Cites Threat Of Non-Cooperation With New Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt accused the opposition camp last night of threatening "to build a party spite fence between us and the peace," and also struck out at what he termed wicked whisperings.

In a campaign speech prepared for radio delivery from the White House, the president said the threat consisted of statements that unless the Republican presidential candidate is elected congress will not cooperate in the peace.

"I do not know who empowers these men to speak for the congress in uttering such a threat," he said.

Pass Peace Laws

"Certainly the United States senate and the house of representatives showed no reluctance to agree with the foreign policy of this administration when, almost unanimously last year, they passed the Connally and Fulbright resolutions which pledged this nation to cooperate in a world organization for peace."

In speaking of "whispering and rumors," the president did not go into details. Asserting that he did not "propose to answer in kind," he declared the American people pay little attention to whispering campaigns.

Can Provide Work

He declared that by carrying out plans already made, the nation can:

"Provide employment for our veterans and our war workers—we can achieve an orderly reconstruction."

"Above all, we can avoid another false boom like that which burst in 1929, and a dismal collapse like that of 1930 to 1933."

The president, speaking from the White House before his departure later this week on the last political trip of the campaign, reviewed briefly the military developments of recent days and said "Our success has been the result of planning and organization and building."

Canada, U. S. Disagree on Aviation

CHICAGO (AP)—Central control of world air transport economics became the declared issue of the international aviation conference yesterday, with Canada and the United States presenting opposing views before the delegates from 51 countries.

Canada's leading delegate declared the United States plan for making world air routes by two-party agreements among nations was "unrealistic" while the United States spokesman called the British proposal for an international air authority a "splendid dream."

Instead of a world cab, the United States wants a broad agreement assuring equality in the air ocean for all nations.

Russians Sweep 23 Miles From Budapest

60 Towns, Villages Taken in Swift Drive On Hungarian Capital

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops swept to within 23 miles of the Hungarian capital of Budapest yesterday, capturing 60 towns and villages between the Danube and Tisza rivers in a swift offensive aimed at knocking out the last big axis satellite.

A Moscow communique announced capture of Domsad, on the Danube's east bank 23 miles south of the great prize city; Kunszentmiklos, 27 south and slightly east of Budapest; and Tatarszentgyorgy, 26 miles southeast of the capital.

Although German and Hungarian resistance was bitter it appeared to be crumbling. The Soviet communique announced capture of 2,000 Germans and Hungarians during Wednesday outside Budapest, making a total of 7,518 taken between the Danube and Tisza rivers.

In northeastern Hungary, where other units of Marshall Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army were pushing westward just below the Czechoslovak border, the Russians hurled the Germans across the middle Tisza river on a winding 25-mile front.

The Germans said fresh Nazi troops were being rushed into the great conflict outside the Hungarian capital.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—J. M. Murphy knows his own radio when he hears it even after it has been missing for weeks.

Walking down a street he heard a radio playing. He stopped and listened. "That's my radio," he said.

Police, after a quick arrest, said Murphy was right.

Jap Bullet Misses MacArthur by Inches

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Friday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur had one of his closest escapes from death today when a Japanese strafing attack put a .50 caliber bullet into a wall just a foot from his head.

Hearing the bullet hit, Col. Lloyd Lehrbas, the general's aide, rushed into the room to find the American commander examining the hole.

Uncertainly nodding to the hole just above his head, General MacArthur said: "Well, not yet!"

The general has had many close brushes with death. The closest also was in the Philippines, from a bombing attack shortly after the war began.

Dewey Alleges Secret Offer by $1,000 Club

'Something That It Doesn't Dare Put In Writing'

EN ROUTE WITH DEWEY (AP)—In a hotly-worded reply to President Roosevelt's self-acknowledged membership in the $1,000 club, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared last night he had learned the society offers something more than "special privilege."

Something, he said, that it "doesn't dare put in writing."

The Republican presidential nominee, in prepared excerpts for a speech in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., denounced what he called the "very brazenness" of the "most corrupt offer ever made by any political party" and said:

"I now have another letter, sent out by Mr. Roosevelt's 'special privilege' in government society. It was written on the stationery of the Democratic national committee to a select list in Kansas and tells us a little more about this $1,000 club. It ends up by saying 'membership in this group will be a badge of distinction forever. There are other advantages which I can explain to you when we meet. Instant action is necessary.'"

Declaring that "We can only guess what that is," Dewey said:

"Has this special privilege to do with war contracts? Or is it special concessions on income taxes? Or is Mr. Roosevelt's club peddling special influence with the war labor board or the national labor relations board?"

The New York governor, traveling through Pennsylvania in what some of his aides called a "mopping up" campaign for that state's 35 electoral votes, declared "It is time to bring an end to government by secret deals."

Battle Cracks Nazi Luftwaffe

2,400 Planes In Dogfight Over Merseburg

LONDON, Friday (AP)—American fliers destroyed 208 German planes yesterday when the Luftwaffe made its long-promised reappearance and was whipped in one of the great all-time aerial battles—a savage, whirling dogfight of 2,400 United States and Nazi planes over Merseburg in central Germany.

Following quickly on this decisive allied triumph, more than 1,000 RAF bombers roared over western Germany after nightfall and delivered one of their heaviest blows at Dusseldorf, Rhineland industrial city behind the western front.

In the huge daylight raid, 1,100 American heavy bombers blasted the Leuna synthetic oil plant at Merseburg and rail yards at Bellefeld and Rheine. Officials reported that of the 2,000 American planes, 41 bombers and 28 fighters failed to return.

AERIAL BOXSCORE

LONDON, Friday (AP)—Seven new American Eighth airforce records were set over Germany yesterday:

(1) Fighters—Destroyed 155 German planes, beats previous record 117 set Sept. 11

(2) Fighters—Shot down 130 Nazis, beats previous record 117

(3) Fighters and bombers—Combination strike total 208, highest for 1944. Next highest 716, at Berlin March 6. All time high set Aug. 18, 1943, at 307.

(4) Fighter group—Mustangs commanded by Col. Joe L. Mason, Columbus, Ohio, shot down 38 planes, breaking old record of 31 for single day.

(5) Fighter squadron—more Mustangs commanded by Col. George E. Preddy, Greensboro, N. C., set new squadron record at 24 in one day. Old record was 18.

(6) Fighter pilot—Preddy shot down one plane to become highest ranking ace now operating in this theater with 23½ in air and six on the ground for 29½. He now tops Col. Hubert Zemke of Missoula, Mont., who has 28.

(7) Fighter pilot—Lieut. William J. Cullerton, Chicago, Ill., destroyed eight airplanes, two in the air and six on the ground for biggest combination made in one day.

Presidential Race Nears Photo Finish, National Polls Report

Three Sampling Tests Give President Edge; Gallup Picks Dewey

NEW YORK (AP)—Four nation-wide polls were agreed as of yesterday that the race between President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was too close to warrant trying to pick the winner.

Three of the four opinion-samplings gave the president a slight lead. The fourth, the latest Gallup poll, indicated that his Republican opponent had the edge. All four were careful to point out that the margins were not conclusive.

Crosley Poll

Final results of the Crosley poll give Roosevelt 52 percent of the major party vote on the basis of late October polling in 23 pivotal states, adjusted by estimates of the armed services vote. (Actual sampling of the service vote is prohibited by law—a factor, all four polls noted, adding to the difficulty of trying to estimate which way the total vote would go.)

An analysis accompanying the Crosley poll adds that the president's plurality "in several important states is so narrow that it is quite possible for Dewey to capture a majority of the electoral votes merely by minor changes, or increased Republican voting in these states."

A semi-final poll conducted for Fortune magazine by the Elmo Roper firm gives Roosevelt 53.5 percent of the civilian vote.

Gallup Poll

George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion reports Dewey leading as of last week in 22 states with 255 electoral votes and Roosevelt ahead in 21 states with 206 electoral votes. (It takes 266 to win). The remaining five states, with 70 electoral votes, are listed as "on the line."

In the fourth poll, a Newsweek magazine survey representing state-by-state estimates of 118 political writers, Roosevelt is found leading in 27 states with 249 electoral votes and Dewey in 20 states with 247 electoral votes. Newsweek regards Pennsylvania (35 electoral votes) as the state of decision.

STUDENT VOTERS

University students who will cast absentee ballots in the presidential election are required to have such ballots notarized before mailing them. Students are asked to obtain the services of a notary public at the office of the University treasurer. Such service will be free of charge.

Push to Fort Of Hurtgen

First Army Launches New Attack, Breaks Siegfried Line Lull

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris (AP)—The United States First army shattered the Siegfried line lull yesterday with a new drive on a front of 4,000 yards southeast of Aachen that swept nearly two miles to within eight miles of the big German road center of Duren, 20 miles beyond which lies Cologne and the Rhine.

The drive rolled through the German villages of Vessenack and Gerneter, 13 miles southeast of Aachen, and up to the fortified village of Hurtgen, often attacked but not yet conquered by Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' doughboys.

The attack exploded in the face of hastily strengthened German defenses in the morning after a heavy artillery barrage that resounded through Hurtgen forest.

By evening American infantrymen still were slogging forward against stiffening resistance, it was announced at supreme headquarters.

Three hundred prisoners were rooted from pillboxes and fox-holes as the Americans broke clear out of the eastern fringes of the battle-chewed forest, across the road leading south from Duren to Lammersdorf, and on into a smaller woodland beyond.

The battle was bulging into country behind the old prepared positions of the main Siegfried belt, but it was by no means in the open.

Germeter and Vossenack, adjacent villages, both had been reached before by patrols of the First army, but the new thrust had carried beyond this area.

The strength of the attack has yet to be weighed, nor is there any way of telling this early whether the full force of the powerful First army has been committed.

Meanwhile British troops cleared Flushing of all but snipers, seized big gun batteries on the sand dunes to the north, and more reinforcements poured onto this flooded Walcheren island for the final mop-up of Antwerp's seaward approaches.

As this vital drive for one of the world's finest ports neared a triumphant climax, the entire front began stirring.

The British, hammering away at German rearwards battered against the Maas, drove a mile nearer the two vital bridges across the stream at Moerdijk, widened their hold on the south bank to four miles, and smashed into the enemy citadel of Geertruidenberg.

24th Division Joins Cavalry in Carigara

Yank Forces Unite To Push Japs Toward Ormoc

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Friday (AP)—American forces have made a junction in Carigara, coastal town on Leyte's northwest coast, and are driving enemy remnants west and south toward Ormoc, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The "end of the Leyte-Samar campaign is in sight," the communique reported, and Japanese casualties have risen to more than 30,000.

Elements of the 24th division crushed final Japanese delaying forces in northwestern Leyte valley to effect the junction with elements of the First cavalry division.

Meanwhile, advance forces of the 7th division cut entirely across the lower portion of Leyte, reaching the west coast, 26 miles south of Ormoc.

"Final remnants of the enemy's forces," said the communique, "are now being driven into the small and confined Ormoc sector where they are enveloped on all three land sides by our ground forces."

The Japanese have sent reinforcements to Ormoc, from where some of these new troops are known to have been sent northward to bulwark forces in the Carigara bay sector.

Opinion On and Off the Campus— Discuss Dewey's Campaign Speeches?

Prof. George F. Robeson, of the political science department: "I am impressed with the declaration of John Gunther and Walter Lippman that the Dewey campaign in its appeal to emotion and falsification is on a very low level."

William Gardner Titus, Iowa City: "I think Dewey's speeches are meaty. He does not waste a lot of words, but those he uses are meaningful. I enjoy his speeches. They pack a real wallop, and I believe the man is absolutely sincere."

Richard Watson, C3, Atlantic: "He slings a lot of mud, but in doing so he brings out the sore spots in the Roosevelt administration."

Betty Lou Schmidt, A3, Freeport, Ill.: "I don't believe Dewey has set forth his own policies and opinions. Instead of offering constructive ideas in his campaign, he has relied on tearing down the Democratic party. Since his issues don't seem to be at all clear, it is hard to tell from his speeches just what his policies are."

Mrs. Arthur Gaerney, House-mother, Alpha Chi Omega: "I think Dewey's speeches have been very fine. I particularly like the way he exposes things that he feels are wrong with the country as a whole and with the present administration."

Betty Hoffman, A3, Kansas City, Mo.: "I think they are fair. He makes rather broad and rash statements and seems to employ the old 'scare' technique."

Kathleen McGladrey, A4, Cedar Rapids: "I think he explains Roosevelt's actions in the past but he deals too much in generalities. He fails to be definite on some of his policies."

Betty Denkmann, A4, Davenport: "I think there is too much mud-slinging in his claiming that Roosevelt is getting support from anti-democratic parties. As far as the delivery goes, he will never be the orator Roosevelt is."

Don Calvert, A1, Muscatine: "Dewey consistently says 'there must be a change,' in all of his speeches. This is noticeable by its repetition in listening to or reading his speeches. This has been his main weapon for upsetting Roosevelt, and having one theme like that is good."

Dave Danner, 126 N. Gilbert street: "Dewey has certainly gone over all aspects of the Roosevelt administration thoroughly. It has been interesting to listen to both sides and hear the candidates knock each other around."

Louise Carani, A3, Highland Park, Ill.: "For a man who before the Republican convention would say very little, Mr. Dewey has certainly said a great deal in his campaign. The things he has said showed very bad taste, such as repeated attacks on communism and Russia, our ally. Throughout his campaign he has avoided the issues."

Velma Martin, A4, Laurens: "The greater percentage have been not typical campaign speeches because they have been backed by facts. He has not made promises which he cannot keep and he has in his latter speeches taken a definite stand on domestic and foreign issues."

Bob Ray, G, Davenport: "Undoubtedly the two best orators in the United States are opposing each other for the office of president. Mr. Dewey shows training and appreciation of the gravity of the situation."

Interpreting the— War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

Allied success in clearing Schelde estuary approaches to Antwerp of all substantial enemy resistance coupled with the forward surge of American first army troops in Hurtgen forest southeast of captured Aachen could herald the opening of the next major phase of the battle of the Siegfried line.

There was no definite indication of that in preliminary accounts from the front. They told of American seizure in surprise operations of villages close to the eastern edge of the forest.

At that point, in Hurtgen woods, allied troops stand closer to the Rhine than at any other except in the Nijmegen-Arnhem sector to the south, flanked on both sides by an intricate network of railroads, highways and power lines, less than 30 miles from American positions in the forest.

The scene of operations suggests impending first army efforts to outflank from the south the important road junction town of Duren, guarding the direct approach to Cologne from the southwest. First army advance lines have been poised for many days in the northeastern edge of Hurtgen forest directly west of the town.

Duren's capture or investment would seem to be the next imperative step if an immediate advance on bomb blasted Cologne is in prospect. Isolating Duren and the whole northern end of the Siegfried line from river and riverside communications would be another step in preparation for a major British-American offensive from Holland.

Nazi recognition of the importance to the allies of Antwerp and its undamaged port facilities and the road, rail and canal network south of the Meuse has been obvious in the bitter-end defense the Germans have put up. Surrender of the Nazi commander and his troops in pockets south of the Schelde estuary virtually clears the south bank of the foe. Combined British and Canadian land and amphibious attacks on Walcheren island north of the waterway mean its complete occupation within hours or days at most. That will not only insure allied use of the Antwerp communications hub, but release powerful elements of Field Marshal Montgomery's forces for concentration elsewhere.

Old-Fashioned Way May Still Be Best

DES MOINES (AP)—A dose of old-fashioned discipline for both the young and their parents might go a long way toward solving the juvenile delinquency problem, in the opinion of Judge Ray P. Scott, of Marshalltown.

"If the oldtime woodshed and some of the practices indulged in there were restored, a large part of the juvenile court work would be done away with," he asserted. "And if there could be any way to spank the parents of the children appearing before us, that also would eliminate a large part of our trouble."

Judge Scott and Judge Joseph Myers, domestic relations and juvenile court judge in the Polk county district court, spoke on parental responsibility and juvenile delinquency before the closing session of the Iowa Disciples of Christ convention.

Information First Speaker Emphasizes Duties of Citizenship

"Democracy is nothing but you and me, each one of us having responsibilities of citizenship," stated Alice Whipple, secretary of the Iowa Council of Social Agencies, in a lecture yesterday for Information First.

Miss Whipple declared that citizens should repay to society the benefits society gives to individuals, by fulfilling personal responsibilities to government, community, family and to our fighting forces.

"Voting is the opening door of citizenship," the speaker emphasized, in naming personal responsibilities to government. She suggested that if voters want good administrators, they must tell their elected representatives by letter and through personal visits what they want.

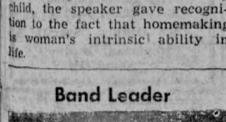

Endorsing the SUI straw vote as an indication of student interest in political affairs, Miss Whipple believes that people throughout the state are watching the poll on the University of Iowa campus. The results of Monday's voting will make an impression on them, perhaps influencing them to cast their ballots the next day. "I suggest that you take the straw vote seriously," she stated. "It will give you a real feeling of getting ready for voting."

A complete knowledge of any community issue is necessary to the local citizen before he can act in community affairs, Miss Whipple believes. "Know your community, so you do not have to discuss local problems in generalities," she said.

"Welfare problems are naturally women's interest," the social worker declared. Miss Whipple explained that "welfare is a complex business as well as a sentimental business, a utility based on sound, healthy emotions."

Miss Whipple believes firmly that Americans must find the answer to minority problems before we find ourselves in the minority. Commenting on the importance of "rocking chair love" to every child, the speaker gave recognition to the fact that homemaking is woman's intrinsic ability in life.

Iowa, Nebraska to Hold Final Workouts Today

Win Depends On Hawks

Four First String Cripples to Be Back In Lineup Saturday

Amid the rising tenor of a pre-election week the fact that the coming weekend holds in store such a trivial item as a football game has been somewhat snowed under. And there is no doubt that it should be that way. It would appear logical that the fate of a country might be more important than the fate of twenty-two huskies beating each other.

And yet, this particular football game has assumed peculiar importance. The showing of the Iowa Hawkeyes this Saturday will prove whether or not this year's team can produce anything close to representative football. Representative, that is, of Old Gold grid units of the immediate past. The showing of the Hawkeyes will also prove whether a group of good high school athletes can form themselves into a respectable college eleven.

Depends on Hawks

If the Hawks cannot turn out to be reasonably satisfactory on these points it may be said that the remainder of the 1944 season will be a smashing anticlimax in which thousands of fans will stay away from Iowa stadium in droves.

The outcome of the Nebraska contest rests, obviously, with Slip Madigan's squad and with nobody else. The past three or four days have given much hope that the men can and will gain respect for themselves in this fray. A new and better spirit has been evidenced among the players—less bickering, more teamwork. The youth movement appears to be resulting in a satisfying outcome, but the pudding is yet to be tasted or tested.

Cripples Ready

Pleasing is the news that Hawk cripples will very likely be in good health for the business of husking corn. Bill Benskin, Paul Ferguson, Jim Hansen and Dick Woodard will all be very available and anxious. The only possible question mark is in the person of Don Winslow, and it will take a lot to force him into collecting splinters for a living.

Yesterday, all three Iowa teams spent the day running through their plays in a long dummy scrimmage. The first stringers lined up with Rose, McLaughlin and Kelso sharing the wings; Winslow and Masterson at the tackles; Fagerlind and Katz as guards; Snyder at the pivot and Stewart, Kersten, Hansen and Woodard as the backs.

Second Team

The second group had Selken and Graham at the ends; Cross and Benskin as tackles; Miller and Flood at the guards; Carlson at center and Owens, Brown, Smith, Callaghan and Dallas sharing duties behind the line.

The Nebraska team, itself, will be doing things somewhat out of the ordinary. It will arrive in Iowa City this afternoon and will stay overnight at the Hotel Jefferson. The squad will work out at the game site at 4 o'clock.

At any rate, it may be that people will be able to forget the strain of campaign for a few hours just to see whether the Hawkeyes can make with the pigskin. It would appear that Madigan's kids at least deserved to have the people there to see what they can do.

12 Hawks Entered In Cross Country Intercollegiate Meets

Names of the 12 Hawkeye cross country entrants have been sent to the University of Chicago for the Intercollegiate Conference Championship meets to be held there Nov. 11.

Although twelve men are entered two may not run. Robert Sweeney is still out with a broken bone in his foot which makes it very unlikely that he will be able to get into shape in time for the meet. The other man is Charles Freund who is now recovering from an operation he underwent recently.

Coch George Bressnahan mentioned that the biggest improvement was shown by Burke, Burney and Murray in the Cornell meet and workouts during this week. Daily workouts have been switched to the west field because this four mile run is more grassy and level and more like the one they will run at Chicago.

TWO SEAHAWK RESERVES TO PLAY LAST GAME

PLAYING THEIR LAST game for the Seahawks against Tulsa this weekend will be backs Randall Rushing and Bob Gerstenberger as well as the Pre-Flighters' candidate for All-American honors, center George Strohmeyer. Rushing, left, who is 20 years old and stands 5'11", has been a reserve fullback on the Seahawk squad since the Michigan contest, while he also worked out as left halfback when Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher was faced with a shortage of players for this position. After practicing only a few days, Rushing who formerly played for Texas Tech, went into the Olathe contest and punched over two touchdowns in the time he was in the game. An understudy of Bus Mertes, Rushing has seen action at some time or another in most of the games this season. After this week's game, the eighth of the season for the navy. Rushing will report to the Norman, Okla., naval air station. At the same time Gerstenberger, who perhaps has not seen as much action as Rushing, will leave for the base at Ottumwa. Gerstenberger, who played football both at Gonzaga and as a navy plebe at Annapolis, is a 22-year-old reserve quarterback who comes from Everett, Wash. Breaking into the game more often in the last few contests, Gerstenberger played well both against Ft. Warren and in the Seahawk conquest of Marquette last week. Although he suffered a dislocated shoulder against the Hilltoppers, Gerstenberger is expected to be in condition for the Tulsa battle Saturday.

THE CHOPPING BLOCK

By the Sports Staff

(Editor's Note. Uh huh. Another week, another column. Last week percentages jumped, or did they? At any rate, here they are: Roy Luce, service, 86; Bob Krause, east, 68; Bob Brooks, south, 78; Terry Tester, midwest, 73, and Mike Lorenzen, west, 75, for an overall of 74 percent.)

THE MIDWEST

Take a game, any game in the midwest, and it will be a thriller this weekend. Or maybe Iowans are just elated because dopsters are favoring Iowa over Nebraska, and by quite a number of points. Any of the Big Ten battles will be interesting, but Indiana-Ohio State should take the cake for the best, if only because the Bucks will be defending their bid for championship against one of the most dangerous obstacles, Oklahoma - Ohio State. The Sooners have faced too many good opponents this season, and done too much scoring not to merit a little consideration. Oklahoma over Iowa State.

Northwestern-Minnesota. Brrr! They've both lost navy V-12ers! But both coaches have been smoothly inserting ample reserves. Both are without a conference victory, but here comes one for the Gophers. Minnesota over Northwestern.

Michigan State-Missouri. The Tigers will be on the rebound after their upset at the hands of Nebraska. In one sentence, Missouri over Michigan State.

Wisconsin-Purdue. Two stars, Boris Dimancheff and Jug Girard, will dominate this conference and it's a good bet the Rushin' Russian will smash his side through for victory. In retaliation for Michigan, Purdue over Wisconsin.

Indiana-Ohio State. Off the bandwagon for Indiana and on to the Buckeyes ever-growing train. Although Hoernschmeyer could pull a rabbit out of the hat, the Bucks are likely to see the Hoosier lady in half. Ohio State over Indiana.

THE SOUTH

With the grid season hitting the November stretch the southlands will see some crucial battles fought this week—with two games as the leading features. Alabama vs. Georgia will head the list while Georgia Tech and Duke take the second spot.

Alabama-Georgia. Wally Butts' Bulldogs have been steadily improving this season and are a major threat to the Crimson Tide. Georgia over Alabama.

Georgia Tech-Duke. The engineers should have a victorious Saturday as they take on the Blue Devils. They have been one of the leading teams of the section all year and have come in for national recognition as a result of their victory over Navy in a thriller. The Devils also have a good record, considering the opposition, but they will not be able to match Tech's power. Georgia Tech over Duke.

Texas A. & M.-Arkansas. The Aggies should have very little trouble with a weak Razorback team which has had a very unsuccessful season. Homer Norton's men have not had an outstanding campaign, but they are strong enough to take an outfit which will have to wait another year for a victory. Texas A. & M. over Arkansas.

Rice-Texas Tech. In this one Texas fans will be disappointed no matter how it turns out. The Owls were rated a weak sister this fall but have shown that they can win. They hold what seems to be a decided advantage over the Red Raiders. It may be close, but Rice over Texas Tech.

THE SERVICE

The Iowa Seahawk-Tulsa battle will hold the spotlight of the service games this week, with the outcome very much in doubt. Prognosticators are definitely out on a limb and should observe the "walk with care" signs in making their very cautious selection.

Chapel Hill Navy-Bainbridge Navy. Although the "push and grunt" boys of Chapel Hill have compiled a good record, both in wins and touchdowns, they will need every ounce of their masculine and mental powers to pull this one out of the fire. The huskies from Bainbridge have gone undefeated this season and mean to hold that dubious honor. With much regret—Bainbridge Navy over Chapel Hill Navy.

Great Lakes-Marquette. As the Hilltoppers took it on the nose last week from the Iowa Seahawks, they will be in no mood for tiddlywinks. For that matter, neither will the boys in blue. The sailors are well versed in how to overcome obstacles, so they should find the grade up over the "hill" quite easy. Great Lakes over Marquette.

Second Airforce—Amarillo AAF. Shackled last week by AAF field, the Superbombers will be dropping their bombs with accuracy this week as they smash Amarillo AAF.

Athens Navy-Morris Field. Both teams have had their ups and downs this year, but it appears that the navy holds the power to sink Morris field. However, the odds are about even and it is very cautiously Athens Navy over Morris Field.

Seahawks-Tulsa. The battle of battles with both teams boasting plenty of scoring power. Tulsa went down in defeat last week for the first time since 1941, but even in defeat they hit pay dirt to the tune of 40 points. With George Strohmeyer, center; Randall Rushing, halfback, and Bob Gerstenberger, leaving the Sea-hawk camp Monday after the game, the cadets will be trying for a fitting send off. The Seahawks mean nothing but despair for Tulsa. With much reserve, in a light whisper: Seahawks over Tulsa.

THE EAST

Those who profess to be close to eastern football affairs are now doing so only in the softest of whispers—a condition brought about by continued wailing due to a general inability to pick winners on Saturday afternoons. Football experts this year, more than ever, are making use of the well-worn excuse that the current season is the most uncertain in history. Well, anyway, Army is at the top of the heap in the country right now, as well as being at the same point in the east. Navy is not too far arrears, while a surprising—pleasingly so—Yale Bulldog is growling loud enough to keep off the rest of the pack.

Army-Villanova. A prognosticator's dream. The Cadets' Doc Blanchard will lead in performing a brutal operation on the almost flawless Wildcat. Army over Villanova.

Navy Entrains to Face The Golden Hurricane

Pre-Flighters Battle Roused Tulsa Eleven For Important Win

Iowa's Seahawks, who have now extended their winning streak to six straight, left yesterday for Tulsa where they will meet the cream of the crop in the Golden Hurricanes of Tulsa.

After having dropped a 46-40 decision to an unbeaten Oklahoma A & M eleven last week, Tulsa, who will be seeking its fourth consecutive bowl bid, will be after the Seahawks' scalp tomorrow in what is scheduled to be one of the big football attractions of the day.

Both teams will take to the gridiron tomorrow with nearly perfect records in three seasons of competition, the Seahawks having lost only two games and the Hurricanes one in the last three years.

The Seahawks, who have looked forward to this game since the beginning of the 1944 season, will find in Tulsa a caliber of competition equalled by few.

Coch Henry Frnka, who personally scouted the Pre-Flighters at Marquette last week, has a strong, three-deep team revolving around halfback Red Wade—a running, passing, and punting expert who thus far in college competition has played in two bowl games.

Although Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher, Seahawk mentor, took a large squad with him to Tulsa, it is certain that the reserves will not be substituted as freely as they have been in the last two Seahawk games.

Meagher will need his best eleven men on the field tomorrow

California over Alameda Coast Guard.

Southern California—San Diego Navy. Although the teams are evenly matched U. S. C. gets the choice because of the proof they have given as to their ability. Southern California over San Diego Navy.

U. C. L. A.—March Field. Last year March Field beat the Bruins 47 and it will be so this year although the score may not be so great. The Bruins have shown plenty of fight in this season but unless they have a handful of luck it'll be—March Field over U. C. L. A.

Navy-Notre Dame. Admittedly the battle of the week. A huge crowd will watch a revamped Middle team which appears to have tapped its tremendous potentialities, at long last. The Irish took a controversial decision from Illinois at which time their line showed much to be desired. Remembering Knute Rockne tradition—Navy over Notre Dame.

THE WEST

On the coast the game of the week will be the U. S. C. against San Diego Navy. Since both teams have good records and top teams there is likely to be plenty of action and thrills for spectators and listeners alike.

California-Alameda Coast Guard. Alameda is given only a one-point superiority over California which means that the two teams are fairly even match. Contrary to other predictions, California will win in a very close game.

City High to Meet Burlington As Dads Watch Sons Tonight

It will be Dad's day at Shrader field tonight as the City High Little Hawks take the field against the undefeated Burlington Greyhounds, marking the fourth time this year the Hawklets have met an undefeated team.

Sad as the fact may be, those teams remained undefeated after their battle with the Hawklets. This weekend, however, the general consensus is that the Red and White might come through with an upset. Even Coach Wally Schwank and the team members are thinking along these lines, and keeping in mind that a win over Burlington would more than balance the ledger. Playing before the critical eyes of their dads, the boys might offer some unexpected (as far as the Greyhounds are concerned) scoring power.

Special Bench

The dads will be seated in a specially constructed bench along the east side of the playing field. The benches will be so situated that the dads can get a clear picture of their son's activities as grid men. A special half-time entertainment has been planned by the Pep club and band in honor of the fathers.

The Hawklets have spent considerable time this week polishing up their previously "so-so" pass defense and their finger tip tackling. "A defense is only as good as the team's tackling—a crashing, hard tackling line and an alert backfield is the best pass defense. Aggressiveness is the key to a good defense," Coach Schwank told his squad.

Light, Fast Backs

Burlington's backs are light but fast; they hit the holes in a hurry. Their line is also full of fight, but seems to lack capable reserve strength. The backfield will average about the same as the Hawklets but their line will be quite a bit lighter.

Being a fairly light team, the Greyhounds depend mostly on speed and deception, with a few power plunges into the center of the line. They also depend considerably on passing, as do the Little Hawks. This might lead to flying pigskins as it has in most of the Hawklet games.

Halfbacks

Physically the Hawklets are in perfect shape for the battle. Only one man is on the cripple list, and it is expected that he will be ready to start. Bob Krall, who injured his ankle in the Franklin game is still limping about, but everyagainst the Tulsa competition which is far superior to that encountered by the Seahawks in playing Ft. Warren and Marquette the last two weekends.

Playing their farewell game for the season tomorrow at Tulsa will be the Seahawk candidate for all-American honors, center George Strohmeyer, as well as Randall Rushing, reserve fullback, and Bob Gerstenberger, reserve quarterback, who may spend the day on the sidelines because of a dislocated shoulder.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

U-High Will Attempt To Regain Grid Face

Blue Hawks Enter Game Against Tipton As Favored Team

Tonight the University high Blue Hawks will journey to Tipton for tilt starting at 7:45. The Blue hope to regain their winning style after being defeated last week by the West Branch Bears.

The Tipton Tigers will have the advantage of the most reserve since they had more men out for the football team than any other team in the Eastern conference. But the Blue Hawks have a more important advantage in that they are favored to win. Although the Tigers started their season with a not too strong team they are proving to be very stiff opposition for any team in the conference which means that University high may not find this an easy victory.

Injuries may hamper the Blue Hawk's chances for victory very much since both Ray McDonald and Red Morris are out of practice. Morris incurred an arm injury in last week's game with West Branch and hasn't been doing very much in practice. Ray McDonald has missed a few practice sessions because of a sore throat and may not be able to play tonight.

Both men are key players, making it that much the worse job for the Blue Hawks' chances. Coach Wedemeyer expressed doubts whether or not Morris would be able to play against the Tigers.

This past week has been spent in smoothing out the rough edges acquired during the season which made themselves evident in their game with West Branch. University high's squad has been working on a number of aerial assault plays and other offensive tactics in the series of games, scrimmages and general ground-work practices during the week.

Voters Hold Pre-Election Rally

Candidates Answer Political Questions

Offer Solutions To Problems Of Government

Not more than 100 persons (including city and county Republican and Democratic candidates) attended the rally sponsored by the League of Women Voters last night in the Community building. More than 1,000 university students heard speeches concerning both parties at a political rally at Macbride auditorium last night.

Answering eight questions submitted by League members and other interested persons were Clair Williams, Democratic candidate for United States representative, and Representative Thomas E. Martin, candidate for reelection, who was unable to attend the meeting. Martin's answers were read by Fred Johnson, chairman of the Republican central committee.

Here are the key questions asked candidates for representation:

Should the president assume aggressive leadership in legislation and exert his influence to get his program through?

Williams: "An aggressive president is going to ask for legislation. Others can only veto it."

Representative Martin: Aggressive leadership by the chief executive is always expected and desired but such aggressive leadership can easily turn to misuse of power over patronage in forcing administration members of congress into line on measures they would not otherwise vote for.

Should congress enact measures of doubtful constitutionality such as the federal soldier's vote bill and repeal of poll taxes simply because they are thought to be good?

Williams: Congress should pass legislation they think is right and let the supreme court decide its constitutionality.

Representative Martin: Where the question of constitutionality is clearly doubtful the passage of such legislation is one type of demagoguery sometimes resorted to and almost always recognized or understood and seldom admired especially by the opposition.

Will you support the earliest possible formation of the united nations security organization and United States' entry therein before any final peace settlements are made either in Europe or Asia?

Williams: Yes, it is imperative that such action be taken to prevent a recurrence of what happened in 1920.

Representative Martin: If by this question you mean the plan under study by the state department and widely publicized, I must reserve my opinion until I have more complete information. If your question contemplates a general proposition my answer is "yes."

Will you oppose reservation to United States' entry into such united nations organizations which would weaken the power of the organization to act to maintain peace and stop aggression?

Williams: Yes; the League of Nations after the last war was squelched when congressmen quibbled on a few points of the plan. This indecision resulted in complete absence of the United States from an international organization.

Representative Martin: I cannot answer this question until I know how strong the powers of the organization are contemplated.

Should the vote of the United States representative on the united nations security council commit an agreed-upon quota of our military forces to action ordered by the council to maintain peace without requiring further congressional approval?

Williams: The representative should be given power to act within certain limitations. Authority should be given the representative so that local wars can be stopped before they develop into a World War III.

Representative Martin: No.

Other questions were asked by persons in the audience following introductions of candidates by Fred Johnson, Republican central committee chairman, and William Jackson, Democratic central committee chairman.
