Joseph Stilwell Recalled From Far East Command To Take New Assignment

War Department Order Increases Speculation On China Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell was jerked out of the key China-Burma-India command yesterday to take what the war department said will be a "new and important" assignment.

The unexpected shakeup in the far east top command, announced from the White House, immediately stirred speculation along two lines:

1. Is the move a definite and severe reprimand for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, stemming from dissension within Chinese forces and the Japanese threat to overrun Chinese barriers and engulf American air bases?

2. Is "Vinegar Joe" being pulled out to head up forces for an invasion of China?

The order relieved Stilwell from his assignments as chief of staff to Chiang, as deputy to Lord Louis Mountbatten, the supreme commander of the southeast Asia theater, and of command of American forces in the theater.

It split the CBI theater into two smaller commands, China and Burma-India. The China command was assigned to Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, who had been deputy chief of staff in southeast Asia. The India-Burma theater was assigned to Lieut. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, now deputy commander of the CBI theater.

Military sources said that there could be no reflection in any way on Stilwell's record in the fact that he has been recalled to Washington. Similarly there was little inclination here to view the recall of Stilwell as reflecting any major misunderstanding with the British.

The war department said Stilwell "will be given a new and important, but at present, undisclosed assignment."

Chinese Official Sees Stilwell's Removal As Chiang's Request

NEW YORK (AP)—A high official of the Chinese government says Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell was removed from his far eastern command following a request from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The official, who declines to permit use of his name, says Stilwell and Chiang have been "at swords points" since the battle for the Burma road, and that until Madame Chiang left China about two months ago she was the one who kept them from actually fighting with each other.

Mme. Chiang—now recuperating in New York from an illness—was the only communications link between the generals, who refused to write or speak to one another, the official says.

His account of strained relations was given to an Associated Press reporter several days ago but permission to make it public was withheld until last night.

Japanese Troops Reach Outskirts Of Kweilin

CHUNGKING (A)—The Chinese announced yesterday that Japanese troops had opened an all-out offensive and reached the outskirts of the Kwangsi province capital of Kweilin, whose fall would represent a major achievement in the Japanese effort to isolate eastern China.

The Japanese, last reported stalled about 20 miles north of Kweilin, opened their drive Friday with twin thrusts on both sides and directly down the Hunan-Kwangsi railway. Chinese positions on the city's outskirts were under attack.

As one column of the invaders attacked Chinese defenses 14 to 18 miles east of Kweilin, another swung southwest from Kwangyang, 50 miles northeast of the city, and joined the attack.

Two Heroes

COMDR. JOHN BULKELEY, New York naval hero who first gained fame when he took Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines in his P-T boat in 1942, is pictured above with "K-9 Captain Penny" who was with the commander on his latest exploit. His destroyer, the Endicott, with crippled guns, rushed to the rescue of two British gunboats off the southern coast of France on Aug. 17 and sank two German corvettes in a close range battle. "Captain Penny" masqued the entire engagement, sitting on the bridge for the battle.

Jap Naval Losses Mount; Holland Line Collapses

Nazis Stage Withdrawal

40,000 Flee North to Cross Maas, Waal Rhine

LONDON (AP)—Forty thousand Germans reeled northward yesterday in a scramble to get across the Maas and Waal Rhine and escape destruction at the hands of advancing Canadian and British forces who smashed the enemy defense lines in western Holland.

Field dispatches from the muddy Dutch front said that the 50-mile-long German line from the sea to 'S Hertogenbosch had fallen to pieces and that it was evident a full-scale German withdrawal was in progress after some of the most stubborn fighting of the western front campaign.

Fourth Carrier May Be Sunk

MacArthur Reports Troops Swarm Over Leyte

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—The possibility that a fourth Japanese aircraft carrier was sunk in the battle south of Formosa—one of three naval battles fought early last week—and that the total enemy ships sunk or damaged in all three battles would well exceed 40 was raised here last night.

Naval circles unofficially dwell on this as war correspondents awaited a communique from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz which would give a complete picture of the three phases of the gigantic naval engagement which was turned into disaster for the Japanese, worst in Nippon's history.

Official Box Score—Japanese Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Japanese naval losses in the three battles off the Philippines, based on official reports which are not yet complete, were at least 40 warships sunk, probably sunk or damaged.

The 40 are confirmations. They include revised figures newly issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, largely for the Surigao strait battle.

Revisions expected for the battle off Samar and south of Formosa undoubtedly will push the total well past 40. Particularly is this so concerning the Formosa action where "several" destroyers were listed as sunk or damaged.

FDR Outlines Job Program For 60 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—President Roosevelt outlined for America last night a 60,000,000-job post-war program and said he was giving Republican orators more opportunities to say "me too."

"America," he said "must remain the land of high wages and efficient production. Every full-time job in America must provide enough for a decent living."

Roaring midwesterners crammed into Soldier field beside Lake Michigan—capacity 110,000—hailed his words with thundering applause. It was his fifth major campaign speech and he gave it over to an exposition of his economic views and to jobs at his fourth-term opposition.

Voicing faith in America's ability to meet the challenge of stupendous peacetime problems, Roosevelt pledged that wage, price and production controls would be lifted, and this time, he said, veterans "can grow apples on their own farms instead of having to sell apples on street corners."

Bricker Cautions Against Federal Educational Control

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker last night topped off a strenuous one day campaign through the homestate of his rival for the vice-presidency with a note of caution against "federal domination of education."

The Republican candidate asserted that the New Deal "wants to interfere with local administration and control of education just as it has done in other fields. He added "We must not under any guise of need, open the way for federal domination of education."

Iowa Citizens Donate Five Tons of Clothing In Drive for Russia

The clothing for Russia drive ended last night, leaving clothing headquarters buried under five tons of used clothing donated by Iowa citizens. J. K. Schaaf, chairman for the drive sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, estimated that the goal of a full carload had been exceeded by a large margin.

 On the morning of July 7 the remnants of the Japanese garrison on Saipan were in a hopeless position. They had lost the town of Garapan, been driven off the heights of Mt. Tapotchau, had no airforce and had lost all hope of aid from the Japanese fleet, which had been sent running for home,

Dewey Hits New Deal 'Accomplishments'

Expresses Desire To Change Tax Laws If Elected

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey struck last night at President Roosevelt's record of the Democratic administration's war accomplishments.

The Republican presidential nominee asserted at Utica that if he were elected he "would never use the office of president to claim personal or political credit for the magnificent achievements of the American people or for the sacrifices of their sons."

Truman Says World Would Consider GOP Victory 'Isolationist'

DORCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, declared here last night that "all of the world" would interpret a defeat of President Roosevelt "as a victory for our isolationists."

Truman said he planned to concentrate the remaining days of the campaign to a reiteration of his challenge to Thomas E. Dewey, Republican standard bearer, to "repudiate" eight Republican "isolationist" senators seeking reelection.

Bulgaria Signs Armistice With Three Allied Powers

MOSCOW (AP)—Bulgaria signed an armistice yesterday with Russia, the United States and Great Britain, ten days after conclusion of talks between Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin at which an agreement on main points of the armistice was reached.

Terms of the armistice agreement were not disclosed immediately. Preliminary conditions accepted by Bulgaria from the allies Oct. 11 included evacuation of Greek and Yugoslav territories seized by the Bulgarians.

Borah's 1939 Account Of White House Conference Released

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Senator William E. Borah's account of a July, 1939, White House conference was made public yesterday, quoting President Roosevelt as saying "If we could not do that which would avoid war, we must go to it."

Mrs. Borah released the paper from the Idaho Republican's private files. She explained that she was doing so because of Roosevelt's references to her husband in his Philadelphia speech Friday night. The president said in his speech that Borah had said "his own private information from abroad was better than that of the state department—and that there would be no war in Europe."

"Of course I cannot say that there will be war in Europe within the next six months or before the first of January," Borah quoted the president as saying. "I would not want to say that there is a probability of war in Europe. But I do desire to urge most seriously that there are many indications that such war might come at any time, any day, or any week."

Borah quoted the president as going on to say that he "wanted to be prepared to do our part in preventing war or meeting the situation should war come."

James B. Dempster Services Tomorrow

Funeral services for James B. Dempster, 65, 330 Rocky Shore drive, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Oathout funeral chapel. Dempster was head of the medical laboratory instrument shop since 1941.

He died at 8:15 a. m. yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Born July 16, 1879 in Beatrice, Neb., he was the son of James H. and Ester Dempster.

Dempster attended the University of Nebraska before he was married to Dora G. Cole of Des Moines in 1905. He served as chief electrical inspector until moving to Iowa City in 1917 where he worked as an instrument maker in the physics department.

In 1930 he went to Chicago to the research department of Rosenwald museum of science and industry. He returned to Iowa City three years ago to serve as head of the instrument shop in the physiology and pharmacology department at the medical laboratories.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge No. 4 A.F. and M.

Surviving are his wife and four daughters, Mrs. David Talbot, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Mrs. Russel Davis and Mrs. T. S. Gray, Chicago; Mrs. C. A. Rice, Cherry Point, N. C.; one son, James W. Dempster, Harvey, Ill.; and six grandchildren.

Mead Claims Dewey, Hoover Drove Willkie From GOP Ranks

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—United States Senator James M. Mead (D., N.Y.) said yesterday he had it "in black and white" that Herbert Hoover and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, had initiated an undercover campaign some few months back to drive the late Wendell Willkie out of the Republican party.

"I am in a position to prove," Senator Mead asserted in a statement, "that Hoover, following conferences with Dewey, advised nationally known Republican leaders that 'Tom and I are agreed that the sooner we remove that corn Willkie from the Republican toe, the better it will be for the Republican party.'"

"I have this evidence in my possession," the senator added.

Hoover, in New York, said he had no comment on Mead's statement.

Mead said that Willkie "was well on his way to his second nomination for the presidency when Hoover and Dewey set out with the determination to stop him and obtain the green light for the New York governor."

Dewey's Secretary Issues Statement

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Dewey's secretary, Paul E. Lockwood, declared here last night that Senator Mead's "entire statement is a vulgar and unparadonable falsehood and Mead knows it."

"It is to be deplored," Lockwood said in a statement on behalf of the governor, "that the New Deal apologists, to give substance to their defense, continue to bring in the name and memory of a distinguished American who so recently and tragically passed away."

Representative Rogers Returns to U. S. After Italian Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven weeks of mud, bouncing jeeps and army potluck in Italy and France have convinced Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.) there's a long fight ahead in Europe.

Returning to the capitol yesterday, the 63-year-old high-ranking member of the house foreign affairs committee said in an interview:

"There's a bad situation in Italy," she said. "The president promised them (the civilian population) food and it didn't arrive."

There is a movement on now, Mrs. Rogers added, to cut back the medical program "and that would be the worst thing we could do."

"HOW YOU GONNA KEEP 'EM DOWN ON TH' FARM?"

Looking Ahead in Washington—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that the Bonomi government has been recognized in Italy, you can begin to look for increased pressure to extend some credit to Italy so that she can rebuild her industries.

Determination of her exact needs will have to wait until the allied armies get into Italy's industrial Po valley. Question: How much will the Germans destroy? Hope: that Italy can begin to contribute to the war.

The credit move has been recommended by a state department employe just back from a look-see. (Incidentally, recognition of Italy does not change the legal status of Italian prisoners of war.)

Immigration — More? Less? — The incoming congress may have to do a complete overhaul job on our immigration policy.

Two bills have been introduced that would permit entry of up to 100 people a year from India. They follow the first crack in our half-century far western immigration policy: repeal last year of the Chinese exclusion acts.

On the other hand other bills would prohibit any foreigner from entering this country until the unemployment figure here had fallen to one million. Another bill would stop immigration for five years from the end of the war, and a third would simply reduce the various national quotas.

Nice job open — It pays $17,500 a year. The successful applicant will be United States high commissioner to the Philippines. He can move in as soon as the Japs move out of Manila—or sooner if Washington decides a commissioner would be of some help at a provisional capitol.

This time he'll have to know something about the business life and the social problems of the islands. Previous to Pearl Harbor the job was traditionally a prolonged, high-paid vacation handed out to some political faithful by the party in power.

WHAT TRAIT DO YOU MOST ADMIRE IN A PERSON?

Charles Crist, A3 of Newton: "I like a pleasant, optimistic attitude based on a positive and realistic attitude. In other words, I like a person who always looks toward the bright side of life."

William Greenberg, grocer, Waterloo: "I admire honesty. An honest person is always respected by his fellow men."

Betty Jacobson, A1 of Geneseo, Ill.: "The characteristics I admire most in a person are a sense of humor and dependability."

Lois Stang, A1 of Long Island, N. Y.: "Friendliness. People who aren't sincerely friendly you can't get to know."

Robert Benson, 425 Iowa avenue, Iowa City: "I think that tactfulness is one of the most admirable qualities in a personality. It is probably one of the hardest to attain."

Beih Goodson, A4 of Grand Rapids, Mich.: "I think that a person's ability to laugh when things are going pretty tough for him is one of the most admirable qualities a person can have. Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone."

Sylvia Strongren, A2 of Sioux City: "I admire sincerity in a person more than anything else. Usually, if a person has sincerity, there are many other admirable characteristics that go with it."

Marion Schneider, A1 of Stanwood: "I always admire a good sense of humor. However, it is quite hard to isolate one personality quality as the most admirable. A person needs to have a little of each quality in order to have a well-balanced and pleasing personality."

Rita Benson, A1 of Des Moines: "A sense of humor, but I don't like people who are too easy to get along with. I like to argue some. Also I like people who are considerate of other people's feelings."

Margaret Kerr, A3 of Iowa City: "I don't think it's possible to choose any one personality quality because it is a combination of a great many traits that makes a person what he is."

Interpreting the—

War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst
A news budget bulging with disasters, present and impending, for the cynical German-Japanese war fellowship marked this last of October weekend.

Long, hard and bloody as the road to total victory still may be, united nations forces have set foot upon the last lap both in Europe and Asia. On both sides of the world they are inexorably blasting their way toward town, island by island, ridge by ridge, foot by foot through the foe's inner defenses.

The paralyzing blow struck Japan's imperial fleet by American sea power changed imperceptibly the whole nature of the war in the Pacific.

Insistent and credible reports poured in that at one stroke the Nipponese grip on all the South China sea and its incalculable natural resources had been loosened if not broken.

Nipponese retreat from South China waters would mean abandonment of Japanese garrisons in the Philippines, the Dutch Indies, the Malay peninsula and war-scoured Burma, to their fate, just as those in American by-passed islands of the Pacific have been left to surrender or die. On his return to the Philippines, General MacArthur said this was the broad ultimate strategic objective beyond recapture of the islands themselves. Success would cut off an estimated half million Japanese troops to the southward, he said.

Retreat of Japanese fleet remnants from the South China sea also would mean early British incursion into that sea from the west to effect a junction with American allies and insure China's rescue far sooner than most optimistic allied military calculations could have foreshadowed.

This weekend also witnessed full scale Russian invasion of East Prussia and a broad Red army sweep through the southern Carpathian passes and across the plains of Hungary and Yugoslavia to reach the Danube on a front reaching substantially from below Budapest to recaptured Belgrade.

It saw Nazi flight from Greece and the Aegean islands under allied pursuit and partisan harassment approaching the rout stage. German abandonment of the whole Balkan peninsula was an all but accomplished fact.

Chester Bowles
Announces Support Of Roosevelt
WASHINGTON (AP) — Price Administrator Chester Bowles declared last night he is a "strong believer" in the policies of President Roosevelt and will vote for him. He added that in order to preserve OPA's non-partisan position he will take no active part in the campaign.

Bowles' statement was in reply to a report that he had refused an invitation of the Democratic national committee to make a speech in behalf of Roosevelt. This, Bowles did not deny.

Voting Violations
WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Biddle announced yesterday he has told United States attorneys to keep an eye open for voting violations.

He said he told them to be especially alert concerning the handling of votes of absentee servicemen.

By Jean Collier—
Every college student who faces the subject of a liberal education with any degree of humor should read Max Shulman's "Barefoot Boy with Cheek."

A travesty on university life, it will probably cause the early educators to turn over in their graves. Shulman is well qualified to dissect the learning process. Now a cadet in the Army air corps, he made a reputation as an outstanding humorist and editor of "Ski-U-Mah." University of Minnesota humor magazine. Using the Minnesota campus as his scene, with the bald statement that "It is, of course, wholly imaginary," Shulman takes the reader through the successive stages of student life.

After a touching farewell with Lodestone, his girl, Asa Heartrug, hero of this satirical saga, leaves to enter the new world of education and adventure. He makes a primary exploration of the campus and then turns his attention to a conference with Mr. Ingelbrevold, his advisor. A proponent of the varied curriculum, said advisor lines up a program containing everything from races and culture to Arabia to canoe paddling. This, he assures Asa, will help him achieve a "well-rounded-out personality."

College is not entirely composed of Arabian culture classes, however. Anyone who is on the inside of the fraternity-sorority structure will be amused by the vivid description of Asa's life in Alpha Cholora. Among his more illustrious fraternity brothers are Eino Filikkinnenn, football hero and B. M. O. C. Shylock Fiscal, treasurer for the organization, and Rogger Halfellow, president and rushing chairman.

A dating arrangement with Beta Thigh, best sorority on the campus, brings Asa a blind date with Noblesse Oblige, who comprises one-half of his college love life. The other half is taken care of by Yetta Samovar, member of the Minnesota chapter of the Subversive Elements League and daughter of the proletariat. Torn between these two loves, as well as by his duty to faithful Lodestone, Asa's final decision involves a heart-rending choice.

None of the components of the college system are seemingly sacred to the author. From the student health service examiners who spend their time dropping paper sacks filled with water on pedestrians to the college news editor who rewrites the front page every five minutes, the finger of ridicule is pointed widely and well. Even the professors come in for their share of punishment. They are caricatured in various ways from the type who gaily assign their own books as class texts to the ones who spend their time preparing surprise quizzes to spring on their students in order to flunk more and more of them.

By this time, you've probably gathered that "Barefoot Boy with Cheek" is strictly a student's book. Instructors, beware!

Hard Fighting Poles—

WITH POLISH TROOPS BELOW TILBURG, Holland (AP) — It seems we visited the Polish troops fighting under the Canadian First Army command at the wrong time.

"At the moment we have stopped while the lines are being straightened," said the cheery commander. "That means we are on the defensive. My men don't like the defensive because they don't like digging holes. They like to attack, then there is no time to dig holes."

That is one thing about the Poles—they are great fellows for the attack. As a matter of fact, they sometimes have been criticized because when given a mission they are likely to see a larger bunch of Germans in a different direction. Because that offers better prospects for a real fight, they make the necessary detour. Yet, by some accounts, that is how they managed to seal the Falaise gap in Normandy and that is a type of detour that is hard to criticize.

In their push toward Tilburg the Poles have had tough fighting against enemy forces equipped with a considerable concentration of artillery. There have been desperate local fights for a series of small villages whose gutted homes and walls and razed farmhouses in open country lend silent testimony to the overland bitterness of the struggle.

In the last two months the Poles have taken more than 11,000 prisoners, over a tenth of them in operations since they left Genet. They first cleared the Schelde river pocket west of Antwerp and then shifted over to the Tilburg drive.

"You almost can see them shake when they are brought in," said the second-in-command, who with the commander was among the leaders in the organization of this force. "Then they are surprised to an equal extent when they find we treat them well."

The prisoners taken recently by the Poles have been so numerous that the Germans have been forced to take out the units used against them. On the single sector of the line which the Poles are holding, 12 different German battalions have been identified in a comparatively short period.

In addition to more than 1,100 prisoners bagged by the Poles in recent operations, they have taken 34 anti-tank guns, two 88s and four big railway guns and an ammunition depot.

Only seven per cent of the persons whose foods were analyzed for vitamin and mineral content received all the nutrients in amounts advised by the national Research Council (NRC) for optimum health. And only 21 per cent received a "protective" intake of the NRC standard.

Scientists 'Snatch' Food From Consumers To Conduct Tests

By FRANK CAREY
CHICAGO — A group of scientists who literally snatched people's meals from under their noses in order to determine what America is eating reported yesterday that the average citizen is not receiving a sufficient quantity of essential vitamins and minerals to insure good health.

And this, so, they said, despite increased national emphasis on better eating.

Details of the "first known snatch test" method of determining what foods folks are actually storing away were told yesterday in a report prepared for delivery to the American Dietetic Association's 27th annual meeting by Dr. Robert S. Harris, nutritional biochemist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Harris told how he and "the other M.I.T. investigators supervised a study during which collectors dropped in on a group of families in Boston and New York at mealtime, grabbed food-filled plates off the table just as diners got set to leave, locked the victuals in portable insulated iceboxes, and then whisked them away for chemical analysis.

"There's a bad situation in Italy," she said. "The president promised them (the civilian population) food and it didn't arrive."

There is a movement on now, Mrs. Rogers added, to cut back the medical program "and that would be the worst thing we could do."

Jan Struther to Present Second University Lecture Wednesday

Tickets Available Starting Today

Talk by Author Of 'Mrs. Miniver' To Be in Iowa Union

Jan Struther, the only woman ever to become a member of the editorial boards of The Times and one of the few English women to be mentioned in "Who's Who in America" will be presented Wednesday, Nov. 1, in the second university lecture at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Under the auspices of the Senate board of university lecturers the author and creator of "Mrs. Miniver" has chosen as the topic of her address "A Pocket Full of Pebbles."

Leaves England

Says Miss Struther in regard to her reasons for leaving England, "It was obvious that I could do nothing on the land — while I was doing the work necessary to grow one potato any one else could grow hills of them — and I couldn't carry stretchers, so I was just one more hungry mouth."

Almost a million persons have purchased "Mrs. Miniver" and more have laughed and cried at the movie version which was acclaimed academy award winner and "one of the 10 best movies of all time."

The story began in her newspaper stories which first won her distinction in London. The courage and faith of the English during the blitz has inspired others to keep hope when war tragedies strike in their homes.

These "Mrs. Miniver" sketches in the Times had considerable morale value. One of the papers offered a prize for the best parody on "Mrs. Miniver" and using a pen name, the author wrote the cruelest satire and was awarded first prize. Finally admitting her use Struther was permitted to keep the prize, which she presented to an organization for distressed gentlewomen and the paper gave a prize for the second best parody.

In addition to her novel, Miss Struther has written three hymns used in the new Protestant Episcopal hymn book in Iowa City. They are "We Thank You, Lord of Heaven," "Lord of All Happiness, Lord of All Joy," and "High O'er the Lonely Hills."

Other Works

Other works of the author are "Betwixt Dances and Other Poems," (1932); "The Modern Struwwelpeter" (1936); "Try Anything Twice" (1938); "The Glasblower" (1940) and "Women of Britain" (1941).

Struther was born in London in 1901 and began her writing career at the impressionable age of six. Publications of her first writings appeared when she was 15 — short sketches in the Westminster Gazette.

Later she contributed to the Spectator, London Mercury and Punch. As the only woman on the editorial staff of the London Times she began her series resulting in "Mrs. Miniver."

Tickets are available today to students and faculty members beginning at 8 a. m. If there are any additional tickets remaining Wednesday, they will be available to townspeople who wish to call at the information desk at Iowa Union for them.

Jan Struther, second lecturer in the university series, will be introduced by Prof. Earl E. Harper, chairman of the series.

Advisory Office To Mail Mid-Term Grade Reports

Mid-term grades will be sent out for a week beginning about Nov. 4, according to Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the liberal arts advisory office. Because the business office is so busy, only grades of "D" and "F" (delinquent and failing) will be reported. Therefore, a student who receives grades in all of his subjects of a "C," "B," or "A" will not receive a mid-term grade report at all.

Copies of the delinquent grade reports will be sent to the individual student, his faculty adviser, his parents and the scholarship chairman or student adviser at his residence.

Four Veterans, University Students, Address A. A. U. W.

Speaking before the American Association of University Women in the clubrooms of Iowa Union yesterday afternoon, four World War II veterans now participating in the rehabilitation program on the campus discussed the problems of their return to civilian and student life.

Prof. Carrie Stanley introduced Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, who in turn introduced the chairman, Bob Gilliam.

First speaker was Fred Davies, returning veteran who spoke on "The GI Bill of Rights." He discussed the five provisions of the bill which support the main issue — discharge. These divisions are hospitalization, education, loans for homes, employment and readjustment allowances. Davies concluded with the statement that in his opinion one of the easiest ways for a veteran to adjust himself to society is to go on to school.

'Self-Adjustment'

The topic of "Self-Adjustment" was discussed by Gilliam, who reviewed his army life before approximately 150 members of the club. He stated that his outlook on life was bitter because of injuries received while on active duty and he visualized himself as unacceptable to society. When he was sent to Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., he found this the beginning of social acceptance and soon overcame the mental complex which was a result of his physical disablement.

Receiving Form 1900 from the government, which entitled him to attend school, he enrolled in the University of Iowa. "Just to be treated as anyone else" and to fulfill his ambition as a radio announcer are Gilliam's goals.

'Vocational Rehabilitation'

Speaking on "Vocational Rehabilitation," Gordon Christensen, former army sergeant, presented various aspects of the subject, such as the selection of an occupation, maintenance and support. He declared that if suitable occupational studies could not be established to suit the individual returning veteran, extreme unhappiness would result. Christensen feels the "present rehabilitation program is an adequate one and hopes it will provide an additional million citizens for America."

Fighting Hoosiers Overcome Hawkeyes, 32 to 0

Deranek Tops Indiana Play

Iowa Badly Outclassed Without Dick Woodard, Two Hawk Linemen

By JIM MITCHELL
BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's fighting Hoosiers gained momentum up the Western conference championship trail yesterday by swamping Iowa's undermanned Hawkeyes, 32 to 0, for their third Big Ten conquest against one loss.

It was freshman Dick Deranek, the South Bend, Ind., boy who plays end on offense and half-back on defense, who sparked Bo McMillen's charges to victory. Deranek took the spotlight away from the great Bob (Hunchy) Hoernschemeyer as he sped for touchdowns in the first and second periods on brilliant runs of 56 and 87 yards.

But Hunchy was very much in evidence all afternoon as he ran and passed to spearhead a Hoosier offense that rolled up a total of 18 first downs and 358 yards gained.

The Hawkeyes were badly outclassed without Dick Woodard, their ace passer. They gained only 77 yards by rushing and none by passing and got only two first downs. Their only show of offensive potency came midway in the fourth period as they collected both of their first downs on a march of 24 yards.

Indiana lost little time in convincing the home folks of their intentions. They roared to a touchdown in eight plays. Harry (Chick) Jagade powered over from the one yard line and John Tavener booted the conversion.

A short kick by Wen Rose set up the second Indiana tally. Deranek scored on a 46 yard gallop after taking a lateral from Doernschemeyer. Tavener again converted.

Deranek scored next on an 87 yard return of Rose's punt, and Abe Addams got the fourth Hoosier touchdown on a short pass from Hoernschemeyer. Hunchy finally scored himself late in the third stanza on a five yard burst through the middle of the Iowa forward wall.

It was the fourth straight loss for Slip Madigan's Hawkeyes, all to conference enemies. Indiana has lost only to Illinois in six games, two of which were against non-conference foes.

Indiana scoring: touchdowns—Addams, Hoernschemeyer. Points after touchdowns—Tavener 2 (place-kicks).

Substitutions: Iowa—ends, Kelson; tackles, Katz, Cross; guards, Miller, Flood; centers, Snyder, Carlson; backs, Owens, Moore, Dallas, Schneider.

Army Defeats Duke; Navy Overcomes Penn

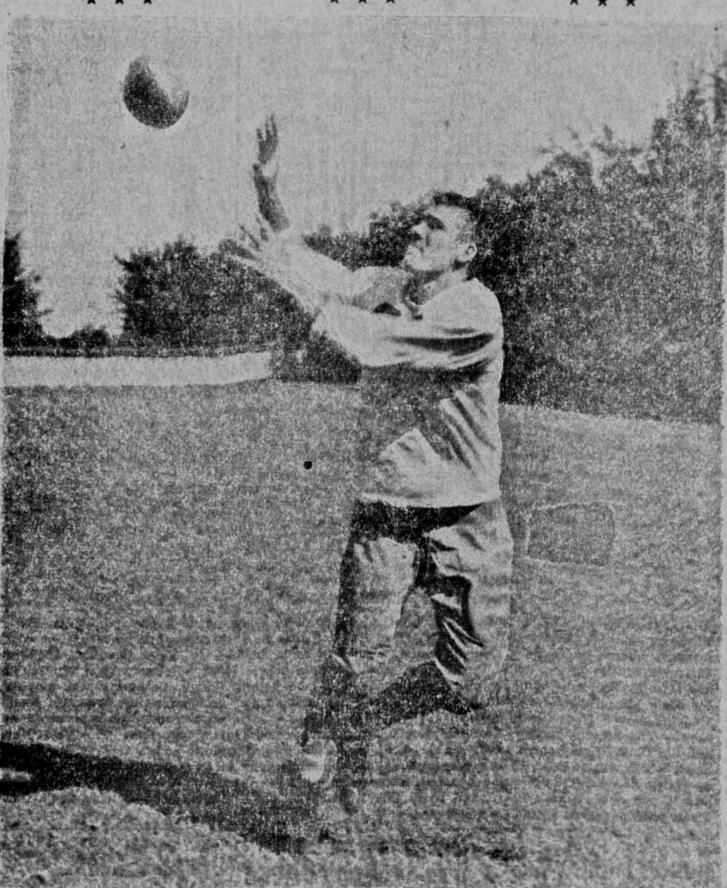

NEW YORK (AP)—Army's scintillating Cadets passed their mid-term football test in impressive style yesterday, coming from behind to defeat a rugged Duke eleven by 27 to 7 for their fifth straight victory of the season. About 45,000 fans saw the scrap in the Polo grounds.

Duke, although beaten three times previously, lived up to expectations by giving the power-packed Cadets a battle through the early stages of the game—the Blue Devils holding a 7-6 edge at the half.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Navy put the foot back into football yesterday and with little Clyde Scott of Smackover, Ark., doing the heavy work, the Middies smacked Pennsylvania out of the undefeated ranks, 26-0, before 73,000.

It was a tremendous 73-yard quick kick by the 175-pounder that set up the first touchdown and it was his consistent long-range punting that set up the second.

So well did the youngster handle the fullback duties that it wasn't until the final minutes that Joe Sullivan, erstwhile plunger for the mythical national title, finally got into the fray.

ONE OF THE FEW Hawkeyes to give fans something to cheer about yesterday in Iowa's crushing defeat at the hands of the Indiana Hoosiers was Russ McLaughlin, lightweight Hawk end.

Wolverines Upset Boilermakers, 40-14

Bob Wiese Scores Four Times to Throw Favored Purdue Team

By FRANK KENESSON
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—An alert Michigan football team, making few mistakes and cashing in every scoring opportunity, bowled over Purdue, 40 to 14, before a crowd of 50,187 fans yesterday, handing the Boilermakers their first defeat in the Big Ten since 1942.

Michigan, led by Capt. Bob Wiese, playing his last game at fullback before his navy transfer to pre-midshipman school, scored once in each of the first and third periods and twice in the second and fourth to roll to a surprisingly easy victory over a Boilermaker machine that had taken two easy Big Ten decisions.

Wiese contributed three touchdowns as Michigan racked up its third straight conference triumph after dropping its league opener to Indiana. Bob Nussbaumer, Oak Park, Ill., right halfback slated to depart next week on a marine transfer, scored twice and freshman halfback Gene Derricotte of Defiance, Ohio, once for Michigan.

Purdue, falling behind 6 to 0 in the first period, when Wiese slashed over from the 2 to climax a 52-yard Michigan march, struck back early in the second period, grabbing a 7 to 6 lead as Boris (Babe) Dimancheff of Indianapolis sliced through his own left guard and cut back to race 28 yards for the first Boilermaker score. Stan Dubicki converted.

The Boilermakers kicked off and on the first play Nussbaumer swung around end and raced 60 yards before Dimancheff knocked him out of bounds on the Purdue one-yard line. Nussbaumer barreled over on the next play and Joe Ponsetto converted to give Michigan a 13 to 7 edge.

Michigan drove 64 yards in 11 plays late in the second stanza with Wiese spinning across from the five and Ponsetto again converting to put the Wolverines on top by 20 to 7 at the half.

Jim McMillen's recovery of a Michigan fumble on the Wolverine 19-yard line set up Purdue's second score early in the third, with Ted Held registering on a 1-yard plunge. Dubicki again converted to make it 20 to 14.

Michigan marched 71 yards in 15 plays after the kickoff, Derricotte hitting over tackle to score from the five. Ponsetto's kick again was good.

Reserve center Don Lund's 55-yard run with an intercepted pass set up Michigan's fifth touchdown. Wiese scoring on a reverse from the 6. A moment later Ray Schultz Purdue quarterback, fumbled and Bruce Hilkene, Michigan end, recovered on the Purdue 32. The Wolverines scored in two plays. Nussbaumer circling his own left end and running 23 yards for the final score. Ponsetto counted his fourth conversion in six attempts.

Nebraska Overcomes Tigers, 24-20

Maggioli Gallops 71 Yards to Score In Final Quarter

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The upstart of the year in the Big Six football conference was exploded here yesterday as Nebraska, a team that had not scored a point in three previous games, won 24 to 20 over a Missouri team that had been favored to beat the Nebraskans by five or more touchdowns.

The victory, won through two sharp touchdown passes, and fast capitalization on Missouri errors, touched off one of the greatest field demonstrations ever seen in Lincoln as fans, 9,000 in number for the Homecoming game, swamped the players.

Nebraska stepped out in front in the opening period when a Missouri fumble gave the Huskers the ball on the Tiger seven and Chick Knight went five for a score on a reverse on third down. But the kick was blocked and Missouri came back for a 7 to 6 lead on a magnificent 94 yard march, a Paul Collins to Harry Exler 25-yard pass being the payoff. Jim Kerker's kick made it 7 to 6 for the Tigers at the period close.

The second quarter found Nebraska's pass attack getting under way and the lead went to the Huskers when Ed Gradoville, just in the game, tossed 28 yards to Dick Lamberty who ran five after a great catch for the score. The kick was wide.

In the third period the lead changed hands twice, Missouri getting it at 14 to 12, when Bill Delastatious ran 36 and 11 yards for a touchdown and Kerker kicked the point. It went to the Huskers when Selzer grabbed a punt, swung back ten yards as he shot across the field and then ran 62 yards to the Missouri 20. From there Lamberty picked up 12 to the nine and Selzer passed to Bill Betz for the touchdown.

The payoff touchdown for Nebraska came in two plays as the fourth period began.

Missouri sent in almost a complete new team then and the reserves were good for one touchdown on a 57-yard march sparked by Bob Hopkins and Ed Mickelson, the latter getting the touchdown from the one, but they couldn't get started again in the face of a desperate Nebraska defense.

Illini Outplay Irish But Notre Dame Wins

Maggioli Gallops 71 Yards to Score In Final Quarter

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Achille (Chick) Maggioli, a slender Italian marine trainee playing his final game for Notre Dame, saved the undefeated Irish from humiliation by a determined, swift Illinois eleven yesterday as he galloped 65 yards for a last period touchdown that spilled the Illini 13-7 before 65,114 fans.

Maggioli, who leaves tomorrow for Paris Island, S. C. marine base, exploded away with a short lateral from Bob Kelly to complete a lightning quick pass play that covered 71 yards early in the last period when the Irish were trailing 7-6.

Until then the Irish were taking a football lesson from the inspired Illini whose great Claude (Buddy) Young sent the huge crowd into hysterics with a 74 yard touchdown run the first time he got his hands on the ball.

The only other scoring of the game came a few minutes after Young's Thunderbolt gallop when the Irish capitalized on an Illini fumble on their 16, sending Kelly bowling across from the three six plays later.

Notre Dame, trying a pass for conversion, failed to match the extra point quarterback Don Greenwood, boosted for Illinois and the Irish trailed 7-6.

The statistics tell how clearly a valiant band of Illini, sparked by Young, Paul Patterson and Greenwood, nearly snapped the win string of the nation's No. 1 team at four. Illinois rolled to 343 yards by rushing and 14 first downs, compared with 132 yards and eight first downs by Notre Dame.

The game-deciding play in the fourth period came after the Irish had been dumped back to their 29 on a holding play. Quarterback Frank Danczewicz flipped a short pass over the line to Kelly on the 35 and he shoveled the ball to Maggioli, who skirted the sidelines in a blazing dash to pay dirt. Maggioli also added the extra point on a plunge.

That just about broke the back of the tiring Illini, but they had one more thrill for the Homecoming crowd. Exploding through tackle on his own 30, Greenwood tore 70 yards to the goal line with four minutes left, but the play was recalled for holding.

Iowa's navy pilots, the Seahawks, who have been flying high ever since their first setback at the hands of Michigan, will attempt to knock the Marquette eleven out of the sky today as the Pre-Flighters shoot for their sixth straight triumph in as many engagements.

Rated No. 6 team in the nation, the Seahawks are the favorites in the battle, but Marquette's Homecomers may give the Hilltoppers that extra spirit needed to pound out a victory.

On paper the Seahawks would seem to be vastly superior to the Milwaukee players, since the cadets have won five and lost only one this season, while Marquette has emerged victorious in only one out of five contests.

Marquette's somewhat misleading record shows their 45-0 victory over Lawrence as the only triumph, but in their four other engagements with the best in competition the Hilltoppers lost out only in the last stretch when out-manned.

A week after the Seahawks fell before the might of Michigan 12-7, the Hilltoppers held the Wolverines to a 14-0 victory. Purdue also proved too much for the Marquette eleven which scored first against the Boilermakers but couldn't completely combat the age and experience of the 1943 Big Ten champions.

After holding Wisconsin for three quarters Marquette surrendered 21-2, while in the game with Second Airforce, they let an early lead slip away to lose 13-12 in the last quarter.

Five straight triumphs has been the record of the Seahawks since losing their first one to the Wolverines. The Seahawk's string of victories shows a 19-13 triumph over Minnesota, 45-12 victory over Olathe Naval Air station, 12-6 win over the Second Airforce, 30-0 conquest over Purdue, and a 13-0 score over Ft. Warren.

The Seahawks have now developed a smooth functioning offensive attack hinging on the wide attack of Don Samuel and Bob Sullivan plus the line smashing technique of Bus Mertes, the Seahawks' leading ground gainer.

Counting for plenty of yardage also have been the passes of Dell Taylor and Sullivan.

The Seahawks' strong forward wall has been one of the big items in the navy's success this year. A hard churning line which is superior on both the offensive and the defensive, the Seahawk linemen have been especially alert in pass defense.

Anchoring the line is big George Taylor and Sullivan.

Washington Defeats California, 33 to 7

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—University of Washington's underdog Huskies pulled one of the big upsets of the 1944 football season yesterday by defeating the University of California Bears, 33 to 7.

The previously undefeated, once-tied coast conference leading Bears went into the game 2 1/2 to 1 favorites. The Huskies dominated the game almost throughout, except for a California spurge in the third period.

Cyclones Win, 14-0

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Iowa State's Cyclones blew only a mild breeze for three quarters in their football game with Kansas State college yesterday before sweeping to a fourth quarter touchdown that gave them a 14-0 victory over a much improved Wildcat eleven.

In the final period Iowa State's power, plus a classy passing attack, completely baffled the Wildcats.

Strohmeier, the Seahawks' candidate for All-American honors, Strohmeyer, who will be detached from the base after the Tulsa contest, calls the defensive signals, handles the kicking-off, and adds punt blocking and pass intercepting to his accomplishments.

Starting in the contested right guard spot on the Seahawk eleven will be Gene Pinter, remodeled fullback who also started against the Ft. Warren team.

In a previous meeting with the Marquette squad last year, the Seahawks garnered a 46-19 decision.

Great Lakes Defeats Badgers, 40 to 12

Ohio State Blasts Gophers

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Great Lakes' power-laden grid machine roared back from its defeat by Ohio State last week to smother Wisconsin's young Badgers yesterday, 40-12.

The Sailor machine sputtered at times, but worked up a head of steam often enough to score at least once in every period, with Eddie Saenz, a former Southern California back, Jim Mello, one time Notre Dame fullback and Iowa's Jim Youel making consistent gains.

Saenz scored three times for Great Lakes, and Youel, Cy Saunders and Don Leshar, a former Chicago high school star, contributed one each. Mello kicked four extra points.

The game Badgers, who gave Notre Dame a vigorous battle last week, ran into a defense that had them back on their heels until the final few minutes of the game.

Wisconsin's sensational freshman, 17-year-old Earl (Jug) Girard was smothered in almost everything he tried and for the first time this season, left the game before its finish.

The Bucks crushed the Gophers despite a makeshift line. Gordon Appleby, veteran center, never got into the game at all and Bill Willis, bruising left tackle, played only a few minutes.

The Bucks piled up a 20 to 0 lead before Minnesota ever found the way to touchdown territory. The Gophers then got two markers against a lineup consisting largely of Buck reserves but Ohio still had enough left to score again in the closing minutes.

As in every game this season, the Bucks struck with fury right at the start of the game.

Ohio State Blasts Gophers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university's "Scarlet Scourge" blasted Minnesota's Gophers quickly yesterday and then coasted home for a 34 to 14 football victory that gave the Buck their fifth straight triumph of the 1944 season.

The victory, coupled with Michigan's defeat of Purdue, gave Ohio State undisputed possession of first place in the Western conference.

Halloween Story to Be Read on WSUI—

Tuesday is Halloween and on WSUI's Adventures in Storyland tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Mary Jane Neville of the WSUI staff will read "Giants, Witches and A Dragon or Two," by Phyllis R. Ferner, to WSUI's young listeners.

This program is one of the many programs for school listening WSUI is offering this year. These stories for children in the third through the sixth grade are chosen by Miss Mabel Snedaker of the college of education.

The first installment of "Hotel Berlin '43" by Vicki Baum, will be read on the WSUI Bookshelf beginning tomorrow morning at 10:30, by Nadine Thornton of the WSUI staff.

This story takes place in a grandiose hotel, in the marked city of Berlin, with strangely interesting people who move through the lobby and occupy simple rooms or sumptuous suites. From their seemingly disconnected activities emerges an exciting and cohesive plot, revealing the beginnings of division among these disillusioned supermen.

Capt. Herb Shulman Tells of Two Years On Foreign Shores

By PAT MOORHEAD
Daily Iowan Staff Writer
"When I was 'over there' I laughed at what other people put in the papers back home, and I resolved that when I got back I wasn't going to go in for any publicity at all," said a young army doctor uncomplainingly.

He was sitting on a comfortable davenport in the peaceful living-room of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shulman, 946 Iowa avenue. His name was Capt. Herb Shulman of the United States army, and he was far from the thousand experiences and memories of two years on foreign shores.

"I'd rather not say much about my experiences over there," he continued. "Everybody goes through the same thing. Anything I might have to say would be neither interesting nor significant."

He mustered up a stern expression and added sympathetically, "But you can print a few facts if you want to."

Facts may be facts, but even a factual account of an army officer's experiences in two years overseas becomes colored with warmth and imbued with humanism.

Captain Shulman, a 1938 graduate from the college of medicine at the University of Iowa, has been in the army since May, 1941, and has been overseas since September, 1942. His wife, the former Deana Krantman, is also a graduate of the University of Iowa. She and their daughter, Myra Ann, 3, have been living with Mrs. Shulman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krantman of Marshalltown.

In Sicily and Italy Captain Shulman served as battalion surgeon with an ordnance ammunition battalion, "looking after the health of the men and caring for any emergencies caused by air raids or exploding mines."

"It seems to be an American trait to pick up languages," recalled the captain. "Anyone who is in a country for more than a few months learns enough of the language to ask for things he wants." The enterprising Italians were quick to capitalize on the eagerness of American doughboys to learn their language, and "they were selling little booklets on 'How to Speak Italian in 10 Days' as soon as we hit Naples."

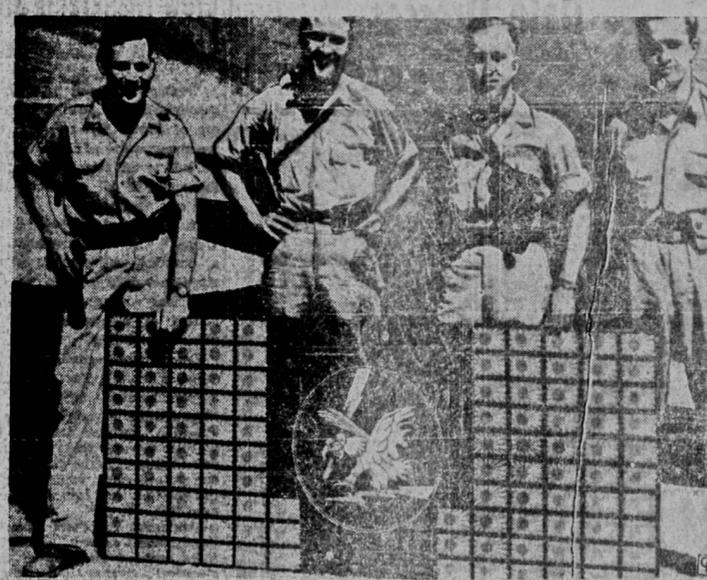

It was in December, 1942, when one of the happy coincidences of war brought Captain Shulman and his brother, Lieut. Sam Shulman of the quartermaster corps, together in Oran. "I was driving down the street and I saw him standing on the curb," said the medical officer. "It was just chance for I didn't know he was in Oran." Lieutenant Shulman's company was bivouacked in an area adjacent to the street on which the brothers accidentally met. He is now in this country, stationed at Camp Lee, Va.

"The army does a damn good job of providing for all its men in all respects," praised Captain Shulman. "I don't think there is much that a soldier could want now that would add to his material comfort—that is, those who are where they can be reached by the army supply service."

"I also think that the medical service is very good over there," he emphasized. In addition to ministering to the American forces, United States medical officers often treated large numbers of Italian civilian casualties, who were left in the wake of war without adequate medical care. "I picked up enough Italian to ask them what was wrong with them," he smiled.

Captain Shulman, who served in Italy as a senior medical officer with the Fifth army ordnance service, was with the American forces near Florence when he received his leave on the rotation plan. Before entering the service he served one year's internship at St. Francis hospital in LaCrosse, Wis., and two years of residency at Wisconsin general hospital in Madison. He reports to Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 25 for reassignment.

Christmas Seal Sale Goal Set at $7,948.32

Goal for the 1944 Christmas Seal sale in Johnson county is $7,948.32, according to William Parizek, treasurer of the Johnson county Tuberculosis association.

"The way is now opening for an intensive drive to reduce tuberculosis to an absolute minimum," Parizek stated.

Physicians and nurses released from service in the armed forces will break the bottleneck which since 1941 has handicapped programs for early discovery of the disease. Equipment permitting the speedy and satisfactory examination of large numbers of persons will be available.

"The recent organization of a Tuberculosis Control division in the United States Public Health service means that in the future, as never before, public health effort will be directed against tuberculosis," Parizek said.

Expressing belief that the goal set was well within the reach of Johnson county residents, Parizek said, "We raised $7,302.84 last year and attained the quota set for us by the Iowa Tuberculosis association. We should do as well this year in order that the full benefit of the intensified campaign against tuberculosis can be brought to bear without delay in Johnson county."

Iowa Coed's Date Dresses

MARY ELLEN CROWL, A4 of Ft. Dodge, steps out in a casual dress of white wool handsomely decorated with gold bars on the pocket flaps and belt. Fashioned in the ever-popular shirtwaist style, her dress features a fly-front with two small pleats on either side. Her accessories are black.

It's the smart coed who dresses to fit her personality... Through necessity her skirts and sweaters may be like those belonging to everyone else, but in choosing her late dresses, she can really shine. Conservative, dramatic, forceful or exceedingly feminine—the wise girl will choose her dresses to suit what she is, not what she'd like to be.

A striking ensemble in tomato red silk crepe is worn by Rosalie Timoff, A2 of Gary, Ind. Shirred at the V-neck, it features an Eisenberg clip and is fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves and lared skirt, also shirred at the neckline. Rosalie wears a black Casa Blanca hat and patent leather purse and semi-long gloves to complete the outfit.

Doris House, C4 of Webster City, chooses a two-piece of melon-colored wool. Attracting special attention is the left shoulder with its embroidered flowers of lavender, yellow and melon-colored yarn. The raglan sleeves are three-quarter length, and the blouse has a round neckline fastening down the front with six self-covered buttons. The skirt is gored.

The black crepe dress of Jean Shoquist, A3 of Iowa City, sparkles with sequins of fuchsia, gold and green at the left shoulder. The shirring down the side is sprinkled with black sequins and causes the skirt to hang in soft folds where the shirring ends. The bodice is fitted and designed with a V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, gathered at the elbow.

But smooth in her blue satin-accented black dress is Margaret Rowland, A4 of Dayton, Ohio. Blue satin ribbon peeks through in front and ties in a soft bow at the sweetheart neckline, which like the flared elbow-length sleeves, is edged in dainty black lace. Three horizontal tucks in the front of the skirt give that much desired slimmish appearance.

A gold and white fish studded with sequins decorates the shoulder of the powder blue wool dress of Norma Schneider, A1 of Bellevue. Fitted to the waistline, it is fashioned with a round neckline, and the torso skirt falls in unpressed pleats. With this outfit, Norma wears brown accessories.

Simplicity rules in the gray wool creation of Pat Nance, A1 of Marshalltown. The long torso is fitted to the hips, and is pleated. The dress fastens down the front with self-covered buttons on a yellow knitted binding. A similar band also trims the three-quarter length sleeves.

A ruffled bib effect is the feature of the yellow wool dress be-

Gas Line Ripped—Crew Thankful to See England Once Again

Although blistered by spraying gasoline, Lieut. Lowell D. Smothers of Iowa City and his crew members were still thankful to be able to tell friends in England the story of an accident 20,000 feet over Germany.

Their B-24 Liberator, "Feudin Wagon," was over Germany when a bursting anti-aircraft shell ripped her main gas line. The fuel that was to bring them home started in a stream from the plane's bomb bay.

The engineer-gunner, Tech. Sgt. William F. Eastland, risked a parachuteless fall from the heights when he treaded along the aircraft's narrow catwalk and grasped a bomb rack. He leaned out directly into the gushing fuel and groped for a valve to divert the gasoline flow into an undamaged line.

Lieutenant Smothers then cut the electrical current, leaving the fliers without the help of their electrically heated flying suits. A single spark in the fog of gas fumes might easily have exploded the bomber. They preferred to risk frost bite in the 30-degree-below temperature.

Air came through the gas line break to reach the engines. "For a while it looked as though all our engines would quit," they told their buddies. "Three engines quit. One would 'conk out,' then another. We flew on one engine for a while, but Sergeant Eastland had the trouble fixed before we lost too much altitude. It was really good to get back to England!"

Only 50 Hunters Try Luck in Johnson, Surrounding Counties

The first day of the pheasant season ended yesterday with quite a few birds having been seen and quite a few less having been killed. Many local sportsmen traveled to the north and west where the pheasant population is larger. Ed Sybil, game warden for Johnson, Washington and Iowa counties, reports that he saw only about 50 hunters all day.

It is doubtful that any hunter in the Iowa City area shot the limit of three cock birds. Game Warden Sybil says that he met three men who had two birds each but they had tramped the fields all day to get them.

"The foliage is too thick for good hunting," Sybil says. "The corn has not been picked and there is too much cover for the birds to hide under."

The pheasant hunting in this area ends Nov. 6; shooting is allowed only between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Local sportsmen will enjoy some real hunting starting Nov. 1 when the quail season opens. Sybil reports that he saw three large coveys of quail yesterday; there were about 40 birds in one covey. The daily bag limit on quail is eight.

Members of the Women's Recreation association collected 1,200 pounds of paper yesterday in the campus scrap paper drive.

The scrap paper drive was sponsored by the women's recreation association as a part of the Double V program on campus. All paper collected was taken to the scrap dealer and money received is put into a fund which covers expenses of the open houses held at the women's gymnasium each Saturday night for service men. This money is also used for other war activities.

Chairman of the paper drive was Carol Wellman, A2 of Moline, Ill., and Margaret Foley of the physical education department was advisor for the group.

HALLOWEEN

Perhaps a child's day it was, But we who have our college work Think once again of Halloween Because it's fun we will not shirk. The cauldron boils beneath the wand Of a black-clad witch
