least half of the older generation is still German in belief, but they're disintegrating under Nazi rule."

Neal Casey, A1, Mason City. "There is a lot of difference between the two parties. The people of Germany are either too afraid to say what they believe or they don't show resistance. Then we have the other half which still fights for the old Germany, but silently. All in all, the whole thing is a question of people declaring their intentions."

Dorris Hays, A3, Vinton. "I think the majority of the German people were taken in by Nazi ideas, because they were presented to the people in such a logical way. With each day the war progresses, the Nazis are losing the dogmatic control they had over the people."

Bette Lou Leaver, A4, St. Louis. "It's a characteristic of the German people to follow their leaders almost without question. The seeds of revolt are starting to grow, but I don't think they will take hold until the people are certain there is no hope for them."

Mrs. Edith Bowers, 1010 Fairchild street. "A great many of the Germans are victims of circumstance and have been ruled to a great extent by mob psychology. They are sadly disillusioned."

Paul Mallon Says— Republicans Will Win Congress

WASHINGTON — There is a commonly prevailing notion the Republicans will win congress even if Governor Dewey loses.

This is an easy assumption which takes the fullest possible liberties with the inner facts of the situation.

A careful check suggests rather that the election of Dewey is essential to bring both houses of congress into the Republican column. Or rather it is, unless voters go in for an unprecedented amount of ticket-splitting and turn entirely away from the Democratic list after checking Mr. Roosevelt.

The Republicans have their best chance in the house. There the lineup today is:

Republican 212, Democrat 216, vacancies 3, other parties 4.

Without the aid of a pencil, a glancing observer might conclude the house to be certainly Republican as only six more seats are needed. Maybe — but the un-noticed fact inside the matter is that the Republicans already fully hold the congressional field outside the cities and the rigid, if not solid, south.

as anti-New Deal (and it is) the voters can get a coherent government only by electing Dewey.

The southern Democrats are answering back that they may be anti-New Deal but as yet not Republican.

This is true, but on economic issues — the important one which will make the country what it is to be — they will vote more often as Republicans will vote than as New Dealers do.

Educators Close Two-Day Conference

Over 300 Attend Round Table Discussion in Morning Session

More than three hundred superintendents, high school principals and administrative officers attended the 30th annual education conference which closed yesterday afternoon after two days of demonstration, round table discussion and lecture sessions.

In the senate chamber of Old Capitol the morning session opened with a vocational discussion by F. B. Knight, director from Purdue, and was followed by Dean Harry K. Newburn of the college of liberal arts who presented the background and plans underway in the "New Liberal Arts Program at the University of Iowa."

Liberal Arts Program Dean Newburn discussed liberal education and its meaning and the ways it must be tested through changes. The new program as described by the speaker includes: Every student upon graduation must have had reading, writing and speaking and must demonstrate his capabilities in each. Dean Newburn pointed out that in the program this year, 52 of the 836 students entered under the new curricula satisfied communication skills prerequisites and were permitted to elect other courses. Some of these now take suggested literature courses.

Other points of the program as described were: reading or speaking one language and completion of an eight semester hour course to fulfill this requirement. Courses in social science, natural science, history of ideas and historic and cultural studies are among the general education subjects offered. Advanced students completing prerequisites before the final year may elect these subjects. The student may elect 30 hours of credits selected from any of the approved courses on campus. Each student must have 126 hours of credit upon graduation and must have the recommendation of the department sponsoring the area of study.

Advisory Board The new advisory board was touched upon in the discussion and the college of liberal arts will have an advisory board of 84 to handle the problems of the two thousand students to be assigned.

Prof. E. F. Lindquist of the college of education spoke on "New Developments in the Iowa Testing Program." He said that the goal of the program is to give the best service at the lowest cost.

"We've had to mark time during the last two years because of a shortage of help and equipment, but we attempted a comeback this fall," he stated.

Opening the afternoon session, Prof. J. B. Stroud of the college of education, spoke on "Facing the Problem of Education for All Youth."

"In America, high schools have been free since their conception," Professor Stroud said, "but they have not always been as crowded as they are today."

He said that all classes of society have not taken advantage of our educational system. He attributed this to economic reasons, education of a child's parents, and the child's own intellectual ability.

Race Differences In a comparison of the intelligence quotient of a Negro child and a white child, Professor Stroud said that the Negro was 15 points below the white. It is the background that handicaps him in the I.Q. test, according to Professor Stroud. This is also what handicaps him in the classroom.

Informal learning in a child is much greater than we believe, the speaker stressed. "Most important learning in high schools takes place when students meet each other in a face-to-face relationship. To gain in this way the student must be accepted as an equal," Professor Stroud said. "A school system is a leveler of class barriers. It affords a student the opportunity to rise from one level of society to another."

Hancher Praises School Administrators for Wartime Work

"When this war is over among the people who will receive praise will be you, the superintendents and principals who have kept the public and private schools functioning. You have been doubly remarkable because of the shortage of teachers and equipment," said President Virgil M. Hancher in his address at the luncheon of the 30th annual education conference yesterday.

President Hancher commented upon the problems that would develop at the conclusion of the war. Such as getting men and women who have been in the services back to a normal student life. "They will be glad to come back home; to see their friends and familiar places. But when the initial joy is over, I'm certain they will be taken by a restlessness," he said.

"We have at the secondary school, college and university levels the responsibility of producing citizens who will have a place in this country, a place in the scheme of things."

Educational Approach The psychological approach to education will be changed, President Hancher remarked. "We thought that the Atlantic and the Pacific isolated us from the world. That is not true now. We have not been citizens of the world, but we must become citizens and contribute to world order and world stability."

Speaking about the peace problems we will have to meet, President Hancher said that at the end of World War I, we thought the other nations should do as we wanted because we helped them fight. If we take the same attitude in this war we'll get the same result. "We're not in France to liberate her, but to fight Germany. Italy was occupied by the Nazis before we came. We won't have gratitude and we shouldn't expect it. If we don't expect it we'll accomplish more at the peace table," state President Hancher.

Need Good Educators "Education is the attempt to compass within a few years the accomplishments of civilizations. Education must bring new generations where they can make advances. They must have a ground in elementary school and a knowledge of their own environment," he said. Because schools have a tremendous power for good and evil it is important to have good educators. "We need people who can see straight. This should be the goal of secondary schools and colleges," President Hancher stated.

Servicemen's Wives Display Handcraft Work

DISPLAYING THE HANDCRAFT which they have been creating at their weekly meeting are members of Iowa City's Servicemen's Club. They are (left to right) Mrs. Howard Rankin, Mrs. Robert Richie, Mrs. Edwin Hill, Mrs. Marvin Sass, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. John Carlson and Mrs. Clarence Carlson. These wives meet each Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the lounge of the USO building.

The creation of everything from Raggedy Anne dolls to wooden egg cups keeps Iowa City's servicemen's wives busy at the meetings of the Servicemen's Wives club which meet each Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the USO building. This organization was formed over a year ago to help service wives become acquainted with each other and fill in their lonely evenings.

This fall a favorite activity of the group is the handcraft which they are doing with Christmas in mind. Since this project was begun, Mrs. J. B. Martin, who serves as instructor, reports that the wives have even come down during the day to work.

Handcrafts Enjoyable A typical example of the enjoyment which has resulted from these handcrafts is the reminiscence of Mrs. Richard Johnson, who has been making wooden plaques to serve as hot mats.

"My last one, a picture of a man at the sink, couldn't help but remind me of my husband doing dishes — he's been gone two years and is probably some where in the Aleutians now," Representative of the service wife whose husband is stationed

By RUTH SCHULTZ Daily Iowan Staff Writer

In Iowa City is Mrs. William Gladstone. Pfc. Gladstone, a medical student at the university, contributed to her project by creating the stubby tail for the white terry cloth deer she has just completed.

Baskets have proven to be the most popular of the woven products. Many of these have been designed for use in the homes they'll have when their husbands return as well as for gifts. Mrs. Robert Wiley, whose husband is also overseas, says hers can be used for bread and fruit and even comments that they make a nice mail holder.

Red Cross Work Deviating from their personal activities, the members do Red Cross work one a month, such as sewing carpet rags for hospitals or hemming towels. Aside from this regularly slated program, the meetings are planned from one Thursday to the next.

"We do just about whatever we wish," explained Mrs. John Carlson, Johnson county nurse. "Sometimes we play bridge or go to movies. I was a stranger in Iowa City, and there was no other way to meet young people. Here we all have the same circumstances and sympathies."

To this Mrs. Howard Rankin added, "Our meetings are only social. We talk and exchange stories about our husbands." Her husband has been with the east-ern command in Russia. Topics discussed at last week's meeting were the addition to the Ralph Kraus family — Pfc. Kraus is a medical student at the university and his wife a member of the Wives club—and the return this week of Mrs. Robert Richie's husband, who has been overseas with the merchant marine.

Most of their husbands are overseas, but any serviceman's wife is eligible to join. The club was originated by wives of the AST students here. Because so many servicemen have been moved from the campus recently, and because WAVES are replacing much of the navy personnel at the pre-flight school, the membership is now only half its original size. By contacting more Iowa City service wives, the present members hope to increase the size of the group soon. Both the wives of officers and enlisted men are eligible.

University Symphony To Present First Concert Wednesday

The "Romeo and Juliet Overture" by Tschaikowsky is one of the numbers to be presented by the University symphony orchestra at the first concert of the season Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in Iowa Union. Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will direct the orchestra.

This overture is based on Shakespeare's play of the same name. It is one of the best known compositions of Tschaikowsky. The theme is descriptive of the lovers, Friar Lawrence and the battles between the Montague and Capulet families. These family struggles make up the greater part of the overture. The ending foreshadows the tragic ending of the play.

Tschaikowsky was a fairly young composer when he wrote the "Romeo and Juliet Overture," a number which has been and still is a great public favorite.

Football Managers Requested to Restrict Ticket Distribution

To restrict football travel, football team managers have been requested to confine sale and distribution of tickets to residents of local areas in which games are to be played, Waldo Geiger, chairman of the local war price and ration board said yesterday.

Gas rationing has taken care of most automobile travel, Geiger declared, but sport fans still crowd trains and buses. The office of defense transportation has asked football teams traveling by train to use coach accommodations wherever possible and to make pullman reservations no earlier than the day before departure.

Browns Surprise Cardinals, Win Second, 6 to 2

Americans Knock Five Hits For Four Runs in Third Inning

By ORLO ROBERTSON

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis (AP)—Baseball's hiltless wonders of 1944 turned sluggers for two innings yesterday as the surprising Browns whipped the Cardinals, 6 to 2, in the third game of the World Series and took a commanding lead of two games to one over their St. Louis rivals.

Held to two hits in winning the series opener and to seven while dropping the second, the American league champions pounded out five of their eight hits in a four-run third inning and ripped through the highly regarded Cardinal pitching staff for a pair of doubles in the seventh to score two more needless tallies.

The Browns' porous infield and pitcher Jack Kramer gave their supporters among the crowd of 34,737 some cause for worry in the first inning when the Cards scored an unearned run but from there on the 26-year-old former Seabee from New Orleans was in perfect control of the situation. The Browns' defense opened up to let another unearned run through in the seventh. Kramer was master of the day otherwise, striking out ten and walking only two as he gave up seven scattered hits.

The underdogs' victory put the Cardinals on the spot but manager Billy Southworth said he would send southpaw Harry Brecheen out today in an attempt to square accounts. Sig Jakucki was Luke Sewell's choice for the fourth game.

Shaky Second

After a shaky second inning, in which he walked three men, Ted Wilks pulled himself together and retired the first two men in the third before the roof fell in. Gene Moore lined a single to right and then in rapid succession, Vern Stephens, George McQuinn, Al Zarilla and Mark Christman lashed singles to either center or right, accounting for three runs.

That was the end of Wilks and brought Fred Schmidt on the scene. He let loose a wild pitch, after walking Red Hayworth intentionally, to let the fourth run across. The runs were scored by Moore, Stephens, McQuinn and Zarilla with Christman joining McQuinn and Zarilla in receiving credit for driving them in.

Schmidt had passed from the scene for a pinch hitter and Al Jurisich was on the mound when doubles by Don Gutteridge and McQuinn and a passed ball by Walker Cooper, Cardinal catcher, accounted for the seventh-inning runs.

Third Frame

In addition to starting the big third inning offense, Moore made two great catches to cut short a Cardinal rally in the eighth. Johnny Hopp had started the frame with a single to center. Stan Musial caught one of Kramer's fast pitches and sent the ball riding toward the right field pavilion. Moore backed up against the fence and caught the ball just in front of the boards.

Walker Cooper followed with a double off the boards in left center, but Kreevich played the ball perfectly and held Hopp at third. Moore then came into the picture again by running far to his left into the sun to catch Whitey Kurowski's towering aerial.

The Cardinals jumped out in front in the first inning. With one down, Hopp reached second as Stephens let his hot grounder go through for a two-base error. Musial could do no better than a fly to short but Walker Cooper came through with the first of his two hits, a single to left, and the Cardinal fans went wild as Hopp scored.

Musial Hits

The National leaguers went down in order in the second, saw a hit by Musial wasted in the third and were one-two-three victims in the next three frames before breaking through the Browns' defense for their final tally in the seventh.

This time, Ray Sanders started the rally with a single to center. Kurowski hit a perfect double play ball to Stephens, but Gutteridge, after forcing the Cardinal first baseman at second, threw wild over first. Kurowski went to second and romped home when Marion got the first of his two singles.

In addition to Wilks, Schmidt and Jurisich, Southworth also used Bud Beverly in an attempt to stop the Browns.

Despite the defeat the Cards still remained a slight favorite to take the series in the opinion of St. Louis betting commissioners. They were quoted at 4 to 5 and 11 to 20 to take today's game. The major league war relief fund figured in yesterday's receipts of $751,542, taking $74,255.98 after the players' share of $77,286.42 had been deducted.

Time: 2 p. m.

Place: Memorial stadium, Lincoln, Neb.

Officials: M. G. Volz (Nebraska) referee; Robert Miller (Missouri) umpire; Bill Day (Nebraska) field judge; Max Roper (Nebraska) linesman.

With only two changes in the starting lineup from that which slaughtered Olathe last week, the Seahawks will be up against one of their toughest foes of the season when they meet the powerful Second Airforce eleven at Lincoln today. Rated a 2-1 favorite over the Seahawks, the Superbombers appear as the No. 1 army team in the nation.

The Seahawks, who have ruled the service elevens in the last two years, may well be dethroned today, as the Superbombers have one of the classiest arrays of football talent that the Pre-Flighters have had to face in quite some time.

Chief threat to the Seahawk supremacy lies in the passing arm of Lieut. Glenn Dobbs, while Johnny Strykalski and Ray Evans are both ground gainers who have had things pretty much their own way all season.

Dobbs, a triple threat All-American back from Tulsa, reached the peak of his success last week against Colorado when he unleashed 12 passes which all sailed true.

The leading ground gainer of the Superbombers, Strykalski has picked up a total of 245 yards in his 26 attempts from scrimmage. Also adept as a pass receiver, Strykalski has pulled 10 of Dobbs' deadly aerials out of the air, five of which culminated in touchdowns.

Hitting the line with powerful smashes will be Ray Evans, a hard-to-stop fullback from Kansas, while Gollie Renfro, an excellent ball handling and blocking quarterback, will be calling the signals.

Changes in the Seahawk lineup will be in the spots vacated by halfback Don Waldron and end Raymond Swanke, who left pre-flight school this week for a primary base.

Bob Phillips, who started both against Michigan and Minnesota, will get the nod in Swanke's left end spot, while the Holy Cross product, Bob Sullivan, will fill Waldron's shoes at halfback.

Sullivan, who has been the No. 1 reserve left halfback for the Seahawks, shone in the backfield against Minnesota, while last week he tossed a touchdown pass against the Olathe Clippers.

Six officers will probably be used by Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher as replacements for his cadet squad. Among the first officers to break into the game will be ends Perry Schwartz and Jim Poole, while quarterback Art Guepe and tackle Ray George will also be in the first line of reinforcements.

Backs Jim Lalanne, place kicking expert of the officers, and Noble Doss will break into the lineup later if replacements are needed.

With the entire cadet eleven in top condition, Meagher feels that the officers are ready to go along with the rest of the team as a well precisioned unit.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Coach "Pops" Harrison announced yesterday that basketball practice for the 1944-45 season will begin Monday at 4 p. m. in the field house. All boys interested are urged to attend the first practice.

At Left Halfback This Afternoon—

Hawkeye Bill Kersten

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

At left halfback this afternoon for Iowa there will be a somewhat shy, diffident, and unassuming young man named Bill Kersten. At least that's the way he would be if he weren't wearing a football uniform. But, since it's likely that he will be properly dressed for the occasion, possibly it would be better to describe him as a cyclone with feet.

Young husky Bill is the newest thing to bloom in the Madigan grid garden. It was not until the pre-season practice grind was pretty well underway that those present began to wonder what was causing the gust of wind which blew by the tacklers during scrimmages. When the breeze finally subsided it was found to be 6 feet and 197 pounds of chunky human. Immediately Madigan hurried Kersten into his first string backfield.

Michigan-Minnesota, Purdue-Illinois Clash; Irish Meet Tulane

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—One of the big questions in early season Western conference football probably will be settled here today when co-champion Purdue and unbeaten Illinois meet in a clash of T-formations that is expected to produce a high-scoring battle.

The Illini, who last week tied Great Lakes, 26-26, hold a 26-18 conference victory over Indiana, while the Boilermakers have beaten Marquette and dropped a 27-18 decision to Great Lakes in non-league starts.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota plays its first Big Ten football game of the season today, meeting Michigan in a renewal of their long feud for the Little Brown Jug, traditional trophy which goes to the winner each year.

While the above may be stretching the issue somewhat, it is safe to report that the 17-year-old from Logan is probably the fastest thing on feet in an Iowa uniform. At left half Bill is asked to do a goodly share of the running, as well as enough passing to keep the enemy with one eye on the sky.

In regard to the art of throwing the football Kersten has picked a good man as a model to copy. One of the most enjoyable afternoons he can recall was the time he watched the well-known Glenn Dobbs put on an aerial circus for Tulsa's Golden Hurricane. There are vague rumors that Glenn is still in the business.

Bill is a freshman in the college of engineering with ambitions toward the bridge-building end of the civil branch. But, as is so often the case with good athletes, Kersten would never think of burning a coaching offer—and a chance to build character. Right now, however, his interests are somewhat less peaceful. Bill has plans for the army air corps reserve. The air corps probably has some ideas for Bill, too.

A mouth-opening high school record belongs to the young man. He was all-southwest Iowa in football and basketball. The district shot put championship was also his. It can be added, with a yawn, that Kersten's main interest is, of all things, sports.

What does Bill think about the Hawkeyes? It was difficult to pry off the cautious lid, but the answer was: "Won't say much yet. We're tough and should do well." What about Ohio State? With a grin: "Wait and see!" Foiled! Much more fun to wait and see Bill Kersten play tag with enemy tacklers.

Iowa Harriers Win Meet

Paced by Albert Slater, the University of Iowa harriers defeated the ASTP men 24-31 at City park yesterday. Slater covered the course in 10 minutes, 11 seconds, breaking the record of 10:27 set by the ASTP last fall.

Following Slater were Murray of Iowa; Palmater, Mullins, and Korn of the ASTP; Zaruba, Freund, and Burney of Iowa; and Stohlman and Dietmeier of the ASTP.

Mullins, reputedly fastest of the ASTP runners, developed a pain in his side midway in the race and did not finish as far up as was expected.

"Iowa was fortunate to win," stated Coach George Bresnahan, "the ASTP has some good men; some of the boys have shown a lot of ability. Iowa has had more opportunity to work on the course."

Recreation Center Plans Ping Pong, Bowling Tournaments

Tournaments in ping pong and miniature bowling for all junior and senior high school girls and university and out-of-school women will be held in the Recreation center Thursday, with awards going to first, second and third places in both events. All those interested should submit their entries by Tuesday. The awards are now on display at the Recreation center office.

The tournaments in these two events concludes the first part of the fall program for girls and women. A new program consisting of volleyball, calisthenics and badminton will begin Oct. 15 and will continue until Nov. 1 when the basketball season opens.

Iowa to Face Ohio State This Afternoon Without Veteran Bob Liddy in Lineup

Time: 2 p. m.

Place: Ohio State stadium, Columbus.

Officials: Mike Layden (Notre Dame) referee; Don Hamilton (Notre Dame) umpire; John McPhee (Oberlin) field judge; Roy Knipschild (Chicago) linesman.

The end of one long road has arrived for Coach Slip Madigan and his University of Iowa football team. This afternoon in Ohio State stadium the seeds which were hopefully planted last summer will yield a fruit the taste of which is yet to be decided.

Whether sweet or sour depends on the outcome of this battle between a veteran Buckeye eleven and a green, freshman Hawkeye squad. Madigan's men will enter the struggle under the added burden of a mental handicap which, until yesterday, appeared to have been removed. The disheartening note was sounded when it was learned that Bob Liddy, veteran guard, who was counted on heavily to help stop (or at least get in the way of) the Buckeye steamroller, has received his traveling orders and must leave for Great Lakes, Ill., sometime today. Bob Ireland seems to have a slight edge over Paul Fagerlin in the matter of who will take Liddy's place.

Some 30,000 fanatics are expected to watch the two clubs meet for the first time since 1934. Ohio State opened its slate last week with a smashing 54-0 triumph over Missouri. It will be the Old Gold's first fray, and only the third time in history they have opened with a Big Ten foe.

The boys will hardly be playing bridge, but this will be the rubber game in the series. Each team has taken four contests with a tie also sandwiched in.

Blue Hawks Beat Comets, 37 to 0

Running up considerable yardage both on the land and in the air, the University high Blue Hawks last night rapped the West Liberty Comets, 37 to 0, for the Hawks' third victory of the season.

In the first quarter the Blue Hawks started their way towards victory by recovering the kickoff but they were stopped shortly thereafter when the Comets recovered a fumble. The Comets tried to fight their way to a first and ten but were finally forced to punt. University high took the punt to the Comet's 45 and after a series of first downs the Blue Hawks passed from the 11-yard line, Kennedy taking it over for the first score of the game. The conversion was good, making the score at the end of the quarter 7-0.

West Liberty in the second quarter tried again to beat their way to pay dirt but again they were forced to punt. Nusser snagged a pass from Morris and galloped down for a fair touchdown.

West Liberty was again unsuccessful in their drives and gained very little yardage. Taking a short Comet punt the Blue Hawks pounded down to the Comet 5-yard line where Harper went over for another University high score. They failed to convert.

Early in the fourth quarter Morris received another punt from the Comets this time on the West Liberty 47-yard line and ran it to the 35-yard line. On the next play Williams drove to the 17 where Nusser again scored for University high on a pass from Morris but again the Blue Hawks failed to convert for the extra point after touchdown.

The kickoff was recovered by University high but the Comets intercepted a pass. On the next play the Blue Hawks intercepted a Comet pass and McDonald drove to the Comet 10-yard line on a pass from Morris.

Morris then took the ball over the goal on an off-tackle play scoring another touchdown for the Blue Hawks. With only a few minutes left to play, Coach Wedemeyer sent in the second team who kicked off to the Comets. The Comets tried a couple of passes which were incomplete.

On the following play Helm intercepted a Comet pass and ran 80 yards to another Blue Hawk score. The conversion was blocked and the game ended.

Officials for the game were: Carl Lifford, and Cole. Outstanding players for the Blue Hawks were Morris, Williams, Kennedy, Spear, Nusser, and Harper.

Sanroma to Present Concert Nov. 29

Puerto Rican Pianist To Be Second Artist Of Winter Series

Jesus Maria Sanroma, piano virtuoso, will present the second program of the concert series Nov. 29.

Sanroma was born in Fajardo in 1903. His name is a common one in Latin countries where the first-born is often called "Jesus." In ordinary conversation, however, Sanroma answers to the nickname "ChuChu."

Jesus Maria Sanroma

The Puerto Rican government sent Sanroma, when he was 13, to the New England conservatory in Boston. At 16 he was graduated with honors, winning the Mason and Hamlin prize of a grand piano. Later he studied with Antoinette Sziemowska, one of Paderewski's pupils, in Boston, with Artur Schnabel in Berlin and with Alfred Cortot in Paris.

Recitals Abroad

Sanroma has appeared in recital and with orchestra in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid, Barcelona and the major cities of the United States and Canada. He has played at the first Pan-American Chamber Music festival in Mexico City, at the Library of Congress festival and at the Pittsfield, Worcester and Berkshire festivals.

During the spring and summer of 1943 he was starred at Gershwin festivals in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington and New York and was featured on a series of broadcasts over CBS. He had four blue network broadcasts on the Boston Symphony's Summer Pops and Esplanade series.

40 Concerts Last Year

Sanroma's 1943-44 tour included over 40 concerts including three appearances with the Chicago symphony. He has played 79 performances of 20 different works under Serge Koussevitzky and has recorded seven major concerti with the Boston symphony and the Boston Pops orchestra.

Other artists that will appear during the concert season are Rose Hampton, soprano, Oct. 24; Patricia Travers, violinist, Jan. 17, and the Westminster choir, Feb. 14.

'Double V' Project Needs Volunteers

Only one U. W. A. activity under the "Double V" war service program is now open for registration. University women are still needed to help fill to Johnson county quota for Red Cross surgical dressings.

Volunteers are asked especially to sign up for making bandages with the group meeting on Friday afternoons from 3 until 5 o'clock. It is still possible to sign up for surgical dressings sections earlier in the week, although these groups are nearly full.

There will not be another registration day; however, it will be possible for women to register by reporting for work at the Red Cross surgical dressings center just off the river room in Iowa Union.

University women may make surgical dressings at the Iowa Union center from 3 to 5 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. The Red Cross center in the city hall is open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 7 to 9 p. m. Marjorie Van Hoesen, A3 of Des Moines, is chairman of the surgical dressings project for university women under the "Double V."

Lieut. Willard C. Hofer, Former SUI Coach, Receives Commendation on Outstanding Duty

Former assistant football coach at the University of Iowa and one-time quarterback at Notre Dame university in South Bend, Ind., marine Lieut. Willard C. Hofer has been commended in Guam for outstanding performance of duty.

Lieutenant Hofer commanded a platoon in the first assault on the south Guam beachhead, and later led a unit which joined in the attack on Crote peninsula. In the landing, the men were met by strong opposition, but he assisted the wounded to cover and the platoon forward to wipe out enemy resistance and reach the objective.

The Guam fighting was the first time Lieutenant Hofer has been under enemy fire. Last March he participated in the unopposed landing on Emirau island in the south Pacific.

Lieutenant Hofer attended Notre Dame university from 1935 to 1939, later becoming freshman coach at the University of Iowa. He received his commission in the marine corps in April, 1943.

Another serviceman from Iowa City, Sergt. Robert G. Blue, 420 E. Fairchild street, has received a citation for outstanding achievement on missions over Italy. Sergeant Blue, with his AAF B-26 Marauder group was cited by Gen. Charles DeGaulle and the provisional French government. General DeGaulle awarded the Croix de Guerre with palms to the group commander. The citation was attributed for the highly successful precision attacks in the face of enemy opposition to flight discipline, skill of combat crews and superior technique of command.

During this period when Sergeant Blue's group flew 2,000 sorties and dropped over 3,000 tons of bombs for a loss of only six planes, Sergeant Blue served as an aerial photographer.

Son of Mrs. John Herring, 210 Koser avenue, Corp. John A. Hering is now on duty at Guadalcanal with an ordnance maintenance company of the army's service of supply forces. His organization maintains and repairs all types of army ordnance material such as tanks, cannons, jeeps, machine guns and rifles. Corporal Hering entered the army in February, 1943, and went overseas in January, 1944. His wife, Mrs. Irene Herring, lives with his mother. A brother, Lieut. Charles Hering, is in the European theater of operations.

In what has been described as one of the most destructive attacks ever carried out by a single group of medium bombers, the B-25 Mitchell group to which Lieut. Orval L. Schnoebelen of Iowa City, is assigned, destroyed three warships in Toulon harbor shortly after the landings in southern France.

Lieutenant Schnoebelen flew as co-pilot of his bomber in the attack upon the heavily defended harbor which was made without the loss of a single bomber.

The ships destroyed were a heavy cruiser, one battleship and a submarine. Photos made by a reconnaissance plane the day following the attack showed the naval units gutted, burned and completely disabled.

Lieutenant Schnoebelen is the son of the Walter Schnoebelens, route 4.

Corp. DeWayne L. Justice with the Fifth army in Italy, has been awarded the Bronze star for heroic action.

Corporal Justice was decorated for performance of duty in Tunisia before his signal unit in the second corps joined the Fifth army in Italy.

His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Justice, lives at 1311 Kirkwood avenue.

Marching Band Homecoming Plans Completed

Definite plans for the marching band's part in the Homecoming football game have been completed by Prof. C. B. Righter, director of the University band, it was announced yesterday.

Before the game the band will face the west forming a big "Hello" for the Iowa cheering section. During the half the Purdue fans will be greeted with the word "Hall" while the band plays "Hall Purdue." A fast changing formation from a diamond to a heart, followed by a spade and club, will be executed while the band plays "This Is My Lucky Day." In honor of Iowa's alumnae the band will play "Old Gold" while in the form of an "L." The new arrangement of Iowa's alumnae song has recently been completed by Professor Righter and will be played for the first time during the Homecoming game.

Two men have replaced the girl drum majorettes of last year, but a baton twirling section, trumpeters and banner bearing group have been added. The five girl twirlers are Jo Anne Huss, A1 of Burlington, Mary DuMont, A2 of Anamosa, Janet Gutz, A1 Catherine Yerkes, A1, and Sally Fulton, A1. The pennants of the Big Ten schools will be carried by the three banner bearers, Maxine Holler, A1 of Davenport; Elizabeth Penningroth, A4 of Tip-ton, and Virginia Macomber, A1. Handling the trumpets will be Dorothea Becker, A1; Mary Jane McCrea, A2 of Clinton; Ruth Ostlander, A1, and Joan Womelsdorf, A1. Charles Hudson, E2 of Council Bluffs, and John Nydegger, A1, have been named as the drum majors.

This is the second year that women have been allowed in the marching band, but, according to Professor Righter, they are equal to men, except in their volume of playing. Of the 108 band members 70 are women. The band's first appearance was during Freshman week, but since then they have played for the Medical and Nursing Commencement and for the kickoff program for the football season broadcast last night.
